2nd U.S. Moon Rocket Blasts Off, Then Flops

And a Hilarious Holiday to You, Too

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks you can hear—or overhear—at any big family Thanksgiving Day celebration:

"My, your house looks nice. It's always so spotless."

"Are you sure, really sure, there's nothing I can do to help?"

"Look at Grandpa Brown. Hasn't he aged?"

"Hi, Grandpa Brown, never saw you looking so young. What kind of pep pills are you taking?"

WHAT A TRIBE

"I think Joan is making a mistake showing her boy friend our family album. When he sees the kind of tribe he's marrying into, he'll run screaming for the hills."

"Oh, I don't know. Our family's always stuck together pretty well, except for a few scattered fist fights and hair pullings."

"Hasn't it been a wonderful year? No deaths or sicknesses in the family. That is, if you leave out cousin Amy's gall bladder attacks, and after all she's been having them for 30 years."

"Mama, Jimmy hit me."

"I did not, Mama. Besides, she hit me first."

"Oh, shut up the both of you. Can't we have just one day of peace and quiet in the whole entire year?"

"Yoohoo, Ella! That must be a wonderful turkey, we can smell it clear in here!"

"I do hope she cooks it long enough. The one she put on the table last year was still flapping its wings."

"Why does she always insist on putting oysters in the dressing? They give me indigestion."

"Not me. I love them."

"Well, we don't have to worry about the cranberries. Young Joey says they're all right. And he led his high school class in chemistry last year."

WELL, NOW

"Did you see the big new car cousin Roscoe drove up in? The big showoff must have borrowed it from someone for the day. He couldn't afford one like that himself."

"Well, cousin Elmo seems to be doing all right, ever since he got that job with the city."

"Yeah, that's probably why my taxes went up."

"Mama, Jimmy's pulling my hair again."

"I did not, Mama."

"Oh, for heaven's sake, children, stop quarreling. Can't we have just one day of peace and quiet in the whole entire year?"

"Turn the television set on louder, will you? I can still hear grandpa talking about how life was in the old days."

"Why is it they have so much Christmas music and so little Thanksgiving Day music? Didn't anyone ever write a Thanksgiving Day carol?"

"Okay, so you like Rockefeller and I like Kennedy. Now can't we just drop the whole subject?"

"Doesn't cousin Esmerelda look well? She'll be having her baby any day now."

"Well, I do hope she'll wait until tomorrow anyway. Or at least until after dinner. It would be awful thoughtful of her."

"I hear cousin Willie may get married soon. He finally found a girl with a good steady job."

"Mama, can I have the wishbone this year? Jimmy had it last year."

"Sh-h-h, here comes the turkey. Isn't it beautiful?"

"Well, folks, come and get it. It's all on the table. Everybody bring his own chair."

"Dear Lord, we thank Thee."

Learning the Meaning of Thanksgiving

Two Area Men Killed in Traffic

A Pontiac Township man and a Birmingham man were among five persons in Michigan who lost their lives in traffic accidents since the start of the four-day Thanksgiving weekend.

Killed when his auto rammed the side of a Grand Trunk railroad engine at the West Huron street crossing early this morning was John F. Priess, 59, of 2175 Auburn Rd.

Oakland County Coroner Leon F. Cobb pronounced Priess dead at the scene. He suffered a fractured skull.

The engineer, George F. Canberg, 64, of Detroit, and a witness told Pontiac police they saw Priess' car traveling east on Huron at a high rate of speed. Canberg said he blew the whistle "but Priess kept right on coming."

After his car struck the side of the engine it glanced off striking a blinker pole. Police said it appeared that Priess was thrown from the car on impact and that the heavy concrete base pole fell on him. The blinker warnings were operating, police said.

A Birmingham man, his woman passenger and a 58-year-old Webberville man died early this morning in a head-on auto collision near Howell.

Killed instantly were Michael C. Plumstead, 24, of 596 S. Glenhurst St., Birmingham, Jeanne Pauschert, 22, of Detroit, and Bernard Graham, 58, Webberville.

According to Livingston County Sheriff's deputies, the car driven by Plumsteaff veered into the opposite, northbound lane of U.S. 16, smashing into Graham's oncoming car.

The accident occurred two and a half miles west of Howell at about 12:44 a.m. Deputies said Plumstead and Miss Pauschert were headed home from Lansing.

The bodies are at a funeral home in Howell.

Joseph Magdowski, 52, of Detroit, was injured fatally Wednesday night when he was struck by a car at a Detroit intersection.

Satellite Failure Is Bitter Blow for This Nation

Observers See Fiery Chunk Break Loose and Fall Into Atlantic

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The most powerful rocket ever developed by this nation failed on its maiden flight today and ruined a U.S. bid to put the first satellite around the moon.

The giant Atlas-Able rocket thundered aloft exactly on schedule at 2:26 a.m. Perched atop it was a 372-pound payload designed for the lunar orbit.

An hour after launching, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported that second-stage signals were lost 70 seconds later.

"There is no record of the second stage having fired and we must presume that the second stage did not fire," the NASA said.

"Visual observations were that a piece fell off the rocket. Apparently this was above the liquid oxygen tank on the Atlas."

Observers saw a fiery chunk break loose from the rocket about 20 seconds after launching and spiral into the Atlantic Ocean.

The failure was a bitter blow to U.S. hopes of jumping back into the space race with the Soviet Union, which in recent weeks has scored spectacularly with its Lunik II and III rockets. One smacked into the moon; the other whirled into a wide orbit around the moon and earth and took the first pictures of the moon's dark side.

There is no backup vehicle for today's shot, so it probably will be several months before another can be attempted.

SECOND FAILURE

This was the second failure for an Atlas-Able ticketed for a shot at the moon. On Sept. 24, another one of the 10-story high rockets blew up on its pad during a static test.

That rocket was set for an early October launching. If it had been successful, the United States would have beaten the Soviet Union to the first pictures of the moon's farside.

Today's ill-fated satellite carried a scanning device to take crude pictures of the lunar surface. It also contained instruments to study the moon's environment.

★ ★ ★

A successful orbit would have given the U.S. a space first. Scientists here believe this would have been a greater accomplishment than either of the last two Lunik shots because of the difficulty of placing the payload in a precise position in relation to the moon.

Charge Woman With Kidnaping

Accused of Taking a Pontiac Mother's Tot in Chicago Last Week

Diane Varner, 27, who says she yearns to have a baby of her own, was indicted yesterday in Chicago on a charge of kidnaping the 4-month-old son of a Pontiac woman.

She was charged in U. S. District Court with kidnaping James Vickers, son of Mrs. Marilyn Vickers who had been working in Chicago as a waitress. Mrs. Varner had been baby sitting with the infant.

The boy was taken from the Wabash Hotel Nov. 18 and found unharmed by the FBI 16 hours later in a Gary, Ind., hotel. Mrs. Varner was arrested in a nearby bar.

Mrs. Vickers, 19, was separated from her husband. She returned to Pontiac the day after her baby was found to live with her mother, Mrs. Martha Dietrich, 85 Henry Clay Ave.

The Varner woman was sentenced to three years in prison in Fort Worth, Tex., in 1955 on a similar charge, the FBI said, and was paroled in 1957.

The FBI said she admitted the Vickers kidnaping, explaining she wanted a baby so badly she would "give a million dollars for one."

Williams Fumes at GOP

'Legislature a Madhouse'

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams has likened the Legislature to a "madhouse." He called the performance of Republican senators "outlandish" and speculated they may be engaging in "political sadism."

His bitter words to newsmen yesterday drew this reaction from Rep. Allison Green of Kingston, Republican House leader:

"The governor is frustrated and I think he's caught between two forces, wedged in because the people who have more or less been telling him what to do insist that he keep fighting Republican tax proposals.

"He's cornered, caught in a trap. I don't particularly shed any tears for Williams. He has been pretty rough on me and other Republicans when he had an opportunity to jump on us."

The governor spoke with unusual intensity in a rambling hour-long review with newsmen of the prolonged legislative impasse over taxes. Lawmakers were home for the Thanksgiving holiday.

To a question, he said Democrats hesitated to introduce a new flat rate income tax bill because Republicans "would spend six weeks shooting it full of holes," and nothing at all would be gained.

VIOLENT FOES

For months, some Republicans have violently opposed an income tax.

Sporadically, the GOP Senate caucus has criticized the governor for failure to put his program in bill form, and said the next move is up to Democrats.

"The Republicans have raised H - - - with us for supporting an income tax and they're raising H - - - with us for not supporting one."

GOP senators, he said, are trying to unshoulder their responsibilities on him.

"This is just shadowboxing to put on a public relations maneuver that has no validity—an outlandish performance," he said.

"If I thought I had any balm of persuasion or the bull whip of compulsion, I would walk right into that Senate chamber and use it," Williams said.

"I would put on a saintly smile or diabolic grin if the net effect would be to produce a tax. I would put myself in any form to accomplish this."

He slapped his hand on the desk, and added:

"Why, I'd even wear sack cloth and ashes."

A newsman suggested that some Republicans doubted that the state's cash situation was as critical as Williams has said and felt that the governor had "been crying wolf."

"If I hadn't been crying wolf, I'd have so many bayonets in my back that there wouldn't be an inch left to put another one in," he replied with a gesture of futility.

He said unpaid state bills were nearing 90 million dollars, and continued:

"Hospitals are going broke (for lack of payment of state bills). Small manufacturers are going

Suggests Going to Citizens

Bagwell Asks Payroll Tax

DETROIT — Paul D. Bagwell, titular head of the Republican Party in Michigan, says the Legislature should adopt a temporary payroll tax program as "reasonable compromise" to break the deadlock in Lansing.

Bagwell, GOP candidate for governor last year, suggested that if no tax solution is reached by Christmas Gov. Williams should appoint a blue-ribbon citizens committee to recommend a program.

In recommending a 1 per cent payroll tax, Bagwell made one of his few comments on the tax question since his suggestion to the Republican State Convention last February that a flat rate income tax be prepared if the proposed sales tax increase fell through.

He expressed his views in a speech before a Jewish war veterans group.

"In view of the dire circumstances the state is in, I feel we should get a reasonable compromise solution and go ahead. I'd like to see a bipartisan effort on it," he said.

Bagwell proposed the 1 per cent tax on payrolls should exempt the first $35 in weekly earnings and should be extended to cover earnings of those whose income comes mainly from commissions or fees for services, including professional people.

Commenting that "everyone should share equitably," the Michigan State University professor suggested that the payroll tax extend only through June 30, 1961, explaining:

"This would give Michigan

Snow Tonight, Tomorrow Seen for Pontiac

Pontiac area residents will have a little snow for Thanksgiving, the weatherman predicted.

He said there would be scattered snow flurries or occasional light snow today, tonight and tomorrow. There will be a low tonight of 24 degrees and a high tomorrow of 30, with accompanying light winds northerly at 15-25 miles per hour Friday.

While Pontiac area residents headed for today's Lions-Packers football clash in Detroit or the traditional Thanksgiving parade on clear streets, residents of Washtenaw, Livingston, Monroe and western Wayne County found their streets covered with snow.

A freak snowstorm struck in the area late Wednesday, glazing highways with a thin coating of ice and causing a flurry of minor auto accidents.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 24 degrees. At 1 p.m. the temperature downtown was 30.

Rail Strike Threat Ends

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A strike threat which could have crippled the Pennsylvania Railroad during the busy Christmas holiday season has been withdrawn by two unions representing 30,000 equipment maintenance employes.

Police Seek Hit-Run Killer of 5-Year-Old

DETROIT (AP) — Police continued their search today for a hit-run driver whose vehicle killed a 5-year-old boy yesterday as he walked to school in Highland Park.

The child, Larry A. Masterson, was struck as he crossed an alley on the sidewalk. Police said they were undecided whether the vehicle was a car or a truck.

A 6-year-old companion of the victim told officers Larry was struck by "a big green truck with lettering on the side."

Larry, son of Mrs. Yvonne Masterson, 21, was about a block from his home when he was killed.

Psychiatric Workers Thankful for Results of Psychodrama

Mental Patients Respond to Drama Treatment

By HARVEY ZUCKERBERG

The tension was there, yesterday, like a coiled spring ready to snap.

The place was a little auditorium in Pontiac State Hospital.

The occasion for the gathering of some 30 mentally ill patients was Psychodrama.

In a few moments, years of painstaking efforts were to pay off. One of those patients, for many months withdrawn into the dark cave of his being, would grasp a ray of reality.

Psychodrama is an impromptu acting out of personal difficulties. The patients are the actors. A trained person also assumes a role to channel the action.

The scenes usually develop around the life stories of the participating patients. They are set up by the patients and are completely spontaneous so that innermost feelings are revealed.

Psychodrama is designed so the patients can vent hostility and act out painful situations. Once a scene begins on the stage, no one knows what will happen.

Ted Panaretos, psychiatric caseworker superviser before he became community relations director, was coordinating the group therapy.

Assisting him were volunteers Mrs. Dean Coffin, Mrs. Richard Oglesby of the Gray Ladies and Mrs. William Breech of the Birmingham Junior League.

A small group of patients mounted the stage. The scene to be enacted was the activity in a sporting goods store. Each of the patients was given a role—owner, secretary, stockboy and customer.

Panaretos and his assistants at intervals invited members of the patient audience to "go up and buy something."

From this point they played it by ear.

Sitting in the rear of the audience was a man we will call George Wilson, a schizophrenic who had departed from the world of reality more than five years ago.

Wilson had never talked to other patients. He was frightened, afraid of relationships. He was known to lash out first, before he felt he would be hurt. He was considered potentially violent.

Wilson had been coming to Psychodrama sessions once a week for nine months. He came and he sat. He said nothing to no one, locking himself in as tight as a drum . . . thinking, thinking, thinking.

He was invited to participate. He would not even answer.

Standing in the audience, Panaretos imitated the ringing sound of a telephone with his tongue—a signal to the psychiatric caseworker on the stage, Doug Everhart.

An assistant manager of the sporting goods store in the scene, Everhart answered the phone.

"Hello, I'm calling for Mr. Wilson," said Panaretos. "This is his secretary. Mr. Wilson would like to order a string of Christmas lights."

'THANK YOU'

"Oh, fine, you are calling for Mr. Wilson," repeated Everhart from the stage. "Yes, we have them in stock. Thank you for calling."

Everhart hung up the imaginary telephone.

"Let's see," he thought out loud to the audience. "I think I'll call Mr. Wilson and tell him his order is ready."

Everhart went through the motions of picking up the receiver. He dialed.

"Hello, Mr. Wilson?" he called.

A velvet hush blanketed the audience.

From the back of the auditorium came an answer, bold and clear.

"Yes, this is Mr. Wilson!" said the man who believed people wanted to poison him.

Panaretos gasped. "The first time," he muttered excitedly, "the first time. It's paying off."

All heads turned to the rear. Wilson was smiling broadly.

'I'LL COME'

Everhart picked up the cue quickly . . . after months of waiting.

"Mr. Wilson, I have your order ready. Would you like to come down to the store and pick it up?"

"I'll come tonight," Wilson fidgeted, still suspicious.

"No," Panaretos whispered to himself, "don't let him slip back into his shell."

Everhart pursued unhesitatingly. He didn't want to lose Wilson now. If Wilson hung up suddenly, that would be the end of it.

"Well, Mr. Wilson," Everhart said, his voice husky with the intensity of the real melodrama, "we will be closing in just a few minutes. Wouldn't you care to come down now and pick up your Christmas lights?"

Wilson's glazed eyes cleared and his face brightened again.

Steel Men and Union Will Meet Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediators, moving to prevent a renewal of the steel strike, are calling union and industry negotiators to Washington for meetings next week.

Plans to seek the renewed sessions were announced Wednesday after meetings of the mediators with Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell and members of an inquiry panel named by President Eisenhower.

"I am hopeful as I always am," said Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the mediation service. But nothing he said indicated that any real move toward settlement was imminent.

Finnegan tentatively set Tuesday for renewal of meetings. He said definite plans would be made later this week.

Members of the Steelworkers Union, which ended a 116-day strike Nov. 7 under court orders, will be free to strike again in January unless a settlement is reached before then.

Although the government has stayed pretty well out of settlement efforts since court orders sent the men back to work, union and management representatives have met occasionally.

Secret negotiations last week brought a new offer from industry, but the union quickly turned it down.

Psychodrama Helps Mental Patients

said the man afraid of people, the man who lost all confidence in himself at the death of his father.

But he made no attempt to rise from his seat.

"Come on Mr. Wilson," he said, "I'll drive you over to the store."

He led him to the steps of the stage. Wilson, a wide grin on his face, faltered. He looked to Panaretos, hoping he would go up instead.

Panaretos helped him to make the decision.

"I'll wait in the car while you go up and get the lights," Panaretos said.

Wilson turned and went up the stairs in long striding steps. He approached the store owner, a man who used to soil his clothes but now wears a suit and tie to the Psychodrama sessions.

Wilson shook his hand. He shook Everhart's hand, too.

"Hello," he beamed. "I'm Mr. Wilson. I've come to get my lights."

His eyes saw.

FIRST STEP

Wilson returned to his seat in the audience and Panaretos thanked him for taking part in the skit.

"That's the first step," Panaretos sighed appreciatively. "He's come out. Now we can hope to reach him with other therapy.

"Psychodrama reaches the very disturbed patients who cannot respond to individual therapy. Being part of the group is therapy. They gain insight and understanding, as a result of the dramatic presentation and the discussions after each scene.

"Through the drama the patient learns how to deal with real problems and to meet people socially. Psychodrama also assists individual patients to reestablish interpersonal relationships as well as to build and strengthen their ego."

Under the supervision of the medical director, Panaretos and his Psychodrama staff, which includes also Mrs. Albert T. Olson and Mrs. Jack B. Nichols, report the results of the twice-weekly sessions to the medical staff.

Dr. J. L. Moreno presented the first Psychodrama demonstration in 1921. Marguerite M. Parrish, social service director, introduced this form of therapy to the Pontiac State Hospital in 1948.

According to Panaretos, Pontiac State Hospital is the only such institution in Michigan with a Psychodrama program.

Threat of Strike Hangs Over City Bus Service

A strike threat hung over Pontiac bus service today as negotiators for bus drivers and mechanics in Pontiac, Saginaw and Kalamazoo said wage talks were deadlocked.

"After the end of our next session Dec. 4 the public will be notified when the strike will occur," a union spokesman said.

All contracts have expired and a strike has been approved. The union said there was no progress and that the company did not make a new offer.

Assembly Halt Due at Chrysler

Week's Suspension of Work, Caused by Steel Lack, Starts in 6 Days

DETROIT (AP)—Lack of steel has forced Chrysler Corp. to suspend operations at all its auto assembly plants for a week starting next Wednesday.

All but three of Chrysler's assembly plants are closed now. The firm said two of the remaining three would shut at the end of regular shifts Tuesday. These are in Detroit and St. Louis. Another Detroit plant will close Wednesday, Chrysler said.

About 23,000 of Chrysler's 75,000 hourly rated workers are idle. Next week's shutdown will affect an additional 15,000, bringing the total to about 38,000 idle, Chrysler said. Remaining workers are not directly connected with car assembly.

★ ★ ★

The firm said some Detroit car and truck production will be resumed Dec. 9. The remainder of the seven assembly plants will start up again shortly thereafter. Chrysler gave no date.

Chrysler said it will start limited recalls of workers at its parts manufacturing plants next week. The first recall will be 450 men in Detroit, Chrysler said.

General Motors said Tuesday it expected to have all its 23 assembly plants in five-day operation starting Dec. 14. Some Chevrolet production is due to resume Dec. 7.

By Monday, GM expects to have recalled about 50,000 workers. GM had more than 220,000 workers idle at the peak of the steel shortage.

All GM auto assembly stopped Nov. 11.

Slate Church Dedication for Sunday Afternoon

BIRMINGHAM — The new Birmingham Unitarian Church at Lone Pine road and Woodward avenue will be dedicated and the minister, the Rev. Lester Mondale, installed at 4 p.m. Sunday.

The church, composed of four contemporary-styled buildings, was designed by the noted Birmingham architect, Minorou Yamasaki.

It is situated on a gently rolling site. The buildings, surrounding a courtyard, include three educational units and a larger social hall which will serve as the church-proper and be used also for all social functions.

Participating in Sunday's dedication program will be the Rev. Dana M. Greeley of Boston, president of the American Unitarian Assn.

Construction of the new $225,000 Reid Building at 800 S. Adams Rd. is proceeding according to schedule and is expected to be completed by June.

The two-story building will house offices of the W. E. Reid Development Co.

Steel, concrete and brick, with special aluminum panels are being utilized in the construction. Mosaic facing will be placed between the windows across the front of the building.

Multi-zoned heating and air conditioning will be installed throughout. A parking lot for 68 cars will be provided.

"We believe that Birmingham makes a perfect location for our offices because of the convenience of reaching so many industrial plants in the area," said Hamilton H. Paterson, president of the Reid Development Co.

"Our new building will be close to transportation facilities, too," he added. "We offer this building project as proof of our confidence in the future growth of the Birmingham area."

citizens a chance to vote next November on a sales or income tax. And it would allow a new Legislature to write a new tax program in 1961."

If no tax program is adopted by Christmas, Bagwell said, a blue ribbon committee should be named to take a look at the situation and make recommendations.

The group should include representatives from labor, industry, the clergy, business and education, he said.

"These men could take a look, meet with the treasurer, get all the facts straight and give to the people an accurate, unbiased and non-partisan report of Michigan's position," Bagwell explained.

This would focus public opinion on the Legislature, he said.

Death Toll Starts Slow Rise in U.S.

Traffic	25

Total	27

Deaths caused by traffic accidents mounted slowly over the extended Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

Inclement weather—snow, sleet and rain—covered nearly half of the country.

The National Safety Council estimated that 470 persons normally died on highways in a 102-hour non-holiday weekend period at this time of the year.

A nationwide survey by The Associated Press covering a similar period two weeks ago listed 433 dead in traffic accidents, 49 in fires, 100 from miscellaneous causes for a total of 582.

Last year's Thanksgiving holiday weekend brought death to 454 in traffic, 54 in fires and 118 from miscellaneous accidents.

The Safety Council makes no forecast for the Thanksgiving holiday and some others on the theory that they "are not condusive to compulsive, one-for-the-road trips and driving."

Evergreen, Farmington Sewers Available Soon

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

With construction of the Evergreen-Farmington sanitary sewers moving at a fast clip, some residents are wondering how soon their homes can be hooked into them.

The answer depends on what steps the communities to be served by the $12,667,000 projects are doing to provide sewers to tie into the larger interceptors.

Several areas, which already have sewers, might be hooked into the interceptor within about two months, according to Donald W. Ringler, chief engineer for the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

"For others it will be some time yet," Ringler added.

WELL ALONG

With the Evergreen 57.3 per cent completed, and the Farmington 40.9 per cent finished, Ringler said prospects look good that both interceptors (larger trunklines) will be completed by June of next year. Construction began in June.

While Ringler and his staff watch progress closely, his boss, Harold K. Schone, acting DPW director, is pondering a legal question which many potential users of the sewers probably ask. This is:

How soon does a homeowner, now using a septic tank, have to hook up to the Evergreen or Farmington?

"The county's sanitation code says six months after the sewer is available," Schone said. "The legal question is what 'available' means. Today we take it to mean that the sewer or its laterals come within a half mile of the home."

"We'll let it go at that," he added, "but we might need a ruling from the corporation counsel if this is tested by a citizen."

Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Lathrup Village, part of Troy, Southfield, the village of Beverly Hills, all of Bloomfield Township and part of Pontiac Township will be served by the Evergreen. It is called the Evergreen because it follows Evergreen road in a northerly direction beginning at Eight Mile road until it reaches 14-Mile road where it tangents off in two general sections.

The city of Keego Harbor, the major portion of West Bloomfield Township, all of Farmington Township, and a small section of the city of Southfield will be served by the Farmington interceptor.

General obligation bonds are paying for both.

Ringler said all of the 12 communities, "to one degree or another," are taking steps already to provide laterals to tie into the interceptors. He stressed, however, that a township or city initiates the internal sewer planning only upon petition to do so on the part of residents or a group of property owners.

In about five instances where a particular sewer arm stretches across two communities, they have petitioned the DPW to build the arms.

By authority of the Board of Supervisors, the city of Keego Harbor's entire internal system to hook into the interceptor will be constructed by the department.

Connection will come earliest in some areas of Bloomfield Township, Bloomfield Hills, Troy and Birmingham, where there are existing sewers. Sewage will be temporarily treated in the Birmingham treatment plant until the leg of the interceptor from 14-Mile road south is completed by next June.

Well-point pumping is going on 24 hours a day in some areas where the water table is so high, due to neighboring streams, that pumping is necessary to keep water out of the sewer trenches before the pipe can be laid. This was anticipated, Ringler said, and hasn't slowed the projects any.

He said no areas to be served by the Farmington interceptor, or those south of 14-Mile road which will use the Evergreen, can expect to hook into the sewers until June of 1960.

Ushers can expect the pay about four separate charges, Ringler said.

The first will be the interceptor connection charge, which will average in most cases around $200 to $300; the second an assessment for construction of the arm to the community; the third a charge for the lateral leading to one's street; and the fourth for the so-called lead-in line from the street to the house.

No average charge, with the exception of the initial connecting charge, which can be levied by the city or township as soon as the interceptor is available, can be given because of the difference in lot sizes and lengths and size of lateral sewers, Ringler said.

Develop Truly Thankful Heart

(In keeping with our policy of publishing guest editorials from time to time, the Rev. Lenworth R. Miner of Macedonia Baptist Church has written our Thanksgiving message.)

By The REV. LENWORTH R. MINER

Thanksgiving Day is observed by all Americans. It was originally what its name indicated: a day set apart for giving thanks to God.

In 1621 when Governor BRADFORD of Plymouth Colony instituted America's first Thanksgiving it was a day of prayerful gratitude to God for the first successful harvest in the New World.

Looking at the vast panorama of the ages we realize that the events which have given Thanksgiving enduring significance occupied but a speck of time yet we admire the Early Pilgrims. Their courage and high purpose, their devotion to freedom of conscience and freedom of religion which sustained them in their difficulties, hardships and disappointments made a tremendous impact upon all human history.

The truly thankful heart is rare. There is a kind of Thanksgiving to God which is only a form of hypocrisy being really a flattery to ourselves.

Why? Your answer will depend on how you look at Thanksgiving.

The common view is a distorted one. Most people circle around, brushing aside the events which brought about that first Thanksgiving. Such a view of Thanksgiving emphasizes the trimmings, things such as football games, turkey, big dinners and afternoon naps. These things are not the heart of Thanksgiving.

A proper view of Thanksgiving is altogether different. It looks back through the lens of time and gets a clear and meaningful view of that first Thanksgiving. We then agree that Thanksgiving is not a day, but a state of mind.

At its least it may be little more than a proper, if sincere, feeling of gratitude to God for benefits received. At its best it may be a state of increasing moral delight rising to the level of actual worship.

If we can see in our deepest distresses, our hardest trials, our most bitter disappointments, our greatest sufferings the hand of a loving and all-wise God leading us on in the only process that can give us greater strength of character and more depth of soul we can be thankful.

So let us be thankful this day for the rain as well as the sunshine, for the bitter and the sweet, failure and success, defeat and victory, sickness and health. By counting your blessings over and over you are sure to find blessings that have escaped your attention.

Were thanks with every gift expressed,
Each day would be Thanksgiving;
Were gratitude its very best,
Each life would be thanksliving.

Results Prove Our Ice Not Ready for Skating

Tragedy lurking under the still-forming ice of Michigan lakes and ponds claimed six youthful victims over the past weekend, despite warning that an extended cold snap is needed to make the ice safe.

★ ★ ★

Sheriff Frank Irons has made his annual warning to area residents about this, and fortunately, none of the youngsters was from Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

There is a consuming curiosity among youngsters to find out just how thick the ice has formed, and the inevitable attempts to find out often adds names to the list of water victims. Oakland County residents, surrounded by so many lakes, must make a particular effort to instill extreme caution in the minds of children about this hazard.

The Man About Town

This Day in Yore

Thanksgiving Was More Neighbor Get-Together

Turkey: What furnishes leftovers for several days.

In Pontiac's early days neighborhood dinners were the Thanksgiving vogue. It was an annual get-together for several homes in the vicinity.

Often on the "pot luck" system, the women met a few days before and delegated the contributions to the menu that each family should make. To be assessed for the turkey or other centerpiece was regarded as a mark of much distinction, or even of wealth.

The serving time was usually around noon, and the afternoon was spent in square dancing and visiting and other means of working off the effects of the heavy dinner and working up an appetite for a serving of the left-overs for supper.

Some of the churches often served Thanksgiving dinners, following the day's sermon and succeeded by a period of visiting. The real purpose and intent of the day was thus kept in the uppermost.

For a long period of years before the turn of the century the Thanksgiving dinner at the Hodges House was considered the top treat of the year for families who could afford it. This Pontiac hotel was considered to be the best west of New York City, even better than any in Detroit or Chicago.

The Hodges House price of one dollar for the top meal of the holiday seems rather reasonable in these modern times, but was beyond the finances of most families of that era. One of its 1893 Thanksgiving menus gives this price, and closes with "take home the left-overs."

Venison, baked with a good topping of salt pork slices, is the main item on the Thanksgiving table at the home of

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Deering

of Rochester, although he lost his buck on the way home from the north. He recovered it at a gas station where it had been left by some honest man.

Pontiac history records that the local churches joined in a union Thanksgiving service in 1896, with a prominent local attorney, delivering the address in the assembly room of the old brick courthouse.

Aaron Perry

Notables Thankful for Different Things

What Does Today Mean to You?

By The Associated Press

Giving thanks at Thanksgiving can mean gratitude for many, many things — health, success, peace, love.

To underscore the deeper meaning of the holiday, The Associated Press asked a number of prominent Americans this question:

On Thanksgiving, 1959, what are the things in your own life you have most cause to be thankful for?

Thought-provoking replies came from figures well known in government, science, the arts.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist—"I find it impossible to speak of any one circumstance for which I am thankful. There are many to mention, both general and personal.

BETTER MEDICINE

"In the first place, as a physician, I am particularly thankful for what has happened in medicine during my lifetime in the U.S.A., with the remarkable advances that have come. But I realize at the same time how much more remains to be done, especially with the new challenge to health that in some ways may have been the result of the faulty use made of our prosperity.

★ ★ ★

"As a doctor, I am also thankful that medical science can at this juncture of world history play such a role in the improvement in the lot of mankind, not only in our own country but especially in many parts of the world where there is still much suffering among the underprivileged. We doctors have the opportunity during the next generation to contribute toward the happiness and peace of the world, not only by our contributions to the health of the body, but at the same time by our efforts to improve mental health and the spirit itself."

AMERICAN FREEDOM

Vice President Richard M. Nixon — "Americans have countless reasons to thank God on this day. As I think of the meaning of Thanksgiving, I can't help but find running through my mind the oppressions I have seen on trips to totalitarian countries. I am reminded that all of us should be thankful for something we ordinarily take for granted—the freedoms we cherish in America."

Arthur Godfrey, television personality who underwent surgery for lung cancer last spring—"On Thanksgiving Day, 1959, I am thankful to be alive and healthy."

OUR COLLEGES

Nathan M. Pusey, head of Harvard University—"Just as all of us are personally grateful for what school and college training did for us, I believe we Americans should give thanks today that the purposes and needs of education are coming to be more widely cherished and increasingly advanced by the general public.

"On this Thanksgiving Day, we must be grateful indeed for the everwidening opportunities open to our young people to attain the higher reaches of learning and make their most effective contribution to the moral and spiritual fiber of this nation."

Henry A. Wallace, vice president under President Franklin D. Roosevelt and now specializing in progressive farming—"I am exceedingly thankful that we have a president who could say at Abilene, Kan., on Oct. 14:

"'No other aspiration dominates my own being so much as this: that the nations of the East and West will find dependable, self-guaranteeing methods to reduce the vast and essentially wasteful expenditures for armaments, so that a part of the savings may be used in a comprehensive and effective effort for world improvement.'"

OUR CHURCHES

Clare Boothe Luce, former U.S. ambassador to Italy — "I am grateful that the United States is a land where so many people are so free to make so many choices among so many things and ideas. I am grateful to all legislators who know that their task is the orderly increase of every citizens area of material choices; to our educators who understand that their task is to form every citizen's mind to make reasonable choices; and to our churchmen of all faiths."

Dr. William Brady Says:

My Voice Still Drowned on Injection Treatment

"Numerous patients have come to me," writes a surgeon, "asking for injection treatment of hemorrhoids, varicose veins or hernia.

DR. BRADY

Your advocacy of the method evidently influences a substantial part of the public.

While I am a surgeon and limit my practice to surgery, at the same time I am a physician and I congratulate you for your forthrightness in telling the public the truth about injection treatment.

"Furthermore, I regret to say, some who oppose injection treatment do so for a selfish reason and not for the best interest of the patient."

The doctor goes on to say that he has used injection treatment in suitable cases for some sixteen years. And so a colleague came to him for bleeding hemorrhoids.

He gave his colleague the injection treatment and there has been no more bleeding. Nevertheless, the colleague has never yet given a patient the benefit of this method.

The surgeon concludes:

"This modern method of injection treatment in selected cases is a tremendous improvement over the customary surgery, and your work in letting the public know what is good is a work of humanity. Congratulations."

Yahbut, my still small voice is easily drowned in the furious roar of those who condemn me and the injection method as no blanked good. Physicians or surgeons who use the injection method in selected cases with results highly satisfactory to their patients are so intimidated that they dare not speak out!

While physicians and surgeons who use the ambulant, office, injection treatment in selected cases, as the correspondent says, are understandably reluctant to lend their names to the popularization of injection treatment, I derive a good deal of saisfaction from the knowledge that the textbook on hernia, by Leigh F. Watson, 3rd ed., published by C. V. Mosby Co., St. Louis, (not available to the laity), devotes five chapters to injection treatment.

So, I have the satisfaction of knowing that at all costs I have tried as hard as I could to tell you poor souls the truth.

Now if you are subject to hernia, hemorrhoids or varicose veins, I have pamphlets which may give you some valuable help. For any one pamphlet send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope. For any two, enclose 25c in addition. For all three send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

"People get riled up like the sea in a gale—but if they have enough depth, they're calm underneath."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Fears Inflation More Than Reds

Colonel X believes inflation is as dangerous a threat as Russian war power. And he thinks it is smarter to economize on futle defense and invest part of these salvaged billions in more Aire Force and missile weapons, while we lower taxes with the balance. How do you feel regarding the turtle vs. the rattlesnake below?

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE D-410: Colonel X retired recently from the Air Force.

CRANE

"Dr. Crane," he began as we rode together on an airplane recently, "we military men don't dare express ourselves very freely.

"For it isn't deemed cricket for the Army to criticize the Navy or the Air Force to belittle the other two.

"But our greatest danger will soon be inflation and national bankruptcy instead of threats from outside foes. Uncle Sam will soon be confiscating 50 per cent of all a farmer's crops and a doctor's fees, a union man's wages and a manufacturer's profits, UNLESS

"And that UNLESS refers to sensible economies in government! Let me be specific.

"Under the ruse of possible foreign invasion, we are spending billions each year on the Army. Yet it is admitted that any enemy attack would be accomplished almost before the Army men could get out of their bunks and into their uniforms!

"If and when the enemy dared attack us, we have only nominal defensive power against jets, rockets, intercontinental missiles, etc. Our major protection lies in our striking power via similar jets, missiles, etc.

"So it is folly to squander billions on obsolete defensive measures that are almost as absurd as bows and arrows!

"England thus has ordered its draft ended next year: And England is recommending not more than $4 billion for ALL military matters, while we still spend almost 10 times that much.

"If we wish to really stabilize this country and keep it strong, we must economize. We can lop off billions from the Army without increasing one iota our danger from Russia.

"Even the laymen know that Russia has no fear of American infantry soldiers.

"No sirree. It's our Air Force, jets and missiles, that deter them.

"So let's get back to common sense. We could salvage 5 to 10 billion per year from military appropriations.

"Half of this could then be used to lower taxes. The other half could be employed to further expand our research in the air. Don't you agree?"

TURTLE VS. RATTLESNAKE

You readers know that the turtle has the best natural defense of any creature on earth.

Yet children invade its domain via the creeks and lakes with little fear.

The rattlesnake, on the other hand, has almost no defensive armor at all, but it has tremendous striking power. As a result, even our bravest and smartest human beings still are wary when they enter rattlesnake territory.

Applied to these remarks by Colonel X, I agree that Russia has little concern for our infantry or Army anti-aircraft weapons.

Radar and all such detecting devices may help reduce the number of planes that get through, but it takes only one bomb or rocket per city to annihilate it.

Don't you agree that just one billion more per year added to research for the Air Force would keep Russia in far more jitters than 10 billions for Army defenses?

Always compare the rattlesnake with the turtle and you'll know which one Russia will stay clear of!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Criticizes Drivers of Small Autos

Are people who drive those little cars all bad drivers or does it just seem that way? Nearly everyone you see driving one is whipping in and out of traffic, jumping lights and passing on the right like they thought rules weren't made for them.

Maybe I'm wrong and I just notice the little cars doing that more than I notice the big ones, but I don't think so.

Hunting Season Brings Comment

If the season keeps the deer hunters to a low figure, it just means that many more will die of starvation. Maybe they should extend the season.

The way so many hunters are being killed these days, it looks like we may have to set up the hunting season to protect the men instead of the animals.

State Citizens With Money Seen as Hopes for Parks

By TOM SHAWVER
A. P. Outdoor Writer

LANSING — If the Legislature won't come across, maybe the moneyed citizens and foundations will.

Applying that thinking, the newly formed Michigan Parks Assn. is going to look to private groups and individuals to furnish part of the land badly needed for expansion of the state parks system.

Plagued by money troubles, the Legislature for several years has balked at allocating funds for parks land acquisition.

Even the parks admission fee bill vetoed by Gov. Williams specified all proceeds go for park improvements.

Meanwhile, valuable property in Southern Michigan — where recreation lands are most desperately needed — is going to private and commercial interests at an alarming rate. And the price is going up even faster.

HEAVY CONTRIBUTIONS

Gifts and grants may help solve a worsening problem.

Thirty years and more ago, wealthy citizens contributed heavily to growth of the park network, which had its beginning in 1920.

In that year, Miss Carrie Mears donated 15 acres at the village of Pentwater in Oceana County to establish Charles Mears State Park. P. H. Hoeft gave the 300 acres for Hoeft Park in Presque Isle County and David H. Day did the same in Grand Traverse County.

Dodge Bros. Corp., the automakers, gave 11 sites, mostly in populous Southeastern Michigan. Several parks bear the company's name.

Howard B. Bloomer, attorney for the same firm, made a gift of four more valuable pieces of property. Three parks in Oakland County are named for him.

When more recent years brought higher income taxes and a decline in the number of great personal fortunes, gifts of parks lands fell off to practically nothing.

The new parks association is talking of setting up its own foundation to encourage gifts of land and cash for parks purposes.

Dr. Robert O. Belcher, head of the Department of Natural Sciences at Eastern Michigan University, was named last week to head a committee to develop the plans.

Belcher stressed the group would turn over property it acquires to the state.

"We have no intention of running our own parks system," he said.

On numerous occasions, state parks officials say, they've had to pass up good land buys for lack of funds. A permanent parks foundation logically could hold its cash resources in readiness for just such occasions.

It also would permit donation of small cash gifts from individuals of modest means.

So far as it knows, the parks group is striking out pretty much on its own, without experience in other states to guide its course.

The Rockefeller Foundation made large gifts of land to establish national parks in the Virgin Islands and the Grand Tetons Mountains in Wyoming.

Part of the huge profits from offshore oillands buy parks and recreation areas in California.

Counties where prospective parks are to be located must furnish half the purchase cost.

BOUNTIFUL Christmas meals need take only part of a homemaker's time during holidays. Prepare turkey, cranberry specialties, other season's favorites early. Store in frost-guard freezer.

Try Precooking for Time-Saver

Mom Can Have Dinner Ready, Frozen Days Before Christmas

As the holiday season approaches, every homemaker is faced with the problem of having plenty of food on hand.

By planning and shopping ahead of time and storing food in the freezer, holiday fare is right at your fingertips. There's no problem at all if you have a frost-guard freezer which holds up to 438 pounds of food.

A complete frozen dinner can be ready to pop into the oven. On that day a housewife can enjoy the fun without slaving for hours in the kitchen.

If turkey is the main attraction, roast it a few days ahead of time. The last half hour of roasting spread on the glaze, such as orange marmalade, put a row of cherries down the middle of the breast with a trimming of holly leaves cut out of winter pears. Cool and put on a utility platter and place in freezer.

Then on the big day, take it out of the freezer, thaw or heat in frozen state until hot, right on the same platter which goes from freezer to oven. Put a frill of foil on the legs and it's all set to bring to the table.

★ ★ ★

Potatoes, too, can be dressed up for the occasion. You might season mashed potatoes with egg yolk, grated cheese or bits of bacon. Shape them like cones and stud with green peas to look like little Christmas trees. Put each cone on top of a slice of pineapple and freeze. On the big day, just reheat in a casserole for half an hour.

Sicily's Gandhi Receives Lenin Peace Prize

ROME (UPI) — Danilo Dolci, a 30-year-old writer and reformer once called "The Gandhi of Sicily," received the Lenin Peace Prize of Russia here Tuesday.

Dolci was arrested four years ago for leading 200 unemployed Sicilian laborers out to work on the roads in a strike in reverse. He did this to make the point that there was plenty of work available if only the government would authorize it and thus help the poor.

"When they came to arrest me, I offered only passive resistance as (Indian spiritual leader Mohandas K.) Gandhi did," Dolci said at his trial. Police said he was a "well-known agitator."

Here from Moscow to confer the Lenin Prize on Dolci was famed writer Ilya Ehrenburg.

Lansing Township Rejects Annexation

LANSING (AP)—Lansing Township voters Tuesday rejected a proposal which would have merged virtually all of the township with the City of Lansing.

A preliminary count indicated the township opposed the annexation by a 2-1 margin, although electors in the city favored the proposition by a 3-1 margin. Favorable action by both units was necessary to effect the merger.

More than 57,000 persons were eligible to take part in the special election but cold and rainy weather cut sharply into the turnout.

Passage of the merger proposal would have added about 9¾ square miles of the township to the city's 20½ square miles. It would have boosted the city's population by about 15,000 to between 130,000 and 135,000.

Sentenced to Death

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — Five persons were sentenced to death Monday in a state security court trial of six persons charged with espionage for Israel. The sixth was acquitted. Authorities uncovered the alleged spy ring early this year.

Hearing Is Set on Flow of Milk

Bill Would Eliminate State, Local Measures Restricting Freedom

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Lester R. Johnson (D-Wis) said today a hearing will be held in January or February on his bill to eliminate state and local restrictions against the free flow of milk to any part of the country.

One of the major problems, Johnson said, will be to get his measure to the House floor for a vote.

"If we can get it to the House floor for action, I would say there is a chance of passage," he said.

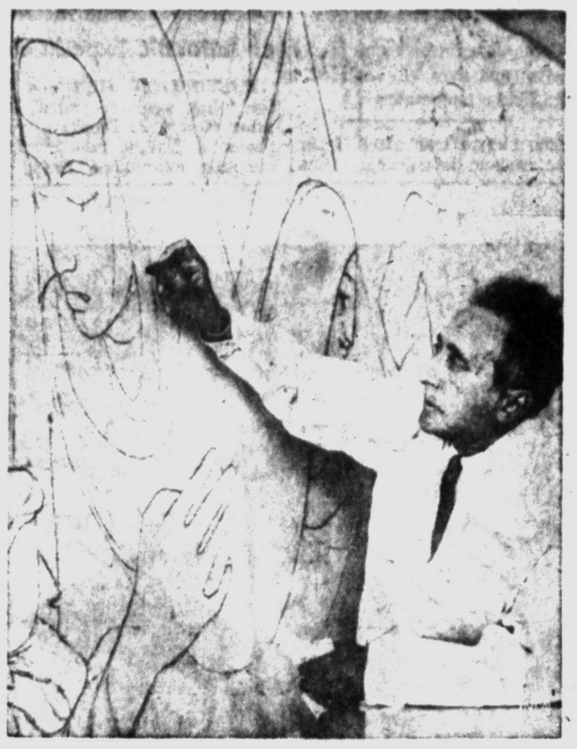

Johnson said Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) of the House Commerce Committee agreed to a hearing after Congress returns in January. He said a definite date has not been set.

Members of Congress from dairy states have long sought a law that would ban any restraint against the free movement of milk as long as it met high federal standards.

"If we had such a law on the books," Johnson said, "Wisconsin milk could be shipped as far away as Florida or the District of Columbia at a price lower than housewives in these area are now paying.

"But the way it is now handled, local regulations prevent this even though the milk shipped would be of as high a grade as that approved for local use."

Iraqi Premier Kassem Okay After Surgery

The radio quoted health Minister Abdul Malek Shawaf as saying the operation was performed after a medical commission found that Kassem's arm fracture had "healed completely" since the Oct. 7 attempt on his life. Kassem hopes to be able to leave the hospital "within days," Shawaf said.

Forgotten U. N. Men Stand Guard at Aqaba; Might Be Lifetime Job

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

On a lonely sand spit near the tip of the Sinai Peninsula, a special United Nations force stands guard three years after Britain, France and Israel invaded Egypt.

The place is called Sharm-El-Sheikh, and from it Egyptian coastal guns once barred Israeli shipping from the narrow Gulf of Aqaba.

The Israeli wrecked the guns in the invasion of 1956 and the otherwise deserted observation post now is occupied by small contingents of Norwegian and Danish troops.

They and their fellows are symbols of a religious and territorial conflict which has kept the Middle East in a state of uneasiness since 1949 and at times, such as in 1956, has contained the seeds of a war involving all the great world powers.

THREE YEARS OLD

It was three years ago this month that the United Nations General Assembly voted to set up UNEF (United Nations Expeditionary Force) to "separate" the forces of Israel and Egypt. It was not to engage in combat.

★ ★ ★

This force is a little more than 5,000 strong. It occupies the Gaza Strip, a 26-mile finger of land jutting into Israel along the Mediterranen Coast, and is strung out along the Negev from Rafah to Aquaba along the Israeli-UAR frontier.

Represented are forces from India, Canada, Yugoslavia, Sweden, Brazil, Norway and Denmark.

The budget for 1960 has been estimated at nearly $19 million, distributed among U.N. members on the regular budget system.

The United States is paid up. Russia never has paid anything and has indicated it never will. Russia believes the costs should be borne entirely by Britain, France and Israel.

UNEF comes to attention in this dispatch, not because of a three-year anniversary but because the question of U.N. forces at Sharm-El-Sheikh has been brought up again by a spokesman for King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

The king, according to his spokesman, believes the troops should be withdrawn.

King Saud expressed the prevalent Arab view that the Gulf of Aquaba is composed of Arab waters. With U.N. troops at its entrance, Israel is able to use the gulf freely for shipping originating at the port of Elath at the head of the gulf into the Red Sea.

The problem is made more complicated because it also involves the question of Israeli rights to use the Suez Canal and Arab claims against Israeli-held Palestine.

The forgotten men of UNEF apparently have a lifetime job. The state of war between Israel and the Arab states exists and apparently will continue to exist. Tens of thousands of refugees throng the Gaza Strip and neither the Arabs nor the Jews show signs of yielding.

An Old Christmas Tree Can Be Used for Birds

When its purpose is served, a Christmas tree should be disposed of properly.

Some communities observe a Twelfth Night ceremony. Christmas trees, wreaths and boughs are collected from several homes and burned in a blaze of glory—a fitting end for a tree of tradition and sentiment.

Bird lovers often stand the tree in the yard after Christmas and attach bird food, such as suet, to its branches.

'Til Coffee Break

Most men take to sweater-vests like ducks to water. A lightweight one in wool jersey or a woven fabric is a good gift for a commuter. It keeps him warm on those early morning rides. At work, a sweater-vest keeps a man snug until the office warms up.

There are 153 national forests within the U.S.

So . . . He Resigns From Bench

Voelker Can't Stop Pen; Finds 2 Jobs Too Much

LANSING (AP) — "While other lawyers may write my opinions, they can scarcely write my books. It is as simple as that."

With this succinct statement, author-Justice John B. Voelker of Ishpeming explained why he is quitting the State Supreme Court bench to continue his career as a novelist.

* * *

Voelker authored "Anatomy of a Murder," the best seller made into a movie that reportedly earned him more than half a million dollars.

Voelker, 56, had expressed fears that he would be a one-shot author because he didn't find time to write both legal opinions and books.

He previously had written three other books, two non-fiction and one of short stories based on his years as Marquette County prosecutor. But he has published nothing since "Anatomy," in his own words, "hit the jackpot."

IS CRITICIZED

Voelker's decision to quit drew sharp criticism from a Republican senator who said the jurist "wasn't honest with the people" when he ran last spring for an eight-year term.

Sen. Charles R. Feenstra (R-Grand Rapids) commented:

"If he wanted to write the book-of-the-month, what did he run for? Why wasn't he honest enough with the people not to run?"

Voelker said he was satisfied he couldn't continue to serve on the court and write in his spare time.

"I find I have a growing desire to write," he said, "and this is tending more and more to occupy my thoughts. I feel I must either leave the court or abandon writing, and I find the latter course a psychological impossibility."

Voelker's intention of resigning first was announced from Gov. Williams' office, after he wrote a personal letter to Williams, who originally appointed him to the high court.

* * *

Paul Weber, the governor's press secretary, acted as a literary agent in arranging release of a typewritten statement from the justice later in the day. Voelker would not elaborate on his statement.

BENCH PAYS $18,500

The resignation, to become effective after Jan. 1, was handed in five weeks before Voelker was scheduled to start a new eight year-term on the bench. The Supreme Court post pays $18,500 a year.

Williams now must appoint a replacement to serve until a special election can be held.

Voelker was appointed to a Supreme Court vacancy by Williams on Jan. 1, 1957 and was elected that spring to serve out the term expiring this Dec. 31.

He did almost no campaigning in his reelection bid last spring, being occupied at the time with the filming of the movie at Marquette.

Voelker emphasized that when he ran for office last spring he had every intention of continuing to serve on the court.

Voelker is known in his own north woods country as an expert dry fly fisherman.

He has weathered double roles before. Although his favorite smoke is an Italian stogie, he accepted a nomination as a pipe smoker of the year.

* * *

After graduation from the University of Michigan law school, Voelker practiced law in Chicago before he became homesick for the pine woods and streams of Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

He was elected prosecuting attorney of Marquette County six times but defeated the seventh.

Saginaw Hears of Port Value

MSU Man Tells Club Valley Could Be Third in State of Michigan

SAGINAW (UPI) — A Michigan State University researcher says the Saginaw Valley could become the state's third largest port.

Dr. John C. Mac Donald based his statements on a survey he made of the valley in 1957-58.

He said the Saginaw Valley could become the state's third largest port because by its location it can best serve a large wedge-shaped portion of Northern Michigan.

He told about 60 members of the Fordney Club that the best place for a Saginaw Valley port would be at the mouth of the Saginaw River in Bangor Township Bay County.

He said a "conservative estimate" of the potential export tonnage from the area that could be served by a Saginaw Valley port would be 55,000 tons a year to Europe and 20,000 tons to Canada.

The key to the Saginaw Valley's chance for industrial expansion, he said, was the long-stalled deepening of the Saginaw River by the government.

Mac Donald said Detroit has failed to develop its port potential and that Muskegon, "a good natural harbor," is far "ahead in the race for Seaway business."

He told the club that "the Seaway is no more than a large ditch and will do no more for you than any other machine or capital investment. It is up to you businessmen to use the Seaway with its lower transportation rates to attract new industry to give the Valley a new lease on its economic life."

Machinists Rate Gov. Brown 1st, Rockefeller 3rd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York came out a poor third in a union's rating of three governors mentioned as possible 1960 presidential or vice presidential candidates.

The rating was made by the Machinist's Union, which claims nearly a million members. It gave top billing to Gov. Edmund B. (Pat) Brown of California and was lukewarm to Ohio Gov. Michael DiSalle.

The assessments were based on the legislative record each governor compiled during his first term of working with a legislature controlled by his own party. Rockefeller is a Republican. Brown and DiSalle are Democrats.

19th Century U.S. Nun Wins Title of Mother

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican's Congregation of Rites Tuesday approved the "qualities of heroism and virtue" of the American nun Elizabeth Ann Seton, completing another step in the process for her beatification.

Beatification would confer on the 19th century nun—known as Mother Seton — the title of "blessed." This is frequently followed by canonization and sainthood, the highest honor of the Roman Catholic Church. If it is conferred on Mother Seton, she would be the Church's first U. S.-born saint.

★ ★ ★

Mother Seton was born in New York in 1774 and was converted to Catholicism. She devoted he life to charitable work and the education of youth after the death of her husband. She founded the Sisters of Charity of St. Joseph in America.

Britain Rival in Rocket Field

Offer 100-Mile Missile to West Germany; Plans Extended Sales Push

LONDON (UPI) — Britain is offering its missiles for sale to West Germany and other European Allies in competition with American rockets, government sources said today.

Its entry into the missile market will begin with the offer to sell the Blue Water rocket to West Germany, the sources said.

Designed for tactical use on the battlefield, the Blue Water carries a nuclear or conventional warhead and is accurate at ranges up to 100 miles. It is fired from the ground at ground targets.

Defense Minister Harold Watkinson is expected to bring up the missile sales program when he meets West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Straussin Bonn Dec. 1.

British experts believe the chances for arms sales to Germany, Italy, France, and other NATO Allies are improving because of European fears that the United States will be giving away fewer weapons as it cuts down its aid programs.

Other reasons being listed include the fact that British weapons are designed specifically for European use, that the point of manufacture and source of parts is close at hand, and that Europe favors closer integration in arms production to eliminate duplication.

Watkinson is expected to discuss this integration in general and the Blue Water missile specifically when he meets Strauss.

West Germany is a good potential customer of Britain because it has 117 million dollars' worth of arms buying credits deposited in British banks. The money was put there as a compromise solution to British demands that Germany pay for stationing British troops on her soil.

German orders are expected to total 25 million dollars before the end of the year, with a sizable portion to be spent on missiles.

Britain would retain control of the nuclear warheads if it sold the Blue Water to Germany, surrendering them only in wartime.

Although the British have developed their own smaller missiles, they still depend on U.S. Thors for long-range protection.

Nearly 22 million persons were admitted to hospitals in 1958, an average of 59,000 each day.

Lincoln Turned Thanksgiving Into Present National Holiday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans look to their blessings today, following a custom born in hardship and brought to full flower in one of the bloodiest periods of their history.

The annual day of Thanksgiving is as firmly embedded in the culture as Christmas, Easter and Independence Day. Yet 242 years passed after the first Thanksgiving at Plymouth, Mass., before the holiday officially became a national one.

Illness, starvation and the threat of Indian attack were the constant companions of the Pilgrims during the early years of their colony in Massachusetts.

But they brought in a harvest in 1621 and in the autumn they paused to enjoy their hard-won food and to give thanks.

That first festival was proclaimed by the colony's governor, William Bradford.

The custom spread through New England in the years that followed. And among those who undoubtedly took part in these annual feast days was one Samuel Lincoln, among whose descendants would be Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States.

At intervals during the Revolutionary War, Congress recommended days of fasting and prayer. When it was over, President George Washington decreed that Thursday, Nov. 26 — the same date as our Thanksgiving this year — should be set aside for thanks to God for the new government and the blessings it would bring.

Historians say that no special attention was paid to a day of thanks from Washington's time until President James Madison proclaimed a season of prayer and Thanksgiving after the war of 1812 ended.

Then in the 1860s Sarah Josepha Hale of New England came on the scene. For 20 years, she spoke and wrote on behalf of a nationwide Thanksgiving observance.

The Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission, along with most historians, gives credit to Abraham Lincoln for fulfilling Mrs. Hale's dream.

After talking with Mrs. Hale, Lincoln issued on Oct. 3, 1863, a proclamation naming the last Thursday in November of that year as the first national Thanksgiving Day. Again the date was the 26th.

Thus, at a time when civil war locked the land in a bloody grip, Americans began the annual observance of Thanksgiving on a nationwide scale.

In every year since 1939 and 1940, when President Roosevelt tried with little success to make it a week earlier, the holiday has fallen on the last Thursday in November.

Days of fasting and feasting are as old as civilization. But Thanksgiving, with the traditional "turkey and trimmin's" is a full-blooded American institution.

Panama to Display Canal Zone 'Rights'

PANAMA (AP) — Leaders of civic organizations are planning a mammoth but peaceful demonstration Saturday to support Panama's claims of sovereignty over the Canal Zone.

Saturday is the anniversary of Panama's independence from Spain.

The movement for a display of national unity momentum following three days of what Panamanians consider generally inconclusive talks between U.S. Undersecretary of State Livingston Merchant and government leaders.

Reaffirming the traditional U.S. position, Merchant said before leaving for Washington Tuesday that his government recognizes Panama's titular sovereignty — in name only — over the Canal Zone.

He said, however, that the United States is ready to take steps to eliminate Panamanian complaints over lack of job opportunities in the zone. Merchant said Panamanian officials in turn gave firm assurances they will protect American lives and property here.

Merchant's mission was prompted by violent anti-U.S. demonstrations Nov. 3 during which nationalist crowds tried unsuccessfully to plant the Panamanian flag in the Zone and tore down the American flag at the U.S. Embassy in Panama City.

Philadelphia, Stassen Haggle Over Taxes

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Does Republican Harold Stassen, recently defeated for mayor of Philadelphia, owe the city wage taxes for the years 1953 to 1956?

Stassen met privately Tuesday with two city revenue agents in an effort to iron out the question, which was a key campaign issue in his bid to unseat Democrat Richardson Dilworth. There was no comment from either side on the outcome.

Stassen claims he worked in Washington as President Eisenhower's disarmament advisor during the period and paid taxes in Maryland.

The city says Stassen owes the wage taxes because he kept his residence here.

West Germany Plans 1st N-Merchant Ship

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — West Germany announced plans Wednesday to build its first nuclear-powered merchant ship.

A 16,000-ton tanker, the Esso Bolivar, will be converted from conventional propulsion to serve as a "nuclear test bed," the announcement said.

The Society of Nuclear Engineering, a private group financed by West Germany's four coastal states, made the announcement on the eve of a three-day convention here of nuclear ship experts designed to study atomic propulsion.

Reds Rally Against Finn Entry Into Trade Bloc

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Five thousand Communists demonstrated Tuesday in the main square against Finland joining the "Outer Seven" Free Trade Assn.

The Finnish government has decided not to join the association of western European nations as a founding member but to seek close cooperation with the new trade group formed in Stockholm last Friday. No incidents were reported.

Russian Complains of Fishing Boat Buzz

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Merchant Marine Minister Viktor G. Bakayev complained Wednesday that Soviet freighters and fishing boats are being buzzed by Western military planes in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

★ ★ ★

Bakayev, quoted by the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia, charged the planes fly over Soviet vessels at "extremely dangerous levels, entailing grave risks to the crews of both the ships and planes.

★ ★ ★

"Obviously," Bakayev added, "the only reason for such systematic flights is the stubborn striving by certain military circles of the Western powers to maintain uninterrupted and sustained tension in the open waters of the world's oceans."

His remarks were broadcast by Moscow radio.

State Plans to Handle Detroit Relief Soon

LANSING (UPI) — The State Welfare Department will take over full relief payments for Detroit "around the first of the year," welfare director W. J. Maxey said.

Maxey said the welfare commission approved the move because Detroit had nearly depleted its more than eight-million-dollar welfare appropriation for its share of relief payments.

"Detroit will probably run out of funds about Dec. 20 or around the first of the year," Maxey estimated.

Eight counties are getting full assistance for payments from the state but all eight will revert to the 70 per cent county and 30 per cent state formula after Jan. 1.

Detroit, unlike the state's 83 counties, is on a fiscal year basis. The counties operate on a calendar year basis.

Chesapeake bay is about 200 miles long and up to 40 miles in width.

4-H Plans for New Delhi, India

Rock 'n' Roll at the Fair?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two top 4-H club members are balking at government "pressure" to omit rock 'n' roll from their entertainment at the World Agriculture Fair in New Delhi, India, next month.

But other youngsters on the eight-member troupe said the Indians probably wouldn't dig that crazy beat, anyhow.

"They wouldn't even understand the term. They'd think we were talking about a stone and a piece of bread," said Patricia Ann Bottomley, 19, of Winnebago, Minn.

"And after all, it's just a passing fad."

There was a chance that the fair visitors would see some swing'n' sway if not rock 'n' roll. Kay Emiko Mihata, 19, of Kailua, Hawaii, said she was going to take along her hula grass skirt.

Kenneth C. Kehrer, 20, of Orange, Conn., said in an interview that Agriculture Department officials had advised the youths to "steer away" from rock 'n' roll tunes because they were "objectionable."

Kehrer, who has a disc jockey program at Williams College, disagreed. He said rock 'n' roll, highly popular with U.S. teen-agers, should be included in the farm group's entertainment at the fair Dec. 11 through Feb. 14.

He was backed up by attractive Nancy Ellen Nesbitt, 20, of Hobart, N.Y. "If we are to represent rural young America," she said, rock 'n' roll should be included in the program.

Ken and Nancy said they were not sure the 4-H troupe, designated to represent American farm youth, would follow the government's advice. They said the musical program had not been worked out yet.

Kehrer said the group also would like to demonstrate ballroom dancing. But since Hindus consider physical contact on dance floor "sinful," this probably would be omitted, he said.

Sarah Moore Grimke and her sister, Angelina Emily, of South Carolina, were the first women to speak for abolition of slavery at public meetings open to both men and women.

Lawyer Is Nominated Defense Comptroller

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Franklin B. Lincoln, a 51-year-old Wall Street lawyer, will be the Defense Department's new comptroller, overseeing the multibillion-dollar U.S. military budget.

Lincoln, of Short Hills, N.J., will succeed Wilfred J. McNeil, who left the government Oct. 31 to become president of the Grace Steamship Line after holding the comptroller's job for 12 years.

President Eisenhower nominated Lincoln, a Republican, Tuesday. He will serve as comptroller, which carried the title of assistant defense secretary, under a recess appointment pending the return of Congress. His nomination then will be submitted to the Senate for confirmation.

HANDYMEN can whip up a surprise hobby horse with few pieces of wood, non-toxic paint. Rubber band from inner-tube provides spring motion.

Try to Whip Up Hobbyhorse

Homemade Model Goes Forward and Backward Instead of Rocking

For the small child, a hobby horse provides active play and exercise. A homemade model, instead of rocking, swings forward and backward, with a spring motion provided by a section of inner-tube.

Make the individual members of the hobby horse to the dimensions shown. The horse rests on four 2x2-inch blocks beneath the seat assembly on which the legs are pivoted. These blocks are fastened in place with wood screws and glue.

When making such a toy as a wood hobby horse, round all exposed edges. Sand all members smooth before assembling the hobby horse.

The dowels in the base and the dowel which serves as a handle on the head are glued in place and pinned with one long finishing nail at each joint. Set the nail heads and fill the holes with wood putty.

Most of the fastenings are carriage bolts, which have rounded heads. The metal straps, however, are fastened to the ¾-inch dowels with wood screws. Allow a small length of the screw shanks to protrude to serve as pivots.

To provide proper tension on the inner-tube, so that the horse will spring back to horizontal after each forward or backward "rock," it may be necessary to adjust the placement or length of the metal braces. Length of the braces will be governed by the elasticity of the inner-tube section.

Man Who Made Ford Eat Crow Dies Famous

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Death has ended the spectacular career of Aaron Sapiro, an orphan who became a nationally known lawyer and once sued Henry Ford for a million dollars.

Sapiro, who also was an organizer of farm and other cooperatives, died Monday night at 75. He had suffered from arthritis and underwent surgery for it recently.

Already an organizer of farm cooperatives on a national scale, Sapiro filed his sensational suit against Ford in 1927.

It was based on statements in the Dearborn Independent, then owned by Ford, which depicted Sapiro as leader of "a Jewish ring" bent on exploiting American agriculture.

Sapiro contended the Jewish religion had been libeled by that and other Independent articles he classed as anti-Semitic.

The first trial ended in a mistrial, after Ford disclaimed from the witness stand any anti-Semitic bias. Before the case came up again, Ford settled out of court for "costs" estimated at $140,000.

Ford later issued a public apology in which he said he had not kept up with what was being printed in his own publication. He said he recognized that cooperative marketing, which Sapiro espoused, held promise for farmers.

Ford later abandoned the Independent.

Mess Officer to Use Stand-In for Cranberries

FT. RITCHEY, Md. (AP) — The Army will spring its newest secret formula here today.

W-O Paul Czwalzina, mess officer at this military installation, has developed an ersatz cranberry sauce.

Mix cherry gelatin with apple sauce and "just a smidgin" of lemon gelatin, says Czwalzina. Results: a toothsome replacement for the traditional cranberry. At least that's what Czwalzina says.

Some 600 officers and enlisted men of this post will render their decision after the Thanksgiving dinner.

To Prevent Dripping

To make a candle last longer, coat all but the wick with soap suds and let it dry in the holder before lighting. Candles so treated will neither smoke nor drip.

Farmer Out on Bail in Death of Animals

DETROIT (UPI)—Orvel Hamilton, 34, owner of a Sumpter Township farm near here where several animals were found dead of starvation, was free on bond today awaiting trial Dec. 1 for cruelty to animals.

Hamilton stood mute Tuesday at his arraignment before Romulus Township justice Edward Mahalak. He was released on $300 bond.

Hamilton was arrested Monday night after a Humane Society officer found six horses, four rabbits and several dogs dead on his farm. He denied neglecting the animals and said he thought one horse died from eating poisonous food and the others died after a sudden cold spell.

Says Russ May Beat U.S. With Man in Space

TOKYO (AP)—The Soviet Union may launch a man into space soon, "possibly before we'll be ready to make the attempt," the U. S. Air Force surgeon general said Tuesday.

The first launching of an American into space is "a year or so away," Maj. Gen. Oliver K. Niess told a news conference. "Maybe the Russians have already done it, as some newspapers say."

Niess, en route to a medical conference in the Philippines of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, said he knows no reason why women as well as men shouldn't become space explorers.

From among those who wrote The Detroit News regarding The News' new TV magazine, we selected Mrs. John Cikalo, 24350 Chernick, Taylor, Michigan to illustrate this advertisement. Here's exactly what Mrs. Cikalo wrote—"This new TV guide you're putting out should be about the best advertisement ever thought of to sell The News. Even without it The News has always been my favorite of the Detroit papers and even more so now.

"At first, I said to myself, 'How can they afford to put out something this nice for free?'

"I already know of several people who are quitting the other papers and taking The News, so this explains it.

"I just wanted you all to know how wonderful I think it is." Signed Mrs. John Cikalo.

Give a Garden for Christmas

Your Presents Can Be All the 'Makings' for Fun All Year

This year, why not give your family a delightful and unusual Christmas gift — a flower garden? Give as gifts all the "makings" for a garden.

Three basic tools necessary for gardening are the hoe, rake and spade. Some gardeners prefer not to use anything else.

Be sure the implements you give are of the right weight and size.

Amateur gardeners, such as office men and women who garden as a hobby evenings and Sundays, are less skilled in the use of their tools. They need smaller, lighter variations of gardening implements.

Gardening clothes are excellent gifts, too. Culottes come in both cotton and denim.

Wrap-around overalls and bright-colored, neat-fitting slacks are also excellent for gardening. Gloves, naturally, are a must.

Most important of all, you'll want to give bright colored packets of seed.

Jobs Look Up for Graduating Engineers

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Things are looking up again for University of Michigan engineering graduates.

After a drop-off in the number of available openings last year, the engineering job market has made a strong rebound, Prof. John C. Young, placement director of the university's college of engineering reported today.

"Most companies recruiting this year report increased requirements and more jobs than last year," Young said.

Despite increased recruiting activity this year, there has been a decrease in the students' desire to be interviewed for jobs, he added.

Young said the past year has seen a rise in the average monthly salary accepted by starting university-graduated engineers of about six per cent for those with bachelor's degrees and master's and 14 per cent for those holding doctorates. The average salary for bachelor's degree holders was $508 a month.

Tranquilizers Come to Aid of Our Pets

Christmas is an exciting time for the entire family. But if you've got pets around or plan to give one for Christmas, the excitement may be more irritating than pleasing.

According to a veterinary pharmaceutical firm, dogs and cats can become snappish and hard to manage when exposed to fast-changing surroundings.

To combat the undesirable effects of Christmas excitement on pets, the firm recommends the use of animal tranquilizers.

Lincoln Painting Loaned to Senate for Thanksgiving

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An oil painting of Abraham Lincoln proclaiming the first national Thanksgiving Day was unveiled Tuesday in the old Senate Office Building.

The painting was loaned to the Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission by the Lincoln National Life Insurance Co. of Ft. Wayne, Ind. It will hang in the lobby of the office building through the holiday.

Sanatorium Accredited

LANSING (UP) — The State Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Howell has been accredited for three years by a joint accreditation commission, reported Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner.

Rich Deputy Quits Job but Not Over Millions

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Akron's millionaire deputy sheriff has quit his job.

Summit County Sheriff Russell Bird said Tuesday Frederick H. Hale of Akron, who inherited $1,200,000 two years ago, resigned after an argument with another deputy.

Gerber Will Discuss New Jars, Labels

FREMONT (UPI) — Gerber Products Co. will discuss its new "wide-top" jar and new label design for its strained foods line at a sales managers meeting at Miami, Fla., next week.

Full distribution of all 31 Gerber strained food varieties in the new container will be completed shortly after the first of the year, the company announced.

Accessories Fashioned for Jet Age

1959 Dolls Can Be All Dolled Up

The well-dressed doll of 1959 endeavors to keep ahead of the newest jet-age fashions.

Check on the Yuletide contingent for the latest word in embellishments of the leotard, the stole, the bare minimum swim suit, ballooning skirts propelled by multi-petticoats, textured stockings or shortie nightgowns.

The fashion-wise doll ranges from an 8 or 10-inch miniature up to playmate size.

From the banged coiffeur to the tips of her needle-pointed pumps, she is designed to tell a high fashion story to young America. High fashion, however, is only one segment of dolldom.

The impact of larger family units is evident in doll designs. One doll family group uses government statistics as to weight and measurement to design life-size versions of a six-month-old baby doll, a year-old cherub, a toddler, a three-year-old and so on up to school age.

A complete doll collection in the home means every age is represented in dolls, each elegantly outfitted with clothes and accessories for every occasion, reports Toy Guidance Council.

Doll luggage takes its cue from the latest lightweight styles for air travel. Storage space and travel problems get special consideration in the new accessories.

The last word in doll carriages doubles as a bed for car or playroom and folds away neatly. The nylon mesh playpen now has a doll world counterpart. Baby care is on a top level, scientific basis with compact diaper change and feeding kits designed for shoulder bag transportation.

There's a record boom in baby dolls boasting varied "almost human" talents. One new model screws up its face when it sheds tears.

There is new flexibility, too, in the doll world. The most agile of the new dolls has 16 different joints, designed for movement sideways as well as up and down.

Doll kits stress good grooming with kits that include miniatures of all mother's beauty aids. A bath-robe clad doll carries not only a toothbrush, but a battery-lighted candle.

New realism is provided by a "get well" doll who will arrive under the Yuletide tree equipped with crutches, bandages and varied medical aids. She wears cute shortie pajamas, however, not a hospital gown.

In the doll house sector modular furniture is high style. There is emphasis, too, on smart patio furnishings.

Korea Plans Tallest Building in Orient

SEOUL (UPI)—The Republic of Korea is planning to erect the tallest building in the Orient — a 24-story structure to house Parliament.

Construction of the 426-foot high building on a hill overlooking Seoul would take several years. It is expected to cost $20,600,000.

YOUNG BUILDERS can haul dirt, sand or gravel to their heart's content with the new hydraulic dump truck. Designed by AMF, truck works on hydraulic principle of real dump trucks.

U.N. Requests Code on Political Asylum

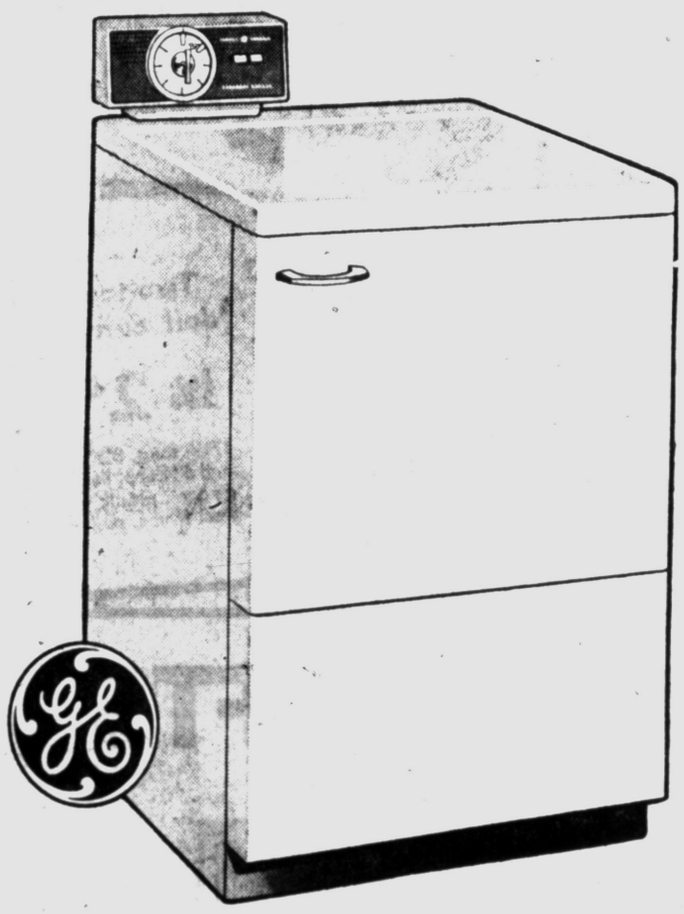

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —The U.N. General Assembly has asked the International Law Commission to undertake codification of "the principles and rules of international law relating to the right of asylum." It adopted an El Salvadorean resolution on the subject by vote of 56-0, with 11 absentions, including the nine-nation Soviet bloc.

The right of territorial asylum allows a refugee from political persecution to be safe in a foreign country. The right of diplomatic asylum allows him to be immune from arrest in his own country if he flees to a foreign embassy or legation.

Ex-Detroiters Plan 20 More

Just One Supermarket in Israel

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP) — Among all of Israel's 5,000 food stores there is only one supermarket. It wasn't there a year and a half ago.

It came right from America, financed by U. S. and Canadian money. It looks like your own, except for the innovation of a live fish pond and the Hebrew printing on labels.

Now two young ex-Detroiters who promoted it are planning 20 more in the next five years. The first has proved a financial success, despite a one-day strike called by Tel Aviv's little shopkeepers to protest its opening Aug. 28, 1958.

Within three months, with the backing of some of the biggest names in Canadian and U. S. grocery merchandising, they have marketed approximately three million dollars worth stock to finance their expansion.

'MARKET BASKET'

Store No. 1 is named Supersol. So is the company that organized it. In Hebrew, sol literally means market basket.

Israel's first Supersol and those to follow came from the dreams of Alan M. Feinberg, 28, and Herbert Y. Hordes, 31. Both went to Israel in 1951, Feinberg as a point four U. S. economic adviser, and Hordes as a consulting engineer to the Israeli government.

Most of Israel's food markets are, by American standards, holes in the wall. Most sell only one type of items, fresh vegetables, meats or canned vegetables.

Prices, except for Israel-grown produce, generally are high by American standards. Sanitation is far below U. S. standards.

What Israel needed, Feinberg and Hordes decided, was a modern supermarket.

Premier Ben Gurion's government did, too. It gave Supersol Ltd. an "approved enterprise" rating, entitling it to tax concessions, duty-free importation of equipment and withdrawal of profits in U. S. dollars.

Feinberg and Hordes brought their dreams to the late Nathan W. Lurie of Southfield and his brother John, who started with a Detroit hole-in-the-wall and ended up with a chain of modern supermarkets that now form the nucleus of the ACF-Wrigley combine.

SENT TO OTHERS

The Luries were interested.

They sent the young dreamers to see others familiar with the food industry, one of them Bertram I. Loeb of Ottawa, president of Canada's chain of IGA stores.

Feinberg and Hordes ended up with $265,000. They ended their first year with a profit of 3.2 per cent, after taxes, and paid a 22-cent dividend.

Supersol No. 1 is air conditioned and has 10,000 square feet of selling and storage space, plus a 40-car parking lot. Nearly 97 per cent of its more than 3,000 items are produced or processed in Israel.

Until Supersol came, prepackaged meats virtually were unknown, so were frozen vegetables and ice cream, and even kippered herring.

Self-service was something new itself, and so was cash on the barrelhead.

Most of Israel's little groceries sell on credit. Interest is high.

So Feinberg estimates Supersol prices average 7 to 10 per cent below others.

Evergreens Shed, Just Like Others

That Old Bird Needs Stuffing

But Let Us Surprise Family With an Onion and Cheese Filling

Pride of a Christmas dinner often is the turkey dressing or stuffing, whichever you prefer to call it. But this can depart from the hand-me-down recipes that have dleighted generations of children.

Surprise the family with an onion-cheese stuffing. The following recipe provides sufficient stuffing for a 10 to 12-pound turkey.

Brown 1 1/3 cups uncooked long-grained rice in 2 tablespoons butter or margine. Add 2½ cups boiling water and cook 15 minutes or until almost done. Combine 3 tablespoons instant minced onion and 3 tablespoons water. Let stand 5 minutes.

Saute onion and 1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Add 2½ cups diced celery, 2 tablespoons parsley flakes, 4 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon ground ginger, 1 teaspoon powdered mustard, ¾ teaspoon poultry seasoning, ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper and 1 cup (4 ounces) grated American cheese.

Mix lightly, but thoroughly. Fill the crop and body cavities with stuffing. Close openings with skewers and lacings. Bake, using your favorite method of roasting turkey.

Ocean Exploration Ships Being Built

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has taken a giant stride in its race with Russia to explore the mysteries of the ocean depths.

★ ★ ★

The National Science Foundation, which has said the United States is lagging in underwater exploration, has announced the first of a series of grants for new research vessels.

The three million dollar award for construction of an all-weather ship for the Woods Hole, Mass. Oceanographic Institution was the first step in a plan to have 22 such ships by 1970. The United States now has 11 oceanographic ships.

The Woods Hole ship will be the first new U.S. ocean research vessel constructed in nearly 30 years. The sea-going laboratory will replace the 28-year-old Atlantis.

Washington's farewell address was written by the President in collaboration with Alexander Hamilton.

Tibetans Raid Japanese Camp at Bayonet Point

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI) — An armed band of Tibetans stole food, clothing, equipment and money from a Japanese mountain-climbing team 19,000 feet up Mt. Gauri Sankar early this month, according to reports reaching here.

Two runners who arrived here said the Tibetans raided a forward camp set up by the Japanese on 23,400-foot higher Himalayan Mountain and robbed them at bayonet point.

Avalanches forced the Japanese expedition to cancel an attempt to climb to the summit of the mountain.

Methodists Urge Atomic Ban, Trade With China

CHICAGO (UPI) — Resolutions in favor of banning nuclear tests and exploring the possibility of trade with Communist China were adopted Tuesday by the Methodist Church's Board of World Peace at the conclusion of its two-day annual meeting.

They will be forwarded to the 1960 General Conference, the denomination's highest law-making body, which convenes April 27 in Denver, Colo. The resolutions will be acted upon by the delegates to the conference.

The board also adopted a resolution calling upon the U.S. and all other governments to make complete disarmament their ultimate goal.

Raze Famed Embassy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 70-room old German Embassy, scene of international intrigue and flamboyant beer parties during prohibition, will be torn down to make way for a parking lot and a 1,000-room hotel.

The automatic bottle making machine was invented in 1903.

'HEAR YE, HEAR YE': As the king and queen of Twelfth Night Revels stand with their court attendants, the master of revels reads the traditional scroll proclaiming Twelfth Night a time of merriment. This opens the annual Jan. 5 celebration at Christ Church Cathedral in Louisville.

Celebration Idea Started in Petoskey

Twelfth Night Revives Ancient Revelry

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "Hear ye, hear ye, one and all. The king and queen of Twelfth Night Revels approach."

Each year these words open a fun-filled evening carrying on customs almost as old as Christmas.

Twelfth Night — Jan. 5 — is the final day of the old 12 days of Christmas. And at Christ Church (Episcopal) Cathedral youngsters of the Sunday School put on the traditional pageant and stunts that used to take place in England as far back, perhaps, as the 8th Century.

Presided over by a king and queen, youngsters from about 6 to 18 dress in authentic English costumes of the Middle Ages.

There are pages, yeomen, ladies in waiting, peasants and of course the royalty — about 30 in all. There is a bishop complete with cope and mitre, a soothsayer with a star-studded blue robe and crystal ball, and a court jester.

Other youngsters get up their own costumes and present stunts, comedy routines, songs and dances at the command of the Master of Revels for the pleasure of the court.

"In feudal days when people lived around castles the lord of the manor called in everybody at the end of the Christmas season and put on a feast for them," says the Rev. Arthur G.-T. Courteau, canon of the cathedral.

"They put on stunts and did a little carousing with the Wassail bowl, and everybody had a good time. We don't have the Wassail bowl, but we've added a Twelfth Night cake, the traditional yule log and the boar's head — all part of the script."

The boar's head is a papier mache affair made especially for the Revels, and carried in during dinner that precedes the stunts.

Later comes the Twelfth Night cake, a concoction with special interest for older teen-age boys — one of whom finds a bean in his slice that means he's king for the next year and chooses his own queen.

Canon Courteau brought the Revels idea from a former parish in Petoskey, Mich., where his late wife started it.

It is also used in varying form in several private schools and some churches and YWCA groups across the country.

"We pick the king from the upper class, and the others for their dramatic ability with the idea of getting as many of the children as possible to take active part," he says.

TO CHOOSE A KING — The queen of Twelfth Night Revels cuts the Twelfth Night cake, held by the court cake bearers. One slice contains a bean and the boy who gets it is named king of the following year's revels. He chooses a queen.

Wreaths or Swags Lots of Fun to Make

Yule Door Should Say Welcome

When you decorate your home for Christmas, plan the doorway decoration most carefully. For the doorway should convey a feeling of welcome.

The kind of decoration may vary. Evergreens, berries and cones are traditional materials, but the use of painted materials has become very popular.

In selecting evergreens, care should be taken not to use those that shed their needles. The best are balsam, pine, juniper and cryptomeria, while others such as magnolia and Scotch broom lend themselves for attractive wreaths and swags.

Holly is a must. The English holly is more beautiful than native American holly because of the glossiness of the foliage and the size of the berries.

In making a wreath the foundation is most important. The best form is a wire hoop. Wind it with strips of cloth cut one inch wide.

FINE SWAG

DELLA ROBBIA

Next wind green floral tape around the cloth strips. This gives a neat finish.

Covering the hoop in this manner holds the evergreens more firmly in place while working on the wreath.

The evergreens should be cut in four-inch lengths. Using three to a group, wire them to the hoop. Place the first group at an angle on the outer side, the second on the inside of the ring, and the third in the middle. Continue this grouping around the entire hoop.

The decorations for the wreath are individual. The use of cones or berries, or both, makes an interesting wreath. A bright red bow of plastic weather-proof ribbon is then added.

Another wreath suitable for a doorway is a Della Robbia. The foundation is a double wire frame which may be obtained at a florist shop. Fill the frame with damp sphagnum moss, wrap it with green florist paper, and tie it with green cord to hold the paper around the ring.

The foundation material should be boxwood or ivy leaves. The boxwood can be stuck through the moss, but because the ivy stems are soft, it is better to wire a toothpick to them so they can penetrate the moss. Follow the same pattern as in making the other wreath.

Groups of grapes, small apples, nuts, cones or any small fruit may be used to decorate the wreath.

These are fastened by use of toothpicks or small wire hairpins. The wreath should then be given a coat of alcohol-thinned shellac to keep the fruit fresh looking. Blue ribbon should be used, for it is traditionally Della Robbia.

A swag of pine branches combined with styrofoam snowballs and a large rosette of one-inch red and green ribbon is a good combination to use for a white doorway. The snowballs are mounted on long chenille stems which may be found at a florist shop.

A good swag for a dark doorway is made by wiring two long branches of long-needled pine together, placing them so that the ends point in opposite directions. At the center, a few pine cones can be placed so that they follow the line of the pine branches.

Other evergreens, such as cedar or arborvitae may be used to add contrast. A bow of red plastic ribbons completes the swag.

YOUNGSTER lends do-it-yourself touch to gifts for Mom as he struggles with wrapping. He chose Red Roses trio of after bath freshener, dusting powder and soap for best girl.

Playwright Tennessee Williams once was an usher in the Strand Theater on Broadway.

New Dyna-Soar Space Ship Seen as Trail Blazer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force research chief says his service's Dyna-Soar rocket ship project could lead to a passenger craft that would whisk travelers "through the space around our planet to the other side of the world in an hour."

Lt. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, head of the Air Research and Development Command, cited this as one argument against separating completely the nation's military and civilian space problems.

Schriever expressed concern that any shift in emphasis to civilian projects would weaken the space program. He said, "from the dawn of history, exploration has nearly always been a task for military men."

Births Heading for Record Year

Marriages Jump Over 1958 Figure; Divorces Drop 4.2 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Births apparently are heading for a record in excess of 4,325,000 this year.

A Public Health Service spokesman Tuesday said that estimate is based on statistics showing there were a record of 3,188,000 registered live births during the first nine months of 1959.

The previous annual record was 4,308,000 in 1957.

The 3,188,000 births during the first nine months compared with a previous record of 3,174,000 during the similar 1957 span.

The birth rate for the first nine months of this year was 24.2 for each 1,000 population, the same as in the January-September 1958 period. However, since the population has increased, it took 3,188,000 births this year to give that rate as compared with 3,133,000 last year.

Divorces reversed a 14-month upward trend.

There were 14,749 September divorces in 29 reporting areas, or 4.2 per cent less than in September 1958. For 14 straight months the current total had exceeded that of the comparative month a year earlier.

The 29 areas reported 132,543 divorces in the first nine 1959 months, up 6.8 per cent over the similar 1958 period and 5.3 per cent above the same months in 1957.

2 Miles of Expressway Open at Saginaw

LANSING (UPI) — A two-mile section of the Saginaw Eastbelt (U.S. 23 expressway) was open to traffic yesterday between M81 and the Veterans Memorial Parkway interchange, the Highway Department said.

The newly opened section would eliminate a jog into northeast Saginaw.

Detroit Pastor to Head Rome Order of Monks

DETROIT (UPI) — The pastor of St. Scholastica Church here Tuesday became the abbot general of all Sylvestrine Benedictine monks in the world.

Catholic Archbishop John F. Dearden officiated at the ceremony at which Rt. Rev. Rev. Leo M. Cornelli, O.S.B., was elevated to the top position in his order.

The new abbot will leave for Rome after the first of the year to take up his new assignment. He will reside at the order's general house, St. Stephens Monastery.

Two Oakland Cases Also Decided

Workmen's Benefits Act Retroactive, Says Court

LANSING (UP) — Claims of injured workmen, one of them now dead and the other permanently mained, have stood up in the state Supreme Court in important new rulings on workmen's compensation laws.

The high court Tuesday held a 1955 law removing the time limit for collection of workmen's compensation benefits was meant to be retroactive. It covers workmen injured before 1955 if their injuries kept them from employment past the original expiration date, the court said in a unanimous opinion written by Justice Thomas M. Kavanagh.

The decision, involving the late John Lahti of rural Negaunee, overruled the workmen's compensation appeal board.

The court upheld the board's decision awarding Walter Shumate of Battle Creek benefits for loss of a hand even though it is still whole, but virtually useless. Slumate was injured in an accident at the American Stamping Co. in Battle Creek May 8, 1953, and was awarded 215 weeks of benefits at $32 per week. He later went back to the same job.

Lahti was felled by a falling spruce tree and suffered a skull fracture Oct. 4, 1954, while employed by Clinton Fostering of Princeton, a pulpwood producer. He was hospitalized till his death Feb. 10, 1958.

Until 1955, workmen's compensation benefits could be paid for a maximum two years. Employers Mutual Liability Insurance Co. paid benefits for the full two years, but resisted attempts by Lahti's wife to get an extension when the new law went into effect.

In another case, the city of Huntington Woods got the go-ahead to build a playground on two lots fronting on Woodward avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Kaplan, whose property adjoined the tracts, went to court to block the project, citing a 1950 city commission agreement restricting the property to residential use.

Unanimously overruling Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty of Oakland County, the Supreme Court said the city's charter prevented it from setting up the restrictive agreement.

The court held Robert J. Lytle of Royal Oak in contempt of a divorce decree requiring him to pay $200 a week to his wife for five years after their marriage broke up Nov. 29, 1954.

Mrs. Lytle remarried in March 1957, and the payments were dropped to $100 weekly in accordance with the decree. But Lytle stopped paying, pointing out that his once thriving business, Modern Homes, Inc., had gone into receivership.

He said he owed personal debts totaling $40,000.

The high court affirmed an order by Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland ordering Lytle to pay the $14,000 still owing his former wife. But, in view of his money troubles, ordered a moratorium on further payments subject to a court hearing.

No More Festive Meals for Charlie's Friends

DENVER (UPI)—Today will be the last time Skid Row residents will be able to eat a Thanksgiving Day meal of turkey and all the trimmings through the generosity of Charlie Nolan.

Nolan was the operator of a liquor store who died in 1953. His will established a five-year, $1,000 trust to pay for Thanksgiving Day meals for his former patrons provided they showed up sober and broke.

IF THEY went thataway, where did they go? This seems to be the quandary of Huckleberry Hound which these junior rustlers attempt to solve in a new game version.

There's Always That New Tie

It's So Easy to Please Your Men

Pleasing a man is every woman's problem, but new ideas in the men's department are making man-pleasing an easier task.

The size problem has been solved by gift certificates. The right color and pattern combinations are packaged this year in attractively wrapped ensembles: tie, belt and socks, for example.

But let's visit the different counters for some new ideas.

NECKWEAR: Added color and bolder design are evident this season.

JEWELRY: He may like the stark simple modern designs in cuff links and tie holder sets, or free-form abstract models, or replicas of antique pieces. Watches offer a wide price and style range.

★ ★ ★

STOCKINGS: Socks that are self-supporting and rise to a height just under the knee are popular.

HANDKERCHIEFS: The newest come in over-size squares and carry sporting motif prints. Folded diagonally, these may be worn as neckerchiefs with open sport shirts.

GLOVES: Some of the new leather gloves are washable. Knits come in brilliant sweater shades, some with ski sweater patterns.

MUFFLERS: A new departure is the reversible. Some change color from one side to the other, others switch from silk to wool, while others change patterns. The scardigan is a wool muffler that buttons in front and has pockets for cigarettes.

CASUAL WEAR: Corduroy is popular in relaxable clothes this season. Ancient plaids is the thing in robes. Soft leather slippers come in a variety of colors while soft leather boots are suitable for both indoor and outdoor wear.

LUGGAGE: Start him with a two-suiter and later add matched pieces.

Other suggestions: An electric razor, a shoe shine kit — a new model comes equipped with electric buffer — a gas fueled lighter with adjustable flame, or — for an off-beat gift — a hand vacuum cleaner for sprucing up the car.

Men, Women Marry Younger

Median Age for Males Down 4 Years, Drops 2 for Females

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans are marrying younger in life than they did in the gay '90s. And the age gap also is narrowing.

The Census Bureau says that general prosperity, greater job security and wider practice of birth control account for the drop in the average age of brides and bridegrooms.

The bureau said the median age for men at their first marriage dropped from 26.1 years in 1890 to 22.3 years in 1959. For women, the median age declined from 22.0 in 1890 to 20.2 this year.

Partly as a result of this trend, the percentage of bachelors and old maids also has been declining steadily, the government said.

In 1890, half of the males over 14 years old were married. In 1959, seven out of 10 in this age group were married. The ratio of married women changed from one out of two to two out of three during the same 60-year period.

The report said the average bridegroom was about four years older than his wife at the turn of the century but only has a two-year seniority these days.

Texas has 15,212 miles of railroad trackage; Rhode Island 181 miles.

Russian Clowns Express a Sad View of Life

MOSCOW (AP)—All Soviet circuses will be without clowns the last week in November. All of them have been summoned to Moscow for a meeting of their trade union —to discuss low pay and lack of good skits.

One clown, Yuri Nikulin, complained in the newspaper Soviet Culture today that writers seem unable to write suitable scripts for clowns and called for establishment of editorial conferences to do the job.

He also complained that the Soviet art world fails to give the clown the artistic status he deserves.

Wayne County GOP to Honor State Solons

DETROIT (UPI) — Wayne County Republicans announced today they will hold a dinner Dec. 4 to honor Michigan's outstate GOP congressmen.

Last year's Republican candidate for governor Paul D. Bagwell will introduce the congressmen. Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr., Grand Rapids, will make the response for the congressmen.

State and local GOP officials have been invited and about 700 psychiatry, arthritis and environ dinner.

Lisbon Boasts of Hotel

LISBON (UPI) — A luxury hotel with suites so modern there are telephones in the bathrooms opened Wednesday on one of the seven hills of Lisbon. The new Ritz Hotel is the newest in the famed Grandes Hotels Europeans chain.

THE CHOSEN TWO: The 1958 National Tree (left) began as a 99-foot spruce in a Montana forest. It was trimmed to 78 feet, which made it the tallest ever used at the White House. The 1958 Rockefeller Center tree (right) was supplied by the State of Maine. A tree meeting the rigid requirements of the Center was found only after a nine-month search.

For White House and Rockefeller Center

Best Two Chosen From Millions

Each year from millions of Christmas trees two are chosen.

Woodland giants are these trees, green and well-formed. They have to be, for they are probably the most admired communal Christmas trees in the nation.

They are the National Christmas tree on the White House lawn in Washington, and the Rockefeller Center tree in New York.

The 1958 White House tree started out as a 99-foot Engelmann spruce in the Kootenai National Forest in Montana. Herbert Stout, a veteran sawyer, cut it down at the height of the season's first blizzard.

THE TALLEST EVER

He trimmed the 78-year-old evergreen to a height of 78 feet, making it the tallest ever used on the White House lawn. At Libby, Mont. the tree was loaded on two flatcars for its 2,500-mile journey to Washington.

The State of Maine was invited to supply the Rockefeller tree. The search began almost nine months before Christmas. The requirements: 65 feet in height, 35 feet in diameter at the base, and as perfectly formed as possible.

But none would do. Forest Commissioner Austin Wilkins gave the order to Earle Williams, a district fire warden, "Keep looking full time until you find THE tree."

A LONG SEARCH

"I looked for and inspected Christmas trees until I was beginning to think that God never grew the tree for which we were looking," says Williams. But he finally found THE tree on the Carl Ireland farm at East Madison, Maine. Marville okayed it.

The tree was hauled to New York on a 50-foot lowbed truck. There it was erected on the plaza before the RCA building overlooking the center's skating rink and lighted at a special ceremony on Dec. 11.

MODERN CUSTOM

The modern custom of a community tree was begun in 1909 by citizens of Pasadena, Calif., who erected a tree on Mount Wilson.

The first National Christmas Tree was shipped from Vermont in 1923 and set up on the steps of the Capitol.

The tree, a Douglas-fir, was 221 feet tall when it was cut in the Naches Forest. After trimming, it weighed 25 tons and towered 212 feet in the air.

Cuban Workers Ask Wide Nationalization

HAVANA (AP) — The National Workers Congress has petitioned the government to nationalize a wide range of industrial and commercial activities.

Resolutions passed by the 10th annual meeting of the National Confederation of Labor published Tuesday proposed government takeover of the U.S.-owned Cuban Electric Co.; the Cuban Telephone Co., partly U.S. owned; the Cuban Airlines; all transport and public service companies, all banks and the Cuban merchant marine.

Another resolution asked the government to postpone all elections until Cubans can be assured of "honest administrations, economic security and social and personal guarantees."

Workers' Health Topic of Parley at U. of M.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — More than 50 medical directors representing some of the largest corporations in the United States and Canada will gather at the University of Michigan Dec. 4-5 to discuss health problems of the nation's working force.

The 11th annual affair, conducted by the university's institute of industrial health, will look into the areas of industrial medicine and review modern developments in psychistry, arthritis and environmental skin diseases and their application to industry.

Don't go overboard on outdoor decorations or your house and yard will look like an arcade. If you keep decorations and lights in good harmony with the house and landscaping, there is nothing that makes the Christmas spirit more evident.

Chimney Holds All Family Gifts

Make-Believe Deal Is Different and It Lends a Special Atmosphere

A make-believe chimney, easily put together with ribbon or cord, lends a special atmosphere in the home. A reminder of jolly old St. Nick, it can be used as an unusual place for displaying gifts.

Make the mock chimney from a 4x8-foot panel of pegboard sawed into four pieces 4 feet by 2 feet.

Lace them together at the corners. With a roller or brush, prime the perforated boards and finish up with a bright red. Mortar lines can be filled in with black.

On and in the chimney is room for hanging numerous presents — for one to six persons — using hooks or golf tees. Each of the four sides may be devoted to the presents of individuals.

Divide the chimney inside at midway for the fifth and sixth persons. To do this leave an opening one foot high at the floor level of one side and suspend the cutout inside as a divider. The fifth person then uses the upper half of the chimney and the sixth the lower portion.

You can add to the festive appearance on the gift-laden chimney with a five-foot Santa Claus, complete with pack on his back, shown leaving the scene. Cut figure from tempered hardboard and cover with a pattern especially designed for the purpose.

For the Santa pattern, write the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill.

Passed Up 10 Million in Bribes - Huey

NEW YORK (UPI) — Louisiana's Gov. Earl Long is quoted as estimating he has been offered 10 million dollars worth of bribes during his political career.

The estimate was made to Look magazine writer Robert Wool, according to his article in the current issue of the magazine.

He noted that Long told a country audience last summer that he'd just been offered a $100,000 bribe but told them not to worry about it.

"That's not the first bribe I've been offered," Long said. "It won't be the last one. But when I take one, I hope God stops my crooked, heathen brain from operatin' . . . "

Wool said Long has acknowledged that U.S. Internal Revenue agents have been investigating him for 13 years.

"They found not one damn thing," Long was quoted as saying. "—and this time, they'll find less. I've been careful. I've destroyed all the records they can harass me about."

New York Probing Drivers License Fix

NEW YORK (AP)—Three state agencies are investigating a drivers license fix racket. The attorney general's office says almost half the motor vehicle inspectors in the New York Metropolitan area are under inquiry.

The investigation is being conducted by the attorney general's office, the Bureau of Motor Vehicles and the State Police.

The ring is reported to involve some auto driving school operators as well as motor vehicle inspectors.

There were indications that the schools involved paid some inspectors and their supervisors to allow the school's clients to pass drivers' tests and to receive licenses.

Discovery May Pave Way to TB Vaccine

DENVER (UPI) — Dr. Gardner Middlebrook of the National Jewish Hospital has announced the discovery of a chemical substance which may make possible a vaccine for total immunization against tuberculosis.

Dr. Middlebrook described to a scientific dinner a series of complex bio-chemical procedures by which National Jewish Hospital and University of Colorado researchers identified a previously unknown type of sulfolipid. It was found in the fatty, wax-like coating of a virulent strain of tuberculosis germs.

The newly discovered sulfolipid apparently serves to make the tuberculosis chemically invisible to the human body, preventing the manufacture of antibodies.

Toys Reflect Space Age

This Christmas toys reflect the history of our time more exactly and purposefully than ever before, according to Melvin Freud, president of Toy Guidance Council, the record breaking crop of new toys is planned to give youngsters working miniatures of the best of everything in our age, plus a full scale peek into outer space.

Full scale representation in miniature of modern scientific achievements ranges from moon rocket launching to frogmen's equipment.

Toyland introduces youngsters to the highest style home furnishings, the most avant grade autos and the finest in new rail equipment. The boom in superhighway construction is reflected by a record output of bulldozers and steam shovels.

New in science is the physics kit that contains apparatus for experiments with heat, light, optics, fluid dynamics and solar heat. There's an electronic transistor kit with which Junior can build nine different radio sets.

MISSY knows way to man's heart and shows off new all metal folding table with tea and cake.

The impact of space travel is seen in a variety of kits keyed to make study of the stars and planets interesting to youngsters from kindergarten to teens.

There is a detailed miniature of the newest atomic power plant. Planes follow the latest jet propelled styles.

The atomic submarine, the frogman's demolition equipment and the latest variations in space traveling animals and rocket launching techniques all are ready for under the tree.

Other toys are as up-to-date as rockets. The junior architect will use a curtain wall construction kit to produce shopping centers, schools and skyscrapers.

New ideas for young hobbyists are kits that reproduce the most famous German and Italian racers ready to run realistically. Brand names take precedence in miniature drug, hardware and supermarket stores that Santa will deliver this Christmas.

New uses for fiberboard appear in child-size kitchen equipment, including a sink with an arrangment for running water. Polyethylene plastics are used to make large size, lightweight wheel toys for the first time.

The elaborate variety of Wild West shooting irons is a phenomenom in Toyland, Freud believes.

The specialty of every popular TV Western has a toyland replica ranging from the Cheyenne singing saddle gun to authentic Fanner pistols. There's also an authentic frontier style train as well as a wide variety of stagecoaches and covered wagons.

Use 'Em at Yule Parties

Save Up Those Calories!

You can have your fruitcake and your slender waistline, too, by saving on calories to "pay" for the holiday treats that are so much a part of the festive season.

Use a systematic plan for eliminating unwanted hidden calories that add little or nothing to basic nutrition or eating enjoyment.

For example: save 200 or 300 calories by using one-calorie Frenchette instead of French dressing on your luncheon salad.

This will pass for a helping of turkey stuffing or a generous slice of Christmas fruitcake. If you've really been liberal with the oil in salads, you'll save enough to allow for half a cup of holiday eggnog as well.

Non-fattening dressing is helpful, too, as a marinade for meats or sauce for vegetables.

Using the broiler instead of the skillet will save a hundred or more calories per portion of meat.

Chicken prepared with white wine and herbs, the gourmet's favorite Coq au Vin, is an epicurean delight with about half the calories of fried or creamed chicken.

Every hundred calories saved will make up for an average rich hors d'oeuvre, or several light tidbits, or a hot baking powder biscuit.

Four hundred calories allow you to eat a portion of hot mince pie without a pang of conscience.

When the hors d'oeuvre tray is passed, look for the fresh crisp raw vegetables or the protein-rich shrimp or sausages that are delicious even without fattening sauces.

Try spreading the appetizer dip or cheese on a cucumber slice instead of a cracker. You'll save about 25 calories a morsel.

For a party serve at least one or two low-calorie hors d'oeuvers. Crisp raw cauliflowerets, radish roses and carrot curls served with a dip of low calorie salad dressing zipped up with capers or tarragon will delight the eye with their colorful decorative qualities as well as please the palate.

Make spreads with an herbed cottage cheese instead of cream cheese base. Most of your guests are just as anxious as you to stave off excess poundage and will appreciate the thoughtfulness.

Never eat automatically or help yourself to a food you don't particularly want just because it is passed to you. Really taste what you eat; note the texture and aroma and flavor of the food.

Record Album Range Is Wide

Miller and Kostelanetz Popular Now but So Are Martin and Pinza

Probably among the most popular of gift albums have been the "Sing Along with Mitch" Miller recordings.

In the popular music vein, the albums of Andre Kostelanetz and Mantovani are favorties. Theirs is dinner music, or mood music, especially good for a couple of hours of music.

The Broadway shows make a welcome gift. "Flower Drum Song" and "Gypsy" are two of this season's most successful musicals.

High on the list of best-selling albums are the twin recordings of "South Pacific," one from the sound track of the play and the other made more than ten years ago by Mary Martin and Ezio Pinza when they were in the Rodgers and Hammerstein stage play.

Hot jazz and "pop" music is considered by experts to be too short-lived to make it the year round present that a gift at Christmas, should be.

"An Evening with Belafonte" is an especially happy choice in that it combines calypso, traditionals and spirituals. Most popular of the classical records this year is the Van Cliburn recordings of Tchaikovsky's Concerto No. 1.

Among the more sophisticated tastes in music, the great masses —Bach being the most popular — and the requiems recorded by world famous orchestras are much liked.

SINGER PAT BOONE — On Christmas morning with wife Shirley.

By SHIRLEY BOONE
Wife of Singer Pat Boone

If it's red, unusual, or ridiculous, I know I have a pretty good chance for a huge grin of approval when my husband opens his presents.

Last Christmas I decided on a beautiful red tandum bicycle he had been ogling in a local store for the last two years. He greeted it with the delight of a young boy with his first toy.

The year before it was a red sport jacket, a red and white sweater, and just a few practical items; but I usually leave the more practical gifts for birthdays. He likes it that way.

Lop Whole Family Off Your List by One Gift, Grand and Big

The week before Christmas can be a gift-seeker's nightmare. Downtown, harrassed homemakers rush from one department store counter to another, husbands gingerly finger lingerie as salesgirls grin and children drag weary parents through the din of the toy section.

To avoid the confusion and lop your entire family off your list with a sure-to-please gift, why not purchase one big present?

In the musical realm, it might be a piano. Today 30 million Americans play all types of music, from symphony to jazz. More than two-thirds of them play the piano, the long-standing favorite for family music.

Here are a few tips for choosing and placing the piano from American Music Conference.

First, choose a reputable dealer. Model prices for quality instruments are fairly standardized, varying only according to wood finish and the amount of service available on contract.

Today's piano is designed with an eye to current furniture trends. Designers and manufacturers offer styles and finishes never marketed before.

As to size, the room in which the piano will stand should be the determining factor.

A large living room permits choice of a grand or baby grand. Spinets and consoles, of course, are specially designed for apartment dwellers.

What about placement? Preferred is the shortest inside wall of the room. Naturally, there are exceptions. The piano may act as a room divider in a long, narrow room—or decorate an alcove or picture window.

For the family that has a piano, violins, flutes, clarinets and recorders rank highest as instruments to round out the family ensemble.

Here's Yule Fun, Amigos, With Pinata

The pinata idea is borrowed from our neighbors south of the border and is as important to their Yuletide festivities as our Christmas tree parties.

In Latin American countries the pinata is usually a gaudily painted clay jar filled with sweets and small gifts. Blindfolded guests are instructed to smash the pinata with a stick.

The real fun begins when the pinata is tantalizingly hoisted out of reach just as the blindfolded person anticipates a hit. After all have tried, the pinata is lowered to striking distance, broken and everyone scrambles for their rewards.

To utilize the pinata idea and still keep the traditional holiday spirit, party experts suggest making a Santa pinata from an ordinary shopping bag.

A GROWING INDUSTRY: The rapidly growing Christmas tree industry is becoming more mechanized and specialized. Here, in a collection yard at Shelton, Wash., trees are sorted, bundled and loaded by conveyor belt into boxcars for shipment throughout the United States.

Believe It or Not: A Miniature Cape Canaveral

Yule Time Is Also Science Time

The first person to reach the moon may be any American youngster guided to his destination via a scientifically inspired toy.

This possibility comes to mind when a person peeks at several of the newest toys in Santa's sack based on the latest scientific and space developments.

Not only will children be playing with toys based on science, chemistry and physics but also with construction kits which keep boys and girls on do-it-yourself projects.

Richard E. Lohg, president of Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A., reveals that noticeable progress in recent years has been made in the quality, durability and safety of American toys. This has given the American toy industry more stature and stability than it has ever enjoyed.

As a result, retail sales of the toy industry in 1959 are expected to exceed the 1958 figure of $1,411,646,600. Other important factors of the increased toy buying are the rapid growth of the juvenile population and the steady rise in per capita income.

The number of children up to 4 years of age, the principal users of toys, has been increasing by about a million a year.

The rising standard of living has greatly enlarged the market for higher-priced items. The migration to the suburbs and the growing popularity of outdoor living also have contributed to this trend.

Here are just a few of the new science and do-it-yourself toys the youngsters will be using this Christmas.

A miniature duplication of Cape Canaveral which shoots rockets into orbit after a "count down:" a jet fighter plane cockpit complete with controls and radar screen; a replica of an atomic reactor; an astronomy set complete with telescope; film projector and film strips; a deluxe telescope which rivals adult instruments; a four-stage rocket; a secret rocket rest center; a sonar-guided bus which can be driven in any direction by a special "whistle," an all transistor pocket radio and a photomicrography set which enables a youngster to peer through a telescope at minute particles and then take real photographs through the lens.

Not 'Carpet Slippers' but 'Leisure Shoes'

Loafing and leisure recall the old, shapeless carpet slippers Dad used to love. Leisure shoes have changed though.

Now they go with elegant robes and beautiful lounging pajamas as well as favorite baggy tweeds.

This year styles vary from finely grained black leather, with continental styling and a high riding tongue, to the old-fashioned heelless mule in red and black patent leather. Several slip-on designs have elastic webbing for greater comfort.

Linings figure prominently in many of the leisure shoes. Lamb's wool and nylon fleece linings come in gay colors.

For luxury there are embroidered and decorated felt slippers. Brooks Brothers in New York carries an imported model attractively decorated with designs such as a fox's head. Felt slippers come decorated with gold embroidering, sequins and wool knit.

Time Promise Makes Welcome, Unique Gift

The boy or girl who would like to give a little something extra for Christmas might consider "time certificates."

To an invalid neighbor, they can give a certificate stating that they will sit with him one hour each month during the coming year to read to him or write letters or just talk.

Or the certificate could offer one errand monthly for 1960.

A busy mother would be happy to receive a certificate entitling her to an hour of free baby-sitting each month during the year.

BUDDING LAB technician checks a slide in new group viewer designed for microscope. Scope has beam of light directed at slide for better viewing. Girl's lab set has stains, chemicals, specimens and apparatus for basic experimentation.

Douglas Fir Favored for Christmas Tree

The favorite species of Christmas tree in the United States is the Douglas fir. These make up an estimated 28 per cent of all trees sold for Christmas.

Balsam firs comprise 24 per cent of the total. Other favorites are eastern red cedar 12 per cent, black spruce 11 per cent and Scotch pine 6 per cent. At least 18 other species make up the other 19 per cent.

For a New Baby!

Anticipating new arrivals on the family scene? Santa's workshop has something for the new baby. It's a gay case with baby powder for rash, baby magic for soft skin and a cute plastic rattle for play.

More Mechanized All the Time

40 Million Yule Trees Sold Each Year in U.S.

SHELTON, Wash. (AP) — The Christmas tree industry, which supplies perhaps 40 million firs, spruce and pine for the holiday season, is getting more mechanized and specialized.

The trend toward mechanization is evident in this Pacific Northwest town, sometimes called the Christmas Tree Capital of the world.

Trees are stacked by the thousands in collection yards.

Home owners want neighbors and passersby to see trees that are symmetrical, or unusual.

With the passing of high-ceiling rooms in old houses, the demand is mostly for shorter trees—6 to 7 feet. But last Christmas a Los Angeles radio firm was sent a 45-footer. A 40-foot tree went to Honolulu for outdoor display.

One of the nation's largest tree distributors, J. Hofert Co., has a million seedlings growing at each of two Pacific Northwest nurseries, one at Tumwater, Wash., and the other at Big Fork, Mont.

When three years old they will be transplanted to grow five more years to marketable age.

Forest areas no longer supply enough quality trees to meet growing demand, says Herbert A. Tubbs, regional manager for Hofert. Many farmers now grow Christmas trees as a supplementary crop.

No one has counted the Christmas trees sold in the United States each holiday season. The 40 million figure is merely an industry estimate.

But the desire for a tree in the living room at Christmas time is not restricted by distance or climate.

A few trees have been ordered from points as distant as Guam. There's a large and growing demand in Alaska, Hawaii, Mexico and Cuba.

Wrap Package With Sentiment, Plus the Paper

Small attractively wrapped holiday gift packages often delight the receiver as much as the contents inside.

The old saying, "It's the thought that counts" still holds true. Make your gift even more personal with a little imagination and dash.

Small items needn't be the hardest to wrap artistically say Denison designers. The smaller type item usually used for stocking stuffers, grab bags or last-minute additions can be wrapped easily and effectively.

Give a small gift some character of its own by choosing the appropriate paper and accessories. Keep in mind the personality of the recipient and choose wrappings accordingly.

To make any wrapping project easier and neater make sure there is sufficient work area. Assemble all the necessities together and don't forget the all-important scissors and cellophane tape.

Selection of wrapping paper is a prime consideration. Paper with a busy all-over design can detract greatly from a small item. Leave it for the larger, more imposing gift.

Unusual Decoration Utilizes Moth Balls

To make a fascinating Christmas decoration, anchor with modeling clay a tall red or green candle in the bottom of a tall apothecary jar. Put in a handful of a cup of vinegar plus a teaa cup of vinegar plus a teaspoon of soda for everyglass of water needed to fill the jar. The moth balls will dance merrily around the candle for an hour or so. When they stop another dash of soda and vinegar will start them dancing again.

Children will love this unique decoration at Christmas time.

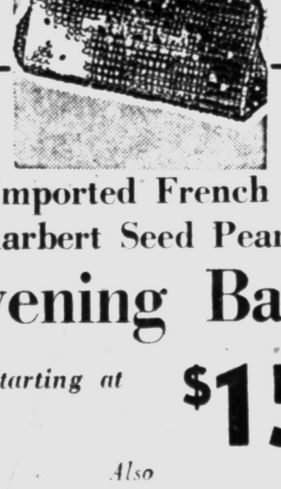

There are still more than 5,800 blacksmith shops in the United States.

Yule Cards Are So Easy to Make

Photo Christmas cards that give a personal touch to your greeting are easy to make. The photograph is the main feature.

Snapshots of the children, the family, or your home will carry the message you wish to convey. Here are a few suggestions:

Your youngster arranging blocks to spell "Merry Christmas."

A blackboard with chalked holiday message. Your child can hold the chalk close to the last letter.

The children grouped before a fireplace decorated for Christmas. Mount a flood lamp in the fireplace to give it a lighted effect.

You can use simple props that may be put away from year to year.

After you have taken the picture and have the necessary number of prints, your professional photographer can show you a selection of Christmas folders. You simply slip the photograph into the folder.

If you know your way around a darkroom, try printing your own pictures with a Christmas greeting negative, often called a greeting mask.

If the picture you wish to use is higher than it is wide, ask your dealer for a vertical mask. If it's wider than high, get a horizontal one.

To attach picture negative and mask, place the mask shiny side down on a clean sheet of ordinary paper. Set your picture negative, also shiny side down, directly over the opening in the mask and bind its overlapping edges to the mask with transparent tape.

Trim the mask to fit into your printing frame or metal printer.

You'll probably hav eto do some trial - and - error experimenting to discover the correct exposure.

But with double-weight paper, a normal picture negative and printing frame try as a starter nine seconds about eight inches away from a 40-watt bulb.

With the printer, install a 10-watt bulb and expose for eight seconds.

Commutes to New York

He's an Arkansas Traveler

NEW YORK (AP)—Prof. Robert A. Leflar commutes 1,400 miles each week to teach at New York University School of Law. He never has been late for class.

Leflar waves goodby each Sunday to his wife and two sons at home in Fayetteville, Ark., boards a plane on which he does his homework, and arrives here 6½ hours later.

He teaches Mondays and Tuesdays at NYU, where he lives in a dormitory. He flies back home on Wednesdays to teach the remainder of the week at the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville.

This elaborate commuting schedule was worked out in September when Leflar, a former justice of the Arkansas Supreme Court and former dean of Arkansas Law School, was offered the NYU post.

"I get more work done in the air than in my offices on the ground," says Leflar, who is in his early 50s. "I'm never interrupted by a telephone call or a visiting student."

As with all commuters, however, there are occasional miscalculations. Leflar's latest is a missing suitcase. At last report, he said, it was in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

Those Without U. S. Insurance

Loan Firm Accusations Aim at Tiny Percentage

NEW YORK (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz' accusation that some 100 million dollars in savings deposits are imperiled by fraud is described by a savings and loan official as a recital of old information.

Norman Strunk, executive vice president of the United States Savings and Loan League, said in Chicago Tuesday that the California insurance commissioner more than a year ago had eized the California assets of the International Guaranty and Insurance Co. of Tangier, Morocco.

Lefkowitz said jeopardy to the deposits in eight different savings and loan associations not insured by the federal government stemmed from the fact that they were insured by the Tangier firm.

★ ★ ★

The New York attorney general said the International Guaranty and Insurance Co. operates out of a one-room office in Tangier and does not have adequate assets to guarantee the deposits.

TO PUT UP CASH

In San Francisco Tuesday, Superior Court Judge Preston Devine approved a settlement to complete International Guaranty's liquidation in California. Under the agreement, International will put up cash to pay off all claims in the state.

A statement issued in San Francisco by Henry McGurren, who identified himself as American counsel for International Guaranty said: "International's solvency is demonstrated by its deposit of $177,000 in cash in California to insure prompt payment of all possible claims."

The National League of Insured Savings Assn. issued a statement in Washington today commending Lefkowitz "for bringing public attention to . . . advertising by some five or six small savings and loan associations."

It added: "Unfortunately, however, his comments have created some confusion over the safety of accounts in all savings and loan associations.

"More than 23 million Americans have savings of 48 billion dollars in nearly 4,000 saving and loan associations whose accounts are insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., an agency of the U.S. government.

"It should be noted that Mr. Lefkowitz is concerned with accounts totaling less than 2-1000ths of one per cent of those insured by the FSLIC."

Joseph Gerber, insurance director of Illinois, said in Chicago that the insurance firm attacked by Lefkowitz is out of business and is being liquidated. Gerber said the firm has no business in force in Illinois.

Lefkowitz has named three institutions in Chicago, two in Idaho and one each in Maryland, Utah and Washington.

He said the firms solicited deposits through mail and newspaper advertising offering five per cent interest on deposits, and that some of the solicitation was in New York state.

Lefkowitz made his allegations at a news conference and in court papers which he used to obtain an order for examination of 46 witnesses in an investigation of the companies.

He listed the eight savings and loan associations as:

The City Savings and Loan Assn., the First Guaranty Savings Assn., and the Chicago Guaranty Savings Assn., all of Chicago.

The Idaho Savings and Loan Assn., of Boise, Idaho, and the Prudential Savings and Loan Assn., of Burley, Idaho.

The Commercial Savings and Loan Assn. of Baltimore, Md.

The Utah Savings and Loan Assn. of Provo, Utah.

The Security Savings Institution, Inc., of Seattle, Wash.

Hayden Has Temporary Custody of Children

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actor Sterling Hayden has custody of his four children until at least Jan. 25 when the bitter custody battle with his former wife will be resumed in court.

Mrs. Betty de Noon Hayden, 37, stalked out of the courtroom Tuesday when her request to have a different judge preside over the hearing was turned down.

The ruling which made Mrs. Hayden angry was the appointment of Superior Judge Emil Gumpert to hear the custody case. He was the judge who last January awarded the children to Hayden and accused Mrs. Hayden of being untruthful

Minden City Man Held After Sandusky Slaying

SANDUSKY (AP)—A funeral director was held for investigation of murder today in the slaying of a 50-year-old Sandusky man.

State Police said Edward C. Bootz, 51, of nearby Minden City, was jailed after Arthur Charles Nieghorn of Sandusky was shot in the chest with a .32 caliber automatic during an argument.

Cpl. James Weires of the Sandusky State Police Post said the men had argued about a property settlement at Forestville, a Sanilac County community on the Lake Huron shore.

The newest U.S. Cabinet post, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, was created in 1953.

QUITS TV ROLE — Wayde Preston, star of television's "Colt .45," has decided he can make more money as an executive of an airplane charter and sales firm. He said that during his final year with the TV series he worked 16 to 18 hours a day and netted only $7,200 for the year. Here he sits in the cockpit of one of the planes owned by the company he works for.

Christmas Star Needs Spotlight

Can Be Made in Three Dimensions for Pretty Porch Decoration

A glittering three-dimensional Star of Bethlehem is an ideal project for persons who like to make their own Christmas decorations.

Easily assembled, the star is cut from two one-foot-square pieces of a smooth-two-sides hardboard.

* * *

Outline the cutouts on the hard board square by drawing diagonal lines between opposing corners. Using the intersection as a center draw a 4-inch diameter circle. From the corners, draw lines to the points where the circle intersects the diagonals. The result is an outline of a fourpointed star.

* * *

After the two stars are cut out, clamp them together and cut an ⅛-inch slot in each from one point to the center. The two pieces then are slipped together in eggcrate fashion and glued in place.

Apply a prime coat of aluminum paint. After it dries, spread a liberal coat of glue over the hardboard surfaces.

Sprinkle on silver "glitter," available at most variety stores, shaking off the excess and then repeating the process until the star is well covered.

The finished star can be hung from a porch ceiling or indoor light fixture from a small hole drilled in one of the points. If suspended with a bead chain or fishing leader with swivel, it will move freely, giving a constant shimmering reflection. Aim an outdoor spotlight at the star after dark to add to the effect.

Ever Hear of a 'Revealer?'

Yule Brings New Goods

NEW YORK (AP) — New General Electric Christmas tree lamps that are "white—until they light" will strike a fresh note this Yuletide.

GE calls them "snowball lamps," saying that they add beauty to the tree during the day and that when turned on at night they emit nonglaring colors—violet, blue, green, white, red or yellow. The lamps are round, about two inches in diameter, so they look something like snowballs.

* * *

Inspired by the water diviner or "dowser"—the man with the hazel twig who can tell just where to dig for water—the British have come up with a "revealer" which they claim shows the underground site of metallic and other objects.

In principle, the instrument is explained as the reaction of copper rods to the frequency of vibrations or waves emitted from a particular mineral.

Made by J. C. Oliver (Leeds) Ltd., Leeds, England, it's said this has already located a lost wedding ring and a 224-year-old coffin.

* * *

You can easily regulate the width of your slice when you're preparing holiday foods with this knife offered by Magna Wonder Knife, New York, N. Y. It has an adjustable guide which goes up to a half inch. Useful for meat, cheese, bread, fruits, vegetables, etc.

* * *

Philip Carey Manufacturing Co. in Cincinnati, Ohio, now has a line of sidewall shingles with a baked-on plastic finish which resists stain and weather. They are described as completely nonporous, and can, if necessary, be scrubbed with soap and water to remove dust and grime.

* * *

An attractively designed electric lantern finished in polished chrome and brown polystrene trim is now offered by Burgess Battery Co., Freeport, Ill. It's a standup type of light, handsome enough for a kitchen counter top, powered by three flashlight batteries and small enough to fit into a car.

Ever Try Lambswool?

In olden days, the traditional Christmas drink was lambswool, a mixture of hot ale, sugar, spices, eggs and roasted apples to which thick cream was sometimes added.

At Least 21 Drown in 3 Ship Sinkings

TOKYO (AP)—Two Japanese ships sank Wednesday in stormy seas off Japan. Six Japanese were reported dead and 20 missing.

The 422-ton coastal transport Shoei Maru sank off the U.S. air base at Ashiya, about 550 miles southwest of Tokyo. Three bodies were recovered. Eight crewmen were missing and two swam ashore.

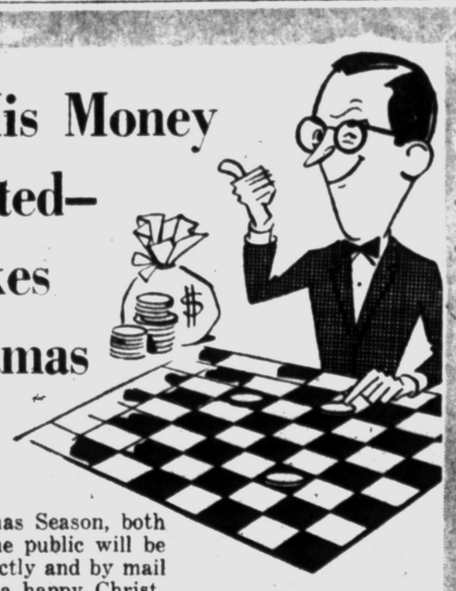

The 32-ton fishing boat Koshin Maru sank about 100 miles northeast of Tokyo. Ten fishermen swam ashore, but three were reported dead and 12 missing.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) —All 15 crewmen are believed lost in the sinking of the 485-ton Holmglen, a New Zealand coaster which went down in storm-tossed seas off New Zealand's South Island.

Boys Started Cards

Christmas cards, only a little more than 100 years old, come from the Christmas pieces which schoolboys produced. These were carefully decorated sheets of paper on which the students wrote sentences which served as greetings to their parents and a display of their ability in the art of writing.

A Fool and His Money Are Soon Parted— When He Takes Part in Christmas Schemes!

With the advent of the Christmas Season, both businessmen and members of the public will be solicited on every hand both directly and by mail to help the "unfortunate" have a happy Christmas. Those of us who are able, would be derelict in our duty if we did not donate to help the needy have at least one day of happiness during the year.

But, let's don't be a Santa Claus to the promoters. They are master psychologists and always attempt to prey on the "milk" of human kindness and our generosity during the Christmas season.

Based on past performances the following are some of the Christmas schemes you may expect:

1. Solicitations by mail to help some underprivileged charitable or patriotic group in which the promtor gets the "lion's share" of the proceeds.
2. The same kind of scheme, based on the shipment of unordered merchandise, such as greeting cards, neckties, handkerchiefs, aprons, pencils, etc.
3. Attempts to sell advertising space in holiday issues of publications that have no established circulation and which is sold on the basis of helping some cause.
4. Sale by sidewalk hawkers of gift merchandise which can be purchased at local stores at much lower prices.
5. Solicitations for donations and prizes for bazaars by unknown religious groups to help the needy.

Darwin Theory Said Proved

Anthropologist Supports Conviction That Man Originated in Africa

CHICAGO (UPI) — The British anthropologist who discovered the "first unquestionable man" said today that Charles Darwin's 100-year-old theory that man originated in Africa has been proved correct.

Louis S. B. Leakey, curator of the Coryndon Memorial Museum in Kenya, British East Africa, supported theories on evolution made public by Darwin in his book "Origin of the Species" in a speech prepared for delivery at the University of Chicago's Darwin centennial celebration.

"The tentative suggestion made by Darwin in 1859 that the most likely home of the origin of man was on the African continent has been more than substantiated by fossil evidence found over the past 100 years," he said.

Leakey said more recent finds have caused scientists to switch their attention to Africa as the more likely site of the "cradle of man," although other areas were once credited because of the finding of the Java man and Peking man.

Last July, Leakey and his wife discovered the partial fossil remains of man who lived 700,000 years ago in the Olduvai Gorge area of Tanganika Territory, British East Africa.

Leakey last month described the prehistoric being, called Zinjanthropus, to the British Academy in London as the "first unquestionable man."

The fossils show Zinjanthropus was an 18-year-old man with a long face, massive shoulders, and spindly legs.

Michigan Ranks 5th on Millionaire List

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan is about fifth in the nation when it comes to having millionaires.

A recently published article on "income tax statistics" in the Michigan Economic Record shows 14 persons had income tax returns with gross income in excess of a million dollars.

New York, Delaware, Pennsylvania and California topped Michigan in the number of millionaires. The data, compiled from information from the Internal Revenue Service, is based on 1957 returns.

The article said Michigan residents in nearly all income brackets pay a higher effective rate of taxes than Americans generally.

He'll Be 78 on Wednesday

Pope to Mark Birthday

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII will be 78 years old tomorrow.

There will be no special ceremonies, but the yellow and white banners of this 108-acre state will fly in honor of its absolute monarch, the sharecropper's son who became the spiritual ruler of the Roman Catholic Church and its 500 million members little more than a year ago.

That year, the Pope himself recently said, "went like a day." But during that "day" he created 23 new cardinals to bolster the thinned ranks of the college and bring its membership to a record 74.

He announced a great ecumenical council to be held in about three years, aimed among other objectives at Christian unity of the world. He maintained the tempo of many audiences established by his predecessor, the late Pius XII.

The Pope faces even busier days. Immediately ahead of him in December is a "private" but nonetheless historic meeting with President Eisenhower. Only once before has a Pope given audience to a President of the United States. That was in 1919, when Pope Benedict XV received Woodrow Wilson.

SETS A RECORD

Also in December, Pope John has consistories to create eight more cardinals, including two from the United States. They are Archbishop Aloisius J. Muench of Fargo, N. D., and Archbishop Albert G. Meyer of Chicago.

Once again, Pope John sets a record by bringing the college of cardinals' membership to 79, highest in history.

The Pope will begin the day tomorrow by celebrating his daily mass in his little private chapel. As he did on his birthday a year ago, he may ask a few close associates to attend.

Aside from that, the Pope is expected to follow his usual routine of work. There may be an audience for homefolk from his little native town of Sotto il Monte (Under the Mountain) in Northern Italy.

Net Liquor Sales Up 4.61 Pct. Over 1958

LANSING (UPI) — Net liquor sales during the first 10 months of this year were 4.61 per cent above sales for the same period in 1958, the Liquor Control Commission said Wednesday.

Sales totaled $124,717,191 this year, nearly $5,500,000 more than last year.

October sales this year were $15,894,337, an increase of 7.45 per cent or $1,101,961 from the same month last year.

ADA Sets Detroit Meet

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit chapter of Americans for Democratic Action announced today it will hold a "town hall" session here Dec. 5 to examine the record of the first session of the 86th Congress.

The lightweight radio apparatus for World War I airplanes was developed by a woman, Dr. Frances G. Wick.

Pick National Chief of Symington Drive

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Rep. Charles Brown (D-Mo) yesterday was named director of a national campaign to nominate Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) for president.

Ralph Martin, president of Symington for President Inc., said Brown accepted and agreed to speak at a meeting Nov. 30, in suburban Ruskin Heights.

I want to Thank all my friends and customers in the Pontiac Area for letting me serve them for the past twenty-two years. It is especially nice to sell, in many cases, second generation customers, whose parents knew us back when FHA wasn't even a glint in anyone's eye.

Weve seen a tremendous growth and expansion take place here in Pontiac, making us one of the leaders in Michigan's great march of Progress. This growth is continuing at a booming pace and promises to roll along at an ever increasing clip. We hope that we will be allowed to remain an enthusiastic part of this success story and pledge the same high standards of workmanship at reasonable prices.

Cross Unionists Assessed Fines

6 Plead Guilty to Acts of Violence; Charges Against 1 Dismissed

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Six members of the United Auto Workers pleaded guilty Tuesday to acts of violence in the long, bitter strike against Cross Co., an automation machinery manufacturer at nearby Fraser.

All six received fines of $25 on each count. Three were ordered to make restitution. Charges against a seventh unionist were dismissed.

Russell E. Leach, president of striking UAW Local 155, was fined on counts of assault and battery and malicious destruction of property. He also was ordered to make $25 restitution.

Leach currently is appealing two contempt convictions for violating an injunction limiting the number of pickets at plant gates.

Joseph L. Ferris, UAW international representative, was fined for breach of the peace.

Edward J. Moore, Local 155 committeeman, was fined on counts of simple assault and malicious destruction of property. He was ordered to make $50 restitution.

Stanley J. Zelmanski, president of UAW Plymouth Local 51, was fined for assault and battery and creating a disturbance. He had demonstrated with the Cross pickets against nonstrikers.

Anthony Nader, Local 155 member, was fined for assault and battery, while another Local member, George D. Walker, was fined for malicious destruction and ordered to make $25 restitution.

A charge of blocking a plant gate against Joseph Snyder, another UAW international representative, was dropped. A similar charge against Paul Silver, UAW Local 351 president, will be heard Dec. 8.

The strike, now in its 114th day, erupted from an organizational dispute. Both sides have since agreed to talk terms of a new contract but no agreement has been reached.

About 4,100 trains are operated each day into and out of Chicago.

Detroit Catholic Pastor Rules Benedictine Order

DETROIT (AP) — The pastor of a Detroit Roman Catholic Church has become head of Sylvestrine Benedictine monks throughout the world.

The title of abbot general of the order was bestowed in solemn rites Tuesday upon the Rt. Rev. Leo M. Cornelli, a parish priest at St. Scholastica Church here for 20 years. The Most Rev. John F. Dearden, Archbishop of Detroit, officiated.

The new abbot general, a native of Pittsburgh, Kan., will leave for Rome shortly after the first of the year. The order has its headquarters there.

AEC Has Unit on Radiation

Would Figure Out Way to Protect Spacemen From N-Rockets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) has set up a special safety committee to figure out how to protect space and space men against radiation from nuclear rockets.

The AEC created this week an aerospace nuclear safety board to look into radiation hazards which might result from atomic-powered space craft.

The AEC is working on nuclear power sources for space instruments and communications, atom-powered rockets for exploration of the solar system, nuclear ramjets to ply the earth's atmosphere and atomic aircraft.

AEC Chairman John A. McCone said recently that nuclear reactions are "the only source of energy which promises the large quantities of power necessary to carry increasingly heavy payloads into outer space."

Soviet space scientists who visited here last week agreed.

The new board is headed by Lt. Col. Joseph A. Connor Jr. of the AEC's division of reactor development. It includes specialists in biology, genetics, fallout, law, international affairs, licensing and regulation, and radiological health and safety.

The commission said that in creating the board it "recognizes that the use of nuclear energy in space raises the possibility of introducing additional radiation into the atmosphere, into other solar system bodies, and into areas along probable orbit paths."

Finds Bad Conditions for GIs in Philippines

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Phil Weaver (R-neb) said Wednesday American armed forces in the Philippines are victims of looting, extortion and assault — sometimes with approval of Philippine authorities.

He reported finding these conditions during a recent tour of the Pacific area as a member of the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee.

He said in a statement the conditions he found in the Philippines are "winked at or openly approved of by perhaps the most corrupt governmental organization in the world."

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the Philippine Embassy questioned whether Weaver had been in the Philippines long enough to sum up the situation. Weaver's statement did not say how much time he had spent there.

Weaver urged the United States to reappraise its defense position in the Pacific "with a view to abandoning the Philippine Islands as a defense base," and moving operations perhaps to Thailand.

Pending that reappraisal, Weaver recommended that the Defense subcommittee call in Pacific commanders for "first-hand reports on intolerable conditions which now exist."

Chairman George H. Mahon (D-Tex) said that "in view of the important questions raised," the subcommittee will call in some of the commanders for first-hand accounts" when it starts hearings early next year on the defense budget.

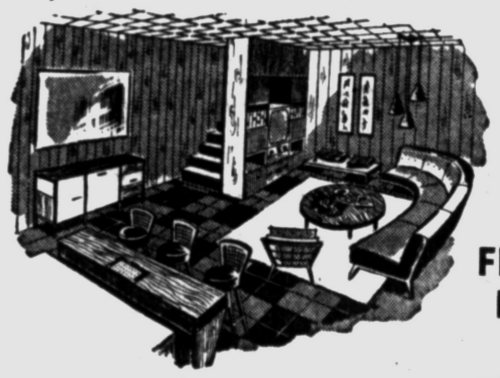

Weaver claimed that American troops stationed in the Philippines "must live and work under extremely difficult conditions, subject to false arrest by Philippine authorities, and the victims of condoned thievery, looting, blackmail, extortion and assault."

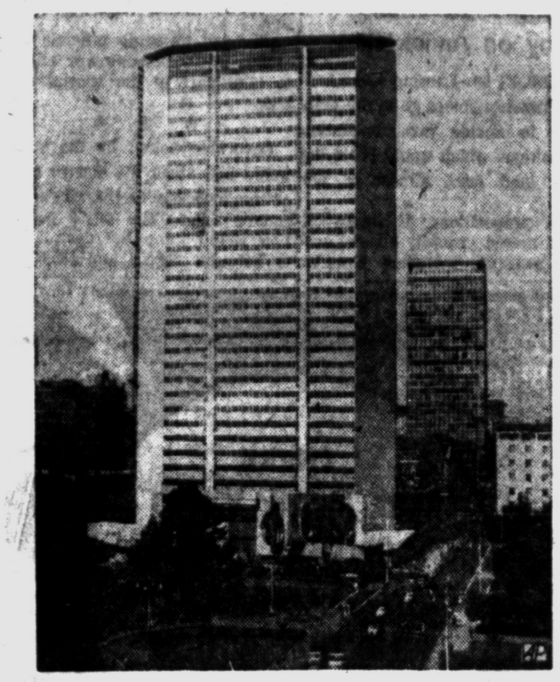

He accused the Philippine government of having embarked on an open program of harassment of American officers and men. He said personnel living away from the protection of an established American base must hire armed guards to protect their property and prevent their families from "being molested or murdered."

Will Dems Avoid Rights Split?

Sen. Sparkman Thinks South Will Get Friendly Consideration

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala) predicted today the Democratic national convention next year will avoid any damaging split over the civil rights issue.

"I am confident the South will have friendly consideration in the convention," Sparkman told a reporter.

He said he expects Dixie and Northern delegates to agree on a civil rights platform plank pleasing to neither side, but acceptable to both.

Sparkman, who was the Democrats' vice presidential nominee in 1952, said he would not even consider accepting a place on the national ticket next year if it were offered to him.

Sparkman said he will not take sides among the aspirants until the convention has chosen the party's nominees. He said he then will support the ticket.

The Alabaman said the convention may see a record number of "favorite son" candidates, and he doubts the presidential nomination will be settled before the sixth or seventh ballot.

"But I don't think we'll get into any really long ballot contest," he added. "We Democrats still remember 1924, when there were 103 ballots and the party was cut to ribbons."

The O.K. Club of "Old Kinderhook, N.Y. contributed the slang expression OK to the American language. It became popular in 1840 in the campaign of President Martin Van Buren, who was born in the town.

ANNUAL VOYAGE — The nation's oldest warship, the USS Constitution, is about to be towed back to its berth after its brief yearly "turn" at sea. "Old Ironsides," once the Navy's finest vessel, is turned around to prevent winds from warping the spars badly all on one side. The vessel has been visited by several million tourists at its berth in Boston since its glory-filled days of the last century.

Uncanny, Eerie, Unbelievably Smart

Postal Machines Know ABCs

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Post Office Department has unveiled to public gaze here an eerie family of postrobots (postmen of the mechanized future) — automatic mail-handling machines so smart that one of them can even read addresses. Some will be in use within a year.

It was emphasized that no career postal employe will lose his job when the automation gets into full whirr. The volume of mail is increasing so fast that everybody will have plenty to do. Bert B. Barnes, assistant postmaster general for operations, said at a press review there will be 61 billion pieces of mail this year, plus one billion parcels.

The experimental and prototype models are on display at the 11th American Stamp Dealers Assn. exhibition.

Even the name of the outfit that makes the "automatic address reader" is enough to give a human being the shivers—Intelligent Machines Research Corp.

The experimental model on exhibit reads addresses far faster than the human eye. Its optical scanning device is geared to read 20 different city and state combinations.

10,000 PER HOUR

However, the Post Office Department has contracted for a smarter, transistorized one that can read—and sort out—40 different combinations at a minimum rate of 10,000 letters per hour.

Neil L. Halliday, of the post office research and engineering office, said the machine "has been trained to learn its ABCs just as a kid is." He added: "Through its logic section (that's what he said), it can even detect variations in spelling."

To demonstrate, he directed the machine to sort him out into one batch all letters addressed to Pennsylvania, and then fed it a gulp of mail addressed to various states. The machine buzzed and hiccupped into fast action and spewed the Pennsylvania letters into a neat pile—even though Halliday had trickily varied the spellings into Pa., Penn., Penna., and Pennsylvania.

The machine reads only typewritten or printed addresses.

"You'll never get one that can read longhand," a reporter said.

"They're working on that now," Halliday replied.

The exhibit includes a "robot vending machine" for customer-operated postal substations. It provides the public with all window service except money orders—and goes the windows one better by offering writing paper at a penny a sheet. You dial the number of stamps you want.

There's also a "parcel post acceptance unit" that will take your package, weigh it, help you figure out the correct postage, and then spray a fast-drying liquid stamp on it when you deposit the right coins in the slot. They hope to have this thing in public use by next fall.

Also among the machines is a "Mark II facer-canceller," which uses the photo-electric ell method to position the letters properly and cancel them. The letters hurtle through its innards like white meteors—processed at rates in excess of 30,000 an hour.

"Do you anticipate," Halliday was asked, "that you can build a machine that is able to detect pornography?"

He tittered and replied: "That's an unfair question."

Lansing Area Voting Today on Annexation

LANSING (UPI)—Lansing and Lansing Township voters go to the polls today to decide two annexation propositions which would boost the city's land area almost 50 per cent.

The propositions, if approved, would merge virtually all of Lansing Township, including Frandor Golf Course, with the city of Lansing.

City and township officials estimated 57,400 persons are eligible to take part in the special election.

Favorable action by the voters would add about 9¾ square miles of the township to the city's 20½ square miles. The city's population would jump by about 15,000 to between 130,000 and 135,000.

State of Emergency Extended by Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UPI)—The government Tuesday extended the state of emergency imposed after the assassination of Premier Solomon Bandaranaike two months ago.

A government spokesman said one reason for the continued state of emergency is to keep assassination suspects in custody until an investigation is completed. Ordinarily the seven now held would have had to be charged within two weeks of their arrest.

'Better Housing for Minority Eventually Will Aid Majority'

By EDWARD COWAN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hobson R. Reynolds is a government housing official specializing in minority group problems who believes "as you help the minority you help the majority."

He tells the following story to illustrate his point: Back in 1912, in his native Winton, N.C., there was a typhoid fever scare. Local authorities arranged mass inoculations. Most everyone in town showed up at the appointed place to get the shots.

Negroes among the townspeople were told they were not included and would not be inoculated. Reynolds' father pointed out that Negroes denied the shots might become ill and infect the white people in whose homes they worked.

"They saw the point and everybody in Winton got the shots," Reynolds recalled.

Although housing problems lack the drama and scare qualities of a typhoid outbreak, Reynolds believes the same principle applies.

FINDS HOUSING

As special assistant for intergroup relations to federal housing commissioner, Julian H. Zimmerman, Reynolds tries to find ways to show that good housing for minorities holds community-wide benefits.

His staff includes FHA intergroup relations advisers in eight cities—San Francisco, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia, Richmond, Dallas, Atlanta and Chicago. Each adviser has an area covering several states.

Their job is to see that minority groups get FHA-insured home loans—and on terms equal to those available to most FHA home buyers.

FHA can make its fair play policy stick only in the seven or eight states which have anti-discrimination laws, Reynolds said in an interview.

Where a builder or lender breaks a state law, FHA can refuse to insure his mortgages. Where no law is broken, it must insure all mortgages that meet the agency's standards. Even where discriminatory practices violate a state law, FHA cannot cancel mortgage insurance in force.

PUSH FAIR PLAY

Besides checking up on discrimination, Reynolds and his staff try to promote equal-treatment practices. FHA officials have worked hard to explode the notion that if a minority family or two moves into a new neighborhood it's a signal for everyone else to move out.

In Des Moines, for example, an FHA representative effectively checked a "block busting" trend of this kind, Reynolds reported. The official pointed out to worried real estate agents and property owners that if they refused to sell—especially at depressed prices and took down For Sale signs they would end the panic and prevent the very thing they feared.

In communities which restrict where Negroes or other minorities may live, Reynolds said FHA tries to help secure some good locations for new housing projects for Negroes. The agency helps builders to tailor their size and price plans for Negro housing to the pocketbook of their potential buyers.

A grand director of the Negro Elks, Reynolds, 60, is a resident of Philadelphia and a former elected magistrate there. He was elected to the state Legislature twice. A Republican, he served as commissioner of the Pennsylvania Workman's Compensation Bureau from 1950-55.

No Shortage of Costly Toys This Season

Santa's 1959 bag has some special thrills for the well-heeled shopper who wants his gifts to score in the "mostest" classification.

Toyland already offers musical miniatures of just about every instrument in a symphony orchestra.

Yet, it now will provide a deluxe electronic console organ with three octaves, priced at $79.95.

Playroom housekeeping comes closer to the real thing with a complete built-in kitchen of nine pieces. This includes counters, range, refrigerator, washer-dryer, dishwasher, oven and a sink plus foods and dishes.

Great chic in the toy animal kingdom is a life-size charcoal poodle sheared according to the last word in dog show standards. And there are varied types of autos for junior to operate at low speed, with price tags to match.

The Toy Guidance Council reports an entire family of playmate-size dolls, modeled according to actual weight and physical proportions of each age group, will cost $97.80, while a portable planetarium providing the young scientist with more than 60 different star constellations costs $20.

Dean of Santa Clauses in Love With Humanity

NEW YORK (UPI) — John Matison has twinkling blue eyes, a jolly laugh, rosy cheeks and an ample girth.

Mrs. William Aptez, wife of the late colonel of the Volunteers of America, noted these qualities and told John, "you look like Santa Claus, John, why don't you be Santa?"

That was in 1949. For six weeks each year since, he has been Santa. Folks around the volunteers' Service Center call John, "Dean of the Sidewalk Santas."

Hale and hearty at the age of 64, he took up his sidewalk post for the 11th year yesterday and confessed he had been looking forward to it.

"I get fun out of this job and I can make fun with the children," he said through his beard. He stopped talking to wave to a staring little girl, then added a bit sadly, "There aren't many children out today."

"All the little boys ask for trains," said John, a bachelor and former seaman. "Every little girl wants a doll. Always dolls."

"But last year there was that little boy who wanted everything in Macy's window."

WANT HUSBANDS

Grownups also make requests of Santa.

"Some pretty young girls are always joking with me," he said. "They come up and say, 'I want a husband for Christmas.' I tell them, 'You're good looking, so just keep your fingers crossed.'

"And then people are always asking how to get someplace—mostly to Gimbel's and Macy's. Some ask for Saks Fifth Avenue and this is the eighth year I've been standing right here in front of Saks."

The dean of the Santas said he would move across the street to Rockefeller Center in a few days "when they light that big tree" where he could get more contributions for the Volunteers charitable work.

Matison said he and his fellow Santas shake their bells on the wintry sidewalks from nine in the morning until the crowds slacken at night for four dollars a day plus a Christmas Eve bonus for diligence.

"It gets cold but the secret is underwear," he confided. "I wear long, warm underwear and on really cold days I stay outside. Going where it's warm all the time makes it harder to stand the cold.

"But I still have to go in sometimes for a smoke," he said. "How would it look if kids saw Santa smoking?"

How to Handle Holiday Pup—

Supersitions Should Be Thrown Out Window for Sake of Boy

Taking a dog tale by its tail and tossing it out a window gives a youngster ammunition when asking for a puppy at Christmas time.

There are many superstitions still floating around, despite up-to-date data on dog care. And anyone planning on a new puppy this year should banish these misconceptions.

The dog will be healthier and happier and so will the owner, according to Dr. E. M. Gildow, director of a dog kennel in Washington. He debunks some of the more common fallacies about dog behavior.

For example, dogs are said to get worms from drinking milk, eating sugar or candy and a sure symptom of worms is tail-chasing.

Not true, says Dr. Gildow. Dogs don't get worms from most foods unless they've been infested by an outside source. And raw garlic has never been proved effective in control of worms.

Also, forget the old beliefs that dogs can't digest starches, sugars and fats; that they must have lean, raw meat and that raw meat causes viciousness.

Raw eggs don't make a dog's coat shiny. In fact soft or hard-cooked eggs agree better with dogs than raw eggs.

Way to Say 'Thanks' Is by Longhand Note

Teen-agers as well as adults should indulge in the long-time you notes. Christmas is an ideal time to start this good habit.

If you're 12 or 17, male or female learn the proper and effective way to say "thank you" and "I appreciate."

★ ★ ★

Thank-you notes are sent to anyone from whom you received a Christmas gift. If the present was give in person, a thank-you at the time can suffice, but a note afterward adds a nice, spontaneous touch of appreciation, advises Nancy Evans, etiquet and handwriting consultant.

Will He Win After Convention Deadlock?

Stevenson Beclouds Dem Talk for '60

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Die-hard partisans of Adlai E. Stevenson are being bombarded with arguments that "he can't win" or that an attempt to nominate him for a third try at the presidency may boomerang against liberal Democrats.

Despite his two defeats and refusal to campaign for 1960, Stevenson's potential power to win a third presidential nomination is befogging the pre-convention outlook for all other Democratic candidates.

Movements have been launched in several states to draft the former Illinois governor in another bid for the White House.

There has been talk of entering him in Oregon's presidential primary under a procedure not permitting him to withdraw.

Backers of the other candidates are trying to chip away at Stevenson's strength. A major argument is that Stevenson could not win, even though he would not be facing President Eisenhower, who defeated him in 1952 and 1956 by landslide margins.

WANT A WINNER

National convention delegates normally want to choose a nominee who they think can win. Yet it is easy to find Democrats who predict that Stevenson will win a third nomination after a convention deadlock and who also doubt or deny that he could win the election.

★ ★ ★

Supporters of both Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) regard their candidates as heirs to much or most of the Stevenson strength —if Stevenson somehow were blacked out of the picture.

They believe their favorites have greater appeal to the liberal wing of the party than Sens. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) or Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex).

An argument used to court Stevenson's liberal supporters visualizes a boomerang action. This theory suggests that Symington or Johnson rather than Stevenson might emerge from a convention deadlock with the nomination.

Hence the liberals are being urged to make an early choice or risk getting a nominee they would consider less acceptable.

Former President Harry S. Truman threw the "can't win" argument against Stevenson in 1956. When Stevenson won the nomination anyway, Truman said he had been wrong but the election returns showed he was right.

Before and during the 1960 convention, Truman, now believed in Symington's corner, is expected to be using the same argument against Stevenson.

Poison from a honeybee's sting is as potent, drop for drop, as rattlesnake venom.

Shoe Gift Certificate Easy Way to Fix Him Up With Late Style

The idea of giving a man a gift of shoes for Christmas is by now firmly entrenched. Wives have found shoes a practical, moderately-priced gift and one most men really need.

The easiest way to give a man shoes is with a shoe gift certificate. Shoe stores and departments now furnish attractive and festive Christmas certificates that he can present when he comes in for a fitting.

You can personalize his shoe gift check by filling it in in your own handwriting or by enclosing it in a large humorous or affectionate Christmas greeting card.

Best of all, of course, is to put the shoes themselves under the tree Christmas morning. The safest course, after sneaking a peek at his shoe size and width, is to hie to the store where he usually buys his shoes. Most men tend to be "sticks-in-the-mud" when it comes to shoes.

Christmas is your chance to put a little style in his shoe wardrobe.

"American Continental" is the new look in men's shoes. It features a medium-slim leather sole that closely follows the tapered shape of the upper, ending in a rounded or squared tip. Smooth or lightly grained leathers are preferred, in keeping with the style's elegant feeling.

"True brown" is the newest, most popular new leather color family in men's shoes, though black continues to be widely worn.

Sen. Keating Hints He'd Take No. 2 Nomination

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) indicated he might consider accepting the Republican vice presidential nomination next year if New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller decides not to be a presidential candidate.

Keating told a news conference that he believes it possible that the still undeclared contest between Rockefeller and Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the presidential nomination will be settled before the Republican convention.

Either man might decide to withdraw, Keating said, and "I wouldn't be surprised to see Rockefeller nominate Nixon or Nixon nominate Rockefeller when the convention meets. I would like to see it happen."

Asked about the possibility he might become the vice presidential candidate, Keating said that if Rockefeller were not a candidate "and if the Republican organization and Nelson Rockefeller wanted to advance my name, then I would cross that bridge when I came to it."

Most Communist Country Eisenhower Will Visit

Afghans Trying to Climb Into 20th Century

By United Press International

Texas-sized Afghanistan leans further toward the Communist orbit than any other nation on President Eisenhower's list.

Fifty per cent of its trade is with Russia. The figure was 10 per cent in 1950. Its 43,000-man army uses 70 million dollars worth of Russian equipment.

Soviet engineers are building highways from the Russian border to Pakistan on a crash basis — Eisenhower will drive along one the Russians built.

The estimated 12,000,000 Afgans, almost all Moslems, use fat from sheep's tails instead of butter, share seven movie theaters for the whole country, live by tribal law and the vendetta.

Frequently lawless and fanatical, they have a ready wit and grave courtesy. Some were planted in Afghanistan by Genghis Khan. The Durani and Ghilzai tribes largely dominate the Hazaras, Tajiks, Uzbeks, Nuristanis and others. Official languages: Persian and Pushtu.

TOP OF THE WORLD

The land that isn't mountain is likely to be desert. Not for nothing has Afghanistan been called "Top of the World." Mountains 20,000 feet and up are a dime a dozen; in the West, winds as fierce as 110 m.p.h. blow almost continuously from June to September in temperatures ranging to 112 degrees. Mountain ranges split agricultural valley. Most towns and villages are half-way up their sides.

Afghanistan's major industries produce matches and buttons and not much of those. Its farmers raise sheep, goats, camels and asafoetida plants.

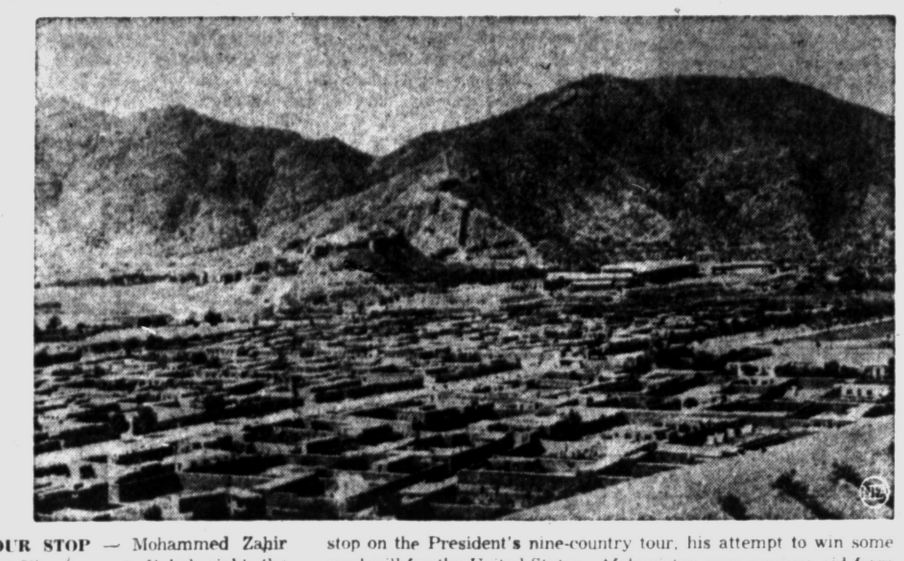

Karacul is its most lucrative export; the soil is fertile but only a small percentage of it is cultivated. The nation's principal wealth is its immense flocks of sheep; mineral potential has never been explored, much less tapped.

King Mohammed Zahir Shah, 45, of Afghanistan is a constitutional monarch. Prime Minister Sadar Mohammad Daud, a professional army officer, doubles as defense minister and planning minister. Their capital is Kabul, a city of 210,000 a few miles downhill from the legendary Khyber pass to Pakistan.

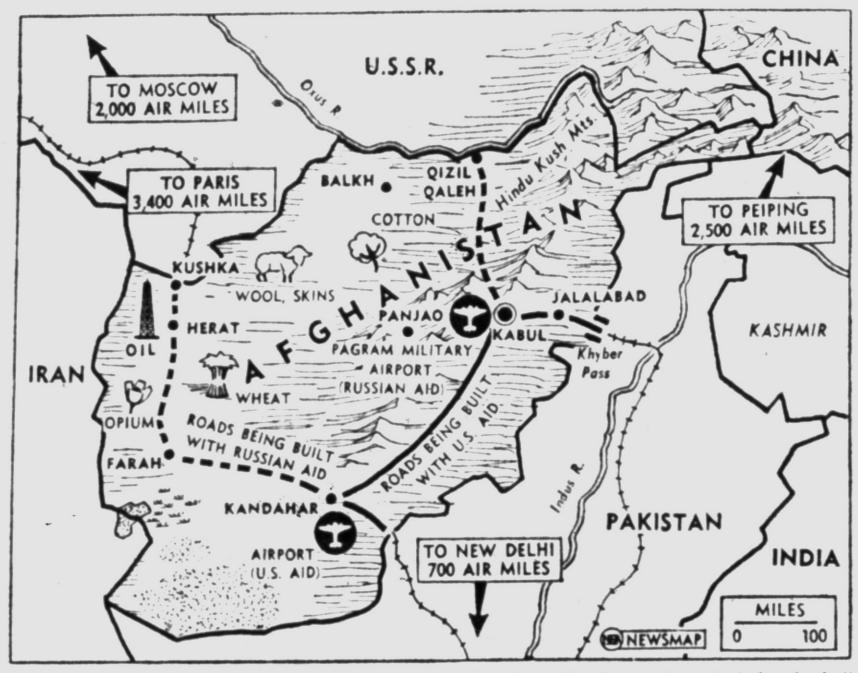

Afghanistan's problem is to move into the 20th Century. It will accept help from anybody to do so. Russia and the U.S. have competed to offer help; lately Russia has been winning.

The nation's women are still in purdah, only now losing the veil. Two million Afghans are nomads. There are no railways. Afghanistan is poor, proud and ambitious: Industrialization is planned but barely under way.

KABUL, EISENHOWER TOUR STOP — Mohammed Zahir Shah, left, will welcome President Eisenhower to Kabul, right, the walled capital of Afghanistan surrounded by the towering Hindu Kush Mountains. The city has a population of 200,000. It is one stop on the President's nine-country tour, his attempt to win some good will for the United States. Afghanistan now receives aid from Russia.

UNKNOWN AFGHANISTAN — Newsmap above focuses on Afghanistan, one of the nations President Eisenhower will visit on his trip to Europe and Asia in December. A Texas-sized, mountainous, undeveloped nation of some 12 million, mostly Moslems. Afghanistan maintains a delicate balance between the free and Communist worlds, readily accepting aid from both. U.S. aid, totaling $145 million, includes the building of dams, an airport, 500 miles of roads and technical help. Competing Russian aid includes arms, roads, a military airport and $300 million in grants and loans. Half of Afghanistan's trade is with the Soviet Union. King Mohammed Zahir Shah is a constitutional monarch, but the strong man is Prime Minister Sadar Mohammed Daud.

Teddy Roosevelt Said No White House Tree

President Theodore Roosevelt, an avid conservationist, thought the cutting of evergreens for Christmas was a wasteful practice and forbade their use in the White House.

He later relented after Gifford Pinchot, his adviser on conservation matters, assured him that the supervised and proper harvesting of Christmas trees was good for the forests.

Words Just Fail Hong Kong's Ho— It's Occidental

DETROIT (AP)—Ho Wai Kwok, an 11-year-old Chinese who flew in from Hong Kong two days ago, knew one word of English when he wandered away from home to see the sights Tuesday.

The word was "help." Uttered into a telephone, it set off a chain of events that reunited the boy with his parents.

Ho Wai Kwok and his mother left Hong Kong last Sunday to begin a new life with a father Wai had never seen. After lunch yesterday, he set out to look over the neighborhood and became lost.

Wai wandered for hours searching for his parents. Finally, he went into a phone booth, found a coin that fitted one of the slots and reached an operator. His plea for "help" brought police to the booth.

Officers took the boy to several Chinese restaurants and a curio shop where he explained his problem in Chinese to employes. Eventually one was found who knew Wai's father, Howard Ho. He was found at the restaurant where he works as a cook.

The boy's mother, Tse Shuet Ting, had been worried but she does not speak English and was waiting for her husband to come home from work to tell him about Wai's disappearance.

Ho said he left Hong Kong a few months before his son was born.

Finds U.S. Even in Missile Race

Civilian Program Lags; Schriever Says Small Size Is Advantage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Air Force Lt. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever said Tuesday that the United States is fully abreast of Russian missiles despite the U.S. lag in space achievement.

* * *

Schriever, chief of the Air Research and Development Command (ARDC) cautioned against attempts to separate military and civilian space programs. He said this could be fatal in competition with Soviet planning that is "total" and integrated.

Schriever also revealed that the weight of the H-bomb warhead for the U.S. intercontinental ballistic missile is roughly one ton.

This is usually regarded as a highly classified figure, but the Defense Department said on inquiry that Schriever's use of the payload weight had been approved.

Addressing the Aero Club in Washington, Schriever said "In my opinion, we are not behind at all in the development of ballistic missiles."

* * *

He said "Our main deficiency is on rocket thrust." But he said that, from a military standpoint, the smaller size of American missiles "is an advantage to us."

Brother, Sister Sell 2 Paintings for $770,000

LONDON (AP)—Two paintings owned by an American brother and sister were sold for $770,000 Wednesday in an auction of impressionists that attracted the world's top art dealers.

New York art dealers bought Cezanne's "Peasant in a Blue Blouse" for $406,000 and Gauguin's "I Await the Letter" for $364,000.

The Cezanne was owned by Mrs. T. G. Kenefick of Buffalo, N. Y., and the Gauguin by her brother, George Goodyear. The paintings were given them years ago by their father, 82-year-old A. Conger Goodyear of Old Westbury, L. I., one of the founders of New York's Museum of Modern Art.

April and May are usually the clearest months in the Philippines.

'The Liberation of the Philippines' . . . Morison

Late Book Explains MacArthur

By TOM HORGAN

BOSTON (AP) — Many Philippine Island objectives in the last war could have been left to "wither on the vine" but for the determination of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to make early liberation complete.

This is the opinion of Rear Adm. Samuel Eliot Morison, Pulitzer Prize historian. The 13th volume of his history of U.S. Naval operations in World War II, "The Liberation of the Philippines, was published Monday by Atlantic-Little Brown.

"After Luzon," said the seafaring historian, "most of the operations were unnecessary. End of the war was in sight. But Mac wanted to liberate all of the Philippines because he said he would take every damn island in the archipelago."

Fortunately the Japanese did not occupy all of the more than 7,000 islands. This volume is salted with many exciting exploits which were little noticed at the time because public interest then was focused on Europe. Also much was withheld for security reasons.

Loss of three destroyers in a typhoon, just before a major amphibious operation, and the almost unbelievable rescue of many of their crews is vividly told.

WANTED JAVA

Morrison said MacArthur had his heart set on taking Java, adding this was sound judgment. But the war ended before the plan could be pursued.

"The Joint Chiefs of Staff did not see eye to eye with General MacArthur," Morison reports.

Speedy liberation of Allied prisoners in Manila was a compelling objective with MacArthur, Morison relates. He says the several thousand men, women and children liberated felt certain they would have starved or been massacred if the other strategy were adopted.

"That this was no fanciful apprehension may be seen by the fate of the American prisoners in Palawan and the Australian prisoners in North Borneo," says Morison, before relating the retribution which overtook the Japanese after Borneo was retaken:

"The Australian prisoners done to death by the Japanese were grimly revenged by the natives of Borneo.

"The Japanese troops, 21,000 of them in North Borneo alone, were ordered after their surrender to stack arms and march to Beaufort, were ships would embark them for home. This order opened a series of field days for the fierce Murut tribesmen. They harassed the unarmed Japanese columns day after day, and only a few hundred ever reached Beaufort."

No A-Secrets in Exchange

Russian, U.S. Scientists to Parley on Peaceful Uses of Atom

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed to exchange visits of atoms-for-peace scientists.

No secret atomic information will be involved in the exchange agreement signed Tuesday by John A. McCone, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and Prof. V. S. Emelyanov, Soviet atomic chief.

The two nations also agreed to examine the feasibility of joint projects on peaceful uses of the atom. One possibility is the building of a giant atom-smashing machine.

The agreement covers points outlined last Friday by McCone and Emelyanov in a news conference. The program will be included in the U.S.-Soviet scientific and cultural exchange for next year.

Reports on the exchanges will be made available to the International Atomic Energy Agency and its members.

Trim and Hang Paper Plates

Real Cheap Decor!

EYE-CATCHERS: These paper plate decorations are (top to bottom) a candle wreath, a Christmas Tree, and a glitter star.

You will need scissors, jars or vials of colored glitter, colored paper and sticky tape, double-faced cellophane tape, glue and a package of paper plates.

Here are some easy-to-make suggetions:

For a candle wreath cut the fluted edges of the paper plate at 1¼-inch intervals, removing the tiny depression between the fluting. Thread a red or green ribbon over and under the cut out edges and tie a bow at the top. Use yellow paper to cut out a candle that is one inch thick. Draw a flame shape on red paper. Glue flame and candle to the plate.

To make a modern Christmas tree design, draw a 4-inch equilateral triangle on green paper. Cut the triangle horizontally into six half-inch strips.

Cut another strip, 5¼ inches by one-half inch, for the tree trunk. Paste the trunk on the plate so that each end touches the rim of the inner circle.

Over this, paste the tree strips in pyramid fashion. Outline the tree with a thin application of paste. Then sprinkle glitter over the plate and shake off the excess.

For a simple glitter star, cut four lengths of double-faced cellophane tape, each to a length of 5¼ inches. Place them on the plate in two crosses, so that the ends of the tape meet the rim of the inner circle of the plate.

★ ★ ★

Sprinkle gold, silver, red or green glitter over the plate. Press the glitter gently over the star formation, then shake off excess.

★ ★ ★

The decorated plates may be hung with thread. Or special plates may be used. These plates stick to any flat surface. When decorated, you simply peel off the protective layer on the back to the plate to expose a tab of masking tape. Then press the plate to windows or doors. It won't mar the surface when removed.

Grounded Vessel Now Is Gift Shop

BEACH HAVEN, N. J. (AP) — "Lucy Evelyn," say people around here, "is beached as high and dry as a marshmallow in a drained cocoa cup."

She is a 140-foot packet and sailed the seas for many years.

Now, the ship serves as a tourist attraction and houses a gift shop.

Built in 1917 for $64,000, authorities claim it would cost at least $200,000 to duplicate her.

Traffic Tickets Are His Hobby; Police Doubtful

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thomas Settipani had a hard time convincing police that he had accumulated 125 traffic tickets in the five years since he started driving at the age of 14.

★ ★ ★

But they began to believe him after a check determined that Settipani had indeed received at least 17 tickets for speeding, driving without a license, passing red lights and so on. They continued their investigation to find out whether there were more.

One reason for the difficuuty in proving the youth's charges against himself was the fact that he had accumulated his tickets—"as many as six or seven a day," he said — under five sets of license plates on five vehicles.

Settipani who turned himself in at police headquarters, said the authorities had never once come around looking for him. He also reported that he had never received a ticket for illegal parking.

Dec. 25 Is Right Date

No one knows for certain on what day Christ was born, but a very early Christian tradition said it was Dec. 25. After a careful inquiry into available evidence, Pope Julius I (337-352) decided the traditional date was probably the true one.

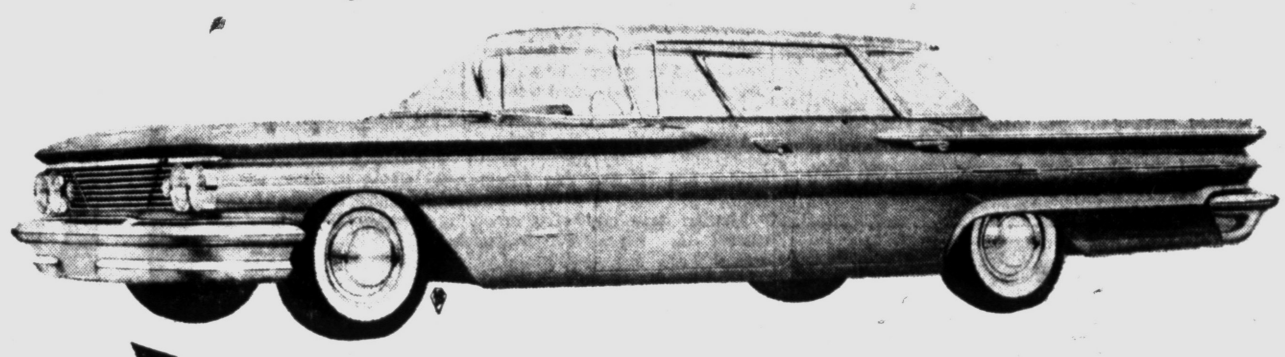

Utility Firm Selects Site for Plant Near St. Joseph

LANSING (UPI)—The Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. announced Wednesday a 480-acre site near St. Joseph has been selected as the location of a "future major power plant."

A company spokesman said the plant will be built "in 10 years or less" and will cost between 50 and 100 million dollars.

The spokesman said the plant "could use coal, oil or even atomic" power.

The site is along the southeastern shore of Lake Michigan about nine miles south of St. Joseph and two miles north of the village of Bridgman. It is between Lake Michigan and U.S. 12 in Lake Township.

Growers Seldom on Firm Ground

Cranberry Industry Has Risks

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Now you take cranberries, which apparently many people won't this year because of the cancer scare.

Those early Thanksgivings may have been cranberryless, too.

The Pilgrim Fathers gave thanks, and feasted on wild turkeys. But if they ate the cranberries that grew in the nearby marshes, they thoughtlessly failed to make a note of it.

It was almost 200 years after the Pilgrims time that commercial production began.

The first experiments were made around 1810 to 1820, near North Dennis, Mass., and by 1845 they had spread to New Jersey. By 1850 enough progress had been made that it seemed certain the cranberry was here to stay.

Growing began on Long Island in 1865 — two years after Lincoln's first Thanksgiving proclamation. Gradually the cranberry moved west, to Wisconsin in 1874, to Oregon in 1885.

The cranberry's darkest day came Nov. 9, 1959. That's when Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming said that some berries had been contaminated by a weed killer that has caused cancers in rats.

This, as you know, set off one of the strangest mixups in American political history.

Here was one member of the President's team, Flemming, warning of the dangers, while another member of the team, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, was eating cranberries in Wisconsin.

Another presidential possibility, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), in Wisconsin at the same time, downed some cranberry juice.

It was a wonderful show of bi-cranberryship.

But to a cranberry merchant or grower, the facts remain glum.

George C. P. Olsson, president of Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc., a cooperative representing 75 per cent of the industry, has gloomily predicted:

"Eventual losses will run over 100 million dollars."

Well, judging by the scanty literature on the subject, cranberry growing has never been easy.

First, you need a bog (which explains why growing is still concentrated in Massachusetts and Wisconsin). This must be cleared, sanded and crisscrossed with narrow ditches which can be flooded to protect the bushes from insects and unseasonable frosts.

A dozen years ago the National Geographic Society studied cranberries and reached this conclusion:

"Getting new cranberry crops started is expensive, tedious work."

Labor remains a problem. Weeding and harvesting are real chores.

But finally new hope appeared. A chemical, aminotriazole, killed the weeds but didn't harm the bushes. It meant saving many hours for many a small grower.

But it was aminotriazole, improperly used, that set off the whole controversy.

That's the real irony of the cranberry story.

Bermuda, the British colony, is a group of 360 small islands of which 20 are inhabited.

Boy Is Allowed to Skip School

Parents Acquitted of Keeping Him Away; He's Taught at Home

STILLWATER, Minn. (AP) — The long court fight over 8-year-old Tommy Kral's failure to attend public school appeared at an end. His parents were acquitted of a charge of refusing to send him to classes.

★ ★ ★

Dist. Judge Carl Gustafson late Monday ordered the complaint against Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kral of Afton dismissed. The Krals had appealed from a Municipal Court sentence of 30 days in jail. They had been adjudged guilty earlier this year.

The couple alleged that Tommy was unable to learn properly in public school because of its teaching methods. When they took the boy out of class, Mrs. Kral started tutoring him at home.

The Krals' conviction in the lower tribunal came despite testimony from four University of Minnesota experts that Tommy was getting a better education at home than he could in public school.

Judge Gustafson held that, under present state law, it would be impossible to prove the Krals had done anything illegal.

Medical Stocks Said Too Low

Many Would Not Be Treated in N-Attack With Current Supplies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Stockpiles of medicine will run out while Americans are waiting in line for treatment after an all-out nuclear attack, government officials warned today.

That's why the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization (ODM) is irked that Congress has failed since 1956 to appropriate additional funds for stockpiling medicine.

Some $325,000,000 worth of medicine is available to cope with a nuclear disaster.

ODM estimated that this was enough to treat only 5,000,000 persons for three weeks or 15,000,000 persons for one week.

A spokesman said this was "not nearly enough" medicine to treat anticipated casualties. He said the agency was preparing a list of minimum needs.

Congress appropriated $47,000,000 for stockpiling medicine in the 1957 fiscal year.

The next year, the lawmakers appropriated only $3,300,000 just enough to maintain what was on hand. The ODM had asked for $75,000,000.

In fiscal 1959, which ended last June 30, Congress put up $18,000,000. But none of it went for additional medicine. It had to be used to reprocess blood plasma which contained possible hepatitis factors.

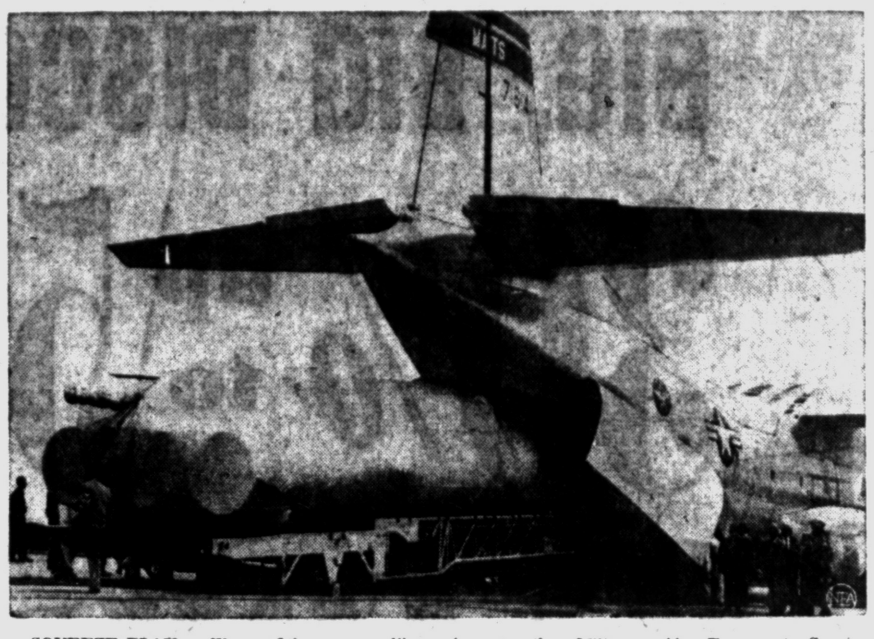

For the current fiscal year which began July 1, Congress appropriated $6,950,000. The ODM had asked for $13,900,000.

Of the amount allotted, $3,300,000 went for administration and maintenance of existing supplies. The rest was used for radiation detection instruments.

The ODM has 1900 200-bed porthough there is not enough medicine to treat atomic attack victims, sufficient portable hospitals are available.

The ODM has 190 200-bed portable hospitals available. Some 66 are used for training. Over 1,300 are scattered throughout the country in crates in small cities which are considered the least likely targets in case of war.

SQUEEZE PLAY — Wrapped in a cocoonlike cover, a giant Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile inches along a special track assembly into the belly of a Douglas C133 Cargomaster. The tight drama took place during a test at Miramar Air Station, San Diego. The huge aircraft, belonging to the Military Air Transport Service (MATS), then successfully airlifted the missile to Warren AFB in Wyoming. In 1958 a MATS C133 broke the record for lifting the heaviest payload — nearly 59 tons.

Doctor Describes Letdown Headaches

WASHINGTON (AP)—Do you suffer a severe headache when you suddenly ease up after a stretch of tough work? There's a name for it—"let-down headache." Its most likely victims are clergymen, teachers and office workers.

This newly recognized ailment was described by Dr. Lester Blumenthal of George Washington University, one of the nation's leading authorities on headaches.

He said ministers and priests may come up with such headaches on Monday mornings "when they let down after the week's tension of preparing for and delivering two sermons on Sunday, hearing confessions on Saturday, and so on."

School teachers, Blumenthal said, are vulnerable on Saturday mornings "when they wake up and suddenly realize they don't have to face 40 young hyenas as they have all week."

Blumenthal said government workers in the nation's capital also are frequent sufferers.

He told about the phenomenon at a panel on headaches during the annual scientific assembly of the District of Columbia Medical Society and amplified later at a news conference.

Blumenthal said let-down headaches result from excessive stretching of blood vessels. For reasons still unknown, many people are physiologically constituted so that their vessels are likely to stretch excessively under emotional or physiological stress.

In the case of the let-down victims, Blumenthal said, they build up tension during the week. This causes certain body chemicals, including adrenalin, to keep the blood vessels and other tissues of the head in proper tone.

Then comes the let-down. With tensions removed, the blood vessels stretch, blood rushes through them faster—and headache results.

★ ★ ★

Folks who may have them can take heart.

Blumenthal says that in many cases they can be prevented by:

1. Pacing yourself during the week so you don't build up so much tension.
2. Learning your physiological and emotional limits—and remaining within them.
3. Sleeping with the head of your bed elevated.
4. Avoiding constipation.
5. Getting up early or setting your alarm clock so you'll wake up in the night for a while. Too much sleep at a stretch may tend to stretch your blood vessels.

Tornadoes hit the town of Codell, Kan., on the same day for three straight years, May 20, 1916-17-18.

Workers in Government Triple in Past 30 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of government workers of all types has more than tripled in the last 30 years, the Commerce Department reported Tuesday. Expansion of government payrolls has far outpaced private employment.

About 15 per cent of all jobholders work for federal, state or local governments, the department said. In 1929 the proportion was about 7 per cent.

Government payrolls have soared from 3,184,000 in 1929 to 9,918,000 in 1957, the most recent year for which complete data is available.

In the first report of its kind, the department said corporations in 1957 employed 47 per cent of of all jobholders compared with 44 per cent in 1929. Corporate payrolls rose from 20,303,000 to 31,346,000.

Despite great population growth, the number of Americans working for proprietorships and partnerships has increased by only 1,752,000 to 20,852,000 since 1939.

The proportion of jobholders in this category declined from 41 per cent in 1929 to 31 per cent in 1957.

"The decrease is almost entirely a reflection of the declining importance of agriculture during the past few decades," the report said.

The only major shift over the 30 years was in the proportion of workers employed in households and by non-profit institutions. There was a drop from 7 per cent to 5½ per cent.

This was attributed to a decrease in the number of domestic servants, which was offset in part by a growth rate in institutional payrolls second only to government.

No breakdown of servants and institutional workers was available.

The report also showed that the average annual earnings of corporation employes was $4,980 in 1958 compared with $1,664 in 1929.

For those employed by proprietorships and partnerships, average earnings rose to $3,583 from $1,285.

The report did not give figures on average earnings of those employed by governments.

But in response to an inquiry the commerce department said the average pay of government employes rose from $1,551 in 1929 to $4,328 in 1958.

U.S. Foreign Dollars to Drop $316 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Commerce Department estimates that U.S. defense spending in foreign countries this year will drop about $316,000,000 from the record $3,416,000,000 spent in 1958.

The Commerce Department said this country spent $1,622,000,000 overseas in the first half of 1959, indicating that the full-year total will be about $3,100,000,000.

Officials said it was impossible to estimate how much of the decline, if any, reflected the administration's new policy of trying to reduce dollar outlays abroad to narrow the gap in the U.S. balance of international payments.

Develop Instrument for Glaucoma Test

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Scientists at the University of California have announced the development of an electronic instrument designed to provide earlier and much more accurate diagnosis of glaucoma, a leading cause of blindness in adults.

The instrument, which operates on a basic principle, also has the important advantage over its predecessors of requiring no anaesthesia because of the gentleness and speed with which it functions.

The device, known as an electronic tonometer, measures pressure within the eyeball. Clinical models now are being built and are expected to be available to eye examiners within a year.

The auto companies are bringing out their new cars earlier. Soon there'll be no such thing as "this year's model"; there'll just be "next year's" and "last year's" . . . A woman never forgets her age — once she's decided on it.—Earl Wilson.

VEGETABLE TOPPING—Big, creamy Brazil nuts . . . which do come from their namesake country . . . can bestow both a beauty touch and flavor to vegetables. Just to list three examples, here Brazil nuts are sliced to top broccoli and chopped for use in acorn squash and whole mushroom fillings.

Toast Sliced Brazil Nuts for Garnish

The flavor which makes Brazil nuts such nutbowl charmers can enhance vegetables. In a butter and lemon juice sauce, sliced Brazil nuts give a petal-like trim to cooked broccoli.

The nuts can be sliced neatly upon removal from their shells if they are softened in boiling water. The creamy nutmeat with its tissue-thin brown covering is thus tenderized to be cut in one-eighth inch thick petals.

These may be used as a garnish "as is" or may be oven-toasted about 12 minutes for a more pronounced nut flavor. The lengthwise nut slices are a good garnish for any green, cooked vegetable.

Acorn squash halves baked with Brazil nuts as a center filling are enriched and more dramatic of flavor. The chopped Brazil nuts are combined with orange rind, butter and spices to dress up the rather bland flavor of squash.

Large fresh mushrooms make dinner conversation when filled with bread crumbs and chopped Brazil nuts. The mushrooms may be served as a vegetable course or may be served as a garnish for meat.

Broccoli With Brazil Nuts

½ cup shelled Brazil nuts
¼ cup butter
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
Cooked broccoli for 4 servings

Cover Brazil nuts with cold water. Bring to boil slowly; simmer 5 minutes. Drain. Slice *Brazil nuts lengthwise. Melt butter; stir in lemon juice and Tabasco. Combine nuts and butter sauce. Pour over hot cooked broccoli, brussels sprouts or green beans. Yield: 4 servings.

*If desired Brazil nut slices may be toasted in moderate oven (350 degrees) 12 minutes.

Acorn Squash With Brazil Nuts

3 Acorn squash
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¾ cup chopped Brazil nuts
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
3 tablespoons butter or margarine

Wash and halve squash lengthwise; remove seeds and stringy portion. Place squash, cut side down, in a greased shallow baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees), 30 minutes.

While squash is baking, put remaining ingredients in a small mixing bowl; cut in butter with two knives or pastry blender. Remove squash from oven; turn right side up. Divide nut mixture among the squash halves. Return to oven and bake approximately 30 minutes longer, or until squash is tender. Yield: 6 servings.

Brazil Nut Stuffed Mushrooms

1 pound large mushrooms
MSG
½ cup packaged seasoned dry bread crumbs
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup chopped Brazil nuts
2 teaspoons capers
3 tablespoons butter

Wash mushrooms. Remove stems; reserve. Sprinkle inside of mushrooms with MSG. Finely chop stems; combine with bread crumbs, salt, Brazil nuts and capers. Spoon Brazil nut mixture into caps.

Place in greased shallow baking pan. Dot each mushroom with butter. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 20 to 25 minutes. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Light Fruit and Wine Dessert Good Finale

Even after a heavy dinner many folks enjoy just a small taste of sweet at the end of a meal. Small servings of "Date-Orange Cream" satisfy even the fussiest eater. Tangy, light Sauterne wine is poured over the dates before they are folded into the orange flavored mallow-cream and chilled. You'll love the rich, full flavor of this luscious fresh fruit scented dessert.

Date-Orange Cream

1 cup fresh dates
¼ cup Sauterne wine
¼ pound marshmallows
¾ cup strained orange juice
Few grains salt
1 cup whipping cream

Pit dates and cut into thin strips, add wine and let stand about 1 hour. Heat marshmallows in orange juice until dissolved. Cool and when mixture begins to set, fold in dates. Spoon into sherbet glasses and chill until ready to serve. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

Add paprika and dry mustard to the flour, salt and pepper in which you roll chicken pieces before broiling, baking or frying.

Certain Tricks Assure Success of Gelatin

NEW YORK (UPI) — If unmolding an aspic leaves you and the gelatin shaky, you may not be allowing enough time for the aspic to set.

The experts say that overnight is best, although several hours should be adequate. Don't try to force jelling by putting a mold in the freezer. This causes crystals to form and retards setting.

These tips come from a manufacturer of unflavored gelatin, who adds that insufficient gelatin is another cause of aspic failure.

The correct ratio is 1 envelope of unflavored gelatin to each 2 cups of liquid or 2 cups of solid. For instance, aspic using 2 cups of liquid and 1 cup of solids — such as vegetables, fruits, meat, poultry or seafood — would need 1½ envelopes of gelatin.

If you add sugar, count it as part of the liquid. Either add more gelatin to correspond with the 2 to 1 ratio, or substitute sugar for liquid in equal amounts.

To prevent unflavored gelatin from lumping, sprinkle it slowly onto cold liquid. If the recipe calls for sugar, you can bypass the softening step.

Simply add gelatin to sugar, allowing at least 1 tablespoon of sugar for each envelope of gelatin, mix well, and add the hot liquid, remembering to include whatever additional liquid you would have used to soften the gelatin.

The liquid need not be boiling but it should be hotter than that from a hot water tap.

Nnmolding the jelled product is, for many cooks, the hardest job of all. This is the recommended technique:

TO UNMOLD

Place a metal mold in very warm —not hot — water 2 or 3 seconds; a heatproof glass dish, 4 to 6 seconds. Remove themold from the water and run the tip of a paring knife all the way around the edge of the mold, to a depth of about 1 inch. Place a dish on top of the mold, hold them together securely and turn them over. Shake the mold gently to release the aspic. If it does not unmold, repeat the dipping process.

In a saucepan, combine one 3¼-ounce package of vanilla pudding mix with 1 envelope of unflavored gelatin, ¼ cup of sugar and 1½ cups of grape juice. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cool thoroughly.

Pour ½ cup of ice water into a mixing bowl, add ½ cup of instant nonfat milk crystals and whip about 3 or 4 minutes, or until soft peaks form. Add 2 tablespoons of lemon juice and continue whipping 3 or 4 minutes until stiff.

Using the same beaters, whip the pudding until light. Fold into the whipped dry milk. Fold in 1 cup of seedless green grapes, halved. Spoon into 1½ quart mold and chill until set. Unmold and serve with garnish of additional whipped dry milk or grapes.

Bouquet Garni

Next time a recipe directs you to drop a "bouquet garni" into a stew, tie together a bay leaf, a rib of celery (with the lavees), a few sprigs of parsley and a sprig of dried thyme; encase the bouquet in cheese cloth. Be sure to remove before serving the stew!

3¾% INTEREST ON NEW U.S. SAVINGS BONDS NOW IN EFFECT

Congress makes the Bonds you buy and Bonds you already own better than ever!

Now U.S. Savings Bonds are a better buy than ever in three important ways:

- All Series E and H Bonds bought since June 1, 1959 now earn 3¾% interest when held to maturity.
- Older Bonds will also pay more—an extra ½%, from June 1 on, if you hold them to maturity.
- All Series E Bonds, old or new, now carry an automatic extension privilege; they'll keep paying liberal interest for 10 years beyond maturity.

Three big new dollar benefits that make it smart to buy new Bonds—and hang on to the ones you have!

40 million Americans now own Bonds

But a good return isn't the only reason so many people buy Bonds. They've discovered that there's no easier, safer, more American way to save.

You can buy Bonds automatically, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work; you can buy them where you bank; your youngsters can even buy them at school, through the School Savings Plan for U.S. Savings Stamps.

The U.S. Government guarantees that the cash value of your Bonds cannot drop; it can only grow. And if your Bonds should be lost, stolen, or destroyed, the Treasury will replace them free.

Finally, every Bond you buy does a big job for America. Because today peace costs money—money for military strength and for science; and money saved by individuals to keep our economy sound.

Your Bonds help provide this money—help America keep the peace. So, to build a brighter future for yourself and your family—and to protect it—save with U.S. Savings Bonds. They're better than ever.

YOUR MONEY GROWS 33⅓% IN JUST 7 YEARS AND 9 MONTHS WITH NEW SERIES E BONDS!

Bake Special Treats for Lunch Box

An important part of getting ready for the new school term is planning menus for the mid-day meal eaten away from home.

Because of increased nutritional requirements at this stage of life, active growing children need more substantial, energy-giving foods. Therefore when planning the meals think first of what they should have and would like to find in the lunch box.

This is easy, since there are many varieties of soup and sandwiches from which to choose. For a complete and satisfying meal include a tempting home-baked dessert treat.

Several recipes, suggested by Sugar Information, Inc., are given below which are tasty, appetizing and perfect for packing in the lunch box. One is for Pine-Apricot Bars, a delicious combination of pineapple, for Pine-Apricot Bars, a delitype cookie.

The second is for Apple-Date Turnovers, which features the delightful flavored-blend of apples and dates. The last recipe is for Brown Sugar Cookies — made flavored with spice and lemon juice.

Pine-Apricot Bars

1 cup dried apricots, cut in half
1 tablespoon butter
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ cup raisins
½ cup canned pineapple, diced and well-drained
Confectioners' sugar

Cook apricots according to packaged directions for 10 minutes. Drain and set aside. Cream butter, add eggs and sugar. Cream until light. Add lemon juice. Sift dry ingredients into mixture. Beat well. Add raisins, then pineapple and next apricots, mixing well after each addition.

Spread mixture evenly in greased and floured 8 x 8 x 2 inch pan. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F. for about 45 minutes or until brown. Remove from pan, cool and if desired dust with confectioners' sugar

Yield: Nine 2½ inch squares.

Apple-Date Turnovers

1 package pie crust mix
¾ cup apples, pared, cored and diced
¼ cup dates, cut into small pieces
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ginger
1 tablespoon butter

Roll pastry dough ⅛ inch thick. Cut into 5-inch squares. Mix apples and dates. Combine dry ingredients and add to fruit.

Put 2 tablespoons fruit in center of each pastry square. Dot with butter. Dampen edges with water, fold each square diagonally. Press edges together with floured fork. Prick top to allow steam to escape. Bake on greased cookie sheet at 450 degrees F. 15 to 20 minutes.

Remove turnovers from oven and top with sugar icing made by combining ½ cup confectioners' sugar with 3 tablespoons lemon juice. Yield: 6 turnovers.

Brown Sugar Cookies

1 cup butter
½ cup brown sugar
2 cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Cream butter, gradually stir in sugar and mix well. Sift flour and nutmeg and add to butter-sugar mixture. Stir in lemon juice. Chill dough in refrigerator until easy to handle.

On lightly floured board, roll dough ⅛-inch thick. Cut into desired shapes. Sprinkle tops of cookies with a mixture of granulated sugar and cinnamon. Bake on ungreased sheet at 350 degrees F. 20-25 minutes. Makes about 18-20 cookies.

APPLE CHERRY MOLD — Festive, yet light in texture and not too high in calories, this Apple Cherry Mold makes a delightful dessert. With a custard sauce, it can fill part of the day's requirements for milk.

Light, Fruit Mold Tops Off Cold Weather Meal

After the family has enjoyed the hearties of a fall meal, then top off with this Apple-Cherry Mold. It offers the fruitiness of cherry and apple, a sharp little tang most refreshing. It is also rosy and pretty to serve.

So bright and giddy a dessert could be proudly served to guests. But once that is said, the vote still swings to it as first a treat for the family table . . . a dessert to send the members on their way blissfully content. (And with much praise for You-Know Whom as the good fairy who produced it.)

Apple-Cherry Mold

1 package cherry flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup canned apple sauce
1 egg white
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup macaroons, broken into large pieces
2 tablespoons chopped maraschino cherries
Whole maraschino cherries for garnish

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add apple sauce. Chill over ice water until slightly thickened. Beat egg white until barely stiff, gradually add sugar, beating constantly until very stiff; fold into gelatin mixture, fold in macaroon pieces and cherries.

Pour into mold; chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with whole maraschino cherries. Serve with custard sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Custard Sauce

1 package instant vanilla pudding
1¾ cups milk
½ cup heavy cream
½ teaspoon almond extract

Follow direction on package of pudding mix using mix and milk. Stir in cream and almond extract just before pudding sets. Makes 6 servings.

Does a recipe call for diced raw bacon? Use your kitchen scissors to cut the bacon into neat squares.

Filling Soup Is Chill Chaser

The onion, indispensable in food preparation, is in plentiful supply and it flavors a hearty cream-type soup which also features abundant potatoes. Enriched with super nonfat dry milk, this Onion-Potato Soup is ideal for the heart-warming meals of fall and winter months.

The aroma of this flavorful Onion-Potato Soup, brought steaming to the table in a soup tureen or individual serving dishes, stimulates appetites of the family gathered happily around a cosy dinner table.

The equivalent of one quart of nonfat milk — 1-one-third cups of super nonfat dry milk — is used in this nourishing dinner soup recipe.

Onion Potato Soup

¼ cup butter
2 cups chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery and celery leaves
4 cups water
1⅓ cups (one envelope) nonfat dry milk powder
¼ cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon black pepper
Dash cayenne pepper
1 cup diced cooked potatoes

Melt butter in small skillet, add onion and celery; saute until both are tender. Pour water into top of double boiler; sprinkle Super Starlac nonfat dry milk powder, flour and seasonings over surface of water; beat with rotary beater until blended. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until mixture has thickened. Add onion, celery and potatoes.

Continue cooking until all ingredients are thoroughly heated, 5 to 10 minutes. Pour into soup tureen or individual serving dishes. If desired, garnish with toasted cheese croutons before serving. Makes 6 servings.

ONION-POTATO SOUP—"Soup's On" and the flavorful aroma of this Onion-Potato Soup makes a second call to the family dinner table unnecessary. For added interest garnish each bowl with toasted cheese croutons.

Surprise the Family With Carrot Cookies

Carrot cookies were a prize-winner at the annual Carrot Festival. Cream 1 cup of shortening until fluffy. Add 2 cups flour sifted with 4 tablespoons of sugar and ½ teaspoon of salt. Add 1 teaspoon of vanilla and 1 cup each of finely grated raw carrots and chopped nuts.

Form into 2 rolls 1-inch in diameter, wrap in waxed paper, and chill 2 hours. Slice ½-inch thick and bake 10 minutes on an ungreased cooky sheet in a 375-degree oven. Roll warm cookies in powdered sugar. Makes 6 dozen.

Giant Dessert Sandwich

Make up a box of brownie mix; bake in jelly roll pan twenty minutes at 350 degrees F. Cool; halve crosswise. Stand a half-gallon brick of ice cream on end, halve to make two thin slices; put slices between brownie layers. Wrap in plastic film, freeze. Thaw ten minutes, serve.

When youngsters shun creamed vegetables add a topping of crisp crumbled bacon or tiny buttered toast cubes and the chances are they'll eat and enjoy the dish.

Instant Coffee an Ingredient in Quick Loaf

Such a pleasant snack for a weekend afternoon!

Walnut Honey Loaf

2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
4½ teaspoons powdered instant coffee
½ cup (¼ pound) butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
½ cup honey
2 eggs (separated)
½ cup milk
¾ cup medium-fine chopped walnuts

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and coffee. Cream butter and sugar; beat in honey and egg yolks. With spoon beat in sifted dry ingredients, in 4 additions, alternately with milk; beat only until smooth.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into batter with walnuts. Turn into buttered loaf pan (9x5x3 inches) whose bottom has been lined with buttered waxed paper.

Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven 1 hour and 10 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Allow loaf to stand in pan on wire rack for 5 minutes; loosen edges; turn out on wire rack; remove waxed paper; turn right side up to cool.

Store in tightly covered container. After overnight storage loaf may be sliced very thin; keeps well.

Apple Salad Baskets

Red Apple Cups make holiday salads festive. Scoop out a Delicious, Rome or Winesap Apple, filling it with a tasty fruit salad of chopped apple, white grapes, marshmallows, and chopped nuts. Top with mayonnaise, a sprig of mint.

Frosty Glasses

A frosty effect is perfect for holiday drinks! Dip tumbler rims in unbeaten egg white and then in sugar. Allow the frosty rims to dry before adding the drink.

Blind Cooks Get Help from Recipe Records

A new world of baking, recently opened to blind homemakers through General Mills records for the blind is now being expanded to include many variety products.

The third set of records will soon be in national distribution through the facilities of the American Foundation for the Blind, Inc., and General Mills, Inc.

The first set of records appeared two years ago, and were the first ever tailored to the needs of the blind and partially seeing. The initial offering, three 10-inch discs, contained directions for biscuit, cake, frosting, pie and cooky mixes.

The demand was so great for this type of recipe, that a second set was made last year and included tips on food preparation and serving and 30 complete basic recipes for soups, bread, cake, pie and meats and vegetables.

Now, the third set of records is available. This newest addition contains directions for making up the newest General Mills mixes. Included will be muffins, chiffon cakes, frostings, pudding cakes, meringue mix, cream puff mix and lemon custard angel food cake.

All recipes and directions in the new set have been checked by blind homemakers at the Minneapolis Society for the Blind and the American Foundation for the Blind. The help of these organizations has been invaluable. Again, the records are labeled in Braille for those who read it and in large clear type for those whose eyesight is "not quite as good as it used to be."

Organizations for the blind and General Mills have long been aware of a gap in service to these homemakers. Appeals to do something about it came from the women themselves and from specialists who work with them.

Newly-blinded women especially, who have been active homemakers all their lives, wish to continue cooking and baking for the family. For this group, learning Braille often is not the answer. Then, too, family members sometimes are reluctant to dictate directions and prefer, with mistaken kindness, to consign Mother to her easy chair . . . and frustration.

DRAW BACKS

Although transcripts in Braille of package directions have been available for several years, their usefulness is limited. Less than 20 per cent of the blind read Braille with facility and literal translations of recipes involve visual images such as color: "Bake until golden brown."

Therefore, the directions were completely rewritten with the help of the blind homemakers and organizations such as the American Foundation for the Blind, and the Minnesota State Services for the Blind. The words conveying visual images (golden brown) were replaced by phrases meaningful to the blind, such as "bake until biscuits feel crusty."

Of more than 320,000 blind persons in the United States, approximately one-quarter are women within the general homemaking age group. Just how many cook and bake is not known, but "success stories" of proficiency in homemaking are numerous.

Mixes, with the most of the measuring already done, are a "natural" for the sightless. Specialists in the field predict that many who hesitate to make a cake "from scratch" will now step up their baking activities.

An unexpected sidelight is that blind men, too, cook and bake, since their wives are likely to be employed.

Obtaining a record player for the records is no problem for the blind homemakers. The Library of Congress, which distributes the Talking Books, manufactured by the American Foundation for the Blind and the American Printing House also provide blind persons with talking-book machines through local agencies, without charge. These new records were designed to be played on these machines, but they can also be used on other 33⅓ rpm record players. The only cost to the legally blind is a ten cent charge for mailing.

The availability of the records will be widely publicized through the organizations which serve the blind and will be listed in their publications.

Melt Cream Cheese Into Cooked Spinach

Creamy way to serve spinach!

Cream Cheese Spinach

1 package (10 ounces) chopped frozen spinach
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
¾ teaspoon salt, pepper
4 slices bacon (crisply cooked and crumbled)

Cook spinach according to package directions but omit salt; drain; return to saucepan. Cut cream cheese in small squares and add to drained spinach with salt and pepper to taste; reheat gently, stirring to melt cheese; do not boil. Sprinkle bacon over top. Makes 3 rich servings.

Note to new cooks: When you are making percolator coffee, use cold water; for drip coffee, use boiling water.

Hungarian Horns Call for Poppyseed

NEW YORK (UPI)—Give an international flavor to dessert by serving Hungarian pressburger horns.

Dissolve 1 cake of yeast in 1 cup of cold milk. With a knife, cut ½ pound of butter into 4 cups of sifted flour. Add to flour mixture 2 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon of salt, 1 tablespoon of sugar, ½ pint of sour cream and the yeast mixture. Work it quickly to a smooth dough with as little handling as possible. Allow to rest 2 hours.

Toss on floured board, roll ¼-inch thick, and cut into 3-inch squares. Fill each with a teaspoon of paste made of 2 cups of either ground walnuts of poppyseeds, ¾ cup of sugar and ½ cup of hot milk. Use 1 teaspoon of grated lemon rind to flavor the poppy seed filling; and 1 teaspoon of vanilla for the walnut variety.

Fold over dough, seal edges and form neat horns. Put 1 inch apart on a baking sheet and let rise ½ hour, brushing with beaten egg yolk 2 or 3 times as it dries. Bake in a moderate oven (350-400 degrees) until golden brown.

New Cereal Concentrate Adds Zest to Fish Pie

The new ready-to-eat nutrition concentrate now being introduced locally by a leading processor of cereals is fast winning praise for its versatility. The concentrate is simple to use directly from the box as a cereal, or as a sprinkle-on topping for fruit, desserts, cereals or salads, and it's also a sparkling addition to many dishes during preparation.

An example of the latter is Savory Fish Pie. This gourmet-styled main dish has a crusty bread stuffing topped by a creamy fish sauce containing the protein-rich concentrate. Buttered oven-toasted rice cereal tops the casserole.

However you choose to use it, you're sure to appreciate the family diet insurance provided by this new kind of food, ready-to-eat nutrition concentrate with 40 per cent high-quality protein and 11 important vitamins and minerals.

SAVORY FISH PIE — New ready-to-eat nutrition concentrate, used in preparing such entrees as Savory Fish Pie, provides family "diet insurance."

Savory Fish Pie

4 cups soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons minced onions
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon sage
½ teaspoon celery salt
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
⅓ cup butter or margarine
⅓ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon celery salt
2 cups milk
2 cups flaked, cooked fish
½ cup ready-to-eat nutrition concentrate
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 cup over-toasted rice cereal
1 tablespoon butter or margarine melted

Combine bread crumbs, onions, seasonings and melted butter; mix lightly. Spread evenly over bottom and sides of greased 10x6x2-inch baking pan, or individual casseroles. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 15 minutes or until browned.

Melt butter; stir in flour and seasonings. Add milk gradually, sitrring constantly. Cook until thickened, stirring frequently. Fold in fish, concentrate and pimiento; pour into stuffing-lined pan.

Crush rice krispies slightly; mix with melted butter. Sprinkle over fish mixture. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 15 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Serve at once. Yield: 6 servings, about 1 cup each.

A modern automobile has 20 to 40 electric lights.

Currant Apple Relish

Delicious relish, to accompany holiday meats, combines three cups of currant jelly, beaten with a fork, and one cup freshly grated unpeeled Delicious apples.

New Use for Scissors

Frosting a layer cake? Trim off ragged edges with the kitchen scissors, brush off all crumbs! If you want your frosting to look smooth, you'll have to put it over a smooth surface.

Pickled Eggs

Men usually go for pickled eggs. You can make them the easy way! Use leftover beet-pickle juice for immersing the hard-cooked eggs. The eggs need to be covered by the juice and refrigerated overnight.

GOLDEN GATE CHICKEN — Here's a new "company dish" that's easy enough and inexpensive enough to serve to the family once a week. It's Golden Gate Chicken, stuffed with corn flake crumb dressing and ringed with peaches—here gracing a fall buffet.

Don't Even Add Up the Calories

Mince-Creamy-Pecan—umm — a delightful combination of two old-time favorites. Rich, tender pastry—zesty mincemeat and a creamy pecan-studded topping all add up to a new fall treat.

★ ★ ★

This fancy pie is a whiz to whip up, too! Just make the crust from instant pie crust mix that comes in sticks. Spread mincemeat in crust—combine brown sugar and flour, add cream and pour over mincemeat. Pecans on top and it's ready for the oven!

★ ★ ★

There'll be a new star in your household when you bring this treat to the table . . . and that star will be you!

Mince-creamy-Pecan Pie

1 stick pie crust mix
28-oz. jar mincemeat
3 tablespoons brown sugar (packed)
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup whipping cream
½ cup pecan halves

Heat oven to 425 degrees (hot). Prepare pastry for 9" one-crust pie as directed on pie crust mix package. Build up high fluted edge. Spread mincemeat into prepared pie pan. Combine brown sugar and flour; add cream. Pour over mincemeat. Arrange pecans on top of pie. Bake 40 to 45 minutes. Cool slightly before serving.

Golden Gate Chicken Graces Fall Buffet

For autumn entertaining — after a football game or before a concert — nothing beats a buffet. The feeling of harvest plenty is underlined when the food is spread out on a long table. Too, it's an easy way to serve a crowd.

Golden Gate Chicken sets the theme for this buffet. Golden brown broiler-fryers stuffed with corn flake crumb dressing are served with hot cling peach halves. The gold motif can be carried out in the table cloth and in the centerpiece — an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and gourds.

The flavor combination of chicken, corn flakes, and peaches is a surprise, and a good one too. Protein-rich chicken is one of the best nutritional buys in the meat department. Especially for entertaining, broiler-fryers have the double advantage of being inexpensive and pretty to look at as well as good to eat. Roasting them in heavy-duty aluminum foil keeps all the juices in and eliminates oven spatter.

Corn flake crumbs are a new wrinkle in dressing. The crumbs are now available in packaged form. Or you can make your own by crushing corn flakes with a rolling pin. Chopped nuts, thyme, and rosemary add a piquant savor to the stuffing.

Golden Gate Chicken

1 2½ to 3-pound broiler-fryer chicken
5 cups corn flakes or
1¼ cups corn flake crumbs.
¼ cup butter.
¼ cup finely chopped onion.
½ cup finely diced celery.
½ cup chopped Brazil nuts, walnuts or pecans.
½ cup stock or water.
¼ teaspoon salt.
½ teaspoon each thyme and rosemary
Heavy duty aluminum foil.
8 canned cling peach halves.
8 maraschino cherries.

Prepare chicken for roasting. If corn flakes are used, roll into crumbs. Melt butter in medium-size saucepan. Add onion, celery and nuts; cook until tender, but not brown. Add stock, salt, poultry seasoning and herbs; bring to a boil. Remove from heat, add crumbs and toss lightly.

Stuff and truss chicken. Place chicken in center of a 24-inch length of heavy duty aluminum foil. Brush chicken with additional melted butter. Bring ends of foil together over breast; make double fold. Make double fold at each end.

Place in shallow roasting pan. Roast in a hot oven (450 degrees), 20 minutes per pound. Open foil and flatten in pan. Place drained peaches, cut side up, on foil around chicken. Roast 20 minutes longer to brown chicken and heat peaches.

Place chicken on heated platter; garnish with peach halves. Place maraschino cherry in center of each peach. Yield: 4 to 5 servings.

Note: For 8 to 10 servings, recipe may be doubled. Chicken may be wrapped separately and baked in same roasting pan.

Mashed Bananas Go in Brownie Bars

Two favorite flavors are combined in a moist cookie-bar.

Chocolate Banana Bars

½ cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup butter or margarine
1 square (1 ounce) unsweetened chocolate
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 tablespoon milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup finely-mashed ripe bananas
¾ cup chopped walnuts.

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Melt butter and chocolate over hot water on very low heat; stir in sugar. Beat eggs until thick and pale colored; beat in milk and vanilla. Gently beat in chocolate mixture alternately with the sifted dry ingredients. Stir in bananas and walnuts.

Turn into buttered 8 by 8 by 2 inch pan. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 50 minutes. Place pan on rack to cool; cut into bars; remove with spatula. Store in tightly covered container.

Friends and Relatives Join in Giving Thanks This Day

Families Break Bread Together on Thanksgiving

The first Thanksgiving, observed in Plymouth in 1621, was a day set aside by the Pilgrims to thank God for bringing them through the first dreadful winter; and for blessing them with a harvest plentiful enough to keep them the coming year.

Friendly Indians bringing wild turkeys and venison were the guests. Tables were set out of doors where all gathered as one big family.

And now 338 years later at a bountiful table, we bow our heads with grateful hearts and pray that we might be shown by our Creator how to share our abundance with the needy throughout the world.

Here are but a few of the thousands of families gathering in community homes today in recognition of their many blessings.

Hospitality Point Being Edged Out

NEW YORK — The idea that host and hostess must always face each other from opposite ends of the table is yielding to modern ideas of hospitality.

Mrs. Helen Sprackling, author of "Setting Your Table," said: "We now frequently find them facing each other from the center sides, flanked by guests."

What Makes a Child Cheat in Examinations?

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

With two other boys in his 9th grade history class, his school has failed him for cheating on a recent test. His mother writes: "His father has cut his allowance. What else can we do to make him realize that he must never cheat at school again?"

You could credit him with his wish to please you by getting a good history mark.

A child does not cheat his way to a good school mark to make us ashamed of him. He does it to make us proud of him. His method is mistaken. But we'll be mistaken too if we lose sight of his original purpose. In discussing his cheating with him, we are wise to first express our appreciation of his wish to please us before we say:

"The trouble was, you chose the wrong way to do it. We would rather have a poor mark in history you got by yourself than a good one some other fellow gave you."

If this preference of ours had been made clear in the first place, we'd have had no cheating.

Most of our troubles derive from mistaken methods for realizing good wishes. If my husband shows attention to another woman, I may make a jealous scene with him. Though my wish for his love is an innocent one, my method of realizing it is so mistaken that he'll become disgusted with me instead of appreciating it.

This response of his will discourage me as much as our disgust with a cheating child will discourage him. The child and I do not need disgust, but some appreciation of our original wish.

MISTAKEN METHOD

So much antagonism is associated with words like "cheating" and "lying" that we don't give ourselves a chance to consider their real meaning. A child's lie is his mistaken method for keeping us proud of him. If we credit him with his original wish to please us, he's usually so grateful that he corrects the method.

We find this hard to do because we're so ashamed of our own mistaken methods. We feel so awful after the jealous scene with our husband that we can't think:

"All I want is Bill's love. Though my way of realizing this wish was mistaken, I certainly don't have to apologize for the wish itself."

Typical Tourist

If you're making your first trip to the tropics, one thing that definitely should not go into your suitcase is a pair of short shorts. They are not worn on the street in most tropical islands and brand yourself a tourist when you turn out in them. A tourist with bad taste, that is.

Dark makeup, advises a world-famous authority, will cause your skin to look too madeup against white, and pale makeup will cause your skin to look washed out.

To avoid this, you should use tones of cream, pink or rose. The white fabric around your neck will spotlight your face and show up makeup mistakes which otherwise might not be noticed.

★ ★ ★

Be sure, then, to apply it carefully and as nearly perfect as possible and don't neglect the areas behind your ears and around your hairline. For your lips, wear a fiery golden red color which will add a bright touch without appearing too dark.

MRS. HAROLD JACOBS

Donna Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Simmons of Lorraine court, became the bride of Harold Jacobs, son of Mrs. Harold Jacobs and the late Mr. Jacobs of Fort Wayne, Ind., Saturday. The Rev. Albert Butler, dean of Bethel College, Mishawaka, Ind., officiated at Stringham United Missionary Church, assisted by the Rev. James Randall.

The bride's satin gown was fashioned with lace trim, sweetheart neckline and long, tapered sleeves. A chapel-length train enhanced the dress. She wore a fingertip veil and help a stephanotis and gardenia bouquet.

Carolyn Simmons, sister of the bride, was honor maid, wearing a blue velveteen gown with white gloves and carrying a bronze shaded floral arrangement.

Harry Jacobs, the bridegroom's cousin, was best man. Ushering were Jack Barbiet, Raymond Stump and Lowell Beckwith, all of Mishawaka, and Floyd Erb, the bride's uncle.

Daniel McCann of Orlando, Fla., was soloist. Organist was Mrs. Raymond Erickson.

Mrs. Simmons wore a toast lace dress with dark brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

After a reception in the church parlors, the bride changed to a blue and black dress with black accessories for a trip to Geneva, N.Y. The couple will reside in Mishawaka.

Dear Abby Shares Her Happiness

Thank You for Notes Which Say I've Helped

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

If I were to set down all the things for which I have to be thankful on this Thanksgiving Day, I could fill this page. But I would like to share with you a few unpublished letters from readers. And for these I am truly thankful.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you never hear from people to whom you have given advice, but here is one who wants you to know that in March, 1958 I wrote to you and asked you how to get over a love affair that was destroying me. (He was a married man.) You wrote me two pages of the best advice I have ever had. I carried your letter around and read it until it was so worn out I had to recopy it. Well, I took your advice, Abby, and I know you'll be pleased to learn that I am going to be married on Christmas Day to the most wonderful man in the world. Thank you for opening my eyes.

GLORIA X.
(Los Angeles, Calif.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I want to thank you for recommending Alcoholics Anonymous in your column. We are both alcoholics. I have been dry for four years and my husband for six. I am sure you have educated many people who formerly felt that alcoholics were to be punished and cursed. On behalf of all of us who are fighting this battle, please accept our thanks for your understanding.

B. AND J. (Houston, Texas)

DEAR ABBY: Thank you from the bottom of my heart for telling be that there was a place like the Florence Crittenton Home for unwed mothers in Denver. You will never know how close I came to taking my life the day your letter arrived.

"JUST IN TIME"
(Denver, Colo.)

DEAR ABBY: If you never write another line you will have earned your place in heaven for your answer to "Fifteen." The boy in the case was my son. Your advice, "Tell your parents. They are your best friends and the only ones who can help you" gave him the courage to talk to his Dad. Bless you, Dear Abby. May you live to be 100.

MRS. J.J.C. (Oklahoma City)

DEAR ABBY: Judy had a baby boy this morning and she asked me to write to you and give you the news first because you are the one who sent her here. She sends her love and says she will never forget you.

ANNA
(Mary Talbert Home, Cleveland, Ohio)

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I wrote you a five-page letter, Abby, but you'll never see it because I tore it up. But it will probably give you a lot of satisfaction to know that I found the answer to my problem myself just by writing it out. I hope others will do what I did. It is a lot cheaper than psychiatry and the principle is the same. Sincerely yours,

W. C. (Washington, D. C.)

DEAR ABBY: Mrs. Marion Carcioppolo was not the only one who cut out the letter to CANNOT BE CONSOLED and hung it in her kitchen. We lost a wonderful son in World War II. A mother never gets over a loss like this. But, Abby, that letter in your column has also helped me to pray harder and to cry less. Thought you'd like to know.

MRS. H. L. (Philadelphia)

DEAR ABBY: I am so mixed up I am going crazy. I married a man three years ago thinking we were an ideal couple. He hasn't had a happy day and I am miserable. I would kill myself but I am a Cathohc and it is a mortal sin. What can I do, Abby? This is a marriage problem and what does a Priest know about marriage? Answer me soon in the paper before I lose my mind.

MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: Talk to your Priest. You don't have to be a cow to know what milk is.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend and I are writing to tell you that a letter in your column giving both sides of the question of whether an unwed mother should put her baby up for adoption or keep it helped us to make up our minds.

I am keeping my baby and she is giving hers up. You are so right, Abby. Each case is different. We remember you in our prayers every night. Love,

BLONDE and REDHEAD
(Booth Memorial Hosp. Chicago, Ill.)

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "TOO LATE" from the woman who was "too busy" to go to visit her poor gray-haired parents hit home with me, Abby. I was also "TOO BUSY" to give my elderly parents the attention they deserved, but thank God I am not too late. You woke me up.

"NOT TOO LATE",
(Allentown, Pa.)

Managing Mama Is Terrible Handicap

By RUTH MILLETT

A "Managing Mama" is one of the worst handicaps a teen-age girl can have. To find out if you are a managing mama, just ask yourself the following questions:

1. Do you decide on who your daughter's friends should be?

2. Do you try to arrange dates for her with sons of women you know?

3. Do you insist that "mother knows best" when it comes to choosing her clothes, deciding on a hair style, and so on?

4. If your daughter is not included in a group or organization that you want her in, do you get busy putting pressure on mothers, teachers, or wherever you think pressure will do some good?

5. If your daughter doesn't date as much as some of her friends, do you keep insisting that she make more of an effort to be popular?

6. When your daughter brings friends home, do you join the group and try to help your daughter entertain them?

7. Do you hold up another girl as a model for your daughter?

8. When your daughter has a disappointment, do you make a bigger fuss over it than she does?

9. Do you discuss your daughter constantly with anyone who will listen, not hesitating to tell things meant only for your ears?

10. Do you "do everything" for your daughter, instead of encouraging her to do things for herself?

11. Are you always having conferences with your daughter's teachers to be sure they "understand" her, and are you hot-footing it to the school every time you feel someone has been "unfair" to her?

12. Do you nag at your daughter constantly to do this and not to do that?

Be honest when answering these questions, for a managing mama not only handicaps her daughter's growth, but eventually drives her daughter from her.

Hair Needs Homework

If your hair no longer holds a set as well as it once did, chances are it needs some homework.

A hot oil treatment at home once a week plus daily brushing will do a lot to restore it. Watch your diet and your vitamin intake as well. And add cod liver oil capsules to your vitamin schedule. They are a great aid in producing thick, glossy hair.

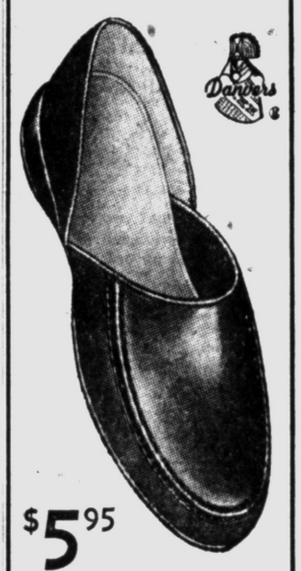

Be sure that you get enough rest and enough exercise as well as at least eight glasses of water per day.

Count Blessings

Say 'Thanks' in Column

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It would be interesting if someone would make a study concerning what things most people are most thankful for. Why not do it today in this column? If you will write in and tell me your number one reason for being thankful, and also your number two and three reasons, we would have quite a cross section of the feminine population.

This probably will be as difficult for you to do as it is for me. I suppose I am MOST thankful for being alive. Otherwise I would not be able to enjoy ANYTHING on this wonderful earth.

Next I am thankful for good health which lifts every day out of the ordinary and makes accomplishment and happiness possible. With fine health and an extra margin of energy you can live in a vibrant way which would otherwise be impossible. Many gallant souls overcome illness and physical disaster with their great spirits and love of life, but this is an accomplishment which takes real courage and not everyone is up to it.

I am so very grateful for those I love and for those who love me. How colorless and cold it would seem without them! What warmth they add to existence! I only put these cherished folks last because if I were not alive I would not be able to show my love for them and if I did not have good health it would be impossible for me to do for them what I am able to do.

I am thankful for my column because of the opportunity it gives me to touch so many lives. I am thankful for "Why Grow Old?" because of the richness, inspiration, humor, variety and great lift your letters give me. I am glad that because of the column I can be of service to many of you.

I am thankful for the beauty all about us and for festive occasions such as today, when families gather together in happiness and understanding companionship.

I hope you have a happy Thanksgiving and that you will write to tell me what YOU are most thankful for.

Tomorrow: "Offers Advice for Those Whose Feet Have Odor."

Today is the traditional day to give thanks. Josephine Lowman counts her blessings in today's column. Why don't you write to her and tell her what you are most thankful for?

Saves Ironing

Dryers with the new "wrinkles-away" cycle can eliminate up to nine hours of ironing in a single week for the homemaker of a family of four if the wardrobe is mostly wash-and-wear. Studies show that up to 13 minutes of hand ironing time can be saved on a man's white shirt, alone.

Auxiliary Inspected

Inspection at Monday evening's VFW 1008 Auxiliary meeting was under the direction of Mrs. Mary Mader, 5th District president, and Mrs. Hattie Kripps, district banner bearer.

Plans were completed for the distribution of Thanksgiving baskets to needy veterans.

Donations were made to the Christmas fund of the Eaton Rapids Widow and Orphan's Home and to VFW Camp Woodbury.

It was announced that the Christmas party will be Dec. 14 at the post.

The blouse gets unusual color treatment this season: stripes of olive green, brown and soft blue on a white ground.

Courtesy the Same Anywhere

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I plan on flying to the Coast next month to visit relatives. This will be my first flight and I would appreciate any pointers you can give me so as not to be awkward or impolite."

Answer: General rules of courtesy are the same in a plane as in a pullman or bus. On a plane no definite seat is reserved for anyone. First comer has first choice of any seat not marked "occupied." In a plane, people are inclined to be friendly and you are entirely free to talk to a fellow passenger unless that person indicates by her (or his) manner that she (or he) would rather be left alone. At mealtime the stewardess brings you an ingeniously equipped tray of food. There are no extra charges for food, and an airline employe is not permitted to accept gratituties.

Cigarette smoking is also permitted. Remember that the only luggage that may be taken with you in the cabin is something that you can hold on your lap, or that can be put in the small rack over your head. Anything else must be checked —and excess weight paid for.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When extremely hot coffee is served, after stirring it gently, (1) is it permissible to taste it with your spoon to see if it is cool enough to drink? (2) Is it permissible to blow quietly on extremely hot liquid food either in a bowl, or cup, to cool it before tasting it?"

Answer: (1) Certainly. (2) To blow gently and briefly on a liquid in a spoon just before tasting it is permissible, but to blow on food in a bowl or cup would be very bad manners.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When going to a hotel or club for dinner with a woman companion, should I drive up to the entrance and let her off before parking the car, or just what is correct in this situation?"

Answer: Unless it is raining or bitter cold, it is best that you park the car first and then walk back to the entrance with her.

Joan Humphrey Weds in Candlelight Service

MRS. FREDERICK L. PARSONS

Before an altar banked with white chrysanthemums and palms, Joan Humphrey spoke her marriage vows to Frederick L. Parsons in a candlelight service Saturday evening in Central Methodist Church.

The Rev. Daniel J. Wallace, associate pastor, officiated before nearly 225 guests.

Joan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Humphrey of East Longfellow avenue. Mr. Parsons is the son of Mrs. Fred Parsons of Barkell street and the late Mr. Parsons.

The bride wore a floor length taffeta gown with chapel train. Seed pearls and sequins accented the round neckline.

Her crown of seed pearls and sequins held the wedding veil in place.

The bride's sister Darlene May came from Ann Arbor to be matron of honor. Another sister, Judy, and Donna Williamson were bridesmaids.

They wore gowns of Paris pink nylon organza and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

The bridegroom asked Douglas Wood of Ferndale to be best man. Ushers were Ray Kirby of Waterford and Charles Humphrey, a brother of the bride.

Mrs. Humphrey chose a blue lace dress and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Parsons wore beige lace with brown accessories.

The couple will live in Norfolk, Va., where Mr. Parsons is stationed with the U.S. Navy.

Shoddy Shoes Big Detraction

Beauty is a tip-to-toe state. When you dress in spring's lighter colored leather and mesh shoes, keep them as neat and clean as possible.

Nothing detracts more from one's appearance than shoes that are discolored and run-down at the heels. When cleaning mesh footwear, put a white cloth inside the shoe. This absorbs the dirt being chased away by the cleaner.

Can Be a Help to Your Hostess

NEW YORK—The first rule of guestmanship is to avoid making extra work for your hostess. If you cannot take the train she suggests, plan to take a cab from the station. If you're driving, offer to bring other guests.

And whatever you do, don't attempt to change the invitation to another weekend. Your hostess has probably carefully planned her guest list.

They're Back

Mother-of-pearl buttons return to fashion favor in the new Paris collections. Some are flat and very nearly two inches wide. They are done in both colors and white.

BARBARA JEAN FLING

A Jan. 30 wedding is planned by Barbara Jean Fling who attended Ferris Institute. Her engagement to Bill G. Willis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Willis of Niagara ave. is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Fling of Orchard Lake.

Hats Widen

There was a difference to the towering crowned hats shown this fall. In past seasons, the crowns were tapered at the top, but the newest versions widen. Crowns also are more supple and crushable, without the former blocked look.

James Kephart Wed in Lansing Ceremony

A ceremony performed Saturday at Grace Lutheran Church united Marcille A. Hansen and James E. Kephart Jr. in marriage.

The Rev. Kenneth Ferguson of St. Stephen's Lutheran Church, Lansing, officiated before some 150 guests. White chrysanthemums and candles banked the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ingmar A. Hansen of Lansing. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. J. Elmer Kephart of Drayton Plains.

Of white satin, the bride's full-length gown was fashioned with an empire waistline and white velvet trim. She wore a queen's crown interwoven with an illusion veil and held a cascade bouquet of feathered white carnations centered with white roses.

Honor matron Mrs. Allen G. Courtney of Lansing wore a two-tone pink gown with a head wreath of chrysanthemums and carried a pink chrysanthemum and pink rose bouquet.

Mr. Courtney was best man. Ushers were Richard Mawhinney of Drayton Plains and Douglas Hansen of Lansing, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Hansen wore a blue lace sheath with white and navy accessories and a white feather hat. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds and feathered white carnations.

Mrs. Kephart chose a beige peau de soie sheath with gold accessories and a bronze chrysanthemum and yellow rosebud corsage.

HOUSING SHORTIES—Not exactly what you'd call a model home, but this two-story shack will do very nicely for the "gang" in Milwaukee. Aided by neighborhood pals Robert Barry, 7, (standing on ladder with saw), and brother Michael, 10, (arm on door), built the house—without aid of blueprints.

Christmas Tree Sale to Be Over 40 Million

WASHINGTON (UP) — The U.S. Forest Service predicts consumption of Christmas trees in this country this year will be somewhat above 40 million trees.

It said imports from Canada have totaled between 10 and 12 million trees annually in the last few years.

Prices paid for Christmas trees on the stump vary widely, the service said, ranging from 25 cents for wild trees to $2 or more for plantation grown trees.

"The relatively high prices paid for plantation-grown trees has attracted many new producers, suggesting the likelihood of increasing strong competition for available markets in the future," it said.

Canada's first national park, Banff, with 2,564 square miles, was established in 1885.

Hare Looking Into Aluminum for Car Plates

LANSING (UP) — The feasibility of aluminum license plates for Michigan motorists instead of the traditional steel is being investigated by Secretary of State James M. Hare's office.

★ ★ ★

Hare said there is a good possibility of a switch if aluminum prices are reasonable.

"We are told that aluminum plates may be used for six years," he added.

Hare noted that Iowa will adopt aluminum plates in 1961, making the shift because of the unsteady steel situation.

Iowa officials reported the plates will cost two cents more than steel plates. But, they expect to save $60,000 a year in cheaper mailing costs for the lighter aluminum plates.

GIs in Germany Goal of Spies

Many Reds Are Caught, Given Minor Penalties; Then Start Again

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — Communist spying on American forces has became a major sport in West Germany. And even if a spy gets caught he usually gets off with a minor penalty

A survey showed that from 10 to 15 persons are arrested every day by West German police. When Convicted they are sentenced to a few months in prison, then they begin all over again.

Irate newspapers have spoken out angrily at the situation, demanding stiff penalties for convicted spies but thus far there has been no action.

Only major spy cases are tried by the federal Supreme Court in Karlsruhe, the only court to hand down stiff sentences. The rest are tried in the court at Neustadt.

To the embarrassment of Neustadt court officials and city authorities the city is considered the central meeting place of spies and secret agents in West Germany.

This is because there are many military garrisons, airfields and munition depots in the area—including one of the most important U.S. command centers in Europe.

Most of the captured spies are found to be working with the East German intelligence organization. A few are free lancers. A minority works for other Communist satellites. All the information presumably reaches Moscow.

German authorities credited the popularity of spying with the adventure it has to offer, the quick money for easy work and the light punishment if caught. They thought the spy business would flourish until it is made a more dangerous game.

'Rigged Ratings' Blasted

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — The president of radio station WAVI said Tuesday rigged radio ratings have "force-fed" the public "a steady diet of rock 'n' roll junk for the past several years."

H. A. Crowl, president and general manager of the station, said, "Payola is giving radio a black eye. But wait until the rating story comes out."

Crowl said his station received 9,117 ballots clipped from Dayton newspapers after WAVI switched from its usual programming of popular and classical music to go the way of rock 'n' roll.

Only 57 of the ballots indicated a preference for rock 'n' roll. The station, which had pulled the switch as an unannounced experiment, returned to its normal programs.

During the experiment, the station received more than 1,800 telephone protests, Crowl said.

"According to radio ratings," he said, "the vast majority of listeners are supposed to want rock 'n' roll. But the people who are interested enough to clip a ballot out of a paper, hunt up an envelope and spend four cents for a stamp say they do not want rock 'n' roll.

"Some of the writers indicated they had been surveyed. We are going to contact them and I believe the result will be a real bombshell.

"I know of one woman who told me she was called by a national rating company. And when she stated she was listening to our station, she was told 'Oh, they don't count,'" Crowl said.

Nigeria, a British colony in Africa, has 34 million people, more than Canada, Australia and New Zealand combined.

New Bomber Escape Capsule Does Everything

DENVER (UPI)—Stanley Aviation Corp. has unveiled an escape capsule for B58 bomber crewmembers which will float in a sea or swamp, cling to steep mountains, or settle down easily on flat surfaces.

Stanley lifted the wraps on the 268-pound capsule. It is designed to take a crewman from a stricken plane, traveling twice the speed of sound at an altitude of 15 miles, and bring him safely to earth.

The capsule contains survival needs for three days, including food, a small gun, and even a change of socks.

The capsule, with a honeycombed aluminum skin, has its own oxygen and pressurization systems, which permits shirtsleeve flying, according to Ted Miller, the company's contracts manager.

The capsule's parachute would open at 15,000 feet. Built in sensers would inflate flotation bags making the capsule into a boat if it fell into the sea.

If it fell on a mountainside, sensers would push out metal booms providing a footing for the craft.

Stanley officials said the ejection capsule was not yet refined enough for operational use, but indicated it might be ready to go by early next year.

Fill Those Christmas Stockings With Books From 50 Cts. to $180

By W. G. ROGERS
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—How about a book package deal for Christmas?

Here is a gift suggestion of five volumes, heavier than you can carry, handsomer than you can imagine, and worth more, in my opinion, than you pay for the lot—$180.

They are: "The West Point Atlas of American Wars," compiled at West Point, edited by Col. Vincent J. Esposito; published by Praeger; two volumes, boxed, $47.50.

"Emakimono, the Art of the Japanese Painted Hand-Scrolls," photos by Akihisa Hase, text by Dietrich Seckel; Pantheon; boxed, $35.

"Drawings for a Living Architecture," Frank Lloyd Wright; Horizon; $35.

WORLD WAR II

"The Second World War," Winston S. Churchill and the editors of Life magazine, abridgement of Churchill's six volumes embellished by some Associated Press, Wide World and Life photos and reproductions of Life—commissioned paintings by Aaron Bohrod, Fletcher Martin, Tom Lea and others; Houghton Mifflin; two volumes, boxed, $27.50.

"Etruscan Art," Raymond Bloch; New York Graphic Society; $25.

FOR THE WELL-HEELED

These are for the gold-plated Christmas celebration. The poor scholar with threadbare collar and holes in his soles won't be giving or receiving them, though he can always go to the library.

Other art books cost $18, $15, $12 and on down—about William Blake, Marcel Duchamp, the city of Florence and a variety of topics.

But we often forget at Christmas the books that appeared before we began to make up our shopping lists. For a Yulttide choice you don't have to stick to books published in December.

These glamor volumes are specially for the seasonal trade, and they are most worth while, but there have been 11 months since the last Christmas, and every single week produced something that would earn gold-plated thanks for the donor and still not cost him his shirt.

THAT 'LOVER' BOOK

Most talked about 1959 book was "Lady Chatterley's Lover," with a Post Office ban that really amounted to a Christmas present to the several publishers of the unexpurgated reprint, for it helped advertise Lawrence's aging novel to the vast public. It's still a good buy, though nothing for Junior's stocking.

Then everybody has been reading and talking about a carry over novel. "The Ugly American," by Lederer and Burdick; they even talked about it in Congress; and there has been a steady sale for "How I Turned $1,000 Into a Million in Real Estate" and for both of Harry Golden's collections of Americana philosophizing, "Only in America and "For 2c Plain.

The book that stirred me most, that had the most bountiful surges of sentiment, came from Australia, "Spinster," by Sylvia Ashton-Warner, about a school teacher and her somewhat Freudian problems. This is a richly emotional novel; Christmas is a richly emotional time; they go together wonderfully.

Other imports merit listing: "The Bitter Glass," by the Irish writer Ellis Dillon; "God's Frontier," by Jose Luic Martin Descalzo, from Spain; "The Kingdom Under the Sea," Henri Queffelec, from France; "The Bridge on the Drina," Ivo Andric, from Yugoslavia; and for nonfiction, "Borstal Boy," Brendan Behan, that irrepressible Irishman; "Anatomy of a Moral," Milovan Djilas, a second from Yugoslavia; and Elizabeth Marshall Thomas' touching picture of Africans, "The Harmless People."

At home we had good novels of our own, the best known perhaps from Robert Penn Warren, James Michener, Saul Bellow, William Faulkner and John Hersey. Faulkner ended the Snopes story in "The Mansion"; Hersey wrote "The War Lover"; Michener, "Hawaii"; Warren, "The Cave"; and Bellow, "Henderson The Rain King."

You would also get credit for discernment if you gave one of the two Vladimir Nabokov novels, a new one and a reprint; Allen Drury's "Advise and Consent"; George Garrett's "The Finished Man"; or works by Auchincloss, Cole, Kerouac or Shaw.

For nonfiction there were penetrating analyses of America deserving of notice even in a holiday season: "Image of America," by R. L. Bruckberger; "America the Vincible," Emmet John Hughes; "The Status Seekers," Vance Packard.

CIVIL WAR FLOOD

Books about the Civil War flooded faster than ever from presses mindful of the upcoming centennial. There were countless anthologies, from the Saturday Review and Harper's magazine; collections of short stories, and of pieces about space exploration; and tomes of poetry.

★ ★ ★

My favorite was bound to be "The Fireside Book of Humorous Poetry," edited by William Cole and published by Simon & Schuster. Among its scores of contributors were W. H. Auden, William Blake, Lewis Carroll, T. S. Eliot, Samuel Hoffenstein, A. E. Housman, R. P. Lister, Phyllis McGinley, Ogden Nash, Dorothy Parker, Theodore Roethke, W. M. Thackeray, Dylan Thomas and Mildred Weston— a New Yorker magazine poet I mention last, Lord help me, though as I shall try to explain to her, she being my wife, the simple reason is that she comes last alphabetically.

State Solons Take Holiday

Leave Fruitless Bout Over Taxes Amid Blast Interchange

LANSING (AP) — Michigan lawmakers scattered Wednesday for a long Thanksgiving holiday after another frustrating and fruitless bout over taxes.

Republican senators blamed Gov. Williams for prolonging the impasses. He accused them of a stall he described as "little short of criminal." The Legislature will meet next at 8 p.m. Monday.

A thin ray of hope came from House creation of a bipartisan committee to grope for a tax answer. The eight-member group stayed behind to begin talks.

Meantime, state administrators were expected today to drain down perilously low state treasury balances to supply $6,500,000 in past due November operating allowances to the three major state universities.

They also were to dig into the sock for December welfare payments to counties.

After a two-hour GOP caucus last night, Sen. Frank Beadle of St. Clair said if Williams persists in opposing Republican nuisance taxes "our inclination will be to let the governor proceed with his tax program."

Asked if this meant Republican Senate votes for an income tax, the majority leader said the caucus "in effect" had ruled that out.

Legislative leaders came to town yesterday talking of an urgent need for action to stave off threatened state bankruptcy. It died out in a few hours of wrangling over what to do.

U.S. Gives $1 Million for Alcoholism Study

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Public Health Service has awarded a one million dollar grant for a five-year research program on the problem of alcoholism in the United States and Canada.

The grant provides for creation of a 25-member independent commission to conduct the study of alcoholism.

Acting Surgeon General John D. Porterfield said yesterday the study "will permit a coordinated effort to combat alcoholism, which is a public health problem of major proportions in this country and in Canada."

13,756 Refugees Quit Tibet for India

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru informed parliament that 13,756 Tibetan refugees had fled to India since the Chinese Communists began their repression of the anti-Communist revolt in Tibet.

He said 1,623 refugees entered India from Bhutan, one of the Himalaya kingdoms now under Communist threat.

Nehru said the refugees were being employed in road building and handicraft programs and that the old, infirm and sick refugees were being housed and maintained by the Indian government.

Named to State Bar

LANSING (AP) — William M. Ellman of Detroit has been named one of four commissioners-at-large for the state bar of Michigan, Chief Justice John R. Dethmers announced. Dethmers said Ellman, at 38 one of the youngest commissioners in state bar history, was named to the post by unanimous action of the Supreme Court.

Supplementing Heat

If your heating system is too small to keep your home comfortable in cold weather it can be supplemented with a gas wall heater or a gas wall furnace. These appliances are compact and smartly styled. No major installation work is necessary. Consult a gas heating contractor or your local gas company.

Pontiac Central Quintet in Favorite's Role

Northern Viewed as Title Contender

Skippers Also Draw Attention in I-L Forecast

Tall Farmington Squad Is Consensus Favorite to Dethrone Berkley

Both Pontiac Northern and Waterford are regarded as contenders for the Inter-Lakes Conference basketball championship this season in what should be the wildest title scramble ever staged in the six-team Class A circuit.

Farmington is favored, but defending champion Berkley again will be a title threat while Walled Lake and Southfield promise busy evenings for all.

Northern coach Dick Hall has five lettermen returning from the 1958-59 team which won five of 15 games in its 1st year of varsity competition.

The returnees include Mike Fedynik, Bruce Norton, Dennis Vincent, Marty Everett and Steve Thompson. Fedynik, the Huskies' leading scorer last season, Norton and Vincent were starters. Lack of height will be a severe handicap.

Waterford lists seven returning letter winners, but only three—Ed Stigers, Bill Bryce and Ray Robinson — saw much action. Dale Mahrle, a regular last year, has moved to Detroit and graduation removed big Barry Campbell.

The Skippers are young, but coach Jerry Wallace believes they have two big factors working in their favor—speed and spirit.

Ending Berkley's four-year reign will be the goal for the rest of the league and a rangy Farmington squad is the consensus favorite to dethrone the Bears.

Farmington coach Bob Burtch has just one returning letterman, but he happens to be Harvey Chapman, a six-foot guard who in Burtch's opinion could become the loop's outstanding individual performer.

In addition, Burtch has a tall batch of promising newcomers with 6-foot-3 Bill Smith leading the way. Others include Tom Guy (6-3) and John Anderson and Bob Salay, each 6-1.

Jim Horein, a Ball State (Ind.) graduate, comes to Walled Lake for his 1st year of coaching and inherits a club with only two returning letter winners and no height.

Bill Allen, a 6-1 forward, and 5-11 guard Gary Wilkoff are the lone returnees. Neither boy was a starter last season, but did see enough action to earn a letter. Horein hopes the Vikings will make up in speed and hustle what they lack in height and know-how.

Lack of experience will be a major hurdle for Berkley as athletic director Lloyd Houden comes out of seven-year retirement to coach the Bears on a temporary basis. He replaces Eldon Rouse, who decided to take Jim Wink's vacated post at Highland Park.

Berkley has five returning lettermen with limited experience and a very thin bench, but Houden thinks their speed and shooting ability will cause trouble for all opponents. Two of his letter winners, Dale Perry and Ray Reynolds, will be lost at mid-year through graduation.

Gordon Dye, a 6-foot-2 forward, is the only letterman back at Southfield where Will Steinke replaces Bob Watts as head coach. Dye's experience has been limited and there are four sophomores on the varsity squad. Height is lacking.

Pre-season Inter-Lakes forecast:
1—Farmington
2—Berkley
3—Pontiac Northern
4—Waterford
5—Walled Lake
6—Southfield

SPORTS

Clarkston and Avon 'B' Loop Favorites

Two of the most wide open races of the coming basketball season in the Oakland County area are predicted for the Wayne-Oakland and Oakland B leagues.

Brighton swept past all ten opponents in the W-O while Troy was only beaten once in the Oakland B but both will have their work cut out trying to repeat.

Clarkston looms ahead of Brighton in the Wayne-Oakland while the other "B" loop appears to be lacking an actual top pick.

The Wolves have their talented speedsters Bob Porritt and John Parks back along with big boys Bill Powell and Dick Caverly. Porritt averaged 14.6 points per game to pace a 10-5 season and 3rd place finish in 1958-59. Parks was among the top playmakers in this sector.

Brighton has three good boys back from the team which was 16-3 overall and district champs. They are 6-5 Don Appleton, a 17.2 scorer, Doug Verellen, who is 6-2, and 6-3 Earl Clark.

A letdown is expected at Holly after a runnerup finish in the state Class B tournament and the league. Only Ron Morlan, outstanding as a sophomore, returns under new coach Bob Pence.

Northville also has a new boss in Dutch Van Ingen. The Mustangs will be big but lacking in experience except for Rog Atchinson.

Denis Alix heads the experienced hands at West Bloomfield where Art Paddy is trying to find some scoring punch. Bloomfield Hills is also rebuilding with 6-5 Howie Schuneman getting a lot of attention.

Milford will have size but is in need of at least one consistent point-getter in an attempt to move up in the standings. Bob Roselle could provide the answer. Clarenceville appears to be the loop darkhorse with a quartet of veterans on hand.

Avondale, Troy and Fitzgerald have all been mentioned as the best possibility for Oakland B honors. Jump-shot artist Darryl Thorpe, little Dick Smith, Herb Harris and 6-4 Les Bourdo appear certain to be Avon starters. The Jackets were 4th last season.

The always pessimistic Peyton Goodwin sees little hope for his Troy charges without Don Harned and others but he still has vets Bud Acton, Jerry Glidwell and Rick McKinnon.

Fitzgerald shared 2nd with Orion and lost its two top individuals but Dick Snyder will have size and balance featuring Phil Morgan.

Dean Callison is the only real vet Hal Carlin has at Orion but 6-3 Tom Reed could be a big boy for the Dragons. Madison lost only one from its cellar-dwelling five but he was scoring ace Rick Moos. Jim Kinnison is new head man there.

Clawson expected to have the league's biggest team but a 6-5 lad and two reaching 6-4 will not be available so CHS will now likely be the smallest. Two of the boys moved away.

Oak Park will make its debut in the loop at Clawson Dec. 4. The Parkers picked a rugged year to break in with such standouts as Mike Detmer and Charley Miles graduated.

The probable W-O finish:
1. Clarkston
2. Brighton
3. Northville
4. Holly
5. Clarenceville
6. Milford
7. West Bloomfield
8. Bloomfield Hills

The probable Oakland B finish:
1. Avondale
2. Troy
3. Fitzgerald
4. Lake Orion
5. Madison
6. Clawson
7. Oak Park

Pontiac Press Photo

HUSKY CREW — Pontiac Northern coach Dick Hall charts the plans for his team's entry into the Inter-Lakes Conference basketball race this year with two of his returning lettermen, Mike Fedynik (left) and Bruce Norton. The Huskies are faced with the task of opening their season next week against city rival Pontiac Central, last year's number one team in final state ratings.

Romeo Strong Again; Ill Stott Hopes to Play

Romeo is the on-paper choice to repeat in the Tri-County basketball race while a sickness called nephritis may have a lot to do with determining how the South Central Conference will wind up.

Jim Black, 6-3, is the only starter back from the district champion quintet Romeo's Bud Brotebeck had last winter but several capable reserves should help take up the slack.

The Bulldogs went 16-4 overall a year ago and will have the size to go a long way again.

Oxford is the big question mark in the SCC since its big gun Doug Stott has the kidney infection. The Wildcats might be capable of giving perennial winner Imlay City a battle with Stott in top form.

Rochester was 2nd to Romeo in 1958-59 but only Bill Mason remains from the top boys on a 13-3 team. Reggie Dixon and Bob Evans are among Gene Konley's hopefuls.

Lapeer is expecting rough going with the likes of John McKillen and Jerry Bennington missing. L'Anse Creuse should better its winless slate and could be troublesome.

Deadeye Jim Ward and John Lengemann are gone at Imlay but the defenders will have size and talent in Pete Brabb and Bob Maison among others.

Stott will be watched closely by doctors in his attempt to continue playing. He was Oakland County's 2nd best scorer a year ago with 331 points for a 23.6 average. Jeff Brady and Norm Williams are other good Wildcats still in school.

Top scorer Bill Sawyer was among six boys lost by Millington. Mike and Dave Zink are back.

North Branch expected to get off to a slow start and already has in the loss to Dryden because of football injuries. Three returning regulars and a 4th letterman are ailing. The Broncos should bounce back after the Christmas holidays.

Ortonville finished at the bottom of the SCC heap last time out and could be doomed for that ranking again unless coach Harvey Fletcher can come up with some help for Earl Richardson.

Elsewhere, new Cranbrook coach Bert McMahon has been drilling his Cranes hoping to improve on an 8-7 record. Jim Williams and 6-3 John Hayden hold the key to the Cranes' success.

George Koskimaki at Roseville is prepping his squad for entry in the Tri-County next winter. He will have a big, young starting unit. Country Day and Lamphere will be out to improve losing records. The transfer of starter John Seeley to Cranbrook has weakened the Days.

Royal Oak Dondero is bound to be tough just because they have rugged rebound and scoring specialist John Meadows in action again. Shrine also has its star back—Jack Moores.

Barney Swinehart at Utica wants to get a little farther away from .500 this term after ending up 9-8. Farmington Our Lady should better its 3-13 slate with more experience.

Pre-season Inter-Lakes forecast:
1—Farmington
2—Berkley
3—Pontiac Northern
4—Waterford
5—Walled Lake
6—Southfield

Anchor Bay Five Could Match STL Grid Win

Anchor Bay won its first football championship in the Southern Thumb during the past fall and now some of the coaches around the league are predicting the Tars will keep right on rolling in basketball.

The New Baltimore team has such key boys as Dick Rivard and Dick Burr back from the 3rd place team of 1958-59.

Defending champion Almont lost such stalwarts as the Ostrander brothers and Mickey Forsyth but still has Don Eschenburg, Dave Bishop and several others. New Haven was runnerup and should be a contender.

Dryden got off to a big start by upsetting North Branch Tuesday in a non-loop opener. The Cards have six lettermen.

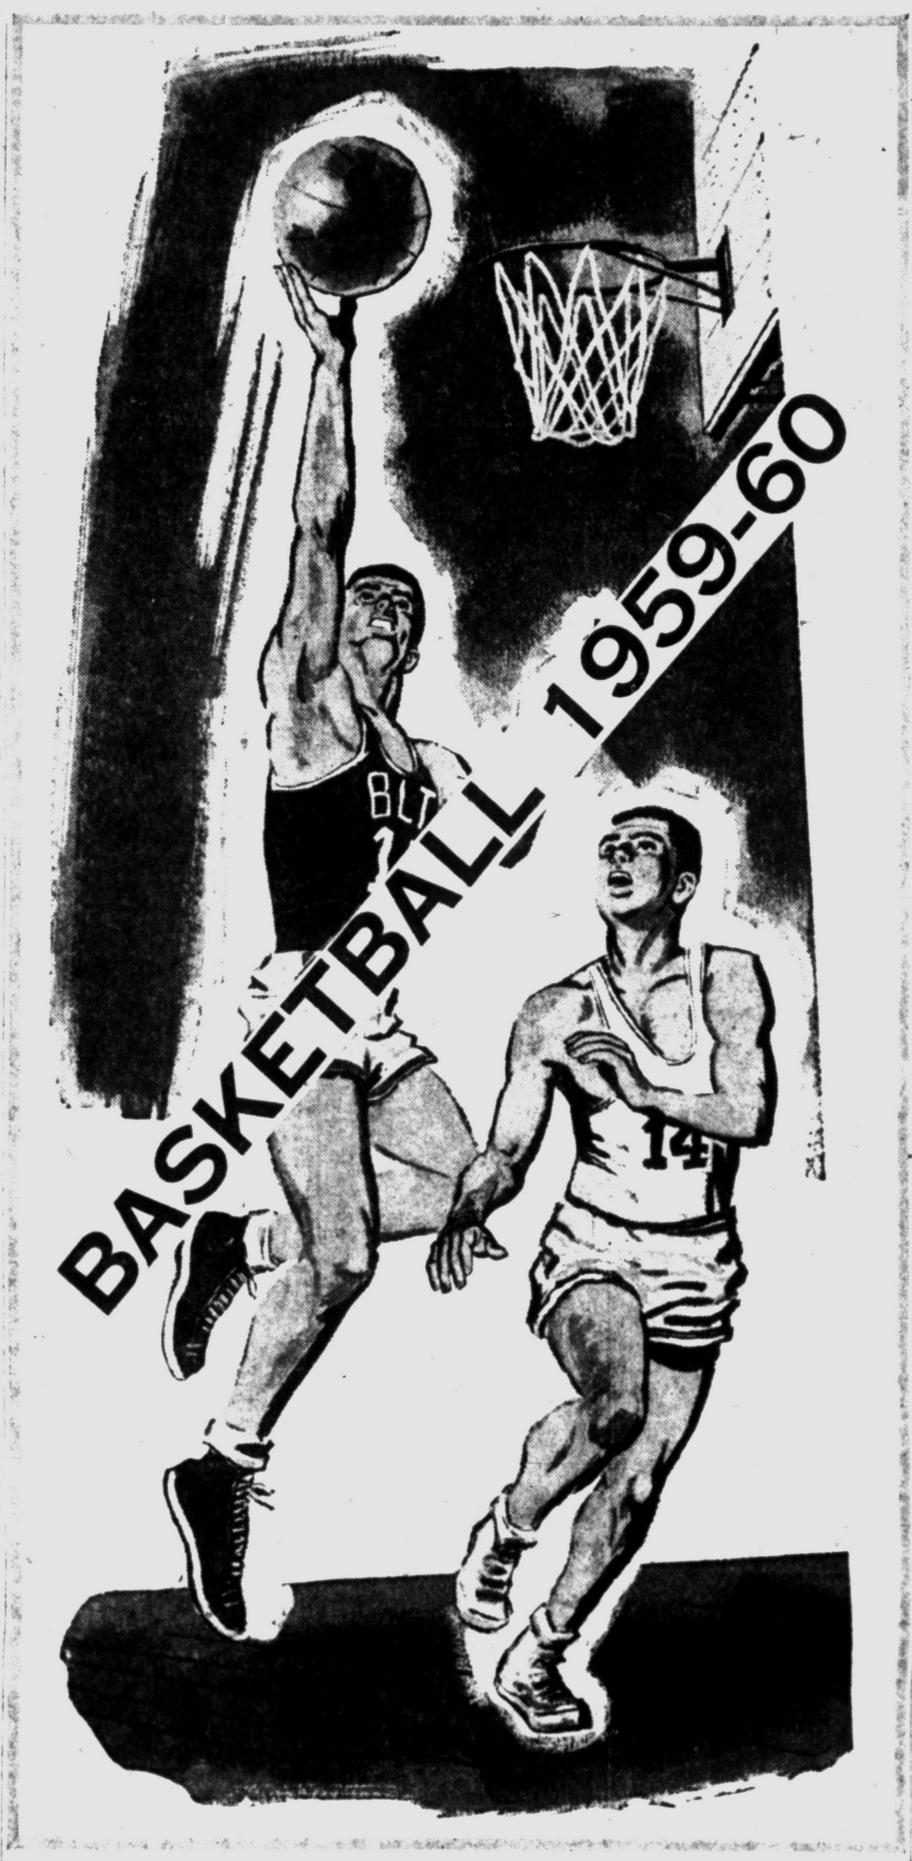

Coach Lee Noftz at Brown City is building around three vets in hopes of a good year. Capac and Memphis lost top individuals but have several experienced hands.

Armada wound up 5th last season but will be a definite title threat with scoring ace Terry Wills still in school.

The probable finish:
1. Anchor Bay
2. Armada
3. Almont
4. Dryden
5. New Haven
6. Brown City
7. Memphis
8. Capac

280 Rolled at Huron

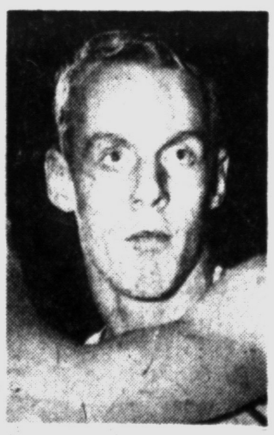

Jess Prieto of Clarkston rolled the top game to be turned in at the new Huron Bowl Wednesday when he hit 280 competing in the Night Lifers League. A 156 average kegler, he had a 601 actual series.

Downs 11-Pointer

Another lucky Pontiac hunter has returned from a trip near Rexton, in the Upper Peninsula, with a fine buck. Leo Fisher, 5809 Berkley, took a 11-pointer that dressed out around 175 pounds. His brother, Bob, of Bay City, bagged a 100-pound cub bear, missed two shots at a big sow.

Fisher's buck was his 6th in 11 years at the same spot.

BIG CAGER — John Meadows, one of the state's top rebounders a year ago, is back to lead Royal Oak Dondero's cage team. The two-time All-County gridder also made The Press hoop contingent in 1958-59. He is the only returning member of the top team.

Injuries May Hinder Eaglets

Three Local Teams SCL Contenders

Lingering football injuries may deal a severe blow to Orchard Lake St. Mary's attempt to repeat as Suburban Catholic basketball champions.

St. Michael and St. Benedict are rated strong threats for the top slot along with St. Frederick.

Veteran Eaglets Glen Hass, Milt Wojtowicz and Stan Krogulecki have been nursing injuries so the Rev. John Rakoczy is expecting troubles in the early games. Top scorer Chet Wlodkowski graduated.

The Mikemen have a sound nucleus including such experienced hands as George Drake, Tom Dabbs, Pat Campbell and Art Robak.

St. Ben shared the runnerup slot with St. Fred last winter and the two could very well battle for No. 1 this term.

Newcomer Jack O'Reilly could be the man Ram skipper Gene Wright has been looking for to replace steady-scoring Tom Dorocher. O'Reilly transferred from a Detroit area Seminary.

Phil Bieri, Jim Kennedy and Chuck Guibord are probable Ram starters who played last year.

Royal Oak St. Mary finished 4th but will have trouble replacing such departed stars as Bill Crawford and pint-sized Tom Alsheskie.

The big rebound in football at St. James may rub off on the basketballers. Neil Kiernan, who had a lot to do with the grid surge, is expected to head the courtsters.

St. Rita and St. Clement are rebuilding after dismal records. Each only won once during 1958-59. Little sharpshooter Ron Van Hulle could help St. Clement's young team on the road back.

League play begins Dec. 4 with three games while St. Michael and St. Clement wait until the following evening to get into the swing of things. The final round is set for Feb. 9.

The probable finish:
1 St. Benedict
2 St. Michael
3 OL St. Mary
4 St. Frederick
5 St. James
6 RO St. Mary
7 St. Clement
8 St. Rita

Christmas Hoop Pairings Set at Farmington

Farmington High School has announced the pairings for its annual Christmas Basketball Tournament which opens Dec. 26.

The host Falcons will oppose Inkster Roosevelt at 7 and Berkley plays Livonia Bentley at 8:30 the 1st night. Southfield tangles with Jackson and Redford Union vs. Garden City in a Dec. 28 twin-bill.

Semifinals are set for the 29th with the championship decided the next night.

CC Blanks Shrine

Paced by a pair of triple scorers in Mark Esper and Chuck Henderson, Detroit Catholic Central High yesterday shut out Royal Oak Shrine pucksters 8-0. Game was a International H. S. Hockey League tilt, and was played at Riverside Ont. Central now is tied for first place.

Saginaw Valley Foes Pick PCH to Retain Title

But Other Five Schools Aren't Willing to Play Dead for Chiefs

Art Van Ryzin won't agree, of course, but he might just as well face it — his Pontiac Central basketball team is favored to win the Saginaw Valley crown for the 2nd straight year.

Van Ryzin, now entering his 14th season as head coach at PCH, has artfully tried to dodge the favorite's role and he won't like it one little bit. Coaches seldom do.

In this case, however, he can blame it all on his rival coaches in the SVC who to a man picked the Chiefs to start out where they left off last season and successfully defend their title.

Despite the loss of such talented scorers and rebounding stars as John Bandy, Harrison Munson, Charlie Barge and Amos Bailey, the other Valley cage bosses feel Van Ryzin has enough material on hand to take the marbles again.

Be that as it may, there is absolutely no indication that Central's five conference rivals are willing to roll over and play dead. The Chief's quest of their 3rd Valley diadem in four years will be hard sledding all the way.

Bay City Central, Arthur Hill and Saginaw High, whose 2-8 league records last season left them mired in the 2nd division, are expected to revive this time around and make determined bids for honors.

The two Flint schools, Northern and Central, were hardest hit by graduation, but each one has a knack of coming up with a formidable outfit on opening night. They finished 2nd and 3rd, respectively, in last season's race.

Mid-year graduation, which has plagued PCH often lately, will rear its ugly head once more. Bill Hayward, 6-foot-2 forward and Central's top defensive player last season, will be graduated at the end of the 1st semester.

Fate struck the Chiefs another cruel blow when guard Henry Robertson broke his right wrist in a practice session. Robertson, considered a potentially great player by Van Ryzin, may return to action by mid-January.

Bay City coach Bill Ullenbruch banks his hopes for a revival on 6-foot-4 center Larry Piotrowski and forwards Ken Warren (6-2) and Bob Crampton (6-0), all holdovers from the 1958-59 team.

Larry Laeding has five returning lettermen at Saginaw, led by 6-3 forward Jerry Tillman, while Arthur Hill boss Chuck Fowler lists seven letter winners, headed by Tom Dawson, Dave Tingler and 6-foot-6 center Pete Datema.

Rebuilding jobs face both Jack Marlette at Northern and Joe Dowdy at Central. Graduation removed Northern's first six players and the boy who would have been Central's only returning regular, Jerry Lucas, was transferred to Southwestern.

Pre-season Valley forecast:
1—Pontiac Central
2—Saginaw
3—Bay City
4—Arthur Hill
5—Flint Northern
6—Flint Central

Ferndale Is Choice in EML Cage Race

Birmingham Seaholm, with sharp-shooting Merv Gallup heading a list of five returning lettermen, is conceded a good chance of winning the Eastern Michigan League basketball crown this season for the first time since 1955.

But Lew Parry's Maples will have to be content with a darkhorse role because Ferndale is the consensus choice to walk off with conference honors.

The Dales have been forced to share the title for the past two seasons, but this time coach Roy Burkhart has enough balance, depth and height to win an undisputed championship.

High-scoring Toy Palmer is gone via graduation, but Burkhart has been blessed with 10 returning letter winners, led by captain Dennis Stinson, 6-foot-1 guard and 6-3 forward Larry Tregoning, plus four promising newcomers.

Last season the Dales were co-champs with Port Huron and two seasons ago they divided conference laurels with East Detroit.

John Petrakis was Birmingham's coach during the 1954-55 campaign when the Maples rolled to the EML crown behind the deadly shooting of Dick Sheldon, who now pitches minor league baseball in the Detroit Tigers' farm system.

The Maples have never come close to winning the title since then and they were 4th place finishers last season under Parry in his 1st year as head coach.

Gallup, who came to Birmingham from Ferndale as a transfer student last year, was Oakland County's 5th leading scorer during the 1958-59 season with a total of 302 points for a 20.1 average. Gallup is a 6-foot-2 forward.

Phil Isbell, 6-foot-2 center, and 6-2 forward Jon Spoelstra, both experienced performers, give the Maples added confidence and the return of guards Ned Foley and Bill Massey also boost their morale.

Port Huron's chances of making another run at the title depend almost entirely on shooting skill and ability to play racehorse ball since the Big Reds are lacking in height and list only one returning regular.

Coach Reed Laughlin, now entering his 13th year as Port Huron's cage boss, has half a dozen lettermen back, but the lone starter is 5-11 forward Bill Barr. Help in the rebounding department may come from 6-4 Jack Moores, a Shrine transfer student.

East Detroit promises to be tough again. Coach Fred Lee has six letter winners on hand, headed by 6-2 forward Bill Bos and center Bill Prantera, who stands an even six feet. The Shamrocks finished 3rd last season.

★ ★ ★

Royal Oak Kimball, coached by Vince Sigren; Hazel Park, under John Magiera, and Bob Lockwood's Mt. Clemens team appear destined to fight for the three bottom rungs on the EML ladder. Mike Harris, Kimball's big gun last season, has graduated.

Pre-season EML forecast:
1—Ferndale
2—East Detroit
3—Port Huron
4—Birmingham
5—Mt. Clemens
6—RO Kimball
7—Hazel Park

By CHUCK ABAIR

Proprietor Bill Kuklinski at Lakewood Lanes has made certain several of his bowlers will have a happy Thanksgiving.

Following his plan of "doing things for the bowlers," he has given out a total of 194 turkeys and chickens to keglers in various leagues at his establishment.

Kuklinski came up with the idea several weeks ago and left it up to the loops to decide how the lucky recipients would be decided.

Some won with high over average series, others with high handicap singles as an example of how the program operated.

It all worked out very well and all the bowlers, regardless of how they came out, appreciated a chance to win their holiday dinner.

How about these local people on the tournament front? Joe Bonfiglio and his mates made a big showing in the National All-Star Match event at Milwaukee and Hal Hintz' Rochester team has been going good in Detroit tourneys.

Bonfiglio, Mo Moore and John Nickell were with the Navratil team which wound up 15th among 60 of the nation's top contingents after leading the field opening day. Along with Tom Smith of Fenton and Mick Hoydic of Flint, the locals totaled 12,216 averaging 216 pins over a 1,000 average per game. Nickell averaged 212, Mo 210 and Joe 199 for 12 games.

The same group will be competing in Chicago tourneys this weekend. One is a five-man sweepstakes and another a singles "Sweeps."

Two 4th places are held in Detroit meets by the Rochester stars.

Mrs. Gerry Hintz, son Gary and Bowlerama king Joe Myers rolled 1904 in Olympic Mixed Trio while the two boys teamed with Mike Dzuris and Hal Hintz for a 2949 in the Free Press team event. Dzuris and Myers had big singles to pace the way to a 2722 actual.

Mrs. Hintz has topped 600 in three straight loop outings with 636, 608 and 610. Gary has also been blazing lately. Dzuris tops the Wednesday Men's standings with a 182 average.

"Skee" Neal strung together a 220 average for 10 games and had a 740 series . . . Jo Ann Gohl hit 246 and Jackie Berzon 639 in the West Side Ladies Classic . . . Shirley Garms of Chicago rolled a 713 recently. She previously had hit 697.

Detroit Cagers Beaten 104-97 in Home Game

Fail to Overcome Big Early Deficit; Pettit Tallies 36

DETROIT (AP)—Coming home for the holidays was a big disappointment to the Detroit Pistons.

The Detroit Pistons returned to their own Olympia Stadium court last night for the first time in nearly three weeks. But it was the St. Louis Hawks who made themselves at home. They dumped the Pistons out of undisputed first place in the National Basketball Assn.'s Western Division 104-97.

The victory pulled St. Louis into a tie with Detroit for the top spot, each with a .500 record.

Sixteen games in 22 days—all but three on the road or in the University of Detroit fieldhouse — made the Pistons stale. They couldn't get untracked until the Hawks had run up a 34-18 first quarter lead.

The Pistons spent the rest of the game whittling down St. Louis' early margin. They finally narrowed it to two points in the final quarter before running out of fire.

Bob Pettit was the big man for St. Louis with 36 points, 11 in the Hawks' big first quarter. Gene Shue topped Detroit with 22 points and Bailey Howell added 19.

The defeat snapped Detroit's three-game winning streak and was only their third in 10 games —all away from Olympia.

The Boston Celtics lost for the third time in 16 games when Wilt Chamberlain and the Philadelphia Warriors sank them 123-113. Chamberlain poured in 45 points. Johnny Kerr's 23 points carried the Syracuse Nationals to a 100-93 triumph over the Minneapolis Lakers in last night's other NBA game. The Lakers' Elgin Baylor was idled for the third straight game by flu.

★ ★ ★

The Pistons, who obviously need the rest, are idle until Saturday when they play at Boston. Then they take it easy until next Friday. Detroit hasn't had more than a day's rest since Oct. 30.

Traditional Games Today, Saturday

By the Associated Press

About the best use you could make of your turkey wishbone today is to use it as a guide in predicting the weekend's football games. This is the Saturday where tradition reigns supreme and where past performances and statistics are thrown out.

None of Saturday's games will decide any conference titles. But four could have some bearing on closing out bowl pairings.

The biggest battle, from tradition and national interest, is the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia's 100,000 seat Municipal Stadium. The game will be broadcast and telecast over NBC beginning at 1:30 p.m. EST.

Both teams have mediocre records—Army 4-3-1, Navy 4-4-1. But both are at physical peaks for the season and the expected passing battle between Navy's Joe Tranchini and Army's Joe Caldwell, a dandy pair of quarterbacks, could be offset by a fancy running game powered by Bob Anderson, of Army, and Navy's Joe Bellino.

Notre Dame (4-5) tries to wind up its season even, when it entertains Southern California, ranked seventh in the latest Associated Press poll, USC, which lost its first game in nine starts last week to UCLA, hasn't won at South Bend since 1939.

Mississippi, second ranked behind idle Syracuse, can't announce its bowl intentions until after it plays Mississippi State. Presumeably Ole Miss is headed for a replay of a 7-3 loss to Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl.

ference champ at 6-0, winds up against Auburn, and the Bulldogs likewise must wait until after the game to say in which bowl they will play. The best bet is the Gator Bowl, Jan. 2 in Jacksonville, Fla.

Texas Christian (No. 8) already is signed for the Dec. 19 inaugural Bluebonnet Bowl game in Houston, but could spil Southern Methodist's chances of landing the second spot in Philadelphia's Liberty Bowl, played the same date. The Liberty Bowl is reportedly interested in the Mustangs to meet Penn State, which accepted a bid earlier this week.

Miami (Fla.) on the wings of a three game winning string meets intra-state rival Florida (4-4-1) and a victory could put the Hurricanes (6-3) as the host team in the Orange Bowl against Big Eight representative Missouri.

Other top rivalries which defy the picking of a favorite are Boston College-Holy Cross, Vanderbilt - Tennessee and Oklahoma State-Oklahoma, none of which will decide anything other than who will say "wait till next year."

There are a few of the same today, with four games deciding conference titles. Texas - Texas A&M meet, with a Texas victory giving it a share of the Southwest crown and insuring a berth in the Cotton Bowl against Syracuse.

Virginia Tech-Virginia Military meet to decide the Southern Conference crown, while Penn must beat Cornell to take the Ivy title, A loss gives it to Dartmouth and a tie gives the two a share.

A victory by Tulsa over Wichita gives it part of the Missouri Valley title with North Texas State and Houston.

Duke and North Carolina meet in the day's TV game beginning at 2 p.m., EST.

Other top games pit Colgate at Brown, Washington State at Houston, Miami (Ohio) at Cincinnati, Wyoming at Denver, and William & Mary at Richmond.

That Ole Boy Awaits Great College Finish

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Turkey Taster

Egad, my millions of readers, once again it's time to say farewell.

Dr. I. M. Inorbit, the famed whirling dervish of Spinning U., and Prof. Quentin Zlobotny, the original Wizard of Odds, have asked that I beg your indulgence for any inconvenience their minor miscalculations might have caused during the season.

As a parting gesture, I'm giving you two tremendous upsets plus a couple of minor ones. The major upheavals will find high-scoring Wyoming on the short end of a 27-15 count in a Thanksgiving Day clash with Denver. On Saturday, Vanderbilt will overwhelm heavily-favored Tennessee.

For those untutored among you who would hoot at Hoople, remember it was the Hoople System which correctly forecast such uncanny results as Oregon's ending of the Air Force's 14-game unbeaten streak, Texas Christian's spectacular triumph over second-ranked Texas, and Harvard's dramatic defeat of Pennsylvania.

To answer the question posed by countless thousands, I am picking the Cleveland Browns and San Francisco 49ers to play for the National Football League crown.

This Sunday, in a preview of their championship game, the Browns will record a 37-24 victory. In the title battle, at year's end, it will again be the Browns, 31-28.

Gon on with the final collegiate forecasts:

Arnold Shoots 65 in Tourney Tuneup

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The $15,000 West Palm Beach open golf tournament gets under way today with all eyes on Arnold Palmer.

The Ligonier, Pa., pro went over the West Palm Beach Country Club course yesterday in a 7-under-par 65 in individual competition in a pro-am.

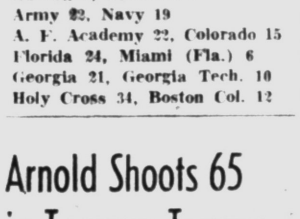

He collected nine birdies—five of them on the front nine on which he set a course record of 29 strokes.

Thirteen pros broke par and three equaled it.

In the pro-am, two teams tied for low-ball with 60s. They were pro Bert Weaver of Beaumont, Tex., and Amateurs Merle Merchant, George Preston and Bill Woods; and pro Doug Ford of Crystal River and amateurs W. B. Merry, C. A. Gustus and Dr. A. Foley. Ford's team had 30-30 and Weaver's 29-31.

Huskies Offered Mascot for Two Rose Bowl Seats

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Washington can have a huskie mascot for the Rose Bowl game with Wisconsin on New Year's Day for a price—two tickets to the football classic—on the Badger side of the field.

★ ★ ★

"I've got the best dog in the world and she'd be more than happy to act as Washington's mascot for the day," Capt. Harold Kuehn of Milwaukee, an Air Force reservist, said today.

Kuehn said he brought Chena home from Alaska in 1955. The dog is 7 years old.

"Chena has everything any school could possibly desire," Kuehn said, "including perky ears and a bushy tail. She really is a beauty. And I'm willing to send pictures to prove it.

"If Washington likes Chena," Kuehn said, "she'll be there. So will I—if I get the tickets."

Bow Hunters' Annual Rabbit Hunt Dec. 12

An entire township just south of Battle Creek has been reserved for what should be the state's biggest archery event this winter — the second annual Michigan Bow Hunters Association archers-only hunt.

The target date is Saturday, Dec. 12. The hunt will be held on farms in Newton Township, Calhoun County, with more than 200 bow enthusiasts expected to take a crack at the area's cottontail population.

There will be more than $400 in merchandise awards to be won by bowhunters. They'll go among others, to the archer bagging the first rabbit, the one getting the largest rabbit, woman with the most rabbits and the youngest successful hunter.

Hosts to the rabbit hunt will be the township's volunteer firemen. Headquarters will be their new fire station on the Battle Creek-to-Union City road, just seven miles south of U.S. 12.

No guns will be allowed, and archers will use only blunts on their arrows. Groups of bowhunters will be assigned to individual farms. Considered some of the best rabbit country in the south-central state area, the township includes both farmland and woods, and as many as 100 farms will be set aside for the visiting bowmen.

Two Battle Creek members of the Wolverine Beagle Club of Hastings will furnish their prize rabbit hounds. Other dogs will be brought by archers. But success is expected to be good even for bowhunters without canine help.

There is no entry fee, but a Michigan Bow Hunter membership is necessary. Non-members may join at the hunt headquarters.

Hunting will start at 9 a.m. and continue to 4 p.m. A special archery event, with prizes of fowl to go to the winners, is planned for the afternoon by the firemen. Food will be available at the fire station.

Wisconsin Will Be Allotted 13,000 Bowl Tickets

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—University of Wisconsin ticket manager Oscar Damman said Wednesday night that the school will be alloted about 13,000 tickets for the Jan. 1 Rose Bowl game between the Badgers and Washington.

★ ★ ★

Currently registered University of Wisconsin students will get first priority, Damman said. After the faculty and university employes, regular season football ticket purchasers, national W club members and UW alumni assn., members will be on the priority list in that order.

The limit will be two tickets per person.

Wings Start Big Weekend Tonight

Host Montreal in 1st of Three Big Battles

Pair With Canadiens Make-or-Break Type; Bruins Tie Rangers

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings will embark on a crucial holiday weekend campaign tonight by taking pot shots at a character left over from Halloween.

It'll be the first Olympia Stadium visit for the Montreal Canadiens' Jacques Plante since becoming the lone ranger of National Hockey League goaltenders.

Plante has been a masked marvel since donning his plastic face protection eight games ago. Unmasked, Plante allowed 28 goals in 12 games. In the last eight games, the four-time Vezina Trophy winner has been foiled only nine times.

Plante is the only NHL goalie wearing a mask in regular games.

He's the main reason why the Red Wings are stuck in second place despite their excellent hockey. Montreal had been unbeaten in 15 games and holds a six-point advantage over Detroit.

This could be a make-or-break weekend for the Wings. They play at Montreal Saturday and then meet third-place Toronto here Sunday.

A year ago at this same point, the Wings shared first place with Montreal. But the Canadiens erased their only threat by trouncing the Wings 6-2 and 7-0 in back-to-back games.

Detroit never was the same. The Wings went into a prolonged slump, falling all the way to last by season's end. It was the first time in 21 years they missed the playoffs.

A similar collapse this season is discounted by the Wings. General Manager Jack Adams says it can't happen again. So does coach Sid Abel.

"We're better, faster, stronger and have more balance," said Adams.

"I think we've looked too solid in the first 21 games to do a fade-out now," said Abel.

Both point to the addition of several newcomers as reasons why the Wings will keep on going.

In last night's only NHL game, Boston and New York tied 3-3. Vic Stasiuk's goal with less than three minutes left produced the stalemate for the Bruins.

Fall Kills Ski Great

TRONDHEIM, Norway (AP) — Anders Woldseth, Norway's hope for victory in the ski jumping contest at the 1960 Winter Olympics in Squaw Valley, Calif. next Friday, died today following a fall downstairs.

The Grapevine has been picked for the 1959 season. All the pickers of the Swami Association took a beating last week in the unpredictable college ranks.

Three of the Swamis all fell under .500 for last week's pickings as they were thwarted by Michigan's win over OSU, Notre Dame's victory over Iowa, Stanford's win over California, Penn State's loss to Pitt and Northwestern's loss to Illinois in the key games.

There's a big battle up at Flint today between Flint Northern and Flint Central, and the Swamis are split on the choice here.

The race for the Swami presidency goes down to the wire with Swami Abair only one game behind Swami Cornwell. The other Swamis appear to be out of the race in today's finale.

Son Gary will be home from Princeton to join the governor, Mrs. Williams and daughters Nancy and Wendy.

U. of M. Geologists Due for Antarctic Journey

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Two University of Michigan geologists who will leave this week for Antarctica, say the world's coldest continent should be kept open as a "huge laboratory" free of conflicting territorial claims.

The scientists, professor of geology James H. Zumberge and Charles Swithinbank, a university research associate from England, will study glaciers on the Ross Ice Shelf—the world's largest unbroken mass of floating ice.

The pair's three-month study will be financed under an $18,500 grant from the National Science Foundation. Both are veterans of past scientific expeditions in the ice-bound area during the International Geophysical Year.

It's Wise to Ask Age of Children

Don't Be Bashful on Finding Out What Gift Youngster Wants

Nearly a third of the gifts your children receive this Christmas will come from relatives and friends who seldom see the youngsters.

★ ★ ★

It is foolish to be bashful about writing informative letters concerning the children's ages and play interests to persons you know will be sending gifts, advises Dr. Mary Moffitt, child development professor at Queens College and educational advisor to Toy Guidance Council.

★ ★ ★

If the parents don't write these letters, says Dr. Moffitt, it is a good idea for the givers to check on such essential facts as age. It is difficult to adjust your mental picture of a youngster you haven't seen for a long time.

★ ★ ★

Obviously, playthings will bring much greater pleasure on Christmas if they are chosen to fit the youngster's stage of development.

Dr. Moffitt also warns that children's interests change from year to year. The toy intensely wanted last year may no longer be of interest.

If only the age of the child is known, it is possible for the giver to get helpful information from good toy stores about toys which are likely to have appeal. Many manufacturers put age tags on their products.

Hawaiians Get Day Off to Mark Island Statehood

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower today granted federal employes in Hawaii an extra day off this week to celebrate the admission of the Pacific islands as a new state.

This gives government workers there a two-day holiday—Thanksgiving Thursday and time off Friday to join in an islandswide statehood celebration.

In a memorandum to department and agency heads, the President said all employes should be excused except those who need to stay on duty to comply with existing law or for national security or similar reasons.

Gov. William Quinn of Hawaii has designated Friday as an islands holiday to celebrate Hawaii's admission as the 50th state.

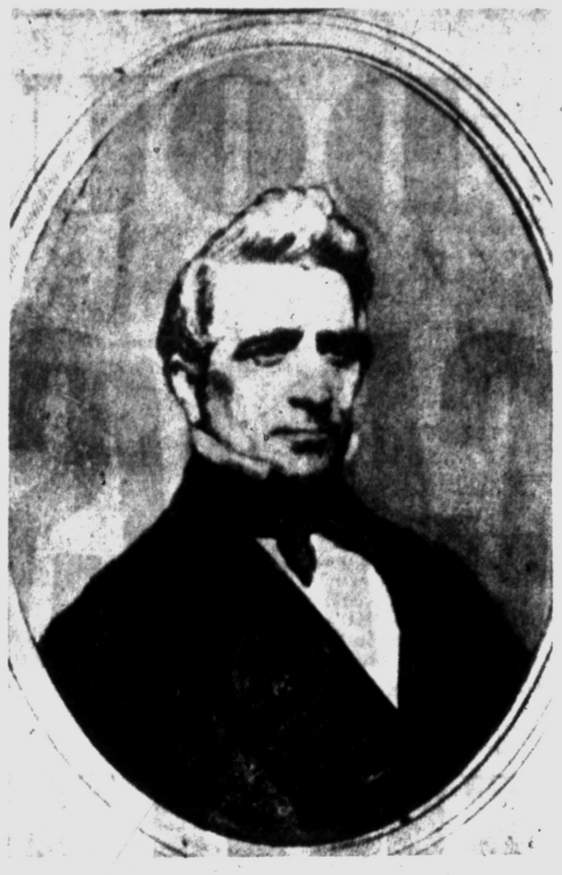

CBS Radio Moderator Is Dead of Cancer

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Lyman Bryson, long associated with CBS radio's "Invitation to Learning" education program, is dead of cancer. Bryson, 71, died Tuesday in a hospital here.

★ ★ ★

A native of Valentine, Neb., he taught in several colleges before joining the faculty at Teachers College, Columbia University, in 1934. He was appointed chairman of CBS' adult education board in 1938, later serving as moderator on the "Invitation to Learning" radio program and the "Lamp Unto My Feet" TV show.

GM Fails Brake Warning, Says High Court Decision

LANSING (UPI)—The Michigan Supreme Court said Wednesday General Motors failed to warn owners of 1953 Buicks equipped with power brakes they were driving a "dangerous instrument" with "defective brakes which might fail without notice."

But the court emphasized a jury would have to determine negligence.

★ ★ ★

The eight-member court unanimously reversed a lower court judge who said General Motors' negligence in a damage suit had been terminated by an intervening act of another party.

The court reversed Wayne County Circuit Judge Thomas J. Murphy and ordered a new trial.

The decision was written by Justice George Edwards, who said a modern automobile equipped with brakes which fail without notice is as dangerous as a loaded gun.

Edwards said Buick agencies were instructed to make repairs on the power brake system at General Motors' expense whenever 1953 Buicks came into the shops.

MADE REPAIRS

"The repairs were made without notice to the owners and even if there were no complaints about the brakes," Edwards said.

"No warning to owners of 1953 Buicks equipped with these power brakes was given either by General Motors, or by the agency which sold this Buick as far as this record reveals."

But Edwards took judicial note that the Buick division did not fabricate the part that failed. He said Buick tested its performance and "placed the finished product on the public market."

The issue was brought before the court by Robert Comstock and the Zurich Insurance Co. Comstock, a garage employe, was injured by a 1953 Buick owned by Leon Friend and driven by Clifford Wentworth. His right leg had to be amputated.

The trial court judge said there was no evidence of negligence by General Motors but directed a verdict against Comstock's claim for damages because he considered that the effect of any negligence on GM's part had been terminated by an intervening act of the driver.

Great Salt Lake Poses Problem

Cost of Making It Fresh Prohibitive, Says Utah Governor to Committee

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Utah's Great Salt Lake cannot be considered a possible fresh water resource at present because of the high cost of desalting, says Gov. George D. Clyde.

Clyde told the U.S. Senate Committee on Water Resources Tuesday that the cost of desalting ocean water with only 8 per cent salt content has been figured at $1.20 per thousand gallons.

He said Utah's 2,000 square mile lake has a salt density of about 23 per cent, second only to the Dead Sea.

The salt is so thick in the Utah lake swimmers cannot sink.

Clyde said, however, the federal government and the states should make greater efforts to utilize the waters which now waste into Great Salt Lake.

Unhappy Steelworker Plans Court Action

GARY, Ind. (UPI) — A dissident steelworker threatened today to become the first union member to go to court under the new Labor Reform Act.

★ ★ ★

Albert B. Gibson of Gary said he had telegraphed attorney general William Rogers that five members of the United Steelworkers Union deprived him of his rights. Gibson asked Rogers how to proceed with court action against the five.

★ ★ ★

But Steelworkers President David McDonald said he had wired Gibson and advised him to process his grievances through union mechanism.

Gibson said he was ordered from picket lines at U. S. Steel's National Tube Co. Oct. 26 because he called McDonald a "dictator" and complained that the union head was mishandling negotiations to end the steel strike.

Say China Must Be Recognized

U.S. Officials Concede Move Is Needed for an Effective Arms Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) —American officials conceded today that any effective disarmament plan would require recognition of Red China in fact if not in law.

They expressed this view after Secretary of State Christian A. Herter refused to answer the question at his news conference Tuesday. Herter said only that this was "very much of a question."

The importance of Red China in working out any arms pact also was emphasized in a special report prepared for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by the Council on Foreign relations, a private group.

The report said the U.S. government "will have to have lines of communication open" to Communist China if only to bring Peiping into any international arms agreement.

The 21-page report said this country must conduct serious negotiations from arms control dispite the negative results of 15 years of negotiation and the unhopeful prospect ahead."

Disarmament talks are to begin next year in Geneva between five western nations and five Communist nations, not including Red China. The United States has refused to recognize Red China and has successfully fought her admission to the United Nations because of her aggression in Korea and elsewhere.

Officials in Washington said the basic concern now was to work out an end to nuclear tests with the issue of a control system for) disarmament possibly years away.

However, they said there was no doubt that China would have to be brought into a nuclear control system which calls for some 180 control stations spread over the world. Some, obviously, would be on the China mainland.

★ ★ ★

Officials said they believed it might be possible to work out some plan whereby U.S. personnel would help man the stations on Red China's soil without this country actually recognizing the Peiping regime.

They added optimistically that they thought it was possible that the Red Chinese might — with prodding from Moscow —agree to such a system without first demanding official recognition.

One precedent cited was the Korean Truce Commission on which the United States sits as part of the United Nations team that deals with truce problems with Peiping representatives.

Will Study Alcoholism

TORONTO (AP) — Dr. Theodore Newcomb of the University of Michigan has been named to a joint U.S.-Canadian commission to make a five-year study of alcoholism in both nations. The commission will investigate current action against alcoholism and submit recommendations for the future.

Says Steam Can 'Purify' Tobacco

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Canadian physician has started an American research organization to help "steam" radioactive materials from cigarette tobacco.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Arthur Edward Michael Ash, a member of England's Royal College of Surgeons, said he has been steaming cigarette tobacco for the past two years with encouraging results.

He said the tobacco, after the steaming process, "is still smokable although it loses a little bit of the taste. Manufacturers say it is buyable."

"We know that radioactivity can produce lung cancer," Ash said, "And that commercial tobacco used in cigarette manufacture contains a higher concentration of the radioactive potasium isotope K-40, than any other plant so far examined."

Ash said there are three reasons why tobacco contains so much radioactive material. He blamed potassium and rubidium, which he called natural factors, the increased use of fertilizers and fallout from increased bomb testings.

Humphrey Hints of Hat in Ring

'Been Eying Political Situation'; Will Talk in January

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) said Tuesday he'll tell early in January whether he'll be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination and "right now it looks very encouraging."

"I'm unofficially campaigning for the nomination and officially taking a look at things, you might say," Humphrey declared in an interview.

"I've been talking with political leaders, sort of trying to sense the political atmosphere and temperature—trying to find out if I have adequate support," he explained.

Humphrey, a pharmacist, Monday night addressed a dinner of the American Committee for a School of Pharmacy at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem. It was a nonpolitical speech. The dinner launched a fund drive for the school.

He said the committee will work for the support of the state's 14 GOP delegates.

Rockefeller has not yet formally announced his candidacy.

Close to Being Unforgettable

Winston Churchill Is Remarkable

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Winston Churchill comes close to being "the unforgettable man" in my journalistic memory.

I met Churchill four times—first in Italy, just after Rome fell during World War II, again at Hitler's bunker shortly after the German surrender, and twice in America during the post-war period.

The thing that impressed me most about the great British statesman was his remarkable ability to express himself in the English language — and the brilliancy of his mind.

My first close-up of Churchill was in May, 1944, a day or two after Gen. Mark Clark's American forces entered Rome. The Germans had fallen back to the north. It was a significant Allied success and Churchill flew in to Rome from London as the victory celebration was in full swing.

A press conference was set up at the British embassy. It was attended by 150 American and British correspondents.

Churchill was greeted with a burst of applause. He gave with his cherubic smile and lit a big cigar. He knew he was among friends. He had been a war correspondent himself, years ago in the Boer War. He was right at home. He knew he could "talk our language."

For an hour and a half, he stood there answering questions. The information he gave was usable but not attributable. His knowledge of prevailing events was prodigious.

What struck me was the lucidity of his replies. He stripped away the trivia and got to the heart of one issue after another involving many countries. His grasp of situations and depth of knowledge was profound.

Like many famous men I've known, Churchill had a fabulous memory. He reminded me of the way Al Smith used to explain — with simple clarity—such a complicated topic as proportional representation.

Churchill held us spellbound. He demonstrated right then that he is the master of the spoken word. We all knew, of course, that he was also a master of the written word.

I noticed he smoked three cigars while the press conference was in progress. At its conclusion, I asked:

"Mr. Prime Minister, how many of those big cigars do you smoke a day?"

He grinned.

"It all depends upon the supplies," he replied.

The reason I asked the question was that we reporters were having trouble getting enough cigars at the Army P.X.

A reporter for a British news agency filed a story on my cigar question. Some days later I received three boxes of cigars from friends in New York.

★ ★ ★

The next time I saw Churchill was outside Hitler's bunker in the Reich chancellory in Berlin—the big underground "Fuehrerbunker" where the last act of the Nazi melodrama was staged.

It was June, 1945, and World War II in Europe had ended.

In this bunker Hitler, with Russian shells bursting around him, realized the jig was up and committed suicide. He shot himself to death a moment after his sweetheart, Eva Braun, had swallowed poison.

Both bodies were taken outside by S.S. officers, placed side by side, and set afire.

Hitler's bunker was a ghastly point of interest for days thereafter, and many military men and correspondents visited it.

One day Churchill came there with a group of British officials, including Anthony Eden. I was among the reporters covering their visit.

Eden and his companions went down into the subterranean passages of the bunker, but Churchill did not. He had visited the bunker before, and had enough. So had I, and I got my feet thoroughly wet in the process.

Churchill remained outside among the rubble and empty petrol cans, a few feet from where Hitler's body had been burned.

He lit up a cigar. He chatted affably with us reporters in his democratic way. Finally, Eden emerged. The Churchill party got into a half-track. As they drove off Churchill jauntily raised his hand, gave the V-sign, and waved his cigar.

HE'S AGED A LOT

Twice later I met Churchill when he visited America—in 1954, and again last May when he was President Eisenhower's guest at the White House and later the guest of his close friend Bernard M. Baruch in New York.

Churchill had aged noticeably the last time I saw him. He walked falteringly, with shoulders stopped. He jabbed his gold-headed cane tentatively as he lumbered along. He had to be assisted into his car.

But Churchill's voice was as rich and resonant as ever, and the spirit of this dauntless man remained high. His last words as he boarded a plane for his homeland were:

"I would like to bid you farewell in this key: As long as the United States and Great Britain are united and bound together, the future is one if high hopes for ourselves and the whole free world."

Sudan Plans to Purge Reds

Premier Ibrahim Says Communism Is Nation's No. 1 Enemy

CAIRO (AP) — Sudanese Premier Ibrahim Abboud says his military government has made plans "to overcome and completely wipe out communism in Sudan."

Abboud, in an interview in Khartoum with the Cairo newspaper Al Akhbar, said communism is his "No. 1 enemy" and has been behind "every plot against the present Sudanese regime."

Communism, he continued, infiltrated the ranks of Sudanese workers and peasants in the past but failed to win their allegiance.

"Now it is intriguing in the student ranks, but it shall also fail," Abboud went on.

"International communism at present is directing its activities toward all Africa. Together with imperialism, it is exploiting African countries to dominate them by subversive principles."

The premier said that African leaders are capable of completely wiping out communism from their continent if they cooperate in fighting it.

'Lysistrata' Lands With Dull, Sexy Thud

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK—The bawdiest production staged around here in years is the version of Aristophanes' "Lysistrata" presented last night at the Phoenix Theater.

In addition to the fact that it would make a burlesque fan of the old uninhibited days blush, the production also has been tricked out with slapstick touches that can only be described as sophomoric—with apologies to the sophomores.

Now, it is true that Aristophanes' fable about the Grecian women who band together to end a war by denying their husbands their conjugal rights until a treaty is signed tends, by the very nature of the plot, to stress sexual matters.

But this so-called new version by Dudley Fitts carries the ancients' tendency toward earthiness to an almost childish extreme.

Steer Rigging Is Suspected

Entries in Chicago's Exhibition Are Probed for Fitting Deviations

CHICAGO (UPI)—Teams of veterinarians were checking about 700 steers in a move to prevent rigging at the International Livestock Exposition.

Officials said evidence indicating that 47 of 291 steers entered in junior livestock feeding competition might have been improperly fitted was gathered. The 47 steers were re-examined and the results were to be reported to Arlie Mucks, vice president of the Exposition, who will take the matter to the show's board for action.

Dr. L. M. Cropsey, Cassopolis, Mich., said "we made a survey of steers entered here over the past several years and it was evident that some unethical fitting was going on."

He explained that unethical fitting is any attempt to change the contour of a steer through artificial means.

Dr. Cropsey said "we found evidence that oil and air had been injected into a few of the animals to improve their shape. Scars on a steer's hide are evidence of "altering."

Veterinarians also were checking each steer's teeth because a system of correlating dental development with steer age has been found.

William E. Ogilvie, secretary of the show, said it serves as a precaution against switching a mature steer into a younger class.

Under a new rule put into effect this year, a steer determined to be unethically fitted will be permanently barred from competition and its owner or exhibitor may be banned for life.

The animal scientists were trying to examine all the steers before the nine-day Exposition opens Friday.

Duchess Starting Divorce From Duke of Bedford

Grounds for divorce were not named in the formal petition filed at London's law courts.

The duke, now on a lecture tour of the United States, has eight days to lodge notice of intention to defend the case.

Rumors of a breakup in the marriage have buzzed around London for some weeks, particularly since the duke took a continental holiday with French TV producer Nicole Millinair.

Last month the duke said in Toronto that he and his wife had discussed divorce. The duke commented at the time:

"Marriage should be two people close together, not two people far apart. That's what led to the trouble in this case."

The 42-year-old duchess could not be reached for comment.

The Bedfords were married in 1947. The duchess was then the widow of an army officer, Capt. Ian de Hoghton Lyle. The duke's first wife died in 1945.

The duke's genial, informal attitude toward aristocracy has made him one of Britain's most popular peers.

State Fund Dry; Pays Yule Bonus

Employes Get Longevity Checks; Biggest Outlay Goes to Universities

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's general fund again went down to zero Wednesday as the State Administrative Board paid out 13.5 million dollars, including 1.8 million for a form of Christmas bonus for state employes.

Most of the money went in a 6.5-million-dollar approval for university payments. Another 2.5 million was approved for the monthly direct relief payment.

Another 1.5 million was approved for payment of vouchers under $50,000, bringing payment of these bills to about Oct. 15 with roughly another million dollars still to be paid in this category.

Approval was made to a 1.8 million dollar payment for state workers' longevity payments. This will be combined with about $800,000 from restricted funds to bring the total longevity payment Dec. 1 to 2.6 million dollars.

The payment is based on a dollar basis and number of years in state service formula.

About $900,000 was approved for debt service payment and $300,000 for Crippled Children's Hospital payments.

Ohio's Gov. DiSalle Leans Toward Ribicoff

HARTFORD (AP) — Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle Wednesday said that "if it wasn't for the geography involved," he would favor a 1960 Democratic national ticket of Ribicoff and Kennedy.

"In that order?" he asked.

"I don't think Abe would take second place," the Ohio governor replied.

★ ★ ★

"I wouldn't take first place either," interjected Governor Abraham Ribicoff, who is unofficial campaign manager of U.S. Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Hastings Man Resigns

HASTINGS (AP) — Cecil Munton, Hastings city assessor for the first and fourth wards for the last four years, has resigned effective Dec. 31, Munton, a retired New York Central Railway man, said he and his wife plan to spend more time in Florida.

Polish Premier Maps Austerity

Government Toughens Economy Controls on 'Road to Socialism'

WARSAW (UPI)—Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz Wednesday outlined a new austerity program for Poland but insisted the government still was following its own "road to socialism."

Cyrankiewicz referred to tough new government controls over the economy as "democratic centralism."

"We cannot see in these changes a retreat from the road which we have chosen," he said. "On the contrary they are steps along this road."

The Premier opened the fall session of Parliament with a 105-minute speech outlining the austerity program aimed at beating Poland's economic troubles.

He also criticized the United States for claiming the Soviet Union had forced Poland to be a candidate for a United Nations Security Council seat. Turkey is battling Poland for the seat.

Cyrankiewicz announced that his five vice premiers would become coordinators of various sections of the national economy.

He blamed the meat shortage on a bad potato crop last year and the drought this summer which cut down on available fodder.

He said imports must be limited to an increase of 2 per cent next year while exports, particularly of machinery and industrial equipment, must go up 8.6 per cent to help balance the economy.

Cyrankiewicz squelched rumors that Poland was exporting meat to the Soviet Union and grain to other countries even though it did not have enough for itself.

He said the Soviet Union is sending meat, cotton and grain to Poland, but he did not mention 600,000 tons of grain and fodder Poland will receive from the United States under recent agreements.

Cyrankiewicz did not go deeply into the causes of the present shaky economy.

Spending, Tight Money Up Rates

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It's getting pretty expensive these days to borrow money, finance a new car, repay a mortgage.

The big corporations, who usually can borrow on the most favorable terms, are paying 5 per cent for bank loans — a 29-year high.

Uncle Sam, the most creditworthy borrower in the country (and the biggest), is paying nearly as much for short-term money as lenders demanded during the panicky days of early 1933 when banks were failing and production was crippled.

But business conditions in the autumn of 1959 are clearly much healthier than in 1933. Why, then, are interest rates so high and getting higher?

The answer is not easy. You could blame the government or prosperity. The fact is that both the business boom of recent months and government policy have contributed to the interest rate upturn.

Incomes, spending and borrowing have all been moving higher and higher. Businessmen have gradually been stepping up their plant construction and expansion plans. Consumers, their confidence restored by the sustained recovery after the 1957-58 recession, have been earning, spending and borrowing more. Total consumer credit outstanding is at an all-time high.

So is the national debt. With many billions of dollars of debt maturing each year and having to be refinanced, the Federal government is the nation's biggest single borrower. Prospects for sizable reduction of the national debt — now about $290 billion — don't look promising for the near future.

The sum of it is that borrowing is outstripping credit. The demand for money is growing faster than the supply. As a result, interest rates have gone up. That's where the government — the Federal Reserve Board, to be precise — comes in.

The board knows that credit is getting tighter and that interest costs are climbing. It could make more money available to the banks for loans than it has so far.

It chooses not to because it feels that keeping borrowing and spending from expanding too quickly is the most effective way it can fight inflation.

When too many dollars chase too few goods, the Federal Reserve and many other economists feel, and the economy is producing pretty close to if not at capacity, then higher prices are the inevitable result.

'FED'S' POLICY

So, the "Fed" has permitted growth in the supply of credit to lag behind demands to borrow. By keeping the lid on the boom, the seven Reserve Board governors feel they can keep it from exploding into a bust.

When scarce, money, like coffee or cars — remember World War II? — commands a higher price. Interest rates are the price of borrowing and using someone else's money.

When there's not enough credit to meet all borrowers' demands, then interest rates swing up. In a sense they help ration the limited supply of credit by forcing out some potential borrowers.

But that's not what the Reserve Board is counting on. Its basic argument is that you can't borrow the money if it just isn't there. If you can't borrow it you can't spend it. And if you don't spend it you don't add to the pressure on prices.

That's the "Fed's" case, in a nutshell. It may look convincing, but it's come in for a lot of criticism, especially from Democrats in Congress.

The hottest charge is that the "Fed" is choking off economic growth when it's essential to prosperity, full employment and cold war supremacy. Some say the board's tight-money policy caused the recession.

Another criticism is that it's not too much prosperity that forces prices up; it's monopoly. This point is made by people who blame inflation on price and wage policies of big corporations and unions that resemble monopolists more than bargainers in a freely competitive market.

Yielding the most political mileage of all is the complaint that the tight money policy helps bankers (lenders), hurts consumers and small businessmen and has little effect on big firms.

The board has answers to some of these criticisms and of course the arguments go round and round. But for the time being, the advocates of tight money as the cure for inflation appear to be firmly in command.

Copper, Brass Make Shining Yuletide Gifts

Gifts of solid copper and brass add shining warmth to the holiday season. There is something for every member of the family.

Small copper mugs make a handsome and functional gift for the man of the house and can be used decoratively in his den. He's sure to like a large copper wastebasket or bucket, too, for holding wood, magazines or newspapers.

For the comfortable kitchen consider a copper coffee pot, lovely enough for the prettiest table. It can double as a container for flowers.

Little measuring cups, on a copper rack, bring a bright note to the kitchen wall. These, too, can be used for tiny flower arrangements at individual place settings.

Novelty item for sister's room at home or college: a solid brass and cherrywood tea kettle, concealing a transistor radio. A copper wall plaque harmonizes with this kind of decoration theme.

Plastics Easier to Use in Putting Simple Hobby Kit Together

Hobby kits have undergone several changes since the days of the balsa-wood airplane models.

With more leisure time to spend on recreational pursuits people in the U.S. demanded additional outlets in the hobby field.

Along with mass production of hobby kits came the introduction of new materials such as plastics. These resulted in a simplification of the hobby kit.

One manufacturer learned from exploring the market that do-it-yourself devotees and beginner hobbyists wanted to obtain speedy results from their efforts in assembling a hobby kit. The use of plastics meant easier to assemble kits with accuracy of detail.

The fun of putting the hobby kit together is one thing. What to do with it when it is assembled is another. Mounting was the answer as in a trophy line of famous wild-game collectors items.

An American bald eagle and the royal bengal tiger can be mounted and make perfect additions to the den or rumpus room of any home.

Two new models are designed for use as bookends after they are assembled and painted. One of these inspired by a famous pedigreed boxer dog. The other is a model of Cap'n Kidd.

★ ★ ★

During this holy season, it is appropriate that the world's first religious hobby kit will be a model of the Crucifix.

Looking at the hobby kit with the modern point of view, two trends stand out, the space age and the underwater scene.

Auto Worker Pay Raise Set

Rise Will Result From Escalator Clauses Tied to Cost of Living

DETROIT (AP) — Almost 700,000 auto workers will find fatter paychecks on their first December paydays.

A rise in the cost of living, announced Wednesday by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, assures this under escalator contracts of the auto industry.

Approximately $19,000 hourly rated workers will get a cent an hour increase and roughly 176,000 salaried employes will get a quarterly increase of $5.

Pay rises or falls under contract escalator clauses with each .5 point change in the cost of living index over a three-month period. Today's was 125.5 compared with 124.9 on July 15.

★ ★ ★

Because of a strike-caused steel shortage a big segment of General Motors' 320,000 hourly rated employes are not working, but the corporation expects to have all back by Dec. 14. Chrysler Corp.'s idle now totals about 23,000, but it too expects to be back in high gear by mid-December.

Other auto makers are on full five-day weeks.

The average pay of hourly rated employes is $2.60 an hour now, and the added penny will bring to 13 cents an hour that portion made up in cost-of-living allowances. Salaried personnel's added $5 will bring their quarterly cost-of-living allowance to $65.

Of Ford's 124,000 hourly rated employes, approximately 62,000 are located in Michigan, which also has about 30,000 of Ford's 45,000 salaried employes.

Of Chrysler Corp.'s 75,000 hourly rated workers, about 55,000 are in Michigan, plus 30,000 of 35,000 salaried employes.

General Motors' figures for Michigan are not immediately available.

Flying Grandfather Tries Distance Mark

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Max Conrad, 56, the flying grandfather from Winona, Minn., guided his light plane toward El Paso, Tex., today to stretch his new 6,000-mile long-distance record.

He has been flying more than 48 hours, covering parts of two continents and the Atlantic Ocean.

Conrad took off from Casablanca, Morroco Tuesday. He smashed the late Bill Odom's 10-year distance mark of 4,957-miles when he flew by Florida late Wednesday.

Conrad radioed his Piper Comanche had plenty of gas. He said he would go on to New Orleans, perhaps further.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—An old Louisville Water Co. pumping station will become America's first full-scale potamological institute.

Potamology is the science of rivers.

University of Louisville officials, who will rent the station, said Tuesday the only other complete potamological institute is in the Soviet Union.

The university will remodel the structure on the Ohio River and maintain a small fleet of boats for river research.

Did Dog Bite Man? —Nope, Shot Him

LANCASTER, Calif. (AP) — A dog shot a man, says forest ranger Jim Davis, who tells this story:

He was working at a Boy Scout camp when a stray dog jumped on him. His own dog Scout jumped to Davis' protection but lurched against Davis' holstered gun. It discharged and a bullet creased Davis' leg.

The ranger said it was a minor injury.

Hudson's Plans No Preparade CBS Court Fight

DETROIT (AP)—Officials of J. L. Hudson Co. said they planned no legal action today to prevent CBS-TV from televising the department store's annual Thanksgiving Day parade.

But the store indicated it may go to court later.

"No action will be taken prior to the parade," said Roy Erickson of Hudson's special events department yesterday. "We will decide afterward what action, if any, will be taken."

Joseph L. Hudson Jr., president of the department store, threatened legal action last week if CBS-TV went ahead with plans to televise the parade through Detroit streets.

★ ★ ★

The network rejected Hudson's protest on grounds that it considers the parade a news event taking place on public streets.

Won't Stand In for First Lady

Daughter-in-Law Only Maj. Eisenhower's Wife on Ike's World Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Foreign protocol planners in countries to be visited by President Eisenhower next month are being told that his daughter-in-law Barbara Eisenhower is in no way to be considered a "stand-in" for the first lady.

★ ★ ★

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said in response to queries on the matter that "we don't have a stand-in for Mrs. Mamie Doud Eisenhower."

Another White House aide explained that Mrs. Barbara Eisenhower "is not in any sense an official hostess for the President." She and her husband, Maj. John Eisenhower, will accompany the President on his goodwill trip.

The aide said Barbara's presence in the party "should not be construed as a stand-in for Mrs. Eisenhower but merely as the wife of her husband, a White House staff officer."

In response to questions on the protocol of Barbara's place in the party, the aide noted that what the foreign governments 'elect to do" with Barbara in table seating arrangements or in receiving lines "is their own business."

But the aide agreed that under protocol rules observed in this country, Barbara's position would be considerably down the line from the President's.

Churches Asking Sentence Probe

Chief Justice Delaying Action on Magnotta's Short Diet Plan

LANSING (AP) — No action is likely before the first of the year on a petition for a probe of Calhoun Circuit Judge Alfonso A. Magnotta's sentencing practices, Michigan Chief Justice John R. Dethmers has indicated.

The Michigan Area Council of Liberal Churches asked for a high court investigation of Magnotta's sentencing of youthful offenders to solitary confinement on meager diets.

Rev. Joseph A. Schneiders of Jackson, president of the council, signed the petition which was filed last week.

Yesterday Dethmers said the court has given the request preliminary consideration but indicated further action was unlikely before the next regularly scheduled court conference in January.

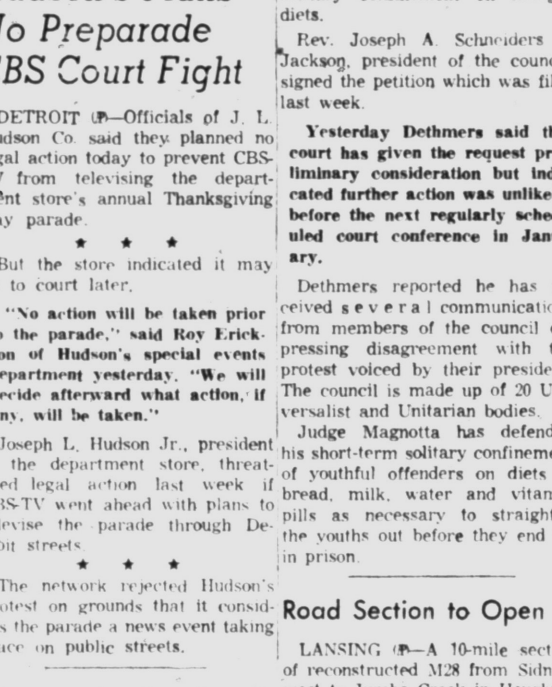

Dethmers reported he has received several communications from members of the council expressing disagreement with the protest voiced by their president. The council is made up of 20 Universalist and Unitarian bodies.

Officials blew the "no school" signal just before 229 pupils were due in classes Friday. The youngster at right appears to be the lone dissenter.

Blames Whole Mess on Women

On Hunger Strike, in Jail

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A tailor wanted for six months for mailing death threats to seven judges blames the whole mess on women.

★ ★ ★

Elmer Simrell, who surrendered to police Wednesday, immediately announced a hunger strike to win unanimous approval of his crusade against "the menace of modern womanhood."

He was arraigned on a federal charge of sending threatening material through the mail.

He said he mailed the judges death threats to dramatize his crusade that began in 1956 when his wife divorced him and won custody of their daughters and a property settlement. Simrell, 48, claims California domestic courts always give women the best of it.

Boot Cattle at Show for Rigging

CHICAGO (UPI) — The International Livestock Exposition Wednesday kicked out 14 steers entered in the junior feeding contest on grounds that someone tampered with the animals to make them look better.

★ ★ ★

The steers were eliminated under a rule which forbids use of any trick or device to deceive a judge as to the animal's natural appearance.

The names of the steers' exhibitors were not released because, officials said, the tampering could have occurred before the present owners obtained the steers.

There were 369 steers in the contest before the 14 were disqualified.

Judging in the junior contest begins today and ends Friday with the selection of champions. The exposition, the Showcase of Rural America, ends Dec. 5.

Henry Peterson, 48, of Manistique, came out of dense woods in Schoolcraft County in good condition.

Mediation Board Can Work on Teacher Tiff

LANSING (AP) — Garden City school teachers and a union steward carried the day in the State Supreme Court yesterday.

A decision handed down by the high court affirmed the authority of the State Labor Mediation Board to mediate a dispute between 101 teachers and the Garden City School Board. About 100 teachers sought intervention of the mediation board in a 1955 hassle over salaries and other matters.

The court unanimously upheld dismissal of the school board's bill of complaint by Circuit Judge Sam Street Hughes of Ingham County.

Fund Drive Volunteers to Visit Area Homes for Contributions

A house-to-house canvass Tuesday will spearhead Pontiac's Muscular Dystrophy fund drive.

Platter King to Talk Monday

Subpoena Alan Freed in Probe of Payola in Song Plugging

NEW YORK (AP)—Disc jockey Alan Freed has been subpoenaed to appear Monday before a grand jury probing payola in the radio and television industry.

The rock 'n' roll platter king, hunted by detectives all day Wednesday after he failed to show up at the district attorney's office, was located shortly after he finished his "Big Beat" record TV show.

Asked why he failed to show up at the district attorney's office, Freed told newsmen: "I will not volunteer for anybody. My grandmother once told me, 'never volunteer for anything.' "

Freed said, however, he would obey the subpoena.

Later he went on the WMCA radio "Barry Gray Show" and said he had nothing to tell the grand jury about payola—undercover payments to get songs plugged on the air.

★ ★ ★

In his radio talk, Freed said he never had taken gifts to play a record either on his WABC radio show or his WNEW-TV "Big Beat" program. Freed lost his WABC spot after refusing to sign a statement saying he never accepted pay for plugs. Freed has been fired from the "Big Beat" show but is finishing up the week. Later, he signed an affidavit saying he never had done anything improper.

He has denied publicly he ever took payoffs.

Local 416 of the United Furniture Workers went on strike July 8 in a dispute over a new contract. The strike involved about 75 employes.

The union ratified a contract calling for a slight pay raise, a cost of living allowance and an improved insurance plan. The vote was 52-13.

Specific terms of the pact were not disclosed.

President Works, Then Sits Down to Turkey Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP)— It's traditional turkey for today's White House Thanksgiving dinner for President Eisenhower and his family.

★ ★ ★

Traditional cranberries, too?

"I haven't the slightest idea," press secretary James C. Hagerty told inquiring reporters.

The President and his wife are being joined for the holiday dinner by their son and daughter-in-law, Army Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, and their four grandchildren. The youngsters are David, 11, Barbara Ann, 9, Susan, 7, and Mary Jean, 3.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower scheduled no business engagements, but arranged to work during the morning on a series of speeches he will make abroad during his three-continent goodwill mission, starting a week from today.

Winds Fan Flames

Brush Fires Running Wild in Texas, Ruin 40 Homes

MARSHALL, Texas (AP) — Flames kicked by fierce winds raced through grass and brush in northeast Texas Wednesday, destroying about 40 homes and threatening small towns.

Fires burned today in widespread sections and firefighters remained alert.

Texas Forest Service officials, who counted 70 fires at one time Wednesday laid the widespread outbreak to careless burning of leaves and trash.

Damage was estimated in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The only death reported was that of Mrs. B. Q. Adams Sr. who died of a heart attack while fighting a grass fire. She lived in the Smyrna community in extreme northeast Texas.

"The fierce wind blew the flames across the ground. We had all kinds of fire fighting equipment but we just couldn't stop it," said Henry Fink of the Gilmer fire department. He and 30 firemen with high school students who were let out of school fought the fire all day.

"The only thing we could do was go from house to house and burn the grass out so the fire would bypass the homes," he said. "We did it to dozens of houses. The people could see the fire coming and some left their homes. But there was no panic."

At Marshall, about 50 miles southeast of Gilmer, a few firefighters spent the night in the fields east and west of town.

G. B. Warnstaff of the Marshall fire department said "We used water, we beat the flames with sacks but it didn't help much. The way the wind was blowing we didn't have much effect on the fire. The velocity of the wind was terrific."

Most of the fires concentrated on rural areas of the northeast portion of Texas. Others dotted the countryside two-thirds of the way across the state.

Fire burning along a 20-mile front in Louisiana, east of Marshall, surged to the south edge of Waskom, a town of 1,200. The fire was within four miles of gas wells in the huge Waskom and Bocker fields.

Ike Must Decide on Overseas Aid

Expected to Approve Figure Slightly Below $4 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will decide within the next few days how much to ask from Congress for military and economic aid overseas.

Authoritative officials say Eisenhower personally will make the final decision on the size of the program before he leaves next Thursday for his 20,000-mile goodwill journey into 11 nations.

Top State Department officials appear confident the President will approve a figure slightly below four billion dollars—about the amount the administration asked Congress to provide for last year's program. Congress, however, cut that request to $3,200,000,000.

Administration foreign aid advocates are banking on Eisenhower to reject moves to slash foreign aid spending despite official concern over the record four-billion-dollar deficit in overseas earnings this year.

For the past week, the Budget Bureau has been steadily whittling away at a proposed five-billion-dollar foreign aid program which the State Department recommended for military, economic and technical assistance.

★ ★ ★

This annual item-by-item review is expected to be completed this weekend. The Budget Bureau-approved version of the program will then go to the White House along with any conflicting advice that Secretary of State Christian A. Herter may decide to pass along.

59ers Feast on Bear Steak This Holiday

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Michigan's pioneering 59ers celebrate their first Thanksgiving in their new Alaskan homeland today feasting on a local delicacy —bear.

The menu also consists of moose and venison mincemeat pies—but no turkey.

The 59ers say it is a happy Thanksgiving.

"We have plenty of food for ourselves and our livestock and plenty of meat on the hoof if we run out," said Marino Sik, a former Detroiter.

A 300-pound bear that provides the main dish was shot by Sik a few days ago when it peeked into his trailer. A 1,000-pound moose was shot for a side course last week in the Sisitna Valley.

Thanksgiving Cold, Snowy in North States

By The Associated Press

A mass of cold air powered by strong winds moved in from Canada today over states lying along the northern border.

The cold followed a day - long snowstorm that ranged south and southeastward from the north Rockies into the mid-Mississippi Valley and the north Atlantic Coast states.

Temperatures plummeted in the wake of the Canadian cold air blast.

In northern Minnesota the low was -5 at several points, the Weather Bureau reported. In the northern Rockies, the temperature dropped 20 to 30 degrees; in the northern Plains, about 15 degrees; in the Atlantic Coast states about 20 degrees.

The snow and cold air were pushed by winds that reached 50 m.p.h.

M53 Area Listed as Congested

LANSING (AP) — A traffic study of M53 in Macomb County has indicated it is one of the most congested trunkline highways in the state and has a critically high accident rate near Warren and Center Line.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie has written the mayors of the two cities that the main reason for the congestion is the continued rapid growth of the area.

The commissioner said the area must ultimately be served by a major North-South expressway but pointed out financing will not be available for many years.

Mackie said a major improvement of the existing roadway will get under way in 1962 and that in the meantime his department will develop traffic control plans to ease the congestion.

Girl, 17, Is Accused of Planning Robbery

DETROIT (AP) — A teen-aged girl has been charged with planning a robbery in which two 16-year-old boys beat a gasoline station operator so savagely that his skull was fractured and one eye blinded.

Phyllis A. Brooks, 17, was charged with instigating the attack on Willis E. White, 45. The boys fled with $200 after beating White with clubs last Friday night.

The assault took place as White walked up the front steps of the home of Mrs. Dora Sanford, owner of some taxicabs. White was taking the money to her from his gas station where it had been left by taxi drivers.

The girl was a roomer in Mrs. Sanford's home.

One of the boys is in police custody and the other is sought.

Payola Racket Victim Tells D. A. His Story

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The payola primer —

Q. What is payola?

A. It is what the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight is going to look into, now that it has done a job on the TV industry.

Q. Yes, I know, but what is payola?

A. It is a payment by record and song promoters to powerful parties, especially disc jockeys, to get songs and records before the public.

★ ★ ★

Q. Is it something new?

A. No, it has been going on since the beginning of Tin Pan Alley.

Q. Then why all the fuss about it now?

A. Because some people feel the payola has been employed to inflict poor music on the record-buying public, principally teen-agers. Some believe gangster elements are involved.

Q. Is the payola illegal?

A. Possibly. Some say it constitutes a bribe of responsible individuals.

Q. Is payola immoral?

A. Most, probably, would think so. Some disc jockeys purport to be reflecting public tastes, while in reality they are playing records they are bribed to play. And they are using air that belongs to the public.

★ ★ ★

Q. How does payola work?

A. A record promoter pays a jockey a sum of money for repeated plays of a special record. Or else the jock may receive a regular sum, say $100 or $150 a week for pushing the promoter's product.

Q. Can this get to be big business?

$50,000 A YEAR

A. You bet. Some jocks are unabashed to admit they draw $50,000 a year under the table. The rewards are even greater for a big time operator. He can demand to have the records he plugs pressed through his own companies, the songs published by his own firms and even take a percentage of the singer's income.

Q. Can hit records be created by the payola?

A. In the rock 'n' roll field, yes. Rocking records with no artistic value have been payola-ed to million sellers, merely by constant play. If teen-agers hear the record often enough, they'll buy it.

Q. Can the payola create stars?

A. Absolutely. No-talent youngsters have been shoved to fame by the use of payola on their records. The publicity outlets cooperate, either because of a similar payola or their eagerness to cater to what they think is teen-age taste.

Q. How do gangsters figure in the picture?

A. By their control of juke boxes and their interests in certain singers and record firms.

Q. Who is going to be hurt in this investigation?

A. Some parties who have played cynically with public tastes. And teen-agers who will find that their idols are false.

Q. Who is going to be helped by this investigation?

A. Perhaps you and I, the great bulk of Americans who like good music, jazz or sweet, and resent having tastes dictated by mobsters and quick-buck artists.

Nixon Will Be Marshal of 71st Rose Parade

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon will be grand marshal of the 71st annual New Year's Day Rose Parade.

★ ★ ★

President Raymond A. Dorn of the Tournament of Roses Assn. said Nixon, his wife Pat, and daughters Julia and Patricia, will lead the floral procession in a rose-covered car.

Nixon was chosen, Dorn said, because of his untiring efforts for world peace.

Roughly two-thirds of the world's people live in under-developed sections. And population in these areas have vastly increased in the past century.

Broadway Characters Change With the Years

By EARL WILSON

There's a whole new cast of characters in Ulcer Alley now—the Damon Runyon people are getting old, and in their places we see young intellectuals with beards who have psychiatrists and whose psychiatrists have psychiatrists.

WILSON

When I started on this beat 17 years ago, the "characters" were Broadway Rose, Commodore Dutch, Feets Edson, "Fancy Phil," and C. Carbridge Green, whom Runyon called "the doorway Cartier."

And now?

One character would be Hari Jaaj, who always wears a turban. Son of an Indian importer, he'll greet you with "Hi, what's the action?" Some people spying the headgear feel he must be a Maharajah, which he isn't and doesn't claim.

"I'm a devout Moslem," he explains.

"Maybe he's bald," the Broadway mob suggests.

Milton Berle was the gag-a-second king of the comics for a decade, but Milton's made it and is quieter now—and it's Jack Carter, Jack E. Leonard, Alan King, and Joey Bishop who shoot the fasties across the table.

Long ago—but not so long ago, at that — one composer they'd be pointing out was Larry Hart.

Now maybe it's Jule Styne, popping into the Broadway for another fast look at "Gypsy," or Robert Merrill, leaving the Shubert after giving another brief listen to "Take Me Along."

And the star they're lined up along Shubert Alley to see pushing from his dressing room, with a scarf around his throat and a pretty girl on his arm, rushing over to his suite . . .

Not Al Jolson, not John Baryrmore. Jackie Gleason!

And though some of those in our cast of characters have departed, a few hardy souls still manage to make it every night.

Rolls-Roycing around the town go Billy Rose and Gypsy Rose Lee. Joan Crawford swings in a wave of glamour. Almost every night I check in with Bob Ritchie, dean of the playboys. One of the nice legends is that Bob, the discoverer and former manager of Jeanette MacDonald, has never had a serious romance except with her long ago —and that his torch for her still burns.

Bob must look with amusement upon the younger set today—upon "the Greeks," "the Texans," and Beverly Aadlands.

He can sit around now with another old timer (me) and mutter about the terrible state of everything.

★ ★ ★

A girl was in El Morocco the other night in gold trousers.

"She shouldn't be here in that," I commented sagely.

"She shouldn't be here," Bob said.

Time whips along. Errol Flynn and Ty Power are no more, and Tommy Manville sometimes sleeps right through his after-dinner nap and doesn't wake up until next month. Whatever happened to Jimmy Kelly's, and the Diamond Horseshoe, and Rogers' Corner, and the Hurricane, and the Black Cat, and the Club 18 and the Kit-Kat? And the Paradise and the Villa Vallee and . . .?

But never mind. Next year or so, it'll be whatever happened to us?

Maria Callas Note: Onassis' Wife Sues

NEW YORK (AP) — The wife of Aristotle Onassis, the Greek shipping magnate who has squired opera singer Maria Callas about Mediterranean pleasure spots, Wednesday sued for divorce.

It was the second marriage to hit the rocks in the wake of the friendship multimillionaire Onassis, 55, and the stormy, 35-year-old soprano.

Mrs. Athina (Tina) Mary Onassis, 29, filed her suit in New York State Supreme Court. In it, she seeks custody of the couple's two children, Alexander, 11, and Christina, 9.

Papers in matrimonial suits in New York are not made public. Adultery is the only grounds for divorce under New York law.

The blonde, English-born Mrs. Onassis had flown to New York last September, while her husband was showing Miss Callas about the night clubs of Southern European resort cities.

Miss Callas' husband, Italian industrialist Giovan Battista Meneghini, who had helped guide her to stardom after their marriage 10 years ago, later sued for separation.

Italian law does not permit divorce.

Fire Inspection Due for Schools

Waterford Chief Says Project Will Check Up on Alarm Systems

A complete fire inspection of all Waterford Township schools will get under way Tuesday night, according to Fire Chief Elmer Fangboner.

The project will help acquaint firemen with electrical locations in the buildings and will insure that all alarm systems are in operating condition.

The project is expected to take a week with 36 regular and volunteer firemen working evenings inspecting the 26 schools in the district. Further inspections will be made every three months, Fangboner said.

After the school inspections have been completed, the fire department will begin a routine check up of the nine convalescent homes and hospitals in the township, he said.

Unlikely Pope Will Visit Washington

VATICAN CITY (UPI) —Vatican sources have termed as "completely unlikely and improbable" the suggestion that Pope John XXIII might sometime go to Washington to return a visit President Eisenhower will make here next month.

The Pontiff will receive the American President in "private character" in an audience at the Vatican Palace on Dec. 6.

Eisenhower will be in Rome then in connection with a multination tour that will take him as far as Afghanistan and India.

The President's visit to Pope John raised in some American quarters the suggestion that the Pontiff, known for his unconventional decisions might be thinking of going to Washington sometime in the future to "repay" the courtesy.

Vatican observers said the reasoning might be valid as regards official visits between chiefs of state but must be ruled out in this case and in general because of the nature of the papacy.

Pope John is a chief of state as sovereign of the tiny Vatican kingdom, in addition to his spiritual role as leader of the world's 500 million Roman Catholics.

But Eisenhower's audience with the Pontiff is not official.

The last foreign visit was by Pope Pius VII in 1804 who went to attend the coronation of Napoleon. The Pope was later imprisoned at Tourion by Napoleon.

Since the loss of the Papal States, the popes have remained "voluntary prisoners" in the Vatican. They have traveled only to Castel Gandolfo, the papal summer residence near Rome.

In recent times, the press of work and the wish not to open a chain of precedences by visiting any country has moved the popes to remain at home.

Pope John recently remarked sadly that he could not even take his peasant neighbors on a tour of Rome.

"I am a prisoner," he said.

There are other considerations which would weigh against a visit by Pope John to the United States.

Eisenhower has come under considerable criticism from American Protestant circles for making even an informal visit to Pope John next month.

Separation of church and state in the United States is a touchy issue.

The reception in Washington by an American president of a Roman pope would be certain to cause great controversy, regardless of the genuine goodwill of the men who would actually take part in the meeting.

Neither the Pope nor the Vatican wishes to do anything in the least to alienate relations with the United States.

For all these reasons, a visit by a pope to the United States in the conceivable future would appear out of the question.

State Is Considering Buying Game Land

LANSING (AP) — Land purchases that would enlarge four state game areas, provide two new fishing sites and triple the size of Charles Mears State Park have been recommended to the State Conservation Commisson.

The commission will be asked to approve them at its Dec. 3-4 meeting here.

The village of Pentwater in Oceana County has offered to sell some 34 acres of land fronting on Lake Michigan for $15,000. It adjoins Charles Mears State Park, which covers only 14 acres.

A tract offering 440 feet of frontage on Jephtha Lake in Van Buren County is up for sale at $2,125. Situated between Bloomingdale and Breedsville, it is a popular fishing lake.

Also recommended for purchase at $6,000 is a two-acre parcel having 685 feet of frontage on Wixom Lake in Gladwin County, just north of the Midland County line. Department officials said it offers "exceptionally good fishing in both winter and summer."

The commission also will be asked to approve purchases of 62 acres for addition to Crane Pond State Game Area at $7,900; separate parcels of 155 and 55 acres adjoining Maple River State Game Area for a total of $5,500; 178 acres at Deford State Game Area, offered for $7,500; and 106 acres adjoining Saginaw State Game Area, available for $3,000.

Berry Growers May Yet Enjoy Merry Christmas

NEW YORK (UPI) — Walter Heiby, president of the Precision Instrument Corp., proposed a way out for the cranberry industry — use the bright, red berries as Christmas tree ornaments.

Heiby suggested that the industry relay this message to the public:

"Would you like to help save the cranberry growers of America from disaster? You can help assure that they will have a happy Christmas if you will go out and buy just one pound of cranberries. Then, using a needle and ordinary twine, string them together and place the chain on your Christmas tree. This is the old fashioned tree ornament that grandma always used. Use it again this year. It will add beauty to your tree and you will have that wonderful feeling that you have helped some cranberry grower have a merry Christmas."

30-Year Search for Cannibals Finally Over

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (UPI)—Government officials reported Tuesday they have finally made contact with a long-sought tribe of midget cannibals.

Dr. John Gunther, acting administrator of the Papua district, said jungle patrols have had "friendly meetings" with members of the Keba pygmy tribe in the area's southern hill country.

Gunther said the Kebas admitted they ate their own tribal dead but claimed that fate wasn't good enough for their enemies, whose bodies they left in the jungles to rot.

The search for the Kebas had been going on since 1929.

Worldsday, called December W, would be the 365th day. A world holiday, it would follow December 30th every year. Leapyear Day, June W, would also be a world holiday and follow June 30th in leap years.

AN END TO JUMPING AROUND—Advocates of the modern-age calendar say 1961 is the time to adopt the new one. Both the year 1961 and the proposed World Calendar (see above) start on Sunday. Our present system is not only confusing, but wasteful when it comes to accounting, says Elisabeth Achelis in a current book, "The Calendar for the Modern Age." This system would give quarters of equal length and give each month 26 weekdays. Extra holidays fall outside the framework and make things come out the same.

Weather Experts Criticize Idea of Bering Dam

MOSCOW (AP)—A plan to alter arctic weather conditions by damming the Bering Strait has drawn criticism from Soviet weather experts who say the huge dam might change the climate for the worse.

The Soviet news agency Tass has reported a meeting, sponsored by the Literary Gazette, of scientists, engineers and writers to discuss the proposal by Pyotr Borisov for a dam between the Asian and North American continents. Other scientists and writers have also suggested such a plan.

Borisov said a dam across the Bering Strait would convert millions of acres of frozen land into fertile farmlands and pastures by diverting warm ocean currents northward. The Strait between Siberia and Alaska is 55 miles at its narrowest and 170 feet at its deepest.

Dmitry Drogaitsev, a staff member of the Weather Forecast Institute, said warming up the arctic region might worsen the climate farther south, causing drier summers, colder winters, and forcing the drought zone northward.

Atlantic City, N. J., is the windiest American city. Its average hourly wind speed has been set at 15.2 m.p.h. over a period of years.
