Arms Span the Long Years

BROTHERS EMBRACE — Forty-two years is a long time for two brothers to be separated and Neekleh (left) and Louis Kaddor of Pontiac made the most of their reunion when they were reunited in Pontiac Saturday.

Neekleh followed his brother to the United States from their native Palestine—where they had bid each other goodbye in 1919.

After 42 Years Apart

Brothers Are Reunited

Forty-two years was long enough, but those last five hours were like eternity to Louis Kaddor.

Kaddor and his wife Lathia waited inside the Greyhound bus station on Perry street Saturday. The hands on the big clock couldn't go around fast enough for them.

"SITTING ON FIRE"
Eighty-three, Nine-hundred, Ten-thirty.

"I felt just like I was sitting on top of a fire," said Kaddor, of 110 S. Jessie St. He paced nervously like an expectant father.

The bus pulled into the station at 1:30. The waiting — for years and hours — came to an end.

Off the bus stepped Kaddor's younger brother Neekleh, whom

Louis hadn't seen since 1919 when he left for the new country.

They recognized each other immediately. Both wept with tears of happiness while they embraced outside the bus.

"I like what I've seen," Neekleh said. "I like what I've seen," Neekleh said. "I like what I've seen," Neekleh said.

Louis Kaddor, 64, a dry goods traveling salesman, and his wife, who used to operate a restaurant in Pontiac and Drayton Plains, filed papers with the government two years ago in hopes of having the brother come to this country. His name finally appeared on the latest immigration quota list from Palestine.

BUS DELAYED

An Italian liner brought Kaddor to New York. A bus was taken from New York to Pontiac. It was due at 8:30 a.m. Saturday but was delayed in Cleveland, causing Louis Kaddor the extra five anxious hours of waiting.

"We're hoping he'll get work here and then bring his family over to stay," Mrs. Kaddor said.

Already the new arrival has been introduced to relatives of Louis Kaddor living in Detroit. But a big family reunion will be postponed until other relatives can gather from Flint.

This is okay with Louis and Neekleh. They have plenty to talk about by themselves. After all—brother come to this country. His

Wild Night of Murder Told by Terry Jo, 11

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A terror-filled story indicating that Capt. Julian Harvey slaughtered the passengers of the ketch Bluebell has been told to the Coast Guard by the lone survivor, Terry Jo Duperrault, 11, of Green Bay, Wis.

Well before the Bluebell went down in Bahamas waters Nov. 11 with the loss of five lives, Terry Jo said she saw the bodies of her mother and brother on the floor of the main cabin and saw blood all over the cabin and the main deck.

Harvey, who killed himself last Friday after learning that Terry Jo had survived, took the ship dinghy and main life raft and jumped overboard, leaving her stranded on the deck, she said.

Terry's story was disclosed by the Coast Guard at a news conference today.

The girl was interviewed Sunday by FBI agents and Coast Guard investigators in a hospital room where she is recovering from an ordeal of 3½ days on a tiny raft bouncing through troubled seas.

Williams Vetoes Request to Run

Ex-Governor Rejects Bid by Supporters to Seek Seat in Congress

DETROIT (UPI)—Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams, former six-term Democratic governor of Michigan, said Sunday that he had been asked to run for Congress but would not do so.

Supporters of Williams have asked him to seek the 14th district seat vacated last week by the death of Rep. Louis C. Rabaut, also a Democrat.

Williams said he was "honored" by the request but he felt his "obligation to my present job takes precedence over any other consideration at this time."

However, a source close to Williams said he was interested in getting back into Michigan politics to prove that he has not lost his personal charm with "Michigan voters."

Williams presently is assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

Rabaut served the 14th district for nearly 25 years in the U.S. House of Representatives. The district covers Detroit's far eastside and the Grosse Pointe area.

Still Hunt Son of Rockefeller Lost in Guinea

Dutch Navy Explores South Pacific Coastal Area; Boy's Friend OK

By United Press International
President Kennedy today offered U.S. aid in the search for Michael Rockefeller, youngest son of the New York governor, who vanished from a disabled boat while exploring the South Pacific wilderness of New Guinea.

A hunt already was being pressed by the Dutch Navy. One of its ships today rescued Rockefeller's companion, who reported that Michael was last seen trying to swim ashore off the lonely New Guinea Coast.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who disclosed only Friday that he and his wife were ending their 31-year marriage, left at once to join the search. He and a party of experts left San Francisco en route to New Guinea during the morning.

Michael, 23, had gone to New Guinea with a Harvard University team and remained to search for rare native art objects.

Officials at Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea, radioed a terse report to the defense ministry at The Hague, The Netherlands, saying that Rockefeller's companion, Dutch ethnologist R. S. Wainik, 34, had been picked up safely.

Rockefeller was informed of the possible family tragedy Sunday night, barely 48 hours after he and his wife announced they were ending their 31-year marriage with separation and divorce. No cause was given.

Michael was one of five grown children of the couple. His twin sister, Mrs. Mary Rockefeller Strawbridge, accompanied the governor on his flight. The mother remained in seclusion near New York.

They reached San Francisco early this morning on a 10-hour flight to the South Pacific.

BOAT LOST POWER

In New Guinea, Wainik was reported to have told his rescuers that he and young Rockefeller were exploring the remote and crocodile-infested south coast of Dutch New Guinea when their native boat lost its power and started drifting out to sea near the mouth of the Eilanden River.

The boat, called a prahu, is made of two small Malay canoes lashed together in a catamaran style. Normally, it is powered with sails and oars, and sometimes an engine — as was the case this time.

The engine fell off and the small, shallow-draft boat started drifting out into the Arafura Sea. The craft was sighted by search planes Saturday, but darkness closed in before help could come.

Crisp and Cloudy to Whet Appetites on Thanksgiving

Mostly cloudy skies and light change in temperature with occasional light snow flurries during the next five days means crisp weather to whet Thanksgiving dinner appetites.

Temperatures will average near the normal high 34 to 38 and normal low 19 to 23 through Friday. The low tonight will be 20.

Aside from the chance of occasional very light snow flurries and a high of 46 through Wednesday, milder day-to-day changes in temperature with gradual warming trend throughout most of the period is the forecast by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Precipitation will average one-tenth of an inch in light snow, mostly Thursday.

Variable winds at 6 to 12 miles will continue throughout today.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 o'clock today was 25 degrees at 3:30 a.m. By 2 p.m. the mercury had climbed to a cool 39.

OBJECT OF SEARCH — Michael Rockefeller, 23, youngest son of the New York governor is pictured paddling a native canoe in New Guinea in a photo taken last summer. The young Rockefeller was last seen floating on two canoes off the south coast of New Guinea. Gov. Rockefeller and Michael's twin sister, Mrs. Mary Rockefeller Strawbridge, took off from San Francisco this morning to assist in the search for the missing young explorer.

ON WAY TO SEARCH — New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, and his daughter Mrs. Mary Rockefeller Strawbridge, are shown on their arrival in San Francisco early this morning en route to New Guinea to aid in the search for Rockefeller's son Michael, 23, who has been reported missing while working on an expedition. Mrs. Strawbridge is the missing David's twin sister.

Trujillo Group of 29 Huddles in Florida

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES
FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. — Twenty-nine members and friends of the powerful Trujillo family flew to the United States today leaving their Dominican republic in the hands of President Joaquin Balaguer. They said they would return when things cooled off.

Bowing to a U. S. show of force and opposition from Young Dominican air force generals, the Trujillo clan today appeared to have abandoned an attempt to set up a new dictatorship in this Caribbean republic.

President Balaguer, pledged to set the nation on the road to democracy, extended his control as the Trujillo officials slipped out of the country, aboard a chartered airliner.

A four-engine Pan American World Airways Constellation brought them out of Ciudad Trujillo at midnight, landing them at Ft. Lauderdale's Broward International Airport at 8:10 a.m. EST.

A heavy security guard met them and had a fleet of taxis waiting to take them to a hotel in Miami Beach.

Among the passengers were Hector and Jose Arismendi Trujillo, brothers of Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo Sr., the man who ruled the Dominican republic for 30 years until his assassination last May 30.

SON WITH PARTY
Also on board was the generalissimo's younger son, Neftalí, 29, and nephew, Gen. Garcia Trujillo, who replaced as chief of staff of the Dominican army.

Hector said he was "very glad" to be in the United States but insisted "I can go back to the Dominican republic when ever I wish."

He said Ciudad Trujillo was calm when he left and Balaguer "is in command of the gov-

Griffin Says He May Run for Governor

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI)—Rep. Robert P. Griffin, co-author of the controversial Landrum-Griffin Labor Bill, said today he is "giving serious consideration" to a possible bid for governor in 1962.

Griffin, a Republican, said he was not in a position to make an announcement regarding his plans at this time. He said he had a "lot of problems" to solve before jumping into the race against Gov. John Swainson.

One of Griffin's problems is lack of funds to finance a primary campaign. He said "under no circumstances" would he accept financial backing accompanied by "strings." He said he would want to be "in the clear" when making decisions.

Another problem facing the 38-year-old lawyer, although Griffin did not go into the matter, is the possible candidacy of American Motors Corp. President George Romney.

Romney is being boomed as the GOP candidate in some quarters, although he has remained silent on the matter.

Children Warned to Avoid Strangers

"Look out for strangers," is the warning in a Pontiac area school children issued by the Crime Prevention Bureau of the Pontiac Police Department.

Unfortunately, the bureau warns, innocent youngsters are too easily warned, may fall prey to child attackers who have diseased minds.

Belgium's Spaak Speaks Out for Confab With Reds

Says High-Level Talks Needed on Berlin

From Our News Wires
WASHINGTON—Belgian Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak said today there should be high-level discussions with the Soviet Union on the Berlin situation.

Spaak, the former secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance (NATO), made the statement at the White House after a 70-minute meeting with President Kennedy.

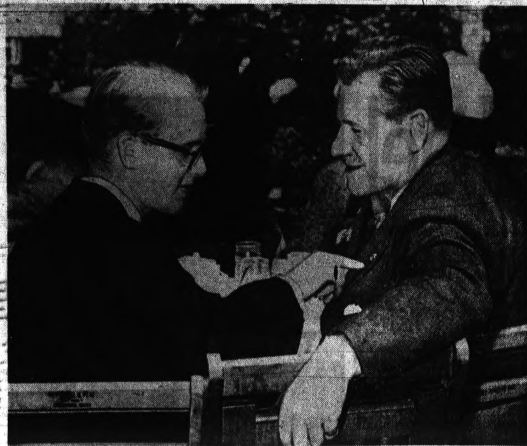

The session was held in advance of a scheduled 4 p.m. conference between Kennedy and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. The two leaders hoped to agree on a press which would be negotiable in any Berlin talks with Russia.

Spaak told newsmen he and the President discussed Berlin, the German problem and the Congo.

Spaak said he felt negotiations with the Russians were absolutely necessary and suggested that they

Herbert Parker Gets Water Post

To Be Superintendent of Pontiac Department Starting Dec. 1

Asst. City Manager Robert A. Stierer today announced the appointment of Herbert G. Parker, assistant city water department superintendent, to the position of city water superintendent.

Parker, 35, will take over the $9,100-a-year job Dec. 1. He succeeds retiring water superintendent, Joseph W. Gable.

He has been assistant superintendent since coming to Pontiac in July 1955. Parker, 12400 Big Lake Road, Davisburg, is married and has four children.

BOOBS PASSAGE

Hurrying to the scene, the governor booked passage on two flights — a Pan American World Airways flight leaving at 9 a. m. PST (12 noon Pontiac time) and a Qantas Airlines flight leaving at 8:30 p. m. PST (11:30 p. m. Pontiac time).

Robert McNamara, the governor's press secretary, said the party very likely would take the earlier flight.

"We can't reach any conclusions on the basis of these reports from The Hague," McNamara said. "But we are pressing hard."

The PAA flight will take the governor's party to Tokyo, from where they will fly south aboard a chartered plane.

"I doubt if I can help in the actual search," the governor told newsmen when he reached San Francisco. "But we hope to find our son well and healthy."

A native of Royal Oak, he worked in the Royal Oak water department seven years before coming to Pontiac.

Parker attended public schools in Royal Oak. He is a graduate of Lawrence Institute of Technology with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering.

He is a veteran of World War II. The appointment was officially made by retiring City Manager Walter K. Wilman, who began his term last June 5.

Reds Strengthen Wall in Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists today strengthened the wall dividing Berlin with tank tracks and barriers as they were digging to repair an invasion. Big propaganda signs were tacked up on the reinforced barricades in front of the Brandenburg Gate reading: "Anyone who attacks us will be annihilated."

About 2,000 workers, under the watchful eyes of 2,000 armed guards, labored feverishly during the night erecting massive fortifications that look more and more permanent.

Deputy Mayor Franz Arndt of West Berlin said with bitter emotion: "That's a wall for a thousand years."

Waterford Twp. Sets Hearings on Street Lights

Two public hearings for additional street lights will be held from 7 to 9 p. m. at tonight's Waterford Township Board meeting.

Residents of Oakwood Manor subdivision have petitioned for nine more lights which would cost the township $9 each annually.

Only two more lights have been requested by people in the Waterford Township subdivision. If approved, the new rate of assessment would be $4.22 to property owners of 232 lots.

Clerk James E. Steiner will present discussion material for the establishment of capital improvement charges for water system extensions, primarily for the new Pontiac-Shopping Mall on Telegraph Road.

He will also ask for recommendations on a fire line standby rate for the various sprinkling systems installed in the shopping center's new stores.

U.S. Asks U.N. for Congo Move

Afraid Oriental Province Might Secede; Wants Stronger Resolution

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States, fearful that Antoine Gizenga might withdraw Congo's province from the Congo, sought today to have the U.N. Security Council call for an end to secessionist activities in the turbulent country.

U.S. delegates scheduled a meeting with delegates of Ceylon, Liberia and the Arab Arab Republic to urge them to write such a general antiseccession provision into a resolution they introduced last Wednesday. The resolution now calls for an end to secessionist activities only in Katanga Province.

The 11-nation council was to meet this afternoon. The United States delegation is expected to pass in its original form and the risk of a Soviet veto is changed to suit the United States.

Acting Secretary General U. Thant was prepared to tell the council after the vote what he planned to do in the Congo. He told his Congo advisory committee Friday that previous resolutions gave him all the authority he needed, but he was expected to welcome any new powers the council might grant.

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Supporters of Congolese leader Joseph Kasavubu were reported today to have opened up a second front of agitation in Kivu Province, the area where 13 Italians were slain nine days ago.

Reports of similar agitation came out of the Kivu Province town of Kindu two weeks ago just before drunken and riotous Congolese soldiers seized the Italian airman on a U.N. military mission — and hacked their bodies.

There was no immediate indication just what effect the agitation would have on the Italian — a relatively modern Congolese city on the Rwanda-Druid border.

The Day in Birmingham Hope for Better Turnout at Special School Election

BIRMINGHAM — More enthusiasm was hoped for in an annual school election here today than was shown a week ago when only eight residents turned out for a town hall meeting to hear the proposals discussed.

The Birmingham Board of Education is requesting the approval of a $4,515,000 bond issue for new school construction and an 11-mill tax from the 30,000 voters in the school district.

Approval of the tax question would only mean an increase of $2.60 for each $1,000 of state equalized valuation, according to school officials.

Six of the 11 mills being requested would be an extension of a current levy and the remaining five mills would be split with the levying of $2.60 in new taxes and a transfer of $2.40 for each $1,000 of valuation from the district's retirement service fund to the general operating budget.

The request for 11 mills is required on the ballot because of a law which states that the full amount needed for operation appear in the proposal.

The bond issue, which would add no tax increase, would be used to finance the construction of a junior high school, an elementary school and additional service building and addition to the Barrum Junior-High school.

These new schools and additions would be built over a five-year period.

The last millage increase was requested and approved in June 1960. At that time taxes for $1,000 were $1.99 for each $1,000. Two months earlier a similar should be conducted at the foreign ministers' level.

The President returned from a four-day western speaking tour less than two hours before meeting with Spak. Kennedy motored from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., to the White House.

STUDENTS PICKET
As customary, he entered the grounds through the back gate and did not see a group of midwestern college students picketing for peace.

Kennedy was reported hopeful that Adenauer would accept a flexible approach, allowing for the possibility of a West, if the Soviet Union is willing to respect "vital interests" of the Western powers in West Berlin. The West German chancellor

He told Secretary of State Dean Rusk that he was "in complete agreement" with the peace-loving nations will win.

This is the 85-year-old German leader's second visit since Kennedy took office in January. He was here in April for a get-acquainted meeting. He told Rusk, "My country is firmly on your side."

Rusk described Adenauer as "the dean of the Western world whose judgment is a great asset to the entire free community."

He said the chancellor is "always a most welcome guest."

They were among 13 people killed on Michigan roads over the weekend.

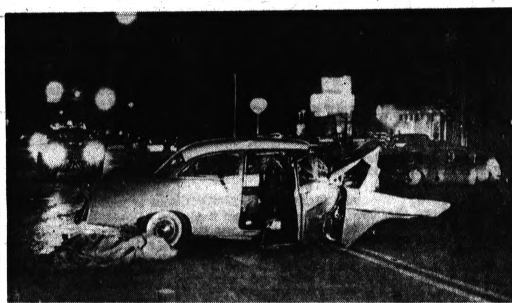

Dorothy Jenner, 29, of Sturgis, was killed Sunday evening in a two-car, head-on collision on U.S. 24 just inside the Michigan-Oak border.

Ruggiero made the charge after a meeting of the county committee and a discussion of Swainson's weekend appointment of Sherwood Colburn, 33, of 24662 Stead St., to the job.

Gov. Swainson was not immediately available to comment on Ruggiero's charge.

James M. Gim, Oakland County Democratic chairman, said Colburn, the county's regional liaison representative with the state party, had been given "general political clearance" by his local Oak Ridge Huntington Woods-Pleasant Ridge Democratic Club and then by the county committee.

Speaking freely about her connection with the Scribner espionage case, Miss Fischer said: "I was not politically involved in that affair and I see no reason why Polish authorities should be interested in me now."

Another Pate daughter, Celene, 16, was at home at the time of the accident. A son, Cpl. Bobby Pate, 18, serving with the U.S. Marine Corps.

They were among 13 people killed on Michigan roads over the weekend.

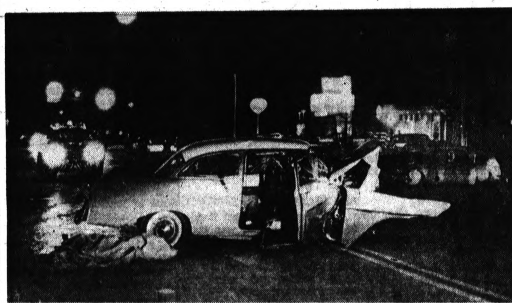

Dorothy Jenner, 29, of Sturgis, was killed Sunday evening in a two-car, head-on collision on U.S. 24 just inside the Michigan-Oak border.

Ruggiero made the charge after a meeting of the county committee and a discussion of Swainson's weekend appointment of Sherwood Colburn, 33, of 24662 Stead St., to the job.

Gov. Swainson was not immediately available to comment on Ruggiero's charge.

James M. Gim, Oakland County Democratic chairman, said Colburn, the county's regional liaison representative with the state party, had been given "general political clearance" by his local Oak Ridge Huntington Woods-Pleasant Ridge Democratic Club and then by the county committee.

Speaking freely about her connection with the Scribner espionage case, Miss Fischer said: "I was not politically involved in that affair and I see no reason why Polish authorities should be interested in me now."

State Roads Claim 9 Others on Weekend

DEATH ON HIGHWAY—Earl N. Pate, 49, Flint, his wife Mayella, 40, son Gregory, 12, and daughter Gail, 13 months, were killed Sunday night in a two-car head-on collision two miles north of Clio at the Clio Road-Dixie Highway intersection. Two other daughters were listed in serious condition. The driver of the other car, Timothy O. Morse, 21, of Birch Run and a passenger, Joseph Kenny of Mount Morris were in serious condition at Flint's Hurley Hospital.

Head-On Crash Kills 4 in Flint Family

CLIO (AP) — Four members of a Flint family were killed Sunday night in a two-car head-on collision about two miles north of here.

Dead were Earl N. Pate, 49, his wife Mayella, 40, a son Gregory, 12, and daughter Gail, 13 months. Two other daughters Patricia, 20, and Paulette, 16, were hospitalized in serious condition.

Police said the driver of the other car was Timothy O. Morse, 21, of Birch Run. He and a passenger, Joseph Kenny of Mount Morris, were in serious condition at Flint's Hurley Hospital.

State police said they had not yet determined the cause of the crash.

JFK Forgets Berlin for Awhile

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — How does a president of the United States relax on a sunny Sunday afternoon?

President Kennedy took second helpings of a big dinner, kicked off his shoes, slouched in his chair and talked of trivial things for three hours. It did him a world of good.

Occasion was a small luncheon given by his sister, Patricia, and her actor-husband, Peter Lawford.

In a climate vastly warmer than Washington, Berlin or Moscow, the young chief executive talked of movies and moviemaking with Hollywood chums of the Lawfords.

Occasionally, he kidded with young Chris Lawford, his nephew, and Barron Hilton Jr., grandson of the hotel tycoon. To them, he was "Uncle Jack."

AT SANTA MONICA

$250,000 Fire Guts Port Huron Building

PORT HURON, Mich. — Fire destroyed a large building in downtown Port Huron Sunday and caused an estimated $250,000 damage. No one was injured.

The Paton Motors Building, including an auto sales and service agency and the Greyhound bus station, was destroyed.

Fifteen new cars, three used cars, a customer's car, a pickup truck and a Greyhound bus were heavily damaged, firemen said. Fifty firemen battled the blaze, reported at 3:52 a.m. by a guest in an adjoining hotel. A series of oil explosions occurred during the fire.

A Paton Co. spokesman said the fire apparently started near the front of the building where oil products were stored.

Alarmed Worker Finds Himself Dogged by Guard

DETROIT (AP) — Two burglar detection systems worked perfectly Sunday night to the embarrassment of George Van Bell. Van Bell works for a Detroit burglar alarm company and was sent out to see what caused an alarm to go off at a boat-and-motor store.

He used his key to get into the building. There was no burglar — but there was a 100-pound German shepherd dog that went for Van Bell.

He locked himself in a small room while the dog guarded the locked door. For 45 minutes he stood at a barred window yelling for help. His cries finally were heard and police arrived. They locked the dog into another room and freed Van Bell.

Police said the dog was kept in the store to guard against burglars. They said the burglar alarm probably was set off by the dog wandering around the store.

Ships Collide, One Sinks; U.S. Freighter Okay

TOKYO (AP) — The American freighter Almeria Lykes was slightly damaged and a Japanese ship sank in a collision Sunday night off southwestern Japan.

Three of the crewmen aboard the Japanese ship, the 3,228-ton Hyosui Maru, were missing. Thirty-one others were rescued. No one aboard the 7,850-ton American freighter was hurt.

Dressed in faded blue dungarees, sport shirt and gray sweatshirt — and no shoes — the President sprawled in a beach chair. For three hours, he looked more like a Harvard sophomore than the chief of a world power.

"It did him good to forget things for a while," Lawford said. "It seemed to relax him immensely."

The President chatted and laughed with director and Mrs. Billy Wilder, actress Angie Dickinson and Alvin Karpis. Karpis was skipper of the ship which rescued him from an island in enemy-held South Pacific waters during World War II.

When luncheon was finished, a smiling President went into the kitchen and congratulated Della Bradley, the Lawfords' Negro cook.

A HEARTY APPETITE
The President, famed for a hearty appetite, started off with cold vichyssoise with chives, then a main course of quail cooked with currant jelly and brandy and stuffed with wild rice. Peas and onions were the vegetables. Dessert was home-baked chocolate tart.

Everything was home-cooked except the imported Dutch beer the President used to wash down the big meal.

"He talked mostly about movies," said Miss Dickinson. "He seemed to be interested in what we were doing. He didn't talk much about politics or the world situation."

After lunch the President changed back into his working clothes.

Texas Holds Welfare Aid Below Average

Editor's Note: A stiff welfare code, imposed by the city of Newburgh, N. Y., earlier this year, has caused the city of a national controversy. It also raised the question how welfare was administered in other sections of the nation. United Press International reporters in 10 representative states have prepared dispatches explaining what procedures in those areas. These stories will be carried each Monday. The first, on Texas, follows.

By CARLTON WILSON
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — A tight-fisted policy in Texas keeps welfare rolls at a minimum and monthly checks lower than the national average.
Payments may be forced still lower next year because of a unique state constitutional limit, according to John H. Winters, commissioner of public welfare for 18 years.

Texas begins a medical care program for the aged in 1962, with federal funds to pay about $10 of the $15 maximum monthly allowance.

Another 6,294 blind persons receive average monthly checks of $61, compared to a national average of $73, while the 7,585 Texans who meet a highly restrictive state definition of being disabled draw average checks of $54. National average payment to the disabled is $68.

There are 60,434 children under 14 years old classed as dependent, and their parents or guardians are paid an average of $18.50 monthly per child compared to a national average of $30.30.

Federal money pays most of the welfare costs in Texas, as in other states. Under a matching formula, the national government pays about $25 for the first $31 sent to the aged, blind and permanently disabled; and $3 out of every $5 over that amount.

FROM THE U.S.
Aid to dependent children comes almost entirely from the federal treasury. The state pays only $3 for the first $17 and 40 per cent over that in each check. Most states pay such aid up to age 18, but Texas cuts off checks to care for children at age 14.

Texas also refuses to pay toward support of a child unless at least one parent is dead, constantly absent from the home, or physically or mentally incapacitated.

Winters said only 12,000 of 131,123 children registered at birth as illegitimate during the last 13 years are on Texas welfare rolls. It is perhaps harder to qualify for aid to the disabled in Texas than any other state, Winters continued.

State law requires a disabled person to be "bedfast, chairfast or need close and constant supervision."

U. S. railroads use more than a fourth with a 30-foot wide board-billion ties, enough to circle the earth.

Reciprocal Landings, Traffic Rights Stir Controversy

Italians Are Getting Tough With U.S., British Airlines

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Notes from the Foreign News
Cables: 4

EQUAL RIGHTS:

The Italians are getting tough with U.S. and British airlines over the matter of reciprocal landing and traffic rights. Talks with the United States on Alitalia's request for permission to land at Pacific Coast cities have broken down.

The United States has refused, until Italy turns over traffic statistics, which Alitalia so far has declined to do.

In return, Italy is threatening to refuse Rome landing rights either to TWA or Pan American.

A British delegation is now in Rome trying to renegotiate BEA, BOAC and Alitalia services between the two countries. Aviation sources say the talks so far are having rough going.

INFLUENCING PEOPLE:

Communist China is reported eyeing the independent Asian kingdom of Nepal as part of a concentrated drive to gain allies among independent Asian nations.

Peking, according to reports reaching Western Europe, recently ceded some 300 square miles of border territory to Nepal in a "good will" gesture. Red China also made Nepal a present of three airplanes.

EAST TO WEST:

When West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer returns to Bonn in early December from trips to Washington, Paris and London, Charles De Gaulle will meet in and Macmillan is expected to urge latter drop his opposition to talks London within the next few days, strongly upon De Gaulle that the with Moscow.

Khrushchev is reported to have instructed Smirnov to ask for an early meeting with Adenauer. Just what Khrushchev has in mind is uncertain, but according to Soviet diplomatic sources here, Khrushchev would like to meet with Adenauer in person, preferably in Bonn.

DEFENSE:

West German Army officers believe the West's readiness to cope with possible Soviet tank attack is inadequate, and, as result, NATO anti-tank tactics may come under review.

Russia has more than 10,000 first line tanks stationed in East Germany, four times more than the 2,500 tanks Hitler used to defeat France in his blitz campaign of 1940.

Soviet tanks are known to vastly outnumber the West's armor and to be of excellent quality. The West's major anti-tank defense now is Western tanks and guided missiles of a French design.

The French missiles are effective only at distances of more than 500 yards. In Western European terrain, combat against tanks at such distance will be rare, officers predict.

They think NATO troops must be able to crack tanks at any distance between 10 and 200 yards.

BETTER TO TALK:

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President

Charles De Gaulle will meet in and Macmillan is expected to urge latter drop his opposition to talks London within the next few days, strongly upon De Gaulle that the with Moscow.

The British line will be that it may be better to talk to Khrushchev not that he has dropped the year-end deadline for a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany than to do so under crisis conditions and a possible new and more dangerous Soviet threat.

Adlai Gives Frank Talk at United Nations

ADLAI STEVENSON delivered a forthright declaration at the United Nations when he outlined our own position on nuclear bombs and war activities.

He asserted:
"We do what we say.
The Russians vote it and then bolt it."

The United States delegate is so everlastingly correct. We do precisely what we say and the whole world knows it. The Russians do precisely what they please at the moment, irrespective of what they have said before or what is best for the world.

International relations on the present scale are new and comparatively untold. Similar relations in the past never carried the fearful off-stage threat that is imminent in everything today because of the devastating power of the leading nations.

And in this current setup, the Russian nation has clearly established itself as the greatest international liar of all time. Other nations follow the U.S. pattern and follow out their own policies as announced.

One of the most regrettable features in the whole matter is the fact that the Russian people—we mean the 210 million who form the nation—are blissfully unaware that their leaders are two-tongued, double-crossing tramps. They're completely irresponsible and are rather smug over the fact to boot. They have their own people so completely bottled up that the Russians only learn what the head reads decide they should.

Adlai Stevenson reiterates facts that are established. We have said it before. We will probably have to say it again. The U.S. delegate did a particularly good job this time and we applaud him for his presentation.

U.S. Shares Findings on Weather Research

Weather and the cold war go hand in hand with no secrets. At a meeting in Washington with 28 nations, including the Soviet Union, the United States is making available every facet of its weather satellite program.

No doubt this willingness to share the plethora of information from one and a half years of intensive experimentation will prove upsetting to those who see military significance in weather research.

Actually, we should not worry needlessly about giving up this information. For a number of years this country and Russia have exchanged information.

Further this country's ability to predict the fallout pattern of the current Soviet nuclear tests in the Arctic depends in part on daily weather reports and observations made available by Russia.

Of course, the Soviet meteorologists will have the benefit of information that costs this Nation millions of dollars and thousands of man hours. Three "Tiro" weather satellites, equipped with TV cameras capable of transmitting cloud cover pictures back to earth, have been launched by the United States since April 1960.

Results have exceeded all expectations and some data are now being used in actual forecasting.

Four more "Tiro" satellites are scheduled for launching before mid-1962 when the more sophisticated "Nimbus" weather satellite will be ready.

So far as we know, the Russians have never launched a weather satellite of its own. When and if it does, it will be interesting to see if the information is treated as a matter for worldwide distribution or as an instrument of "meteorological warfare."

The Man About Town

Turkeys Raised This Year at Our Largest Such Farm

Preocious child: The only thing more annoying than its mother.

Oakland County's largest turkey farm is producing "only" 15,000 of these highly temperamental birds this year. It is the Travis Farm, at 1400 Mack Road in Addison Township, about 22 miles northeast of Pontiac, and owned by Paul H. Travis, who has been in the business 23 years, 16 years of this location. This number is slightly less than last year, but still in an abundance of succulent white meat, drumsticks, and numerous other palate tickling temptations. They have changed the turkey from a mere Thanksgiving delicacy to a year 'round delight.

Surely knowing his turkeys from the gobbles to the toe nails is Robert L. Smith, who has been manager of the enterprise for 21 years. He tells me that this year's birds are the best he ever turned out. All are individually wrapped and ready for the oven. From killing time to delivery they always are under perfect refrigeration, even in the Travis trucks. While the advance Thanksgiving sale has been a large one, it is expected that there will be plenty for Christmas, or for the every day consumption, which has shown a big increase in recent years.

We're quite in agreement with a number of our readers who assert that the weather bureau has done a lot of goofing in its recent predictions.

This reminds me that the Old Farmer's Almanac makes this prediction for the Pontiac area this week:

"Cold; then warm; then raw; Then worst storm you ever saw."

Only five entries now remain in our football contest. They picked Arizona State to win Saturday's game with Detroit University, which Arizona won, 40-6. The four survivors who picked Detroit are eliminated. The five remaining contestants divide their choice on the Thanksgiving game: Detroit Lions, 3; Green Bay Packers, 2.

Getting somewhat facetious.

Orson Kendrick of Pontiac Lake phones that a swarm of bees took up their habitation last summer in his fish house, and he wonders if they won't make it hot for him when he moves it on the ice this winter.

A sample of what modern transportation means is found in the case of Orlando Flanders of Lake Orion, and a number of others, who drive home each night after a day's deer hunting in the woods above Standish, returning to the hunting grounds each morning.

It is quite a pioneer who remembers when our lakes were safe for ice skating on Thanksgiving, but such was the case a majority of the time. Changing seasons!!!

Going north a few days early to get the deer spotted for the opening.

Anson Brearley of Clarkston writes home from Mio: "Good weather; everything fine in woods; lots of fresh tracks—but see no deer."

A Mighty Oak Has Fallen

David Lawrence Expounds:

One Extremist Breeds His Opposite

WASHINGTON — There is a lot of talk nowadays about "extremists," and President Kennedy on his trip to the Pacific Coast devoted a large part of his speeches to what he calls "extreme opposites."

The President spoke of "two groups of these frustrated citizens who resemble each other in that they believe that 'we have only two choices—appeasement or war, suicide or surrender, humiliation or holocaust.'"

He implied there is a middle ground—firmness without rigidity, flexibility in negotiations without advancing "any proposals which compromise the security of free Germans and West Berliners, or endanger their ties with the West."

The average man may not quite understand the nuances of such words, and he is hardly to be condemned for saying that all he wants is for his own government to be resolute and stand on principle, and not to give the impression that it is weak-kneed or wavering or begging for mercy.

Many voices are heard on foreign policy. Conflicting statements by a variety of spokesmen in the West tend to confuse large numbers of Americans.

But the really important question is: What causes all this "extremism?"

Perhaps it is easier to understand what provokes extremism when a few of the domestic issues about which the same complaint is made are carefully examined. Thus, the other day Vice President Lyndon Johnson, in a speech at Detroit, said that "the Communists are going to wage a war of doubt and disunity" and that "the leaders of world communism know that in this ugly business they find many unwitting allies within our own society."

He spoke of those who are "urging the people to distrust their own elected leaders, their own long-cherished institutions," and added that "these are the people who scream that the judiciary is biased and that its decisions ought not to be obeyed."

When the average American, however, reads that the Supreme Court of the United States again and again renders decisions whose effect is to help Communism, and that members in this country to avoid jail, and when, after six years of litigation, the Department of Justice lawyers go into court, throw up their hands and declare they cannot hope to convict some known Communist because of technical deficiencies in the law as interpreted by the Supreme Court, it is natural that resentment should be aroused.

The Country Parson

HAPPENS AGAIN

This happens, too, when rapists and other criminals are released after repeated offenses as the claim is made that they cannot be punished because of some technicality, such as a prolonged delay in arraignment.

A lot of education is needed, of course, as to what is or is not a constitutional right. But even so, the citizen becomes bewildered as he reads that a known Communist, against whose testimony from undercover agents of the FBI is produced, simply takes the Fifth Amendment and gets away with it.

In a famous opinion rendered in 1950 in a case against organizers of the Communist party in America, he wrote: "The question before us, and the only one, is how long a government, having discovered such a conspiracy, must wait. When does the conspiracy become a 'present danger'?"

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Remember the former things of old; for I am God, and there is none like me. — Isaiah 46:9.

God alone is true; God alone is great; God alone is God. — Laboulaye.

TO BE DEPLORED

Extremism is to be deplored, but it is a natural phenomenon in a society where controversy flourishes. It will not be eliminated merely by denunciation or exhortation.

Extremists too often are begotten by extremists of the opposite side. It may be some of the technical mind in the judiciary, for instance, to restudy the doctrine of "a clear and present danger," as expounded by the late Judge Learned Hand.

In a famous opinion rendered in 1950 in a case against organizers of the Communist party in America, he wrote: "The question before us, and the only one, is how long a government, having discovered such a conspiracy, must wait. When does the conspiracy become a 'present danger'?"

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

It's Easy to Cut Down Costs of Medical Care

By H. T. HYMAN, M. D.
Major items in many household budgets are the costs of medical care. At the moment, many thoughtful individuals, committees of public-spirited individuals and governmental agencies are trying to reduce these costs.

This way, they hope to permit families in middle and lower income brackets to get the benefits of modern medical care without being forced to practice economies in the purchase of essentials, or of making undue sacrifices in their purchases of necessities.

If you are like me in that you begin to grow impatient with long drawn out investigations, you might consider doing a little homework on the subject. To help you get started here are a few general suggestions:

The cost of advertised proprietary far exceeds that of preparations of similar action purchased by their true or generic names. You can self-medicate with drugs that only relieve symptoms, such as appetite killers, cough medicines, laxatives, iron tonics, vitamins, tranquilizers and sleeping medicines. Or you can insist that your doctor prescribe these for you. Either way is wrong. You get no real benefit from either but the causes of your symptoms.

For example, scarcely a week goes by without notice of the introduction of a new appetite-killer.

Yet a report prepared for the Committee on Advertising of the highly respected New England Medical Society states that "the relative ineffectiveness of anorectic drugs (appetite killers) alone is indicated by the enormous number of available preparations, probably intended to mask undesirable side effects or to influence favorably the psychological state believed to be responsible for the intractable (stubborn) appetite."

The report then concludes that, despite "the continuing search for an agent that will depress appetite without producing central stimulation (that is, of the brain), it is likely that no such drug alone will ever cure obesity."

"Indeed, there is no convincing evidence that more than an insignificant number of patients treated for obesity ever achieve permanent suppression of excessive caloric intake."

Former Millwork Employee Praises Downes' Courage

My hat is off to Bill Downes.

In this present world tension when people are building fallout shelters and worrying about an atomic attack, it is very gratifying to see a man who has the courage to build again after suffering such a loss in the fire at his plant.

I worked in his plant several years ago and I know he could have retired then and rested.

Bill Downes, I salute you.

'Red Control of Cuba to Be Proclaimed'

'Toy Guns Can Have Harmful Effect'

The power of suggestion was never more fully demonstrated than in an article in the Los Angeles Examiner.

Three Long Beach teenagers had killed a liquor store owner in a holdup. The mother of one of the boys was shown holding a picture of him in full cowboy regalia, guns and all, when he was 4 years old.

Gun killings often involve teenagers whose parents permitted them to play with toy guns. Some parents are so ignorant of the principles of child psychology. It never occurs to them that these toys, coupled with suggestions implanted in their children's minds by movies, comics and TV shows in which someone is always being killed by gunfire, are creating potential killers out of thousands of youngsters.

Wives: Lose That Waddling Figure

about your waddling torso? Get help from your husband.

Most wives are not very much interested in sex — at least until they think they have lost their mates.

Then they suddenly get frantic about the subject and pour on strong perfume or adopt new hairdos in a belated attempt to excite their platonic mates.

Such comic acts have a minor advantage, but a wife's problem is to slenderize her figure. And you will find it an advantage to enlist your husband in your dieting program.

For many husbands are growing plump, partly due to obesity. The other thing that seems to emasculate men is tobacco.

Well, we doctors find that the smoker actually has less sexual drive!

In fact, during the war the soldiers' sex editors used to design with cigarettes, partly to demoralize them. For chain smokers are likely to be relatively sex-dead.

Among wives who are suffering from obesity, the ones who complain about platonic mates are usually yoked to the heavy smokers!

Tobacco seems to cut down a man's stomach hunger, as well as his erotic desire.

That's why smokers put on more weight when they quit cigarettes. And they often resume a more normal sex life with

Minutemen 'Dangerous,' as Goldwater Sees It

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., says the organization known as the Minutemen constitutes a danger because its members are armed but he sees no real danger in the John Birch Society.

The Arizona conservative spoke on a television interview show. Meet the Press, NBC-Sunday. He is more concerned with what he termed extreme leftists in the Kennedy administration than he is with the Birch and Minutemen groups because they are not in government, he said.

The Minutemen is a loosely knit, anti-Communist organization whose members train for guerrilla warfare for the avowed purpose of being ready to fight back if the United States were invaded.

Goldwater said the Minutemen

"violate a charge of the Constitution, the defense of our country and our people is the duty of the government. The Birch Society, from what I can hear of them, constitutes no danger."

THE EXTREME LEFT

Referring to Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, Goldwater said: "I would say if Bob Welch is the leader today, he would be an extremist, yes. But he doesn't occupy a position in government as do many people to the extreme left."

The day before, Goldwater had said in a speech, "The real extremists are the people to the left: the Socialists in the Kennedy administration."

Asked to name the important administration members to whom he was referring, Goldwater named Arthur Schlesinger Jr., special assistant to the president. "There are two other members of the Americans for Democratic Action, and this is the group to whom I refer as the extremists to the left. One is Ted Sorensen (special counsel to the President.) The other one slips my mind for the moment, but in the White House there are three," Goldwater said.

"There are three in Cabinet posts, and I think some 30 other members of this organization in government."

Goldwater said he considers President Kennedy an ultraliberal because he "six or seven years ago disavowed this group (ADA) as being too liberal, and today he seems to be in perfect harmony with them, so I must assume he has accepted their liberal positions."

Goldwater said he will not seek the Republican presidential nomination in 1964 and that "I have no special organization, no money. I have to run myself (for the Senate) in 1964."

Women may be the weaker sex—but did you ever try to unscrew the top of a jar they put out? . . .

Silent Movie Siren Was Film Idol's Last Love

Pola Negri Reflects on Tragic Valentino Romance

By BOB COSSIDINE
NEW YORK — Remember Pola Negri? My wife and I had dinner with the sultry star of a bygone Hollywood the other night in San Antonio, where she lives with her friend Margo West, composer, art patron and operator of a 300,000-acre ranch.

Pola, as her friends call the Polish-born siren who caused dat's heart to backfire like a 1936 Vette, is still a striking looking woman. The years have been clement. She sang "Paradise" for us after dinner, the song that became her theme after starring in a hard-breathing flicker with Adolphe Menjou.

She sang it as well as she had in the early days of talking pictures. She is still emotionally moved by it.

Miss Negri was the last love of Rudolph Valentino, a star so far to the west that he died in 1927, by to which time they were engaged to be married, Valentino was sent east by his studio to promote what turned out to be his last picture. Pola went to the station in Los Angeles to bid him farewell. She was working on a picture for Paramount and could not join him in New York, for their marriage, until she had completed it.

She told us the other night that as the train pulled out of the L.A. station she had a sudden premonition that she would never see him again. She ran down the platform, weeping and trying to shout above the clatter of the place. But the doors had closed.

Valentino had been suffering from an ulcer for some time. He took a turn for the worse in New York, but the news was withheld from Pola — she told us in a still woe-gone way. It took three days to travel from L.A. to N.Y. in 1927 as opposed to four and a half hours today. Even if she went just to shake hands with him it would have meant a week's delay in resuming her picture.

Then, one morning at 6 a.m., as she was being made up for her first scenes on the picture, Pola received a phone call at the studio. It was a reporter. The reporter asked, "Do you have any statement to make about Rudy Valentino's death?"

"We were to have been married one week from that day," La Negri, now in her early 60s, remembered the other night.

SCENES IN N.Y.
The death of the world's greatest film star at the age of 32 caused scenes that one would find hard to believe today. The crowds were so great at Campbell's, where he was laid out in New York, that they broke through neighboring plate glass windows. Women wept and fainted dead away.

Valentino, who had died of a perforated ulcer, lay in magnificent state under glass for several days, while trains carried the black-wardrobed Pola across the country.

She claimed the body after the funeral service at St. Ignace. Loyola and rode in the same train with it back to Hollywood. The "women in black" who pay an annual visit to his grave there, Miss Negri said with a flash of old-time fire the other night, are phantoms.

She told us something of their life together, after they fell in love. It somehow did not quite jibe with what I had always thought might be the way the two spent an evening together. I always liked to think of leopard skin, soft lights, incense, long cigarette holders, she in something slinky, he in his sleek robes or as the matador in "Blood and Sand."

"Rudolph loved to make spaghetti and meatballs," Pola said. "He had his own special recipe. I never tire of it, and I will never share with anyone else the secret of my meat-sauce."

There was a slight sound in the handsome drawing room in San Antonio as she finished, almost as if a bubble had burst. It may have been caused by the rupture of my last illusion.

HIDING FROM HUNTERS—With hunters running rampant in the Colorado mountains, who can blame these three deer for seeking refuge behind the tombstones in a cemetery west of Denver? The deer apparently had jumped a high chain-link fence to get into the cemetery. State game and fish department officers removed the deer and chased them back into the hills.

Strike Vote Set at Studebaker

South Bend UAW Local May Walk Out if Pact Not Reached by Nov. 30

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The 6,500-member local of the United Auto Workers Union at the Studebaker-Packard Corp. here will conduct a strike vote Tuesday.

Officials announced Sunday the members will decide by secret ballot whether they want to strike if negotiations fail to arrive at an agreement on a new contract by the Nov. 30 deadline.

"We're keeping on with our negotiations with the company and we want to avoid a strike if it is at all possible," said Lester J. Fox, vice president of UAW Local 5.

C. M. Macmillan, Studebaker

Packard's director of industrial relations, has contended "A strike at this time would seriously affect our mutual future."

The company has claimed that union demands at the present rate of automobile production would increase its labor costs more than $10 million a year. Neither side would discuss the key issues.

Studebaker reported losses of about $10 million in the first three quarters of this year through automotive operations and has been trying to hold the line on labor costs until its financial situation improves.

Current contract talks are to ward an agreement which would replace a three-year contract which expires Nov. 30. Both management and union have declined to reveal the specific issues involved.

American boys of age 14 today are 5.9 inches taller and 31.3 pounds heavier than 14-year-olds boys in 1877, according to a recent comparison of physical measurements in schools.

Gets in Jam Trying to Fix His Furnace

DETROIT (AP) — When it was too cold for Junius Darga to sleep Sunday, he decided to fix his coal-burning furnace.

Darga, 41, was clad in pajamas and a robe as he trundled to the basement, donned gloves, opened the door of the furnace and crawled in head first.

He said his goal was the danger valve. But he was lodged half in and half out of the furnace before he reached the valve.

Shouts brought his wife Chlo, who spent 45 minutes trying to free him. She couldn't and called police.

Officers grabbed Darga's legs, turned him over and yanked him out. Darga was treated for smoke inhalation and was reported in satisfactory condition.

Chrysler Local 2-1 in Favor of New Pact

DETROIT (AP) — A substantial number of members in United Auto Workers union locals in Chrysler Corp. plants have voted to ratify the new three-year UAW-Chrysler contract. UAW Vice President Norman Matthews announced Sunday night.

Matthews, director of the union's Chrysler department, said results thus far show contract ratification by more than a two to one majority. A few locals still have not reported their vote, but these would not mathematically change the final result, he indicated. Matthews termed the outcome of voting "very satisfactory."

Japanese Postal Union Slows Up Mail Delivery

TOKYO (UPI) — More than 280,000 undelivered pieces of mail were piled up in Japanese post offices today as the result of a slowdown by the 220,000-member Japanese Postal Workers Union. The union wants 40,000 temporary workers given permanent status. It was feared the slowdown would completely paralyze delivery of the heavy year-end mails.

Missing Woman Still Baffles Police in East

LINCOLN, Mass. (AP)—It will be four weeks Tuesday since Joan Risch, 31, vanished from her blood-decked kitchen but there is still no explanation of her disappearance. "We have checked each tip and have come up with nothing," said Dist. Atty. John J. Droney.

The missing woman's husband, Martin, commutes daily to his job at a Fitchburg paper company and spends spare time and weekends caring for his two children—Lillian, 4, and Douglas, 2. The father says the children are "doing fine."

"They are healthy and appear happy," he said Sunday, "although I'm certain they miss their mother very much."

As for himself Risch said, "I am living just one day at a time."

Billiard Table Going High-hat

NEW YORK (AP)—Tough kid, played on a table having six types of billiards—a game of American-French origin which is a similar shot of Gov. Nelson played on a table having no holes, and a game of English origin.

Familiar picture? Well, destroy it. The newly formed Billiard Room Proprietors Association of America (BRPAA) says it's all wrong. One big job of the association, in the words of an announcement, is to secure "greater stature and public acceptance for the sport of billiards and to assist materially in the 'upgrading' and establishment of better billiard rooms throughout the country."

They even hope to attract more women to the game. The proprietors, perhaps, don't dream of going so far as the 1635 cut in Francis Quarles' "Emblems" showing two angels shooting the 17th century equivalent of a fast game of snooker. But they do want to wipe out what they believe is a grossly erroneous image in the public's mind.

BACK IN 1576 Mary, queen of Scots, is reported to have complained in captivity in 1576 that her billiard table had been taken away from her.

An illustration shows Francis's Louis XIV playing a game in 1694. Shakespeare even has Cleopatra telling an attendant: Let's go shoot a game of pool. (But Charmin, the attendant, complained of a sore arm.)

Until the 1880s, says Association President Bob McGirr of New York, billiards was a "class game." Then the country was flooded with billiard parlors and the game went downhill—at least he says, in the public mind.

As Webster's dictionary explains it, there are two main

Thanksgiving Turkey Not Really Tasty

By PHYLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK — Thanksgiving is coming, and there probably is a turkey in your future. Are your taste-buds a-tingle at the thought? I'll bet not.

It's a curiously specialized bird, Turkey. Kids love it, because it represents celebrations and good times. But after you get to the age of about 16, some of the thrill is gone . . . one too many turkey patty, two too many turkey hash casseroles, three too many turkey sandwiches, probably.

Gradually you come to realize that chicken is more moist, goose is more tasty, pheasant more tasty, guinea hens more chic.

Yet you go on serving turkey for Thanksgiving because it's expected of you. And the leftovers get bigger and bigger, as the family gets older and older and wiser.

CLEVER WOMAN

My mother is the cleverest woman I know. Twenty or more years ago she took allergy tests and discovered, with some satisfaction, that she was allergic to turkey. Since then, at the groaning family board, she is always provided with a steak.

All the aunts and uncles express their sympathy. Mother accepts it with just enough gentle martyrdom to make them feel better, as she digs into the good red meat.

She says it is a shame she cannot join the rest of us in the culinary family spirit — but it seems rather significant that, although it is well known one often outgrows allergies, mother has not returned to the doctor lately for a new series of tests.

Americans serve turkey at Thanksgiving because grandmother did it, and grandmother's grandmother did it. Now where the dickens did grandmother's grandmother ever get the idea? Certainly not from the Pilgrims, who founded Thanksgiving. The

Pilgrims had for their first Thanksgiving feast: a real (by today's standards) gourmet menu:

Deer, lobster, clams and good Holland beer.

Sounds succulent, doesn't it? Although I suppose deer is so dear in price, you'd be having deer hash every Thursday for a year.

PERIOD FOR PEACE

Americans commonly think of Thanksgiving as a day for counting their blessings and not counting their calories.

In reality, it was begun as a period of respite during which war should be forgotten, and peace become the order of the day's thinking.

It was the fashion editor of "Godey's Lady's Magazine," Sarah Josepha Hale, who plumped for the idea back in the early 19th century. Originally, she wanted a national feast day to celebrate the founding of America by the Pilgrims — but for more than three decades no one in Congress was interested in pushing such a thing as Thanksgiving.

She might not ever have clinched her crusade, if it had not been for Civil War.

In 1861, Sarah finally shifted her emphasis from the Pilgrims to Peace. With national discussion at boiling point, she had her excuse to visit the secretary of state and plead that "comities and strife must be laid aside for one day . . .

Ninety-six hours later, Abraham Lincoln, hearing of the idea she had vainly sought for 35 years, proclaimed a day of national "Thanksgiving."

Never underestimate the doggedness and opportunism of a good woman intent on improving the country.

Who says Thanksgivings "ain't what they used to be?"

The kids still get sick from excitement and over-stuffing. The old folks still doze off after dinner. Mother and Aunt Margaret still do the dishes.

And still nobody eats the parsnips.

K Defies World In Testing Bomb

By The Associated Press
Defying world opinion, the Soviet Union today set off in the Arctic the mightiest man-made blast in history. European scientists said it was at least of 18-megaton strength, and might be larger, perhaps even in the 100-megaton range. U.S. authorities withheld an estimate of the blast's strength until further information.

To Put Speed Limits on Landing Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speed limits will be imposed on planes approaching airports beginning Dec. 18, the Federal Aviation Agency has announced.

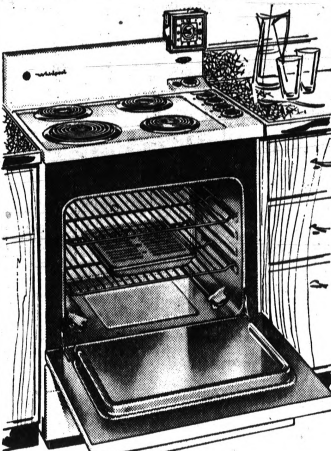

The limit is 288 miles an hour within 30 miles of the airport at altitudes of less than 10,000 feet.

The FAA last May proposed that speed limit within 30 miles of an airport and at altitudes below 14,500 feet, but Administrator N. E. Halsey said further study showed the requirements "could be made less stringent without compromising the prime purpose" of improving air safety.

Kennedy to Get Shield as Masai Says Thanks

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The 8,000 primitive Masai tribesmen will send President Kennedy a tribal shield and spear as thanks for saving them from starvation. The tribe has been kept alive in its drought-stricken preserve for three months by U. S. famine relief corn.

The corn has helped to clothe as well as feed the tribesmen. Masai children wear dresses made of the corn sacks, which bear the message: "Corn donated by the people of the United States."

Schools are in session. Winter holidays are fast approaching. It's a happy time for youngsters.

And unfortunately, a time when they can fall victims to sex morons, child attackers with diseased minds.

This page, patterned after a similar presentation of CHICAGO'S AMERICAN, is featured by THE PONTIAC PRESS with cooperation by the Crime Prevention Bureau of the Pontiac Police Department in the sincere hope that it will help save a child.

It should serve as a warning to parents. Cajole, teach, warn. Get the message across to your children any way you can. But be sure this information sinks in.

Chiefly, the child should be cautioned to never become friendly with a stranger, accept rides or offers of gifts or candy.

Have your child study this page. Study it yourself. May your child finish his or her schooldays healthy and emotionally secure.

WARNING TO ALL BOYS AND GIRLS:

Look Out for All Strangers!

This is an open letter to all boys and girls—from the tiniest tot to the teen-age group:

A serious problem exists in our country today. It is the molesting of small children. This ugly crime can happen anywhere and at any time.

Your mother and father, your teachers and the police want to keep you safe. You can help them by being careful while you are playing and while you are going to and from school.

The pictures on this page show how you should look for people who may want to hurt you. Always tell the police or your parents when any of these things happen:

- 1 When a stranger asks you to go with him.
- 2 When a stranger tries to join in your play.
- 3 When a stranger talks to you in the movies.
- 4 When a stranger touches you in the movies.
- 5 When a stranger tries to make you disobey any of the rules on this page.

And remember —

- 1 Always mark down the license number of the stranger's car.
- 2 Take a good look at the stranger. Remember what he looks like.
- 3 Look at the pictures on this page carefully. Remember to do as they tell you.
- 4 Be sure your parents look at this page.

GET THE LICENSE NUMBER OF CAR!

DON'T LOITER — Never play or stand near public restrooms. Be careful of older persons who talk to you near restrooms.

GET THE LICENSE NUMBER OF CAR!

DON'T ACCEPT RIDES — When anyone you don't know offers to give you a ride, never get into a car with him. Many children ignoring this rule have been kidnapped by strangers. Many have been criminally abused or even killed by unknown drivers.

Pontiac Press Photos by Ed Vanderworp

GET THE LICENSE NUMBER OF CAR!

WATCH OUT — Never go with strangers who stop to talk. Always keep well back from the car.

GET THE LICENSE NUMBER OF CAR!

DON'T PLAY ALONE — Never play by yourself in alleys or empty buildings. Take along a friend, wherever you go.

GET THE LICENSE NUMBER OF CAR!

DON'T TALK — Never trust or believe strangers. Never let him touch you.

GET THE LICENSE NUMBER OF CAR!

WRITE IT ANYWHERE — Always mark down the license number of any suspicious car. If you have no pencil, scratch it in the cement or dirt. Give the number to your parents, teachers or police.

Parents Should Read This, Too!

Parents! It would be wise for you to learn these rules, too:

Boys and girls! Ask your mother and father to read these rules with you and then see how many you can remember.

1. Never take rides from strangers.
2. Never take candy or other gifts from strangers.
3. Always report to your teacher, policeman, mailman, bus driver or parents whenever you see any strangers hanging around on foot or in a car near your school, playground or other places where you play.
4. Always get the license number of the car. Scratch it with a stick in the dirt or with a stone on the sidewalk if you don't have pencil and paper.

5. Always try to remember what the stranger looked like.

6.—The policeman is your friend. Go to him any time you are in trouble.

It boils down to this: Don't trust people you don't know, especially if you are alone. Don't believe strangers who say they will show you a puppy or a kitten or something else that seems interesting. He may say that your parents sent him to get you, or that your parents are sick or injured. Don't believe him. He may even pose as a policeman with a uniform cap. Don't believe him. Run to a neighbor's door right away, knock loudly, scream for help, and report the incident to whoever answers.

World Council Takes In Russian Church

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Russian Orthodox Church was admitted today to the World Council of Churches amid misgivings and considerable acclimation. The step came as believers of nearly every kind and culture began the most widely inclusive Christian convocation of the modern era.

Outside the meeting place at the Victoria Bhawan Temple, Learning a "Russian clerk" a sign reading "Russian clergy are Communist agents, not servants of God."

But among church envoys here for the council's third general assembly, vigorous applause greeted the action seating the 16-man Russian Church delegation.

Each member denomination — Protestant, Orthodox, Anglican and Old Catholic bodies — was entitled to one vote. Two U.S. churches abstained — the Russian Orthodox Church in America and the Hungarian Reformed Church in America.

FEARFUL OF POLITICS
The Rt. Rev. Zoltan Beky of Trenton, N.J., bishop of the Hungarian Church, voiced the fear Russian churchmen would use the council "as a platform for political purposes."

Archbishop John of San Francisco, head of the Russian Church in America which broke away from the mother church, expressed similar doubts but added: "We hope that the causes for those apprehensions will vanish in the near future by the providence of God."

Other churchmen from East and West said the entry of the Russian Church broadened the scope of the Christian unity movement and gave ancient Eastern denominations full representation in it.

"It is a step forward in the ecumenical movement," said the Rev. Werner F. A. Koppers of Bonn, West Germany, delegate of the Old Catholic church. "This kind of contact, above all difficulties and suspicions, can be a blessing."

OTHERS ADMITTED
Twenty-two other church bodies were admitted, including the Bulgarian, Romanian and Polish Orthodox churches and two Chilean Pentecostal churches, the first Pentecostal groups to join the council.

The additions bring the council to 198 denominations with more than 300 million members in about 60 countries.

With the exception of the Roman Catholic Church, every major confession is now "strongly represented," said Dr. W. A. Visser 't Hooft, the council general secretary.

Dr. Franklin Clark Fry of the United Lutheran Church in America, chairman of the council central committee, said that including the Russian Church "may"ary Council.

Earlier the council expanded its interchurch venture in another way—it absorbed into its fold a worldwide arm of Protestant missions, the International Missionary Council.

AFTER FIERY CRASH—This was the scene in Bayshore, N.Y., during the weekend after a fiery crash of five cars and a bus loaded with 40 students of the LaSalle Military Academy at nearby Oakdale. Police said the bus skidded into the rear of several cars stopped at a highway intersection for a red light. A chain reaction resulted in a pile-up of five cars and fire broke out. The woman driver of the bus, Olga Tkacs, 46, of Bohemia, N.Y., was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated. One man was burned to death and a woman was injured.

5 Nabbed in Raid on Alleged Illegal Liquor Place

Pontiac Police vice squad officers arrested seven persons, five in a raid on an alleged illegal liquor establishment at 200 Judson St., late Saturday and early Sunday.

Charged with operating and maintaining an illegal liquor place was Barbara J. Stanley, 21, of 552 Midway St.

Roderick A. Byrd, 25, of 582 Jackson St., was charged with aiding and abetting an illegal liquor place. Charged with loitering were Charles McCullers, 21, of 129 Bagley Ave., and Alfred E. Ray, 19, of 235 Rapid St.

Also arrested in the raid at 200 Judson was Jacqueline Smith, 19, of 428 Bloomfield St. She was charged with soliciting.

The raid took place shortly after midnight Saturday. Officers from the special investigations bureau arrested Charles Rutherford, 25, of 202 Western St., and Beverly Thomas, 20, address unknown, a half hour earlier near Bagley and Western on charges of soliciting.

All were to be arraigned in municipal court today.

Fighter-Bomber Fires by Accident

TOKYO (UPI)—The United States Air Force reported that a B-57 fighter-bomber accidentally fired 16 rounds of 20 millimeter ammunition today into Nakamino City, about 60 miles north of Tokyo.

The Air Force said four buildings were hit but there were no reports of casualties among the city's estimated 40,000 residents.

The plane, a two-engine craft, was banking into a bombing run over a nearby practice range when its pilot brushed against a push-button mechanism which triggered the plane's four cannons.

The Air Force said the triggering mechanism was on "double safety" but a "malfunctioning" caused the plane's guns to fire.

The pilot of the bomber was identified as Capt. Clarence Hughes. His home town was not immediately available, the Air Force said.

An investigation into the incident was begun immediately. Nakamino City is on the western coast of Japan's main island of Honshu. The air force practice bombing range is about 10 miles inland from the city.

Pickers Go on Hunger Strike

13 Refuse Food After Arrest in Demonstration Against Segregation

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Thirteen persons arrested during widespread picketing of restaurants which refuse to serve Negroes went on a hunger strike in advance of their scheduled appearance in court today.

The six whites and seven Negroes were among a group of more than 400 who picketed some 100 restaurants in Baltimore and Annapolis Saturday. They were picked up on trespass charges but taken to Anne Arundel County jail after Antoinette's restaurant in Annapolis refused to serve them.

RELEASED ON BOND
Two also were arrested in Baltimore on trespass charges but were released on bond of $103 each.

The Maryland Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People protested that an Annapolis policeman beat and kicked two male students as they were arrested.

DEMAND SUSPENSION
The NAACP asked Gov. J. Milford Tawes and other state officials in telegrams to suspend the policeman pending an investigation.

Warden Phillip L. Colbert of the county jail in Annapolis said the demonstrators refused a breakfast of eggs and bacon, a lunch of sandwiches and a dinner of chicken, mashed potatoes, carrots, peaches and tea Sunday.

About 125 persons participating in the campaign traveled from Baltimore to Annapolis Saturday night and picketed at the jail and in front of Gov. Tawes' residence.

Katanga Official Slain in 'Hunting Accident'

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (UPI)—Lukasa Sataunze, Katanga's 33-year-old minister of information, was found dead Sunday in the bush near Jadoville, radio Katanga announced.

The broadcast said "The minister was shot accidentally during a hunting trip." Usually reliable government sources said, however, that foul play is not to be excluded.

Buttons for Telephones

Doesn't Like Wedding Bells

No 'Ding-Dong Daddy'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with this man for four years, and he just won't marry me. He is 28 and I am 24.

He doesn't see anyone besides me. His excuse is that he doesn't have enough money saved, which is ridiculous. He and another man own and operate a filling station in partnership.

He lives at home, and saves like a miser. The last time he showed me his bank book he had $5,200 saved. Isn't this plenty to get married on?

TIRED OF WAITING
DEAR TIRED: Yes, your friend is stalling. Pump him for the "real" reason.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man who is very cold and silent to me unless he has a few drinks in him. Then he gets warm and sweet and says the nicest things to me. He is not an alcoholic. In fact, he doesn't really like the taste of liquor, but I know if I want any affection or kindness from him I have a better chance if I pour him a drink. Do you think I am making a mistake by encouraging him to have a little drink or two a couple of times a week? The doctor said it won't hurt him. I don't want to make a drinker out of him, but he is so much nicer drunk.

NEEDING LOVE
DEAR NEEDING: No one is "nicer" drunk. Ask your doctor how you can accomplish the same effect without putting your husband's brain to sleep.

DEAR ABBY: I don't suppose many men write to you, but here's a letter from a man who would like to know what to do with an 18-year-old daughter who is strong, healthy and lazy with a capital "L." Her mother can be breaking her back with housework, but this daughter looks right through her. She has never once offered to help with anything. She acts like she is a royal princess who has nothing to do but entertain herself. It burns me up to witness this the few hours I am at home. How can this be corrected?

BURNED FATHER
DEAR FATHER: Your royal "princess" was not trained by her mother (or anyone else) to get a move on and help clean up the royal "palace." Don't blame your daughter for not responding to orders with which she is utterly unfamiliar.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "GEORGIA PEACH": The good Lord doesn't take us into deep water to drown us. Only to cleanse us. Have faith.

Everybody's got a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, The Pontiac Press.

Jr. Musicians Given Pictures of Composers

Members of the Pontiac Junior Musicians met Saturday afternoon in the home of Debra and Ruth Ann Garner on Lonedale Road.

Following the club collect, members named their favorite composers for roll call and were presented a picture of each by Mrs. Oscar Schmidt, club sponsor.

WIN CONTEST

Winners of the scale-playing contest were Danny Arnold and Debra Garner. Debra also played the hymn-of-the-month, "Come Ye Thankful People, Come" by George Elvey.

Heather Sue Lockhart, president, read the story of "The First Thanksgiving." Anna Latoza and Kim Anselmy also gave readings and Constance Rightmire played a piano solo. A social hour followed.

Glenda Farnsworth will plan the December program. New members were Patti Swartz and Kim Anselmy.

Girls Sell Candy to Aid Camp

The 10th annual candy sale of the Pontiac Council of Camp Fire Girls opened Saturday. The girls will be selling a two-layer box of chocolate creams at $1 through Dec. 3.

Blue Birds, age 7 to 10; Camp Fire Girls, 10 to 14; and Horizon Clubbers, 14 to 18, will canvass the Pontiac area to raise funds for the development of their 120-acre Camp Oweki, near Clarkston.

Candy sale chairman Eldon Gardner showed slides of the camp, and the Girls' Chorus led group singing at Saturday's rally at Lincoln Junior High School.

The Pontiac Council is supported by the Pontiac Area United Fund event for its camp operation which is maintained through registration fees, donations and the candy sale.

Keep Still, Eat Your Vegetables

By the Emily Post Institute
Q: I am of the Catholic faith and during the course of the year there are days on which the eating of meat is not allowed. When invited to the house of a non-Catholic on such a day and the main course happens to be meat, how can I tactfully refuse this dish without embarrassing the hostess and making her feel that she has to get something else for me?

A: Simply take the accompanying vegetables, and not the meat, on your plate without calling attention to your not being able to eat the meat.

Q: I have a problem concerning baby announcements. I am expecting my first baby in a few weeks and I would like to know if announcements are sent to close members of the family even though they will be notified by telephone.

My husband feels announcements should be mailed to everyone we know. I disagree. My husband has his own business and would like to send an announcement to his secretary, telephone operator, etc. What is the limit on sending such announcements?

A: You may send announcements to anyone you have reason to think would be interested in the news of your baby's birth. You would not send them to those already notified by telephone.

Q: My husband has been asked to be the best man at a friend's wedding. I would like to know if he is supposed to give the bachelor dinner for the bridegroom.

Someone told me that it is his duty just as it is the duty of the maid of honor to give a shower for the bride. Will you please tell me if this is his obligation?

A: A bachelor dinner is not the obligation of the best man; in fact it is customarily given by the bridegroom himself for his ushers and best man and perhaps a few other close men friends.

Spends Time Moving Around

Decorates Apartments, Leaves

NEW YORK (UPI) — So you'd rather die than move, ladies?

Then be glad you aren't Susan Wilding, who has lived in 76 different apartments and houses in London in the past 18 years and now is embarking on a career as a prime mover in New York.

Moving is part of a lucrative decorating business headed by the stylish blonde wife of actor Michael Wilding, who is now appearing in "Mary, Mary" on Broadway. She rents or buys residences, moves in to decorate and furnish them, then moves out to make way for tenants and buyers.

CAREER CAUGHT HUSBAND
One of her renters was Wilding, who took an apartment in Kensington for the run of a London play, wooed his landlady and won her.

"Obviously he married me to get free rent," laughed Mrs. Wilding.

She decided to live in the apartments while decorating them because she has to be on hand so early in the morning to oversee the workmen. She decorates to her own tastes, right down to the ashtrays, and has never had to change as much as a doorman to please a client.

TENANTS BRING NOTHING
"None of my tenants bring in their own things," she said.

"They don't have to, and that's part of the attraction of my properties. I rent to people who want a complete home away from home without moving but who do not want to put up at a hotel."

In London, Mrs. Wilding rents to American businessmen, movie producers, stars and socialites, to golden Greeks and some British, but never for less than three months. She has her clients' met at the airport or dock, staffs servants for them if they wish, and sends them flowers when they depart.

EXPENSIVE DECORATIONS
She has spent as much as $300,000 on a property (silk wall coverings, gold bathroom fixtures, white carpets) and gets commensurate rentals. She thinks her New York apartments should attract rich clients from Hollywood, Texas, Oklahoma and South America who come to New York in connection with business or the social season.

"I used to go in for Louis XVI decor, but now I decorate in the American style and Americans love it," she said. "I introduced California decor to London — lots of black and white, lacquer furniture trimmed in brass, emerald green or coral ceilings and rugs. Oriental accessories — all slightly formal and not frilly."

She thinks one of the best apartments she decorated was one for the late Tyrone Power in London. He moved in before it was completed because he was afraid someone else would rent it. She remembers film star Robert Mitchum fondly as her best tenant "because he kept the house so beautifully" and Jayne Mansfield as her worst.

"If American women wonder what I consider most important in providing a beautiful setting for a family, it is a dining room," she said. "Comfortable dining and good conversation that goes with it are something that just can't be bought with money. It's something every cultured person should want."

Mrs. R. F. Lesner Group's President

Officers for the Oakland County Osteopathic Medical Assistant's Association will be installed at a dinner meeting Tuesday at Devon Gables.

Mrs. Robert F. Lesner is incoming president; Mrs. Robert L. Plasko, president-elect and acting vice president; Sheila Kinder, secretary and Jean Capshaw, treasurer.

Mrs. Ruth Mariner, RN, will conduct the installation ceremony.

Don't Overdo Togetherness

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"A man at the sink, a woman's apron tied high around his waist, is the most miserable sight on earth. No woman should make her man wash dishes. She did not find him at a kitchen sink when he first caught her fancy."

That bit of old-fashioned, womanly wisdom comes from the ever-blooming glamour girl, Marlene Dietrich.

I quote it here, because there aren't too many women today speaking out against the kind of "togetherness" that ends up in a wife's wearing jeans and a husband's wearing an apron — the kind of complete and total togetherness that results in a man's being less masculine and a woman's being less feminine.

Perhaps American women wouldn't have fallen so hard for "togetherness" in the first place if they had stopped to think that a woman can't over-domesticate a man without losing some of her femininity in the process.

In the first place—the wife is the real boss in any "togetherness" setup. For she is on her own home ground.

If pop is going to do the dishes—he's going to have to do them mama's way. If he is going to bathe the children and put them to bed—it's going to be at her direction. If he is going to paint the walls of the house, it is the woman of the house who is going to choose the colors and supervise the job.

So much togetherness makes women bossy.

In the second place, the man who falls into the togetherness trap loses some of his masculinity. And how is a woman going to feel completely and happily feminine unless her own personality is in sharp contrast to a man's dominant masculinity?

Women short-sightedly thought they had everything to gain and nothing to lose when they pushed the ideal of togetherness. They didn't see that they could lose their most valuable possession—femininity.

Infinite are the ways discussed in Ruth Millett's booklet on "How to Have a Happy Husband." Send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, c/o The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y.

Try Decorating With Tissues

If your teenage son or daughter is involved in decorating for a high school homecoming float or after-the-game dance, you might suggest a simple way to add a lot of color for little cost.

Facial tissues, long a favorite material for floats and dance decorations, now are available in a striking flared color. The new shade is especially dramatic when used with white or pastel colored tissues.

Don't Skimp With Menu

Vitamins No Substitute

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Vitamins — those little rascals which curse us by their absence and bless us with their presence!

In the country in which you live there is little likelihood that you will develop a real vitamin deficiency disease. However, many people endure and take for granted a low level of health, and are harassed by chronic fatigue and other minor disabilities because of a low vitamin intake.

"These folks may have very little variety in their diets. They may overlook one or more of the important classifications of food. There is as much difference between an optimum diet and one which barely saves you from the deficiency diseases, as there is between vital health and medium-fair health."

You do not have to buy luxury foods, but meals must be well planned in order to provide the body every day with the essential elements it requires.

We are all so vitamin conscious that some folks have gotten the idea that they can eat any way in which they please so long as they swallow a few vitamin pills. These should never take the place of food. You should plan your diet as though there is so much to eat. There are few such things as synthetic vitamins. Don't be careless when planning your menu, just because you take vitamin pills.

Vitamin supplements are splendid as reinforcements to the food you eat. Considering the loss of vitamins in storage and cooking and the fact that not everyone utilizes vitamins in the same way, these can be of the greatest help. And, of course, they are needed in cases of illness or organic or systemic defects. I myself eat as scientifically as I can and take vitamins, too.

Ask your physician about vitamins and let him prescribe for you.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Vitamins in Your Diet," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 38. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Dorcas Class Has Meeting

Members of the Dorcas Class of the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church met recently in the Putnam Avenue home of Mrs. Richard Kelly. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ethel Powley and Mrs. David Wagner.

Mrs. Peter Niemi, who presided in the absence of the president, led devotions and the hostess offered prayer.

Donations will be sent to CARE and the SS HOPE and a scholarship fund will be established.

Mrs. Foster Benton and Mrs. Leonard Van der Kooy will assist Mrs. Edna Matheny of Baldwin Avenue at the December breakfast meeting in her home.

Set Christmas Party

Dec. 12 the Nebs School Club will meet at the Dwight Avenue home of Mrs. Heidi Wales to drive to a "mystery place" for the annual Christmas party which replaces the monthly meeting.

Mrs. John Irwin of Clifford Street was hostess to the club at its recent meeting.

Vitamin pills are wonderful—but they are not magic potions. Though they are splendid as reinforcements to the food you eat, they do not take the place of a varied nutritious diet.

highest percentage of membership attendance at meetings will be eligible each to choose one worthy girl from their respective area to spend a week at the K. of E. of Michigan Youth Camp at Hart Lake. Mrs. Jackson is state attendance contest chairman.

Special offerings during Mrs. Moore's official visits will finance the girls' vacations at the recreation center.

Mrs. Chester Varney extended a special welcome to Mrs. Sam Miller, Mrs. Ernest Severance, Mrs. George Sullivan and Mrs. James Spark, all of whom joined the group in 1961. Mrs. Glen Butler, a guest, was received into membership.

The group will meet Dec. 7 in the home of Mrs. Spark in Parkway Drive.

Bethany Baptist Church Women's Groups Meet

Four groups of the Woman's Society of the Bethany Baptist Church met on Thursday.

"This season every hairdo can become a perfect setting for an ornament," says Julius Caruso, stylist for a well-known home permanent company. Here, a demure little bow rests securely in the dip of a big wave. Bands, bows and jewelry are enhancing fashionable coiffures. "What's interesting is the placement," reports Mr. Caruso.

A decorative comb tucked into the starting point of a rising airy crown emphasizes a swept-back line in this symmetrical-looking coif. Extra body is needed to hold the bouffant line of today's glamorous hair styles, and bejeweled, beguiling hair ornaments are not just tucked in anywhere.

Merry Mixers Unit Works on Project

Making Christmas wreaths was the project for the month when the Merry Mixers of the Cooperative Extension Service met last week at the Canterbury Drive home of Mrs. John Griener.

Before the meeting the group was escorted on a tour of the Christian Literature Sales store by Floyd Miles.

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: I looked after my nephew as a baby, and I am particularly devoted to him. He is now a father and my heart aches for him.

His wife undermines his authority over his two boys, always coming up with some reason why they cannot do as he says.

The other night he told them to go and wash their hands for supper and she said, "They'll go when they've finished their game, won't you, boys?" Driving me home my nephew said that he was becoming an "Ask-your-mother" father and sounded so bitter.

ANSWER: Let's hope he soon finds the love and gumption to roar at his wife on these occasions. "Hold your tongue when I am speaking to the children!"

For a bossy person lives under awful strain. Other people are just not real or alive to him for reasons which he cannot help. He is literally possessed by distrust.

TRUSTS HERSELF

Thus, a bossy person who is a wife and mother will thrust herself between her husband and children not because she is consciously seeking to belittle the father or to monopolize the child but because her experience has taught her to trust no action that she hasn't initiated and directed herself.

We can't always recognize the dreadful tension in her because she hides it behind aggressive sarcasm, temper tantrums or moral reproaches that suggest she is enjoying her bossdom. But the fact is, the stone castles and lonely towers where witches confined fairytale princesses were easy compared to the cruel isolation imposed on a bossy woman by her own distrustfulness.

A man who loves her rescues her. He rescues her by declaring his existence in such forcible terms that she has to admit it — and be rejoined to life.

The sad thing is, the husbands of bossy women won't see that they are yearning for rescue. Unlike the princesses in fairytales, they won't believe that a lonely, frightened girl is immured in her desolate tower of distrustfulness.

They look at the oh-so-assured face of their bossy girl, listen to the patronizing voice prattling of Dr. Spock and Dr. Gesell — and think, "Oh, she's so sure that she knows everything that I can offer her nothing."

Incidentally, from whom did this nephew of yours get the idea that a woman is so strong and self-sufficient? What was his mother like? Bossy?

Men who have known an honest woman as children don't put up with bossy wives, you know. They move right in on that lonely tower with determined love.

So lifelike is this doll with its silky hair and soft pliable body that even a little girl's mommy will want to cuddle it. Baby dolls have been popular with little girls since the first doll to say "Mama" was made in England in 1864.

Poor Marybel's ailments are only make-believe but it's great fun to pretend she has aches and pains just like real little girls sometimes do. This doll with fashionable Jacqueline (at right) are among this season's cast of characters on Christmas toy shelves. The fashion doll is a descendant of dolls used originally by French dressmakers as early as 1391 to inform clients in distant lands of fashion's foibles.

Mold Cranberry Relish Into Orange Gelatin

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor

You are probably thinking of your Thanksgiving menu at this time. Here is a recipe for a molded cranberry salad that you might enjoy.

Mrs. Robert Russ says her mother-in-law gave her the recipe. With 3 preschoolers, Mrs. Russ is tied pretty closely to home. She does participate in a handicraft class.

MOLDED CRANBERRY SALAD

By Mrs. Robert Russ

2 cups raw cranberries, ground
1/2 cup celery, diced
1 large apple, diced
1 small can crushed pineapple, drained
1 1/2 cups sugar
Mix above ingredients and let stand 2 to 3 hours.
1 package orange gelatin
1 cup hot water
Nuts, if desired
Add gelatin to hot water. Stir in cranberry mixture and nuts. Pour into mold and let chill until set. Serve with salad dressing or whipped cream. Serves 6-8.

Dolls Mean Same in Any Land

Almost as long as there have been girls and boys — dolls have amused them.

The endless varieties of material from which dolls have been made reveals the stages of development, the industries and customs of different people.

For instance, in the Southwest United States the Indians use dolls made of cactus stems in their ceremonies. Afterwards, these dolls are given to the children to play with so that they may learn the symbolism of their tribes.

In Africa, the Congo iron doll is given to every grown girl to keep for her first child, and in Syria a girl of marriageable age hangs a doll in her window.

In the United States, little girls faithfully copy different phases of their own and the grown-up life around them in their daily play with dolls. The carefully crafted and beautifully costumed dolls created by Madame Alexander bring beauty and imagination into such play.

The costumes for each doll are specially designed by Madame

Alexander in fabrics woven with Celanese, contemporary fibers. They combine simplicity with refined glitter and practicality with the kind of colors that delight little girls.

An interesting point about these doll costumes is the variety they encompass, both in fabric and style — indicating that doll-loving misses have strongly-defined tastes and like to display their individuality.

They love lush fabrics, for instance, like satin and jersey.

GOLDEN YAM CHEESE PIE—Such an elegant pie—who would think it was made from a vegetable? Golden Louisiana yams are mashed and blended with cream cheese to make a rich and velvet smooth dessert, with a lovely pale gold color.

Put Yams in Cheese Pie for Creamy Gold Delight

It's time again to enjoy the golden bounty of Louisiana — a harvest of brightly colored yams. Truly these Louisiana yams, which were harvested in October, are premium vegetables.

They are the special sweet potatoes which were developed by horticultural specialists at the Louisiana State University. They are more moist, which means shorter cooking time. They have smooth, stringless texture, which makes for more pleasurable eating. And they have extra sweet and mellow flavor.

Revel, then, in visions of the many luscious dishes you can make with Louisiana yams all fall and winter. Candelied yams with a pork roast; fluffy whipped yams with your roast turkey; yams baked in the skin for a beef roast — these are a few of the treats in store. And don't forget a yam pie for a very special dessert.

Maybe the traditional "sweet potato pie" is your favorite, but you'll want to know about an all-new kind of yam pie: Golden Yam Cheese Pie. It has a velvety texture, and a rich flavor as a result of blending smooth mashed yams with cream cheese.

Golden Yam Cheese Pie

1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ cup melted butter or margarine
2 packages (3-ounces each) cream cheese, softened
2½ cups cooked, peeled and mashed Louisiana yam (about 3 medium-sized yams)
¼ cup light cream
½ cup firmly-packed brown sugar
2 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
1½ tablespoons milk
2 packages (3-ounces each) cream cheese, softened
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine crumbs, cinnamon, 2 tablespoons brown sugar and butter or margarine; mix well. Press against bottom and sides of a buttered 10-inch pie plate to form crust.

Beat 2 packages cream cheese until creamy. Add yams, light cream and ½ cup brown sugar; beat well. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla; mix well. Turn into prepared crust. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes, or until a silver knife inserted in center comes out clean. Cool.

Combine milk, 2 packages cream cheese, confectioners' sugar and vanilla; beat until smooth and creamy. Use as garnish or topping for cooled pie. Makes 10-inch pie.

Keep Small Fry Out of Kitchen

AP Newsfeatures

When television loses its charm and the youngsters descend upon you in the kitchen, you have two methods for insuring the Thanksgiving dinner will be ready on time.

1. Run them out and bar the door.

2. Interest them in games, preferably enlisting the aid of one of the idle men of the family as referee.

If you decide on the second course, you could add a true historic flavor to the proceedings by introducing traditional Thanksgiving games.

Cranberry Contest

The youngsters are each given a large needle with a long, coarse thread. They stand around a large bowl of raw cranberries. At a signal they begin threading cranberries as rapidly as possible. At the end of three minutes time is called.

Corn Game

Five ears of dried corn are hidden around the house. Finders are finalists in a contest to see who can strip the cob of kernels first. The non-finders make up the cheering section.

(To add historic interest you could explain that the five ears of corn are used in tribute to the five grains of corn which legend says were the daily ration of Pilgrims for one or two hours before mealtime during the second bleak winter. If you have to use fewer than five ears because a smaller number is available, make up your own story.)

Freeze Liquid Diet for Taste Variation

Here's an appetizing way to vary that liquid dietary food you may be drinking to get your figure in shape before holiday festivities begin.

Freeze it occasionally and eat it with a spoon like ice cream, suggests Beatrice Cooke, well known dairy home economist.

Just place a can in the freezer for one or two hours before mealtime so that it becomes thicker and — nearly set. At this creamy consistency, it resembles a cold, flavorful dessert.

Admiral Indicates in Speech

Navy Plans 50-Polaris-Sub Fleet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy apparently plans to develop a fleet of 50 Polaris submarines that would patrol the seas armed with a total of 800 ballistic missiles.

Information on the raised goal for atomic-powered submarines came in a speech by Adm. George W. Anderson Jr., chief of naval operations, who also officially warned that Russia has probably been testing nuclear antisubmarine weapons.

Anderson told the service publication "Army-Navy-Air Force Register" that other weapons tested by Russia recently had "far greater military significance than the 50-megaton explosion."

He said it would be "very logical to assume" that Russia was trying to find a means of fighting Polaris submarines. Underwater explosions were included in the series, and Anderson said he would be surprised if antisub weapons were not tested.

OVERLOOKED INFORMATION — Indication of the campaign for a 50-Polaris fleet was in a largely overlooked sentence in a speech Anderson delivered Friday night to the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers in New York.

He noted that the range of the Polaris was being increased, and said that "as rapidly as possible, the Navy anticipates that this fleet will grow to some 40 or 50 submarines."

Polaris subs cost $100 million each, and there are now 37 of them in commission. Each carries 16 missiles with a range of 1,200 nautical miles.

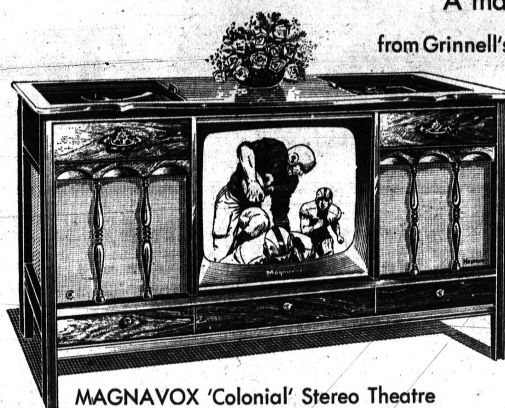

In addition, 25 submarines are under construction or on order, all to be at sea by the end of 1964.

Next year's budget is expected to provide for at least 10 more, but until now the Navy has talked of an ultimate fleet of about 40.

For several years, the Navy has been urgently developing in secret a variety of undersea warning systems to detect enemy submarines at great distances.

Eat Turkey After Thursday Too

TURKEY SHORTCAKE — For a colorful dish made with what's left of your Thanksgiving turkey, serve creamed turkey over fat squares of corn bread. Green beans and a crimson mold of cranberry jelly make a dinner plate that pleases the eye as well as the palate. Make cream sauce and corn bread with nonfat dry milk.

Pie for Breakfast—but— This Has Modern Touch

Here's a gleeful new way to serve the morning fruit and cereal . . . in a pie. Yes, pie. And you'll never know how downright good it is until you try it. It demonstrates that breakfasts needn't be monotonously routine. They can be varied, different and full of flavor as well as honest nourishment.

Apple Cornflake Pie teams cereal, orange juice and apple sauce. For even more flavor it is blessed with molasses, grated orange rind, lemon juice, cinnamon and nutmeg, not to mention melted butter and a little brown sugar.

The pie as it comes to the table is brown and cereal-crispy on top, smooth and apple pie flavory beneath. Serve it warm while teasing whiffs still float around it. Or serve it cold. And pass milk or cream. (This is a pie that's eaten with a spoon from a cereal dish.)

It's a dish that promotes the "good breakfast" idea in a most cheerful way by simply being marvelous eating. Also, the very idea of apple pie for breakfast is fun . . . a sunny send-off on the day.

Now about making: you can start from scratch in the morning for the making is easy and uncomplicated. Or bake the pie the day before, serve it cold or reheated, as you wish. In the serving, it spoons out soft, a little on

Pa. Dutch Proverb Suggests Fine Dish

Are you worrying about new autumn meals to please your family? Well, according to a Pennsylvania Dutch proverb, "Sauerkraut and pork dispel all care."

Add apples as well as sauerkraut and a delicious blend of sweet and sour enhances succulent pork. The U.S. Department of Agriculture lists pork as plentiful so try delicious stuffed pork chops soon.

First ask your butcher to cut a pocket on the rib side of each chop. Stuff the pockets with drained sauerkraut and brown the chops slowly. Place more sauerkraut on top of the chops and simmer for 45 minutes in a covered frying pan.

While they're simmering, you can fry apple slices covered with butter and brown sugar in another pan. Serve the fried apples with the chops while very hot.

Milk and apple juice blended half 'n' half makes a bright testing beverage for a school day lunch.

By now you probably have your plans for Thanksgiving dinner all ready. You might get a thought or two to what you will do with the leftover turkey. You're apt to get a large bird this year, because the price is so reasonable and you get the best buy in a large turkey.

As soon as the dinner is over, please, please, please take all the dressing out of the turkey, put it in a dish and store it covered in the refrigerator. This is an important food safety measure that should not be neglected.

If you want to pick at the bird for a late supper, cover it lightly and put it in the refrigerator too — or out in the garage if the cat and dog are for longer, anyway, keep it cold.

For tender storage, cut the meat off the bones, package it in the size servings you think you will want later on and freeze it. Then use the carcass for soup, made in the following manner (this is a 1961 quick trick).

Turkey Soup

Turkey Rack from roast turkey. Water, about 5 quarts.
1 cup coarsely chopped celery, cooked
1½ cups coarsely chopped carrots, cooked
3 packages chicken noodle soup mix
Cover turkey rack with water and simmer, covered, 3½ to 4 hours. Remove meat from bones and strain stock if desired. Return meat to stock, then add celery, carrots and noodle soup mix. Simmer 7 minutes. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Creamed turkey is always a welcome dish. Instead of serving it on the usual biscuits or mashed potatoes, spoon it over squares of golden corn bread. Both cream sauce and corn bread are made with economical nonfat dry milk.

Corn Bread Shortcakes
1 cup sifted, all-purpose flour
1 cup corn meal
4 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup nonfat dry milk
1 cup water
¼ cup soft shortening
1 unbeaten egg

Sift together flour, corn meal, baking powder, sugar, salt and nonfat dry milk into a 2-quart bowl. Add water, shortening and egg. Beat hard with spoon or with rotary beater until well mixed. Four better into a greased 8-inch square baking pan. Bake on rack slightly above center in a 425 oven, (very hot), until brown or about 20 minutes.

Cut into four squares. Split squares of hot corn bread. Serve with Creamed Turkey. (see below).

Creamed Turkey
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt few grains pepper
1 cup water
1 cup cut-up turkey

Melt butter or margarine in a 1½-quart saucepan. Remove flour and stir in thoroughly a mixture of nonfat dry milk, flour, salt and pepper. Stir in water gradually. Heat quickly to boiling. Reduce heat and cook slowly for 2 minutes, stirring all the time. Add turkey and heat until steaming hot. Serve hot between and on top of split squares of hot Corn Bread. Makes 4 servings.

For a more exotic way to use up leftover turkey, try this Turkey Orientale recipe. The turkey mixture is served to be followed out, toasted sandwich buns or a whole loaf of Vienna bread treated in the same manner.

Turkey Orientale

¼ cup sliced onions
1 (No. 211) can or 1½ cups pineapple tidbits
1 (4-ounce) can mushrooms
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 chicken bouillon cube
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup soy sauce
1 medium-sized green pepper, cut into strips
1 cup cooked turkey or chicken, chopped
8 sandwich bun halves, toasted
2 tablespoons sliced almonds, toasted
2 tablespoons coconut, toasted
Combine in a large saucepan.

onion, celery, pineapple (undrained), liquid from mushrooms, salt, pepper, and brown sugar. Cover and bring to a boil. Remove lid. Dissolve bouillon cube in hot liquid. Dissolve cornstarch in soy sauce and stir into vegetable mixture. Simmer until vegetables are tender. Add green pepper, mushrooms and chicken to vegetable mixture. Cook until chicken is heated through, or about 5 minutes longer.

Spoon about ½ cup vegetable mixture over each toasted bun half. Sprinkle toasted sliced almonds and coconut over each serving. Yield: 4 servings.

*NOTE: A (1 pound) Vienna loaf or 6 Brown 'n' Serve club rolls may be split, hollowed out, buttered and toasted, and used in place of sandwich bun halves. They are crunchy and give a pleasing flavor combination.

Paper Frills Serve a Double Purpose

NEW YORK (UPI) — Paper frills on the ends of turkey drumstick bones are useful as well as decorative. They give the carver a better grip when he removes the legs and slices meat from the drumsticks. They should be placed on the drumstick just before the turkey goes to the table.

To make frills, fold a 4½-by-5¼-inch piece of white paper in half lengthwise. With scissors, cut strips about ¼ inch wide and 1 inch long along folded edge. Open and reverse fold so that strips stand out like flower petals. Roll to size to slip over drumstick ends. Staple together or fasten with cellophane tape. Slip over drumstick ends.

Sardine Canape

Spread thick sauce on toast strips which have been lightly brushed with olive oil from canned Norway sardines. Top each with a whole Norway sardine and sprinkle over grated cheese. Broil until lightly browned.

Something New Has Been Added

Frankfurters and baked beans, that traditionally popular American twosome, are joined by sliced fresh California dates, chili sauce and instant minced onion to make "Date Bean Bake" — an easy-to-do entree that's considerate of the kitchen budget and packed with flavor. Meaty fresh dates from California's desert enhance the flavor of countless main dishes, desserts and salads and are delicious natural sweets for out-of-hand eating.

Date Bean Bake
1 cup fresh dates
6 frankfurters
1 can (1 lb.) baked beans
¼ cup chili sauce
1 teaspoon instant minced onion
Slice dates. Cut frankfurters into ¼ inch diagonal slices. Combine all ingredients. Heat thoroughly or bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven 25 to 30 minutes or until bubbly. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Pork Rib Chops.
Q. Where do they come from and how are they identified?
A. They come from the loin section of pork and contain one large muscle. They may or may not contain a rib bone, depending on the thickness.
Q. How are they prepared?
A. They are usually cooked by broiling, a moist heat method of meat cooking. They are first broiled on both sides in their own or added fat. The chops are seasoned and the pan covered tightly. Three-fourths to one-inch thick chops are cooked slowly 45 minutes to 1 hour.

Veal Casserole Recipe Is for Large Crowd

A supper party is one of the best ways of discharging social obligations. First, a large group can be more fun and, secondly, you have to go to some trouble each time you have guests so why not combine the efforts into one successful event.

Lack of a recipe to serve a group often discourages a party-giver. The following Veal Marengo serves from 12 to 15 people and has the advantage of being able to be made the day ahead and refrigerated, then baked before party time. It is a good dish to keep in mind for club and church suppers, as well as home social gatherings, since it can be kept hot without damaging appearance or flavor.

Although veal may be priced high per pound, remember there is little or no waste. Seasoning is important in any large casserole dish. Particularly good in this one is Tabasco, the liquid red pepper seasoning. It enhances both meat and vegetable flavors and combines well with herbs. Its pep lasts too, through refrigeration and baking.

Veal Marengo for a Crowd
 3 pounds boneless veal, cut in 1 1/2-inch cubes
 1 cup (approximately) salad oil
 2 medium onions, thinly sliced
 5 cans (1 pound each) tomato puree (not sauce)
 1/2 cup sherry
 1 tablespoon salt
 1 teaspoon Tabasco
 2 teaspoons thyme or oregano
 2 bay leaves
 1 cup sliced celery
 1/2 cup flour
 1/2 cup water
 2 cans (4 ounces each) sliced mushrooms, drained
 2 cans (1 pound each) small whole onions, drained
 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas, thawed

Saute veal, a little at a time, in hot oil in skillet until brown. Transfer browned veal to two 2 1/2-quart covered casseroles. In same skillet, saute sliced onions until tender but not brown. Add minced

Unwanted Air Can Be Eliminated

NEW YORK — The Coca-Cola Company announced today that one of the bottling industry's most difficult problems, entrapped air, has been solved.

"The new development will aid substantially in the removal of entrapped air unavoidably sealed in a beverage when it is bottled," said Lee Talley, chairman of the board.

"We are especially pleased because it has generally been accepted that air is detrimental to all fresh foods," he added.

"A new piece of bottling equipment, technically known as an ultrasonic air eliminator, will aid materially in safeguarding the delicate flavor and aroma of Coca-Cola against the deleterious effect of entrapped air," Mr. Talley explained.

Research and development on the device was carried out by Electronic Assistance Corporation of Red Bank, New Jersey, in cooperation with the Engineering Department of The Coca-Cola Company.

VEAL MARENGO — This casserole, plus buttered noodles, salad and coffee comprise a good menu for serving a crowd. To basco is a useful pepper seasoning in the veal dish and you'll find an aluminum hot-tray helpful in keeping foods warm for buffet service.

To prevent cooked chicken from being frozen when only partially shredding or separating, it should be cooked.

Peanut Butter Will Give Baked Sweets New Taste

Sweetpotatoes add a yellow-golden hue and delicious flavor to your berry of harvest foods at Thanksgiving. But they taste even better with rich, nutritious peanut butter.

Stuffed sweetpotatoes can be made with peanut butter donated to needy families by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The Pilgrims probably didn't have this tasty dish but don't neglect introducing it into your family history. It will probably be a permanent entry along with delicately-browned turkey and shimmering red cranberry sauce.

Cut four medium-sized baked sweetpotatoes in half and remove from the shells. Mash thoroughly. Add 1/2 cup milk, 1/4 cup peanut butter, 1/4 teaspoon salt and pepper. Beat until light and fluffy. Refill the shells and brown on a baking sheet at 425 degrees. Makes four delectable servings.

You can dress up other vegetables such as cabbage, onions or cauliflower with peanut butter sauce. Just blend 2 teaspoons flour with 1/4 cup peanut butter until smooth. Slowly stir in 1 cup milk. Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly.

Chill Dough First

Sometimes a dough may be rich in sugar, shortening, and eggs. In that case, refrigerating, the dough feels like clay and can be shaped more easily than soft dough. Do not forget that it will take longer for the rolls to rise when the dough is cold.

GINGERBREAD — For centuries gingerbread has been a favorite sweet, a charming toy and always a way of pleasing an honored guest.

Fragrant Gingerbread Known for Centuries

In the course of centuries, world-famous people have been immortalized in marble, bronze, and oil; their faces have appeared on stamps, coins and most frequently on the front pages of newspapers and news magazines. Four or five hundred years ago, however, anybody who was anybody was honored by appearing as a gingerbread man.

Gingerbread is one of the world's most venerable goodies, baked as a special treat for more than two thousand years. The Egyptians, the Romans, even the wild Goths throughout northern Europe loved gingerbread of some kind. It remained for the monks of Medieval times to perfect the art of doing all kinds of artistic things with this fragrant dough.

It was Queen Elizabeth I who first delighted guests at the royal banquet table with elaborate gingerbread likenesses of themselves. This became so popular — such a conversation piece — that Queen Elizabeth hired a special gingerbread baker to make gingerbread loaves and ladies.

When, in the 19th Century, the Grimm Brothers wrote "Hansel and Gretel," the gingerbread house, with all its frosting curlicues, became famous.

Today we must prefer a simple square of velvety, still-warm gingerbread redolent of ginger and all kinds of good things. That's

Scrambled Eggs Get Really Fluffy

This recipe produces really fluffy, scrambled eggs. Use it sometime, for lunch or supper, with a Creole Sauce.

Fluffy Scrambled Eggs

6 large eggs
1/2 cup sour cream
1 teaspoon salt
White pepper to taste
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Beat eggs enough to combine yolks and whites; add sour cream, salt and pepper and beat to combine. Heat butter in a 9- or 10-inch skillet until very hot. Add egg mixture; cook gently just until as firm as desired. As egg sets at sides of skillet draw it across the center with a wooden spoon. Makes 2 to 4 servings.

New Cookbook Planned for Quantity Cooks

"Remember the old-fashioned baked bean suppers churches used to give?"

These much looked-forward-to events have, in general, been replaced by turkey, ham or pancake suppers or the elaborate smorgasbords.

Whatever the event, it is well-planned, organized and executed. It means money in the till. To make it so is the problem. Time-old questions that beset most organizations are where to purchase food, how much to buy and where to find reliable recipes for quantity cookery.

Answers to these questions have been compiled, for the first time, in a new cookbook, "Institutional Cook Book and Menu Planner," published by General Mills. Between the red, washable covers are tested quantity recipes with colored dividers separating each section from appetizers and main dishes to desserts and baking mixes. Other added features are menu planning tips, buying guides, helpful measuring hints and time-savers for cooking meats, poultry and fish. Any organization can plan a successful, prize-winning supper by using this book as its guide.

The spiral bound book, so designed that additional information and recipes can be easily added, sells for $2.85. To order, write: General Mills, Inc., Box 206, Minneapolis 60, Minnesota.

In the above picture, sturdy little gingerbread men seem to be supporting the cake stand holding honey gingerbread.

Dental Floss Better

After stuffing your Thanksgiving turkey, see the bird with dental floss. The nylon floss holds better than thread and won't crumble or tear on removal. It slips through meat more easily than ordinary thread.

Honey Gingerbread

2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground allspice
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
1 cup strained packed honey
1 egg
1 cup sour milk or butter milk
Whipped cream

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Set aside. Blend soda and spices with softened shortening. Gradually add sugar, mixing well after each addition. Stir in honey. Beat in egg. Add flour mixture alternately with milk. Beat batter 1/2 minute.

Turn into 2 well-greased, lightly floured 8- or 9-inch square pans. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 35 minutes or until a toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.

Let stand in pans 10 minutes. Turn out onto wire cooling racks to finish cooling. Put together in layer cake fashion with whipped cream. Garnish with grated orange rind and chocolate curls, if desired. Yield: 9 to 12 servings.

WHIPPED CREAM: Beat 1 cup heavy cream until it stands in soft peaks. Add 2 tablespoons sugar and 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract.

Gingerbread Men

1/2 cup mild light molasses
1/2 cup butter or margarine
3-2/3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons ground ginger
1/2 cup dark brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg

Heat molasses slowly in a saucepan large enough for mixing cookies. Remove from heat and add butter or margarine. Stir until melted. Sift the next 6 ingredients together, mix with brown sugar and stir into the mixture. Add egg.

Chill 1 to 2 hours or until stiff enough to handle. Roll 1/2 to 1/4-inch thick on a lightly floured board. Shape with a gingerbread man cookie cutter.

Place on lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes or until brown. Decorate as desired with raisins, currants or frosting. Yield: About 16 gingerbread men.

Light As a Feather Gingerbread sticks (1 cup) butter or margarine
1 cup dark brown sugar
1 1/2 cups mild flavored molasses
1 cup boiling water
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1 1/2 teaspoons ground ginger
1 1/2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
3 eggs, beaten
Heavy cream, whipped

Add butter or margarine, brown sugar and molasses to boiling water. Mix until butter or margarine is melted. Sift together flour, salt, baking powder, soda and spices and stir into the above mixture. Beat in eggs. Turn into a well-greased, lightly floured, 13x9x2-inch pan.

Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 minutes or until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean. Serve warm or cold topped with whipped cream if desired. Store any that is left over in a tightly closed cake box. Yield: One 13x9-inch cake.

Pilgrims Were Thankful -- While Women Worked

By JOY MILLER
Of Women's Editor

If it hadn't been for a handful of women who never let their better judgment interfere with what they set out to do, Thanksgiving might not be a national holiday. It might not have taken place at all.

History books usually make the first Thanksgiving sound as festive and uncomplicated as a backyard barbecue before Pop became a gourmet chef.

An Orange Relish Is Different Kind

Orange Relish
1/4 cup membrane-free dried orange sections
1/2 cup orange juice
1/4 cup undrained crushed pineapple
1/2 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon each cinnamon and cloves

Mix all the ingredients in a saucepan. Cook gently for 20 to 30 minutes—until the consistency of marmalade. Serve warm or cold in a small relish dish.

Orange Cups may be used instead of a dish for serving. Scoop out orange halves; remove white membrane without puncturing bottom; "plink" top edge of cups with kitchen scissors.

The Pilgrims, in their devout way, and the Indians, in their aboriginal way, whooped it up for three days in celebration of a bountiful harvest.

But who was doing all the work of serving a continuous round of vittles to 50 Pilgrim men and about 90 Indians?

Five wives.

Of the 100 Pilgrims who landed in November, 1620, only half survived the first terrible winter. And of that surviving 50, only 5 were women. It seems pretty obvious that the wives and mothers, with their share of rationed already at starvation point, had deeded themselves so their families could have a little more.

When the next fall came, and the larger seemed pleasantly full, the Pilgrims (undoubtedly the men) decided to have a Thanksgiving feast. And as guest of honor they invited the chief of the friendly Wampanoag Indians.

Chief Massasoit was delighted to come. Probably thinking the occasion was a white man's version of the Indian's Green Corn Dance, he brought along 90 braves.

When the guests, who so completely outnumbered the hosts, arrived, the Pilgrims women understandably could have put down a sensible foot and slipped a 340-year-old tradition in the bud.

But the hardy colonist women rose to the challenge. While the men played games and exhibited their athletic prowess, and Miles Standish marched and counter-marched his little band of soldiers, occasionally shooting blank volleys and blowing bugles for the entranced Indians, the women: Broiled venison and turkeys and grease on spits. Roasted lobsters and oysters in coals. Simmered clam chowder and venison stew in iron kettles over outdoor fires.

Set out dried summer fruits: gooseberries, strawberries, cherries. Parched corn made biscuits and bread.

Possibly popped corn in earthen jars over the fire and then drizdied maple syrup over it to make balls for the few youngsters.

And although the Indians contributed five deer, the women likely watched and-eyed but uncomplaining as mound after mound of food disappeared. The sense winter was to be a very bleak, hungry one.

The only bright aspect: No dishwashing problem. Utensils consisted of a few knives for cutting up meat and a few wooden spoons. The celebrants probably used clamshell spoons and wooden trenchers. Forks were not in general use in America until the late 1800s.

You Can Eat Dessert Without Paying Penalty

Here's a switch on chocolate — a recipe that uses an instant chocolate drink mix that is sweetened without sugar, plus nondairy milk solids whipped to whipped cream consistency. Good idea for calorie-conscious dessert lovers.

Chocolate Charlotte
3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
3/4 cup water
3 cups dry instant chocolate drink mix (sweetened without sugar)
3/4 teaspoon salt
3 cups water
3/4 cups whipped instant non-fat dry milk crystals
1 package (3-ounces) ladyfingers, split
Flaked coconut

Sprinkle gelatin over 3/4 cup water to soften. Stir softened gelatin, chocolate drink mix and salt into 3 cups water. Cook over boiling water, stirring frequently until gelatin is dissolved. Chill, stirring occasionally, until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold chocolate mixture into 1 to 2 cups whipped instant crystals. Line 8-inch springform pan with split ladyfingers. Turn chocolate mixture into pan. Chill until firm. Remove sides of pan to unmold. Garnish with coconut. Makes 10-12 servings.

To Whip Dry Milk
1. Mix 3/4 cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals with 3/4 cup ice water in bowl.
2. Beat until soft peaks form (3 to 4 minutes). Add 3 tablespoons lemon juice.
3. Continue beating until stiff peaks form (3 to 4 minutes longer). Makes about 3 1/2 cups.

Prune Avocado Salad

Fill center of avocado halves with mixture of chopped prunes, celery and sour cream. Top with cooked or canned shrimp. Serve on lettuce garnished with whole prunes.

Just Tender Cabbage Must Cook Quickly

Cabbage doesn't taste like its usual self when it is skillet-cooked and still crisp.

Panned Cabbage
1 medium-sized green cabbage (about 1 1/2 pounds)
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
White pepper to taste

Shred cabbage with a sharp knife, removing core, into about 1/4-inch strands. There should be about 8 cups. Melt butter in a 12-inch skillet; add cabbage; turn over with long-handled fork to coat with butter. Add water and salt; cover. Cook as fast as possible without scorching, mixing a few times, for about 5 minutes. Add pepper to taste. Makes 6 servings.

At Tonight's Meeting

Troy May Oust CD Director

TROY — Today may be Clarence F. Long's last day as Troy's Civil Defense Director.

Mayor Robert J. Huber is slated to give a full report on civil defense and the City Commission will vote on an amendment which would put the CD director's tenure at the commission's pleasure.

Huber said that he might not recommend Long's dismissal tonight but may wait 10 days until the ordinance, if passed, would go into effect.

Long expects that since the mayor and a majority of the commission have approved drawing up the ordinance amendment, he will be fired.

However, he will not resign under pressure. "I said I would ride the horse to the end, and that's what I'll do," he declared.

DISPLEASED AT MOVES

Huber, as head of Troy's CD organization, and Commissioners Robert J. Bargett and Wallace B. Hudson have expressed dissatisfaction with a number of Long's moves in recent months.

Long claims that their complaints are about "picky things."

The commission members pointed out that the CD director has had stationary printed with his own name on the letterhead and that he had had his name put on a CD vehicle, both without the commission's approval.

Recently, when the commission appointed a five-man committee to study the organization and progress of CD in Troy, Long went ahead with his own plans and with his main committee to study CD needs.

To stem any further moves without the commission's knowledge or approval, the commission prohibited Long from mailing any citywide releases, except in an emergency.

Long has charged that the commission has taken no interest or part in civil defense until about three months ago.

Huber contended that in the last six months half of the commission's meetings have dealt with problems of civil defense.

SLOW WITH RECORDS

Long was to have turned over records of the number of trained personnel at the last commission meeting, Huber said. Failing this, he was to finish them up and to turn them over to Huber and City Manager David E. Firestone by Wednesday.

Thursday morning, Huber said, he and Firestone picked up the records, which had taken eight days to complete.

Long's explanation was that a volunteer was to have done the work and didn't do it. "You just can't let a volunteer to do this or do that," he said.

Long and Huber are agreed that the matter is nothing personal. Huber said Long refuses to do the work, Long said the issue is based on politics.

Five of the present commission members do not agree with him politically, he said.

METAL HOUSING BAD

DeWolfe advises against ever housing pets outside in metal. It's bad in winter, worse in summer, he said.

Just providing a structure for the pet is not enough. Forcing them to lie on bare flooring or in some cases just ground is not adequate housing and a violation of the Michigan cruelty to animals law.

Pets having to sleep in cramped quarters is another example of inadequate sheltering and makes the owners subject to prosecution, DeWolfe said.

Failure to provide suitable shelter, regular feeding and watering, keeping pens, runs and restricted exercise areas clean and free from mud and standing water will bring a society humane law enforcement officer in a hurry, the society president warned.

DeWolfe invites persons knowing of such violations concerning pets or livestock to phone the society or send a card or letter to 117 Groesbeck Highway, Mount Clemens, or 2166 Wilby, Utica.

PTA County Council to Hear EMU Man

Ralph Gessler, assistant director of field services for Eastern Michigan University, will be the guest speaker tomorrow at a meeting of the Oakland County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

The program will be held at the McVillie Elementary School, 4660 Midland Drive, Drayton Plains, beginning at 8 p.m. Registration will be at 7:30 p.m.

Superintendents and principals are urged to attend the meeting to assist in a curriculum study.

County Resident Bound Over in Death of Hunter

A Pontiac Township man has been bound over for trial in MacKinnac County Circuit Court after an Upper Peninsula woodsman was killed by rifle-fire in a hunting mishap Friday.

Lawrence E. Smith, 52, of 3441 Baldwin Ave., waived examination Saturday before Portage Township Justice Harry Wickham. He was charged with negligent discharge of a firearm which resulted in death.

The case is scheduled to be heard in St. Ignace Jan. 31.

Dead is Ernest Owen, 68, of Curtis, MacKinnac County. He was shot in the stomach as he was deer hunting three miles northeast of Gould City.

800 Youngsters to Greet Santa

Mr. Claus Will Land at Romeo Airport 11 A.M. Thanksgiving Day

ROMEO — Some 800 area youngsters are expected to be on hand to greet Santa Claus when he arrives by plane to pay his 13th annual pre-Christmas Eve visit to Romeo on Thanksgiving Day.

The bewhiskered old gentleman's plane is scheduled to land at 11 a.m. at Romeo Airport on 32-Mile Road, a mile east of town.

The children will escort him to his own chair near the hangar where he will sit while he talks to each one of them and gives them all a candy bar and a popcorn ball.

FOR THE PARENTS

Coffee and doughnuts will be served to parents in the hangar.

Santa's visit here is sponsored by Highland Sales store and was first inaugurated by former store owner John H. Thoms in 1948. That year St. Nick arrived in Romeo riding in a sleigh. The following year he made his first trip to town by plane.

Since that time crowds at the airport have multiplied each year and the occasion has become an integral part of the Thanksgiving observance for hundreds of area families.

Serving as best man was David Webb. The 250 guests were seated by William Reeves and Robert Edlin, both of Orchard Lake, and Stephen Doolin of Pontiac.

Birds Are Invited to Enjoy Goodies at Park Station

The Tamarack Trail bird feeding station near the Nature Center in Kensington Metropolitan Park southwest of Milford is now in operation for the winter season.

Bill Hopkins, chief naturalist for the park authority, said that many birds which make Kensington Park their winter home come to this feeding station for a change of diet from the natural feeds provided by plants.

Several of the birds which inhabit the area include the chickadee, nuthatch, woodpecker, Junco, tree sparrow, cardinal and blue jay.

The feeding station is maintained by Mr. and Mrs. Vic Knowles of the Detroit Audubon Society and Huron-Clinton Park Authority.

School Building Rests on Voters

Farmington to Decide on Bond Issue, Millage; Want New Facilities

FARMINGTON — Approval of a $2.1-million bond issue and a continuation of three mills for operations is being asked today of Farmington School District voters.

Funds from the bond issue would be used to finance the construction of a junior high school and a 30-room elementary facility.

No tax increase would be necessary if the bond issue is authorized, according to Supt. Gerald V. Harrison.

The millage proposal would extend taxes approved by voters in 1957, which expire at the end of the year. The three mills being sought would be a continuation of that millage for another five years.

According to Harrison the tax levy in the school district would amount to $29.11 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Scheduled to be built with the bond issue funds would be the second school for 650 students on a 23-acre site east of Middle Belt between 10 and 11 Mile roads.

SITE NOT SELECTED

The site for the new elementary school has not yet been selected. Possibly, 20 rooms may be added to an already existing grade school according to the superintendent.

The last time school proposals were placed before voters was November 1958.

At that time a $3 million bond issue for new construction and a two mill tax increase were approved by a 12-vote margin.

Polls are open today until 8 p.m. Only property owners are permitted to decide the bond proposal but all voters are allowed to decide the millage question.

Is State's Constitution Unconstitutional?

By GENE SCHROEDER
LANSING (AP) — Is Michigan's constitution unconstitutional?

Some authorities say the state's basic law document may well be unconstitutional in at least two sections of Article II — the declaration of rights.

They point out that provisions of the United States Constitution are interpreted by the U.S. Supreme Court are generally supreme over conflicting provisions of state constitutions.

The two amendments whose constitutionality has been questioned are unique to Michigan. They cover search and seizure, and subversion.

Michigan is the only state having a constitutional provision making subversion a crime, according to a comparative analysis made for constitutional convention delegates by the Citizens Research Council of Michigan.

Five states have provisions making persons who are subversive unqualified for various public offices and California's constitution denies state tax exemptions to persons or organizations which advocate the violent overthrow of the government.

But, the council said, neither the effect of the Michigan provision nor the necessity for its inclusion is completely clear.

MAY BE IN CONFLICT

"The entire section may be in conflict with the first amendment (regarding freedom of speech and press)," the council study declared. Of particular questionability is the last sentence of the section which says:

"Subversion shall constitute abuse of the rights secured by section 4 of this article (freedom of speech and press), and the rights secured thereby shall not be valid as a defense in any trial for subversion."

"Since the presence or absence of subversive activity is the question to be determined at such a trial, it is difficult to understand the justification for disregarding the liberty of speech and press during the course of such a trial."

"If these freedoms can be disregarded, it would have to be justified by the subversive conduct, the existence of which has not yet been proved at the trial."

The subversion section was added to the constitution in 1950 as a result of a proposal by a joint resolution during an extra session of the State Legislature. It was

Barrels Still Vital Objects

Company Researching Use of Containers in Fallout Shelters

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the oldest containers used by man — the wooden barrel — still serves as efficiently in today's atomic age as it did in Biblical times.

Today, while the wooden barrel is still used extensively by the food, beverage and chemical industries, its modern descendant, the steel drum, plays an ever-increasing role in industry.

Through use of newly developed synthetic linings, foods, for example, can be stored in drums without contamination for longer periods than ever before.

Acting on President Kennedy's call for civil preparedness in the face of possible nuclear attack, one company, a reconditioner of barrels and drums, has announced it is accelerating research on their use as fallout shelter water and food containers.

The company has developed a number of linings for 55-gallon steel drums which are being tested for resistance to shock, high-temperature sterilization and various levels of radiation.

Gets 'Political' Control

ACCRA — Ghana (AP) — Parliament has granted President Kwame Nkrumah new control over his political opponents with passage of a bill providing for special courts that can hand down the death penalty for political offenses.

adopted at the general election of Nov. 7, 1959.

Explaining the background, Convention Vice President Edward Hutchinson, R-Fennville, a former legislator, told the committee on rights, suffrage and elections this week that the Korean War was raging at the time and "we were in the so-called McCarthy era."

Hutchinson, who said the measure passed without a dissenting vote in the legislature, commented:

"We were insecure as a nation and this amendment reflected that feeling."

"HYSTERIA" HELPED
Hutchinson agreed that it probably would have been impolitic for him or any other lawmaker to have voted against the proposal, but he said he does not feel that the section should be in the constitution if for no other reason than that he is a purist and would like to keep the document simple.

Under the search and seizure section, Michigan is the only state to modify its constitution to allow the introduction of dangerous weapons as evidence in criminal trials even though the evidence is seized illegally.

About half the states do it anyway — but not with constitutional sanction.

Because of a decision handed down by the U.S. Supreme Court last June 21, many authorities feel that it is now a violation of the federal constitution for any state to admit into evidence in its courts any evidence illegally obtained by unreasonable search and seizure.

"The reason for holding such evidence inadmissible," the research council study said, "is generally the feeling that if the evidence is allowed to be admitted the constitutional rights of privacy are, as a practical matter, unenforceable."

The opposing view, however, is that the murder weapon found in the accused's basement or the policy or numbers slips found in the trunk of his car are clear signs pointing toward his guilt.

The fact that the home or car was entered in violation of the accused's constitutional rights does not change this, the argument goes,

"and the conviction of criminals (the real necessity for any search should not be made difficult or impossible by excluding such evidence." The council study observed that decision.

Lions Are Successful 'Nomads' as They Whip Vikings, 37-10

Detroit Ready for Big Battle With Packers

Minnesota 10-0 Lead Wiped Out as Morrill Hits 13 of 17

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. Many teams in the National Football League have had their title dreams shattered in the past because of the inability to play away from home. It happened to Green Bay two years ago and it hurt Baltimore last year.

This season however, the Detroit Lions have enjoyed being "nomads," and if they should win the Western Division title they can credit it to their success on the road.

Yesterday's 37-10 victory over the Minnesota Vikings gave the Lions a 5-0 road mark for the year, with only one more out of the four remaining games to be played away from home.

For one period yesterday, the 32,288 fans in Metropolitan Stadium thought they were going to see a repeat of the Vikings' upset the week before over the Baltimore Colts. The Lions, apparently looking ahead to Thursday's Turkey Day battle with Green Bay, generously spotted Minnesota a 10-0 lead by virtue of three fumbles and a pass interception.

Jim Nicoski had a rough start as he overthrew his receivers, fumbled, and had one pass intercepted.

The Vikings recovered the fumble on the Lions' 23 and moved to the field goal by Mike Mercer. It went as a 20 yard kick.

Two plays after the ensuing kick, Nicoski's pitchout to Nick Pleschke was fumbled and the Vikings recovered on the Detroit 33. In three plays Fran Tarkenton hit Jerry Reichow for a 23 yard touchdown pass. Mercer's point made it 10-0.

The Vikings received another gift a moment later when Justin Rowland intercepted Nicoski's pass on the Detroit 38. At this point, the Lions' defensive unit decided to put an end to this charity. With Alex Karras, Darrin McDord and Bill Glass each throwing Viking runners for a loss, Mercer was forced to punt from midfield as the quarter ended.

Earl Morrill then replaced Nicoski and the Lions responded quickly. Morrill ran the rollouts and up the middle like he has never run before. His passing, which showed 13 completions in attempts, was not great over his percentage-wise.

The next three periods turned out to be a Michigan-Michigan State combination. Morrill, of MSU, used Terry Barr, ex-Wolverine, as his primary target.

Barr was on the receiving end of eight passes for 87 yards and two touchdowns. Morrill was the best ground gainer with 62 yards.

The Lions marched 91 yards for their first TD in the second quarter. Morrill passed 22 yards to Gail Cogdill and he ran 22 and 19 yards to the one foot line. Cogdill's 22 yard pass was intercepted for the score.

After a Viking punt, Morrill had another 25 yard run and he finished a 63 yard drive on the 5th play with a 13 yard pass to Barr who made a tremendous catch, just one yard inside the end zone, to make it 13-10 at half time with Jim Martin's placekicks.

Throughout the second half, Tarkenton had the Lions' defensive unit all over him as he tried to pass. At one point he had a first down on the Detroit 41 and found himself with a 4th down and 48 yards to go from his own 9 yard line as Karras, McDord, Glass and Roger Brown all smothered him for losses.

Martin's 15 yard field goal made it 17-10 early in the third quarter. It was the 50th of his career, which set a new Detroit record. Yale Lary then intercepted Tarkenton's pass on the Viking 39 and in two plays, Morrill hit Cogdill with a 27 yard pass to make it 23-10 as the quarter ended.

After Tarkenton's series of losses, the Lions started their next drive on the Viking 47 and Morrill passed with a nine yard pass to Barr to make it 30-10.

The final touchdown was the most satisfying as an defensive captain Joe Schmidt was concerned. Tarkenton, passing from his own five, had it intercepted by Schmidt. The talented all-pro line backer, who finally got his chance to run like a back with low cut football shoes, raced eight yards for the final TD.

The big game to which the Lions have been pointing takes place Thursday noon against the Packers. Standing 14 1/2 games behind Green Bay, the Lions hope to keep their title hopes alive.

Turkey Day Looms Big for Martin and Lions

Detroit Lions' football fans are going to be "thankful" Thursday at Tiger Stadium for having Jim Martin on their side for the past 12 years.

It will be a big day for the Lions and Martin. The 37-year old field goal specialist will be honored on "Jim Martin day" as the Lions meet the Green Bay Packers in the big game of the year.

In yesterday's game against the Minnesota Vikings, Martin kicked his fifth field goal for the Lions setting a new team record. Doak Walker had 49 during his Detroit career but none of Walker's could match Martin's distance of which three have gone over 50 yards.

In his 12th season in the NFL, the Lions needed Martin's toe many times to gain important victories. He defeated the Packers in the season opener with a field goal and did it again the next week with a 50-yarder against the Baltimore Colts.

John Panelli in the Detroit Lions office is chairman for the "special day" which is accepting contributions to shower Martin with gifts.

For the Lions it is the biggest game of the year. They stand 1 1/2 games behind the Packers and they must win if they hope to keep their title chances alive.

It was evident the Lions were looking ahead to Green Bay at the start of yesterday's encounter with the Vikings who took a quick 10-0 lead. The Packers will also be kept up for the game in hoping to average the opening day loss to Detroit.

The Lions expect the biggest crowd of the season and a possible record breaking attendance for the game. There were 1,000 reserved seats and 7,000 bleacher seats which were put on sale this morning. Any remaining seats and standing room tickets will go on sale two hours before the noon kickoff Thursday.

Jimmy's Record Day Puts Giants in 1st Place

By The Associated Press

Y. A. Tittle, New York's bald bomber, has passed the Giants into first place in the National Football League's Eastern Conference, but he needed a record-breaking performance by Cleveland's Jimmy Brown to complete the job.

While Tittle was leading the Giants to a 42-21 thumping of Pittsburgh with a drive-TD performance, Brown rushed for a one game record of 242 yards and scored four touchdowns as the Browns, led by quarterback Earl Morrill, played for the first time without scoring king Paul Hornung, maintained their 14 game edge in the Western Conference race by whipping Los Angeles 35-17 for an 8-2 record.

The 35-year-old quarterback, veteran of a dozen years in pro ranks, showed "em Sunday that there's no substitute for experience. He flung seven touchdown passes in guiding Houston to its fifth straight victory in the American Football League.

The Oilers, with Blanda either passing or kicking all the points—bashed New York 49-13 to stay on top of the Eastern Division by a half game.

And the way the Oilers are moving, they look like a pretty good bet to administer the first defeat of the season to San Diego, already champion of the Western Division.

The two meet Dec. 3 in what could be a preview of the playoffs.

However, the Oilers are not thinking about San Diego right now. They play Denver at Houston next Sunday.

San Diego sailed over Dallas 24-14 Sunday for its eleventh straight league victory. But beating Dallas is no particular accomplishment—the Texans have lost six straight.

The only other game of importance last week was Boston's 20-17 victory over Oakland. The Patriots staged in the race for the Eastern Division championship as a result. They don't play Houston again this season but they do play San Diego, which makes things quite close to San Diego and it won't affect their status in the Eastern Division so far as each other is concerned.

Buffalo beat Denver 23-10 in a so-called game, neither team is going anywhere right now. Denver in 1957 by averaging over seven yards a carry, and added 52 yards by catching three passes.

The loss was Philadelphia's second in succession—the Giants administered a 38-21 beating last week—and dropped the defending champions into a second-place tie with the Browns, one game back of the Giants. New York is 8-2, Cleveland and Philadelphia 7-3.

The Green Bay Packers, playing for the first time without scoring king Paul Hornung, maintained their 14 game edge in the Western Conference race by whipping Los Angeles 35-17 for an 8-2 record.

Brown scored his TDs on runs of 2, 4, 1 and 8 yards while Bobby Mitchell, on a weekend pass from the Army, scored the other touchdowns on a 28-yard pass from Milt Plum and a 91-yard kickoff return. Lou Groza added a field goal to the Browns' output and with six conversions brought his NFL career point total to 813, 12 short of the record held by Green Bay's Don Hutson.

Sonny Jurgensen connected with Tommy McDonald on an eight-yard TD toss and wound up the scoring with a 33-yard toss to Tim Brown.

Trailing 7-0, the Packers exploded for 28 points against the Rams in the second quarter when Bart Starr unleashed his pitching arm. Jim Taylor tied it on a one-yard plunge, then Starr hit 2, 4, 1 and 8 yards while Bobby Mitchell, on a weekend pass from the Army, scored the other touchdowns on a 28-yard pass from Milt Plum and a 91-yard kickoff

Michigan Eyes Ohio State After Taking Iowa

MSU's Lewis Doesn't Let Game Ball 'Bounce Away'

By BILL CORNWELL

EAST LANSING — A smiling Duffy Daugherty, delighted to have his Spartans back on the victory trail, tossed the game ball—submarine style—to halfback Sherman Lewis.

Lewis grabbed the pigskin tight, nestled it under his right arm and quipped through a broad grin: "I won't drop this one, coach."

It was an appropriately funny remark for the fleet-footed back to make in view of his up-and-down, yet overall brilliant performance in Michigan State's 21-13 conquest of stubborn North-western.

In a bruising Big Ten football game marred by 10 fumbles, MSU had to work much harder for the triumph than necessary and two costly fumbles by Lewis were partly responsible.

But he also was greatly responsible for the victory, which snapped a two-game losing streak and MSU's over-all season record to 2-2.

Lewis, a twisting, squirming runner from Louisville, tumbled on the MSU 14 in the 1st quarter, the alert Wildcats recovered the fumble and scored in two plays to grab an early 7-0 lead.

Then, in the 4th period with a

Spartan touchdown in prospect on the Wildcat 2-yard line, Lewis fumbled with a clear field ahead and Northwestern pounced on the loose ball on the 3.

These two fumbles couldn't detract from Lewis' brilliance, however. Around and under the bobbles, the 185-pound sophomore speedster netted 120 yards in 11 carries and scored two touchdowns on runs of 15 and 24 yards to spearhead MSU's 4th Big Ten triumph of the year.

His 13-yard sweep around left end in the 2nd stanza gave the Spartans an 8-7 halftime lead and his dazzling 24-yard slant off tackle in the 3rd session hiked their advantage to 15-7.

As the Spartans' leading rusher and top scorer, Lewis deserved the game ball in the opinion of his teammates and Daugherty. We agree.

Lewis also starred on defense.

He intercepted a Northwestern pass to stop another scoring threat and batted down another pass in the 2nd zone when the Wildcats attempted a two-point conversion that would have tied the score at 15-15.

Each team fumbled five times and the opposition recovered four of them.

One MSU fumble handed Northwestern its 2nd TD on a silver platter.

After halting a Northwestern scoring threat on their 1-yard stripe, the Spartans' Ron Hatcher fumbled at the line of scrimmage on a dive play when hit by end Ray Dillon and guard Larry Zeno fell on the pigskin in the end zone for a Wildcat TD. That bobbled out MSU's lead to 15-13.

Duffy, State's general head coach, remained afterwards in the locker room. "We'll have to delete that play from our offense,"

State's final TD came midway through the 4th quarter, a perfect 24-yard pass play from quarterback Pete Smith to sophomore Matt Norton, the giant end from Detroit. Norton caught the ball on the Wildcat 5 and broke a tackle to score the insurance tally.

Quarterback Tom O'Grady tumbled Northwestern's first TD on a 3-yard rollout and Dave Damm kicked the extra point. Art Brandstatter converted once for MSU in two tries and Dick Proebse passed to Lonnie Sanders for a two-point conversion after State's first punter.

According to Daugherty, it was MSU's strategy to use the full-backs as decoys and let the half-backs carry the offensive load because of the belief that Northwestern's strong defense would be geared to stop George Salinas, Hatcher and Roger Lopes. Duffy's theory was correct.

A crowd of 51,403 watched the Spartans tame the Wildcats, who are a better team than their 4-4 record would indicate.

Northwestern fullback Bill Swingle, the sophomore flash from Grand Haven, Mich., gained 31 yards in seven carries. The Wildcat displayed two of the finest Big Ten linemen seen anywhere this year in tackle Pete Echols and center-linebacker Larry Onesti. The Spartans conclude their 1961 season this Saturday at Spartan Stadium against Pete Elliott's winless Illinois team.

Defense Change Sparks Rally for 23-14 Win

Oakland County Boys and Rainey Shine; Injuries High

By CHUCK ABRAH

ANN ARBOR—Michigan football coach Bum Elliott was worrying about several injured players today as his Wolverines started preparations for the big season final coming up this week against unbeaten Ohio State.

Several of the crippled got hurt in the hard-hitting 23-14 come-from-behind victory over Iowa Saturday.

Top runner Bernie McKea, No. 1 punter and end Scotty Maentz and center Todd Grant of Southfield all left in the 1st half and never returned. Jack Strobel joined them later in sick bay. Walled Lake's John Walker hobbled in and out. Still not in top shape from previous injuries are line star Ken Schopf and vet back Ken Larosa.

Grant and Strobel underwent surgery Sunday. X rays showed no separation in McKea's shoulder but doctors expressed doubt he can be ready by Saturday. Maentz and Schopf are doubtful.

A big defensive change at full-time and some standout individual performances brought about by the departure of three starters early.

Down 14-3 at halftime after Doug Bickie's 40-yard field goal had provided a quick 24, Elliott switched workhorse Lee Hall from guard back to his old tackle slot where the Hawkies had piled up a good share of their 113 yards rushing in the last two periods. It worked perfectly.

A touchdown in the opening minutes of the 3rd quarter and the rebound by the defense sent "M" on the way to dominating the last 30 minutes.

Hot-and-cold quarterback Dave Glinka hit three successive passes for 32 yards and then scampered 44 yards when he could find no one to throw to aided by a Bob Brown block to get the 1st tally in the comeback. Bickie's placement cut the deficit to four points.

The rushes of Hall and his mates kept the visitors in trouble. Late in the 2nd quarter, the visitors took over at their own 29 but were set back to the 25 with 3rd down.

Sophomore Harvey Chapman, trying to fill the big shoes of McKea, started a run to the right and appeared to dribble the ball as he dropped it and it bounced right back to him. The former Farmington star suddenly cut over the line and went 54 yards before Iowa speedster Sammie Harris ran him down at the IU 22.

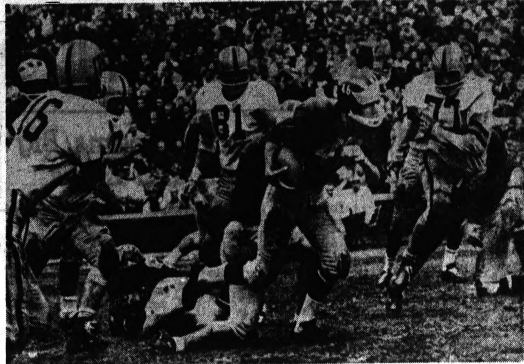

Rainey, carrying the running load, ran four straight times for the TD which regained the lead for keeps.

Michigan drove 60 yards to complete the scoring early in the final period. Bill Tunnellid of Ferndale ran twice for 15 and Chapman once for 9 before Glinka flipped to Brown on a well executed rollout play for the tally. A punt formation shift on 4th down forced an Iowa offside to keep the march going at the 37.

Bill Perkins scored the 1st Hawks touchdown from the 1 after Matt Seykora and leg end Cyd Webb clicked on a 20-yard aerial. Joe Williams went on for the other.

Chapman turned in a strong showing in his first chance at seeing much service. Tunnellid ran well at times. Walker starred on defense, especially in the 1st half. Grant worked well before leaving the game. Rainey finished with 102 yards rushing.

At Hinton of Saginaw and Gus Kasapis of Detroit were tops in the Iowa line. Bob LeZard of Royal Oak played a few minutes.

SOPHOMORE RAMBLES — Harvey Chapman (46), sophomore from Farmington who replaced the injured Bernie McKea, did a bang up job for Michigan. Here he goes for eight yards through the center of the Iowa line in the fourth quarter, Michigan rallied to gain a 23-14 victory.

Rumors Have Miami Favoring Kansas

Orange Bowl May Snub Colorado

By The Associated Press

While Alabama, the king of college football, debates which bowl offer to accept, a full-scale rumormongering broke out today, triggered by speculation that the University of Colorado was about to be snubbed by the Orange Bowl.

Alabama, one of the two remaining major unbeaten powers since the stunning 6-0 defeat of Texas by Texas Christian Saturday, apparently has its choice of the Rose Bowl or Cotton Bowl.

Bama coach Bear Bryant confirmed that his team had been approached to play in the Rose Bowl, indicating that the tradition of the Pasadena classic is being scrapped.

The Crimson Tide (9-0) can't accept anything until after its final game against Auburn Dec. 9, because of Southeastern Conference regulations. Alabama, No. 2 in the current Associated Press poll, crushed Georgia Tech, 16-0 last Saturday.

Meanwhile, angry rumblings came from the University of Colorado, following reports that the Orange Bowl favored Kansas. The Big Eight sends the visiting team to the Orange Bowl, but it does not have to select the champion.

Colorado (8-1), already has clinched at least a tie for the league title, but the Buffaloes, according to some members of the Orange Bowl committee, have been unimpressive in their last two starts. Kansas, beaten only by Colorado in the league, has won six straight with an explosive offense.

The contract and the conference should be investigated if we are "bypassed," thundered Colorado coach Sonny Grandelius. "I don't care what anyone says, we are the conference champion and we are entitled to play in the Orange Bowl."

Hopes to Top Palmer

Sanders Cajun Champion

By BEN THOMAS

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—That gray Arnold will have something to say about it," quipped Doug Sanders when asked if he believed he could overhaul Arnold Palmer in the final three tournaments of the year and move into second place in earnings on the 1961 PGA circuit.

"Arnold is one hell of an athlete," said the soft-spoken Sanders in his Georgia drawl Sunday after knocking down $2,000 in first place money in the $35,000 Cajun Classic golf tourney.

"You know, Palmer can play well and will score. And when he plays good, he scores even better."

Sanders used his now-famous short swing and unorthodox stance plus his methodical putting to post a record 14-under par 270 for the 72-hole tourney.

The 25-year-old native of Cedar-town, Ga., was tied for the lead

Kansas, besides losing to Colorado in the Big Eight, dropped a nonleague game to Texas Christian and was tied by Wyoming early in the season.

"If the Big Eight is going to let the Orange Bowl dictate to them, then it's about time somebody investigates the conference and the contract," said Grandelius.

"What's the sense of playing for a conference title if it doesn't have any meaning? We might as well forget about the conference and start playing exclusively for a bowl invitation."

With the downfall of Texas there was no team capable of arguing with Alabama for the top spot in the nation. Rutgers (8-0), which already has spurned bowl invitations, is the only other undefeated major team. The Scarlet answered Oklahoma, 26-6 Saturday.

So with the regular season closing next Saturday, the bowl promoters still are in a mad scramble.

Here is the current rundown: Rose — Waiting for an answer from Alabama. Assuming the Crimson Tide whips Auburn, Bryant probably will jump at the California trip. This sidetracks the two Big Ten hopefuls, Minnesota, and Ohio State. The UCLA-Southern California game Saturday will decide the host school.

If Alabama accepts, it will rule the heavy favorite. Neither UCLA nor Southern Cal has been spectacular this season. Both lost last Saturday. Washington dropped UCLA, 17-13, and Pitt edged Southern Cal, 10-9.

Orange—the visiting team will be Colorado or Kansas, Louisiana State, 14-6, winner over Mississippi State, already has disassociated itself with the Sugar Bowl, so probably will wind up in the Orange.

Cotton—the sudden downfall of Texas, which had been riding pell-mell toward the national championship, left the Longhorns tied for the Southwest Conference lead with Arkansas. If Texas defeats Texas A&M Thanksgiving Day and Arkansas gets past Texas Tech next Saturday, the two teams will wind up tied for the league crown. Texas will get the Cotton Bowl spot on the basis of a victory over Arkansas.

Mississippi is the most likely choice to provide the opposition. The Rebels claim they have made no commitments, however.

Sugar—With Alabama looking westward and Louisiana State not interested, the Sugar Bowl is in a tough spot. Georgia Tech, although beaten the last two weeks, appears to be the best of the lot for the host spot.

Arkansas, pushed out of the Cotton Bowl, probably will go to New Orleans to provide the opposition. Gator—Miami probably will be the home team assuming the Hurricanes beat Northwestern and Florida in their final two games. Maryland and Duke of the Atlantic Coast Conference both would like a bid.

Behrick's 707 at B & M Follows Big Prediction

Bowler Carl Behrick comes through in a hurry when he makes a prediction.

Recently, he told a Press writer that "somebody I am going to roll 700 and get into the Pontiac 700 Club."

A few hours later the Lakewood Lanes' employee went out to B & M Recreation in Walling Lake and fired a 707 on games of 215-245-247. His effort moved Playtime Billards into 1st place in the senior league there.

It was the first 700 there this season. There were nine 600 series the same night, Monroe Moore of the 300 Bowl team hit a new high game for the top looping, 38 200s with 268.

Anyone for Instant Effigies?

EAST LANSING (AP)—Here's an idea for what should be one of the hottest items in merchandising since instant coffee—Instant Effigies.

You too can hang your favorite coach in effigy—high school, college or professional—when his team loses a football game.

There will be a certain snob appeal to help sales. The advertising pitch would be that the fan shouldn't be satisfied with a crude, homemade effigy.

They should buy custom made models. Washable, so it can be stored away during winning seasons. Then it could be tossed in the washing machine and used over and over again whenever a game is lost.

Paste-on faces would be available, one for every coach in the Big Ten. It's a rough league and they all lose some time.

For those who like something smart and different, a stake, a box of matches and a small bundle of kindling could be provided—for burning at the stake.

ENCOURAGE SALES
This would encourage repeat sales. The fans would have to buy a new effigy after each loss.

A camera would be standard equipment with the instant effigy kit. For taking pictures to rush down to the nearest newspaper immediately after the hanging.

A brand new sales market has been opened up, by the imagination students at the University of Detroit. Instead of hanging the effigy of coach Jim Miller, they sat Miller's on a throne and crowned him for an upset win.

This field hasn't even been touched yet. A brain-storming session—as the Madison Ave. advertising boys put it—came up with these additional money-making items.

Coach dolls complete with little pins to stick in them for those who believe in voodoo. Pre-written anonymous letters to send to your coach... an easily-understandable book for effigy-hangers on how to tie the rope, letter the sign, etc.

Leave us a frank effigy and need help.

At Michigan State, for instance, some 2,000 students turned out to cheer and cheer up Duffy Daugherty after the 134 loss to Minnesota. The fratricides organized this effort and did a good job.

Only a small, disgruntled minority participated in the hanging of Duffy in effigy after the 74 loss to Purdue. It was an amateurish effort with little popular support on the campus.

MAJORITY CHEERED
The majority remembered the first five fine wins—by their satisfaction at the 28-0 blanking of traditional rival Michigan and the thrill of the 17-0 comeback over Notre Dame.

They figure a 7-2 season is within reach and have the "wait for next year" attitude.

But fans are fickle. There's a great market for effigies. The man who starts mass production will be in on the ground floor.

Titans Handed 40-6 Walloping

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP)—Nolan Jones was more than the University of Detroit could handle. Saturday night as he led his Arizona State teammates to a 40-6 victory.

Jones accounted for 25 points, leaving four touchdowns and host, downing conversions. He's touch-downs came on runs of 25, 11 and 1 yards, plus a 22-yard gallop off taking a screen pass.

It was Detroit's worst defeat of the year. Previous Titans losses were 37-19 to Navy and 34-7 to Army.

Detroit mounted only two serious offensive threats. The first resulted in a second quarter touchdown on a 35-yard pass from quarterback Ron Bishop of Royal Oak to end Larry Vargo. The other died on the ASU one foot line.

The Titans were outtraded 126 to 278 yards and trailed in passing yardage 136 to 155.

"We simply got hit far beat out of by us as line a football team as I've seen this year," U.D. coach Jim Miller said. "When you get belted around like that there isn't much to be said," he concluded.

In other words, the club owners are supposed to have held their rounds of the draft by telephone. Three newspapers reported that several weeks before Commissioner Foss set the official date of the secret draft had been held and

Race Car Driver Killed After Clinching Awards

The race was halted because of darkness after 50 laps around the one-mile dirt oval.

Rodger Ward, Indianapolis, finished second and Eddie Sachs, Coopersburg, Pa., was third.

The results were questioned by several drivers and films of the race were to be viewed by officials today.

Two other wrecks marred the race. Ray Crawford, Pasadena, Calif., flipped coming out of the south turn during the time trials and was hospitalized with chest and head injuries. Chuck Hulise, Downey, Calif., flipped on the dangerous north turn and was treated for shoulder and hand cuts.

Does Automation Work in the School Room?

What, however, if the student is consistently wrong with his answers? What if he is obstinately inadequate, has a mental block, or is just plain discouraged or indifferent?

The machine is in his hands and it can help him without his full cooperation and understanding of the subject being taught.

A live teacher, on the other hand can quickly sense this mental block or difficulty and immediately guide the pupil the right or direction he needs.

The teaching machine speeds progress, just as motion pictures, television, and other audio-visual aids speed progress.

But these have no supplanted man. Neither will the teaching machine.

Why? Because the teaching machine can custom-build questions and answers for each subject matter, but it can't custom-build questions and answers for pupils.

Knowledge has to be more than a matter of filling in blanks. A ruler knows that.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — An old man, who for 12 years nursed an idea which now seems as forlorn as the last leaf of a withered tree, today began another round in a career which is coming to a close.

At 85, West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer is the oldest head of a major government. He came here to talk with President Kennedy about Berlin, the Russians, and East Germany. What he has in mind isn't clear at all this point.

He is still vigorous but he is on his way out. An Associated Press report from Bonn this month talked of German "resentment that has built up over the years to his authoritarian ways."

It was demonstrated last September when in West Germany's elections his Christian Democratic party failed to win a majority in Parliament. He had to seek the support of the Free Democrats in order to get re-elected chancellor once more.

After seven weeks of haggling, the Free Democrats exacted a price. They were willing to put up with him but not indefinitely. On Nov. 8, he gave them a written guarantee he would retire before his term's end in 1965. It may be in 1965.

It is against this background that he is here — a leader whose days are numbered — to discuss terms with Kennedy solutions which will affect the future of Europe and therefore the Western Alliance against communism.

Under his leadership, but with large American help, his country has risen from devastation to a soaring prosperity which 12 years ago might have seemed unbelievable. His vision was broader than Germany.

He led his country into the Western Alliance. Through his relations with French President Charles de Gaulle he has sought to dry up the ancient German-French enmity.

He took his country into the European Common Market, which may do more for the prosperity of that area than any single act in history.

The result may be a Western Europe so powerful and united that it will be truly a third world force — no longer looking to this country for protection or leadership — which will be a balance between the United States and Russia.

These are tremendous achievements and prospects, so much so that the growing strength of West Germany gave Premier Khrushchev added incentive for wishing the Western Alliance dissolved.

By demanding the Allies get out of West Berlin, Khrushchev has challenged West Germany.

MAY BE SHUT OFF

Unless some understanding is reached with him by the Allies, West Berlin may slowly be shut off from the West even though its links are with West Germany.

Adenauer hasn't produced solutions to meet or offset Khrushchev's tactics.

While the United States and Britain have shown inclination to negotiate with him, the French and de Gaulle have been reluctant to do anything but stand still.

Thus, out of the Kennedy-Adenauer talks may come the beginning of an agreed policy. But it is at this point that Adenauer's age and the growing strength of the Communists in mind and even sounds confused.

For example, he said the whole East German Communist crisis erected between West and East Berlin must come down as a condition for settlement. But his new foreign minister, Gerhard Schröder, thought it necessary to tone this down.

'BE CAREFUL'

He said the wall must come down but added: "We must be careful not to set up preconditions that will prevent a solution." He said West Germany would not insist the wall must come down before the start of East-West trade.

Among the 40 relatives and close friends of the couple invited to the wedding and to a reception later at the bride's apartment were Lucy's mother, Desiree Ball, and the bridegroom's mother, Rose Morton. Mrs. Ball had brought the children here from California.

The maid of honor was actress Paula Stewart, who had introduced the couple in the summer of 1950 while she and Lucy were appearing in "Wildcat."

The best man was Miss Stewart's husband, comedian Jack Carter.

State Dept. Security Policies Eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — State Department security policies have come under scrutiny by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, it was learned today.

The subcommittee, under Vice Chairman Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., called in four department witnesses for closed-door testimony last Thursday.

The action followed a recent announcement that the department plans to eliminate for economy reasons about 25 jobs in its Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs which handles security clearance and other functions.

The bureau was set up in 1952 as the aftermath of charges by the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy that Communists had infiltrated the State Department.

When questioned by United Press International, Dodd said the unannounced subcommittee executive session involved "State Department security matters," but he declined to elaborate.

The department officially has explained that the manpower cuts were being made in line with President Kennedy's call for economy in all departments. It said the reductions applied to other divisions as well.

HITS 'RIGHT WINGERS'

Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, in a recent statement criticized "right wingers" for singling out the security office case when the staff reductions were announced. "Immediately," Young said, "some right wingers — who talk about communism in faculties, among the Protestant clergy and in government, but could not name even one — yelled that our national security was being endangered."

Young said the 20 or 25 positions were but a small part of a force of about 275 persons in the bureau. "This economy action was justified," he declared.

The cut, expected to be carried out next month, affects only domestic workers. None of the agents overseas who perform counter-espionage and security guard duties are involved.

The new administrator of the Department's Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs is Salvatore A. Bontempo, who was not present when the subcommittee questioned three of his staff workers.

Bontempo has recommended that the job for investigating the loyalty of State Department employees be transferred to the Civil Service Commission and that the bureau be reduced to primarily a passport and visa supervision agency.

The reorganization plan, still pending on a higher department level, would reduce Bontempo's own staff still further. He estimates it would cut the bureau's

Construction Mishap Leaves Four Injured

GALESBURG (U)—An indoor riding ring collapsed near here Saturday, injuring four construction workers.

The men were employed by Sully Construction Co., of Des Moines, constructing the ring at Lou-Don Farms north of Galesburg.

Seriously injured were Clyde Carlyle, 43, of Osgood, and Milton Heckathorn, 23, of Fulton. Richard Burdick, 37, of Hickory Corners, and Jack Richter, 23, of Ellwood, Ind., were treated for minor injuries and released.

Police said the men were removing temporary bracing when the structure collapsed.

FDA Confiscates 'Miracle Food' at Health Store

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said Sunday it seized nearly 3,000 pounds of honey from a Detroit health food store.

It also said it confiscated promotional material claiming that honey is a cure for "premature death" and is good for waning virility, rheumatism, arthritis and a weak heart.

The FDA said it took action against Detroit Vital Foods, Inc., whose product is Leford Kordel. The FDA described Kordel as a "health food lecturer" who has been involved in FDA action previously.

Ice was a precious commodity during the Civil War and the Union medical department rationed it — one pound per patient per day south of Washington, one-half pound north of Washington.

About thirty years ago, automotive history was made when a newcomer, Plymouth, first challenged the giants of the industry—with an advertisement that said, "Look at all three."

Today, a similar situation, but in reverse, is making new history as the giants—Ford and Chevrolet—try to challenge another car.

Today, they have each produced a new car trying to challenge Rambler.

The Rambler Classic, for over six years, has been America's only middle-size car—the only compact that has room for six 6-footers in full comfort.

For over six years, Rambler has offered car buyers the best of both—big-car room and performance, with compact economy and handling ease.

The overwhelming acceptance of this car by the public has resulted in such a phenomenal success that Rambler now outsells all other cars but the two giants.

It was inevitable, of course, that these two giants would arrive at the Rambler Classic size sometime.

That time is now. Ford has announced its Fairlane, Chevrolet its Chevy II.

So now it is time for the astute car buyer again to "look at all three"—but this time, Chevrolet, Ford and Rambler.

For 1962, Rambler offers two fine cars in the "best-of-both" size.

The chart at the right compares them with the Ford and Chevrolet entries. Even a quick check shows that the Rambler Classic (or Ambassador V-8) offers far more advantages to the buyer than the other two cars.

This, too, is inevitable.

It costs millions and millions of dollars to convert production lines to building cars with unitized construction. Both these competitive cars have had to do that this year. Rambler did it years ago, so our costs have long since been written off—a major reason why we can add so many other features to our cars.

Even more than this—we realize that, as an independent automobile company competing in a market dominated by giants, we must offer an obviously better value in both product and price to exist and succeed. That we are doing so is evidenced by our sales growth.

We also know that our best insurance for success is to share our growth and progress with all who help produce it—our employees and our customers.

Sharing progress with customers is the real key to success. Only by adding more and more improvements—adding more value—and making our cars more usable, more comfortable, more trouble-free, more economical to buy and to operate, can we grow.

When you realize that we have added 102 advancements to our 1962 models—and lowered prices on every one of them—you can understand why our sales keep soaring.

Many times I have predicted publicly that the Rambler Classic size eventually would be the new standard-size car in America—and that Ford and Chevrolet would lose their lead unless they produced cars of similar size.

Now they have done that, and you can look at all three: Rambler, Fairlane, and Chevy II.

When you do, I believe you will find Rambler an obviously better value in product and price.

George Romney

Arms Span the Long Years

BROTHERS EMBRACE — Forty-two years is a long time for two brothers to be separated and Neckleh (left) and Louis Kadder of Pontiac made the most of their reunion when they were reunited in Pontiac Saturday.

Neckleh followed his brother to the United States from their native Palestine—where they had each other goodby in 1919.

Brothers Are Reunited

Forty-two years was long enough, but those last five hours were like eternity to Louis Kadder.

Kadder and his wife Lathia waited inside the Greyhound bus station on Perry street Saturday. The hands on the big clock couldn't go around fast enough for them.

"I felt just like I was sitting on top of a fire," said Kadder, of 119 S. Jessie St. He paced nervously like an expectant father.

The bus pulled into the station at 1:30. The waiting — for years and hours — came to an end. Off the bus stepped Kadder's younger brother Neckleh, whom Louis hadn't seen since 1919 when Louis Kadder left Palestine and set out for the new country.

They recognized each other immediately. Both wept with tears of happiness while they embraced outside the bus.

Palestine, where he had worked as chief cook for a government hospital, to head for the United States to see what his brother first saw 42 years ago.

"I like what I've seen," Neckleh said. Louis Kadder, 64, a dry goods traveling salesman, and his wife, who used to operate a restaurant in Pontiac and Drayton Plains, filed papers with the government two years ago in hopes of having the brother come to this country. His name finally appeared on the latest immigration quota list from Palestine.

BUS DELAYED
An Italian liner brought Kadder to New York. A bus was taken from New York to Pontiac. It was due at 8:30 a.m. Saturday but was delayed in Cleveland, causing Louis Kadder the extra five anxious hours of waiting.

"We're hoping he'll get word here and then bring his family over to stay," Mrs. Kadder said.

Already the new arrival has been introduced to relatives of Louis Kadder living in Detroit. But a big family reunion will be postponed until other relatives can gather from Flint.

This is okay with Louis and Neckleh. They have plenty to talk about by themselves. After all—forty-two years is a long time.

Bolling had been the only name mentioned as a likely opponent of McCormack for the speakership. His decision to run for the No. 2 post in the House gave McCormack what almost certain McCormack would succeed Rayburn.

McCormack became acting speaker when cancer forced Rayburn to leave the capital last August.

HAS COMPETITION
Albert was designated acting floor leader by McCormack and his formal election had been taken for granted until Bolling decided to make a contest. Albert made his own entrance official Sunday night, when he formally announced at his McAlester, Okla., home that he would seek the post.

A caucus of House Democrats will select the new speaker and floor leader shortly before the House reconvenes Jan. 10. Unless Bolling or Albert withdraws before then, the caucus could develop into a knock-down, party-splitting affair that could jeopardize President Kennedy's legislative program, already in trouble in the House.

Bolling, 45, has long been identified with the liberal group in the House, although he calls himself a moderate. He has served since 1949 and is a member of the powerful Rules Committee, where he is Rayburn's chief spokesman.

WAS PARTY WHIP
Albert arrived at the House two years before Bolling and has been party whip—or assistant leader—for the past seven years. He is 53 and calls himself a moderate. Supporting Albert is a strong group of Southerners headed by Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., chairman of the Rules Committee. He also has backing among Northern Democrats. Bolling's supporters claim the backing of most of the Northern and Western liberals as well as some Southerners.

Children Warned to Avoid Strangers

"Look out for strangers," is the warning to Pontiac area school children issued by the Crime Prevention Bureau of the Pontiac Police Department.

Unfortunately, the bureau warns, innocent youngsters are less adequately warned, may fall prey to child attackers who have disguised minds.

Girl Describes Night of Terror Aboard Yacht

Survivor Claims Deck Covered With Blood Before Boat Sank

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Terry Jo Dupperault, 11, of Green Bay, Wis., wife of the sea, saw a great deal of blood all over the decks of the ill-fated ketch Bluebell the night the vessel sank in the Atlantic, carrying her family to its death, the Coast Guard reported today.

Terry Jo, recovering in a Miami hospital after rescue from a small raft, told Coast Guard investigators of a terror-filled night.

The Coast Guard called a special news conference to disclose information its investigators got from the girl, sole survivor of seven persons to put to sea on the Bluebell.

Sunday night, the night of the sinking in the Bahamas, she was awakened by sounds of screaming and running on deck, the Coast Guard investigator quoted her as saying.

According to the report, this was her account: She recognized the voice of her brother Brian as one of those screaming. She went outside of her room, saw her mother and Brian on the floor of the central cabin, and saw "a great deal of blood all over."

She climbed up to the main deck and saw blood on the after-deck and Capt. Julian Barker coming toward her with something in his hand. When she asked him what happened, he told her in an angry voice "To get down there!" struck her and forced her back down the stairs.

She went to her bunk and heard water sloshing over the deck and thought "the captain might have been washing the blood off the deck." The water was rising from the bilges into her room.

ON WAY TO SEARCH — New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, and his daughter Mrs. Mary Rockefeller Strawbridge, are shown on their arrival in San Francisco early this morning en route to New Guinea to aid in the search for Rockefeller's son Michael, 23, who has been reported missing while working on an expedition. Mrs. Strawbridge is the missing David's twin sister.

Hold Out Hope Governor's Son Is Also Safe

Young Explorer Last Seen Floating Away Off New Guinea Coast

THE HAGUE (AP) — A Dutch companion of missing Michael Rockefeller was rescued today off the south coast of Dutch New Guinea and a report from the wild area said there was reason to hope Rockefeller also was safe.

The Interior Ministry said it had received a message from the administration at Hollandia, capital of West New Guinea, saying it had good hope that Rockefeller reached the coast.

The Dutch companion of the youngest son of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller told rescuers he last saw young Rockefeller floating off on two all-purpose military cans that could keep him afloat. The rescuer said the two were forced to abandon their plan, a native craft with an outrigger.

The world came as the elder Rockefeller, pale and shaken, began a 10,000-mile plane dash from New York to New Guinea. A spokesman for the governor said during a stopover in San Francisco that the news of the rescue of the Dutch companion was encouraging.

A number of a U.S. exploration team, the 23-year-old Michael was on a hunt for primitive art and sculpture in one of the wildest areas on earth, New Guinea's southern coast of swamp and jungle.

CONTINUE TO HUNT
The Dutch companion was picked up this morning by a Dutch navy craft off the coast, the government announced. It said the search for young Rockefeller is continuing.

The rescued man, a Dutch official named R. S. Wassing, 34, said that he had seen Michael Rockefeller on two cans off the southern mouth of the Eilanden River—River of the Islands.

He did not know if Rockefeller had reached the uninhabited shore, the Interior Ministry announcement said.

The announcement, based on information from the Dutch administration at Hollandia and the air arm of the Dutch navy, said that Sunday at 4 p.m. local time a small plane—a small native vessel—was spotted off the mouth of the Eilanden River.

Naval craft could not reach the point before dusk fell and during the night contact was lost, the announcement said. But this morning the plane was sighted again 14 miles off the coast.

Wassing was taken aboard a naval craft this morning at 9 a.m. and is in good health, the announcement said.

JFK, Adenauer to Hash Over Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer opened a series of policy conferences today in an effort to agree on a basis for Western negotiation with the Soviet Union to settle the Berlin dispute.

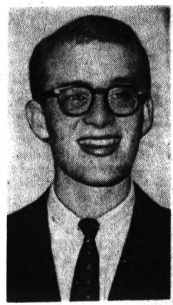

Kennedy was reported hopeful that Adenauer would accept a flexible approach, allowing for some concessions by the West, if the Soviet Union is willing to regulate "vital interests" of the Western powers in West Berlin. The West German chancellor arrived here Sunday calling for cooperation among the Allies and predicting victory for "the peace-loving nations" in the cold war.

Williams Vetoes Request to Run

Ex-Governor Rejects Bid by Supporters to Seek Seat in Congress

DETROIT (UPI) — Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams, former six-term Democratic governor of Michigan, said Sunday that he had been asked to run for Congress but would not do so.

Supporters of Williams have asked him to seek the 14th district seat vacated last week by the death of Rep. Louis C. Rabault, also a Democrat.

Williams said he was "honored" by the request but he felt his "obligation to my present job takes precedence over any other consideration at this time."

However, a source close to Williams said he was interested in getting back into Michigan politics to prove that he has not lost his personal charm with Michigan voters.

Williams presently is assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

Rabault served the 14th district for nearly 25 years in the U.S. House of Representatives. The district covers Detroit's far eastside and the Grosse Pointe area.

Personal Income in U.S. Jumps to Record High

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Total personal income in the United States jumped to a record yearly rate of $425 billion in October, according to the Commerce Department.

Business also picked up last month, the department said Sunday. The reports added up to the best economic picture in months, except for the persistent high unemployment rate.

Hope for Better Turnout at Special School Election

BIRMINGHAM — More enthusiasm was hoped for in a special school election here today than was shown a week ago when only eight residents turned out for a town hall meeting to hear the proposal.

The Birmingham Board of Education is requesting the approval of a $4,915,000 bond issue for new school construction and an 11-mill tax from the 30,000 voters in the school district.

Approval of the tax question would only mean an increase of $2.60 for each $1,000 of state equalized valuation, according to school officials.

Six of the 11 mills being requested would be an extension of a current levy and the remaining five mills would be split with the levy of $2.60 in new taxes and a transfer of $2.40 for each $1,000 of valuation from the district's retirement fund to the general operating fund.

The request for 11 mills is required on the ballot because of a law which states that the full amount needed for operation appear in the proposal.

The bond issue, which would mean no tax increase, would be used to finance the construction of a junior high school, an elementary school and additional service building and additions to the Farmington Junior High and four elementary facilities.

These new schools and additions would be built over a five-year period. The last mill increase was requested and approved in June 1960. At that time taxes were increased $1.50 for each $1,000. Two months earlier a similar open heart. Therefore we particularly welcome these contacts aimed at uniting together all those called by the name of Christ.

Earlier the council expanded its interchurch venture in another way—it absorbed into its fold a worldwide arm of Protestantism, the International Missionary Council.

The Russian Church has a membership estimated from 30 to 50 million in a population of 250 million people.

Admission of the Russian Church culminated more than 10 years of negotiation. Dr. Visser 'Tilgott, the council general secretary, said:

"It is a step forward in the ecumenical movement," said the Rev. Werner F. A. Koppers of Bonn, West Germany, delegate of the Old Catholic church. "This kind of contact, above all difficulties and suspicions, can be a blessing."

Twenty-two other church bodies were admitted, including the Bulgarian, Romanian and Polish Orthodox churches and two Chilean Pentecostal churches, the first Protestant groups to join the council.

The additions bring the council to 198 denominations with more than 300 million members in about 160 countries.

Archbishop Nicodim, head of the Russian delegation, said in an interview: "The Russians have an Another father daughter, Celeste, 16, was at home at the time of the accident. A son, Cpl. Bobby Pate, 19, is serving with the U.S. Marine Corps.

They were among 13 people killed on Michigan roads over the weekend.

Mrs. Irene Williams, 35, of Cement City, was injured fatally Sunday when her car slid off a two-car, head-on collision on U.S. 127, overpass in Jackson County, rolled down an embankment and hit a sign.

in serious condition. The driver of the other car, Timothy O. Morse, 21, of Birch Run and a passenger, Joseph Kenny of Mount Morris were in serious condition at Flint's Hurley Hospital.

Thanksgiving Turkey Not Really Tasty

By PHYLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK — Thanksgiving is coming, and there probably is a turkey in your future. Are your taste-buds a-tingle at the thought? I'll bet not.

It's a curiously specialized bird, Turkey. Kids love it, because it represents celebrations and good times. But after you get to the age of about 16, some of the thrill is gone... one too many turkey patty, two too many turkey hash casseroles, three too many turkey sandwiches, probably.

Gradually you come to realize that chicken is more moist, goose is more tasty, pheasant more zesty, guinea hens more chic.

Yet you go on serving turkey for Thanksgiving because it's expected of you. And the leftovers get bigger and bigger, as the family gets older and older and wiser.

CLEVER WOMAN

My mother is the cleverest woman I know. Twenty or more years ago she took allergy tests and discovered, with some satisfaction, that she was allergic to turkey. Since then, at the growing family board, she is always provided with a steak.

All the aunts and uncles express their sympathy. Mother accepts it with just enough gentle martyrdom to make them feel better, as she digs into the good red meat.

She says it is a shame she cannot join the rest of us in the culinary family spirit — but it seems rather significant that, although it is well known one often outgrows allergies, mother has not returned to the doctor lately for a new series of tests.

Americans serve turkey at Thanksgiving because grandmothers did it, and grandmothers' grandmothers did it. Now where the chickens did grandmother's grandmother ever get the idea? Certainly not from the Pilgrims, who founded Thanksgiving. The

Pilgrims had for their first Thanksgiving feast a real, by today's standards, gourmet menu:

Deer, lobster, clams and good Holland beer.

Sounds succulent, doesn't it? Although I suppose deer is so dear in price, you'd be having deer hash every Thursday for a year.

PERIOD FOR PEACE

Americans commonly think of Thanksgiving as a day for counting their blessings and not counting their calories.

In reality, it was begun as a period of respite during which war should be forgotten, and peace become the order of the day's thinking.

It was the fashion editor of "Godey's Lady's Magazine," Sarah Josepha Hale, who plumped for the idea back in the early 19th century. Originally, she wanted a national feast day to celebrate the founding of America by the Pilgrims — but for more than three decades no one in Congress was interested in pushing such a thing as Thanksgiving.

She might not ever have clinched her crusade, if it had not been for Civil War.

In 1861, Sarah finally shifted her emphasis from the Pilgrims to Peace. With national disunion at boiling point, she had her excuse to visit the secretary of state and plead that "communities and strife must be laid aside for one day..."

Ninety-six hours later, Abraham Lincoln, hearing of the idea she had vainly sought for 35

years, proclaimed a day of national "Thanksgiving."

Never underestimate the doggedness and opportunism of a good woman intent on improving the country.

Who says Thanksgivings "ain't what they used to be?"

The kids still get sick from excitement and overstuffing. The old folks still doze off after dinner. Mother and Aunt Margaret still do the dishes.

And still nobody cuts the pump-

To Put Speed Limits on Landing Planes

WASHINGTON — Speed limits will be imposed on planes approaching airports beginning Dec. 18, the Federal Aviation Agency has announced.

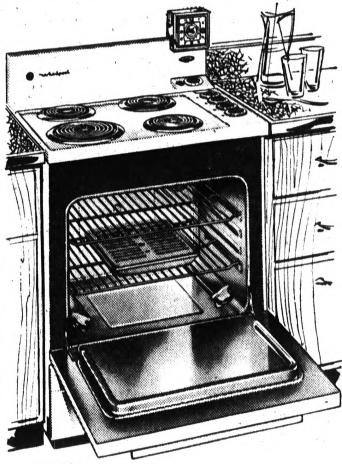

The limit is 288 miles an hour within 30 miles of the airport at altitudes of less than 10,000 feet.

The FAA last May proposed that speed limit within 30 miles of an airport and at altitudes below 14,500 feet, but Administrator N. E. Halsey said further study showed the requirements "could be made less stringent without compromising the prime purpose" of improving air safety.

Kennedy to Get Shield as Masai Says Thanks

NAIROBI, Kenya. — The 8,000 primitive Masai tribesmen will send President Kennedy a tribal shield and spear as thanks for saving them from starvation. The tribe has been kept alive in its drought-stricken preserve for three months by U. S. famine relief corn.

The corn has helped to clothe as well as feed the tribesmen. Masai children wear dresses made of the corn sacks, which bear the message: "Corn donated by the people of the United States."

Englishman Puts Ad in the Paper

Oh, Please, No Shelter, We Want an Island

LONDON (UPI) — In case you have not yet made the down payment on your bomb shelter, lend me your eyes and ears. We are going to consider the case of Bernard Stanbury, 32, a real estate man. Or rather a former real estate man because he now devotes all his time to a unique plan to beat the bomb.

Six months ago Stanbury was a staid business man and a member of the Conservative party. One Sunday he strolled into Hyde Park Corner, the citadel of free speech where the British set up platforms and talk about everything under the sun or fog depending on the weather.

He listened to a speech on nuclear disarmament. "I didn't agree with all that was said, but I agreed with a lot of it."

He began dropping in in meetings of the committee for nuclear disarmament, but nothing much happened. People kept right on manufacturing hydrogen bombs.

Stanbury resigned from the Conservative party and joined the Labor party. The Geneva disarmament conference became deadlocked.

Stanbury decided to support the people who sit down in Trafalgar Square to protest against hydrogen bombs. Four days later Khrushchev exploded a big one.

BOUGHT AN AD

At this point our man took stock and decided he was doomed to a life of frustration. He immediately did what every Englishman does in a moment of stress and crisis. He bought an advertisement on the front page of the Times of London for about $35. It consisted of what probably is the longest nonstop sentence outside the collected works of William Faulkner:

"Two families convinced that government policies are more likely to lead to the eradication of Britain than not, who do not think there is time to wait for a new government who do not wish to hang around to find out whether their appraisal of the situation is correct, would like to hear from families and individuals who have a strong desire to live, who are alive enough to do something about it and sufficiently adventurous and energetic to help establish a new cooperative and self-supporting community on an island comparatively safe from nuclear hazards. Please send fullest details to include number in family, ages, qualifications, abilities and other assets as the planned migration is for a limited number of persons. Write only to R. Stanbury, 90 South Audley Street, London, W.1."

He got 40 replies the next day, including nurses, teachers, students, a farmer and one man who referred to himself as a "timber technologist," and doubtless sales logs for fireplaces.

Stanbury thought that would be about it, but to his surprise the letters kept pouring in until he had more than 300.

Two basic decisions have been made: (1) The Royal Geographical Society has been asked to find a suitable island which will be fairly safe from hydrogen bombs but still near a shipping lane. (2) The expedition will take prefabricated huts.

The next order of business is to decide how many people will go, and select them from the 300. Then a meeting will be held some place other than Trafalgar Square and things will be organized. Trust me to keep you informed.

Handsome Giant Seeks Stardom

Danny Milland Follows Dad

BY BOB THOMAS

AP Wire-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Danny Milland is a handsome giant who might well climb the ladder to movie fame, as his dad did.

Danny, the full-grown sprout of Oscar-winning Ray, is on the first rung: He's got a contract.

He's also got the best of auspices. He's the first actor signed by Artists and Production Associates, Inc. The men behind the formidable title are Jack Lemmon, producer-directors Blake Edwards and Richard Quine and veteran talent executive Max Arnow.

I met young Danny in Arnow's office. Danny's quite a lad—21, 6-feet-5, 175 pounds, straight black hair, broad, smiling face. He is well-spoken and articulate.

RESEMBLES ROCK

The resemblance to Rock Hudson is likely to be seized upon.

"But Rock was just a farm boy when he started out," said Arnow. "I know, because I tried to get Harry Cohn to sign him. Danny is a lot more sophisticated, because of his travels abroad."

It was on a trip to Europe last summer that Danny made the decision to try for an acting career.

"Naturally I had thought about it," he explained. "I even took a course in acting at UCLA. But I had never made any decision one way or another."

ing him around to the talent buying firm, and he was bought.

OVERACTS

"I had him read a scene for me," said Arnow. "He was bad; he was acting too much. I told him to forget acting and just be natural. He did the lines again, and he was fine."

How does his father feel about his budding career?

"He's resigned to it, I guess," said Danny. "He wanted me to seek a professional career—any thing but acting. He's a bit disappointed."

"But he's been a help to me," Danny went on. "Once I was having trouble learning lines, and I asked him how to do it. He told me I had to learn the other person's lines first. Then I would know how to react. Reaction is the important thing. I'm learning."

Security Needs a Broom, Says Senator in Report

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government needs fewer people handling U.S. security matters and a clearer sense of direction at the top," according to the chairman of a Senate study group on national policy.

Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., of a special Senate government operations subcommittee, said one important step needed to improve policy-making was "committee-killing."

So he promptly disbanded his own group.

"There is serious overstaffing in the national security department and agencies," said Jackson in a "final statement" on his subcommittee's year-long inquiry.

The caliber of service is "impressively high" but there are people engaged in work that does not really need doing," he said.

The result, he said, is "sluggishness of decision and action" in addition to high payrolls.

JACKSON COMMENTS

In related matters, Jackson said:

"Policy failures generally result from the 'absence of a clear sense of direction and coherence of policy at the top of the government.'" President Kennedy and the start of a campaign to restrict Secretary of State Dean Rusk bear the greatest responsibility for dealing with this, he said.

"The state department needs more 'take charge' officials, more advance planning and stronger leadership."

"Radical revisions of existing policy machinery are 'unnecessary and undesirable.'"

"Congress should modernize the 'archaic' conflict of interest laws, which often make it 'unduly hard for outstanding people to accept government posts.'"

"Standards of performance adequate for quieter times will no longer do," Jackson said. "The presidency and state and defense and the rest of our government must meet new tests of excellence."

Israel Blasts Charges Against Soviet Jews

JERUSALEM (UPI)—The Israeli Foreign Ministry said Sunday the Soviet Union made "wild accusations" against three Russian Jews when it charged them with spying for Israel.

A foreign ministry spokesman said it was feared the new trials of Jews in the Soviet Union meant "the start of a campaign to restrict the freedom of Soviet Jewry."

Doesn't Like Wedding Bells

No 'Ding-Dong Daddy'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with this man for four years, and he just won't marry me. He is 28 and I am 24. He doesn't see anyone besides me. His excuse is that if he doesn't have enough money saved, which is ridiculous. He and another man own and operate a filling station in partnership. He lives at home, and saves like a miser. The last time he showed me his bank book he had $3,200 saved. Isn't this plenty to get married on?

TIED UP WAITING
DEAR TIED: Yes. Your friend is stalling. Pump him for the "real" reason.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man who is very cold and silent to me unless he has a few drinks in him. Then he gets warm and sweet and says the nicest things to me. He is not an alcoholic. In fact, he doesn't really like the taste of liquor, but I know if I want any affection or kindness from him I have a better chance if I pour him a drink. Do you think I am making a mistake by encouraging him to have a little drink or two a couple of times a week? The doctor said it won't hurt him. I don't want to make a drinker out of him, but he is so much nicer drunk.

NEEDING LOVE
DEAR NEEDING: No one is "nicer" drunk. Ask your doctor how you can accomplish the same effect without putting your husband's brain to sleep.

DEAR ABBY: I don't suppose many men write to you, but here's a letter from a man who would like to know what to do with an 18-year-old daughter who is strong, healthy and lazy with a capital "L." Her mother can be breaking her back with housework, but this daughter looks right through her. She has never once offered to help with anything. She acts like she is a royal princess who has nothing to do but entertain herself. It burns me up to witness this the few hours I am at home. How can this be corrected?

BURNED FATHER

Jr. Musicians Given Pictures of Composers

Members of the Pontiac Junior Musicians met Saturday afternoon in the home of Debra and Ruth Ann Garner on Lonedale Road.

Following the club collect, members named their favorite composers for roll call and were presented a picture of each by Mrs. Oscar Schmidt, club sponsor.

WIN CONTEST
Winners of the scale-playing contest were Danny Arnold and Debra Garner. Debra also played the hymn-of-the-month, "Come Ye Thankful People, Come" by George Elvey.

Heather Sue Lockhart, president, read the story of "The First Thanksgiving." Ann LaToza and Kim Anselmy also gave readings and Constance Rightmire played a piano solo. A social hour followed.

Glenda Farnsworth will plan the December program. New members were Patti Swartz and Kim Anselmy.

Girls Sell Candy to Aid Camp

The 10th annual candy sale of the Pontiac Council of Camp Fire Girls opened Saturday. The girls will be selling a two-layer box of chocolate creams at $1 through Dec. 3.

Blue Birds, age 7 to 10; Camp Fire Girls, 10 to 14; and Horizon Clubbers, 14 to 18, will canvass the Pontiac area to raise funds for the development of their 120-acre Camp Oweki, near Clarkston.

Candy sale chairman Eldon Gardner showed slides of the camp, and the Girls' Chorus led group singing at Saturday's rally at Lincoln Junior High School.

The Pontiac Council is supported by the Pontiac Area United Fund except for its camp operation which is maintained through registration fees and donations and the candy sale.

Spends Time Moving Around

NEW YORK (UPI) — So you'd rather die than move, ladies?

Then be glad you aren't Susan Wilding, who has lived in 76 different apartments and houses in London in the past 18 years and now is embarking on a career as a prime mover in New York.

Moving is part of a lucrative decorating business headed by the stylish blonde wife of actor Michael Wilding, who is now appearing in "Mary, Mary" on Broadway. She rents or buys residences, moves in to decorate and furnish them, then moves out to make way for tenants and buyers.

CAREER CAUGHT HUSBAND
One of her renters was Wilding, who took an apartment in Kensington for the run of a London play, wooed his landlady and won her.

"Obviously he married me to get free rent," laughed Mrs. Wilding.

She decided to live in the apartments while decorating them because she has to be on hand so early in the morning to oversee the workmen. She decorates to her own tastes, rich down to the ashtrays, and has never had to change as much as a doorknob to please a client.

TENANTS BRING NOTHING
"None of my tenants bring in their own things," she said.

"They don't have to, and that's part of the attraction of my properties. I rent to people who want a complete home away from home without moving but who do not want to put up at a hotel."

In London, Mrs. Wilding rents to American businessmen, movie producers and socialites, to golden Greeks and some British, and never for less than three months. She has her clients' met at the airport or dock, staffs servants for them if they wish, and sends them flowers when they depart.

EXPENSIVE DECORATIONS
She has spent as much as $300,000 on a property (talk wall coverings, gold bathroom fixtures, white carpets) and gets commensurate rentals. She thinks her New York apartments should attract rich clients from Hollywood, Texas, Oklahoma and South America who come to New York in connection with business or the social season.

"I used to go in for Louis XVI decor, but now I decorate in the American style and Americans love it," she said. "I introduced California decor to London — lots of black and white, lacquer furniture trimmed in brass, emerald green or coral ceilings and rugs, Oriental accessories — all slightly formal and not frilly."

Keep Still, Eat Your Vegetables

By the Emily Post Institute
Q: I am of the Catholic faith and during the course of the year there are days on which the eating of meat is not allowed. When invited to the house of a non-Catholic on such a day and the main course happens to be meat, how can I tactfully refuse this dish without embarrassing the hostess and making her feel that she has to get something else for me?

A: Simply take the accompanying vegetables, and not the meat, on your plate without calling attention to your not being able to eat the meat.

Q: I have a problem concerning baby announcements. I am expecting my first baby in a few weeks and I would like to know if announcements are sent to close members of the family even though they will be notified by telephone.

My husband feels announcements should be mailed to everyone we know. I disagree. My husband has his own business and would like to send an announcement to his secretary, telephone operator, etc. What is the limit on sending such announcements?

A: You may send announcements to anyone you have reason to think would be interested in the news of your baby's birth. You would not send them to those already notified by telephone.

Q: My husband has been asked to be the best man at a friend's wedding. I would like to know if he is supposed to give the bachelor dinner for the bridegroom.

Someone told me that it is his duty just as it is the duty of the maid of honor to give a shower for the bride. Will you please tell me if this is his obligation?

A: A bachelor dinner is not the obligation of the best man, in fact it is customarily given by the bridegroom himself for his ushers and best man and perhaps a few other close men friends.

She remembers it's Mr. Robert Mitchell fondly as her best tenant "because he kept the house so beautifully" and Jayne Mansfield as her worst.

"If American women wonder what I consider most important in providing a beautiful setting for a family, it is a dining room," she said. "Comfortable dining and good conversation that goes with it are something that just can't be bought with money. It's something every cultured person should want."

Don't Overdo Togetherness

By RUTH MILLET
Newspaper Enterprise & Sun.

"A man at the sink, a woman's apron tied high around his waist, is the most miserable sight on earth. No woman should make her man wash dishes. She did not find him at a kitchen sink when he first caught her fancy."

That bit of old-fashioned, womanly wisdom comes from the ever-blossoming glamour girl, Marlene Dietrich.

I quote it here, because there aren't too many women today speaking out against the kind of "togetherness" that ends up in a wife's wearing jeans and a husband's wearing an apron — the kind of complete and total togetherness that results in a man's being less masculine and a woman's being less feminine.

Perhaps American women wouldn't have fallen so hard for "togetherness" in the first place if they had stopped to think that a woman can't over-domesticate a man without losing some of her femininity in the process.

In the first place—the wife is the real boss in any "togetherness" setup. For she is on her own home ground.

If pop is going to do the dishes—her's going to have to do them man's way. If he is going to bathe the children and put them to bed—it's going to be at her direction. If he is going to paint the walls of the house, it is the woman of the house who is going to choose the colors and supervise the job.

So much togetherness makes women bossy.

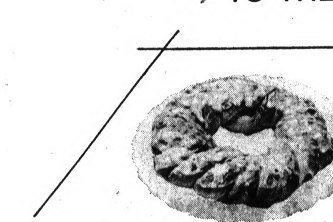

In the second place, the man who falls into the togetherness trap loses some of his masculinity. And how is a woman going to feel completely and happily feminine unless her own personality is in sharp contrast to a man's dominant masculinity?

Women short - slightly thought they had everything to gain and nothing to lose when they pushed the idea of togetherness. They didn't see that they could lose their most valuable possession—femininity.

Infinite are the ways discussed in Ruth Millet's booklet on "How to Have a Happy Husband." Send 25 cents to Ruth Millet Retail Service, c/o The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 480, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York, 19, N.Y.

So lifelike is this doll with its silky hair and soft pliable body that even a little girl's mommy will want to cuddle it. Baby dolls have been popular with little girls since the first doll to say "Mama" was made in England in 1864.

Poor Marybel's ailments are only make-believe but it's great fun to pretend she has aches and pains just like real little girls sometimes do. This doll with fashionable Jacqueline (at right) are among this season's cast of characters on Christmas toy shelves. The fashion doll is a descendant of dolls used originally by French dressmakers as early as 1391 to inform clients in distant lands of fashion's foibles.

Mold Cranberry Relish Into Orange Gelatin

Pontiac Press Home Editor

You are probably thinking of your Thanksgiving menu at this time. Here is a recipe for a molded cranberry salad that you might enjoy.

Mrs. Robert Russ says her mother-in-law gave her the recipe. With 3 preschoolers, Mrs. Russ is tied pretty closely to home. She does participate in a handicraft class.

MOLDED CRANBERRY SALAD
By Mrs. Robert Russ

2 cups raw cranberries, ground
1/2 cup celery, diced
1 large apple, diced
1 small can crushed pineapple, drained
1 1/2 cups sugar

Mix above ingredients and let stand 2 to 3 hours.

1 package orange gelatin
1 cup hot water

Nuts, if desired

Add gelatin to hot water. Stir in cranberry mixture and nuts. Pour into mold and let chill until set. Serve with salad dressing or whipped cream. Serves 6-8.

Dolls Mean Same in Any Land

Almost as long as there have been girls and boys — dolls have amused them.

The endless varieties of material from which dolls have been made reveals the stages of development, the industries and customs of different people.

For instance, in the Southwest United States the Indians use dolls made of cactus stems in their ceremonies. Afterwards, these dolls are given to the children to play with so that they may learn the symbolism of their tribes.

In Africa, the Congo iron doll is given to every grown girl to keep for her first child, and in Syria a girl of marriageable age hangs a doll in her window.

In the United States, little girls faithfully copy different phases of their own and the grown-up life around them in their daily play with dolls. The carefully crafted and beautifully costumed dolls created by Madame Alexander bring beauty and imagination into such play.

The costumes for each doll are specially designed by Madame Alexander in fabrics woven with Celanese contemporary fibers. They combine simplicity with refined glitter and practicality with the kind of colors that delight little girls.

An interesting point about these doll costumes is the variety they encompass, both in fabric and styles — indicating that doll-loving misses have strongly-defined tastes and like to display their individuality.

They love lush fabrics, for instance, like satin and jersey.

College Girl Marries; Family and Then What!

NEW YORK (UPI)—The modern thinking that what someone else has done, you can do too. I believe I was a case of exceptional circumstances.

"I do believe the college woman should keep alive and grow . . . she should not let herself be overwhelmed with domesticity and love."

Mrs. McIntosh (she holds a doctorate from Johns Hopkins University but prefers the "Mrs.") because "there already is one doctor in the family") has been president of Barnard, the women's college of Columbia University, since 1952. She will retire next June, ending a career of teaching women which began in 1926 when she joined the faculty of Bryn Mawr College.

She is a former dean at Bryn Mawr and for 17 years was headmistress of the Brearley School, a fashionable New York private school for girls.

Mrs. McIntosh talked of some of the changes she has noticed in the attitudes of women students through those years.

"When I was in college (she graduated from Bryn Mawr in 1920), the women were career-minded. Then, there was that swing back strictly to interest in domesticity. Now, most of the girls seem to want to get married and hold a job."

To me the difference in a career and a job is easily defined. A career is something you stay with . . . a job is something you can go back to.

The way youth is marrying increasingly early, a woman at the age of 30 already has her children in school. She's ready at a very young age to go back to that "The mistake often is made in outside job."

What will resolve this problem? "When men are all sons of college graduates, I suppose," she smiled.

"Now, I'm not saying that the home is not a wife's responsibility," continued this educator mother of five grown children. "If I had ever thought that continuing work would have hurt my family, there would have been no question but what I would have stopped working. But I had a sympathetic husband, and exceptional health."

Mrs. McIntosh, wife of the physician, Roslin McIntosh, said there is no set formula for the college-educated woman's adjustment to a combination of marriage and work.

"She has to figure out her own education," said Mrs. McIntosh. "The mistake often is made in outside job."

Anderson told the service publication "Army-Navy-Air Force Register" that other weapons tested by Russia recently had "far greater military significance than the 50-megaton explosion."

He said it would be "very logical to assume" that Russia was

Gophers On Way to Big Ten Title

Purdue Had Fans Guessing

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN. — Any Monday morning quarterback who was one of the 67,061 fans watching the top Big Ten game of the day between Minnesota and Purdue Saturday, could certainly have a field day second-guessing the strategy used by the Boilermakers.

The game between the top two defensive teams of the Big 10, turned out to be a dull contest with the Gophers winning 10-7 before the record home crowd.

The first half belonged to Minnesota as the mighty Gopher line limited Purdue to 34 yards rushing. In the last two periods it was Purdue's defensive unit that dominated play.

One thing the Boilermakers found out and yet refused to take advantage of the fact, was that the Minnesota aerial defense could easily be penetrated.

Purdue completed nine of 16 passes for 181 yards yet was reluctant to throw in key situations.

Minnesota got all of its points in the second quarter on a 25 yard field goal by Tom Loecheer and a four yard run by Sandy Stephens. Several other good scoring chances were halted by the equally hard-charging Boilermakers.

The casualty list for both teams was high and was especially costly to Purdue which only a week before had seven injuries against Michigan State.

Failing to get past their own 32 yard line in the first half, the Boilermakers held the upper hand all through the second half but couldn't come up with the big play when needed.

The biggest shock came in the third quarter. Purdue had the ball on the Minnesota 24 yard line, 4th down and eight yards to go. With the score 10-0, quarterback Ron DiGravio raced in off the bench and quickly went into punt formation.

No one could imagine DiGravio would actually punt, but he did and the ball went into the end zone allowing the Gophers to take over on the 20.

This was probably the weirdest bit of strategy of the season. There was no doubt that the intention was to punt out close to the goal line, but in view of the circumstances this even was a questionable decision.

The ball would have had to go out on the one or two yard line to do any good and the odds in this respect were very poor. If the Boilermakers figured on a Gopher fumble, the chances weren't bright as the field was perfectly dry and Minnesota hadn't fumbled once up to this time.

Purdue let a couple other scoring chances get away before finally hitting paydirt with 5:10 left in the game. A beautiful 53 yard pass from Gary Hogan to Harold Wells to the three-yard line was the key play. Hogan then went the last yard for the TD.

Minnesota is now one step away from the Big Ten title. The Gophers are now 6-0 with only Wisconsin left to play. Ohio State is 5-0 and must play Michigan.

Even if both should win, the Gophers will take the crown by virtue of having played one more game.

Western Prepares for Aviation Bowl

From Our News Wires
KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Western Michigan University started preparations today for its Dec. 9 engagement in the Aviation Bowl at Dayton, Ohio.

The Broncos won the invitation Saturday after finishing second in the Mid-American Conference. However, they missed an opportunity to share the league title with Bowling Green when Ohio University tied the Broncos 20-20. Bowling Green, which normally would have represented the conference because of its league title, previously was committed to play in a charity bowl game at Los Angeles.

Western's opponent in the Aviation Bowl was expected to be selected this week.

Western had a 4-1-1 league record.

Western quarterback Ed Chlebek locked up the conference total offense title by throwing three touchdown passes and hitting on 12 of 21 for 151 yards. He finished the season with 545 total yards.

Wayne State closed its dismal season by absorbing a 7-0 shellacking by Wittenburg.

Wayne experienced its worst season in 29 years. En route to one victory in eight starts, the Tartars yielded 271 points while scoring only 36.

cluded a 57-0 loss to Wheaton and a 62-0 pounding by John Carroll.

There was one consoling factor for Wayne Saturday. The 7-0 loss wasn't the worst in Tartar history. An 88-0 defeat by Western Michigan still stands.

Hillsdale overpowered Heidelberg of Ohio 24-7 and capped its worst record in Coach Muddy Waters' eight years at the helm.

It was Hillsdale's first season as a football independent. They abandoned the MIAA last year following a hassle over post season bowl competition.

Absentees Packer Problem

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — "Manpower, or the lack of it, is the biggest thing we have to fight down the stretch," Green Bay Packers coach Vince Lombardi said today as he prepared for the annual Thanksgiving Day game at Detroit against the Lions.

The Packers set a solid hold on the National Football League's Western Conference lead with a 35-17 victory over Los Angeles Sunday, and a victory Thursday over the second-place Lions would

But Lombardi wasn't ready to concede anything, particularly with high-scoring halfback Paul Hornung apparently unavailable to play in any of the Packers games while stationed at Ft. Riley, Kan.

"And we may or may not have Boyd Dowler and Ray Nitschke for Thursday's game," Lombardi reminded.

Dowler, a flanker back, and Nitschke, a linebacker, are with the 32nd division at Ft. Lewis, Wash., but were given weekend passes to play Sunday.

"Hank Gremminger has a sprained knee with a lot of soreness," Lombardi continued. "Tom Moore has a bruised cartilage in his chest. We don't know if they will be up to par within four days."

Both are hard working backs. Lombardi recalled that his club trailed early in the game but "We came back with 28 points against the Bears after a 7-0 deficit and the same against the Rams. That's a 56 point output. How often can you do that in this league? I'll say they represent strong comebackers."

Cosch Bob Waterfield of the Rams commented: "The Packers were just too much for us. What other team can lose a Hornung and be that strong?"

Anyone for Instant Effigies?

EAST LANSING (AP)—Here's an idea for what should be one of the hottest items in merchandising since instant coffee—instant effigies.

You too can hang your favorite coach in effigy—high school, college or professional—when his team loses a football game.

There will be a certain snob appeal to help sales. The advertising pitch would be that the effigy shouldn't be satisfied with a crude, homemade effigy.

They should buy custom made models. Washable, so it can be stored away during winning seasons. Then it could be tossed in the washing machine and used over and over again whenever a game is lost.

Paste-on faces would be available, one for every coach in the Big Ten. It's a rough league and they all lose some time.

For those who like something smart and different, a small, a box of matches and a small bundle of kindling could be provided for burning at the stake.

ENCOURAGE SALES

This would encourage repeat sales. The fans would have to buy a new effigy after each loss.

A camera would be standard equipment with the instant effigy kit. For taking pictures to rush down to the nearest newspaper immediately after the hanging.

A brand new sales market has been opened up, by the imaginative students at the University of Detroit. Instead of hanging the effigy of coach Jim Miller, they are hanging an agreement with the coach for an upset win.

This field hasn't even been touched yet. A brain-storming session—such as the Madison Ave. advertising boys put it—came up with these additional money-making items.

Coach dolls complete with little pins to stick in them for those who believe in voodoo... pre-written anonymous letters to send to your coach... an easily-understandable book for effigy-hangers on how to tie the rope, letter the sign, etc.

Indications Point to AFL Secret Draft

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Indications were strong today that the American Football League has pulled a similar stunt to 1960—jumped the gun on the draft, only this time it violates an agreement with the American Football Coaches Association.

Some anonymous club officials were quoted that the draft had been held and one of them, a fellow with San Diego, told Jerry Magee of the San Diego Union, "The Commissioner knew nothing about this. It was run by the owners."

In other words, the club owners are supposed to have held six rounds of the draft by telephone several weeks before Commissioner Foss set the official date of the draft for Dec. 2—the day of final college games.

Foss, in announcing the draft, said he was complying with an NCAA request not to hold the player selection until the close of the college season.

The Dallas News first broke the story of the secret draft. Then the Union chimed in and next came the Houston Post to confirm it all.

Last year the AFL held part of the National Football League. That brought the request from the college coaches to hold up on the draft.

The Union said Oakland, last in the AFL race, made the first pick in the telephonic draft, taking Gabriel.

The Dallas News indicated it got first word of the secret draft from a Southwest Conference coach, who said he figured there had been one because the pros kept calling.

Foss said he didn't believe it had been done but he did admit that the AFL owners had been contacting college players they would like to draft. "Just like the National Football League has been doing. But that doesn't mean we've held a draft or tried to sign anybody."

Milt Woodard, assistant AFL commissioner, added that contracts for collegians who had not been approved by the AFL office. He didn't say that his office could void a draft, however. Especially one that was conducted by the club owners, who are bosses of the AFL commissioner and his staff.

SWAMPED VIKING — Minnesota Viking Tommy Mason (20) makes a 15-yard gain in the fourth quarter Sunday against the Detroit Lions, but is swamped by Joe Schmidt (57), Gary Lowe (43) and Yale Lary (28) of the Lions' secondary.

Race Car Driver Killed After Clinching Awards

The 41-year-old Keller was killed on the 48th lap of the race while his yellow race car hit a rut on the north turn, spun out of control, rolled broadside in the air and landed upside down on a chain link fence.

Keller lay beneath the wreckage, his head crushed.

The race was halted for 30 minutes while the wreckage was removed and the track repaired.

Then Parnell Jones of Torrance, Calif., drove the Agajanian Will-Battery Special to victory.

The race was halted because of darkness after 90 laps around the one-mile oval.

Rodger Ward, Indianapolis, finished second and Eddie Sachs, Coopersburg, Pa., was third.

The results were questioned by several drivers and fans of the race were to be viewed by officials today.

Chuck Hales, Downey, Calif., flipped on the dangerous north turn and was treated for shoulder and head cuts.
