Science Makes Date With Our Lady Moon but May Not Keep It

By JOHN A. BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK—Science has made a date with that mysterious lady, the moon. But will it be able to keep it?

As early as tomorrow morning, scientific marksmen hope to set off the first moonbound rocket. But they will consider themselves lucky indeed if they bring off a rendezvous.

The moon is at least 220,000 miles out in space. But scientists must aim at any empty point, 137,000 miles ahead of the moon's course, and hope that both moon and rocket arrive at about the same time. That would be about 2½ days after firing.

Granted perfect aim—and you can imagine what a small error could do in 200,000-plus miles—the three-stage rocket still must fire perfectly. This means boosting its speed to about 25,000 miles an hour needed to escape the earth's gravity.

SPEED IS IMPORTANT

Given this initial speed, the rocket will gradually slow under gravity's pull until nearing the moon, it will be traveling only about 3,000 miles an hour. In fact, its average speed for the trip may be only about 5,000 miles an hour.

The speed is important. If the rocket slows too quickly, it will fall short of its objective. If it doesn't slow enough, it can zoom past and on into space.

While there are many ways for the moon rocket to fail or merely flirt with success, there is only one way to completely succeed.

What the scientists say they would really like to do is send up a rocket that would orbit around the moon a few times and then plunge back toward earth, and probable destruction.

MAY BRING BACK PICTURES

The rocket, in its few turns around the moon, would take a series of closeup pictures—including never-before seen shots of the moon's hidden side—and relay those back to earth.

It would also measure the magnetic field of the moon, measure temperatures and count meteors. How many of its scientific tasks it completed would in a sense measure the rocket's success.

To give their rocket the best chance of finding the neighborhood of the moon and staying there awhile, the scientists have carefully picked the course and meeting place.

They hope to save a few thousand miles by waiting until the moon comes closest to earth.

MEETING AT MEADOW BROOK HALL — With several of the leading collegiate authorities in the country at Meadow Brook Hall for an all day session, MSUO takes another important step towards reality. The entire day will be devoted to a discussion of what subjects should be taught in the new university, which opens in September of 1959.

Plane Plunges Close to Field, Disintegrates

Report Craft Coming In on Instrument Landing Through Heavy Fog

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP) —A Northeast Airline plane from New York crashed and disintegrated near Nantucket Airport late last night, taking the lives of 22 of its 34 occupants.

Among the dead in the fiery crash was Gordon Dean, New York, former Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The three-person crew of the two-engine Convair—pilot, copilot and stewardess—perished.

Prominent New York City banker Harvey Schwamm, also was killed. His wife, Lillian, was listed among the seriously injured.

A 2-year-old baby, riding in her mother's lap, lived through the crash. The mother, Mrs. Jacqueline Young, 18, of Nantucket, was killed.

Airport officials said the plane was coming in about 11:30 p.m. last night on an instrument landing through a heavy fog when it crashed 300 yards northeast of the airport.

Most of those aboard apparently were headed for vacations or week end stays on this famous island resort, 15 miles off Cape Cod.

Two airport employes reported "a big ball of fire" as the plane plunged through the fog. They sped to the scene in a fire truck and later reported "there was fire all around us. We saw people crawling away."

"I figured most of the people would be found close to the first point of impact. I was right. We found about 12 of them huddled together in a pile where they had been thrown out when the plane first hit. Their clothes were all burned. The pilot and copilot were dead, outside the front end of the fuselage."

Skate Surfaces at Ice Station Near North Pole

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nuclear submarine Skate has surfaced for the third time since crossing the North Pole—the last time almost in the midst of an American ice island scientific station.

Cmdr. John H. Nicholson of Reno, Nev., the Skate's navigator, was credited by his skipper, Cmdr. James F. Calvert, with "one of the finest jobs of navigating I have ever seen" in guiding the vessel "directly to the front yard of drift station Alpha," the ice island also known as T-3.

In an earlier radio report, before he revealed he had surfaced at T-3, Calvert jokingly said he was "granting liberty and conducting tours of the area" in the barren Arctic ice field for his 106-men crew.

Voters Will Name Five Judges for Circuit Bench Next April

Changes in the makeup of Oakland County's circuit court bench with at least three new members are assured next April. Voters will ballot on candidates for all five judgeships.

In April voters will be called upon to:

1. Fill the vacancy created by the death this week of Judge George B. Hartrick.

2. Place a new judge on the bench to succeed Judge Frank L. Doty who, by reason of age, cannot seek re-election.

3. Elect the county's new and fifth circuit judge.

Besides, voters in the April 6 election will fill for new six-year terms the judgeships presently occupied by Judges H. Russel Holland and Clark J. Adams. Both are expected to seek re-election.

Today the bench that Judge Hartrick occupied for 22 years sits empty since the judge's death in San Francisco Tuesday.

A spokesman for Gov. Williams, who by law must name a successor, said there would be "no announcement until after Judge Hartrick's funeral." The funeral was held this morning in Royal Oak.

Many candidates for the job have been mentioned throughout the county.

Judge Doty, who was first elected to the bench in 1927, is prohibited from seeking re-election by a state law setting a maximum age of circuit judges at 70.

After a two year fight to have a fifth circuit judge in Oakland County, whose judges face the largest case load per judge of any judicial circuit in the state, the new judgeship was approved by the Legislature earlier this year. Gov. Williams approved it April 14.

Voters next April will vote on a short six months term for this judge beginning July 1, 1959, and a regular six-year term commencing Jan. 1, 1960. Each will be voted on separately.

The terms of the present four judgeships expire Dec. 31, 1959. So in the case of Judge Doty, he will serve out the remaining months of his last term while his successor waits to take office Jan. 1, 1960.

Attorney Says Teamsters Will Suspend Brennan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The general counsel for the Teamsters indicated today the giant union will comply with an order by court-appointed monitors to suspend Teamster Vice President Owen Bert Brennan from office.

Atty. Edward Bennett Williams said he wanted to study the order and discuss it with Teamster President James R. Hoffa before commenting fully.

But he told a reporter the union has complied with other orders of the three-man board of monitors and "this would be a departure if we did not."

The monitors, by a 2-1 vote yesterday, set Aug. 25 as the deadline for the Teamsters to charge Brennan with misappropriation of union funds—a charge aimed at his expulsion from the scandal-plagued union.

At the same time, the monitors asked that Hoffa be disqualified from taking part in the proceedings against Brennan — an old friend and close associate of the Teamster chief.

The monitors were appointed by a federal court to oversee Teamster affairs after dissident Teamster groups challenged Hoffa's elevation to the presidency.

The demand of the monitors came as the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee completed its second week of a new look at Hoffa and his union.

During yesterday's session, Hoffa denied that he received from employers any of $60,000 represented in his tax returns as gambling wins and bitterly rejected Kennedy's suggestion that alleged loans from Teamster business agents were fabricated to conceal the true source of large sums.

Senate Tackles SS Bill Today

Leaders See Approval of Benefits Hike in Rush Toward Adjournment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress worked desperately today to patch up an adjournment agenda with the Senate tackling its benefit-boosting Social Security bill in a Saturday session.

Leaders expected the bill increasing both benefits and payroll taxes for Social Security to pass the Senate with little change and be accepted by the House. They hoped this would improve the chances of adjourning this 1958 session by midweek.

Their optimism was encouraged by agreement in the House, which recessed for the weekend, to bring up on Monday the long-dormant Senate-passed labor reform bill, a new housing bill, a minerals subsidy bill and the Fryingpan-Arkansas water project measure. The House at the same time yesterday passed its $279,500,000 bill to aid depressed areas with federal loans and grants.

But the speedup was shadowed by refusal of House leaders to join in a conference on the substitute farm bill, a key to any adjournment plans. Most legislators expected the farm stalemate to be resolved by Senate reconsideration and acceptance of the bill which was rammed through the House on Thursday.

"We've got to have a farm bill and the time has come to stop horsing around," one Senate spokesman observed.

Senators who have worked late every night the past week were plainly getting tired of each other and the delay in adjournment.

But despite their irritation and time-consuming oratory, they managed to send two big tax revision bills to the White House, pass a $3,866,000,000 supplemental money bill and return it to the House, report out a new national debt limit bill, recommend a compromise welfare-pension fund measure — and still face today's overtime session.

Registration Begins Monday

19,500 Expected in City Schools

Registration for the fall term in Pontiac public schools will start Monday, according to Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent. Classes for all grades except kindergarten start Thursday, Sept. 4.

More than 19,500 are expected to attend Pontiac district public schools this year, an increase of 400 over the 1957-58 school year.

All students in grade 7 through 9, including those who are new to the district, will enter local schools for the first time, or have attended here before, are to register at their school August 18 through 29.

Those pupils in grades 10-12 who are either new to the district or who attended last year, should report to one of the two senior high schools between August 25-29 to pay fees and receive locker assignments.

Elementary pupils, grades 1-6, who did not attend a Pontiac school last year should register at their school during the week of August 25-29.

Classes for all Pontiac students except kindergarten will officially begin Thursday, Sept. 4.

Kindergarteners will register with their teachers Thursday and Friday, Sept. 4 and 5 and will begin regular classes September 8.

A book deposit and towel fee of five dollars is required of each pupil in grades 7 through 12. Three dollars of this will be returned at the end of the school year if books are in satisfactory condition, Whitmer added.

Lockers will be available for $1.20 if needed. Registration hours will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

In Swamplands East of Leonard

Panther Roams Again

They're seeing black panthers again, this time a couple miles east of the Leonard swampland area where "Blackie," king of Oakland County's legendary beasts, has been reported lurking on and off for the past 11 years.

Farmers living in the area about four miles north of Romeo are keeping a weather eye open today for a "large, black panther" reported seen by a Bruce Township family of five and a friend from Imlay City.

Conservation officers and Romeo State Police are still checking paw prints and the stories of the witnesses.

Troopers said the paw prints measured five by five and one-half inches.

"It was a big animal," said Trooper Orville Dalman. "Six people saw it and it sounds like the truth."

The panther-like animal was seen Thursday night by Mrs. Alfons Schapman, 7495 36 Mile Rd. and her children, Betty Ann, 20. Robert, 16, Mary, 14, and Ricky, 11. The sixth witness was Betty Ann's fiance, Jim Schirmer, 23, of Imlay City.

Betty Ann said, "He was a funny looking animal . . . long and black. When we frightened him, he took off like lightning across the field."

"He streaked across the road and cleared the six foot fence which surrounds Ford's Michigan proving ground," Betty Ann said.

Air Force Hopes to Discover What's on Moon's Other Side

By CHRIS MACGIL
AP Staff Writer

What's on the other side of the moon?

That's probably the biggest question the Air Force hopes to answer with the camera-equipped rocket it's expected to blast toward the moon shortly — perhaps tomorrow morning.

But there are also other questions the rocket, if it gets close enough, may help to answer. For instance:

Is the side of the moon earthlings never see the same as the face always turned towards us?

What are the bright streaks, called rays, that radiate from points near some of its craters?

Are the craters the results of meteorites, volcanic action or something else?

Does some form of plant life exist there?

Has the moon an atmosphere?

But the greatest interest centers about the greatest mystery: What is on the side of the moon that forever faces deep space, the side man has never seen?

The best guess of selenographers—as lunar experts are called, after the Greek moon goddess Selene—is that the other side of the moon is pretty much like the side we see.

They base this guess on the fact that certain variations in the moon's motion sometimes allow observers to see a little past its poles and a little around its sides. The features visible at these times are similar to the features we see all the time.

At best, however, we have never seen more than 59 per cent of the moon, and no one can say for sure what may lie on the other side.

Even our satellite's familiar face poses many mysteries. Accounting for the rays, for instance.

Through a small telescope, they don't appear to cast shadows and they seem to run across mountains, valleys and craters.

Some think they are streaks of white powder, the result of ancient explosions. Others theorize they are crystalline dust deposited on each side of cracks so small we can't see them. Some believe they may be salt, while others suggest they are jets of glass-like material shot out when the craters are formed.

And what of the craters? There are those who believe they were caused by meteorites, those who believe volcanos were responsible and those who believe both played a part.

Another idea is that the craters were produced by gases bubbling up through the solidifying surface of the moon in bygone ages. And there's a theory that eons ago, the earth's gravitational pull drew molten matter from the interior of the moon through weak spots in the crust.

Some observers claim to have seen changes in the moon's surface that could only have been caused by vegetation. Others, equally competent, say they have never seen indications of lunar plant life.

As for atmosphere, experts agree the moon has nothing comparable to the earth's. However, some think there may be a very thin atmosphere close to the lunar surface, perhaps trapped in low places.

The moon's origin is like nearly everything else about it—a thing of conjecture.

One of the most fascinating theories, but not the most favored, is that our bright neighbor in space is a true daughter of the earth, ripped from her bosom in some strange convulsion when the solar system was new.

Those who hold this view think the Pacific Ocean may now occupy that portion of the earth from which the moon was torn.

JOHN L. BRUMM

Death Comes to John Brumm

U. of M. Professor for 41 Years, He Founded Journalism Department

Death came today to John L. Brumm, retired chairman and founder of the University of Michigan's Department of Journalism.

Prof. Brumm succumbed to a heart aliment in Ann Arbor, 11 days after his 80th birthday.

A native of Flint, Brumm joined the university faculty in 1905. He established the journalism department and became its first chairman in 1929. His retirement in 1948 came after 41 years uninterrupted service as a teacher.

In 1918, Brumm organized the University Press Club. He was its first president and afterwards was secretary-treasurer. He also organized and sponsored the Michigan Interscholastic Press Assn.

Brumm graduated from University of Michigan in 1904 and received a master's degree there in 1906.

Widely known as an author and lecturer, Prof. Brumm was associated with several journalistic societies and other university organizations. He was a trustee of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Ann Arbor.

Many of Prof. Brumm's summers were spent in Lake Orion, where he had a cottage. Married, he had one son and two daughters.

Editor's Story From Scene of Plane Crash

By JOE INDIO
As Told to UPI

NANTUCKET, Mass. (UPI)—It was foggy and everybody in town started down right after the crash and the fire alarm. I woke up to hear all the noise and headed down to help.

Some of the jeeps and fire apparatus went right into the woods where the plane was down.

I was one of the first on the scene. I'd say the wreck was a quarter mile northeast of the airport in pine woods. It looked as if the plane had come down and just burst into flames.

Firemen started to order everyone back because of the danger of explosion right after I got there. But you couldn't go away without helping some of the people.

One man was sitting on the ground holding his back and asked me to help. I think he had a broken back. A litter crew came up and carried him away. All he could say was "hold my back."

One woman was still alive but all her clothes were black charcoal because of fire.

More than two hours after the crash a woman was supposed to be still pinned uner the wreckage.

for the CAA at Nantucket, said only the plane's tail section remained intact after the plane had burned.

The tragedy brought every available doctor in Nantucket and the adjoining island of Martha's Vineyard to Nantucket's 40-bed hospital. Other doctors, nurses, and medical supplies were flown from Boston, Falmouth and New York. Blood and shock concentrates were flown from Boston. Some 30 pints of blood were flown from New York.

Because of the limited medical facilities on the island, seven of the most seriously injured were flown in an Air Force plane to Boston's Massachusettes General Hospital.

Last night's crash was in a boggy woodland. A Coast Guard team of 16 men served as litter-bearers, carrying the injured and the dead.

It was hours before many of the dead were identified. Some were horribly burned.

At the controls of the Convair was one of Northeast Airline's most experienced pilots, John Burnham, 36, of Marshfield. Also killed were the copilot, David Carey, 23, of Nantucket, and Stewardess Arlene Dabek, 23, of Manchester, N.H.

George Gardner, Northeast Airline board chairman, placed the time of the crash at between 11:35 and 11:36 p.m.

The last contact with the plane, he said, was at 11:14 p.m., when the airline office notified the ill-fated plane that visibility was four miles with scattered clouds at 12,000 feet.

The Weather Bureau said it would not be unusual—because of the island's location—for a heavy fog to close in between 11:14 and the time of the crash.

Ex-AEC Head Killed in Crash

Gordon Dean Advised Sharing of A-Secrets With Free Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission killed in a New England plane crash last night, was an early advocate of greater sharing of atomic secrets with free world nations.

But he also once said the United States should not share the knowledge of how to make an atomic or hydrogen bomb.

Dean, 52, was appointed to the AEC by President Truman in 1949 and from 1950 to 1953 served as chairman. He left the agency shortly after the Eisenhower administration took over and has been a member of the New York investment firm, Lehman Bros., since.

Dean's government career started with the Justice Department in 1934, when he took a job as chief of the section of criminal appeals. In 1945, he assisted U.S. Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson in the prosecution of Nazi war criminals.

After leaving the AEC, Dean became board chairman of the Nuclear Science and Engineering Corp., and in 1955 was named senior vice president in charge of nuclear energy for General Dynamics Corp.

Dean, born in Seattle on Dec. 28, 1905, was graduated from the University of Redlands in California in 1927.

He taught law at both Duke University and the University of Southern California.

Hot Spell Relief May Be Brief Despite Cool Air

By The Associated Press

Cooler air chilled sections of the Northeast today, but there were indications the respite from the week-long hot spell would be brief.

The mercury settled to 37 degrees in northern Michigan and readings in the 50s extended as far south as northern Iowa and southern Wisconsin in a cool belt stretching from the upper Mississippi Valley into New England.

A warming trend was forecast in the northern Plains and the upper Mississippi Valley.

Elsewhere in the country, temperature changes were minor except where due to local cooling in thundershowers. Readings in the 90s once again were expected over much of the West and South.

Fair skies were the rule from the southern Plains through the Gulf Coast states, in the Pacific Northwest and much of the cooler Northeast.

Thundershowers soaked portions of the central and southern Plains and a scattering of thunderstorms dumped more than a half inch of rain on parts of the Ohio Valley.

More afternoon thundershowers were on tap from the central and southern Plateau across the Plains and eastward into the south Atlantic states. Friday's thundershower activity was expected to linger in parts of the Ohio Valley and middle Atlantic states.

Removal of Vocal Chords Doesn't Keep Him Quiet

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—R. Cosby Dobson is a man who insists on being heard, one way or another.

When he lost the normal capacity to speak after losing his vocal chords, he refused to remain mute.

Through a technique properly called "esophageal speech" (which Dobson translates as "educated belching"), he bosses his manufacturing staff and lectures his salesmen.

Dobson is president of a firm which manufactures a line of storm windows. He discovered he had cancer of the vocal chords about four years ago, just as his firm was trying to develop a distinctive design for storm windows.

After the operation, a specialist described the techniques of esophageal speech. Before long, Dobson had mastered the trick.

He says it is done by swallowing lots of air, shoving up the diaphragm so the esophagus vibrates and forms gutteral sounds. It took lots of practice—one word at a time—and a lot of ginger ale, but Dobson was back at his office 30 days after the operation.

Things were beginning to prosper when Dobson was hospitalized.

How's business today?

The staff has grown to 30 and the firm has expanded to keep pace with the rush of orders.

And the salesmen are still getting their pep talks from the boss.

Dobson has a bit of simple philosophy to go along with his success story: "You don't have any handicaps if you overcome them."

Inquest Shows Death Before Atlantic Plunge; Officials Won't Talk

GALWAY, Ireland (UPI) — The chief medical officer of the Dutch KLM Airline said today autopsies indicated that the 99 persons killed in Thursday's crash of a New York-bound airliner were dead before the plane plunged into the Atlantic.

Dr. K. Van Diager said examination of the bodies of some of the victims showed each had suffered "brain bleeding."

He said this "indicated that all the people were dead before the impact" of the plane on the stormy sea.

Dr. Van Diager said there were no signs of burns on the bodies examined, and that other external injury marks on the bodies came after death.

Dutch and Irish doctors performed autopsies on the bodies of 34 victims before an inquest was held.

Coroner Michael J. Allen had the task of trying to pierce the mystery shrouding the exact fate of the Dutch airliner.

Van Diager's findings tended to support theories that something struck the big, four-engine Super Constellation in the air without warning shortly after it took off from Shannon, Ireland, Thursday on the trans-Atlantic leg of a flight from Amsterdam.

Airline officials have refused to speculate on reports that lightning or a bomb might have caused the disaster.

Dr. Van Diager said, "all the external injuries we found were post mortem ones, caused by the plane's crashing at sea level and then disintegrating."

Say Black Panther Again on Prowl

who was in the family car near his home with his oldest sister, Jim and Ricky. They watched until the animal, apparently frightened by the car, took off down Hipp Road.

Mrs. Schapman and her daughter Mary drove up in another car and said they saw the creature too.

Police report there have been a lot of sheep killed in the 36 Mile Road area. Dogs were blamed but the troopers said the killings were unlike those which dogs would commit.

The new panther report was reminiscent of the morning back in 1947 when A. Burgess Hartness of Lakeville announced to his startled neighbors that he'd seen a black panther prowling around the night before.

Fresh impetus was given the legend in 1952 when Carl Kuechenmeister, Leonard barber, and his wife had their lunch interrupted by the sight of "a lithe black beat" springing across the back forty.

At least this was the story Kuechenmeister stoutly adhered to in the face of raised eyebrows and knowing nods on the parts of doubters.

"Blackie" reports came to a climax in the summer of 1956 as a whole slew of new witnesses, including a bus load of school children, came up with fresh testimony about the beast's antics.

Finally, Gilbert Bell, 45-year-old factory worker, trudged into the forbidding Leonard Woods one day and emerged with a 40-pound black coon dog named "Junior," who had been lost there the preceding fall.

That helped clear up the mysterious summer of 1956. But it didn't account for the earlier "Blackie" stores.

The Day in Birmingham

Completion of Expansion at City Library Delayed

BIRMINGHAM—Hope that the Baldwin Public Library expansion will be completed for the heavy fall and winter patronage has faded as architects and library consultants continue to try to fit needs to workable plans.

Miss Jeanne Lloyd, head librarian, said yesterday that additional studies and revisions of submitted sketches are being made. She added that it will probably be mid-October before any definite decision is reached.

The library has had $75,000 earmarked by Birmingham city commissioners for its expansion. Although all sections are crowded, the worst condition exists at the main desk where books are received and issued. Lack of space for both workers and patrons causes a bottleneck and confusion here.

Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley, reporting for the second quarter of 1958, said meter revenues dropped $20 in one week.

The quarter, ending in July, was below the revenue for the same period last year. Present business conditions are given as another reason for the drop in revenue.

Ilene May Dorey, 18, of 550 E. Southlawn Blvd., has been chosen to represent Birmingham at the five-day Junior Achievers Conference opening tomorrow at Indiana University.

The United States Chamber of Commerce has named Walter F. Carey, 6125 Middlebelt Rd., as chairman of the 1958-59 committee on transportation and communication. A national chamber director, Carey is president of Automobile Carriers, Inc.

Peggy DeSalle, director of the Little Gallery on East Maple Ave., announces the opening of a new art show Monday. The show will include the works of several well known Michigan artists.

Birmingham residents will have the opportunity to donate blood to the Red Cross Sept. 8 when the bloodmobile unit of the Oakland County Red Cross Chapter will be stationed at Our Shepherd Lutheran Church on E. 14 Mile Rd.

Women of Our Shepherd Church will provide babysitting services and transportation. Appointments are now being accepted by phone at the church office.

Co-chairmen of the drive which will be held during the afternoon and evening are Mrs. Henry Sahlin and Mrs. Emil Pioch.

Arrest Suspects After Hot Chase

Pair Dash From Judah Lake Shops; Cornered in Swamp

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies, Lake Orion Police and State Troopers combined efforts early this morning to apprehend two burglary suspects.

The men arrested for investigation of breaking and entering in the nighttime were identified by deputies as Lester L. Wathen, 33, of 40 Baldwin Ave., and Kenneth L. Deneen, 33, of 4635 Independence St., Clarkston.

Both are ex-convicts with long prison records. Wathen was just paroled recently from State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson, where he had been serving a 3½ to 15-year sentence for armed robbery.

The pair was first seen early this morning by Deputy Francis P. Earp when they sped from the Judah Lake Shopping Center on Joslyn Road, north of Brown Road, Orion Township.

"I pulled the patrol car across the road for a road block, but they sped around me in a ditch and went south on Joslyn," Earp said.

He gave chase and radioed for assistance. The State Police joined in the chase which led officers to a driveway on Brown Road just east of Jamm Road.

The suspects fled on foot into a nearby swampy area with troopers Louis Girard and Richard Gordenier in hot pursuit. When they fired several warning shots into the air, Deneen stopped and surrendered.

Wathen kept running and was apprehended about an hour later in the area by deputies, troopers and police from Lake Orion, Oxford and Pontiac.

Detectives plan to question the two today in conection with breakins last night at the Tick Tock Market, 3890 Joslyn Road, and Walters Hardware, 3898 Joslyn Road.

Bulganin—Nikita Khrushchev's predecessor as premier of the Soviet Union—is now chairman of the Stavropol Council of the National Economy. Stavropol is in the northern Caucasus near a Black Sea resort area.

word for it," Hoffa snapped at Kennedy, "there is no way to convince you."

In Detroit, a Senate Rackets Committee demand for Hoffa's probation records has been turned down by Wayne County Circuit Court.

Surrender of the records, sought in a committee subpoena, would violate state law, Judge Frank FitzGerald told Rackets Committee Chairman Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark) in a letter yesterday.

Vernon L. Kerwin, chief court probation officer, said the records sought concerned Hoffa's 1949-51 probation after pleading guilty to violation of the State Labor Law in 1948.

The charges followed a grand jury investigation of a drive to organize independent grocers. Hoffa was accused of forcing grocers who operated their own trucks to take out Teamster membership.

Records show Hoffa did not violate his probation and the fine was paid.

Judge FitzGerald told McClellan in the letter that data sought in the subpoena is privileged under Michigan law and not open to public inspection.

West Hopes to Line Up Decisive Support First

Delay Resolution on Ike's Peace Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Western diplomats at the U.N. General Assembly's special session are delaying introduction of a resolution to lay the groundwork for President Eisenhower's Middle East peace plan in hopes they can line up decisive support in advance.

Indications today were that the proposal, which would give U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold the key role, would be introduced by Norway.

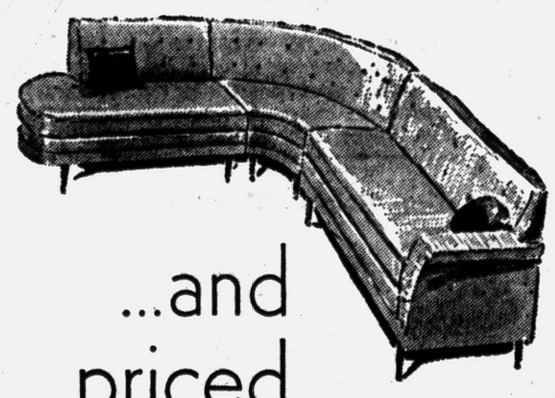

A number of Asian and European nations not directly involved in the U.S.-Russian cold war would be cosponsors.

Informed sources said the West was working hard to enlist support of the United Arab Republic, the catalyst of the Middle East ferment. The UAR insisted that American and British troops leave Lebanon and Jordan before any considerations of the long-range solutions to the area's basic problems, on which Eisenhower put chief emphasis.

UAR Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi, in his brief opening address to the assembly session on the Middle East, hinted he would be willing to listen to what the West has to say.

Hammarskjold consulted Thursday with Fawzi and had a long luncheon conference yesterday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, who already has put in his own proposal demanding immediate withdrawal of British and American troops and calling for U.N. observers forces to supervise the pullout.

Railroad Worker on Critical List After Surgery

ROYAL OAK — George Scholor, 68, an employe of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad, underwent surgery this morning after he was found lying unconscious alongside of the railroad tracks near his home at Harrison and East Main Sts.

Royal Oak Police are investigating the incident with the belief someone might have tried to rob Scholor and in doing so, struck him on the back of the head.

Raccoon Stirs Up Furor During Chase

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)—A raccoon came to town yesterday, and created quite a furor in this Westchester County city.

The animal was sighted clinging to a tree on Main Street, the center of the business district. As crowds gathered, an animal expert was summoned. Efforts to lasso the frightened beast proved unavailing.

It managed to get atop a building, so a fire truck was called, a ladder was run up, and the raccoon was nabbed.

Police questioned a nearby store manager, who had advertised a raccoon coat sale for the day. But the manager said he had nothing to do with the episode.

Fire Chief Ken Nelson estimated damage at more than $50,000.

No one was injured but families living in second story apartments were evacuated.

The building contained the Huffman Store and the C.U.B. Restaurant.

Suttons Bay is some 20 miles north of Traverse City.

Former Convict Held in Murder

Admits That He Struck Furniture Store Owner With Screwdriver

DETROIT (AP)—A 28-year-old ex-convict was held on a murder charge today in the death of his employer, wealthy furniture store owner Rudolph C. Fahl, 67, whose beaten body was found in the basement of his store Wednesday night.

John Catlin Jr. was quoted by police as admitting he struck Fahl with a screwdriver in an argument over back pay he said Fahl owed him. Catlin was employed as a handyman in the store.

Fahl's body, clad in an undershirt, was found partially hidden under a pile of debris. A diamond ring, valued at $4,500, was missing from the victim's hand. Fahl strangled on his false dentures during the beating, police said.

Catlin, who went to work at the store three weeks ago, said he went to see Fahl early Tuesday and asked him for $50. Catlin said Fahl refused to give him the money so he hit him, knocking him across a bed.

Catlin said he took the victim's keys, drove Fahl's car around for a time and came back later to hide the body in the basement. He told police he hid the car in a garage.

Catlin was released from Southern Michigan Prison Jan. 16 after serving a one to five-year term for car theft and breaking and entering.

Religious Sect Plans Return to Russia

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP)—A radical religious sect, which fled to Canada from czarist Russia more than 50 years ago, is going to return to its homeland.

Some 3,000 members of the "Sons of Freedom" Doukhobors plan to renounce their Canadian citizenship and make the pilgrimage with financial help from the governments of Canada and British Columbia.

The provincial and federal governments said they will pay the cost of transporting and resettling the Sons of Freedom in Russia, an operation which will cost an estimated two million dollars.

Ths Sons have established a history of terrorism in British Columbia to dramatize their disavowal of Canadian law.

The government blames the sect for periodic burnings and bombings of public buildings and the Sons of Freedom, men, women and children, frequently have resorted to nude parades to show their contempt for the law.

Religion Bans Dances, Movies So Couple Resorts to Parking

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I have been going steady for six months and my boy friend's religion doesn't permit him to go to movies or dances. There is nothing much for us to do except to sit out in the car and neck. I like him a lot but this is getting dangerous. What should I do?"

AFRAID

ABBY

DEAR AFRAID: Get together with other couples and play records (you don't have to dance, even if they do), play scrabble, watch TV, engage in sports (swimming, tennis, bowling) picnic with others. Too much alone-ness is dangerous indeed and you are smart to know it.

"DEAR ABBY: I need your help on a subject concerning my husband. He is getting bald but he refuses to do anything about it. I say he should get a hair piece and cover up his head as he isn't even 30 yet and he is too young to be bald.

"He is very stubborn and says if he is going to be bald he will take it like a man and he doesn't care how it looks. I think just to spite me he brushes his hair more than he has to and harder than usual just to make it fall out. Please help me to convince him that he needs his head covered."

HATING BALDNESS

DEAR HATING: If he is getting bald, he is wise to accept it. The only way you'll sell him a hair piece is to show him someone on whom it looks so real he could never believe it.

"DEAR ABBY: I am in search of feminine companionship. I'd like a good-looking, clean girl between 20 and 35 who is interested in some fun on weekends and holidays. No chance for marriage. I've had it. Thanks. LONESOME AL

DEAR AL: Where do you think you are going to find a CLEAN, GOOD-LOOKING GIRL who would go for a deal like this? Sorry, Friend, you are barking (and I did say barking) up the wrong tree.

"DEAR ABBY: I am dating a boy who has money. His birthday comes before mine. I am afraid if I give him a gift he will think I am doing it just so he will give me one. I hate to let his birthday go by without giving him anything, but I don't want him to get the wrong idea. Please help me." NOT HINTING

DEAR NOT: Send him a telegram or mail him a birthday card.

Good Care Adds Years to Rug Life

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — How long rugs and carpets stay fresh looking depends largely on amount and grade of fiber, closeness of weave and quality of workmanship.

The kind of care that floor coverings receive also can make the difference between a long or short life.

—Plan a thorough professional cleaning annually.

—Clean spots immediately, using proper stain removal methods.

—Never beat a rug, either on the floor or over a line. Rough treatment may break the backing and loosen the fibers.

Fashion Tips for Season

Long, dangling earrings are back for fall and winter. From the Fashion Coordination Institute comes this tip on how to decide the length most becoming your face.

Never have the end of the drop parallel the jaw-line; this adds years to the appearance. Instead, have the end either just above or below the jaw-line.

Shades of the pioneer days! The Daniel Boone jacket is featured in designer Tina Leser's fall collection of clothes. Miss Leser showed replicas of the jacket worn by the man who "killed a bar" in cashmere or rainbow-hued tweeds.

Miss Leser said the jacket resulted when "I decided to fringe the edges of the wool and got red on one side and green on the other. There was nothing left for me to do but make a Boone jacket, the fringe was so pretty."

SHORT COVERALLS

Short coveralls for the teenage set are new for fall. One manufacturer, Lanz, shows knee-lengths in black velveteen, to be worn with a white blouse embroidered in black.

Minus the blouse, the jumper-styled coveralls are smart for informal gatherings.

The waistline in children's clothes, as in adults, is anywhere but where nature put it this fall.

Open House Held on Anniversary

Flowers Always Welcome

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: We are a group of friends who chip in and buy one nice present for anyone in the group who has a baby, instead of buying a lot of small things. Some of the young women in the group feel that when they go to the hospital to visit the new mother they should bring an additional gift such as candy, cookies or flowers, to her. They think it is very embarrassing to go to the hospital empty-handed. Is this gift necessary?"

Answer: No, this additional gift is not necessary. Most of us do, however, like to bring a few flowers whenever we visit anyone in a hospital.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it customary to celebrate only certain wedding anniversaries, such for example as the first, fifth, tenth, fifteenth, twenty-fifth and fiftieth, or may in-between ones also be celebrated with parties? Would it look like too much of a bid for presents on these between years?"

Answer: This depends upon what group of presents are chosen. The conventional list of very inexpensive trifles on the between years makes such celebrations amusing rather than a serious demand on their friends' pocketbooks. For that matter, it should never be considered obligatory that each and every guest bring a present to any party other than a "shower" or the birthday party of a child.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a man and woman have lived as neighbors for several years but don't know each other at all well, and meet on the street, which one should be the first to recognize the other?"

Answer: The old rule that a man had to wait until a woman recognized him before he spoke to her is no longer in force. Today either the man or the woman who first recognizes the other smiles and speaks first.

SHARRON A. FOOTE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Foote of Kimball street announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharron Ann, to William Henry Wertz. He is the son of Mrs. Francis M. Mahaffey of Berwick boulevard and John Wertz of Auburn Heights. The couple will be married Oct. 18 at St. Michael Catholic Church.

White in Forefront of Fashion Picture

With the development of soil-shedding, wrinkle-resistant fabrics, white has come into its own as a fashion color.

Eat Balanced Diet

Vitamins Help but Food Is Best

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

So much is written about vitamins that many people have been misled to the dangerous belief that they can eat in any old way, haphazardly and without regard to good nutrition, so long as they take vitamin capsules daily. This is further from the truth than we are from the moon!

Food is the best, and should be the first, source of your vitamin intake. The American Medical Association's magazine "Today's Health," calls our attention to the fact that vitamins have become a cure-all for all sorts of troubles in the public mind, even in the matter of overweight.

I believe in vitamins as supplements because of the loss in storage, transportation and cooking, and because we cannot eat huge amounts of certain foods. However, I take a great interest in nutrition and eat just as scientifically as I possibly can If you are going to choose between a poor diet and vitamin pills, or a good diet with no pills, choose the latter.

Recently I have had letters asking me to review the seven basic food groups. In case you do not know how to plan menus which are adequate for health, listen carefully.

1. One or more servings of green, leafy or yellow vetetables.
2. Two or more servings of fruits, potatoes and other vegetables.
3. One or more servings of citrus fruits, tomatoes, raw cabbage.
4. Milk and cheese products. Children should have a quart of milk daily and adults should have two glasses.
5. One or more serving of meat, fish, fowl, eggs. Dried peas and beans are in this class because of their vegetable protein.
6. Some bread and cereal products.
7. Some fat, butter or fortified margarine.

If you include all of these foods in your daily diet, you will be well-nourished. If you wish to shoot at an even higher level of nutrition, ask your doctor about vitamin capsules. You should not prescribe them for yourself.

Brighten dull aluminum utensils by filling the pans with water, adding sliced lemon and bringing the water to a boil. Add a bit of cream of tartar to remove a dark film.

Wise Parent Doesn't Look Back Often

By RUTH MILLETT

Once a child has become a teenager, a parent can't go back—

To the "look, Mom, look, Dad" period when a parent's admiration was all important. For a teenager the important thing is how he stands with "the crowd."

To the time when a parent's final judgment was "the law." The teenager is quick to argue that Mom and Pop are old-fashioned and the fact that "everybody" does a certain thing is bound to make it all right.

To the days when "Tell me about when you were a kid" was a frequent request. Nothing so pains a teenager like having Mom or Dad begin stories with, "When I was your age."

To the time when going someplace with Dad and Mom was big stuff. A teenager is more likely to be bored and restless on family excursions.

To the time when a parent could smooth out hurts and disappointments and make things right. "You just don't understand," is the cry of the unhappy teenager, no matter how understanding his parents are.

You can't go back. But if you're lucky you can go forward—

To the time when your son or daughter boasts about the standards you insisted on upholding.

To the day when you don't have to pretend that you always know best or are always right and so can begin to be friends with your child.

To the time when it is your child, not you, who likes to say, "Remember when . . . "

To the time when mutual respect makes you equals.

So You Think Chemise Is for Broomstick Type!

So you think you can't wear a chemise?

Take a look at Mrs. Charlotte Winters, saleslady for dress manufacturer Abe Schrader, who got tired of hearing buyers say:

"I'll order the chemise in sizes up to 14, but none larger."

Mrs. Winters is a women of strong convictions. She felt if a new style is good, everybody should wear it. So she bought a chemise dress from the line and has been wearing it in the showroom, demonstrating to buyers that the new fashion need not be limited to mere wisps of girls with broom-straw figures.

SHE'S SIZE 20

Mrs. Winters is a woman of generous proportions. She is 5 feet 8 and wears a size 20 dress. Buyers had been steering firmly away from the new sack styles for larger women until they saw Charlotte in her chemise. Then things changed.

The buyers came, saw and capitulated. Orders for chemises in sizes 18 and 20 picked up briskly.

Mrs. Winters picked one of the most extreme styles on the line — a completely unfitted sack dress, buttoned down the front, with a cocoon envelope back. She was careful to see that it fitted perfectly at shoulders, bust and hipline.

When she wore it in the salon the first day, the comments were unanimous:

"It honestly makes you look thinner!"

Charlotte points out to buyers that a woman usually can wear a chemise in a size smaller than her usual dress size, and this is good for morale.

Harvey Berin

Harvey Berin offers a two-piece dress that is transitional from the point of view of both style and season. The relaxed feeling throughout the middle section is definitely being carried over to fall but with greater control as is illustrated here.

The top, with a narrow inverted pleat in back, is buttoned on to the skirt in front. The skirt, although slim has released pleats on either side in front to add to the fludity of the silhouette.

Make it right now in town cottons or mixtures of rayon and silk, rayon and worsted, shantung or crepe. For fall, try it again in chiffon broadcloth or flannel thin wools. Select your correct size from this chart.

8	33	23	34	16¼
10	34	24	35	16½
12	35	25	36	16¾
14	36½	26½	37½	17½
16	38	28	39	17¼
18	40	30	41	17½

Size 12 requires 2½ yards of 54-inch material for two-piece dress, 2 yards of 39 inch material for lining.

To order Pattern 1351, state size, send $1.00 — for Harvey Berin label, send 25 cents.

For new 96-page Pattern Book 15 with many chemises, send $1.00. Address Spadea, Box 535, G.P.O., Dept. P-6, New York 1, N. Y. If paid by check, bank requires 4 cents handling charge.

It Seems to Me . . .

Eisenhower's Peace Plan Is Answer to Middle East Crisis

Words have been bandied about in the Middle East crisis sufficiently to let every uniformed lackey have his say, but it remains for President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER to come up with a six point peace plan which can stabilize the situation and which holds hope for everyone whose intentions are honorable.

The others may lament.

Well, let them.

The situation is sufficiently grave to point to World War Three.

The President asks for a permanent United Nations Peace force. Why not? If the United Nations merely consists of a big huddle of delegates who are bent on arm waving orations for home consumption, let's establish that fact. If they mean business, it's time to put up or shut up. The hour has arrived. And "putting up" means men under arms who can go into action. The day of comic opera uniforms and cap pistols is dead. Mr. Eisenhower means a shooting peace or a shooting war — if necessary. The United Nations can no longer rule with lofty resolutions, high resolves and studious pronunciamentos.

The President recognizes that the Arabs are in a jam of sorts. He suggests a Mid-East economic development fund financed by Arab states, this country and others, including the Russians. The living conditions under which some of these peoples are existing demand study and improvement. Permanent solutions in this volcanic region are far away.

The President suggests a control be instituted on the shipment of firearms into these near-east countries. Certainly he is on sound ground when he suggests that the greater the armament programs, the greater is the likelihood of trouble. Don't forget the half-jocular, half serious comment of "TEDDY" ROOSEVELT to the Kaiser. He stood beside the German and watched great masses of soldiers passing in review. Turning to his host, he clapped him on the back and said:

"BILL, you can lick the world."

Hence, World War One.

Cessation or absolute supervision of arms shipments is essential. No one but a Russian could object to that and we all grant the greater the armament, the greater the possibilities of war.

Our President also took direct exception to the radio broadcasts which are now beamed into these districts from across their borders. He suggested the United Nations monitor everything and proscribe when necessary. Hostile forces are constantly struggling to stir up hot national feelings against neighbors. No one mentioned the double dealing commies but if the President didn't have them directly in mind, I have.

When a nation is partly on edge—rightly or wrongly—and believes the worst of the chap across an invisible line, it isn't very hard to arouse loyal sentiments by magnifying — or inventing—new charges and new defections.

He specifically recognized the current situations in Lebanon and Jordan by stating that the United Nations should move in and replace our troops and those of the British. "The lawful and freely elected government of Lebanon, feeling itself endangered by civil strife fomented from without, sent the U. S. a desperate call for help. We responded," he said.

It's that simple.

Our marines are there because the "lawful government" was threatened by trouble stirred up from the outside.

And who could that be but the double crossing Russian leaders?

All in all the titular head of the greatest nation on earth—your official representative—delivered a great pronunciamento. He faced world conditions squarely. He did not twist or dodge. He diagnosed the ailments and then prescribed the cures.

GROMYKO'S remarks were largely repetitious of previous tirades but A. P. analyst RYAN believed he exercised greater caution than usual.

Now it's time for the rest of the civilized world to move, for the top nation has declared itself.

There's the situation.

And in Conclusion . . . . . .

I'd be inclined to back LEONARD LEWIS as the possessor of Oakland County's biggest vocabulary . . . . . My old pal, HARRY M. PRYALE, has a friend in Ohio who makes his own champagne as a hobby. Recently he took a whirl at some of the pink variety and it came out real well . . . . . ELVIS PRESLEY'S new film was soundly rapped by the critics in Chicago and it flopped badly . . . . . JACK HERBERT wants to know if we settle 25 grand annually on ex-Presidents, what we should give SHERMAN ADAMS.

American Airlines is whispered out in front in the jet air race. Their 707's will be doing the coast to coast haul by November. Rumored flying time is less than four and a half hours. Wheeeeeee . . . . . Overheard at the Old Mill Tavern as a local dandy squires a flashing redhead through the outer portals: "Zat his wife?" Pal, after a quick gander: "Nope. Summer replacement." . . . . . Psyche, that gal on the White Rock bottles is now 64 years old and she's losing her original wings and her modestly suggestive bust; but her waist and thighs have slimmed perceptibly and she's taller. A new hair-do replaces that old marcel.

Just who is responsible for letting ole Uncle HERMAN walk placidly away from this KIERDORF mess? I wonder —and so do a lot of others . . . . . BETH FITZGERALD, four feet 11.9999999 inches tall as she stands on the first tee, broke a hundred a few days ago and that's a titanic achievement for a little girl . . . . . Overheard at Sears-Roebuck: "I saw a Volkswagen run over an ant. It broke one leg."

If you're apprehensive lest TV run out of old movies, you can relax. There are about 8,000 more of these ancient fillums eager to come your way. Chicago police officers profess great surprise at learning the gals now divest themselves of everything in strip tease acts. The "boys about town" say it has been going on (or off) for months and months.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

HOW AMERICANS WORSHIP
The Jews .3

In my quest to learn something of the beauty of America's great religions, I visited a synagogue after sundown on the Sabbath. The eternal light burned lowly over the Ark, a cabinet containing the Torah, which is the treasured scroll of the first five books of the Bible.

The congregation spoke the ancient Jewish prayer, "Help us so to live that . . . we may hasten the day when all shall toil and serve side by side as brothers, when love and sympathy shall stir every heart. We thank thee, oh God."

Then the cantor sang and the scroll of the law was read, revealing the living word of God. The rabbi replaced it in the Ark and, turning to the people, said: "It is a tree of life to them that hold fast to it . . . and all its paths are peace."

Days of All Faiths:

Methodists Owe Much to Asbury

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

On Aug. 20 in 1745 Francis Asbury was born in Staffordshire, England. Here was a young man who knew where he was going and lost no time in getting started. By the age of 16 he was a preacher.

Always attracted to the Methodist Society, which at that time was shaking England with its new fervor, Asbury soon joined one of the itinerant groups that were traveling, about the country preaching in houses, barns, open fields, and anywhere they could get a hearing.

When the Revolution came, Asbury stayed on in America, thus cutting his ties with England and identifying himself with the new nation. After the war it was quite natural that he should be instrumental in establishing an American Methodist church, independent of English Methodism as the United States was independent of the English crown.

And it was quite natural that his colleagues should make Asbury the head of this new church. What was surprising to many people was that they made him a bishop—the first in Methodism anywhere.

For these men were Englishmen, nurtured in the Anglican tradition which said, as it still does, that it takes three bishops to consecrate a bishop. For a group of preachers to claim this power was a daring break with the past. It showed the vitality and self-confidence of the new church.

Asbury worked in America more than 30 years, all told. Much of the growth and strength of Methodism on this continent is due to the combination of organizing genius and tireless energy that was Francis Asbury.

One of his great contributions was the development of the circuit rider system for which American Methodism is famous and which in the pioneer days of this country solved the problem of clergy shortage by permitting one minister to serve many scattered congregations.

From Asbury Park, N.J., the town named for the great Francis Asbury, comes a suggestion which indicates that not all inhabitants there are Methodists. "It might be interesting sometime," our correspondent says, "to explain the difference between a sister and a nun. I find a great deal of confusion even among people who should know."

The difference is basically in the kind of vows they take. There are two kinds of public vows: solemn vows and simple vows.

The solemn vow is, as might be expected, a much deeper and more complete commitment than the simple vow. In fact, it is understood to render all contrary acts invalid. In a sense, therefore, the solemn vow cannot be broken, even if one should try to break it. For example, if one had taken a solemn vow of celibacy and then contracted a marriage, the marriage would not be valid. The vow would have made it impossible. pew that they really are strangers.

Now, to come back to the point, a nun is a woman in a religious order who has taken solemn vows, while a sister is one who has taken simple vows.

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Information Is Plentiful but the Source Is Buried

"Please give me the source or sources of your teaching that daily exercise promotes or maintains normal calcium metabolism." (—, M.D.)

DR. BRADY

Answer — I'm sorry, Doctor, but it is lost in my files. Some fine day maybe I'll come across it when searching for something else and if I do I'll send it to you. You are aware, of course, that long confinement in bed, chair, grandstand seat, automobile, school, theater, office or shop steadily drains the calcium stores from bones, teeth, nerves.

"Children bombed out of their home in Poland had frostbitten hands, and now after several years they still have much pain and discomfort in their hands." (H. W.)

Answer—X-ray treatment has brought relief in many such cases.

"Thank you for the Calcium and Rheumatiz pamphlet—my husband has obtained great relief. If you have anything on "Fatsos" I'd be grateful for it. I simply weigh a ton." (Mrs. H. D.)

Answer—for the free pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatiz send stamped, self-addressed envelope. For the booklet Rules for Reducing send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"We get wheat from a farmer friend who grows it in properly fed soil. We grind it ourselves and almost every morning have hot cracked-wheat porridge. Our children love it. Also I make whole wheat bread and cookies from the home ground flour and find it hard to keep enough to satisfy husband and children. We believe this has greatly improved our general health and vitality . . ." (K. B. C., R.N.)

Answer—It would improve the health and vite of every family if it were used as a staple in the family diet. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing, mind, not with a clipping, for the pamphlet What to Eat, which tells you how to go about it.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Church Uses Applied Psychology

Rev. Hulse shows how applied psychology can be adopted to the modern church with very beneficial results. And the more the churches can take advantage of proved laws of psychology, the faster they will advance the cause of sobriety and moral behavior. People stampede easily, so stampede them for right!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Y-390: The Rev. E. Duane Hulse, aged 35, is typical of the talented modern clergymen of all faiths, for he uses superb psychology to help advance moral progress.

DR. CRANE

"If I ask all visitors to sign a card," he informed me, "and then drop it into the collection basket, many of them will not do so.

"For they are shy and don't like to advertise to others in the same pey that they really are strangers.

"As a result of this human tendency to hold back and thus try to be inconspicuous, we now have evolved a new plan. Friendship.'

"I pause before my sermon and announce that we want everybody to fill out one of the cards in the pew racks. This includes members and visitors. And because the members now reach for cards, the visitors have no hesitation doing likewise.

"In other words, we now use psychology to prod the shy strangers into signing one of our cards.

"It takes only one minute of time. And the cards contain little square boxes which can be checked to indicate the following data:

"—— I'm a member of this church.

"—— I'm a visitor.

"—— New in this city.

"——Desire to join this church.

"——Desire interview with pastor.

"——Desire baby baptized.

"Then we leave spaces for their name, address and telephone number.

"As the ushers take up the collection, everybody drops his card into the basket.

"The ushers then sort all the cards before my sermon is finished and quietly send up the cards of all visitors.

"At the end of my sermon, I then call out the visitors by name, ask them to stand, and urge our members in their vicinity to shake hands with them and make them feel at home.

"Dr. Crane, this method works splendidly. And it also gives us a weekly attendance of our members, plus other vital data a clergyman should know to keep up with the varying demands of a modern parish."

When I address your high school and college convocations (I've spoken to more than 1,000,000 youths on such occasions) I stampede youth into not smoking and demonstrate the folly of such sheeplike behavior with my "mob psychology" experiment.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

'First Loss of Freedom With Amendment Repeal'

In answer to "A Home Owner" who wants to know where and why our freedom has gone, we began to lose our freedom with the repeal of the 18th Amendment.

During the prohibition era, it was not only considered smart to have your bootlegger, but it was considered a necessity. Through this error in judgment, many a businessman or politician lived to regret his association with this element of society. This element began to make inroads into legitimate business and local politics. Why? Many a person who had been indiscreet while under the "influence," and whose tongue had wagged at both ends, found he had to appease their demands or be blackmailed.

Now this element is in control not only in unions, business, but also in government. One reason this happened was because citizens who should have exercised their right to vote, sat around and talked about what should be done and then forgot to vote.

Now we have investigations. The facts are known but nothing is done. The investigators kick the facts around from one to the other, but nothing is done. Why? What are they afraid of? If the men in power can't clean up this mess, it's time the women take over, find another "Carrie Nation," and clean up corruption.

In Waterford Township each vote cast in the primaries cost one dollar. How much did it cost in Pontiac? In one precinct where there are over 1,000 registered voters, 174 voted. Just suppose the night before election you heard the following: Extra! Extra! The privilege to vote has been taken away! Don't go to the polls! Stay home! The officials have been selected for you! Would you care enough to stand up and fight for your lost freedom? I wonder.

'Should Be Room for All of Us'

We have a fight brewing which will probably go on indefinitely—that between the fisherman and lakefront owner on one hand and the speedboat owner and water skier on the other.

The fisherman feels that he bought the public fishing sites so only he has a right to use them, but does he stop to realize that his license money did not buy all the state parks and recreation areas which also give him the privilege of fishing.

The lake front owner feels that only he has a right to the lake because he owns the land adjoining it, but our lakes and streams have always been considered as more or less a part of the public domain.

The speedboat operator by and large is pretty easy-going and willing to give the other guy a break—granted he makes noise, he rocks the fisherman's boat, and sometimes there is a madman among his ranks who just won't use common sense. Does that justify jamming more laws down the throat of the human animal?

Can't we all use a little courtesy and sort of live and let live? Isn't there enough room for all of us?

Americans Were in Dark Before Soviet Sputniks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Americans are avid readers of newspaper science stories, but a survey made six months before the first Soviet Sputnik was launched showed that 54 per cent of the reading public never had heard of space satellites, it was disclosed today.

The National Association of Science Writers and New York University, working with a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation, made a survey in the spring of 1957 of 1,919 American adults selected to represent a cross-section of the public.

These persons were questioned extensively about their habits, attitudes and opinions, with the principal finds showing:

—Americans get considerable news about science, but they want more.

—Newspapers are the most popular medium.

—Much science information gets through and is remembered.

—Americans have favorable ideas about science and a minority of them blame scientists for the bad effects of science.

—Forty-one per cent of those surveyed thought scientists were likely to be odd or peculiar, and 31 per cent said scientists were not likely to be very religious.

The report said that an overwhelming 96 per cent of the persons interviewed recalled reading or hearing of the Salk anti-polio vaccine.

"But more than half (54 per cent) said they had never heard of a space satellite, although the interviewers explained that it was 'sometimes called a man-made moon.'"

He reads two newspapers a day, takes two or three magazines, listens to an hour or more of radio programs daily and watches television longer. He likes to read science stories.

No Agreement on Farm Bill

Senate Goes to Battle With House in Dispute Over Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House farm leaders ran up no surrender flags today in a first class deadlock that vexed congressional tempers and threatened to upset adjournment plans.

The result left new agricultural legislation facing an uncertain fate.

In a series of seriocomic maneuvers, the Senate yesterday turned down a last-chance House farm bill and the House in turn coldly rejected Senate offers to talk over a compromise.

But despite pessimistic pronouncements by all concerned, it appeared that election-year political realities eventually would swing the balance in favor of an eleventh-hour agreement in favor of the House bill.

Both House and Senate bills carry vital provivisions to forestall sharp acreage cuts in allowable plantings of cotton and rice next year. Both also move in the direction of lower price supports for both these crops and corn as advocated by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

The House bill, a compromise containing concessions by House leaders, would not reduce price support floors to the extent proposed by the Senate.

After yesterday's rapid-fire developments, in which the House balked at agreeing to a Senate bid for a compromise conference, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) declared:

"It looks to me like a serious situation for the farm bill. It is my opinion that if the Senate insists on a conference it is very doubtful we will have a farm bill at this session."

Earlier, the Senate Agriculture Committee voted 8-7 against acceptance of the House version, and sent a bid across the Capitol for the House to talk it over.

Rep. Harold Cooley (D-NC), chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, asked the House for unanimous consent to comply. A chorus of objections from the floor blocked the move.

Other than following the time-consuming procedure of obtaining a special legislative rule to bypass diehard objectors, Cooley was left with no alternative than to outwith the Senate. Cooley told reporters he would be "too busy" to seek a special rule.

Even Bar Gromyko's Talk

Soviets Jam Broadcasts of U.N. Mideast Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has developed a new gimmick in its war of noise.

It now is jamming U.S. and other Western radio broadcats on such a large scale it has had to give code names to its jamming stations.

U.S. officials said today the code system apparently helps Soviet engineers in preventing their noise machines from jamming Russia's broadcasts to its own people.

The Russians, old hands at interfering with foreign broadcasts, currently are operating about 2,500 jammers, according to authoritative informants here.

The bulk of their jamming effort this week has been aimed at preventing the Russian people from hearing Voice of America broadcasts of the debate in the U. N. General Assembly on the Middle East crisis.

President Eisenhower expressed regret Thursday that the Soviets were trying to exclude the broadcasts of the U.N. proceedings.

U.S. officials have been puzzled by the whole undertaking. For one thing, the Soviet press and radio have built up the importance of the U.N. session. And for another, Voice broadcasts have been limited to reporting simply what was happening in New York — covering the speech of Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko on the same basis as the one by Eisenhower. But Gromyko was jammed along with Eisenhower by the Russian noisemakers.

U.S. propaganda experts said the Soviet government probably wanted the Russian people and, indeed, the whole Communist bloc, to learn of the proceedings only as the Kremlin decided to interpret them. The Soviet Communist line has been bitterly critical of Eisenhower's proposals to the General Assembly for a U.N. police force and other measures to create order in the Middle East.

Engineers of the U.S. Information Agency, which operates the Voice of America, said most of the jammers make a howling sound repeated over and over. In the case of stations with code designations the howling is interrupted every few seconds with a series of dots and dashes giving the station's name.

If the racket transmitter strays from its assigned frequency and begins to create interference for a Soviet broadcast, official monitors detect the interference, identify the source of it by the code imbedded in the jamming and order a quick correction.

On Wednesday, when Eisenhower and Gromyko spoke at the U.N., the Russians jammed everything the Voice was broadcasting. Thursday the Russians changed their pattern. When the Voice broadcast music during intervals in the General Assembly debate, the music was permitted to go through. But when the debate resumed, the jamming started up again, Western monitoring stations reported.

U.S.I.A. estimated that the cost of operating the jamming stations to the Russians is in excess of 100 million dollars a year, or considerably above this country's own efforts to spread information over the world.

Jobless Benefits Hit New Low for 1958

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of jobless workers covered by unemployment insurance reached a new 1958 low in the last week of July, the government reports.

The Labor Department said yesterday that insured unemployment had dropped by 80,700 during the week ended Aug. 2 to a total of 2,342,100—the lowest level reported since the week before Christmas of last year.

The drop was attributed chiefly to recalls in plants that had closed because of vacations and to new hirings in seasonal industries such as food processing and apparel. Another factor in the decline was due to claimants' exhausting benefits rights.

But there was a counterbalancing factor as the volume of new unemployment claims increased by 6,400 to a total of 324,900 for the week ended Aug. 9. Layoffs caused by automobile model change-overs accounted for part of the new claims.

Goldfine's Son Called Abusive in Divorce Suit

BARTOW, Fla. (UPI) — A divorce suit against Horace Maxwell Goldfine, son of gift-giving Boston millionaire Bernard Goldfine, was in the hands of Circuit Court here today, less than one month after he slashed himself 100 times with a razor.

The suit was filed yesterday by Goldfine's wife, Claire C. Goldfine, a former night club singer. Mrs. Goldfine charged that her husband "abused and mistreated her in the presence of friends" causing her embarrassment and humiliation.

The suit also charged that the 36-year-old Goldfine cursed her with "violent and abusive language" and told her that he no longer loved her.

The couple was married in Sarasota, Fla., March 9, 1957. They lived together until Dec. 28, 1957. She lives in Sarasota and Goldfine's residence was listed as New York City.

Young Goldfine slashed himself July 19 after an all night party at a Sarasota motel. But the cuts were not serious and he spent only one day in a hospital.

Doctors attributed the slashing to "an emotional upset" brought on by domestic troubles rather than his industrialist father's difficulties with a congressional committee over dealings with presidential assistant Sherman Adams.

Mrs. Goldfine denied at the time of the slashing that she was preparing to file for divorce. She said, however, that she had been thinking about divorce "at one time."

In her suit, she asked for an undisclosed amount of alimony, attorney's fees and restoration of her former name, Claire C. McTighe.

LET'S BE DIFFERENT:

J. L. VOORHEES

We are influenced by differences — a charming woman has the most friends, an honorable man has our trust, a coffee with delectable flavor enjoys the greatest consumption, railroads have dome cars, airplanes have speed. It is a difference, in large or minor ways that bring attention and business, or large circle of friends.

W. E. SIPLE

To be one of the crowd is all right but to get the ultimate one must step out of that crowd, be different, climb higher, speak more persuasively, smile more sincerely, arrange your hair to bring out the lustre and charm of your features, be more entertaining, something that is different than contemporaries practice.

There is one attribute to which we might subscribe that is certainly different — be courteous. Try it!

Confident Living

Found Way to Cut Weight by Using Mental Strategy

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A man came to see me a couple of years ago to talk about his personal problems. First of all he was quite nervous, so we discussed formulas for healing nervousness. Then he said his doctor insisted that he reduce poundage, but he just couldn't take off weight.

PEALE

"That's easy," I told him. "Look at me. I've just taken off 35 pounds."

"How do you do it?" he asked glumly.

"You do it by dicipline," I replied. "And you have to attack the problem by mental strategy."

I could see that he was not enthusiastic about discipline. So I told him about a weight control formula mentioned to me by Captain George D. Cox of the SS President Wilson, with whom I sailed to the Far East last year. Captain Cox's formula is: "Just take a good dose of the wonder drug self-denial!"

You can acquire this new power of will by first of all really wanting it. Then you pray for it, believing it will be given to you. Desire plus faith added to prayer is the formula that makes will power possible.

EXERCISE THE WILL

Following that, the will must be exercised. Every time you deny yourself, you are actually toughening your spiritual muscles. The reason the will is flabby is due to disuse. Use it and it grows strong.

The next step in losing weight by dieting is to use the amazing power of imagination which is even stronger than will power. It means projecting images or pictures of desired conditions. And a basic fact of human nature is the tendency to become what we habitually imagine (or image) ourselves as being.

What you see, you are! So it helps like magic to picture yourself as slender. Decide what weight you want to be. Don't fool yourself but really want to see the scales at that figure. Then toughen up your will. Finally hold that picture of yourself as slim, clothes fitting comfortably, collar nice and loose, waistline a couple of inches less.

It isn't very often that a minister writes about reducing, a subject usually left to medical editors and beauty columnists. But I believe that anything that concerns human wellbeing should come within the province of the minister.

But, of course, in dealing with the problem of overweight, the minister alone cannot help you. You need medical advice as well.

In thinking about this question of reducing and its importance to our general wellbeing, I began some discussions with my brother, Dr. Robert Clifford Peale, a physician and surgeon in Olean, New York. The result of our talks was a little booklet about the problems of overweight, written jointly by us and called "Live Longer and Better."

If this is your problem, I would be happy to send you a copy with my compliments. Just write to me in care of this newspaper and perhaps we can help you take off pounds.

Pontiac Group at Grand Ledge

Seventh Day Adventists Attending 90th Annual Convention

Members of Pontiac's Seventh-day Adventist Church, 156 Mt. Clemens St., are holding worship services today at the 90th annual meeting of Michigan Adventists, Grand Ledge, along with more than 10,000 other church members from throughout Michigan.

The Grand Ledge campsite is a "tent city" which houses over 3,000 inhabitants for the duration of the church conclave. Thousands of others commute by automobile to attend the sessions.

This temporary city has well-laid out streets and avenues and "house" numbers for the cabins, tents and trailers. Traffic police and watchmen are on 24-hour duty.

A modern cafeteria serves food to the campers, while a well-stocked grocery store makes it possible for those in attendance to prepare their own meals if they wish.

A large display of Bibles and other Christian literature is available at the Book and Bible House on the campgrounds.

The main auditorium seats 10,000; while the building for youth and junior members will adcommodate 2,500. Smaller children attend meetings in large canvas pavilions, and are supervised on the camp playgrounds during planned ree-reational periods.

Each Friday evening at sunset the Seventh-day Adventists usher in their day or worship which lasts until sunset Saturday.

Wholly Endorse Bible

The following resolution was passed unanimously by the Des Moines Convention of the Disciples of Christ: "As a communion we are not equipped to translate and publish the Scriptures in lands around the world, so that we have gladly joined with other religious groups to accomplish this purpose through our American Bible Society. Disciples would be quick to insist that no communion has a greater love for the Bible nor a greater desire to see it translated, published and distributed throughout the world."

Geo-Spiritual Year Urged to Point Way to Peace

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

Don't be surprised if religion tears a leaf from science's notebook pretty soon and comes up with an International Geo-Spiritual Year.

At least two prominent clergymen have suggested it in recent months. And a newly formed Committee on Religion and Science is showing a keen interest in getting it off the ground.

INTRODUCE IDEA

The Rev. Louis A. Gales of St. Paul, Minn., editor of the Catholic Digest, brought the subject up late last year at a meeting of religious education groups.

Father Gales recommended that 1960 be set aside as a period when "each religious group would present the moral and spiritual resources if felt were necessary for the religious development of mankind."

And the Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, president of the National Council of Churches, suggests an International Geo-Theological Year to carry the Geophysical Year a step beyond its material limits.

Dr. Dahlberg, writing in the monthly National Council Outlook, notes the President Eisenhower's advisory committee has listed four motivations for an enlarged space program—curiosity, defense, prestige and knowledge.

SUGGEST 5TH MOTIVATION

To this, Dr. Dahlberg would add a fifth motivation, one that would set the tone for the Geo-Theological Year—"the desire to know the nature of God and the ultimate purpose behind the universe."

Those taking part in the program would seek answers to these questions:

"Do we live and move and have our being in God, or simply in a kind of electric plasma?

"What is the authority of Christ? If there are other inhabited worlds, is He the Lord and Savior of those worlds as well as our own?

"What is the goal of human history. In the thunder of sound barriers breaking, the roar of rockets rushing through space, and the shock of hard landings on the moon, how shall we think of time, and timelessness, and eternity?

WOULD INVITE THINKERS

Dr. Dahlberg would invite participation by the best religious thinkers, Christian and non-Christian; nuclear scientists; and philosophers.

"Such an experiment," concludes Dr. Dahlberg, "might contribute more to the peace of the world and the intelligent control of outer space than all the high level conferences of political and military leaders."

The Committee on Religion and Science, which is showing signs of pickng up the cudgel for the International Geo - Spiritual Year, was organized last spring because, in its own words:

"Man does not always put new power to work for the best use of mankind. The purpose of this committee is to emphasize the need for spiritual and moral growth along with scientific achievements."

The committee is coordinated by Edward L. Wertheim, a New York advertising executive, and is financed by a temporary agent from the Swedenborg Foundation.

The aim of the committee is to bring together scientists and religious leaders to seek a proper relationship between religion and science.

200 Vietnam Refugees Now Learn to Weave

SAIGON —Two hundred refugees from Communist North Vietnam are being taught weaving by American and Japanese technicans in preparation for a venture in "people's capitalism." They will weave in two small textile plants being erected with United States aid. Under a profit-sharing and stock-purchase plan they will eventually buy the factories.

Electric Failures Top List of Auto Troubles

CHICAGO — About 55,000,000 motorists had to call for help because of car breakdowns during 1957, according to the American Automobile Association. Battery and electrical failures nudged the flat tire out of its long-standing place as the motorist's biggest headache during the year, accounting for nearly one call in four. Ignition difficulties were the third most common cause of breakdown.

Diamonds! 75 Bushels!

CAPE TOWN — The world's yearly production of diamonds — about 23,000,000 carats—would fill about 75 bushel baskets. Most of them are mined in South Africa.

About 55 per cent of American families own their homes, a higher percentage than ever before.

Hollywood Headlines

That Marie Dressler! What a Terrific Mugger

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One of the nice things about having a new baby in the house is that you can catch up with the late show on TV.

Lately, Caroline and I have been watching KTTV's cavalcade of MGM greats. For five nights each week, the station presents films from the careers of Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, Lana Turner, Red Skelton, etc.

Our fancy was caught this week by the Greta Garbo festival, especially Monday night's showing of "Anna Christie." The Eugene O'Neill drama has been done at least twice on live TV and recently in a Broadway musicalized version, "New Girl in Town." Yet the 29-year-old Garbo movie was still fascinating to watch.

Oh, that Marie Dressler! What an outrageous mugger she was, exploiting every trick she learned with Weber and Fields and Mack Sennette. It was a beautiful job, and I can't think of anyone today who could approach such a performance.

And Garbo was a revelation. She was not the stolid Swede legend has created. She was animated and expressive, etching a perfect portrait of the world-weary Anna.

Watching these two great artists brought this thought: How much more exciting was the film medium when actors weren't afraid to make their faces move? The old-timers were trained in silent films, when their expressions had to tell the story. Today's stars, who rely on words to convey the plot, are a dull, stone-faced lot by comparison.

Another thought. "Anna Christie" was one of the earliest talkies. "Garbo speaks" was the ad campaign. Yet it was better than most of the old movies on TV.

Why do the stations take most of their old movies from the wartime and postwar years? That was at a time when quality of the Hollywood product was at a low ebb. Any kind of picture could turn a profit, because of the entertainment boom.

Why not dip into more of the oldies? Yes, even the silents. Some of the best of the cinema art was created before the screen learned to talk.

It would be wonderful to be able to tune in the late show and see some of the classics by Douglas Fairbanks Sr., Mary Pickford, Rudolph Valentino, Harold Lloyd, Lon Chaney, Ramon Novarro, D. W. Griffith, etc.

'Cleo' Poking Along Far Out in Ocean

SAN JUAN Puerto Rico (AP)—The season's first hurricane dawdled along on an erratic course far out in the open Atlantic today.

The hurricane, named Cleo by Weather Bureau forecasters, was about 1,000 miles east northeast of San Juan and 2,000 miles east southeast of Miami, Fla.

Cleo was moving at only 12 miles per hour under the influence of an upper level weather trough that had slowed and weakened the big storm somewhat in the past 24 hours.

But it was still a severe hurricane, with winds up to 115 m.p.h.

That would keep it well away from the U.S. mainland.

Two other tropical storms blew up earlier in the season, one in the Gulf of Mexico in June and the other near where Cleo was born last week, but neither reached hurricane force.

Oakland Council Names County Veteran of 1958

MALCOLM F. OSWALT

The Oakland County Council of Veterans has chosen Malcolm F. Oswalt, of 480 Jordan Rd., as the County Veteran of the Year.

Oswalt, commander of the Bemis-Olson Amvets Post and president of the Pontiac Memorial Day Association, will represent Oakland County in the Michigan Veteran of 1958 Contest to be held at the Michigan State Fair.

He has played a leading role for the past two years in organizing the parade and ceremonies in honor of Memorial Day. He has also planned, organized and put on town hall meetings for the past three years.

These meetings are designed to allow voters to become acquainted with candidates for election to public offices. Under Oswalt's direction, the local Bemis-Olson Amvets have enjoyed a substantial gain in membership.

Oswalt, 41, was chosen by the Vets Council on his merits as a civic and veteran's affairs leader, and his reputation as a family man. He is married and the father of three children.

A council spokesman said, "In choosing Oswalt, we feel that we have, indeed, selected a very likely candidate to be the Michigan Veteran of 1958."

Copper Tailings Problem to U. P.

Who Owns Mine Sands Dumped in Lake One of Two Arguments

LANSING (AP)—Recovery of copper mine tailings dumped into Lake Superior by a mining firm over the last 70 years has set up a tough legal problem for the state, conservation director Gerald E. Eddy said today.

Eddy said state conservation officials will confer soon with representatives of the Copper Range Co., Houghton County mining firm, in an effort to resolve the situation.

Technically, he said, the company is violating a new state law which requires a permit from the State Conservation Department before state-owned submerged lands can be filled, dredged or altered in any way.

There's also a question of whether Copper Range legally owns the tailings, even though they were extracted from company-owned land before being dumped in Lake Superior.

"At the same time, however, we know the importance of this mining firm to the economy of the area and we hope we can work out a satisfactory solution," Eddy said.

The tailings, also known as stamp sands, were dumped for a stretch of several miles along the lake shore near Red Ridge, Eddy said. Some protrude above the surface of the water.

In recent years, Eddy said, new methods of grinding and treatment have enabled the company to reprocess the tailings and obtain additional copper.

Similar operations are conducted by Calumet & Hecla, Inc., at Lake Linden off Torch Lake, but this does not concern the State Conservation Department because of its location on inland waters, he said.

"These operations are of major importance to both companies," Eddy said. "We've been told by Calumet & Hecla that they would have had to shut down some time ago if profits from this reprocessing operation had not been available for new exploration."

Fishermen have complained that the copper range tailings have killed fish life in the Feeda area, he said, but the claim has never been proved.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bobby Breen, once a child singing star, is being sued for separate maintenance by his wife, Jocelyn, a former New York fashion model. Her suit charges Breen with cruelty. The couple married in November 1952.

Elvis Presley Near Hysteria at Cemetery

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Elvis Presley remained at his $100,000 mansion today, recovering from the grief that seized him at the burial of his mother.

The famed rock 'n' roll singer was near hysteria at the funeral yesterday, He and his father, Vernon Presley, 43, wept throughout the services.

The grief-stricken entertainer, drafted into the Army last March, had to be helped to the big black limousine that carried him from the cemetery.

About 500 persons accompanied the Presleys to the grave.

Elvis, 23, flew home Tuesday from Ft. Hood, Tex., on an emergency furlough. His 42-year-old mother died early Thursday of an unexpected heart attack at the hospital where she was under treatment for hepatitis, a liver ailment.

It is estimated there will be at least 31 million new purchasers of gasoline within the next 10 years.

Admits Week Left Him Tired

Ike Slates Round of Golf

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower planned an early round of golf today to relax from a week in Washington that admittedly left him tired.

The President looked well—ruddy and smiling.

But he amplified the remark a moment later when on the first tee he said "I guess we had better start riding right away."

Then he climbed into his electric golf cart and rode off toward the first green.

'No Surrender' —U. S. Senate

Legislators Vote 88-2 to Bar Use of Funds for Such a Study

WASHINGTON (AP — Surrender? Never, says the U.S. Senate. And furthermore there'll be no planning for one—at least not at government expense, the senators said.

The senate took that firm stand yesterday in voting 88-2 to bar the use of government funds to finance any kind of study into the possibility of the United States running up a white flag in a nuclear war.

The vote climaxed almost two days of sometimes bitter debate touched off by reports the Pentagon was preparing a surrender study.

But the Pentagon indicated the only such study it knew of was one prepared for the Rand Corp., a non-profit research group that does work for the Air Force.

A book entitled "Strategic Surrender," prepared for Rand, was published recently by the Stanford University Press. But Rand spokesmen said their study didn't deal with the subject of a U.S. surrender.

President Eisenhower called the whole thing nonsense and said no government funds had been spent or ever would be on a surrender study.

The Senate acted to bar use of federal funds for such a study by attaching a rider to an appropriation bill that now goes back to the House for approval.

Colleges Need Money for Salaries, Not Beauty

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — A leading Colorado educator thinks too much emphasis may be placed on the appearance of colleges and universities.

Quigg Newton, president of the University of Colorado, told a civic group here, "I sometimes think our institutions are too beautiful and give the impression we have everything we need." Newton said he is seeking higher pay for teachers.

With Resurgence of Customers, Business Confidence

See Increased 4th Quarter Auto Demand

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—There are indications the bottom of the recession has passed and a modest upward trend has begun.

So say auto industry leaders. They look for improved new car demand with introduction of 1959 model cars. A resurgence of consumer and business confidence, they add, is likely to grow in this year's fourth quarter and stimulate demand for new automobiles.

Labor difficulties, of course, could reverse this more cheerful outlook. And such difficulties are likely if contract negotiations between management and labor continue fruitless.

Other sources also take an optimistic view of the auto industry's 1959 prospects. The Value Line Investment Survey, published by Arnold Bernhard & Co., New York investment advisers, says:

"The auto industry could enjoy a strong comeback next year—and the Mideast crisis may be the spark to touch it off." .. ..

The survey underscores "could," and adds that while "consumers are ready and able to buy, just when they will re-enter the market is problematic."

"What is of importance," it says, "is that for the first time since the Korean crisis, auto makers are faced with a measure of deferred demand. Moreover, the inventory problem, while not solved, is under much better control than a year ago.

"Even a modest upturn in business (which would appear to be a minimum expectancy) would probably boost automobile sales to somewhere near a normal 5,800,000 cars in 1959, of which 5½ million would be made in the United States." (That would be approximately a million unit increase over indicated 1958 sales.)

"A bigger boost to 1959 sales," the survey says, "could come from further aggravation of the already tense Mideastern situation. Accelerated defense spending or the threat of wartime controls could increase demand to 6,300,000 cars in 1959, of which about six million might be supplied by domestic manufacturers."

The survey report is a somewhat cautious one. However, it finds numerous factors that could start a substantial upturn for the auto industry in 1959. And it agrees that the business decline has leveled out.

Commenting on improved prospects for the auto parts industry, hard hit this year, the survey says:

"Recently the auto parts industry's prospects, so dismal only three months ago, have perked up with the leveling out of the business decline. Moreover, the probable return of the automobile industry to normal output in 1959 cannot fail to aid most of the suppliers."

Aside from reduced auto production and the general economic recession, the survey says, some parts suppliers have encountered additional woes in the loss or threatened loss of contracts for original equipment for cars and trucks.

An increasing volume of this type of equipment is being produced by the car makers themselves in an integration movement that has been under way throughout much of the postwar period.

Pensions Slated for Presidents

Congress to Take Final Action on Providing $25,000 Per Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Compromise legislation to provide $25,000 a year pensions and other benefits for former U.S. presidents comes up in Congress next week for final action.

Senate and House conferees came to terms on the bill yesterday, sending it back to both houses for expected approval.

In addition to pensions, the bill would provide former presidents with free mailing privileges, free office space, and $50,000 a year for clerical help.

Both branches had accepted pension provisions of the bill, but the House balked at proving the other benefits to help defray expenses of ex-presidents.

The compromise measure would allow only about half as much for clerical help as was proposed in the original Senate bill.

The pension provisions also would authorize $10,000 a year for widows of ex-presidents, but they would have to waive any other pensions they might be drawing from the government.

The only living ex-presidents are Democrat Harry S. Truman and Republican Herbert Hoover. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson are the only widows. Mrs. Roosevelt has been quoted as saying she won't accept the pension.

Washing automobiles is big business in the U. S. and in a normal year more than 10 million customers pay about $150 million for this service.

Daring Sergeant Repairs Plane 2,000 Feet Up

MITCHEL AIR FORCE BASE, N.Y. (AP)—An Air Force sergeant defied death yesterday while repairing a jammed nose wheel on a cargo plane as it hovered 2,000 feet over the landing field here.

Thanks to Staff Sgt. Oscar Powell, 25, of Freeport, N.Y., the big C119 plane made a perfect landing at this Nassau County base on Long Island.

Powell was technician aboard the plane as it started in for a landing. The main landing wheels dropped into place but the nose wheel came down only part way and would not lock. Also aboard were two noncommissioned officers.

Doffing his parachute, Powell thrust the upper part of his body out of a flap in the floor of the cockpit. Using one hand and his feet to hold on, he worked with the other to secure the nose wheel.

"OUTWARD TO THE STARS"

An Exploitable Educational Feature

No subject has seized the imagination of the public more dramatically than man's conquest of outer space. The man in the street is suddenly aware that travel to the moon and beyond may be achieved in his lifetime. Read this exciting feature that will appeal to all.

DON'T MISS IT!

It Starts Monday August 18th in THE PONTIAC PRESS

AT EASE — This picture of the Jacob Martz' is a bit misleading. They have put in a good many hours this summer fixing up the grounds around their new home. They have built steps down to the waterfront and are in the process of clearing the beach. But when they do have time to relax, they have a pleasant porch on which to do it. The exterior of their home is a gray ranch stone, similar in looks to a Roman brick. Trim is green.

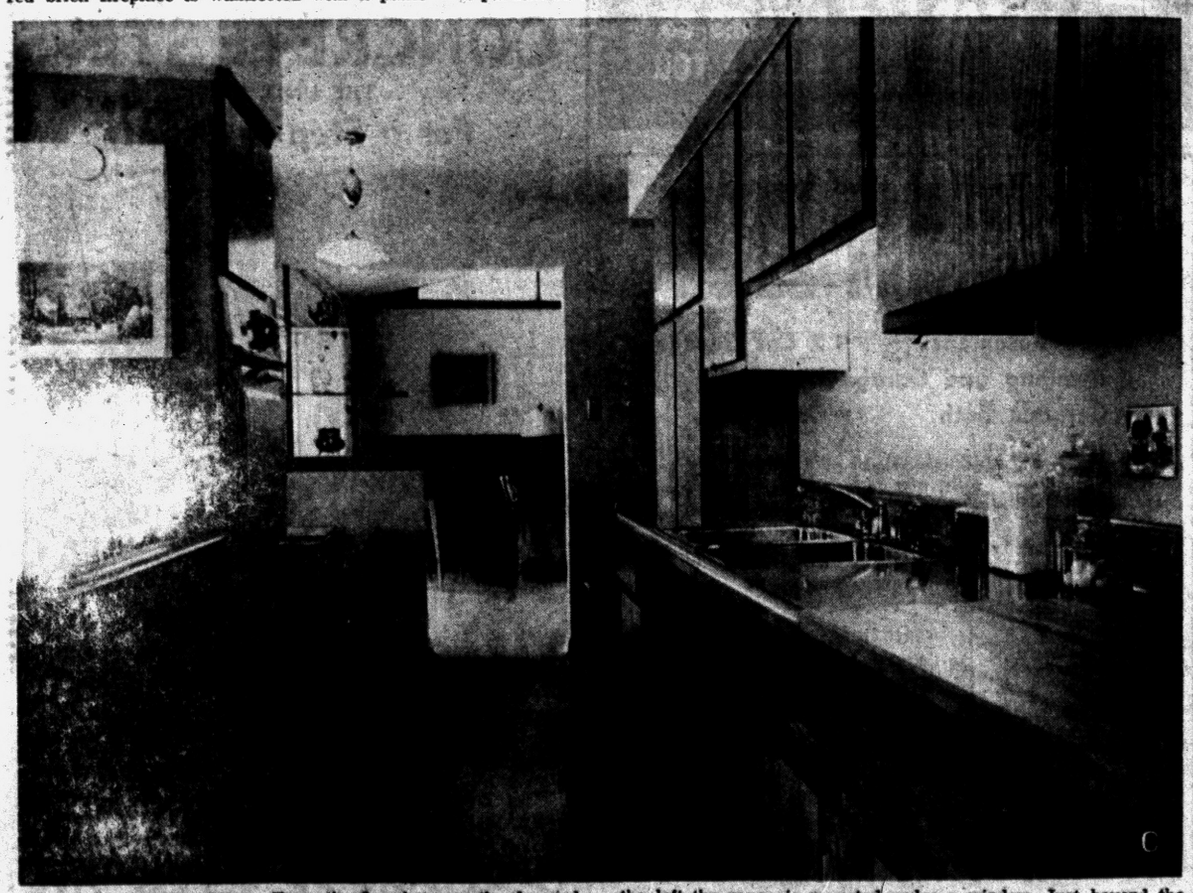

SUMMER SCENE — This silhouetted scene was taken from the living room, looking out through the picture windows. Just as the photographer snapped the picture a boat with two women fishing came along and stopped in front. If you look closely, you may be able to see them under the table. This is the peaceful scene the Martz' have whenever they eat at this round walnut table.

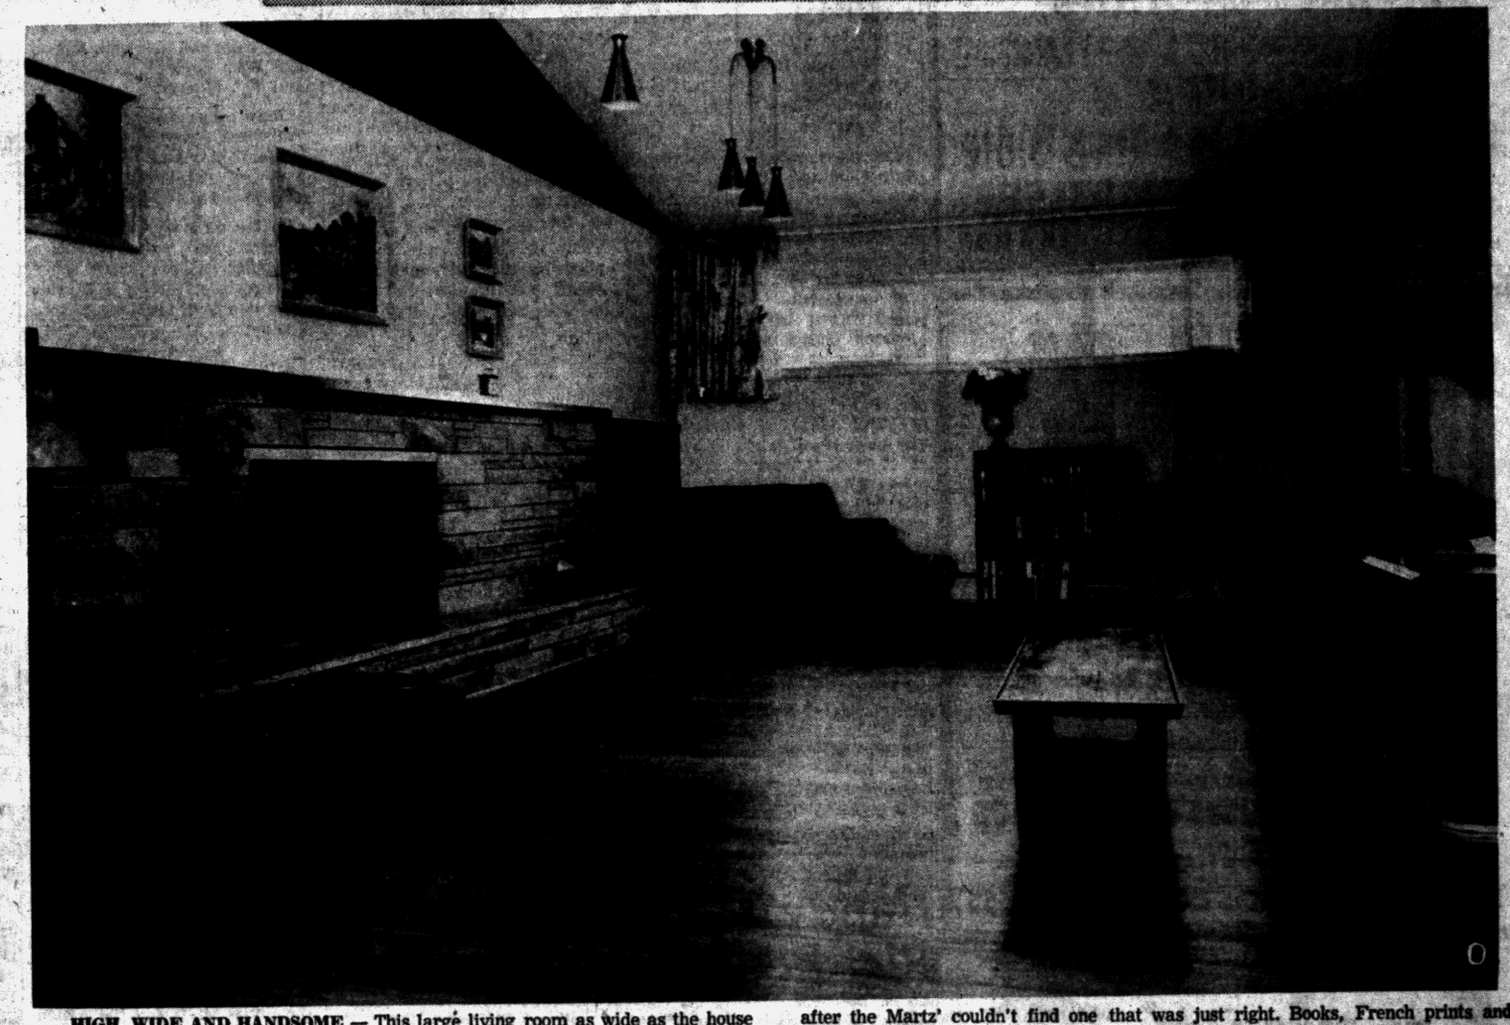

Pontiac Press Photos by Tom Gerls

BASEMENT RETREAT — This charming corner is in the basement. One wall next to the red brick fireplace is wainscoted with a panel of peg board above it. The Boston rocker lends an air of relaxation to the scene. The basement is partitioned into several rooms.

CORRIDOR KITCHEN — From the door between the den and the kitchen there is a long view into the living room. On the wall side there is a good deal of counter space and lots of cupboards. Latches are hidden, giving an unbroken front to the cabinets. At the left the range is mounted under a window. Just beyond the oven is a small breakfast area with a red table and chairs. A half wall beyond the table has open shelves on top.

HIGH, WIDE AND HANDSOME — This large living room as wide as the house has polished oak floors, creamy yellow walls and a Tennessee ledgerock fireplace. Walnut plywood is used for contrast at each end of the fireplace and just beolw the cathedral ceiling on one wall. The long low walnut coffee table was custom made after the Martz' couldn't find one that was just right. Books, French prints and interesting mementoes of their travels contribute a friendly air to this room. The high windows are on the street side of the house.

Your Neighbor's House

Porch a Feature of Wormer Lake Home

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

From their rear porch the Jacob Martz' can look across Wormer Lake and see the cars rushing along Walton boulevard. But their home is in a quiet wooded area. Tall oaks shade their gray ranch stone house.

Former residents of Romeo, the Martz' designed their new house, the second one they have built. It took almost a year to complete. It is just about a year ago that they moved in. Ray Meyer Building Company of Detroit did the construction work.

On one side there is a double carport. Here the Martz' keep their historic vehicle, a 1925 Buick truck. It is under cover, while one of the other two cars has to stand outside.

LONG KITCHEN

Mrs. Martz says nothing would make her enjoy washing the dishes, so she didn't waste a view from the sink. Her double sink is on the inside wall while the range top stove is in

With the baseball season at an end the question of where to store the youngsters' baseball equipment can be a problem. A storage rack which can be constructed with but a few simple tools not only solves the problem but helps maintain the equipment, particularly a prized "mitt," in better condition for next season.

Materials needed for the rack are one piece of 1 by 6-inch lumber, 7 feet long and two pieces of ½-inch dowel rod, 4 inches long. The back board is cut to a length of 24 inches. Measure and mark points 6 inches in from each end and drill holes ½ inch in diameter with a No. 8 auger bit. The bottom is cut to fit between the side panels.

The holes and slots are made with an expansion bit and or a coping saw. Holes for the baseballs are drilled 6 inches in from the ends as shown in the diagram. Set the expansion bit at a 1½ inch radius for the softball. The slots for the bats can be made by setting an expansion bit for a radius of eleven sixteenths inches, drilling holes, and making the straight cuts with a saw.

The side panels are made as shown. First, make a pattern. Next, inscribe the pattern on the 16-inch long sides, and finally, cut the pieces with a coping saw.

Assemble the rack using No. 10 flathead wood screws, 2 inches long, for the back. Groove the ends of the dowels to provide a tighter glue joint and insert the dowels in place. Fit the bottom between the sides and fasten in place with 8-penny finishing nails.

Sand the project smooth and round all sharp edges. Set the nails and fill the holes with wood putty. Paint or stain.

If the rack is to be hung in the youngsters' room, locate the position of the studs behind the wall. Using 4-inch long No. 10 flathead wood screws, attach the rack through the wall to the studs. If the rack is to be attached on cinder blocks in the basement use cut nails.

If you are repairing an old chair or table, vinegar, applied sparingly with the help of a small oil can, will make an easy job of loosening old glue around rungs or joints.

Taking up most of the 27-foot wall, the Tennessee ledge-rock fireplace has a Tennessee marble hearth. Both stone and marble are shaded in pink and gray. From the fireplace to the end walls there is a wainscot of walnut plywood. More of this walnut is used above the fireplace.

The room is large enough to hold two sofas comfortably. A small one under the high windows is upholstered in a mixed gray, black and silver material. The larger sofa, facing the fireplace, has a rough textured covering in shades of purple, blue, green and gold. This same subtly shaded fabric is used for chair seats.

The Martz house contains an interesting combination of accessories. Most of their pictures are mementoes of their European trip four years ago. They are "auction hounds" and have picked up some unusual things like the shoe shine box that looks like a high stool.

There are two bedrooms and a bath and a half in the house. One bedroom is cream colored, the other pale pink. In the master bedroom the white curtains are hung on brass poles.

In the guest room peppermint striped material makes the pillow coyers and bedspread. Curtains are semi-sheer in pink, brown and white stripes. There's a little walnut chest in this room the first purchase the Martz' made at an auction. They refinished it themselves.

Because the Martz house is built on a hillside, there is a picture window in the basement recreation room. There is also a small red brick fireplace in one corner. Next to it is a paneled wall with peg board above. A Boston rocker provides a homey touch.

Other rooms in the full basement are in the process of finishing. The Martz' have both a piano and an antique organ down here. The mahogany piano and the wall behind it match in color

This basement is used by swimmers in summer. In the winter when skating is good, it is a cozy place to which to get warm.

Fine Stairways Provide Prestige

Properly designed and built, a stairway such as the one in the photograph adds both prestige and value to any home.

Home owners intent on remodeling or families planning to build

These "packaged" stairways, made of ponderosa pine and selected hardwoods, are composed of parts machined for each other at the factory and sanded smooth, ready for assembly.

Fix-It Forum

A—Too much sand, most likely. If you used dry sand, chances are you used too much. Dry sand goes much further than damp sand. Next time you try your hand at the job, be sure sand is moist to the touch before working it into your concrete mixture.

Handy Man Can Do Flat Roof Maintenance

If you have a flat-roofed garage, porch or car port covered with roll roofing, its maintenance is a chore that you can handle. A "flat" roof usually has a slope of about ¼ inch per foot to permit rain runoff, so you'll hardly need mountain-goat agility to tackle the job. Just watch your step.

HERE'S HOW:

Some people follow a yearly program of coating the entire roof with asbestos roof coating whether or not the impregnated felt needs renewing. On older roofs, where tiny cracks are likely to be numerous, this is a wise plan. The liquid coating is easily applied with a long-handled brush or an old broom.

Occasionally, you may find a place where the roofing is beginning to bulge.

Cut the roofing at that point so that it can be flattened. Then cut a new piece of roofing that is larger than the area to be repaired.

It may be necessary to remove a small strip if the roofing is to lie perfectly flat. Trowel some heavy cement over the slit. Spread generously.

While the cement is still wet, place the previously cut patch of roll roofing over the spot. Press firmly, making the patch as smooth as possible.

Nail the edges of the patch. Use galvanized or some other non-rusting nail. Once the patch is nailed in place, cover the edges with more cement. Cover nailheads, too.

Leaks can develop along the edges of a porch roof, where it meets the house. A coating of cement along both edges of the flashing at the joint will cure your troubles. A crack in the flashing can be filled with cement.

If a portion of the flashing is damaged, try improvising a repair to save cost of replacement.

A piece of sheet metal or roll roofing cut the same width as the old flashing will make a good patch.

Cut the patch longer than the part to be replaced so that it overlaps the good flashing. Apply plenty of cement over, under and around the patch.

Worksaver: Pick a relatively cool, calm day in which to work. The hot sun keeps the cement from drying, makes your work slower.

Many persons think of using the basement as a music room. This is a mistake because the basement usually has a concrete floor and masonry walls which create unsatisfactory results. If you must use the basement as your music room, it is best to install a wood floor and panel the walls. Any other part of the house is equally suitable.

OPEN-PLANNED KITCHEN — All on one level, this is the floor plan of Design X-19, a House of the Week plan featuring an open-planned kitchen. The sunken recreation room is two steps below the dining room level.

Air Cells Insulate

Why is wood such a good insulator? Architects point out that wood, such as popular Douglas fir used widely for home construction, is made up of millions of tiny cells which contain dead air space. The cells retard the passage of heat and cold.

A New Orleans company, Higgins Industries, Inc., has developed a machine for stretching lumber. The process in no way affects the strength or durability of wood, spokesmen for the firm report.

You Can Make a Yacht Chair

A yacht chair that folds for storing when not in use can be used also as a lawn chair and is convenient to take along on picnics.

First make the legs. These are of 2 by 2-inch lumber, each 26½ inches long. Cut the bottom of the legs at a 45 degree angle and the top as shown in the detail drawing. Bore a hole ¾-inch in diameter by 1 inch deep in the center of the inside legs, and a ¼-inch hole through the center of the outside legs. Assemble the legs as shown, using No. 12 roundhead, 3-inch screws, and washers.

Make the hinged sections from 1 by 2-inch lumber. Recess the 2-inch butt hinges 2 inches from the back and 4 inches from the front. Attach half of this section to the legs, using glue and No. 10, 1½-inch flathead screws. Countersink all screws, then tack the canvas seat in place.

Make the arm and back support from 2 by 2-inch lumber. Cut 2 pieces 6 inches long and attach them 2 inches from the front end of the top half of the hinged section. The back is 16 inches long, tapered as shown. The arm is 15 inches long, rounded in front. Assemble with glue and No. 10, 2½-inch flathead screws. Attach this assembly to the legs.

Make a canvas back, either of sleeve type to provide double thickness, or with looped ends to slip over the back posts.

Hydronics Is the Word

Hydronics is a new term adopted to describe the science of heating and cooling with water. The name is designed to cover not only the use of water for heating and cooling, but also the many other functions of circulated water systems.

Questions and Answers

Q—What is meant by "furring?"

A—To provide a nailing surface for vertical paneling, it usually is necessary to affix strips of lumber to the wall. These are called "furring" strips. In using wood paneling horizontally in an ordinary room, such strips are not needed, however, because the paneling can be nailed directly onto the wall studs.

Q—What's the best way to sand wood paneling?

A—Use a coarse sandpaper at first if necessary to iron out the "dressing skips" which occasionally occur in paneling. Then rub carefully with a very fine grade of sandpaper. Always sand with the grain when hand sanding or when using a belt sander. A vibrator-type sander can be used freely.

Q—How does insulation save heating fuel?

A—By blocking the escape of heat through walls and ceilings. Mineral wool insulation, for example, is composed of mineral fibers surrounding millions of dead air spaces. Heat does not readily pass through this dead air and therefore does not escape to the outside.

Lumber Length Not Limited

Long experience has taught the lumber industry that trees, like fruit, can become "overripe."

Modern forestry has developed scientific yardsticks which pinpoint the right stage of maturity for sawtimber harvest. Growth is followed carefully, and when trees reach an age and diameter consistent with the most reasonable return in lumber quality and dollar volume, they are harvested promptly.

By this process, growth runs no longer a course than it should, waste is eliminated, and natural reseeding and artificial planting keep harvest and growth in logical balance, thereby perpetuating the life of the tree stand.

Thus, entire new avenues of use have been opened for southern pine, while standard lumber lengths and grades still serve most requirements in conventional housing.

The basic material in this modern process of lamination is nothing more than standard 1" and 2" thicknesses of southern pine lumber. Using modern adhesives whose strength exceeds the wood's own, fabricators end-glue and face-glue the lumber, then use high pressure techniques to shape the final product into striking modern forms and engineered designs.

Structural components developed in this fashion are "reaching for the moon." They have adapted the natural strength and high resiliency of wood to the largest of structures, thereby introducing the material to buildings like cathedrals, huge supermarkets and school gymnasiums.

Insulation in most homes is usually required only in walls or ceilings. However, if some rooms in your house are built over a crawl space, unheated garage or open porch, it will pay to insulate the floors of those rooms with rock wool batts.

Home Construction Begun at Twin Lakes Village

One hundred out of a total of 500 building sites have been completed in scenic Twin Lakes Village, now $15,000,000 lake front development created by Kelly-Cook, Inc., in White Lake Township, eight miles due west of Pontiac.

Construction of new homes by property owners has begun on spacious sites which slope down to spring-fed Tull Lake, carved out of 125 acres of raw land by the developer.

The mile-long lake, with a depth of 10 to 20 feet, was stocked last year with large mouth bass and bluegills. From the shore, it presents a picturesque view of islands, bays and inlets.

Two more lakes are planned for the development which has been designed for year-round lake front living. Already installed by the developer is the first unit of a new $400,000 central water system, the first in White Lake Township. This unit will amply serve 250 homes.

Land has been set aside in Twin Lakes for a 35-acre shopping center. A five-acre natural amphitheater will serve as a park site, and an added 10 acres has been designated for schools, churches and playgrounds.

Home owners in the new community will have exclusive lake privileges as well as private use of bathing and boat beaches.

Homes now under construction are in the $20,000 to $35,000 price range. They conform to the requirements of the architectural committee of the Twin Lakes Improvement Association, a non-profit corporation of property owners.

Three hundred building sites, running 80 to 110 feet wide and 150 feet deep, will be directly on lake frontage. An additional 200 lots will be available on both sides of Highland road.

A 38-foot landscaped parkway divides the 120-foot boulevard which provides entry to Twin Lakes Village. Curvilinear asphalt paved streets are 28 feet wide with curbs.

Featured at Twin Lakes Village is a four bedroom ranch colonial design with two and a half baths and attached two car plastered garage with full concrete driveway. Priced at $31,000 by V and H Building Company, this home includes built-in oven, range and dishwasher and full storms and screens.

Rooms are spacious with a total of 1835 square feet of living area. Facing on Tull Lake is the 8-by-38-foot covered rear porch. There is also a 4-by-20-foot covered front porch.

The exterior has been finished in pink frost antique mission brick, and there are many distinctive interior custom features. Overlooking the lake are picture windows in both the family room and the kitchen.

Roof Provides Color Key

A house is built from the foundation up, but it should get its exterior scheme color from the roof down, color stylists say. Asphalt shingles, which come in many colors, including solids, blends, deep tones and pastels, give many color consultants a "key" from which to plan harmonizing colors on the rest of the house.

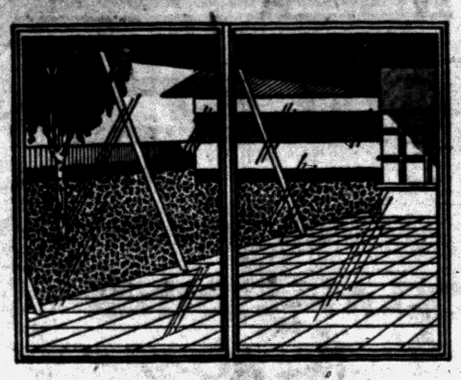

Calk on Clean Surface

Calking, whenever possible, should be done on a warm, dry day. If this is not practical, the compound can be made more workable by warming the container just before use. In order for the compound to make an effective bond, all loose materials . . . wood chips, bits of masonry, peeling paint, old calking compound, etc. . . must be removed from the opening.

Anyone Can Put Insulating Batts in Own Home

Practically any home handy-man (or woman) can install mineral wool insulation, but proper installation is important to get its full heat-stopping value.

Here are step-by-step rules for installing batts of blankets of mineral wool in ceilings and walls:

1. Cut the insulation slightly larger than the space it is to fill leaving a flange of vapor barrier at each end.

2. Wedge the insulation tightly between joist, stud, or rafter, permitting the vapor barrier flange to overlap the wood framing member at the end of the space.

3. Staple or nail the flange to the wood at the end of the space, and every six inches along the facing side of the joist, rafter or stud.

4. Butt the next batt or blanket tightly against the end of the first one.

Open Planning Turns Kitchen Into Showplace

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE

The welcome theme of this architect-designed House of the Week is "open planning," a concept of space arrangement responsible for turning the once ugly-duckling kitchen into a showplace.

In this plan, designated X-19 in the specially-selected House of the Week series, the kitchen is no longer just an area for the preparation of food. It becomes an attractive family center and an integral part of the living area.

There is solid reason for the rapidly-growing popularity throughout America of open-planned kitchens, of which this is an outstanding example.

They simplify housekeeping. They lower the cost of new home construction. And they reflect the spirit of family living and casual entertaining so dominant in today's homes.

Open-planned kitchens have been described by designers as "one of the most desirable areas in the home." Such a kitchen generally has no wall partition between it and the dining or living areas, although low dividers are retained to provide separation between the cooking area and the area where food is served.

WOOD PANELED DIVIDERS

In design X-19, Architect Herman H. York has placed the separating walls between the kitchen and foyer, and between the kitchen and living room, at wainscot height. They are paneled in wood, and have divider columns of wood, equally spaced along the angular wall area.

This arrangement permits more light and air in the kitchen; it also gives the housewife a view of the rear gardens through the window-walled living room from the vantage point of the front-located kitchen.

The wainscot paneled wall section in the living room has built-in book cabinets five feet above floor level. The floor-to-ceiling separating wall between the living and dining rooms joins the wainscot wall section and is paneled in matching wood.

The rear garden area includes a children's play area, and a lounging dining terrace with outdoor grille. The formal dining room has an eight-foot, floor-length bow window which overlooks the garden area.

The 23-foot-long recreation room, two steps below the dining room level, is window walled at the rear. The recreation room also has a fireplace which extends into the outdoor grille.

A SERVICE VESTIBULE

Ample table space is provided within the kitchen area; and just to the right, two steps down, is a handy vestibule or service hall. This vestibule gives access from the recreation room to the garage, to the basement stairway, a lavatory and the dinette-kitchen area.

The dining space within the kitchen is windowed and separated from the working area by a cook-top island.

The three bedrooms and two baths are reached through a hall off the entrance foyer. The master bedroom, 12 by 15 feet, has twin sliding door closets, built-in shelving and a private bath with vanity and stall shower.

All bedrooms are cross ventilated. The hall bath has a five-foot plastic top vanity and make-up table and a similar-sized, mirrored medicine cabinet.

Throughout the house there is a total of more than 28 linear feet of coat-hanging closets.

A full basement under the living areas has space for laundry and heating facilities. The recreation room is designed for slab construction; it is connected to the outside dining terrace by a door.

All exterior walls are of brick veneer. There are vertical boards on the front gable over the garage.

Caveman Instinct Back of Yen for Basements?

During World War II when material was short, many homes were built on concrete slabs without basements. Now the trend is toward basements, reports the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, and not because of man's caveman ancestry.

The lumbermen say families, especially the men of the family, need additional storage, and basement space costs one third as much as rooms above ground. In addition, when homes have basements, the upstairs floors are wood which is easier on the feet than concrete slab.

Use a cellulose sponge to apply stain.

Grout Lines Turn Gray

Most grout lines (cement between ceramic tiles) naturally turn gray with age. Why worry about it too much? There's a difference between dirty joints and age-gray joints. But if your grout lines do become excessively dirty from lack of care, try bleaching them. An ordinary hair bleach will do. Swab it on, let it set for a while, and then flush it off. It will do a good job.

Enamel Needs Undercoat

New wood that is to be enameled should first have an enamel undercoater applied to its surface. Fill with putty all cracks and nail-head indentations. Level the surface as you work, so you'll have the minimum of sanding to do after the putty is dry. Flow the enamel on from the tip of your brush.

List Strongest Woods

For most structural uses, like beams, columns and trusses, wood is considered stronger pound for pound than structural steel. Among the strongest commercial woods for their weight which are produced in this country, Douglas fir, west coast hemlock and Sitka spruce rate well up the scale.

Hometown Product Makes Going Rough for Lions

Ninowski's Arm Sparks All-Stars to 35-19 Upset

Ex-MSU Quarterback Pitches Two TD Aerials Against Pro Champs

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

CHICAGO—"Any defeat is hard to take," said coach George Wilson, but the 35-19 humiliation suffered at the hands of the College All-Stars last night at Soldier's Field was especially bitter in view of the fact that a hometown product added salt to the wound.

Jim Ninowski, former Michigan State quarterback who prepped at Pershing High School in Detroit, was brilliant, and he played so well under a coach whose shoes he may have to fill with the Cleveland Browns.

All-Star coach Otto Graham praised the classy quarterback who may turn out to be his successor at Cleveland. "Jim was great, and I'm sure Paul Brown was very happy with what he saw," said Graham.

Ninowski, the 4th draft choice of the Browns, relieved starter King Hill of Rice in the second period and he put on an aerial display which pulverized the Lion secondary.

He completed seven straight passes and finished with 13 of 17 including two touchdown aerials to speedster Bobby Mitchell of Illinois.

The All-Stars intercepted five Detroit passes, four of which led directly to scores after the Stars took possession. The 5th interception was by bulky guard Charles Howley of West Virginia who went 29 yards for the TD in the last quarter.

The Lions held the ball for most of the first period with Rote starting at quarterback and in 11 plays they marched 80 yards for the score with Jim Doran taking a 24-yard aerial. Layne converted.

The Stars actually had the ball only three minutes in the opening quarter, but after the Lions' defensive wall pushed the Collegians from the two back to the 11 in three plays, Bobby Conrad of Texas A&M booted a field goal to make it 7-3.

Conrad proceeded to kick a total of four field goals in the game for a new All-Star team record plus a 44-yarder which was also a new mark for distance.

Detroit was on the move in the second quarter but holding and clipping penalties forced the Lions back each time and Yale Lary had to kick.

Ninowski made his appearance after the Stars got control with nine minutes to play in the second quarter and the ball on his own 16.

He threw a short flat pass to Mitchell who was hit by both Jimmy David and Jack Christiansen oh the 25 and 30 yard lines, but the elusive back hugged the sidelines and went 84 yards to score.

Conrad's point made it 10-7 and the Stars never lost the lead.

Layne's attempted screen pass bounced off the arms of a Lion player and the Stars intercepted and started another march from their 27. Ninowski hit Mitchell with a 30-yard aerial on one play and climaxed the march six plays later by hitting Mitchell again with a 17-yard touchdown.

Layne again had one of his passes intercepted immediately afterward and Ninowski set the stage for Conrad's 44-yard field goal by passing to end Jim Gibbons on the Lions' 35-yard line. The half ended 20-7 for the Stars.

Everyone expected the Lions to make one of their famous second half comebacks which happened so often in the NFL title race last season but it never materialized.

It was Detroit's own draft who put a stopper on any drives right from the start. Tackle Alex Karras broke through to smear Rote in the end zone and give the Stars a safety to increase the lead to 22-7.

The Lions scored immediately afterward to make it 22-13 following David's interception and a drive which went 61 yards in 11 plays and a 9-yard score by Gene Gedman. Layne's point try was blocked. He had kicked 58 straight prior to this.

The tide may have turned a moment later when David again intercepted a pass. He got to the 40 yard line but Christiansen was detected clipping and the penalty forced the Lions back to their own 16.

Two plays later rookie Danny Lewis fumbled and the Stars took over on the 35. Conrad booted a field goal just as the 4th period started to make it 25-13.

Conrad's 4th field goal and Howley's interception ended the All-Star scoring, while the Lions managed to hit pay dirt in the last 30 seconds to make it 35-19 with Ralph Pfiefer going one yard. Layne's point again was blocked.

Bolling Not Enough

Maris smashed his 21st home run and a couple of singles for good measure against Detroit last night in a game that saw the Tigers take a 12-5 licking and drop into fourth place in the American League standings.

Four Detroit pitchers tried to bring the Athletics under control, but to no avail. And Tiger second baseman Frank Bolling did his singlehanded best to save the game by driving in all five runs for Detroit, but that wasn't enough either.

Maris got his homer in the third inning after Bill Tuttle slammed out a triple. Before the Athletics were through, they had scored four runs and knocked starter Billy Hoeft out of the box.

In the first half of that inning, Bolling sent the Tigers out in front momentarily by hitting the first pitch over the left field wall and scoring Reno Bertoia and Al Kaline, who had singled, ahead of him.

The Tigers tied things up in the fifth at 4-all when Bolling drove in Al Kaline with a sacrifice fly. Kaline got on with a walk, which was followed up by a single by Gail Harris.

In their half of the fifth, the Athletics went out in front to stay with three more runs. They came on singles by Maris and Hec Lopez, an error by Harvey Kuenn and a sacrifice fly by Hal Smith.

Detroit's final run was posted in the seventh when Bolling scored Kaline with a single.

But once again Kansas City came back in its half of the inning, chalking up four more tallies, and adding one more for good measure in the eighth.

LA Beats Cards Twice to Gain 1st Division

By United Press International

Those daffy Dodgers are back in the first division today, thanks to one of the neatest jumps since Steve Brodie took his famous flyer from the Brooklyn Bridge.

Only four days ago, the Dodgers were floundering around in the National League cellar, but now they're looking smart and sassy in a fourth-place tie with the Cardinals.

They negotiated the big jump by sweeping a twi-night doubleheader from the Cardinals last night, winning the 11-inning opener, 4-3, and the nightcap, 5-3.

Elmer Valo's pinch single with the bases loaded off Larry Jackson in the 11th inning gave reliever Clem Labine his sixth victory in the opener. Carl Furillo and Don Zimmer homered for Los Angeles while Gene Freese and Ken Boyer connected for St. Louis.

The Dodgers collected only five hits in the nightcap but two of them were homers by starting pitcher Stan Williams and Gil Hodges. Williams had a 5-0 lead, then ran into a Cardinal rally in the fifth that brought in winner Johnny Klippstein from the bullpen. Curt Flood homered for the Cards.

The Milwaukee Braves lengthened their lead to seven games with a 1-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies; Cincinnati snapped Pittsburgh's seven-game winning streak, 6-1, and the Cubs defeated the Giants, 3-1, in 10 innings.

In the American League, the Yankees' lead was sliced to 13½ games when they dropped a 6-2 decision to the Red Sox; Washington defeated Baltimore, 3-1; Kansas City crushed Detroit, 12-5, and Chicago edged Cleveland, 4-3.

Red Sox rookie Ted Bowsfield, developing into something of a thorn for the Yankees, beat them for the second time in five days with a seven-hitter. He held them hitless for 6 1/3 innings in defeating them last Sunday.

Right-hander Vito Valentinetti held the Orioles to five hits in pitching the Senators to their triumph. Bob Boyd's third-inning homer was the only run allowed by Valentinetti, who was traded off earlier this season by Cleveland and Detroit.

Do Themselves Proud at Chicago

Michigan Gridders Get Top Billing in Triumph

CHICAGO—Players from Michigan colleges did themselves proud for the All-Stars last night.

Big All-Star hero and thorn in the side of the Lions was Michigan State quarterback Jim Ninowski, whose passing was hardly short of spectacular.

Other Michigan State players, end Bob Jewett and linebacker Dan Currie, were outstanding for the Stars.

One of the game's most thrilling runs was made by ex-Michigan ace Jimmy Pace who took a screen pass and raced 57 yards to the Detroit three yard line which set up Bobby Conrad's field goal.

Both coaches, George Wilson of the Lions and Otto Graham of the All-Stars, praised the passing of Ninowski and the running of Mitchell and Pace after getting the ball as receivers.

"We knew this was a very good All-Star team," said Wilson, "and after they got keyed up we couldn't stop them."

"It's hard to make a pro team realize that these boys aren't kids, but players who are going into pro ranks," added Wilson.

Commenting on the two placements attempted by Bobby Layne which were blocked, Wilson said, "I can't remember two kicks by the Lions which were ever blocked."

Wilson did not offer it as a reason, but it was noted that Jimmy David has been holding the ball for Layne and not Tobin Rote as in the past, and David may not be getting the ball in position fast enough.

The Lions returned to Cranbrook this morning and will continue only once-daily drills getting ready for the game with the Browns next Friday night at Briggs Stadium.

Jets Move On to Title Test

Pontiac Jets moved along to the city Class A baseball championship test, Friday, with a resounding 11-2 win over an out-gunned CIO No. 594 club. The lop-sided victory qualified Jets for a crack at Shaw's Jewelery club in the windup series of best-in- three games.

In Class B, the issue was delayed one day, when Talbott Lumber threw a surprise defeat at Pontiac Business Institute, 11-7. The PBI had chalked up a 12-9 win in the series opener, Thursday, but fell victim to a 10-run 5th frame blast by the Lumberman, in last night's scrap. The clubs meet Sunday to settle the argument.

Softball Playoffs Resume Today

3 Local Teams Keep Going

Lakeland Pharmacy from the Waterford League survived its opening test and the Pontiac Police of the City League managed to stay alive as the district Class C softball tournament got under way last night at Beaudette and North Side parks.

Spencer Floor Covering, behind the dazzling no-hit pitching of Jack Nelson, advanced to the finals of the Class D district tourney with a 5-0 victory over Howell yesterday at Drayton Plains.

The Lakeland team moved up a notch with an 8-0 rout of Highland Park as Ed Miller pitched a nifty two-hit shutout and Jim Neal slammed a home run. Lakeland meets Southfield today at 5 o'clock on the North Side diamond.

It was hard sledding for the Policemen in their 1st game, an 18-2 shellacking by Mt. Clemens. The winner's Bob Brice and Bob Emery of the Police each homered and the Mt. Clemens outfit assaulted hurler Elmo (Smoky) Burgess for 14 hits.

The Police bounced back to keep their hopes alive in the double-knockout event by eliminating Royal Oak in convincing fashion, 18-6, with a 11-hit attack.

Mt. Clemens, Howell, Lakeland and Southfield in the winner's bracket and the Police and Highland Park in the loser's bracket resume action today on the two city diamonds.

Nelson struck out eight batters and walked two in his no-hit masterpiece for Spencer and the Howell club had only three baserunners. Chuck Kirken, Al Crawford, Jim Devine and Dick Vore made two hits apiece for the winners.

Howell and the Pontiac Post Office meet tonight at Drayton Plains at 8 o'clock with the winner facing Spencer Sunday evening at 7 for the Class D title.

Other scores yesterday in the Class C tourney here were: Howell 5, Royal Oak 4; Southfield 3, St. Clair 2; Highland Park 4, St. Clair 1. Royal Oak and St. Clair have now been eliminated.

The Policemen will face the Mt. Clemens-Howell loser today at 7 p.m. on the North Side field. CIO Local 594 and Drayton Drug, both once-beaten, try to stay alive tonight in Class B district action at Mt. Clemens.

Jaycee Sunday Softball

Chief Pontiac Bar will play two foes Sunday afternoon in a city doubleheader softball attraction at Jaycee Park's No. 2 diamond. Fowler's Bar is the opponent in the 1 o'clock opener, then Capac furnishes the opposition at 3 p.m.

HE'S THE BOY—He never attempted a field goal in his college football career. So in the All-Star game last night, Bobby Joe Conrad of Texas A & M kicked four field goals and three extra points during a 35-19 victory over the Detroit Lions. Conrad is pictured here celebrating in the dressing room after the game.

Thinks Boy, 16, Represents Evil World

Ex-Mental Patient Fires at Visiting Son

MIDDLETON, Ohio (AP) — A former mental patient greeted his visiting son with rifle fire, thinking the boy represented an evil world. Then he fought off 40police until a tank-like National Guard vehicle drove him from his tarpaper shack and he fell with a bullet in the leg.

The man, identified as Clinton Sharp, 47, was hospitalized at Caldwell, some five miles south of here. Also hospitalized was Caldwell Det. George Sweet, wounded in the leg by a ricochet from one of Sharp's bullets.

Sheriff Dale Haile of Canyon County said Sharp's first shots were at a car arriving with his son Denny, 15. He said Sharp wrote his estranged wife, Lavena, in Tacoma, Wash., a few days ago, asking her to send the boy for a visit. The boy's aunt drove him here while starting on a trip.

A neighbor, James Stephens, said he didn't think Sharp knew his son was in the car. "He was just tickled to death to have the boy coming." The boy was promptly driven away after the shooting and placed on a bus to Tacoma.

Sharp, a recluse and ex-miner, had lived in the shack north of here since 1954, when he was conditionally released from a state mental hospital. He was discharged as cured in 1956.

"He thought we were evil," said Haile, "thought everybody was evil, I guess. He had knocked all the windows out of his house. They were symbols of evil to him."

"He ran out and emptied his gun at us," the sheriff said. "Then he ran back in. We went around the other side and pushed the house off its foundation. He ran out, went down in a ditch and fired on two deputies. Then he went down toward another farm house.

"That's when he got shot in the leg. There was a boy down there doing some chores. We didn't know what might happen, and we just couldn't take the risk."

Amherst Plans Freshmen Tests During Summer

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI)— Incoming freshmen at the University of Massachusetts will get individual help this summer in selecting classes for the fall term.

A series of summer counseling and testing programs for the freshmen will continue through Aug. 14. Freshmen will visit the campus in groups of 200 for a two-and-a-half-day program of aptitude and achievement tests and conferences with faculty counselors.

This is a departure from other years when the testing was done during the first week of the fall term. Provost Shannon McCune said "too often the freshman is lost in the whirl of activities during the fall orientation week. We feel we can accomplish the important goals of course selection and testing thiis summer during a relatively quiet and informal atmosphere.

"One of our primary aims will be to offer individualized attention to the student, identify the superior student, and properly place all in classes at their level of achievement."

Toastmasters Seek to Better Themselves

PITTSBURGH (AP) — After-dinner speaking always has its problems, but before an audience of speakers the speaker had better do well—or else.

That situation has been frequent in Pittsburgh this week at the Toastmasters International 28th annual convention. It features impromptu, extemporaneous and after-dinner speeches, plus several speech contests.

The Toastmasters was organized in 1924 by Dr. Ralph C. Smedley of Santa Ana, Calif., as a local club to encourage businessmen to learn to talk.

Now there are clubs in 48 states and eight foreign countries. As Dr. Walter Steigleman of Iowa City, Iowa, put it.

"The Toastmasters help a man —any man—get up and speak. It also teaches him how to listen. After a while with the group, members begin to tell the difference between a good and bad speech with hardly a thought."

"It is one of the few organizations which does not sponsor anything and is not out to make money," said Dr. Steigleman, a newly elected board member. "It is a self-improvement, adult-education group."

Toastmasters help each other. No outsiders are consulted. Posture, the way a speaker gestures, his delivery, are closely observed by critical member listeners.

Local, district, area and zone meetings are all conducted in the same manner. A program committee lines up three or four speakers for prepared talks. Other members may then be called upon for extemporaneous talks.

The Point Made Is Self-Evident: She Can Strip

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Lili St. Cyr, stripteuse stripped of her right to strip in Bakersfield because of a church group's protests, had it restored yesterday—through intervention of another church.

Lili originally was booked for two weeks at a night club.

The Knights of Columbus protested. They they relented to the extent of a three-day stand, to permit the club to make expenses of advertising.

Yesterday, an Episcopal church group said no one church has the right to appoint itself as a censor.

The K. of C. reconsidered again — and withdrew its objection.

Saginaw Judge Pays His Fine

Huff Decides He Will Not Appeal Contempt Citation of May 16

SAGINAW (AP) — Saginaw County Circuit Judge Eugene S. Huff said today he has paid a $250 contempt fine imposed by the Michigan Supreme Court last May.

Judge Huff said he sent the money to Lansing Thursdday after a last minute decision not to appeal the contempt citation to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The State Supreme Court found Judge Huff in contempt May 16 when he refused to obey a court order to go to the Wayne County Circuit Court bench for a month. The State Supreme Court imposed the fine but did not give an alternative of a jail term.

Judge Huff said legal advisors informed him the U.S. Supreme Court probably would not hear an appeal since there was no alternative sentence involved. He said the 90-day appeal period expired Thursday.

The state court ordered Huff to Wayne County and assigned Circuit Judge Timothy C. Quinn of Caro to take his post on the Saginaw circuit bench.

At that time, Judge Huff said he felt the persons who elected him had the right to have him try their cases.

After his contempt citation, Huff again was ordered to the Wayne circuit and went May 19.

In his statement announcing payment of the fine, Judge Huff again argued it was the first duty of a judge to serve the people of his own circuit.

More Than 150 in State Open

FLINT (AP)—Former PGA champion Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills will defend his Michigan Open golf title against a field of more than 150 challengers at the Atlas Valley Golf and Country Club in suburban Grand Blanc next weekend.

About 75 of the state's top pros and amateurs qualified automatically for the Open by reason of their performance in past Opens or other major tournaments or because of their staus as PGA pros.

Another 75 places will be at stake in a qualifying round Monday over the 6,400-yard, par 72 Atlas course which is rated one of the toughest courses in the state. Trees border many of the fairways and a small creek offers an additional hazard on four fairways.

The 150 golfers will tee off in 18-hole rounds Friday and Saturday. The low 60 at the end of 2 rounds will vie for the championship in a 36-hole round Sunday.

Several former Michigan Open winners will be in the field, including Chick Harbert of Meadowbrook, Al Watrous of Oakland Hills and Mike Dietz of Indianwood.

MSU Students Test Old Adage

Health Records to Tell: Does an Apple a Day Keep Doctor Away?

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Besides having a life-long appetite for apples, Dr. Eugene Lucas has a healthy scientific curiosity.

As an apple fan and horticulturist at Michigan State University, he firmly approves of the old saying that "an apple a day keeps the doctor away."

But is that old saw really true? And if it is, just how far away does the doctor stay?

Dr. Lucas hopes to have scientific answers in another two years. He has passed the midway mark in a four-year experiment that has 500 students eating not one but two apples a day.

Their health is being compared against a test group of 500 non-apple-eating students and against the health of the entire student body.

Lucas explains that there is a theoretical advantage in eating an apple a day. The fruit contains pectins, jelly-like chemicals that apparently absorb toxic materials in the digestive tract. They also contain minerals and organic acids that in laboratory tests have been shown to help regulate cell growth.

"It would be irresponsible to talk about what little we know now," he said. "But there is one thing we can positively state at this point. The apples haven't done them any harm."

The university hospital is keeping score on whether the apple-eaters or the non-apple-eaters report in with more of such common illness as colds, throat infections, skin disorders and stomach upsets.

The students are as enthusiastic as their sponsor about the experiment. The apples are delivered to dormitories weekly in individually-packed bags. So the students take part in the test won't give the apples away, their roommates also are supplied with free apples.

The National Apple Institute, naturally interested in promoting eating of more apples, is footing the bill for the supply.

Top Dice Maker Never Uses His Product in Home

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—The wife of the man who's the nation's largest manufacturer of galloping dominoes says she doesn't have a pair of dice in the house.

"But I think I could use them if need be," says Mrs. Morris Baruch, "I really do."

Mrs. Baruch, whose husband is president of the Elkloid Co.—a 35-year-old plastic specialties concern—says that the rolling bones are "strictly a business with us—we don't play with them at all."

Elkloid sold around eight million of the dancing cubes last year. The firm's biggest buyers are game manufacturing companies. The dice sold to these firms are made of plastic and are true cubes within about ten ten-thousandths of an inch.

"We don't make perfect dice," Mrs. Baruch says, "not the trued-up dice a gambler would use. These would have to be hand-tooled to within one ten-thousandth of an inch. Of course the dice we make could be used for gambling purposes. I'd say they'd be appropriate for the 'back of the barn' type of carp shooting."

Mrs. Baruch says that Chicago and the West Coast are big buyers of dice with inlaid colored spots—while other groups want dice that roll seven and eleven all the time . . . for advertising purposes.

Figures Released on Jobs in Area

There was an employment increase of 400 in the non-manufacturing jobs in the Pontiac area between mid-June and July 15, according to the Michigan Employment Security Commission's Pontiac branch.

Gains of 100 each were made in four categories — service, retail trade, construction and government, the MESC said.

At the same time, manufacturing employment dropped by 700, including a reduction of 600 in motor vehicle plants and 100 in the machine industry, the MESC said.

The MESC predicted manufacturing employment will continue to decline until the annual model changeover is completed in motor vehicle plants. Then a sharp upsurge is expected.

Unemployment at mid-July was estimated at 15,500, or 18.9 per cent of the total labor force. Unemployment was up 500 from June and 9,800 from a year ago.

During July, the Pontiac branch office unemployment insurance payments totalled $1,880,899, compared with $1,553,803 in June and $461,094 a year ago. There were 1,020 claims exhausted last month, putting the total this year at 3,889.

New Shopping Center to Open Wednesday

The five records are of the 12-inch, long-playing variety and consist of lectures with musical illustrations. They were compiled by John A. Lomax, former Honorary Curator of the Archive of American Folk Song at the Library.

Singers include Lead Belly, Clear Rock, Kelly Pace, Captain Pearl Nye, Dock Rood, Vera Hall and many others.

The recordings have been available in libraries, schools and radio stations, but this is the first time they have been issued for sale to individual collectors. This was made possible by a grant to the library from the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

Painting Appears Psychiatric Aid in VA Hospitals

CHICAGO (UPI) — Art has become a valuable psychiatric help in several Illinois Veterans Administration hospitals.

Hospitals at Downey, Danville, and Hines say they have found painting an aid in treatment of mental patients. Doctors feel a few hours with the paint brush gives patients a means of self-expression, with consequent release from built-up tensions.

The finished work is studied not only from an artistic point of view, but also in the search for what is going on in the patient's mind.

About 100 patients have benefitted from the art clinics. The studios resemble easy-going, pleasant hobby rooms where the patient can relax and draw or paint when he wishes. The patients are allowed to choose their own subjects, styles of painting, and colors. Instructors are on hand to help and encourage them.

Rowan, Martin Gained Success the Hard Way

By EARL WILSON

WILSON

"Three years ago I was living in a cheap hotel room in New York with a two-burner hot plate," Rowan said.

"I'd buy a dozen franks, carrots, potatoes, anything I could boil.

"We knew one thing," mentioned Martin. "If you go into a bar where there's a show and give the bartender a $1 tip, he won't bug you about buying anything more. I knew that," he added, "because I'd worked as a bartender at all the better joints and some of the worst ones."

And now, of course, Dinah's exclaiming about them, and they're co-starred in a movie, "Once Upon a Horse," produced by Hal Kanter, who has said, "They are devout followers of Spinoza and girls."

Finally making it to the Club Elegante in Brooklyn and later to the Copacabana, they found all the famous comedians helpful.

"Milton Berle, Jack E. Leonard, Buddy Lester, all gave us jokes," Martin said. Hal March gave us a whole notebook. One of them was about a man who lived to be 102. How did he account for that? 'Toadstools,' he said . . . 'Toadstools!' . . . The old man said 'Yeah, toadstools. I never ate 'em.' "

"We don't want to be the darlings of the Society Set," Rowan says. "We'd rather appeal to the Bible Belt and the Corn Belt. There are so many more of them."

ROWAN and MARTIN

Their best chunk of material, seen a few times on TV, is the drunken heckler bit, wherein Dick—with a glass of beer as a prop—ruins a Shakespearean offering by "Sir Laurence Olivier." This they developed themselves.

Rowan, a New Yorker, who says, "I was born on my way here," claims on thinking it over that his birthplace was a tanktown in Oklahoma and that he attended the University of Missouri and was briefly an actor. Dick's from Detroit.

"DON'T PRINT THAT!": One of the very handsome male movie stars, much beloved, is concealing his serious illness . . . The cafe that was most famous in all the world 10 years ago didn't have one cab out front the other midnight.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Taxes will probably reach the moon before our missiles do."—the Major of Major's Cabin . . . That's earl, brother.

Instruments Detect 2 Separate Quakes

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Two separate earthquakes, one possibly in Siberia and the other in the vicinity of the East Indies, were recorded today on instruments at California Institute of Technology.

Dr. Charles Richter said the Richter scale showed the earthquakes to be "moderately strong in intensity."

The first shock was in two waves, at 1:05.35 and 1:13.35 p.m. (PDT), of 6.8 magnitude, probably about 4,000 miles to the northwest. That would place the shock in the Siberia area.

A second earthquake, recorded at 4:03 p.m., was approximately 7,600 miles west of here and registered 6.7 on the Richter scale. Dr. Richter said this was probably in the vicinity of the East Indies.

He said both earthquakes registered under what is regarded as major shocks.

Sheree North to Wed

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Sheree North says she will marry a Los Angeles psychoanalyst, Dr. Gerhardt Sommer. They will set the date when "we find the right house," the 26-year-old actress said. Miss North formerly was married to architect Fred Bessire and recording executive John (Bud) Freeman.

Andy Williams Success Subbing for Pat Boone

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—"If you have a really good television show, you'll get an audience," says Andy Williams.

"It doesn't matter what night your show is, or what time or what network or whether you form your own network."

Well, Williams has a good show as the summer replacement for Pat Boone and the mail indicates he's attracting a large audience of all ages.

The Williams Show has a relatively low budget. It doesn't operate on the theory that it needs big name guest stars to hold its audience. In Williams' words, "We mainly just try to do good songs, standard songs that people enjoy."

Williams has the low-keyed manner of Perry Como and he doesn't dish the hokum some performers seem to think is the substance of an interview.

Example: You grow mighty weary of hearing performers complain about the weekly grind of a TV show. But Williams refreshingly remarks:

"I'm lazy, and you don't have to work too hard in television. You have to think hard. That is, you must concentrate on absolute sincerity when you're singing a song. Because that close-up camera never lies.

"The television audience is smart. It knows immediately whether you believe in what you're doing or whether you're faking it—and when you fake you're dead."

About five years ago a quartet Williams was singing in broke up and he went it alone. He hit with recordings and then became a featured singer for 2½ years with Steve Allen.

"In a television show," says Williams, "you seldom know how well it's going. You're working to an inanimate thing. Cameras and directors do half the work for you. Sometimes the less you do the better. Sometimes it seems to me I'm just standing there doing nothing. Then I see the kinescope afterwards and realize a lot has been happening. Other people have been working for me."

It's No Trouble at All

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Henning Jorgensen, 17, jumped ship in Savannah, Ga., but the Immigration Service didn't have any trouble getting him back aboard the vessel. Jorgensen hitchhiked his way to Houston where he was picked up by Immigration Investigator Wayne Payne on the day the the Anita Dan, docked at Houston.
