No Break at Paris on Bombing Pause

From Our News Wires

PARIS — U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators failed today to reach agreement on conditions for a bombing pause. But U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman said — and then denied — they would meet again tomorrow.

Harriman told newsmen after emerging from the 27th publicly announced meeting at the former Majestic Hotel: "We have adjourned our meeting and we are going to meet again tomorrow." It would have been an unprecedented special session.

But the chief North Vietnamese delegate, Xuan Thuy, said just minutes later that the next meeting would not be held until next Wednesday — apparently meaning a week's delay in the Hanoi reply to Washington peace efforts.

When Harriman got back to the U.S. Embassy, just a mile away from the Majestic, he said the next meeting was scheduled for Wednesday.

SECRET MEETINGS?

There have been persistent reports lately that Harriman and Thuy have been meeting secretly.

At today's meeting Harriman told the Hanoi representatives Washington was ready to move quickly toward peace.

"It is time for you to act," he said. "The choice is yours."

It was possible the delegation had not yet received the official North Vietnam government reaction to President Johnson's peace offensive and that the reply could come tomorrow. It had been expected today and Washington was hopeful of announcing a bombing halt during the day.

SOVIET INTERVENTION?

High diplomatic sources in London said the Soviet Union had intervened to transmit the U.S. proposals to Hanoi and that the North Vietnamese government "means business."

Another sign of developments in the search for peace came from Saigon where U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker met today with President Nguyen Van Thieu for the second time in two days and the sixth time since last Wednesday.

At today's session, Harriman reaffirmed American backing for the Saigon government of Thieu while Thuy once again demanded U.S. recognition of, and negotiations with, the Vietcong's National Liberation Front.

Apollo Trio Flies to Cape

ABOARD USS ESSEX (AP) — The Apollo 7 space trio, well-fed and rested after 24 hours on the carrier Essex, flew toward Florida today to relive for experts their 11-day, 4½ million mile saga in space.

They left the carrier at 8:30 a.m. EDT for Cape Kennedy in two planes. After a short welcoming ceremony there, they were to go into a long series of de-briefings.

★ ★ ★

From their answers and data gathered by the spacecraft, the space agency hopes to determine whether the next manned space shot can take men safely in a circle around the moon. The decision on whether the Apollo 8 flight will be another earth orbit or circumlunar is expected in November.

For Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian Walter Cunningham, the next few weeks will be a continuous round of medical examinations, de-briefings and reports.

'PERFECT MISSION'

The Apollo 7 crew splashed down at 7:12 a.m. EDT yesterday in the Atlantic southeast of Bermuda. Officials called the Apollo 7 flight "a perfect mission."

After the three men were brought aboard the Essex Dr. William Carpentier, the recovery team chief physician, said a medical examination showed all three men "essentially normal — no problems." He said the men showed no sign of mental strain, no irritation. "Quite the opposite," Carpentier said.

★ ★ ★

Eisele had some residual infection, but otherwise there was no evidence of the colds that plagued all three astronauts during the flight and caused so much worry for their re-entry. The men came out of orbit without their helmets to permit them to hold their noses, blow and equalize the atmospheric pressure on their ears.

WALKED STIFFLY

Like most other spacemen on the 16 previous American flights, the Apollo 7 trio walked stiffly after the long confinement.

Varner Outlines OU Fund Plea

An expected enrollment increase of 900 students at Oakland University next fall is a major reason for the university's planned budget hike of nearly $3 million over the current year, according to Chancellor Durwod B. Varner.

OU's general fund budget of nearly $10.4 million for fiscal 1969-70 provides for a predicted enrollment of 5,828 next fall.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan State University Board of Trustees, which governs OU, has approved the proposed OU budget and sent it to the State Budget Office.

The budget office then recommends a figure to the governor, who then makes recommendations to the legislature for consideration. The legislature then decides the budget.

FACULTY SALARIES

Major areas of the proposed increase are $864,000 to provide salaries for 72 additional faculty members and $411,566 for a suggested salary increase of 7 per cent for all faculty and staff.

The proposed budget also requests $191,740 in additional funds for urban extension services and other help for disadvantaged students.

★ ★ ★

Varner notes that $50,000 was funded this year to establish the urban affairs center in Pontiac. Called the Pontiac

Hubert's Campaign Gets Shot in the Arm

By United Press International

Despite the stepped up tempo, Hubert H. Humphrey found the going easier as he entered the stretch drive of his presidential campaign.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey had a rare day of unblemished campaigning yesterday in Texas, bringing together warring Democrats, drawing mammoth crowds and winning a hug from Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

In Fort Worth, Waco and Dallas, Humphrey pointed to Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Gov. John Connally together on the platform behind him, an event Humphrey said demonstrated his ability to unite diverse elements. The two Democrats represent hostile factions of the party.

DROPPED IN

The first lady literally dropped in on the Humphrey campaign at Dallas. She embraced Humphrey and told the crowd she was flying over when she saw the gathering and her pilot told her it was a Humphrey rally. She asked to stop so that she might pass on her best wishes.

Related Stories, Pages B-15, C-10

Renewing the debate issue in his talks, Humphrey said of Richard M. Nixon: "I know where he sits, I want to know where he stands. The last time a Republican ever did anything for the South, his name was Sherman and he marched through Georgia."

WHISTLE-STOP TOUR

Nixon meantime rolled through Ohio on an old-fashioned whistle-stop tour partly marred by heckling. Scores of protesters were among good-sized crowds greeting the GOP candidate.

The former vice president also stopped off in Saginaw, Mich.

American Independent party candidate George C. Wallace for the second straight day was the target of concentrated heckling as he campaigned in Wisconsin at Oshkosh.

A nationwide telephone poll of 2,414 adults conducted by Sindlinger & Co. reported 38.1 per cent for Nixon, 31.0 per cent for Humphrey, 10.4 per cent for Wallace, 19.6 per cent undecided and 0.9 per cent for other candidates.

THE BETTER TO SEE THE NOMINEE — Youths climb up on a railroad crossing signal in London, Ohio, yesterday to get a better view of Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon. The former vice president, making his first train trip of the campaign, stopped in nine Ohio communities before heading to Michigan.

Board Decision on Site Crucial

(Last of Two Articles)

By BOB WISLER

The Pontiac School Board is heading toward one of its biggest decisions in years. Where should the school district's planned super high school—an education complex of three high schools for 4,500 students—be located?

The decision has been hanging over the school board like Damocles' sword for more than a year. As time has elapsed, the pressure to build has increased.

★ ★ ★

Because of this pressure, the board had in the beginning of the year tentatively adopted a site on the Pontiac State Hospital grounds.

However, in recent weeks a new site has been proposed — a 45-to-65-acre site centered at Orchard Lake Avenue and Bagley.

OUT ON A LIMB?

Some think the school board may be out on a limb. The leaders of the 90-member citizens finance study council have said the board is committed to the hospital site.

★ ★ ★

But there are a number of persons who believe the school board would err if it chose to go along with the state hospital site, especially the professional planners who are involved in school district and city planning decisions.

In fact, it's unlikely the central city site would be receiving any consideration now if it were not for the collective opinion of a number of planners that the school district was about to pass up a golden opportunity to help renovate the city socially, economically and physically.

★ ★ ★

The planners provided the impetus for a more thorough evaluation and the idea was taken up quickly by the Pontiac Area Planning Council (PAPC), an advisory board created by the school district and the Pontiac City Commission.

Sunny, Cool Due; Showers Possible

Sunshine and a chance of a few showers is the outlook for the Pontiac area late today, tonight and tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

The weatherman forecasts cooler temperatures with a low tonight of 38 to 42. The high is expected to be in the 50s tomorrow.

Fair and cool with little temperature change is Friday's prediction.

Today's west-to-southwesterly winds at 10 to 20 miles per hour will diminish to eight to 16 miles tonight.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: Today 30, tonight 30, and tomorrow 30.

A brisk 42 was the low thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. Today the 2 p.m. recording was 53.

Griffin Charges LBJ 'Vendetta'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leader in the Senate fight against President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations says President Johnson has launched a vendetta against him because of his efforts in blocking Abe Fortas' nomination to be chief justice.

"When you stick your neck out and buck the Johnson administration, I guess you have to expect this sort of thing," said Sen. Robert P. Griffin yesterday.

Griffin commented in a statement released by his office after the Post Office Department accused the Michigan Republican of misusing free mail privileges in his 1966 Senate campaign and said it would seek reimbursement of some $25,000.

Griffin, who was on a mid-western speaking trip, called the postal department's demand "political harassment" motivated by the senator's successful leadership of the fight to block Johnson's nomination of his old friend Fortas.

RELATIVE ADVICE

"I've advised my relatives and my staff to double check their income tax returns and fasten their seat belts," Griffin said.

Postmaster Gen. Marvin W. Watson said the problem is a matter for Griffin and his conscience. But he added that he had turned it over to the comptroller general for collection.

The issue centers around a newsletter that Griffin sent to constituents during his 1966 campaign for the Senate.

LBJ to Detroit Today?

DETROIT (AP) — Unusually reliable sources said President Johnson would make a brief visit to Detroit late today. One report had it that he was to speak to the National Association for Retarded Children at the Sheraton Cadillac Hotel.

Indications were that he would not stay overnight.

North Viet Force Smashed Near Da Nang

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marine scouts sighted more than 400 North Vietnamese troops moving through jungled foothills southwest of Da Nang and called in artillery and air strikes that wiped out nearly all of the enemy force, military spokesmen reported today.

The U.S. Command said that the Marine scouts sighted four columns of North Vietnamese totaling about 405 soldiers on the move during the 24 hours before noon today. Four artillery missions and air strikes killed 178 of the enemy troops, a spokesman said.

The enemy soldiers, wearing various uniforms and carrying various types of weapons including rockets and mortars, were spotted in one of the open valleys about 35 miles southwest of Da Nang and only five miles below the embattled Thuong Duc Special Forces camp.

They were headed generally in a north-northeasterly direction, perhaps toward Thuong Duc or even Da Nang, South Vietnam's second-largest city.

2 TOWNS SHELLED

During the same period, enemy gunners slammed 18 mortar rounds into the Thuong Duc district headquarters and a hamlet a mile away. A government spokesman said at least four civilians were killed and 13 others wounded.

★ ★ ★

While the lull in major enemy ground attacks continued in its fourth week, the air war against North Vietnam's southern panhandle continued in full swing yesterday and today despite persistent reports that a halt in the bombing of the North might be ordered.

With a break in the monsoon overcast, American pilots flew 120 missions over the panhandle yesterday.

Reports on today's air strikes won't reach U.S. headquarters in Saigon until tomorrow but military sources said the weather was favorable again.

An Air Force F100 Supersabre fighter-bomber was shot down over South Vietnam 11 miles north of Hue. The pilot bailed out over the South China Sea and a Navy boat rescued him. It was the 314th U.S. warplane downed in combat over South Vietnam.

America's biggest bombers, the Air Force B52s, roared over the southern half of the demilitarized zone 13 miles north of Dong Ha to attack North Vietnamese troop concentrations, bunkers and tunnels. Six of the big bombers dumped 180 tons of explosives on the enemy positions.

★ ★ ★

In other strikes, 18 B52s in three waves dropped 500 tons of explosives on enemy supply depots, bunker complexes and weapons positions about 55 miles southwest of Da Nang.

School Budget Up $950,000; Deficit Tallied

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The school board has approved an $8,479,000 budget for the 1968-69 fiscal year, up $952,000 over last year.

The budget includes payment of a deficit of $600,000 from last year.

In other recent action, the board appointed Mrs. Thomas Kuzma, 3810 Carriage, Bloomfield Township, to replace board member Richard McGraw, who resigned from the board two weeks ago.

Mrs. Kuzma will complete the three-year term which expires in June.

TESTS APPROVED

Approval was given to use of General Education Development (GED) tests to offer high school equivalent diplomas on the request of those meeting requirements.

Diplomas will be given by the Bloomfield Hills School Board to those who pass the GED tests, which determine if an applicant has a general education level equivalent to a high school graduate.

★ ★ ★

The board determined that the diplomas be given only to persons who had attended Bloomfield schools, but had to drop out, according to Superintendent Eugene L. Johnson.

Approval was given upon the recommendation of the schools counselors. In view of possible state action on the GED tests, however, action on a policy setting requirements to determine who is eligible for the tests was delayed.

DADS' RECOMMENDATIONS

A report was heard from the Lahser High School Dads' group on recommendations to improve the athletic field, and to accelerate the site development plans.

The Bloomfield Hills Education Association reported that negotiations with the board will begin with a public hearing Friday at 10 a.m. at the Penobscot Building in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The hearing will concern a grievance against the school board which came during an all-night bargaining session in September, 1967.

Cuban Blast at U.S. Is Expected at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A Cuban attack on the United States and veiled Romanian criticism of the Soviet Union are expected in the U.N. General Assembly when the two Communist states deliver their policy statement.

★ ★ ★

Cuban Ambassador Ricardo Alarcon Quesada was expected to deliver today Cuba's usual blast against U.S. policy in Latin America and the presence of the U.S. Naval base at Guantanamo.

But many diplomats feel the tone of the Cuban statement may be more moderate, reflecting the comparatively restrained tone of Cuban speeches in recent months.

Western observers have noted signs of possible Cuban interest in limited relations with the United States. They believed this is motivated by dissatisfaction among members of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government with the results of excessive economic dependence on the Soviet Union.

MOUNTING TROUBLE

Recently, Cuba has been beset by mounting economic troubles capped by a sharp drop in its sugar harvest, the Castro's regime's main export item.

There also have been signs of internal dissension over the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia.

★ ★ ★

Castro, in a speech shortly after the thrust, backed the Kremlin but openly conceded that many Cubans had reacted strongly against the occupation.

Romania was expected to skirt around the Czechoslovak issue with an oblique statement of disapproval.

★ ★ ★

Diplomats believed Romanian Deputy Foreign Minister Mircea Malitza would follow Yugoslavia's example and express approval of Secretary General U Thant's claim that no nation should interfere in the internal affairs of another.

The Western powers have expressed concern that the Soviet action in Czechoslovakia might be followed by similar moves against Romania and Yugoslavia. Both countries, have shown their independence of Moscow.

NEW DOCTRINE?

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said earlier this month that it is important to determine how far Moscow intends to carry the "new Soviet doctrine" of arbitrating East European affairs.

Western delegates who have talked to Romania say they are apprehensive about the course of Soviet policy.

★ ★ ★

Kidnaper Gets Rape Sentence

Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer today sentenced a 25-year-old Pontiac man to 10 to 20 years in prison for raping a young woman he abducted from the Pontiac Mall shopping center parking lot.

It was the second time in as many days that Laurence S. Moore of 499 W. Huron had received prison sentences for crimes involving women.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday, Moore was ordered imprisoned for 18 to 30 year for kidnaping a Keego Harbor woman from the Mall parking lot.

Today's case involved a 19-year-old sales clerk he held captive for more than 10 hours in April.

★ ★ ★

He was charged with kidnaping and rape in both instances but was allowed to plead guilty to one offense in each case. The other charges are to be dismissed now that he has pleaded guilty.

Both prison terms will be served concurrently.

When he was sentenced yesterday, Moore, married and the father of one child, was told by Circuit Judge William R. Beasley that he will remain in prison until such time as authorities can state with certainty that he is no longer a public menace.

Moore was arrested in Genesee County several hours after he left the 19-year-old Pontiac girl tied to the steering wheel of her car.

'Youth Protests Will Not End'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Yale University President Kingman Brewster Jr. says strident protests resulting from frustrated young idealism will not be silenced even by an end to the Vietnam war.

★ ★ ★

Brewster and Tom Hayden, a protest leader in the stormy antiwar street battles during the Democratic National Convention, were lead-off witnesses today as the President's commission on violence began hearings on demonstration disorders.

★ ★ ★

While saying that a university should work against efforts to obtain revolutionary violence, Brewster said that by the same token it ought "to protect the right to revolutionary talk."

Brewster said violence is rooted in frustration, particularly when the government itself ignores constitutional principles.

'FRUSTRATION GOES DEEP'

Brewster said the frustration of the young goes deeper than Vietnam. "Even the shock of sudden peace will not bring serenity to a troubled generation," he said.

Hayden was asked to appear before the panel after waiting three days without being called to testify earlier this month at a House un-American activities subcommittee probe of the Chicago disorders.

★ ★ ★

Hayden, who has visited North Vietnam and played a role in the release of U.S. prisoners, was a leader in the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam. The group sponsored the convention protests that led to four nights of bloody clashes with Chicago police.

Astronauts Bump Jackie From W. Europe Headlines

LONDON (AP) — The Apollo 7 astronauts took Western Europe's headlines away from Jacqueline and Aristotle Onassis today as newspapers cheered the new American space triumph.

West Germany's Frankfurter Allgemeine looked forward to "colonies in space" and said: "the triumph is now complete . . . Now men will reach for the moon."

"Success for Apollo Flight Clears Way to Moon," said the headline in Stockholm's Dagens Nyheter.

Europeans were delighted by the humanity, humor and occasional irritability of the three American astronauts during their space marathon.

"It was nice to see the granite-jawed spacemen showing human quirks," said London's Daily Mail.

"Captain Walter Schirra got a bad cold, refused to appear on TV once, made bad jokes and shouted down to earth: 'We are not going to accept some crazy testing we never heard of before.'

★ ★ ★

"Let us hope that the first man on the moon will still have the guts to bawl out the boss."

"It was as if they were instinctively reacting against the domination of the machine which governs the course of every space mission," said the London Daily Telegraph.

Another Stockholm newspaper, Svenska Dagbladet, commented: "There can be no doubt that both Washington and Moscow have fitted space flights into a military contest."

4 Youths Mute to Rape Charges

Four Oakland County youths facing rape and kidnap charge in the Sept. 20 abduction of a 19-year-old Pontiac girl and her companion stood mute yesterday at their arraignment in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Bonds totalling $70,000 were continued on Raymond M. Spring, 24, of Orion Township; James L. Davidson, 18, of Oxford; James R. Perna, 18, of Oxford; and Percy Greenwood, 21, of Pontiac.

Bond on Greenwood, charged with rape is $10,000, while the other three, charged with rape and kidnap, are held under $20,000 bond each.

Circuit Judge Philip Pratt set no trial date, but a spokesman for the prosecutor's office said that a trial during the November jury term is likely. The term begins Nov. 18.

VICTIMS ABDUCTED

The defendants are accused of attacks on the girl and her escort, also 19, after the victims were abducted from southern Lapeer County.

Perna and Spring face additional charges in Lapeer County of rape, assault and armed robbery in an alleged prior and related incident the same day.

Conviction on either charge carries a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

Sirhan Defense Loses on Evidence

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defense efforts to suppress material seized in the home of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan failed yesterday.

But Russell E. Parsons, attorney for the man accused of slaying Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, told newsmen afterwards that "Sometimes when a judge rules against you it can be very helpful."

Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker said he was not ruling on the admissibility of the evidence, but only on whether it should be suppressed. He said police had "reasonable authority" to enter the home without a search warrant because one of Sirhan's brothers gave consent.

Among items seized — and marked for identification yesterday — were notebooks that included, according to Mayor Sam Yorty's comment shortly after the assassination, "a direct reference to the necessity to assassinate Sen. Kennedy before June 5, 1968."

Varner Outlines OU Fund Plea

Black Cultural Center, the storefront classroom is expected to officially open soon.

"The funds requested for urban extension and disadvantaged students," will provide $84,340 for expanded support of this activity and $107,400 for the recruitment, counseling and student aid for 50 additional disadvantaged students," Varner said.

$2.5 MILLION MORE

Revenue figures in the budget include a requested state appropriation of nearly $7.6 million, up $2.5 million over the current state support. A large revenue item is an estimated $2.7 million from student fees, up $398,440.

"The appropriation requested for Oakland for 1968-69 operations amounted to $1.9 million (over the previous year's appropriation), which was needed to accommodate an enrollment growth of nearly 20 per cent," Varner said.

"The actual legislative appropriation was only $661,600 and consequently a large portion of urgently needed support could not be provided for the current year's general fund operations.

"Included in the request for 1969-70 is $467,022 to reduce the deficiencies in the Kresge Library and $693,002 to provide for the other needs which were detailed in the 1968-69 budget request and which were unfunded."

POSTS UNFILLED

Because of last year's state appropriation, instructional and administrative positions went unfilled, office and classroom supplies and equipment levels were cut and building maintenance deferred.

OU's state appropriation for 1968-69 amounted to a decrease of $45 per student while all other state universities were increased an average of $62, the chancellor said.

★ ★ ★

Hotel Blaze Kills Four

CHICAGO (AP) — Four persons were killed and 16 were injured, four critically, when fire swept two floors of an apartment-hotel on Chicago's North Side last night.

Firemen said smoke was pouring from the three-story Buena Oaks hotel when they arrived, and residents, many of them elderly, stood in windows of the upper floors calling for help.

Slayer Hunted in State

SAGINAW (UPI) — Police today searched for clues to the slayer of a Saginaw man whose bullet-riddled body was found lying in a ditch beside a railroad track in a rural area.

Coroner William F. Shea said Arnulfo Perez, 20, apparently had been shot with a small-caliber weapon.

His body was found east of the city near a vacant migrant workers camp yesterday by State Police of the Bridgeport post, who received an anonymous telephone tip.

Local Board Facing Crucial Decision on Superschool Site

The decision ultimately will rest with the board of education but there is strong pressure and considerable behind-the-scenes maneuvering. The school board is being pressured to make a decision now. The PAPC has voted to make a recommendation to the school board in 30 to 45 days. The conflict could become severe and could affect the future of the PAPC.

★ ★ ★

The school district, in following a PAPC recommendation made in July, hired David E. Lewis, the Pittsburgh planner, to evaluate other possible sites. His evaluation at this stage shows that the central city site is preferable if the board is to consider the potential benefits to the city of the school construction.

Lewis said as far as technological competence of the buildings is concerned, the schools could be built on either site; both would serve almost equally the purpose of housing an educational complex.

Racial balance should not be a factor in the selection. In either case, the school district plans call for all the students in the western half of the city to go to the new school. There would be the same number of black and white students whether it is built on the central site or at the hospital.

Lewis said walking and driving times differ, but this consideration favors the central site. It would be easier for students in the south end to get to the central site because it is closer to the southern part of the city.

Students in the north are more mobile because of more affluence, he said.

Lewis and others feel that the central city site would have the effect of bridging the color line —which he said extends along Auburn-Orchard Lake Road. It would be a focal point for a meeting of the now de facto racial neighborhood patterns.

The planners feel that the school could be a bulwark in stopping further deterioration in the central city area.

Lewis said a new school can be built in the central area without compromising the educational program. But, he said, implementation of the entire program could delay construction of the school complex by a year, maybe two.

★ ★ ★

"You'll have to take this into your consideration," he told PAPC governors. Many governors feel the delay involved is worth it if the total benefits are considered.

RELATIVELY NEW CONCEPT

The concept is relatively new — using the school construction as a means of fighting social and economic problems, of eliminating slum areas, of providing a weapon to break down the psychological handicaps created by isolated neighborhoods.

One PAPC governor put it this way: "To Negroes it (construction of the schools on the hospital site) may seem like another case of 'Whitey' building his school in his neighborhood for his white kids."

★ ★ ★

Without considering further racial implications, the planners and those involved in city development feel that it makes good planning sense to build the school in the central city area and not on the hospital grounds.

★ ★ ★

Threading throughout the controversy and consideration is the role of the PAPC. Dr. David J. Doherty, PAPC project director, said this could be the council's biggest challenge.

NEED FELT

The planning council was established because city and school district leaders felt there was a definite need for more comprehensive planning; that school district decisions affect the city; that City Commission feelings affect the school district; that some of these decisions should be made not only jointly but in conjunction with the leaders of business, industry, social organizations, etc.

★ ★ ★

The council was seen also as a legitimate forum for those influential and important persons who were loosely termed "the power structure" and who were often accused of making the real decisions behind closed doors.

The PAPC is presently supported by private money, including some $20,000 donated by General Motors.

There has always been some fear that the PAPC would become too powerful, stepping beyond its advisory role. But many PAPC governors feel they should be able to make strong recommendations which the school board or City Commission would not take lightly.

"Isn't that why the council was organized?" one member asked.

LOSS OF EFFECTIVENESS?

If the school board is rushed into a decision before the PAPC governors can make a recommendation, many governors feel the council will lose its effectiveness.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, Pontiac superintendent of public schools, told PAPC governors that the decision to place the school complex on the hospital grounds was dictated more by the availability of the land than by an evaluation under a comprehensive planning approach.

Whitmer told the PAPC governors the decision evolved almost without any consideration of comprehensive planning. But, he said the site selection was a matter of urgency and had to be made.

He also pointed out that early in the PAPC's formation he told the governors that a comprehensive plan was needed by the school district to help in making the kind of decision the school board is now forced to make. Without rancor, he noted that the PAPC has not developed such a plan.

Lewis, in making his report to the PAPC governors, actually threw them a challenge. He said the school district has no choice but to go with the state hospital site if the board of education is forced to act unilaterally.

"You can't expect the board of education to make the decision alone," he said.

Troy School District Picks New Auditor, Sets Extra Session

TROY — The auditing firm of Plante and Moran of Detroit and Farmington was appointed last night by the board of education to replace its former auditor, Walter Naftaly of Oak Park.

* * *

The appointment, on the recommendation of Supt. Rex B. Smith, was approved by a 4-3 vote, with Trustees Leonard Lucas and James McFarland and Treasurer Harold Janes dissenting.

A motion by Janes to table the appointment failed.

* * *

The motion was made because of a statement by Lucas that a prejudice factor was involved in the consideration of another auditing firm, Miller, Line and McGannon of Hazel Park.

DENIES INTEREST

Janes, who had served as Miller's accountant, clarified his allegedly prejudiced statement, denying he had any personal interest in the firm. He said that he simply considered this firm to be best.

* * *

The board also set a special meeting for Oct. 30 to discuss a new $6.75-million bond issue. Smith told the board that immediate action should be taken on the issue in order that a special election be held no later than Dec. 16, so that bids can be awarded in time for spring construction.

* * *

Smith said that if bidding is delayed much longer, cost for construction under the bond issue could increase as much as 10 per cent.

Included under the proposed bonding are a new west side elementary school, additions at Hill and Union elementary schools, Troy High School, and Smith and Baker Junior High Schools, and remodeling at Big Beaver and Poppleton elementary schools.

NEW SCHOOLS

Also included in the proposed funds are plans for another high school and a third junior high.

Recommendations to sell three parcels of surplus land to cover overcommitments from the 1965 building site fund were tabled until after the board meets with the state attorney general Oct. 30, for a conference on alleged improper use of building and site funds.

* * *

The surplus land includes 13 lots on Star Drive in Caverly Heights, 15 lots in Summitt Park (Section 28), and 12 acres behind Baker Junior High School.

Also tabled, pending the meeting with the attorney general, were four bills from the 1965 building and site fund. Smith advised the board that the business manager's office is compiling a list of dates of purchase orders.

BILLED LATE

Smith said that part of the fund overcommitment was not billed until Sept. 24.

Tabled until a future meeting were proposed policy changes on purchase orders.

* * *

A new contract with Oakland Community College for use of Troy High School rooms for adult education credit courses was also approved last night.

Hearing Tomorrow on Oxford Cityhood

OXFORD — Area residents will get a chance to state opinions on cityhood at 8 p.m. tomorrow when the boundaries committee of the County Board of Supervisors conducts a public hearing on incorporation at the Oxford High School, 105 Pontiac.

Petitions for incorporation of the village of Oxford and some four square miles of Oxford Township land into the city of Oxford were filed with the county March 13.

* * *

Based on the results of the hearing, the committee will recommend to the board of supervisors whether to proceed or not. Should the board approve, an election date will be set, probably around the first of the year, according to Manager Robert Smalley.

Township Supervisor Lee Valentine has opposed the plan, citing that some $11 million of a total township assessed valuation of $21 million would be removed from township tax rolls.

BOUNDARIES

Boundaries of the new city as outlined on the petitions would take in four subdivisions plus the three major gravel industries of the area and the Sea Ray Corp. on Lapeer Road. Some 1,000 present township residents and 2,400 village residents are involved.

The projected city boundaries are as follows: 332 feet south of Drahner Road on the south, north through Section 28 a mile to Seymour Lake Road on the west, west another mile and three-quarters along Seymour Lake Road, north a mile to Granger Road, east on Granger extended to Ray and Oxford roads a total of about four miles, south a mile to Lakeville Road, a half-mile east along Lakeville and south to Drahner.

* * *

"We considered an attempt to incorporate the whole township," said Smalley, "but state requirements on population could not be met."

A state-conducted census has proven that the area involved does meet the required 500 population per square mile.

SIMPLE MAJORITY REQUIRED

If the matter does move forward to an election, only one vote will be needed. A simple majority of votes from residents of the area involved would start the preparation of a charter. A charter commission would also be elected during the vote for incorporation.

Voters would have two years in which to accept a charter.

If successful, the votes would increase the present village's size from less than two square miles to about six square miles.

* * *

Present at the public hearing will be a representative of the Michigan Townships Association and Philip Bray of the Michigan Municipal League. They are expected to speak on opposite sides of the question.

Oxford Official Gets New Post

OXFORD — Robert W. Smalley, village manager since Jan. 1, 1965, has resigned in order to accept the position of assessor with the City of Rochester. He will get a $1,500 pay increase.

* * *

Smalley announced his resignation to the Village Council at its regular meeting last night, even as the Rochester City Council was meeting in special session to hire him as assessor at the rate of $11,500 a year.

* * *

Smalley will replace Frank Kelly, who resigned last summer.

Mayor Roy Rewold said his duties would include assisting City Manager William Sinclair and directing the city's Urban Renewal program.

LEAVING DEC. 1

Smalley was paid $10,000 a year in Oxford. His resignation becomes effective Dec. 1.

In Oxford, he had launched the village on an urban renewal program and on an incorporation drive which seeks cityhood for the village and about four square miles of adjacent township land.

* * *

A public hearing on incorporation is to be conducted by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors Boundaries Committee at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Oxford High School.

* * *

Smalley is married and has six children. He plans to move to Rochester, he said.

Contracts Awarded in Troy on Sewers, Water Main

TROY — Bids totaling $222,122 for sanitary sewer and water main special assessment projects have been awarded by the City Commission.

Mole Construction Co. was given two contracts; one at their low bid of six, for sanitary sewers on John R and Abotsford, at $39,055; and the other for sanitary sewers on Owendale and Henrietta, for their low bid of three at $102,410.

A $29,488 cnotract was awarded to Ernie Cappoccia Equipment, Inc. for the Crooks Road water main, submitting the lowest of eight bids.

A contract for Dequindre and Dashwood sanitary sewers was awarded to the Main Construction Co. for their low bid of five, at $51,169.

CONDEMNATION ACTION

The commission also initiated condemnation action for easements which are needed for a water project on Adams Road which will serve Adams south of Big Beaver and Westboro.

A public hearing was set up for Nov. 25 for consideration of the vacation of an alley located in Addison Heights Subdivision.

International Salt Co. and Morton Salt Co. were awarded contracts for the 1968-69 season's requirements of rock salt at their bid prices of $8.40 per ton picked up and $9.90 per ton delivered.

A building permit was issued for the proposed Holiday Inn project to be located west of Rochester Road and south of I-75.

W. Bloomfield Readies School Bond Proposal

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Prequalification forms for a $600,000 bond proposal to finance a swimming pool for the new West Bloomfield High School have been approved by the board of education.

The forms will be sent to the State Department of Education for approval, and an election date on the bond issue will be set sometime in the near future.

* * *

The board recently also discussed the sale of property that it owns on Green Road behind Green School. No action was taken.

The board has been discussing sale of the property for more than a month. Board members have questioned the timeliness of the sale and when and where a future building site could be procured.

AGREED TO SELL

However, the board agreed to sell the 40 acres at its Oct. 7 meeting. Negotiations for the sale are privately discussed in executive session.

Dr. Paul Thams, director of special education for Oakland Schools addressed the board.

* * *

He said the Oakland Schools board of education will finance the actual cost of construction and equipment for four special education rooms.

The board then discussed the location. It was suggested that two of the rooms be added to the Doherty Elementary School, which is nearing completion.

No final action was taken.

Lapeer Will Test Street Plan

LAPEER — Within 30 days, a system of one-way streets will circle the city's central business district on a trial basis, according to City Manager Arnold Whitney.

The City Commission approved the proposal and designated the streets as Mason (south), Clay (east), Pine (north), and Park (west).

* * *

The system will be a kickoff for a proposed $1.8-million urban renewal plan. Funds for the renewal would come from a federal grant.

Whether the city will make use of the grant depends upon a public hearing, which will be held early in December, Whitney said.

HIGH INTEREST

Interest for improving the business district appears to be running high, Whitney said.

In other business, the commission awarded a contract for two police cars to Lines Olds-Cadillac Inc. for their low bid price, with trade-ins, of $3,754.

A public hearing was set for Nov. 18 to consider the rezoning of a parcel at the corner of Oak and Summitt, from single residential to multiple residential dwelling. An apartment building is proposed for the parcel.

Whitney told the commission that Lapeer will reach its 100th anniversary on June 9, 1969. A Chamber of Commerce spokesman advised the commission that they are in the process of planning a celebration for the event.

The commission also heard a policy set by the Lapeer Police Department,

Independence Signs Contract for First Phase of Sewer Plan

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Sewers by 1970 is the plan of this township.

The Township Board last night authorized the signing of an engineering contract with Johnson and Anderson Inc., engineers of Waterford Township, to embark on the first stage of an internal sewer program.

* * *

Estimated to cost $3.3 million, the project would be complete and ready to hook up to the giant Clinton-Oakland Sewer Interceptor when it is completed. The engineers would receive 2 per cent of the cost under terms of the contract.

Clerk Howard Altman said the board has been asked to sign a resolution giving the Oakland County Department of Public Works authorization to design and construct the system.

DOOR OPEN

As proposed the system would serve those residents in the southeastern part of the township, but Altman noted the door is open to village participation in this first phase of the program.

* * *

Interest in joining the program has been expressed by the Village Council. Under citation by the State Water Resources Board for contribution to pollution, the village has already met with township and DPW officials to see about joining the sewer hook-up. A three-part contract with the DPW and township for sewer construction has been discussed.

* * *

As proposed at public meetings, but not yet officially adopted, the ordinance governing sewer hookups gives residents one year in which to tie in. The township expects to charge a home owner a $350 capital sewer fee, a $1,150 lateral benefit fee and $15 inspections costs besides the cost of connecting the sewer from the property line to the home.

A method to allow payment on an installment basis by owners of existing homes is proposed in the ordinance.

SUGGESTED RATES

Suggested sewer rates are $3.75 a quarter plus 25 cents per 100 cubic feet of effluent.

The board, having launched the sewer program, was asked to give tentative approval to preliminary plans for four new subdivisions.

* * *

John Halveston, owner of Deerwood Subdivision, proposed to put 120 homes at Cranberry Lake and Perry Lake roads. Another 180 homes are proposed on the old Ford farm by Clarkston Development Co. Two smaller developments of less than 10 homes each are proposed at Oakhill and M15 and at Waldon and Walters roads.

Set Dinner-Meeting

The annual dinner meeting of the Big Brothers of Oakland County will be tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the Belanger House, 1812 N. Main, Royal Oak.

Rev. Hubert G. Locke, director of religious affairs at Wayne State University, will be the featured speaker. He was formerly administrative assistant to the Detroit police commissioner.

Soviets Not Racing U.S. to Moon, Briton Feels

JODRELL BANK, England, (AP) — Sir Bernard Lovell, director of the Jodrell Bank Observatory, said today it appears more and more that the Soviet Union is not racing the United States to the moon.

Lovell said the successful Apollo 7 flight greatly boosted American chances of landing an astronaut on the moon next year.

"I think that the continued gap in the Russian manned space program now makes it less probable that there is any type of race involved in getting a man on the moon," he told newsmen.

"A comparison of the most recent achievements of Zond 5 and Apollo 7 tends to confirm the belief that the Russians are concentrating on the detailed instrumental investigation of the moon and have no immediate program for landing men on the moon on the Apollo time scale."

NO MEN

The Soviet Zond 5, carrying scientific instruments but no men, circled the moon at a distance of about 1,200 miles and returned to earth a month ago. Some U.S. scientists said then a Soviet manned flight around the moon could come as early as this month. A similar American effort is scheduled for December.

The Jodrell Bank Observatory tracks space shots of both nations and, because of the customary delay in announcements from Moscow, has at times provided the first word in the West of Soviet space accomplishments.

Olympic Games Marked by Amity

After all the preliminary riots, fighting and actual deaths, the Olympic Games are proceeding peacefully and without a sign of local dissension.

World visitors are joining in heartily when a Mexican athlete does well and applauding him vigorously and "beyond the call of duty." This has been duly appreciated by the Mexican fans who accept the good will with enthusiasm.

★ ★ ★

Internationally now, spectators can arise in their seats and holler "May-hee-co" with all the vigor of the home contingent.

That's the battle cry and the way the Spanish pronounce "Mexico." And don't think for a moment that this vocal assistance doesn't have actual repercussions on the field of action. The Mexican athletes respond nobly.

★ ★ ★

The Russians are just another team here and no one pays them any special attention plus or minus. U.S. athletes are well received and they probably have the most lusty rooting section here, next of course to the home team.

County Supervisors Ignore Budget Protests

Followers of the continuing story of County budget-making will recall that there was some unhappiness with the proposed 1969 expenditures. This unhappiness was related at the public hearing on the budget Oct. 9.

Some 15 speakers berated the $25.8-million budget, speaking against spending policies, high salary increases, money for new buildings and not enough for roads or the poor.

The criticism did not appear to fall on deaf ears. The County supervisors postponed action on the budget, sending it back to the ways and means committee for further study. However, before doing so the supervisors did okay the tax spread.

This latter action set the total amount of the revenue to be received by the County next year. The board's action effectively nullified the complaint about exceeding the 15-mill tax limitation—a major source of criticism.

But, nevertheless, it appeared on the surface at least that the board had heard some of the criticism.

As instructed, the ways and means committee met and studied the budget a second time. Did they take a red pencil to the spending column? No. In fact, they made virtually no changes, wrapped the same budget package up and shipped it back to the County board of supervisors.

It now appears the board will open and pass the package Nov. 12. The hearing—the public's opportunity to register an opinion—is over. The Nov. 5 election will be over. And the County will have virtually the same budget as was proposed Oct. 9.

Apparently the public hearing was for naught.

Geologists Take New Look at Abandoned Mine

There's still gold in them thar hills, even if prospectors have long since abandoned them.

Geologists of the U.S. Geological Survey have taken a new look at Nevada's historic Comstock Lode district, whose now inactive mines produced a total of $400 million worth of silver and gold during a period of 80 years, beginning in 1859.

★ ★ ★

Using modern geophysical and geochemical methods, the scientists were able to trace the Comstock Fault, along which the early prospectors found the bonanza ore bodies, past the point where it disappears beneath the surface a few miles north of Virginia City.

They report at least two locations where concealed deposits may warrant further exploration by private industry.

The investigators are part of the Interior Department's Heavy Metals Program—an intensified search for clues to metals in short domestic supply, such as gold, silver, mercury, tin and platinum.

★ ★ ★

TV, Killing Pace Taxing Candidates

By RAYMOND MOLEY

In these final, frenzied days of our presidential campaign we are witnessing the heavy price our political system is paying for two mechanical marvels: the jet plane and television.

MOLEY

These inventions, some claim, have enriched our civilization. But so far as they are used in choosing a president, they have imposed upon candidates a cruel burden, denied the electorate the education it deserves and have actually limited our choice of a President.

★ ★ ★

They have utterly transformed means of campaigning but human nature has remained the same.

We are a simian breed in which curiosity is our dominant trait. We demand that our candidates be seen and heard and, within limits, felt. Hence our candidates must race about the country at a pace that would kill most normal men.

MAD ROUTINE

And since the time decided by law and custom is still approximately what it always has been, this mad routine extends far beyond what is a reasonable period for voters to reach a decision.

In those quiet pastoral days long ago, candidates traveled very little. Then William J. Bryan took to the rails and made long speaking trips. But because transportation was slow there was reasonable time between appearances to prepare speeches and to get them to the press.

★ ★ ★

All that ended when fast travel by air came in and television made it possible to broadcast the images of the candidates to millions of viewers and listeners.

So far as education is concerned, this means a net loss. For the press is unable to keep pace. There are too many appearances and too many speeches to cover adequately.

NIXON'S ORDEAL

Nixon will break all records because his ordeal began nine months and several million dollars ago in New Hampshire. Only because he is an experienced campaigner with remarkable stamina and good health could he have endured such a physical and mental test.

Hubert Humphrey has been more limited because his real campaign began only after the President bowed out and his participation in the primaries was scant.

Incidentally, both Nixon and Humphrey are accompanied by doctors who measurably keep a check upon their charges.

At this stage millions of voters must be dazed and confused — even bored — by what they have seen and heard during the long months since January. They will probably vote as they indended to vote two months ago. They will be happy when it is all over — if it is to be all over — on Nov. 6.

MUST BE LIMITED

In the years ahead, the conditions imposed on candidates must limit the number and quality of those who seek to be president.

Those who choose candidates in primaries and conventions must guide themselves by how an aspirant can endure a jet-propelled campaign. Youth, vigor, the attributes of a long-distance runner will prevail.

★ ★ ★

How will this or that man project himself on TV? Very few men of maturity will offer themselves as candidates and the inevitable result will be a lowering of the quality of our Presidents.

Just In Case Worse Comes To Worst!

David Lawrence Says:

Election Setup Little Understood

WASHINGTON — Perhaps the most widely discussed but least understood question of the current political campaign is just how a president and vice president will be selected in the event that none of the three tickets wins a majority of the electoral votes of the states.

LAWRENCE

In the first place, the electoral college, which consists of 538 electors, does not vote until Dec. 16. This date is fixed by federal law.

But what happens if none of the three candidates for the presidency gets a majority vote in the electoral college?

The answer is that it will be the new Congress — elected on Nov. 5 — which will gather on Jan. 6, 1969, to do the formal counting of the electoral college ballots and take any further action that may be necessary.

The House of Representatives has the power to choose the president, while the Senate is authorized to select the vice president.

The members of the House of Representatives from each state — both Republicans and Democrats — would be meeting in a caucus or conference, and by a majority vote would decide which candidate for the presidency is to be endorsed by that state.

As provided by the Constitution, each state has only one vote for this purpose, and the winner must obtain a majority of the 50 states.

If the majority in the Senate remains Democratic after this year's election, it is conceivable that Muskie, the vice-presidential nominee on the Democratic ticket, could be selected for the vice presidency even though Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, might have been awarded the presidency by the House of Representatives.

WOULD SWING OVER?

It is important to note, however, that Wallace has said that he will not allow the election to be thrown into the House of Representatives.

It has been hinted that, if the Nixon ticket wins a plurality, the electors in the several states in the South who may have been obtained by Wallace would swing over to the Republican nominee.

★ ★ ★

A victory for the Nixon-Agnew ticket could thus be achieved when the ballots of the electoral college were counted on Jan. 6.

In political circles, it is assumed that Wallace would expect some concessions on policy from the new Republican administration if his votes in the electoral college are given to the Republican nominee.

This might, however, prove embarrassing to Nixon, who would probably prefer under these circumstances to have the election decided by the House of Representatives.

Bob Considine Says:

Jackie's Choice of Spouse Strictly Her Business

NEW YORK—I have reached the regrettable conclusion that it is none of my damned business whether Mrs. John F. Kennedy has now changed into Mrs. Aristotle Socrates Onassis.

CONSIDINE

There was unquestionably a feeling through the land, indeed through the world (she having been voted its No. 1 woman) that she had no constitutional right to upset our image of her.

Her image, securely locked in most of our minds, was that of a lovely young queen in exile, a symbol of the strength and will of American womanhood, devoted mother, and as beyond reproach as Mrs. Julius Caesar, whose husband was murdered at age 44.

One imagines that there must have been at least one lady who sniffed, "How could she possibly do that to the children or the memory of her husband?

We wish the new Mrs. Aristotle Socrates Onassis a happy life. It hasn't been a very happy one in recent years, and there is more unhappiness in the immediate future with her church, one supposes.

INTERVIEW RECALLED

Any widow will testify that life without a man around the house is hardly a bowl of cherries. In the interview she gave Frank Conniff and me last year at her New York apartment, the fabled widow said that it was tough on the kids to grow up without a father.

She was particularly grateful at that time for the presence in New York from time to time of Sen. Robert Kennedy. He had made John and Caroline official members of his own large family, in effect. He tried hard to fill the void left in the children's hearts by the assassination, and he did a good job.

"Bobby's been wonderful to us," she said, looking into the crackling fireplace of her towering apartment. "I can never thank him enough. If he asked me to jump out that window right now, I'd do it."

Bobby was assassinated, too, and something sure and abiding went out of her life. If he were alive today, I suspect Jacqueline would still be Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

HORRIFIED

On the occasion of that rare interview, I asked her if she would remarry. Her reaction was swift and a bit horrified.

"I could never think of anything like that," she said. "Please . . ."

★ ★ ★

Well, Frank and I figured as we left and sought the sanctuary of a scotch, she might or might not remarry. But if she ever did, the guy in question would be given a hard time by world opinion.

"Jack's a hell of an act to follow," Frank said.

The act that followed was a bit startling. As Theo Wilson of the NY Daily News observed, Ari ain't Camelot.

But who was — save Jack?

Proves Point

Chicago Tribune

If there was ever the slightest doubt about the folly of giving Panama sovereignty over the Panama canal and a share in its operation, as proposed by President Johnson in three draft treaties, Panama itself has resolved that doubt.

For the third time in his turbulent career, President Arnulfo Arias has been thrown out of office by the national guard — this time after only 11 days in office.

Dr. Arias fled for refuge to the very same Canal Zone which the treaties would have restored to Panamanian sovereignty. Arias himself denounced the proposed treaties for not giving Panama enough, but if they had been executed he would now be without the sanctuary the zone affords him.

The overriding objection to the treaties has been that they would have forced the United States to share the management of a canal which is essential to our own defense and commerce with a government which has yet to demonstrate an ability to manage itself.

The text of the treaties was obtained last July and published exclusively by The Chicago Tribune, and the articles were promptly placed in the Congressional Record by Sen. Strom Thurmond.

Had The Tribune not obtained the texts, the treaties might have been quietly sneaked thru the Senate, in an effort to appease Panamanian nationalists, before anybody realized what, in fact, they provided.

★ ★ ★

The control of the canal and its revenue would inevitably have become a leading issue in Panamanian politics. And with every election and every coup, the security of the canal would once again be thrown into jeopardy.

One treaty promises that the tolls shall be kept as low as possible. How long would this be possible if Panamanians were to demand an ever-increasing slice of the canal revenue? Another gives special privileges to Colombia in exchange for Colombia's recognition of Panamanian independence.

★ ★ ★

Would the revocation of these privileges mean that Colombia could reassert its sovereignty over Panama? Only the United States, and no binational commission, could insure the integrity of such obligations.

There would be an endless succession of problems like these. Only a responsible government can fulfill the international obligations involved. The people and armed forces of Panama seem unable to agree among themselves about who is in charge.

Readers' Views Differ on Candidate Support

While reading the UAW paper and listening to HHH's speeches, I understand we are going to have a real Santa Claus for the next four years. HHH has promised us almost everything. He forgot one important thing law-abiding citizens would like to have — to see the hands of our police untied. How can they combat crime when they are told to handle criminals with kid gloves? The sad thing about the promised gifts is that our tax money and our sons will pay for them. If HHH is elected, property owners would be ahead to sell out and go to Alabama where property taxes are reasonable.

3118 S. Commerce, Walled Lake

Both major parties contributed to the mess we are in at home and abroad. Both their candidates say they are for law and order. Why did they refrain from doing anything about it in the past few years? The colored suffered the most in the burnings, riots, crime in the streets, etc. Why vote for more of the same?

MARTIN PAPP

How would HHH know anything about labor? He never had to work for a living like the little man that works in the factories around here. Then he has the nerve to talk about George Wallace who did work as a common laborer to get where he is today. These multimillionaires could care less about the poor working-class people. All they want from us is our vote and taxes to shove us around as they please.

The Democrats claim the Republicans will ruin this country. The Republicans claim the Democrats will ruin this country. I agree with both of them.

WALTER F. GROGAN

After prayerful thought, we Catholics for Wallace have come to the conclusion that George Wallace is the man we should elect President. Only Wallace has come out strongly in support of our children's right to pray in school. He feels, as we do, that spiritual values and love of God have a proper place in the education of our youth. He has vowed to remove Communists from government agencies and to prosecute those who support our enemies as traitors.

★ ★ ★

It seems to us that Wallace will help us back on the course of old-fashioned love of God and country and help our young people to develop a decent set of values.

TOM BURNS, CHAIRMAN
CATHOLICS FOR WALLACE
P.O. BOX 6, FLINT

The smug "know" boys and political "experts" with their forcing and gouging of the quiet Americans had no idea of the depth of American protest against liberal permissiveness that's lain under the surface of national life. The protest against defeatism abroad and lawlessness at home has become a tidal wave. HHH's campaign is futile. The only hope of the liberals is that the conservative vote will be split so maybe the Great Society forces could squeak through.

★ ★ ★

Whatever the decision of conservatives, it's now clear a fundamental change has taken place in American politics. For years the forgotten men were the white-collar citizens who paid their taxes and supported the welfare handouts with their hard-earned dollars. The left-of-center intelligentsia ignored the needs and scorned the beliefs of the great middle class and the vast majority, and catered to the demands of a minority.

★ ★ ★

At last the majority has found its voice, has learned to assert itself independently and politically. We've had our fill of strife, disorder, catering, pacifying, defeat and anarchy; and are sick at heart because our boys' lives have been wasted by the Johnson-Humphrey administration on a no-win basis. Americans have had it. We'll unquestionably do what we know needs doing in November.

Kennedy Children Go Back to School

NEW YORK (AP) — Caroline and John Kennedy have returned to resume their schooling after attending the wedding in Greece of their mother, Jacqueline Kennedy, to Aristotle Onassis.

★ ★ ★

When the children arrived Tuesday at Kennedy Airport they received security precautions usually for their mother, the widow of President John F. widow of President John F. Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

John, 7, and Caroline, 10, who attend private schools, were met by Secret Service agents, while police barriers were set up at the arrival gate, where limousines waited to pick up the Kennedy party.

Officer Removed From Command

Judge Lets Navy Ruling Stand

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal judge has refused to intervene in the Navy's decision to remove Lt. Comdr. Marcus Arnheiter from command of the destroyer Vance in Vietnamese waters.

U. S. District Judge William T. Sweigert said Tuesday that "The court finds no genuine issue of either noncompliance by (Navy authorities) with pertinent regulations, or deprival of due process of law."

★ ★ ★

Arnheiter has been assigned to shore duty at Treasure Island since his removal from command in 1966. After fighting his case through the Navy chain of command, he asked U. S. District Court to order a full Navy court of inquiry into the charges against him or a general court-martial.

But Judge Sweigert said "The thoroughness and substantial fairness of the investigation and review (by the Navy) are not only evident, but quite impressive."

WON'T ORDER REVIEW

He refused in a 31-page decision to "order the Navy to again review what this court finds to be actions clearly within its power."

★ ★ ★

Arnheiter has contended he was assigned to shore duty as a result of complaints from junior officers who resented his efforts to shape up a "loosely run cockroach-infested" ship.

His attorney, Marvin Lewis, has said he will take the case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Navy released files last May saying the reassignment was recommended because as a destroyer commander Arnheiter displayed "a gross lack of judgement."

41 FINDINGS

A Navy hearing officer listed 41 "findings of fact"—including findings that Arnheiter conducted unauthorized shore bombardments and introduced alcoholic beverages aboard the Vance.

But Arnheiter said 38 of the findings were never substantiated.

Parts of L. P. Best for Weekend Color

LANSING (UPI) — The best fall colors are expected in the central and southern parts of the Lower Peninsula this weekend, the Michigan Tourist Council said today.

★ ★ ★

Brisk winds took an early toll of color in the upper one-third of the lower peninsula.

★ ★ ★

The Cadillac and Petoskey areas, however, will retain good fall color through this weekend, the council reported.

The combined Union and Confederate losses in killed, wounded and missing at the Battle of Gettysburg were more than 51,000.

Self-Help Center in Slums Gives People Motivation

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Slums are made of people, not houses, and it takes hard work —and maybe a miracle—to change them, the founders of a self-help center here say.

"You can take a slum family and put them in a $40,000 home and it'll be a $40,000 slum home in a few months," Mrs. Dixie Parker, a codirector of Christ Center said.

★ ★ ★

"When we came here, we saw the government pouring money, money, money into these slum situations, but the housing projects, some of them, were just as bad as the slum areas," she added.

So Christ Center was founded "to change the inward motivation and give them a reason to want to clean up, for wanting better things."

'JUNIOR CHURCH'

Jim and Dixie Parker, with several student volunteers, came to Lexington two years ago to work in the slums. They started by founding what they called "junior church," which met on Sunday evenings for slum children.

The movement began enlisting teen-agers in the summer of 1967. The Parkers and the volunteers formed folk singing teams to go out into the slum area streets.

★ ★ ★

It was then that the Parkers and another married couple, Paul and Becky Petries, realized the need for an established center in the area.

They went to the school superintendent and, with the support of local churches and laymen, were able to rent an abandoned school building.

"When we moved in," Mrs. Parker said, "there was one commode and one spigot that worked. There were no cooking facilities, nothing in the whole place. Plaster was falling off the walls, paint was chipped.

"One night we got on our knees and said, 'Lord, it's your youth center. We can't lay carpet, we can't run wiring . . . and we just gave it to him," Mrs. Parker added.

Word of Christ Center apparently had spread, because at 8 the next morning a plumber donated his service; at 10 a carpet layer came in; and later in the day five electricians were there to do all the wiring, all as donations.

The center, run on donations from people in Lexington, now supports an 18-member staff. In addition, Paul Petries estimates that as many as "49 or 50 non-staff members" have been housed in the center since its founding.

EMERGENCY SHELTER

On an emergency basis, Mrs. Parker said, the center has taken care of as many as 75 persons in the space of two nights. Once, it housed a family of 10 for a few days.

She said the center never has done much in the way of remodeling slum dwellings, but mostly has tried to influence residents spiritually to upgrade their own facilities.

★ ★ ★

The center also runs a coffee house for teen-agers in the basement. Admission is by donation.

In exchange for room and board, the needy work around the center.

DONATED FURNITURE

A motel owner donated 100 rooms of furniture—tables, beds, chairs, sofas and carpeting—left over after his motel was renovated.

This past summer, two businessmen organized a charity rodeo, with all proceeds going to Christ Center.

Ike Denies His Staff Ran the Presidency

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower writes that it is "nonsense" to believe that he ran his presidency largely through staff decisions.

Eisenhower, in an article in the November Reader's Digest entitled "Some Thoughts on the Presidency," said:

"Naturally, I consulted with my staff and I valued their opinions. But staff work doesn't mean that you take a vote of mean thatyou take a vote of your subordinates and then abide by the majority opinion. This, of course, is nonsense."

* * *

The former chief executive worked on the article last summer at Walter Reed Army Medical Center just before his seventh heart attack.

Eisenhower wrote that, despite what some persons said, he kept a tight rein on Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' conduct of his administration's foreign policy.

"The persistent statement that I turned foreign policy over to Dulles is, to use a more civilized word than it deserves, incorrect," he said.

Although depending greatly on Dulles' wisdom, Eisenhower added, "Foster made no important move without consulting the President. I reviewed in advance all his major pronouncements and speeches, and when he was abroad he was constantly in touch by cable and telephone.

* * *

"If we did not see eye to eye —and these instances were rare —it was, of course, my opinion that prevailed; this is the way it has to be."

"As a military leader," Eisenhower continued, he learned that his must be the ultimate decision. "Many times during my two terms," he said, "my decisions ran contrary to the majority opinion of my advisors."

'CAN BE EASED'

The former President, who is still in the Walter Reed, said the heavy burdens of the presidency can be eased by good executive organization in the White House.

He listed prime requisites of the presidency as character, ability, responsibility and experience. But above all, he said, every president had "one profound duty to the nation: to exert moral leadership."

State High Court Blocks Legislator in Mayor Race

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court Tuesday ruled State Rep. James Karoub off the ballot as a candidate for mayor of Highland Park in the Nov. 5 election.

The decision reversed one by Circuit Judge James N. Canham, who ruled that Karoub was not barred by legislative membership from seeking the office of mayor.

Taking the case from the Court of Appeals to expedite a final ruling, the Supreme Court voted 5-1 to reverse Canham and order him to grant an injunction sought by Harold McCoy against the Highland Park Election Commission putting Karoub's name on the ballot for mayor.

McCoy finished third in a Highland Park special primary Sept. 24, behind Robert Blackwell, who led, and Karoub, who finished second. Karoub, a Democrat, had lost for renomination to the Legislature in the regular Aug. 6 primary.

McCoy argued that under the city's charter, the winner of the Highland Park mayor's election must take office Nov. 12. Karoub's term as a legislator does not end until Dec. 31, and McCoy insisted he could not qualify for mayor.

120 Arrested for Sit-In at California U.

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Campus police arrested 120 persons who staged a sit-in at the University of California's administration building Tuesday in an effort to obtain academic credit for an experimental course on racism in America.

Buses arriving from the Alameda County sheriff's office to transport those arrested to the Santa Rita detention center drew a crowd of about 3,000 outside the building. The California Highway Patrol and sheriff's deputies moved those persons off the campus.

The crowd chanted, "We are the people. We are the people!" as those arrested—mostly students—were taken from the campus police headquarters to buses.

Demonstrators in the crowd lit a bonfire and turned over a motorized cart owned by the university. A tear gas canister was thrown and a bank window was broken.

The sit-in on the 27,000-student campus started shortly after the course's third lecture, this one by Eldridge Cleaver, the Black Panther leader whose participation in the classes drew objections from the university's board of regents.

* * *

Cleaver, charged with attempted murder during a shootout between his militant Negro organization and Oakland police, had told the class after the sit-in was proposed: "If you think this is worthwhile then do your thing."

When it was originally announced that Cleaver would lecture 10 times during the course, regents ruled that a person without academic credentials could appear only once in a course given for credit.

Chancellor Roger Heyns subsequently provided a room for the racism course, but ruled that the university would not give credit to students taking it.

Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan and Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh—both regents—spoke out from Sacramento against the sit-in.

Reagan said the public "shouldn't have to put up with" such demonstrations and said they werd the "inevitable result of appeasement, and appeasement is the policy followed by the university administration for too long a time."

Unruh sent a telegram to Heyns suggesting an "inquiry into the question of whether Eldridge Cleaver in today's lecture on the campus, provoked or counseled students to take this action."

"If so, Mr. Cleaver should be permanently barred from future appearances as a lecturer at the university before any class, whether for credit or not," Unruh said.

In Case of Tie, Let Emotions Decide the Election

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Everyone, I assume, is familiar with the debate over proposals to abolish the Electoral College.

So let us skip the pros and cons of this issue and spend a few minutes juggling a couple of suppositions.

WEST

Suppose that U.S. presidents were elected by popular vote, as critics of the electoral system have advocated. And then suppose that the presidential race were to end in a tie.

This isn't likely to happen, of course. But as long as such a possibility exists, there should be some provision for dealing with it.

One means of breaking the tie was suggested the other day by Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y. Actually, Bingham wasn't referring to this particular problem. But I'll give him credit for solving it anyhow.

MEASURE EMOTIONS

Speaking at a computer symposium in New York, Bingham said it might one day be possible to measure the emotions of voters as they cast their ballots.

* * *

"The use of computers and some sort of emotion-measuring device in the polling booth" would distinguish "those who feel deeply" from "those who are indifferent or unsure," he said.

* * *

He added, however, that he personally would oppose such an innovation because it would "favor the fanatics and haters over the moderates."

I certainly agree that it might not be wise to give an emotional vote more weight than a dispassionate vote in the original tabulation.

VOTER ATTITUDE

But if two or more candidates received the same number of votes, then it seems to me that the attitude of the voters would be a legitimate consideration in determining the winner.

The victory could go to the candidate who received the least number of "lukewarm" votes. Or perhaps the greatest number of "I'm for you 100 per cent" votes.

* * *

Even if not used for breaking ties, the "emotion-measuring device" would more accurately reflect the opinion of the electorate than merely counting the votes.

The tabulations alone are often meaningless, and can even be misleading.

NO WAY TO PROTEST

As I have pointed out previously, there is presently no way to cast a protest vote. You cannot vote against one candidate without voting for another candidate.

* * *

And if you don't happen to care much about the other candidate either, then your vote does not represent your true feelings.

* * *

But if your emotions were recorded along with your vote, you could strike a blow for desperation.

Relatively Cheap

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — A driver complained that a state auto inspection had forced him to spend $100 for repairs, an amount he regarded as excessive. Inspection Supervisor Harold Davis investigated. He says a relative of the owner had taken the car for inspection, the repairs cost less than $10 and the relative had pocketed the difference.

Common Cold Still on Top, but Don't Give Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — There has been little practical progress toward curing or preventing the ailment that has plagued the Apollo space travelers—the common cold—government scientists indicate.

They say, however, that they are encouraged because in the last decade medical scientists have at least made significant progress in identifying and isolating many of the common cold germs, thus bringing the problem into sharper focus.

The cold is one of man's oldest, most prevalent, costly and baffling maladies. It can be caused by any one of nearly 100 different known microbes, not to mention others not yet identified.

The ailment—usually relatively mild but occasionally extremely severe—strikes nearly all of the nation's 200 million people at least once a year, and sometimes as often as five times.

$5 BILLION A YEAR

Estimates are that colds cost the nation up to $5 billion yearly in lost wages, lost production and medical expenses. This last item includes perhaps $400 million spent annually for pills and other formulas whose worth, the U.S. Public Health Service says, is questionable.

★ ★ ★

The service's Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases is a focal point of research on the common cold. Scientists there told a reporter:

● As yet there is no known cure for any of the various forms of "acute upper respiratory disease" which are lumped together under the label of common cold.

● With a single exception so far—involving one of the less common, but potentially severe forms—there is no highly effective protective vaccine against any variety of cold.

EXCEPTION

The exception is the recent development of an oral vaccine against a severe form of cold caused by a virus called "adenovirus-4." The latter is a germ that thrives in military training camps where it's imported and swapped around among recruits from different parts of the country.

During 1967-68, nearly a half million men in armed forces training camps were immunized with it—resulting in a reduction of more than 60 per cent in hospitalization for respiratory infections at some bases. The Army estimates the vaccine meant a saving of about $18 million.

★ ★ ★

The government scientists—through admittedly long-range diagnosis—figure the Apollo astronauts have colds caused by one or the other of a group of perhaps 80 or 90 viruses called the "rhinoviruses."

These rhinoviruses are primarily responsible for causing the common cold — especially in adults.

TYPES CLASSIFIED

One estimate is that up to 20 per cent of all absenteeism from industry and business is due to rhinovirus infections.

Fifty-five distinct rhinovirus types have already been classified and up to 40 more are being described from time to time, scientists of the government institute say.

Here's how things stand in the fight against other major villains in the common cold gang — the microbes usually associated with more serious illnesses:

1. The parainfluenza viruses —of which there are three. These cause about 20 per cent of acute respiratory diseases serious enough to hospitalize infants and small children. They cause illness in the form of croup, bronchitis and pneumonia.

★ ★ ★

Separate experimental vaccines—each containing one of the three viruses—showed up to 100 per cent effectiveness in stimulating protective antibodies in children but only limited effectiveness against natural disease.

2. Mycoplasma pneumoniae. This is a microbe that is neither viral nor bacterial, but has characteristics of both.

In epidemic years, it accounts for 10 per cent of all respiratory illness in small children, and causes 30 per cent of all pneumonia in the age group from 10 to 20 years.

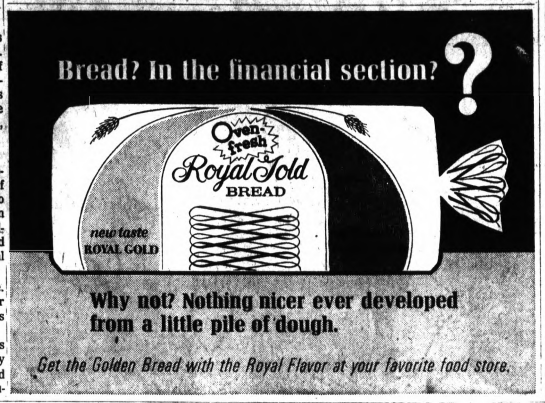
PROMISE FADED

Several experimental vaccines against it produced promising results in limited studies in humans, but in large-scale trials, vaccines were only about 50 per cent effective in preventing illness.

3. Respiratory Sycytial Virus —or "RS" for short: This is responsible for the death of 5,000 infants a year—half of the babies who die from acute respiratory diseases.

Experimental vaccines have been developed, but unfortunately with no success in trials, agency scientists report.

But the researchers say intensive efforts are being made to improve all these vaccines, or develop new ones.



Why not? Nothing nicer ever developed from a little pile of dough.

Security Plan Launched at City Hospital

Problems of violence, profane speech and unruly conduct in the emergency rooms of two local hospitals has prompted a pilot security program at one of the hospitals, Pontiac General.

Essentially, security has been beefed up at Pontiac General through the use of "moonlighting" policemen hired and assigned to the emergency room.

★ ★ ★

Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, reported recently to the hospital's board of trustees that problems with knives, loaded guns, foul language and drugs had reached the point where something had to be done.

Euler said he met with Pontiac Police Chief William K. Hanger and it was decided to assign a policeman to the emergency area during peak hours — one or two nights a week and on weekends and holidays.

FREQUENT CALLS

"It was getting to the point the police were being called down here to (the hospital) 15 and 20 times a day," Euler explained.

He said the hospital's regular security guards, who patrol the entire hospital and its adjacent parking lots, could not spend enough time in the emergency room to control the problem.

★ ★ ★

Officials at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital reported a similar problem with unruly conduct. Recently the officials there decided to lock all the hospital's outside doors after 9 p.m., leaving only the emergency room entrance itself unlocked.

Pontiac General similarly locks its doors at night.

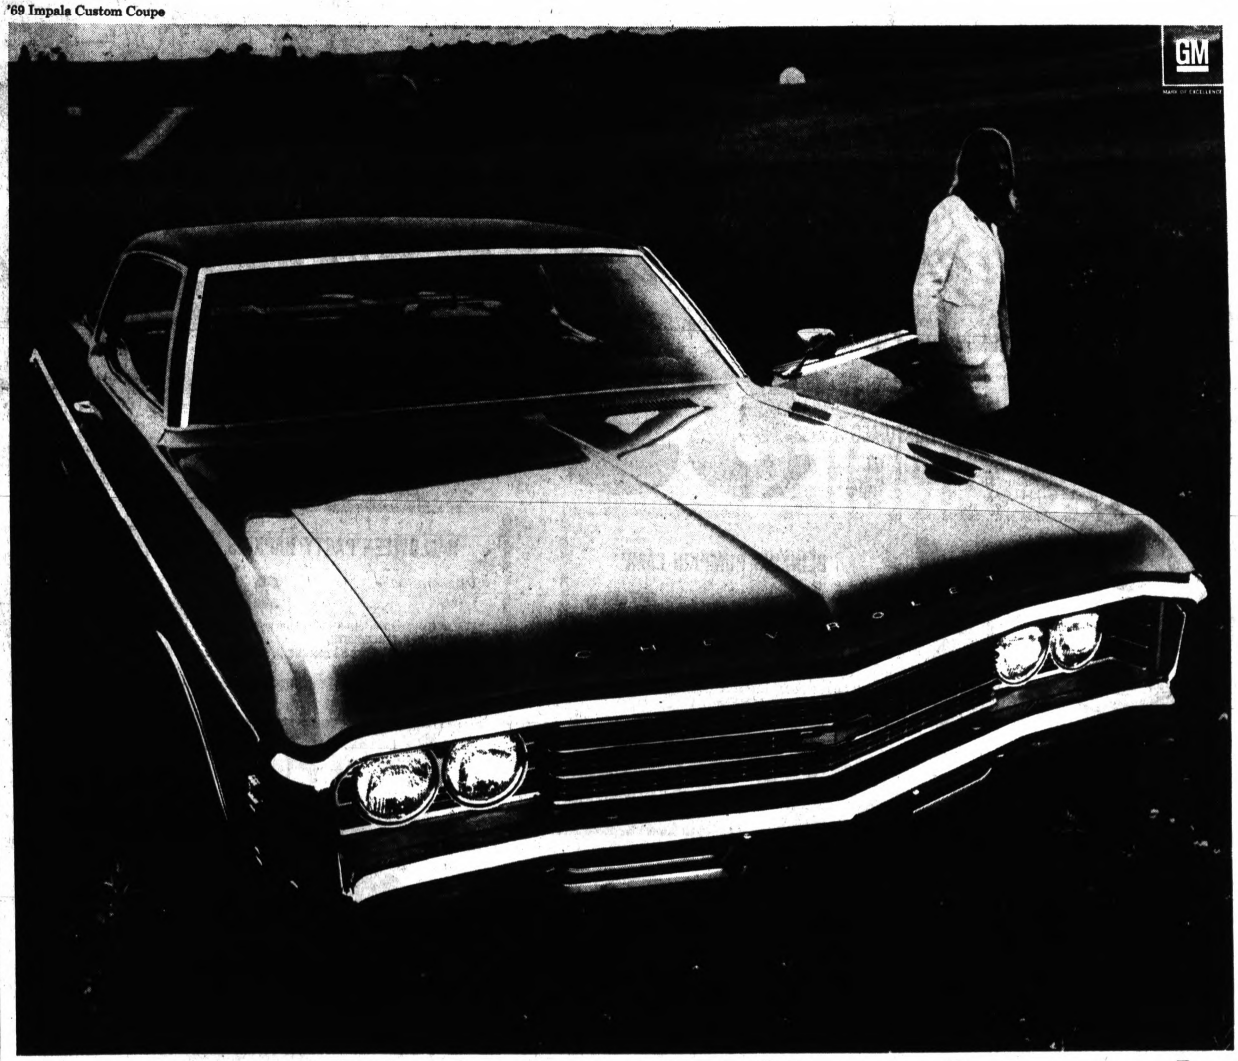
Officials at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital reported no particular problem with visitors to its emergency room, but officials did say that a security guard is always on duty in the building.

The trial program at Pontiac General will run for three to six months, according to Euler. He said the cost has not yet been determined, but would only be the regular police salary paid on an hourly basis.

★ ★ ★

"The problem is not so much with the patients," Euler said, "but with those that come to the hospital with the patient."

'69 Impala Custom Coupe



Just sitting there, this '69 Chevrolet can do four things competitive cars can't:

It can wash its headlights.
It can apply liquid tire chain to its rear wheels.
It can silently defog or defrost the rear window.
It can keep you cool or warm automatically with Comfortron —the self-adjusting air-conditioning system.

And once you've added all these wonderful devices to a new Chevrolet, you just can't imagine why anyone would give a second thought to a second-place car.

The headlight washers and liquid tire chain for traction on slippery roads are operated at the touch of a button from the driver's seat. So is the silent new rear-window defroster. Invisible ceramic strips on the glass heat up to keep the window clear.

Also available: Chevrolet's Light Monitoring System that lets you know from inside if all your outside lights are working, full four-speaker stereo, a smooth 3-speed Turbo Hydra-matic transmission. All in a car made quieter, made stronger, made more comfortable. Now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

We've said it before, and we'll say it again. Match this, you other '69s!

Putting you first, keeps us first.

'Miracle Miner' Laughs Off Near-Disaster

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (AP) — Herb Pepperdine is doing something he never thought he'd do again. He's working in a coal mine.

"I guess it's because I know it better than anything else," says Pepperdine, 45. Although the money is good by Springhill standards—$16.04 a shift—it was no easy decision.

★ ★ ★

Herb was one of 175 miners at work in the Cumberland Railway and Coal Co.'s No. 2 colliery on the night shift Oct. 23, 1958—10 years ago. He is one of the 100 men who survived a vicious "bump" in the workings of the mine, opened in 1873 and one of the deepest in the world.

They laugh it off now, but Pepperdine and 18 other men were dubbed "miracle miners" following their dramatic rescue more than a week after the bump—a shift in the rock—shattered the tunnels where they worked. Just about everyone had given up hope when they were discovered in different areas by rescue workers who struggled through the fallen mine timbers, twisted rails and mounds of fallen rock and coal.

NEVER MENTIONED

"We never even mention it any more," says Pepperdine, whose white hair is cropped in a close brush cut. "It doesn't bother me any more. Maybe it did for a couple of months, but never any more."

Typical of the coal-mining breed in this hilltop town 125 miles northwest of Halifax, Pepperdine and the men who lived with him in a hole without light, water, food or contact look back at those days in late October 1958, with no emotion.

There will be no reunions here this fall.

Ten years have gone by in this town and coal mining, while still alive, is a shadow of what it was. Many people have moved away from Springhill, and dozens of houses have been torn down, and there's still unemployment for too many.

Herb and 15 or 16 other men were in the area of the 13,000-foot level in No. 2 mine on the night shift Oct. 23, 1958.

OPENINGS CLOSED

The bump hit at 8:07 p.m. Caused by freakish combinations of gas and brittle stone, the bump heaved the floors of the various levels and tunnels up toward the ceiling, completely closing the openings in many areas.

Of the 175 men in the mine that drizzly night, 101 were rescued; one of them dying later in hospital of his injuries. Seventy-four others were killed outright. Eighty-two men were brought to the surface in the early hours of the rescue operation.

After three days of digging, mine officials feared there would be no more of the remaining 19 miners found alive.

But at 2:30 a.m. Oct. 30 the rescuers broke through to 12 trapped men, all alive after a week, one with a broken leg.

Next day, Barney Martin, who had spent the entire time in a small cavity by himself, was found and brought out. Not far away, the rescuers found Herb Pepperdine and the others.

Pepperdine admits that he was losing hope after eight days trapped in No. 2.

"The last day, I began to figure they wouldn't get through," he remembers. "And then they came. I was all right. Just got a good starving, I guess. I weighed 160 pounds when I went down and 130 when I came up. Since then, the best I've ever been able to get up to is 155."

But with his house paid for and earning good wages, for Springhill, Herb Pepperdine is a happy man 10 years after the disaster.

Others have been fortunate too. Levi Milley brought chuckles from people all over the world when he said from his stretcher as he was being carried out of the mine after six days that all he wanted was to get home and tend his chickens. With the help of American well-wishers, Milley is now a full-time chicken farmer in West Virginia.

Harold Brine has a good job in Toronto, Joseph Holloway is a clerk in the liquor store here, Caleb Rushton is working with the manpower department here. But there also is Maurice Ruddick, unemployed.

No. 2 mine has been sealed and time may be running out for the last of Springhill's coal mines, as well. The market is constantly shrinking and the working area of the mine is getting deeper each month. But if the coal holds good, the pit could have another decade left.

MRS. OSCAR SORENSON

She 'Lends' Femininity to Businessman's World

By YOLANDA BENDVIDES

Treading the male-dominated business path with a firm but warm woman's touch is the route for Marie Sorenson.

YOLANDA

To date, the hustling president of Century Finance Company in Rochester has extended her feminine influence to the board of directors of the Michigan Consumer Finance Association.

She serves as its newest and only female member.

Home base is Rochester for the native Detroiter and husband, Oscar Sorenson, DVM. They have been in residence for some 22 years.

★ ★ ★

First stop along Marie's journey through a woman's 'no man's land' found her managing the Rochester branch of the First Federal Savings and Loan of Oakland.

Interest in this field was spurred by a previous job with the Michigan State Highway Department in Lansing.

As fate would have it, ex-teacher Marie was given the task of handling excess property purchased along development routes that had to be rented and subsequently sold.

Once adjusted to the business pace, Marie launched out on her own with the opening of the Rochester firm which she managed for six years.

PARTNERS

By 1961, Mrs. Sorenson found her interest expanding to the counseling aspect of financing which resulted in the present partnership venture with husband Oscar.

Now, seven years later, the Century Finance Company, with a second branch in Oxford, likewise run by women, stands alone with the only female president and general manager in the area's financial realm.

Reflecting on her status in the cold, competitive business race, Mrs. Sorenson feels a woman is best in the area of customer-company relationships.

★ ★ ★

"Because we deal with problems of a personal nature, the customer often finds an older woman (one with experiences in family budgeting) more understanding and easier to relate to," she says.

"Success in dealing with the head of the household, she says, is due to the fact that" a man with financial problems to work out rarely wants to discuss it with another man."

In the field of business competition, Mrs. Sorenson finds a woman's touch again an advantage.

★ ★ ★

"In a large corporation, a man is under great pressure as the breadwinner and he can't always take time to discover the personal aspect of each customer's needs."

"Our advantage over such a large company is that we can and do take time to listen and counsel."

Aside from business endeavors, Marie and husband are familiar participants in several civic and social organizations.

They were members of the original committee working for the Rochester Crittenton Hospital on University Drive.

As business responsibilities have cut short active participation with the Avon Player's group in which they are charter members, the couple has responded by constructing a side room for the Player's box office.

Business away from the office has Mrs. Sorenson serving as president of the Rochester Business Women's Club, and treasurer of the Wesleyan Service Guild of St. Paul's United Methodist Church.

★ ★ ★

Not to be forgotten, of course, is membership in the Southeastern Michigan, Michigan State, and National Veterinary Auxiliaries she belongs to as a veterinarian's wife.

Time for relaxation (when that's possible) finds Marie and Oscar restoring antique furniture.

And who, might one ask, budgets for the budgeter? Again, look no further than Marie, of course.

Letters Express Writers' Views on Certificates

By ELIZABETH L. POST

The following letters refer to a question I printed from a wife whose husband wanted to frame their wedding certificate and hang it in the bedroom.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: Mother tells me (she was married in 1914) that it was the thing to do back in her day to have the marriage certificate framed and hung in the bedroom. We still have hers (now tucked away with some other precious pictures of her young days) with the beautiful gold scroll framed with glass.—Anne B.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a marriage certificate hanging in the hall of my apartment. It is greatly admired, causes much conversation and always gives me thoughts of my long departed parents.

★ ★ ★

It was found, badly folded, among my mother's possessions, when she died 20 years ago. The sheet is illuminated beautifully and is filled out in my father's marvelous penmanship. I smoothed it and had it framed for preservation. I'm proud of it and it's my prize wall piece. —Mrs. Carson

GETS PERMISSION

Dear Mrs. Post: After a girl accepts a date from a boy, when he comes to her home to get her is he supposed to ask her parents again if she can go with him after she has already told them where they are going? My Mom says he should; I say he doesn't have to. Who is right? —Clarinda

★ ★ ★

Dear Clarinda: When a girl accepts a date, the boy may assume that she has her parents' permission to go. There is no reason for him to ask again when he arrives, although he should go in and talk with the parents for a few minutes.

It is the girl's obligation to ask that permission — not just to tell her parents where she is going.

PAYS ON DATES

Dear Mrs. Post: Are you responsible for boys paying for girls on dates? If not, how come it is considered mannerly to do so?—Jim

★ ★ ★

Dear Jim: I certainly didn't invent the rule, but I hope I am partly responsible for seeing that it continues. If you want a girl's company enough to ask her out, you can't ask her to pay for the privilege! If she asks you, she pays. But when it's your date — you pay.

Cushing Defends Jackie's Marriage

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing says the idea that Jacqueline Kennedy excommunicated herself from the Roman Catholic Church by her marriage to Aristotle Onassis is "a lot of nonsense."

In a talk Tuesday to members of the Caritas Guild, men in the licensed beverage industry, the Catholic archbishop of Boston said repeatedly that Caritas stands for charity—and that, he said, is what is needed.

"I turn on the radio and all I hear are people knocking her head off, as it were, criticizing her and so forth, and they are so far from the truth that no one would believe me if I ever got on a radio program and revealed what I know.

"Months ago I knew that Jacqueline Kennedy was going to marry Aristotle Onassis," the cardinal said. "I know what she has been going through for many, many months.

"I have been contacted by many of those who are identified in high places with the administration of the late President Kennedy, and I have been contacted by others intimately related and associated with the Kennedy family to stop all this from taking place, namely that Jack's widow, God rest him, would marry Aristotle Onassis.

NO PART

"Well, I would have no part."

The cardinal, and old friend of the Kennedy family, recalled that the former Mrs. Kennedy visited him secretly a week ago, accompanied only by a Secret Service man, and that they talked about two hours.

★ ★ ★

"My lips are sealed. I cannot tell anything about the private, very private conversation I had with her... No matter what I said to her she was already committed to this marriage months ago and I knew it . . .

"The point I want to make is this: Why do people pour letters in to me? And today's mail ... condemning her, condemning me and condemning the church, and the church has nothing to do with it. I never would condemn anybody.

"And this idea of saying she's excommunicated. She's a public sinner, what a lot of nonsense. Only God knows who is a sinner, who is not.

★ ★ ★

"There are so many ramifications with regard to anything that might be considered as sinful that only God Almighty could really interpret them and manifest His infinite love for the sinner, while at the same time despising the sin."

The cardinal noted that he married the late President and Mrs. Kennedy and baptised their children, "so I have had very close relationships with Jacqueline Kennedy."

★ ★ ★

"Why can't she marry whomever she wants to marry, and why should I be condemned and why should she be condemned? I have my faults, undoubtedly she has hers.

"That's not the point. The point is that if we ever are going to get anywhere in uniting this nation we have to use all our efforts to charity, in love, in mutual respect and esteem for one another."

On Country Club Scene

John Edens Home to the Hills

By SHIRLEY GRAY

Mr. and Mrs. John Eden, former longtime Bloomfield Hills residents and Bloomfield Hills Country Club members, breezed into town over the weekend for a very short stay; they're bunking at the club. The Edens now live in Pennsylvania.

★ ★ ★

Bloomfield Hills women are on a bridge binge today. From the length of the country club's reservations list, it looks as if everyone was at the "Ladies Old-Fashioned Card Party."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. R. C. Shields reserved a table for 18, Mrs. Frederick Weed, one for 14.

Others bringing guests were Mrs. Gordon Saunders, Mrs. Ernest Breech, Mrs. Walter Thompson, Mrs. Ernst Kern Sr. and Mrs. Joseph Henshaw.

★ ★ ★

More are Mrs. T. A. Farrell, Mrs. Richard Ford, Mrs. J. Dooley, Mrs. Fredrick B. Darden and Mrs. Theodore Yntema.

TEMPTING

An unusual carrot is being dangled before the members of the Junior Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

The gal who sells the most tickets to the benefit premiere of "Star," the filmed life story of Gertrude Lawrence, wins the use of a 1934 Rolls Royce, chauffeur-driven, for the evening of the first showing, Nov. 13.

★ ★ ★

Not to mention the satisfaction of adding to what any JWADSO member would agree is a 'worthy cause' — the symphony maintenance fund.

Mrs. E. Bud Wittus of Bloomfield Hills is ticket chairman.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Frederick C. Hertel, also of Bloomfield Hills, is cochairman of the Afterglow, set for the Harmonie Club, just a hop, skip and a jump away from the Madison Theater. "Star," by the way, stars Julie Andrews.

★ ★ ★

Among early-bird ticket holders are Mr. and Mrs. Owen Regan, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Burleigh, the Stanford C. Stoddards, the Henry C. Johnsons, the Robert V. Hacketts, Mr. and Mrs. Brenden M. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Roark and the John E. Deacons.

★ ★ ★

Also planning to attend are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Warrick, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Lobdell, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Beresford, the Rodney M. Lockwoods, the Ray W. MacDonalds, Mr. and Mrs. Richard O. Ruppel and Mr. and Mrs. Glendda H. Roberts.

He Doesn't Grumble

Wife Beats Up Her Husband

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My son is 6 feet, 2 inches, and weighs 220 pounds. He's married to a 95-pound, five-foot wildcat who has sent him to the hospital twice since they've been married, and it hasn't been a year yet.

ABBY

The first time, she laid his head open with a coffee pot and the doc took 22 stitches in his skull.

The next time she hit him with a bridge lamp and broke his nose.

The big dummy refuses to bring charges against her. He won't leave her, and he won't raise a hand against her. He says he "loves" her. Is he crazy or is she?

How can I get him to either defend himself or lock up this maniac. I'm afraid she'll kill him.

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: They could both be a little "crazy," but if your son sticks around and takes this kind of punishment hands down, he's crazier than she is.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: When two couples go out to dinner together is it considered "cheap" to ask for separate checks?

Nick and I have gone out with another couple and unless separate checks are asked for in advance, we split the check in half, which is very unfair because ● I don't drink. ● We never order the most expensive dinner on the menu like the other couple. ● Our share of the tip shouldn't be divided 50-50 either, because we didn't spend as much.

Nick and I talk to each other about this after we get home, but we feel sheepish and never do anything about it. Do you think we should?

"SHEEPISH"

DEAR SHEEPISH: Yes. And if you don't, you are not only sheepish—you're foolish.

DEAR ABBY: I'm sick of reading about dirty old men. How about dirty old women?

I am a bachelor, 65 years of age, and I can tell you that a man who isn't in a wheelchair isn't safe alone anymore.

I went on a cruise for relaxation and the women nearly ran me crazy. I had 60-year-old women propositioning me for early dates, late dates, and the late late dates. I got all sort of gifts, and one old dame even offered me MONEY! Not only that, but a 24-year-old kid passed me a note, "What are you saving it for Dad? The prom?" I even had them trying to break into my room at night.

Maybe I'm old fashioned, but I still like to do the asking, but nowadays you don't get the chance. They ask you first.

SIDNEY

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the young girl whose date got fresh so she started to walk home, and then hitched a ride with a truck driver prompts this letter. She said her father got mad at her because she rode with a strange man. I want to say this:

I am a middle-aged widow who had to take to the highways in order to support my children, and of all the men in the world, truck drivers are the best.

How do I love them? Let me count the ways:

If another car has pulled off the road (even to rest) it's the truck driver who stops first to see if they're in trouble.

Truck drivers are the most considerate and courteous drivers on the road.

It seems to be an unwritten law of the road that a truck driver will never pass up a car that looks like it needs help.

Abby, when I see a truck driver, I see a host of angels behind him all the way to heaven. God bless the truck drivers.

E. G. P.

Write Betty for Leaflet on Consumer

A new publication, "Consumer Education — What It Is and What It Is Not," has been issued by the President's Committee on Consumer Interests.

* * *

Betty Furness, Special Assistant to the President on Consumer Affairs, said the leaflet was prepared in response to popular demand for information on consumer education programs.

* * *

"My mail indicates a growing interest in consumer education as a means of learning how to spend money in a complicated marketplace," Miss Furness said.

* * *

"I have given top priority to consumer education in my office, and I am hopeful that we can help fill the consumer education gap that exists in the country today. Our new publication should be of particular interest to educators, businessmen, workers with low-income groups and others who are concerned with efforts to help the consumer perform more effectively in the marketplace."

* * *

The leaflet covers the 15 questions most frequently asked about consumer education. It includes suggestions on developing consumer education programs and outlines the role of business and others interested in conducting such programs.

* * *

Limited copies of the publication may be obtained from the Office of Consumer Education, President's Committee on Consumer Interests, Executive Office Building, Washington, D. C., 20506.

Pontiac BPW Honors Woman of the Year

Mrs. Raymond L. Cole was honored Sunday as "Woman of the Year" of the Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club, in recognition of her work in compiling the history of the group which she presented at the celebration of the club's golden anniversary last month.

The award was made at a luncheon in Stouffer's Restaurant, Northland at the beginning of District 10's observation of "National Business Women's Week."

Attending from the Pontiac group were Helen Kinney, Mabel Smith, Mrs. John Buchanan, Barbara Wilson, Mrs. E. Cleo Wiley, Mrs. Leo McDonald, Mrs. George Brinkman, Rosamond Haeberle, Mrs. F. Leigh Wyckoff and Mrs. John Borsvold.

Mrs. Martha Griffiths, Democratic congresswoman from Detroit's 17th district, read Mrs. Cole's history into the Congressional Record published in Washington, D. C. on Sept. 27.

An awards dinner will be held at the Statler Hilton Hotel, Detroit, Saturday, sponsored by the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Marianne Campbell, president of the Ohio Federation, will be the guest speaker.

Language Class Starts 'Em Early

Two beginning classes of French for children, ages 8-11, will be offered at Mercy College of Detroit during the fall semester.

The classes, stressing the oral approach to foreign language, will be based on the St. Cloud method utilizing filmstrips and tapes produced in France.

One class will begin Nov. 2, at 11 a.m.; the other will meet on Mondays at 4 p.m., beginning Nov. 4. Both sessions in Marian will continue through January.

Additional information may be obtained by the college.

Plunging Necks Eliminate Bras

One lesson that became obvious during the Paris fall fashion collections was: the lower the neckline, the less likely the model was wearing a bra.

★ ★ ★

Many necklines plunged to the navel or at least to the waist with no support for the bosom other than that provided by nature. The most popular neckline for the newly revived little black dress was a long slit from a high jewel collar to a tiny belted waist.

Flower Talk

AUDUBON'S BIRDS AND FLOWERS

We have all seen the famous American bird pictures painted by John J. Audubon, organizer of the famous Audubon Society. This famous painter had mastered the technique of painting the intricate feathers and features of birds, but he acquired the services of other artists to paint in the floral and plant backgrounds on his picutres.

Flowers, he thought, are special, and need special artists to capture their delicate beauty.

We feel flowers are special, too. That is why we fill our orders with special care. You can be confident that when you order flowers from us, they will be just what you want, carefully prepared.

MRS. DONALD E. FURMAN

MRS. ROBERT C. IRWIN

MRS. LARRY BREWER

They're Wearing Wedding Rings

Carrying a bouquet of white roses and daisies, Lynn Louise Jackson was escorted recently to the altar of St. Patrick of Heatherdowns Church, Toledo, Ohio, where she became the bride of Donald Edward Furman.

For the recent exchange of double ring ceremony, the bride wore an Empire peau de soie gown with peau d'ange lace trim. She is the daughter of the Charles Jacksons of Toledo.

* * *

Assisting the bride were Mrs. Robert McKee, Patricia Jackson, Mrs. A. B. Poorman, Barbara Seigneur and Donna Sampson.

* * *

On the esquire side were brothers of the bridegroom, Carl, Allan, Larry and Kenneth Furman. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lorain Furman of Hudson Street.

* * *

Newlyweds, the Robert C. Irwins (nee D. Gail Vick) are honeymooning in Nassau following vows Saturday in First Baptist Church.

Attended by Alice Vaught, the bride wore an A-line gown of peau de soie with Cathedral train. She held a bouquet of orchids with Stephanotis.

Bridesmaids for the evening rite were Jean Keefer and Mrs. Douglas Rudd with ushers Gary Scott, Dale Vick, Steve Miller, Steve Cole, Jim Irwin and John Cudnohufsky.

Best man was Vern Cole.

After the ceremony, the son of the Cecil Irwins of Pioneer Drive and his bride, the daughter of the Virgil E. Vicks of West Cornell Street, were feted in the church parlors.

The Larry Brewers (nee Cheryl Ann Fincannon) are honeymooning in northern Michigan after vows in Peace Lutheran Church.

For the Saturday afternoon ceremony, the bride wore a traditional ensemble of Chantilly lace and taffeta with a fitted bodice and full skirt.

She is the daughter of the Howard Fincannons of Tull Drive. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Allen Brewer of Tubbs Road, and the late Mr. Brewer.

* * *

Valerie Sanders was maid of honor with bridesmaids Karen M. Fincannon, sister of the bride, and Julie Collum.

Assisting the bridegroom were Frank Rhames, best man, and ushers Paul Vallad and Lewis Jullian.

Use Slipcovers of Sturdy Fabric

Are you a mobile home dweller? If so, it will pay you to protect upholstered pieces with slipcovers made of sturdy washable fabrics.

These will withstand the hard wear of close quarters, and require only machine-washing and-drying to remain clean and bright.

Typical Bankrupt Is Poor Manager

NEW YORK (UPI)—Studies of persons in bankruptcy show that many of them are in financial straits because they have, over a long period of time, let relatively small debts accumulate until they were unmanageable.

* * *

The Institute of Life Insurance says the typical bankrupt person is not disadvantaged. He's a man in the prime of his life — the mid-30s. He has a job, a wife and three children. He also has a reputation as a good father and husband.

Put Soft Touch in Vinyl Gloves

New vinyl household gloves protect, are soft and comfortable and provide a sensitive feel-through touch, the manufacturer says. They also have longer turnback cuffs that protect against drips when hands are raised high to wash windows or shake out wet diapers.

* * *

Made of a new, non-stiffening formula, the gloves resist oils, greases, detergents and other cleaning solutions. For safety, palms and fingers have antislip textures.

Annual Tea for Alumnae Is Planned

Commission OKs Staying in Tube, Pipe Price-Fix Suit

"Nothing ventured, nothing gained," City Director of Law Sherwin M. Birnkrant told Pontiac city commissioners last night.

So the city will enter a suit involving an alleged price-fixing conspiracy which could have affected almost any city with a population of 50,000 or more.

* * *

Birnkrant received permission not to withdraw from a suit filed in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania against manufacturers of brass mill tube and pipe.

He said a suit had been filed by a Philadelphia school district on behalf of every city and school district with a population of more than 50,000 persons, on the presumption that they had purchased copper products from 1956 to 1962.

$21,000 WORTH

Birnkrant said Pontiac did purchase more than $21,000 worth of tubing and pipe during that period but records would have to be checked in order to determine if the products were purchased from companies involved in the case.

Birnkrant said the city could pull out at a later date if it was determined that the city did not purchase products from the companies involved.

* * *

He said that under terms of the suit, any city over 50,000 population could collect "treble damages" if the court case were decided against the manufacturers. The attorney said the city would be included unless it voted not to be involved by Nov. 1.

* * *

Birnkrant advised commissioners that city records would be checked and if it were determined that the city didn't buy products from firms involved in the case it would withdraw.

EXPENSE SLIGHT

He said there were almost no legal expenses to the city.

City Affairs

In other action, the commission:

- Approved final transactions for sale of about 12 acres of land south of Orchard Lake Road adjacent to the Michigan Airline Railroad tracks (formerly the city dump site) for $63,000 for apartment construction.
- Approved preparing special assessments for construction of water mains in the North Hills Farms subdivision along Cherry Hill to Fairmount, along Simmons from Cherry Hill to Columbia and along Fairmount from Cherry Hill to Columbia.

The sewers will serve units being constructed in the North Hills rent supplement housing project.

- Confirmed special assessments for construction of water mains on Clara from Arlene 670 feet west and from Columbia to Clara, on Dewey from Dearborn to West Kennett; on Wrenn from Alton to Arthur; on Ditmar from Wrenn 170 feet east and on Luther from Wrenn to 495 feet east.

* * *

Commissioners approved final sale of the former dump site even though previous sale contracts had called for the purchasers to be in a position to construct new apartment units before final sale terms.

Birnkrant, recommending the agreement, said the proposed owners had given assurance they would construct as soon as financing is available.

FINANCING TIGHT

Because of tight financing of apartment construction the owners had not been able to secure adequate mortgage arrangements, Birnkrant told the commission.

Evidence gathered in laboratories indicate that a substance found in excess amounts in the blood of a majority of schizophrenic patients may be responsible for the symptoms of this chronic mental disease.

Junk-Car Ordinance Is Deferred for Study

City commissioners last night deferred for one week final adoption of a proposed junk car ordinance.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said the ordinance needed more thorough study.

* * *

District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin suggested the ordinance may be somewhat stronger than is needed to control junk cars.

He said it would put restrictions on persons having vehicles repaired, on those restoring antique cars and on persons storing used lumber or machinery.

SPELLED OUT

The ordinance would prohibit "any person, firm or cooperation from storing, wrecking or dismantling disabled or inoperable motor vehicles or trailers or salvage materials anywhere within the city" without having obtained license from the city clerk. The license would cost $50.

* * *

The section states, "no person, firm or corporation shall cause or permit any salvage materials, including ... scrap metal, junk scrap lumber, waste paper products, discarded building materials, used, damaged or disabled machinery or machinery parts, or abandoned, disabled, inoperable, or wrecked motor vehicles or trailers, or any waste materials, to be in or upon a yard, garden, lawn, vacant lot, gasoline service station outbuilding or other premises" without a license.

* * *

The ordinance calls for violators to be subject to a $100 fine or 90 days in jail, or both.

Commissioners also approved an amendment to the city's human relations ordinance fixing the commission's executive committee. The change had been recommedned by the human relations commission.

Clean-Water Study Is OK'd

A feasibility study — not to exceed $50,000 — to determine the best long-range methods of combating water pollution was approved last night by city commissioners.

Also approved was the expenditure of $5,800 for improving four traffic signals on M59 (Huron) at Franklin Boulevard, at Wayne, at Saginaw and at Perry.

The study will call for the city's water engineering consultants, Jones and Henry, Limited, to provide a detailed study of available alternates in water pollution control.

The firm is expected to recommend the best alternate types of processes city should use for water pollution control.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS

Director of Public Works and Service Joseph E. Neipling said the city share will be about $5,800 for State Highway Department proposal to improve the traffic signal system.

Total cost of the improvements will reach about $8,600, he said. Following a set formula, the city will pay 50 per cent of the improvement where the intersection is entirely a state highway and 75 per cent where the highway is an eastbound state trunkline.

He said the plan calls for more sophisticated control devices to interlock traffic signals in a coordinated control system. This will reduce congestion, he said.

Fowler to Serve City on OCCEO

T. Warren Fowler Sr., District 1 city commissioner, was appointed last night to represent the city on the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity.

* * *

OCCESO officials had indicated that an appointment from the City Commission was a necessary requisite to federal funding of the program. The commission vote for Fowler was unanimous.

Time Rebellion Threat Ended

U. P. County Is Told to Keep Central Time

MARQUETTE (UPI) — Another threatened time rebellion bit the dust Tuesday with a ruling by Marquette County Prosecutor Edward Quinnell.

Speaking as legal adviser for the Marquette County Board of Supervisors, Quinnell announced that the county would have to stay on central time when the change to standard time comes this Sunday.

* * *

His ruling upset last week's decision of the supervisors to put the county in the eastern time zone for the duration of the standard time period. The supervisors wanted Eastern Standard Time so the county would be on the same time as the Lower Peninsula.

Federal law has put the entire Upper Peninsula in the Central Time Zone, one hour earlier than the rest of the state.

SEVERAL DEFECTIONS

Several counties at the eastern end of the U.P., however, have defected from the Central Zone and observed the same time as the Lower Peninsula year around.

* * *

Quinnell announced that persons wishing to observe legal time should turn their clocks back at 2 a.m. CDT, this Sunday. Had the board of supervisors ruling remained in effect, the clocks would have been left alone and the rest of the state in the Eastern Zone would have automatically "caught up" with the county when it turned its clocks back.

* * *

Quinnell said federal and state offices, Northern Michigan University, WLUC-TV and many other local offices and institutions had all planned to turn their clocks back and stay in the central zone despite the supervisors' earlier ruling.

NY Doesn't Look Strife-Plagued, but It Is

NEW YORK (AP) — A teachers' strike paralyzes the 1.1-million-pupil public school system, police patrolmen continue a work slowdown and firemen start one today—but for most visitors there is little visible evidence of New York's intensifying municipal labor crisis.

★ ★ ★

The 900 schools, most of them locked with only custodians inside, are off the usual tourist paths, most police cars still patrol the streets, and fire engines continue to respond to emergency calls with sirens wailing.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps a tourist visiting City Hall might see pickets or glimpse the idled children playing in the parks, but nowhere was there the obvious physical evidence of crisis such as the massive traffic tie-ups in the 1966 subway strike.

But the school controversy has brought subtler consequences such as the loss of momentum in studies and charges and countercharges of racism and anti-Semitism that are both more difficult to measure and less certain in their long term effects.

NEW MOVES

As the strike by the 55,000-member United Federation of Teachers cost another day of classes—the 19th of 30 in the fall term — the board of education made new moves aimed at ending the walkout.

★ ★ ★

The board announced Tuesday night it would seek an injunction against the administrator, Rhody McCoy, and governing board of the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican Ocean Hill-Brownsville experimental school district in Brooklyn to prevent them from interfering with the reinstatement of 80 disputed white teachers.

★ ★ ★

At the same time the central board said Mayor John V. Lindsay would temporarily close Junior High School 271—one of Ocean Hill's eight schools—if the union would call off its third strike of the term. The union has charged that teachers were harassed at JHS271.

★ ★ ★

Union President Albert Shanker said he would present the board statement to the UFT delegate assembly at a meeting today but declined to comment further. Other UFT officials said they doubted that the move would end the walkout.

$19 MILLION COST

John Doar, president of the central board, said the strikes had already cost the city $19 million in state aid and declared, "The time to end this dispute is now."

"High school seniors are being permanently handicapped in their efforts to enter the college of their choice," Doar continued. "They suffer academically, their chances for scholarship consideration declines, their very futures are being impaired. Students in all grades have lost momentum which will be increasingly difficult to regain."

★ ★ ★

The UFT struck Sept. 9, as the fall term opened, over the Ocean Hill board's refusal to reinstate the 80 teachers ousted last spring. A hearing examiner had later dismissed the local board's charges that the teachers tried to sabotage the decentralization experiment.

In the second day of a slowdown by the 22,000-member Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, 2,701 policemen called in "sick" to back their demands for reopening of wage negotiations.

NO CARS TOWED

The absentees forced the police department to cancel its midtown Manhattan auto tow-away program so that the officers would be assigned to more vital duties.

Other slowdown tactics include cutting to a minimum the number of traffic tickets issued, but union officials maintain there is no letup in crime fighting activities.

Both the patrolmen and firemen have turned down a city contract offer that would increase their annual wage from $9,383 to $10,750 over two years.

The PBA acted first, claiming the higher hazards of regular police duty entitle its members to higher salaries than those of firemen and special policemen with the housing, corrections and transit departments.

ASKING PARITY

In turn the 10,500 members of the Uniformed Firefighters Association rejected the offer and slated the slowdown on training, building inspection, paper work and other nonemergency tasks to support its demand for salary parity with patrolmen.

Racially Troubled School Reopens

DETROIT (UPI) — Mackenzie High School, reopened under an uneasy truce yesterday after discontented Negro students had forced a two-day halt of classes, was still wedged in a deep student split today.

The 3,700-student school, about 85 per cent Negro, was to resume a full schedule of classes, Principal Sidney Berkowitz said. Assemblies Friday and Monday, which resulted in charges of racism against white teachers, forced the closing of the school.

★ ★ ★

At the reopening assembly yesterday, one Negro student leader, Dale Evans, said the students shouldn't "have to apologize for anything that happened."

He charged that two boys were struck with a chain by a school employe and that two policemen, called in to quell the disturbance, "approached with drawn guns."

TO REPORT INCIDENTS

Berkowitz urged the students to report specific incidents of racism.

A second student group, meanwhile, called for the school administration to take a stiffer stand toward militant students. The organization, formed only a few days ago and called the Concerned Students for Mackenzie, said it aimed to "put the liberals and moderates some place to go besides the Afro-American Club."

DWIGHT PITKIN

Ex-Newsman Dead at 67; Saw 2 Wars

ROYAL OAK (AP) — Dwight L. Pitkin, whose 40-year career as a newsman included covering two wars in Europe for the Associated Press, died Monday in this Detroit suburb. He was 67.

Pitkin was stricken by an apparent heart attack at his home and was pronounced dead upon arrival at a hospital.

Pitkin retired as a member of the Detroit AP staff in 1964 after a career as a newsman which began on the Detroit News shortly after he was graduated from Depauw University at Greencastle, Ind., in 1923.

He was the son of an Indiana Methodist minister.

Pitkin was an Associated Press correspondent in two wars, the Spanish Civil War and World War II. He was stationed in Europe from 1937 to 1941, returning to New York until 1944, when he again was assigned to Europe for two years.

Upon his return he joined the Associated Press bureau in Columbus, Ohio, and then transferred to Detroit in 1949. He had served in Louisville and Frankfort, Ky., bureaus before going overseas.

★ ★ ★

Survivors include his wife, Bernice, and a daughter, Mrs. Robert Reid, both of Royal Oak; three brothers, Dr. Mackenzie Pitkin of Martinsville, Ind., Dr. William Pitkin of Carbondale, Ill., and Horace Pitkin of Vincennes, Ind. and a sister, Mrs. Allen Zimmer of Louisville, Ky.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow at 1 p.m. from the First United Methodist Church of Royal Oak.

Law Students Favor Humphrey

CHICAGO (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey was the overwhelming favorite for president among Northwestern University law students who took part in a mock election Tuesday.

Humphrey received 223 votes, or 71 per cent, compared with 75 for Richard M. Nixon and 4 for George C. Wallace. Sixteen students said they would not vote for president this year and other votes went to Eldridge Cleaver, 5; Dick Gregory, 3; and Pat Paulsen, 2.

Housing Loan OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a senior citizens housing loan of $2.3 million for construction of 15-story dwelling units to be located in Oak Park, it was announced Tuesday.

Superschool Dispute to Be Aired by Board

The controversial location of Pontiac's super high school is expected to be discussed by the board of education tomorrow, but no board action is planned.

Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer is scheduled to bring the trustees up-to-date on developments pertaining to the school site.

* * *

No action is anticipated since school officials are waiting for a final site study report from urban planner David Lewis of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Lewis presented an oral report which favored a site at Orchard Lake Avenue and Bagley, near the center of Pontiac, to the school board Oct. 3 and to the Pontiac Area Planning Council Oct. 10.

A COMMITMENT?

The controversy stems from what some people feel was a commitment by the school board to put the high school for 4,500 students on the Pontiac State Hospital grounds.

Other major items on the agenda include a report on predesign studies of the high school and a progress report on preliminary plans, site acquisition and master site plan for the proposed Human Resource Center elementary school complex near City Hall.

* * *

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. at the school administration building, 350 E. Wide Track.

Scholarship Set Up at OU

Establishment of a $10,000 scholarship fund at Oakland University through a gift of the Roy G. Michell Charitable Foundation and Trust of Ferndale has been announced by John E. Gibson, dean of OU's School of Engineering.

* * *

"This generous gift will allow a number of able scholars who might otherwise not be able to complete their studies in engineering for financial reasons to complete their education," Gibson said.

* * *

The dean also noted that the establishment of the scholarships coincides with the rapid expansion of Oakland's modern engeneering program and with the dedicatory year for the school's new Dodge Hall of Engineering.

Construction Strike Talks Set for Detroit

A meeting with federal mediators has been set for tomorrow between parties in a strike which has stopped construction on Oakland County's $2 8.5-million Clinton-Oakland interceptor Sewer.

On strike since Oct. 1 is the statewide Local 324 of the International Union of Operating Engineers. Some 600 of their workers (11,000 in state) are on strike against the Associated Underground Contractors, firms which contract for digging operations such as sewers and pipelines.

* * *

Representatives of the firms and the union are to meet at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Federal Building in downtown Detroit.

According to a union official, William J. Myers, Local 324's business manager, negotiators are still about 50 cents apart on wages and working conditions and fringe benefits also have not been settled. Top classification of worker gets $5.55 hourly at present, he said.

The strike has most large construction jobs in the state at a standstill, however, some work is preceeding under interim agreements, Myers said.

OU Receives 6 Key Grants

Oakland University has accepted six major grants totaling $338,938.

The largest grant is in the amount of $225,244 from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW) for continued support of the National Defense Student Loan Program at Oakland University.

* * *

Three grants for Oakland's new Institute of Biological Sciences were accepted: $41,738 from HEW to support study of intraocular fluid dynamics, under the direction of V. Everett Kinsey, director of the institute; $29,378 from HEW and $5,750 from the Fight for Sight —National Council to Combat Blindness, Inc., both to support study of intraocular transport and both under the direction of V. N. Reddy, assistant director of the institute.

The other two grants were in the amount of $19,608 from HEW for continued support of research on "Hydroxypropiophenone and Chemically Induced Hepatomas," under the direction of Nalin J. Unaker, associate professor of biology, and $17,220 from the U.S. Army Research Office for support of research on "Thermomagnetic Effects in Rarefield Gases," under the direction of Robert M. Williamson, professor of physics.

Court Upholds Conviction in Bribery Case

The Michigan Court of Appeals yesterday upheld the bribery conviction of an alleged Mafia leader involved in the operation of a gambling establishment in Pontiac more than three years ago.

Losing his appeal was Angelo (Barrels) Lombardi, 39, of Detroit.

* * *

Lombardi was found guilty by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury in June 1966 of conspiracy to bribe and the bribery of a Pontiac police officer who was working undercover to break up the gambling house known as the Seaway Civic and Social Club.

Sentenced to 2 to 5 years in prison for the conspiracy and 2 to 4 years for the bribery, he has been free on bond since his conviction.

2 OTHERS CONVICTED

Two other men involved in the operation were convicted of conspiracy to bribe. Odus Tincher, 51, is presently serving a 1-to-5-year prison sentence after losing his appeal in June.

The third defendant, Charles Rousos, 54, never appealed his sentence of five years probation.

* * *

A year ago, Lombardi pleaded guilty to maintaining the gambling operation and was fined $500. He was once described in a U.S. Senate subcommittee hearing as a Mafia section leader.

Ex-State Hospital Exec Retiring

He was acting superintendent at PSH from 1941-44 while Supt. P. V. Wagley served in the war. Rennell has been superintendent at Coldwater for 24 years.

Nixon Says Democratic Administration Can't Restore Peace

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, accusing Hubert H. Humphrey of treating Vietnam with "the fastest, loosest tongue in the nation," said today the Democratic administration "cannot restore peace."

Until now, the Republican presidential candidate had been saying he hoped President Johnson could achieve a Vietnam peace before the Nov. 5 election, and he also had repeatedly said he would use great care in discussing the question lest he interfere with the Paris peace talks.

Ron Ziegler, a Nixon press aide, said in response to an inquiry that the latest statement by the GOP nominee did not reflect any secret information about the current peace search but referred to what had transpired on the public record.

Nixon and all other major presidential candidates have been briefed periodically by Johnson aides on the peace negotiations and, just last week, he talked with the President by telephone about the matter—as did his rivals.

TRAIN TOUR

The latest step-up in Nixon's war of words against Humphrey and the Democratic record came in a statement issued as he moved from a 15-hour Ohio train tour Tuesday into a three-city flying visit to Michigan today.

He spent Tuesday night in Toledo, Ohio, where he told an overflow crowd of more than 5,000 at a rally that the Vietnam war "could have been ended before now with a better kind of leadership." He then dropped the subject there.

★ ★ ★

In the past, Nixon generally has lined up in support of Johnson's Vietnam policy, while often suggesting he could have handled the matter better.

In his Saginaw statement, the GOP candidate said: "The present administration wanted peace. But it couldn't keep it. It has not kept up our military strength. It has not maintained American prestige. And, now it cannot restore peace."

Nixon made 10 speeches in nine Ohio towns and cities Tuesday, drawing rather large and generally enthusiastic crowds. Hecklers, though few in number, made their presence especially known on two occasions —when an unidentified object was thrown at him, barely missing, at Springfield, and later when an egg was heaved at the platform from which he was speaking in Lima. The egg hit a state official.

Wallace Target...for Apples, Eggs, Tomatoes

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — George C. Wallace, hit on the shoulder by an apple core, spent the day in Wisconsin Tuesday trying to speak above chants and catcalls. Eggs and tomatoes thrown at him missed.

At Racine, Wis., his car was surrounded by shouting youths. Secret Service agents and Alabama state troopers accompanying the third-party presidential candidate had to force their way through the crowd to get Wallace out of the car.

Wallace sought votes from labor union members in Ohio today where he came to deliver a major labor speech at Youngstown.

Moments before his car was surrounded, Wallace, who received 34 per cent of the votes in the 1964 Democratic presidential primary in Wisconsin, had spoken at a crowded auditorium in downtown Racine.

SPORADIC OUTBURST

He encountered sporadic outbursts of heckling there, but none of the sustained shouting and booing which almost kept him from being heard during his appearance at Oshkosh.

Wallace left the Racine Auditorium to drive one block to a hotel to address a $25-a-plate fund-raising dinner. When his car reached the entrance, it was surrounded by shoving, shouting youths who managed to push the automobile into another ahead of it.

Racine police took two youths into custody and finally cleared the street. The crowd was still outside an hour later when Wallace left the hotel under heavy escort and drove back to Milwaukee to spend the night.

At Oshkosh shortly after noon, several hundred hecklers were on hand as he spoke in a downtown square. Eggs, tomatoes and apple cores were thrown at him.

'IT'LL WASH OFF'

One apple core struck Wallace in the shoulder. He told the crowd: "It's all right. It'll wash off."

Then, pointing to the protesting students, he added: "That's a bunch of anarchists."

At Oshkosh and again at Racine, he spotted young men with long hair and quipped: "Hi, sweetie. Oh, pardon me, I thought you were a she, but you're a he. It's hard for me to tell the boys from the girls around here."

His supporters in the audience cheered him on.

'LISTEN TO ME'

Wallace, smiling, urged the students to listen to him. "I may not teach you any politics," he told them, "but at least I can teach you some manners."

"They're going to destroy academic freedom in this country if it continues to be abused as it is today," the southerner told his listeners at Racine.

★ ★ ★

He said the other two presidential candidates, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon, have "kowtowed to anarchists in the streets." And when they do that, he declared, "they're not fit to lead this country."

SAME TO YOU, FELLA — Third-party presidential candidate George Wallace throws kisses to hecklers yesterday after being hit by an apple core during a street rally in Oshkosh, Wis. Eggs and tomatoes were also hurled at the former Alabama governor.

Jury Charges 2

CHICAGO (AP) — A Saginaw, Mich., man has been charged by a federal grand jury in Chicago with interstate transportation of $100,000 worth of stolen securities. J.B. Floyd, 33, was charged, along with Ebb Grant Sr., 58, of Madison, Wis., with transportation of the securities from Kenosha to Chicago last July.

Debate on China

DETROIT (AP)—Foreign Students from Wayne State University, the University of Windsor, Michigan State and the University of Detroit are to take part in a discussion of whether Red China should be allowed to join the United Nations. The program, set for Oct. 24 at WSU, is being sponsored by the WSU foreign student office and the League of Women Voters. The students are to present the official views of their governments.

VP to Take 'Magic' to California After Healing Texas Split

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, hailed by Texas Democrats as a "miracle worker" for bringing together their warring leaders, will find his healing skills in demand again today when he gets to California.

Not only are California's Democratic leaders caught in internal party disputes, but a sizeable number of rank and file members were won to the peace stands of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and are following him in withholding support for any presidential candidate at the moment.

The result has been a sputtering campaign on Humphrey's behalf that finds him trailing his Republican rival, Richard M. Nixon, in the polls in their contest for California's 40 electoral votes.

Humphrey strategists, apparently alarmed at reports from California, sent Joseph Rauh on an emergency flight to Los Angeles from Texas Tuesday Rauh, a Washington attorney and former national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, is a McCarthy supporter now campaigning for Humphrey.

SMOOTHING THE WAY

The day before, Kenneth O'Donnell, who backed the presidential bid of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and now is for Humphrey, was also sent west to smooth the way for Humphrey's arrival.

Whatever problems lie ahead in California, however, the Humphrey camp feels its Texas problems have been solved with a solid lineup of top Democrats behind Humphrey's candidacy.

Humphrey put the newfound unity in the party on display Tuesday in a series of rallies that began in Fort Worth at noon and wound up 12 hours later in San Antonio. In between there were stops at Dallas, Waco and Austin.

At each stop the prize attraction was the sight of Gov. John Connally and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, leaders of conservative and liberal wings of the party, standing side by side on the platform behind Humphrey.

TOOK TURNS

Each took turns introducing the vice president, praising his qualities and urging Democrats to follow their example and unite to produce a Humphrey victory Nov. 5.

Yarborough said the Democratic party had never known such unity in Texas in 24 years and Connally, hailing Humphrey as the peacemaker, said "I tell you, he's a miracle worker."

The jet plane swing through the heart of Texas also featured surprise appearances by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, her daughter Luci and grandson Lyn Nugent.

Mrs. Johnson arrived just as the Dallas rally was ending. She said she had been about to take a plane for Washington when she saw the gathering at the airport and decided to come over and say a few words in Humphrey's support. She also gave him a hug and kiss.

Dems Cry Foul Over GOP Ad

DETROIT (AP) — A nationwide radio ad for Richard Nixon begins: "Bob Norsworthy is a Democrat, but Nov. 5 he's voting for Dick Nixon. . ."

Norsworthy then goes on to declare why he's voting for the Republican presidential nomine in 1968.

Michigan Democratic leaders are seething over the commercial. The reason: Norsworthy is not a Democrat. He admits it.

Currently Norsworthy is manager of Republican Peter O'Rourke's campaign for Congress in Michigan's 14th District. Last year Norsworthy joined Republican Gov. George Romney's presidential drive and was a key aide until Romney quit before the New Hampshire primary.

WORKED FOR GRIFFIN

Before that he was a volunteer worker in Republican Robert P. Griffin's successful race for the U.S. Senate in 1966.

"I'm really very embarrassed about this," Norsworthy said.

Keith Mohlin, executive director of the Wayne (Detroit) County Republican Committee, said William Loftus, New York organizer of Democrats for Nixon, called and asked quickly for 25 Democrats who would be willing to go on record for Nixon.

Mohlin said short notice made organization difficult and Norsworthy was called to fill the gap, but "We quite clearly announced in the taping session that 'Bob Norsworthy is a former Democrat.'

"Somehow the 'former' got dropped."

Former Portuguese Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar has regained the faculty of speech to a limited extent, his doctors announced in Lisbon.

Salazar, 79, who suffered a crippling stroke Sept. 16 that cost him his office and nearly his life, sometimes responds to verbal commands "with articulation of isolated words," a medical communique said yesterday.

It also said that while Salazar remains in a comatose state called "coma vigil," he can move his right arm when ordered to do so.

Despite the improvements in Salazar's state of consciousness, the statement said, the progress continues reserved."

Actress to Sub for Daughter on TV Show

Actress Joan Crawford, 60, will substitute for her daughter, Christina, for four programs of the daytime television soap opera, "The Secret Storm."

Christina Crawford, who created the role on the CBS program last April, is recovering from an operation in New York.

Joan Crawford will take over her role starting Friday.

When she offered to assume her daughter's role, Miss Crawford said, CBS told her, "You've got to be kidding. We can't afford you."

"I'll do it for nothing," Miss Crawford said she told them, adding: "but I'm afraid they'll have to give me scale. I'll pay my hairdresser with my scale."

Inventor of Army Carbine Is Honored

David M. (Carbine) Williams, who invented the U.S. Army carbine rifle while in prison and became a war hero, was appointed an honorary U.S. deputy marshal yesterday in Raleigh, N.C., by federal Judge John D. Larkins Jr.

Williams, 63, a native of Cumberland County, N.C., was presented a deputy badge which was worn by a U.S. marshal during the days of the Old West.

Williams invented the carbine in 1925 while serving a prison sentence for shooting and killing a revenue agent at a liquor still in Cumberland County. A movie of his life was made several years ago.

Judge Orders Look at Earnings of Dance Team

A New York Supreme Court justice yesterday ordered that a referee look into the earnings of the international dance team of Darvas and Julia.

Julie Susler DeBierre seeks an accounting from her former partner, Nicholas Darvas, author of the book "How I made $2 million in the Stock Market." The pair was a team from 1944 to 1961.

Darvas contended he made the $2 million from $100,000 given to him by his father, a Hungarian grocer.

Justice Xavier C. Riccobono rejected that plea. He said it was "an affront to common sense" to accept Darvas' contention that his partner's services had been paid in full by room, board, costumes, clothes and pocket money."

Mrs. DeBierre was married to Marquis DeBierre in 1961. She resides in Manhattan with a 7-year-old daughter. Darvas lives in Paris.

AF Officer Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air Force Lt. Col. Ray E. Codding, husband of Mrs. Irma G. Codding of Detroit, was listed by the Defense Department Tuesday as having died in Vietnam of nonhostile causes. The department listed 18 U.S. servicemen as having died in recent Vietnam action.

The tallest buildings in the world will be those of the twin buildings of the World Trade Center in Manhattan, opening in 1970. They will be 1,350 feet tall.

30 States Allow Vote Time Off

Employers Must Foot the Bill in 19 of Them

CHICAGO (AP) — Laws in 30 states allow workers time off the job to vote in the Nov. 5 general election, a survey showed today.

Seventeen states require that the worker notify his employer of his election day plans and three states—Kansas, Iowa and West Virginia—require that the application be in writing.

* * *

In 19 states, employers are barred from making deductions from an employe's wages for the time he is authorized to be absent from work to cast his vote.

The survey was made by Commerce Clearing House, a private reporting agency on tax and business law.

NOT REQUIRED

In Wisconsin, Kentucky, Alabama and Illinois, the law requires that time off be granted but pay for the time off is not required.

In seven states—Indiana, Arkansas, New Mexico, Georgia, Oklahoma, Massachusetts and Ohio—the statutes are silent regarding payment for voting time. But, in Ohio, Arkansas and New Mexico, the attorneys general have construed the law to require pay—in New Mexico limited to two hours for hourly paid workers and in Ohio, limited to salaried employes.

Commerce Clearing House said the survey showed that laws in a number of states contained provisions that time off must be allowed during working hours only if the polls are not open for a sufficient length of time during nonworking hours.

The laws of South Dakota and Hawaii, for instance, specify that if the polls are open for two consecutive hours during nonworking time, the employe has opportunity to vote without time off the job. Tennessee and Missouri extend that time to three hours.

DISCHARGE BARRED

Minnesota law specifies that workers may take the forenoon off for voting. Ohio has no definite period but bars the discharge of an employe who takes a reasonable amount of time off to vote.

Arkansas law calls for total suspension of work or change of shift by 4 p.m. on election day.

* * *

Penalties for violation of time-off-to-vote laws include fines ranging from $1 to $1,000 in 25 of the 30 states with these laws on their books, as well as jail sentences running from 30 days up to five years in 14 of the 30 states.

N. Viet Has Pulled 12,000 Troops Back

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the past five months, North Vietnamese army units totaling 12,000 or more men have retreated so far north of the demilitarized zone that they are now "out of the war," military officials said today.

In the phrase used by military men, they are "not now in position to influence" the war in the South.

* * *

Defense officials do not believe these withdrawals are part of any peace move. There is doubt just what their significanse is.

One group of North Vietnamese army units, totaling several thousand men, began moving north across the DMZ last June. Instead of remaining just north of the zone, the troops went far to the north.

THOUSANDS MORE

In about the past six weeks, another several thousand North Vietnamese troops, in organized units, have done the same thing.

The figure "12,000 or more" is a rough approximation of the number of men in units involved in these two movements. These forces were included in the estimate given recently by defense officials that 30,000 to 40,000 North Vietnamese troops have moved away from South Vietnamese cities toward or across the Laos, Cambodia and DMZ borders.

This leaves some 18,0000 to 28,000 troops in organized North Vietnamese army units presently located close by — on one side or the other of these borders.

NEW EXECUTIVE LIMOUSINE — President Johnson is shown on the White House grounds with the new 21-foot limousine he received yesterday. The latest in a series of cars designed and built specifically for presidential needs, it features bomb- and bulletproof armor, a public address system the President can use to speak to outside crowds and a sound system enabling outside reaction to be heard inside the car when the windows are closed. Like many conventional limousines, it has separate heating and air-conditioning units for front and rear compartments. Unlike most limousines, the car would retail at around $500,000, although the annual rental is only $1,000.

Quake Watchers Wondering if Alaska Is Settling Down

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (UPI) — Earthquake watchers are wondering whether Alaska is settling down.

University of Alaska seismologists report that normally an average of 150 earthquakes per month are recorded in the state, but during August this year, only 125 were registered, and that figured dropped to 121 during September.

* * *

Furthermore, in the normal pattern, at least one earthquake each month has a magnitude of five or greater on the Richter Scale. But none reached this magnitude during either August or September, although two did register 4.9 in September.

The observations are made as part of a continuing study by the university's Geophysical Institute located at College, near Fairbanks.

SMALL QUAKES

The September record shows that on the afternoon of Sept. 1, a tremor in the Fairbanks area registered 4.9. A week later a shock of similar size struck south of Seward off the Kenai Peninsula.

Another quake jarred Fairbanks Aug. 16, but it registered only 4.5, although local residents claimed it felt stronger than the Sept. 1 quake. Seismologists said this may have been because the Sept. 1 earthquake's center was at a depth of about 20 miles, much deeper than normal, while the second was only eight miles beneath the city.

* * *

One of Alaska's most prevalent earthquake zones is in the Cook Inlet area which embraces the state's largest city, Anchorage. This is where the active volcanoes Mt. Redoubt and Mt. Illiamna breathe fire. This zone had 34 earthquakes each of the two months.

For two months running, the strongest concentration of earthquakes has been along isolated Badger Road near Fairbanks. Rock structures in that vicinity suggest to seismologists the possibility of a weakness in the earth's crust which results in the manifestation of subsurface faulting.

DECLINING NUMBER

While the number of earthquakes has declined during the August-September period from the average, seismologists say there is no reason to be optimistic. Since accurate recording techniques were implemented in the interior at the turn of the century, an earthquake with a magnitude of six or greater has struck the heart of Alaska just about every 10 years.

The next one is due about 1977.

Doctors state that one out of every four persons in the country occasionally or regularly use sedatives to induce sleep.

Junior Editors Quiz on WATER IMAGES

QUESTION: How is water able to reflect objects?

* * *

ANSWER: We have all noticed how calm, still water will present an upside down image of some object appearing above it, such as Jerry's catboat in the picture. The image would only be perfectly sharp and clear if the water was absolutely still.

Generally, there is a bit of movement to the water, which makes the image wobble around. If you find a small mirror and lay it down flat, like a water surface, under some object, you will see an upside down image of the object, much the way our boat is being reflected.

The reason a water surface can act like a mirror is that the molecules of the water crowd together as closely as possible on the surface, making what is called surface tension.

Light rays, coming down on the water from above, will be bounced off this surface. They will shoot off at an angle, like the rubber ball above, producing an image which appears to lie on the water. Rays from the top of the object will appear at the bottom on the water; so, the whole reflection looks upside down.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Good State Harvest Reported for Week

LANSING (AP) — Warm weather enabled most Michigan farmers to make good progress on crop harvests during the past week.

The State Crop Reporting Service said an average of more than five days were suitable for field work.

* * *

The Upper Peninsula generally was the only area that was hindered by excessive moisture. Moisture shortages were reported from a few areas in the Thumb and southeastern Michigan.

The soybean harvest was 55 per cent complete. More than one-third of the crop was harvested during the past week. Progress was nearly two weeks ahead of last year.

CORN HARVEST

More than 10 per cent of the corn for grain was harvested, about one week ahead of last year. Silo filling was nearly complete.

Digging of sugar beets continued and was nearly one-half complete. The potato harvest was nearly two-thirds complete.

* * *

Some fourth cuttings of hay were made in southwestern areas of the state. Other areas retported third cuttings of hay.

Plantings of winter wheat were nearly complete. Early plantings were reported in good condition. In some instances, winter wheat growth was so advanced farmers were considering putting their fields to pasture.

IN DRY AREAS

Fall plowing for winter wheat was continuing, however, in some dry areas of the state.

Some red clover seed was vested during the week. The planting of rye for a cover crop also was nearing completion

Livestock was in good condition. Pastures were supplying forage in most areas.

The apple harvest was nearing completion. Growers of Golden Delicious apples in the south reported an unusually heavy drop because of the warm weather.

Spy Cameras Used to Snare Air Polluters

DETROIT (UPI) — Crime fighters have added a new weapon to their arsenal—a spy camera to catch air polluters in the act.

A special time-lapse camera that will compress 12 hours of belching smoke or fumes into 100 feet of film is being used to bring violating industries into compliance with antipollution ordinances.

The camera, owned and operated by the Detroit-Wayne County Air Pollution Control agencies, has already caught a dozen culprits.

"The system was conceived to confront violators with the actual extent of their emmissions during operations," a spokesman said. "With a full day's observations on film, it is hard for a violator to claim an infraction was an isolated instance."

Minnesota GOP Out to Upset HHH

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Hubert H. Humphrey has beaten and badgered Minnesota Republicans for 20 years, but this year old enemies have high hopes of getting revenge.

At this point, Humphrey appears to have a narrow but growing lead in his home state. But officials of both parties have said privately the race could go either way with the followers of Minnesotan Eugene J. McCarthy perhaps playing a decisive role.

★ ★ ★

Republicans wrote off Minnesota as Humphrey's early in the campaign and seemed almost shocked to find Richard M. Nixon leading by 5 points in a September poll.

Nixon had not been scheduled to campaign in Minnesota. But he was quickly persuaded to make an appearance at a Minneapolis rally.

GIVEN EVEN CHANCE

Some political observers give Nixon at least a 50-50 chance of carrying the state. They point out he lost Minnesota in 1960 by only 20,000 votes.

But even Republicans admit it will be tough to beat Humphrey in this state unless, as one party seer said, his national campaign "goes all to pieces."

★ ★ ★

A Minneapolis Tribune poll, which showed Nixon ahead in September, had Humphrey leading by one point in a later survey. A Democratic-sponsored poll showed Humphrey ahead 49-33 at mid-September.

Warren Spannaus, state chairman of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party (DFL), said the vice president would carry the state by 100,000 votes.

RESURGENCE

"There has been a resurgence of enthusiasm in recent days, Spannaus said. "The campaign is coming alive and I am sure the tempo will pick up in the weeks ahead."

George Thiss, Minnesota's GOP chairman, said Nixon has "an extremely good chance in Minnesota, much better than we thought we would with Humphrey on the ticket."

★ ★ ★

He said a lot will depend on developments of the national campaign and "how well we do in getting out the vote."

It is fair to say, he said, that Nixon was persuaded to visit Minnesota because of "rising Republican hopes."

McCARTHY THE KEY

The key could well be how much help Humphrey gets from devotees of his old friend Sen. McCarthy.

McCarthy forces took over three congressional districts in the Twin Cities area last spring and party regulars had all they could do to keep them from overwhelming the state organization.

The Vietnam war continues to be a big issue in Minnesota, especially among Democrats. And a few McCarthy leaders announced qualified support for Humphrey after he said he would be willing to stop bombing North Vietnam.

Spannaus said more and more McCarthy people were falling in line behind Humphrey. "We expect to get all but a few of the extremists who we knew we could never get anyway," he said.

RAY OF HOPE

Spannaus takes some hope in the fact that McCarthy's forces in Minneapolis did poorly with their candidate in Minnesota's Sept. 10 primary. Angered that DFL Congressman Donald Frazier, a dove, had supported Humphrey for the nomination, they put up University of Minnesota Prof. Grover Maxwell to oppose him.

Maxwell proved no more than token opposition. Republican hopes are based in Minnesota on a strong organization and what Thiss called a "remarkable degree of party unity" which has developed this year.

Minnesota Republicans, Humphrey's old victims, have made a major comeback in the last few years, winning all but one of the offices in the state capital. The party has a big, full-time staff at the state office and is in a strong financial position.

Public Responds to N.C. Invitation: Ride With Police

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Police have extended a general invitation to the public to ride with supervisors on Friday nights and "see what we're up against."

★ ★ ★

Charlotte Police Chief J. C. Goodman Jr. said Tuesday, "We want people to see the police handling situations, to see police brutality, if there is any, to see the police handling domestic situations, to get on the front lines."

★ ★ ★

In addressing a police community relations seminar, he said, "We've got nothing to hide. Come down and see it first-hand. Tell people about what you saw."

However, Goodman added, the invitation already had proved so popular that "we're booked solid through November."

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — A letter from a young Billings miss addressed "To God, Heven" turned up recently in the mailbag of the Billings Gazette.

The girl, identified only as Lorrie, wrote:

Airline Union Looking for Even Bigger Pact Than in '66

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline mechanics, whose big contract raises helped squash President Johnson's economic guidelines two years ago, are going for even bigger increases — a whopping 40 per cent—in new negotiations.

Talks between the machinists' union and seven major airlines, five of which were struck for six-weeks in 1966, start next month.

★ ★ ★

The union asked for 30 per cent raise over three years last time out and wound up with a wage and benefit package the government estimated at 15 per cent and the union set at about 18 per cent.

Either way, the contract shattered the administration's 3.2 per cent a year guideline, and by the end of the year Johnson had abandoned the guideline for a more flexible approach.

5 PCT. OR BETTER

Settlements of 5 per cent or better in the electrical industry, rails, trucking and autos followed the airline pact.

The two sides are starting out with what the union calls "separate but coordinated bargaining" in hopes of avoiding government pressures stirred up during the 1966 negotiations.

★ ★ ★

"We don't want compulsory arbitration," said a union spokesman. "We don't want Congress involved in this."

President Johnson temporarily blocked a strike in 1966 by invoking the Railway Labor Act's 60-day cooling-off period in April and creating an emergency board headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

WALKED OUT

The union rejected the 3.5 per cent raise recommended by the Morse panel and walked out in July. When the strike ended, the House was considering a Senate-passed resolution ordering the strikers back to work for 30 days and giving President Johnson authority to order them back for another 150 days.

Despite this year's separate bargaining, all seven contracts expire on the same date, Dec. 31, less than a month before the inauguration.

The AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, which bargains for about 50,000 airline mechanics, is seeking a package which would raise top pay to $6 an hour in 1971. Men at the top of the wage scale are now earning $4.14 per hour, plus a 5-cent hourly bonus to flight-line mechanics and up to 10 cents an hour extra in longevity pay.

A union spokesman said it was too early to say whether the union might extend contracts with some airlines if a pattern-setting agreement was in sight at strike deadline.

PROFIT SQUEEZE

The airlines complained recently that the cost of switching to king-size planes is squeezing their profits. But the union says airline profits are still rising and the workers deserve a share of the increase.

In addition to the big wage increases, the union is demanding major improvments in vacations, holidays, health insurance, pensions, overtime pay, extra money for certain work and severance pay.

★ ★ ★

Bargaining is scheduled to start with United Air Lines, probably on Nov. 14. A complicating factor in this case is an attempt by an independent union, the Aircraft Mechanics Fraternal Association, to oust the Machinists as bargaining agent. Results of an election between the two unions is expected to be announced Nov. 14.

Involved with United in the 1966 strike were Trans World, Eastern, Northwest and National. Two other airlines that settled without a strike last time, Braniff and Continental, are also involved in the negotiations.

'Wide, Heavy Autos Safer in Accidents'

DETROIT (AP)—Small, light, narrow automobiles involved in accidents are more likely to overturn than large, heavy cars which are wider, a researcher said yesterday.

Rollover accidents also are responsible for more deaths and serious injuries, often because of the ejection of a car's occupant or occupants, John W. Garrett said at the 12th Stapp Car Crash Conference.

★ ★ ★

The Stapp conference is named for Col. John P. Stapp, permanent chairman of the National Highway Safety Bureau.

Garrett, coprincipal investigator of the Automobile Crash Injury Research program at Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, Buffalo, N.Y., said his findings were based on a study of 8,749 automobiles involved in accidents in Utah and 2,960 in New Mexico in which people were injured or property damaged. The study was limited to sedans.

MORE STABLE

Garrett said the frequency of rollover decreased as car weigh and tread width—the lateral distance between the wheels—increased and car height was lowered.

He said, however, that lowering the height of cars had led to grumbling by car owners because of the difficulty of getting into or out of cars and because of limited head room.

His views were presented in a paper prepared for the conference.

Bundy Cancels

EAST LANSING (AP) — "Pressures in Washington" have forced cancelation of a Michigan State University appearance by William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for East Asian and Pacific affairs. Bundy had been scheduled to appear tonight on the MSU lecture-concert series. Series Director Wilson Paul said he did not know if the appearance would be rescheduled.

Jig Time's Expensive

NEW YORK (AP) — Jig Time, a 3-year-old, was sold for $110,000 at the auction sale of horses of racing age at Belmont Park Tuesday. E. Delong Bowman of The Plains, Va., bought the colt for breeding purposes.

As Schools Demand Drama

Shakespeare Company Is Expanding

NEW YORK (AP) — The call for drama in schools and colleges is causing major expansion of the National Shakespeare Company which specializes in educational theatricals.

Three troupes will travel coast-to-coast, instead of one as heretofore. Each will have a different purpose—even to ignoring the titular bard himself entirely.

* * *

Altogether, 300 performances are scheduled between now and mid-May in such major spots as Cleveland, Houston, St. Louis, and in less ornate communities like Mishawauke, Ind., Red Bluff, Calif., and Whitewater, Wis., for about 400,000 spectators.

"We added the second unit because of the tremendous demand for bookings," explains Philip Meister, the founder-director.

NATIONAL IMAGE

"Then we put on the third unit because we felt the time had come to branch out.

During the next two or three years we want to develop a national image of providing a certain quality of work so that sponsors will be interested regardless of what particular plays we are doing."

* * *

The season agenda translates into fiscal gross of $335,000, a rather impressive amount in comparison to the $6,000 involved in first-year endeavor in 1963.

But now as then, Meister insists on gearing artistic creativity to box-office reality. Each tour date is performed against a guarantee from local sponsors, and the total of those guarantees is the amount upon which NSC budgets all costs.

NO FOUNDATION SUPPORT

"We've never had a single cent of foundation support," Meister likes to point out, "and we'll probably survive longer without any. That doesn't mean we won't possibly attract some support, but our budgeting will always be based strictly on what we take in at the box office."

And although "a touring company is somewhat limited in the choice of what it can do," compared to resident activity, Meister at this point wants to avoid any such involvement.

* * *

"For a long time," he says, "we wanted to develop permanent relationship with a regional theater and were offered one last year. But we shied off, aware of the complexities of working with local boards of trustees.

Instead, the troupe that lacks a home display base, like the Association of Producing Artists or American Conservatory Theater, is cautiously looking ahead to creating a Manhattan playhouse of its own.

HEADQUARTERS

A step in that direction has been taken with recent acquisition of a midtown, five-story brownstone building as an operational and rehearsal headquarters.

Working within a cautious Micawber frame of never letting outgo exceed assured income may cause problems — "some times we have to pass up an actor we can't afford or a property that's contractually complicated"—but there are also compensations.

* * *

"Our reputation has grown in the trade, so that each year there is a greater availability of talent and more call for appearances."

Practically all bookings during the troupe's first two years were in high schools. Now 95 per cent of the dates for the unit that started on eight-month travels a couple of weeks ago are in colleges.

MOST REQUESTED

Company No. 1 with 14 players is doing "Murder in the Cathedral," by T.S. Eliot; "Othello," and "The Taming of the Shrew." Local sponsors pick what is performed at each stop, "Othello" is most requested.

* * *

The other two ensembles get going early in 1969. Eleven actors are in the group that will concentrate on high school appearances with "Macbeth" and "Much Ado About Nothing." The other, five-player unit will be branching out with "Brecht on Brecht" and "Don Juan in Hell."

EYES OF THE FUTURE — Philip Meister, the founder-director of the National Shakespeare Company, is looking forward to major expansions in the enterprise. The company, which travels to schools and colleges with performances for drama students, will add a second and third group in 1969.

Food in Spotlight at After-Game Party

'HEAP BIG INJUN' CASSEROLE

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, Pontiac Press

With a month of football games still to come, hostesses are planning after-the-game parties.

But no hostess wants to miss the game, nor does she want to keep her guests waiting long for a meal after they all troop back to the house.

★ ★ ★

Casseroles are the answer, casseroles that can be prepared in the morning and that heat quickly.

You can also prepare a molded salad early in the day or get greens washed and crisped for a colorful salad bowl.

For dessert, how about an old-fashioned spice cake made with sour cream? This is especially good with caramel icing.

Macaroni Chili is a dish that improves upon standing. Just be sure to refrigerate it during this time.

MACARONI CHILI

2 pounds ground beef round
3 tablespoons olive or salad oil
1 can (1 pound, 12 ounces) tomatoes
1 quart tomato juice
2 cups chopped onions
3 cloves garlic, minced
Salt
2 tablespoons chili powder
½ teaspoon each:
Ground cumin seed
Oregano leaves
Pepper
1 bay leaf
1 can (15 ounces) red kidney beans, drained
1 cup sweet mixed pickles, chopped
3 quarts boiling water
2 cups elbow macaroni (8 ozs.)

In Dutch oven, brown beef in oil, stirring frequently. Add tomatoes, tomato juice, onions, garlic, 4 teaspoons salt and remaining seasonings.

Simmer, covered, 1 hour; stir in kidney beans and pickles. Cook 30 minutes longer. Remove bay leaf.

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Combine with chili. Serve in bowls. Makes 10 servings.

WITH SAUSAGE

Little sausage patties seasoned with minced raw apple and chopped pimiento are the feature of a hearty vegetable casserole. If you're getting it ready in the morning, assemble it, but don't do the final baking until serving time.

"HEAP BIG INJUN" CASSEROLE

1 pound bulk sausage
Whole pimientos (one 7-ounce plus one 4-ounce) jars or cans, drained
1 small eating apple, cored and minced
2 ears of corn, cut into 1½-inch pieces
1 cup, cooked or canned, each of: lima beans cut green beans
small white onions
¼ cup green peppers, cut in pieces
¼ cup minced onion
Seasoning: salt, pepper, oregano, chili powder
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup tomato juice, stock or broth, or use juice drained from vegetables

Thoroughly mix sausage, ½ cup of chopped pimiento, and apple; shape into 8 or 12 balls or small-patties. Brown sausage patties well in hot frying pan.

Combine all vegetables, minced onion, and remaining pimientos cut in big pieces in large casserole. Season to taste. Add sausage patties.

★ ★ ★

Spoon off fat extracted from sausage during frying from pan, leaving only 2-3 tablespoons. Stir in flour and simmer for a few minutes. Add tomato juice or other liquid, bring to boil, and pour over contents of casserole.

Cover and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 25 minutes. Remove cover and bake an additional 10 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Have you forgotten how easy it is to make a cake from scratch? You'll be delighted with this nutty, spicy, feathery light dessert.

SOUR CREAM CAKE

2 cups sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon allspice
½ cup nut meats
½ cup shortening
2 cups brown sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons vinegar and enough sour cream to make 1 cup

Sift together flour, salt, baking soda and spices. Cream shortening. Gradually add sugar and cream until fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time and beat well after each addition. Add vanilla.

Add combined vinegar and sour cream alternately with dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Fold in broken nuts. Turn into 2 greased 9-inch layer pans, 1½ inches deep, or cup cake pans.

Bake at 375 degrees (moderate oven) 25 to 30 minutes for layers, 20 to 25 minutes for cup cakes. When cool, frost with your favorite frosting.

Makes 2 9-inch layers or 32-36 2¼-inch cup cakes.

Chocolate Treat Made With Cereal

A single Chocolate Crunchie goes a long way — as a snack — and even as a dessert. One of these wholesome sweets, wrapped in a sandwich size plastic bag and tucked into the lunchbox, makes the children's lunch-away-from-home more enjoyable. Or a Crunchie can make a generous after-school snack along with fresh fruit and milk. They're a fine family dessert, too.

Crunchies are a happy combination of cookie and candy. No bake, no cook, you just melt chocolate and stir in all the goodies reminiscent of an old-fashioned candy kitchen—fruit, nuts and spice.

You can always have these favorite treats on hand — for many more occasions than snacks or family desserts — if you make Crunchies by the dozen and store them.

Here's how to keep them so that they maintain their fresh-made crispness: transfer Crunchies from cookie sheets to food wrap size plastic bags, secure with tie bands. Store them in the refrigerator.

★ ★ ★

For convenience, store Crunchies in the smaller sandwich size plastic bags in the snack area of the refrigerator. Let the youngsters help themselves.

CHOCOLATE CRUNCHIES

2 packages (6 oz. ea.) semi-sweet chocolate bits, melted
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup coarsely chopped salted peanuts
½ cup seedless raisins
6 cups ready-to-eat cereal flakes
Slivered candied cherries, optional

Melt chocolate bits in a 2-quart double boiler over boiling water. With a spoon gently stir in cinnamon, peanuts, raisins and cereal.

Drop mixture by rounded tablespoons onto lightly greased cookie sheets. Top each Crunchie with a candied cherry. Refrigerate until firm, about 15 minutes.

Transfer from cookie sheets to food wrap size plastic bags. Refrigerate until needed. Makes about 6 dozen.

Tomato Sauce Flavors Limas

Melt ¼ cup corn oil margarine in skillet. Add ¾ cup chopped onion and ¼ cup chopped green pepper; saute until tender. Stir in 2 cups cubed peeled tomatoes, 1 teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon oregano, ⅛ teaspoon marjoram and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Simmer, uncovered, about 15 minutes, or until thick.

Force mixture through a sieve. Serve hot over 2 cups hot cooked lima beans. Makes 5 servings.

BUBBLY BOWL PUNCH — In a two-quart punch bowl, combine 1 cup orange-flavored instant breakfast drink with 1½ cups pineapple juice and a 28-oz. bottle ginger ale or club soda. Stir until completely dissolved. Add ice cubes. Garnish with mint leaves, if desired. Makes about 10-12 servings.

Even Bread Crumbs Seem Glamorous in Dessert

Question: What can you do with bread crumbs that's new and different? Answer: Fold them into a nutty, nutmeg-flavored dessert with a peachy, caramel top. So feathery-light and flavorful, your family and friends will want it often.

It's an "in-season" dessert year 'round because it uses either fresh or canned peach slices. Serve it warm with sweetened whipped cream, and — instant success!

★ ★ ★

Upside Down Custard-Peach Pudding is a nutritious way to serve dessert. The bread used is enriched, so it provides your family with significant amounts of three B-vitamins, thiamine, niacin, and riboflavin, and the mineral, iron.

Anyway you slice it, Upside Down Custard-Peach Pudding offers good eating.

UPSIDE DOWN CUSTARD-PEACH PUDDING

¼ cup butter
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
2 cups peach slices
3 eggs, separated
1½ cups milk
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup dry enriched bread crumbs
½ cup chopped nuts
½ cup sugar
Sweetened whipped cream, if desired

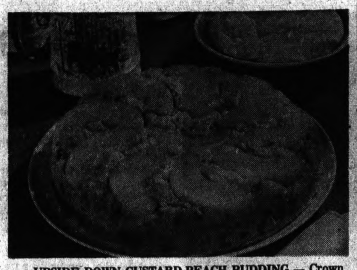
Melt butter in 9-inch round pan; sprinkle with brown sugar. Arrange peach slices in pan. Beat egg yolks; blend in milk, vanilla, nutmeg, bread crumbs and nuts.

Beat egg whites in separate bowl until foamy. Gradually add sugar, beating until shiny peaks form. Fold in bread mixture. Pour evenly over peaches.

★ ★ ★

Bake in preheated 350 degree oven 30 to 35 minutes, or until done. Immediately loosen edges and invert onto serving plate. Serve warm with whipped cream, if desired. Makes 6-8 servings.

A pound of uncooked rice yields about 2¼ cups — enough servings for eight, after cooking.



UPSIDE DOWN CUSTARD-PEACH PUDDING — Crown a moist, spicy bread pudding with a sunburst of succulent peach slices.

Make Your Cheese Spread

Make your own Cheddar Cheese Spread! Serve with any variety of crisp crackers.

In a small mixing bowl beat together until smooth, 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese, at room temperature, ¼ cup light cream or half and half, 2 tablespoons dairy sour cream, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ¼ teaspoon celery salt and ⅛ teaspoon garlic salt. Cover and chill to blend flavors.

When shopping for cheese remember that "natural cheese" applies to cheese in its original form as contrasted with pasturized process cheese, cold pack cheese and other types. The labels of natural cheese and other types of cheese carry important descriptive information you should check when shopping.

Look for the name of the product: Cheddar cheese, Swiss cheese or Blue cheese. Do not confuse the brand name with the name of the cheese.

A Waldorf salad combination of apple, celery and walnuts may be folded into lemon-flavor gelatin to be served as a salad.

Cook Riblets With Chili Seasonings

Coming up soon . . . a Western style supper for teens. You might wish to buy bandanas for napkins but don't go so far as swinging that lariat to catch the hungry youngsters. They'll come bounding to the table if you just mention chili lamb riblets.

★ ★ ★

If you're one of the lucky homemakers with a nickel stainless steel frypan, you know how good it is for browning lamb. And it is equally good when you wish to cook riblets because the tight seal between the lid and pan keeps in all of the flavor.

★ ★ ★

Autumn Harvest lamb is at your butcher's now. The supply of riblets is ample and certainly a cut that you'll want to serve often because of its economy. The chili mix gives the riblets a real kick . . . which is just what teens like today . . . dishes with plenty of zip to them.

CHILI LAMB RIBLETS

3 to 3½ pounds lamb riblets
Water
2 teaspoons salt
1 package (1¾ ounces) chili seasoning mix
1 can (1 pound, 3 ounces) tomatoes
1 can (1 pound) whole kernel corn, drained

Cover riblets with water and add salt; bring to a boil, then simmer covered about 1 hour. Drain riblets.

In large frypan blend chili mix with ½ cup water and tomatoes; simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add riblets and corn; mix well. Cook covered over low heat 15 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

CHILI LAMB RIBLETS — Some of the sweetest, most succulent lamb comes from one of the most economical cuts . . . lamb riblets. Parboil them first; then braise or barbecue for extra good eating.

Nonfat Dry Milk May Be Fortified

Fortification of nonfat dry milk with vitamins A and D has been authorized under a new Federal food standard.

The Food and Drug Administration's standard requires that fortified nonfat dry milk provide 500 USP units of Vitamin A and 100 USP units of Vitamin D in 8 fluid ounces of the reconstituted product.

Because vitamins A and D are fat solube, the quantities of these nutrients which are normally available in whole milk are removed with the fat in proccessing of the nonfat dry product. The new standard has been set for consumers who prefer the nonfat product, but who still wish to get the vitamins normally available in whole milk.

★ ★ ★

The standardized product will be labeled "nonfat dry milk fortified with vitamins A and D." Nonfat dry milk, without the added vitamins, may continue to be sold.

MINESTRONE NO. 101 — Nobody's ever made a count of the many variations on this popular Italian soup. But here's one you're sure to enjoy, combining an appealing form of egg noodles, canned red kidney beans and canned mushrooms.

Puffed Wheat Bars Call for Caramels

Children may like peanut butter carmel bars.

Heat 6 cups of puffed wheat in shallow baking pan in preheated oven about 10 minutes. Pour into large greased bowl.

★ ★ ★

Melt a 14-ounce package of caramels and ½ cup of water in top of double boiler over hot water; stir occasionally until smooth. Beat in ½ cup of chunk style peanut butter and 1 teaspoon of vanilla. Pour over cereal; stir to coat evenly.

★ ★ ★

Press into greased 11 by 7-inch baking pan. Refrigerate until set; cut into bars. Makes 20 bars.

Minestrone Recipe Bows to Tradition

Say "Soup, Italian style," to any American, and what is his first association? "Minestrone," most likely. It's not at all surprising that this dish is the best known of all soups originating in Italy.

Open any Italian cook book and you'll find at least one recipe for the dish. Open another Italian cook book and find another, and quite different, recipe.

Each comes from a different region of Italy, each contains a different combination of vegetables and seasonings. But almost always you find two ingredients: some form of pasta, and some kind of beans.

This new recipe from the National Macaroni Institute has been composed carefully, with a mixture of ingredients which result in a beautiful balance of flavors.

★ ★ ★

The pasta is there in the form of pretty curly egg noodles called Ripplets. The beans, too: convenient canned red kidney beans. And for an extra touch of flavor, typically Italian, there are mushrooms.

MINESTRONE NO. 101

2 tablespoons olive or salad oil
1 large onion, chopped
2 quarts water
1 veal bone
1 can (15 ounces) red kidney beans, drained and rinsed
1 can (3 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms, undrained
Salt and pepper
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon oregano leaves
1 medium zucchini, coarsely chopped
2 cups chopped escarole
1 pound Italian sweet sausage, sliced
4 ounces Ripplets* (about 2 cups)
Freshly grated Parmesan cheese

In large saucepan, heat oil and saute onion until transparent. Add water, veal bone, kidney beans, mushrooms, salt and pepper to taste, garlic, bay leaf and oregano. Bring to boil and simmer, covered, 45 minutes.

Add zucchini, escarole, sausage and noodles. Continue cooking, uncovered 20 minutes. Serve with grated Parmesan cheese. Makes 2½ quarts.

*Or use fine egg noodles.

PREPARING — Leslie Hotchkiss (left) of Fourth Avenue and Jill Watts of East Boulevard North study a cookbook in anticipation of the smorgasbord by Job's Daughters, Bethel No. 5, Saturday in First Federal Savings of Oakland. The 5-7 p.m. event is open to the public.

Inexpensive but So Good

These baked stuffed tomatoes are a good choice either for lunch or as a flavorful addition to a soup, salad and hot-bread dinner. Celery seeds add fillip.

STUFFED TOMATOES

4 medium-sized firm tomatoes
1 can (1½ oz.) deviled ham
2 tablespoons dry bread crumbs
2 teaspoons celery seed
1 teaspoon instant minced onion
1 teaspoon parsley flakes
⅛ teaspoon instant garlic powder
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
Grated Parmesan cheese

Cut thin slice off top of each tomato. Scoop out center; dice pulp and reserve along with tomato shell.

★ ★ ★

Combine ham, bread crumbs, celery seed, minced onion, parsley flakes, garlic powder and black pepper; mix well. Stir in reserved diced tomato pulp. Fill reserved tomato shells with mixture. Sprinkle generously with Parmesan cheese.

Place in a shallow baking pan. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

A plain one or two-egg cake based on from 1 to 2 cups of flour may be baked in a square 8 by 8 inch pan.

CAPPED CUPS — Fall often means a quick lunch and back to school early for outdoor play. What could be better than dessert on the way . . . ice cream cups filled with maple walnut flavored pound cake and capped with a scoop of ice cream.

Cake in Cones Surprise Treat

Prepare 1 (1-pound, 1-ounce) package pound cake mix according to package directions using ¾ cup milk and 2 eggs. Add ¼ teaspoon imitation maple flavor; blend thoroughly. Stir in ¾ cup chopped walnuts.

Fill 12 ice cream cups halfway with batter. Pour remaining batter into a greased 8-inch square baking pan. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 to 35 minutes or until done. Cool.

Remove cake from pan after ½ hour. Serve cups topped with your favorite flavor ice cream. Makes 12 Capped Cups and one 8-inch square cake.

If that cantaloupe is pronouncedly yellow, it may be overripe.

Spear With Pick

Scrumptious Nut Bites turn the trick! Perfect for an after the football game party. Just spread 1 teaspoon liverwurst spread on 30 pecan or walnut halves. Top each with other half, secure with a toothpick, and serve. A 4¾ oz. can of liverwurst spread makes 30 nut bites.

Herbs and Sour Cream Blend

Celery seed gives pleasing aroma to this easy sour cream dressing for leafy greens and vegetable salads.

Creamy Celery Seed Dressing

½ cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon dried chives
¾ teaspoon celery seed
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon coarse ground black pepper
1 tablespoon vinegar

Combine sour cream, milk, chives, celery seed, salt and black pepper in a small bowl; mix well. Blend in vinegar. Serve with molded vegetable salads, cucumbers, tomatoes, tossed mixed greens, etc. Makes ½ cup.

Crisp, Garlicky

Raisin bread croutons dress up soups and salads, anytime. Cut raisin bread into cubes, then toss in melted garlic butter until well coated. Toast in oven until crisp. Wonderful to toss with greens or float in tomato soup.

Lakers Still Falter Despite the 'Stilt'

By the Associated Press

Despite the presence of Wilt Chamberlain, the Los Angeles Lakers have gotten off to a slow start, and the same can be said of Hal Greer's National Basketball Association coaching career at Philadelphia without the Big Dipper.

Greer, an All-Star guard for Philadelphia, was pressed into duty on the bench Tuesday night when he fouled out and Coach Jack Ramsey was kicked out with 6½ minutes remaining and the New York Knicks leading the 76ers 105-91.

* * *

Although a furious flurry pulled Philadelphia even, the Knicks pulled out a 117-114 victory at Madison Square Garden on Cazzie Russell's final minutes of clutch shooting.

In Cincinnati, the Lakers dissipated a 15-point third-quarter lead and lost to the Royals 109-103 for their second defeat in three games.

In the only other contest, San Francisco dropped Phoenix 109-101 in San Francisco.

No games were scheduled in the American Basketball Association.

Greer, who averaged 30.5 points a game as Philadelphia won its first two contests without Wilt, managed only 14 points before making his pro coaching debut. The final 6½ minutes left him certain he never wants to turn to coaching.

The 76ers ran off 13 consecutive points, seven in a row by Billy Cunningham, and finally pulled even at 110. But Russell, who finished with 27 points, hit three jumpers to break that tie and deadlocks at 112 and 114 for the Knicks' first victory in three starts.

"I never coached in the pros before because there always was someone with more seniority when the coach was booted," Greer said. He mentioned Johnny Kerr and Larry Costello, now NBA coaches, and said positively, "I don't want to follow them."

* * *

Chamberlain managed only 19 points as the Lakers pulled ahead in the third quarter behind Elgin Baylor, who finished with 34.

But Adrian Smith and Jerry Lucas, with nine points each in the final period, brought the Royals back. They never trailed after Connie Dierking's hook for a 92-91 lead.

Piston Coach Has Problems

DETROIT (UPI) — And you think you've got problems.

Tune in to Coach Donnis Butcher and his tales of trouble.

His Detroit Pistons haven't won a single game in three starts. Forward Terry Dischinger is out of the action for at least two weeks with a broken wrist.

Big Dave DeBusschere is nagged by an ankle injury from a summer charity game. The Los Angeles Lakers, starring Wilt Chamberlain are in town for a game tonight.

* * *

And Butcher's wife is going to present him with their third child any day now.

Dischinger, who thought at first his right wrist was sprained, was advised Tuesday there was a small break. His absence, compounded by DeBusschere's questionable ankle, narrows Butcher's healthy forwards to two, Happy Hairston and Sonny Dove.

* * *

DeBusschere's ankle has been affecting his play. Butcher said, "He's had only seven rebounds in each of the last two games."

"We'll wait until just before game time to see how he feels," he added.

Russians Upset in Basketball; Yanks Triumph

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The showdown for the Olympic basketball title comes Friday, matching the United States, ragtag collection and — steady now—Yugoslavia.

Giant-killer Yugoslavia edged out mighty Russia 63-62 and the U.S. team, by-passed by most of the best collegians and almost dumped by little Puerto Rico, easily turned back a strong Brazilian team 75-63 in the semifinals Tuesday night.

* * *

The Russia-Yugoslavia game was packed with drama and the U.S. swimmers scored another 1-2-3 sweep — but the day belonged to host Mexico and a skinny 17-year-old whose nickname translates "Lukewarm."

His real name is Felipe Munoz and his highly partisan countrymen literally raised the roof on the Olympic pool when he edged Russian world record holder Vladimir Kosinsky and won the men's 200-meter breaststroke in 2:28.7.

FIRST MEDAL

The Russian was second, a half-meter back and 16-year-old Brian Job, Cortland, Ohio, third.

It was Mexico's first gold medal of the Games and only the third in history for the country. The crowd went mad, shouting and screaming, strangers hugging one another and even the judges applauding.

Munoz caught the Russian at about 175 meters, then surged past him in the last 10 meters. Asked how he felt, he said: "I didn't realize it until I touched the end of the pool. Then my first impression was to jump up and down like everybody else was doing. I didn't believe it."

And about that nickname, El Tibio

HOT AND COLD

"My father comes from Aguas Calientes in northern Mexico, which means hot water," he explained. "My mother comes from a small village called Rio Frio, which means cold river. So when I was small people compromised and called me El Tibio."

Then he broke down and cried.

The Russians, silver medal winners in the last four Olympics, didn't cry — at least publicly, after their basketball loss to Yugoslavia, but Russian Coach Czerv Gomelsky, who had said he would hold a press conference, failed to turn up for the interview.

* * *

It was a wild, lead-changing affair, with Yugoslavia going in front to stay when Petar Skansi, the game's high scorer with 15 points, dropped in a field goal with 1:15 to go, for a 61-59 lead.

Vladimir Kvetkovio had two free throws to make it 63-60 before Sergei Belove, Russia's high scorer with 14, hit on the last second of play.

The United States which beat Yugoslavia 73-58 in an earlier tournament game, handled Brazil with ease and is heavily favored to bring home another gold.

YANKS UNBEATEN

The Americans have not lost a game since the sport was introduced into the Olympics in 1932. They have won 74 in a row.

* * *

The Americans, playing without the services of such collegiate standouts as Lew Alcindor, Elvin Hayes and Don May, followed Jo Jo White's lead to a 42-26 halftime edge and coasted in from there. The Americans forced nine turnovers in the first half in one of their sharpest showings.

* * *

Iba called off the dogs in the second half. White, playing only six minutes after intermission, led the American attack with 16 points. Bill Hosket of Ohio State and Spencer Haywood of Detroit each had 12.

* * *

"I don't believe there will be any problem getting the boys up when they are playing for the gold medal," Iba said. Referring to America's previous victory over Yugoslavia, he said: "There always will be changes necessary after you have played a team and beat it. We will make some adjustments."

Detroit Boxer 'Rises' to Olympic Occasion

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Middleweight Al Jones of Detroit got up from the canvas Tuesday night and joined teammates George Foreman and Al Robinson in the semifinals of the Olympic boxing tournament.

Jones, felled in the opening minute of the fight, rallied for a decision over Simone Georgiev of Bulgaria.

John Baldwin, a light middleweight from Detroit, also made the quarter finals.

Junior Dragons Win

Larry Whipp and Steve Barnett scored the touchdowns yesterday as Lake Orion's junior varsity football team defeated Romeo, 14-0. It was the second win for the junior Dragons who whipped Avondale, 53-0, last week.

Breaks Club Record

Lions' Farr Leading Rusher

DETROIT (AP) — When the boos of Sunday's 14-14 tie between the Green Bay Packers and Detroit Lions subsided, the Lions found themselves atop the National Football League's Central Division and Mel Farr found himself the leading NFL rusher.

The tie gave Detroit a 3-2-1 record, while Minnesota's 20-7 loss to Dallas dropped the Vikings to second place with a 3-3 mark; Green Bay is 2-3-1.

* * *

Farr, meanwhile, rushed his way into Lion record books with 29 carries. Fullback Nick Pietrosante had the old record of 27 set in 1964.

Farr picked up 145 yards in the best game of his brief career. During his rookie season last year he picked up 197 yards in a 10-10 tie against Minnesota.

The hard running halfback, has rushed for 490 yards already this year, putting him ahead of Chicago's Gale Sayers and Cleveland's Leroy Kelly, rushing champions the last two seasons.

"Look, it's going to be a tough race," said Farr. "Sure, I'd like to be first when it's all over. I'd like to lead the league."

Farr was replaced on a couple plays Sunday by Dave Kopay. When Farr trotted off the field most of the 57,000 fans gave him a big ovation. But their cheers turned to boos for the team in the closing moments of the game when

'Lefthanded Voice' Making Nightclub Debut in Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) — Calling himself a fellow with a "lefthanded pitcher's voice," Mickey Lolich is going to bat as a pinch hitter in the nightclub circuit.

* * *

The World Series Tiger hero is opening tonight at the Roostertail Supper Club, replacing singer Patti Page.

* * *

Lolich, who hit a home run in the World Series but was never called upon to pinch hit, is using the local appearance as a warmup for a two-week engagement in Las Vegas. He said he'll have song-and-comedy act, sharing the bill there with crooner Vic Damone.

* * *

The riverfront cabaret is being reopened following a labor dispute which closed it for five days. Miss Page, miffed over the union trouble, left town.

Titans, PNH, Raiders, Oxford Run Impressively

The 1968 state cross-country regionals are Saturday and Pontiac Northern, Pontiac Catholic, North Farmington and Oxford came through with impressive victories Tuesday to show they are ready.

* * *

Northern's victory was particularly sweet for the Huskies. They handed Pontiac Central a rare 20-43 pounding despite the outstanding efforts of PCH captain Jon Costello.

Pontiac Catholic produced its best point total of its brief cross-country history with a 21-35 conquest of Dearborn Sacred Heart.

* * *

Oxford retained its Central Suburban title in the league meet at Oxford Hills Golf Course, and North Farmington repeated as the Northwest Suburban championship at Hickory Hills GC.

The Wildcats scored with four of the top five finishers in the CSL run for a total of 20 points to 55 for runner-up Warren Woods. Jim Goodfellow was first and teammate Dennis Clark placed second and teammate Dennis Clack placed second.

TOP RUNNER

NFHS' Raiders also had the individual leader in Rick Randall. Paul Hebel was third as they outpointed runner-up Birmingham Groves, 33-55. Groves was led by Craig Huber's fourth place.

Waterford missed a shutout of rival Waterford Mott by just one point when the Corsairs' Rodger Strader edged Township's Milt Knight for fifth place in WTHS' 16-46 triumph.

Steve Moffat's 11:03 timing placed the Skippers to a sweep of the first four spots. DeWayne Russell was second in 11:035. Mike Daly and Chris Danielson followed. Ted Stiger led the Skippers reserves to a 17-41 victory.

At the county center course, PNH handed Central its worst defeat in the city cross-country rivalry although All-State Costello covered the less-than-two-mile course in 9:27.

PCH's reserves won 25-34.

ASTOUNDING

The Huskies then astounded substitute coach Bill Willson by taking the next seven spots with Tom Knibbs, Andy Liddy, George Pickering, Butch Shelton and Roger Ringblom scoring the points.

* * *

Willson was filling in for coach John Osler who took the PNH sophomores to their county run where the defending champs finished fourth behind Brother Rice (38), Farmington (51), Kimball (83). Mike Taylor's second-place finish helped the young Huskies (102).

Probe Continues on Gear Payoff

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The U.S. Olympic Committee reportedly continued today an investigation of claims that some Olympic athletes were paid for using certain athletic equipment.

There has been no official confirmation of the investigation, but it was learned Tuesday night that the USOC was checking reports of violations of the amateur code.

Athletes and USOC officials were not talking, but published reports by the Washington Post said the investigation could produce the scandal that would be he worst to hit a U.S. Olympic team.

It was learned that six American athletes were suspected of accepting cash payments, but two were quickly exonerated. At least two athletes from other countries also were being investigated, it was learned.

NAMES WITHHELD

No names were disclosed officially. There was speculation that some of the payments totaled several thousand dollars, but there was no confirmation.

Similar probes were made at the Winter Olympics in Grenoble, France, after skiers at one time were forced to cover the brand names on their skis.

Amateurs are prohibited from accepting pay for using specific brands of equipment, although such payments are common for professional athletes such as golfers.

VIVA EL MEXICO! — Felipe Munoz (right) of Mexico touches the end of the pool just ahead of world record holder Vladimir Kosinsky of Russia to win the Olympic men's 200-meter breaststroke race Tuesday night and set off a wild celebration in the host country for the 1968 summer games.

The victory was the first by a Mexican athlete in the current games, and earned Munoz only the third gold medal awarded a Mexican in Olympic history. The breaststroke, fortunately for the happy Mexicans at poolside, was the final event on last night's swimming schedule.

Swimmer Takes Honors

Mexicans Celebrate Victory

The U.S. swimmers, though dominating the games, won only one of three gold medals Tuesday—Donna DeVerona, Golden Girl of the 1964 Games, had an explanation for that—and received two other jolts.

ILLNESS STRIKES

First, Catie Ball, a 17-year-old from Jacksonville, Fla., who holds the world records in the 100 and 200 meter breaststroke, withdrew from the 200 heats, suffering from influenza, and went home. Her training had been hampered by an attack of mononucleosis earlier in the year.

And second, Lesley Bush, Indiana U. coed, the defending champion in women's platform diving, flubbed her first dive and failed to qualify for Thursday's finals.

Czech Milena Duckova leads after four dives with 55.25 points, followed by Russian Nadezhda Lovanov, 55.24, and Ann Peterson, Bellevue, Wash., 54.06. Barbara Talmage, Walnut Creek, Calif., is sixth at 49.70.

Debbie Meyer, Sacramento, Calif., who already had one gold medal, led the American sweep of the women's 200-meter freestyle in 2:10.5, followed by Jane Barkman, Wayne, Pa., 2:11, and Jan Henne, Oakland, Calif., 2:11.2 It was the fifth American sweep in swimming.

But Roland Matter, East German world record holder in the men's 100-meter backstroke, won his specialty, giving the United States only one gold for the day. He was timed in 58.7, easily winning over Charles Hickcox, Phoenix, Ariz., second, and Ronald Mills, Fort Worth, Tex., third.

Miss DeVerona had an explanation:

"I don't know how long it will take, but other countries are adopting our methods, copying our programs and dipping into the minds of our best coaches," she said. "They are not stealing our secrets—we are giving them away."

* * *

The United States, though winning only six medals, still maintained a big lead over giant Russia. The United States now has a total of 72 medals, 29 gold, and Russia has 42, including 14 gold.

The Russians got their only gold of the day from Evegemy Petrove in skeet shooting. He won in a shoot-off with Romano Garagnani of Italy and Konrad Wirnhier of West Germany.

All had 198 of 200 at the end of regular competition, but the Russian was 25 of 25 in the shoot-off with Garagnani second and Wirnhier third.

Gyozo Kulcsar of Hungary scored an upset in the day's only other gold medal event, beating Russian defending champion Grigory Kriss in the men's individual epee. Gianluigi Saccro of Italy was third.

The United States has eight boxers still in competition—including four in the semifinals led by heavyweight George Foreman, Pleasanton, Calif., Russia has seven.

Harriers Win, Eye Regionals

PNH's victory over Central's Chiefs gives it the first 100 points toward this year's All-Sports Trophy. The city rivalry now stands 5-5 with Northern ending a two-year losing slump.

* * *

Pontiac Catholic finished its first harrier campaign at 4-1-1 in dual meets as John Cassani led the triumph yesterday with a 10:52 clocking. Pat Lenz, like Cassani a sophomore, was second.

* * *

Rudy Martinez, a junior, and senior Chuck Gallagher followed to give the Titans the first four places against Sacred Heart (4-2). Cassani's win leaves him unbeaten in dual league competition.

Alworth Trails Sauer of Jets

San Diego's Passer Advances to First

NEW YORK (AP) — George Sauer of the New York Jets, last year's pass receiving champion, has taken over the American Football League lead in that department from San Diego's Lance Alworth.

Each went into last Sunday's games with 30 receptions for the year. Sauer grabbed seven passes and Alworth four. Haven Moses of Buffalo has moved into third place with 27.

* * *

While Alworth slipped, teammate John Hadl moved to the top spot in passing, according to league statistics released today. Hadl has completed 49.4 per cent of his passes for a leading 1,589 yards and the most touchdowns in the league, 13.

Hewritt Dixon of Oakland held on to the No. 1 spot in rushing with 522 yards, Robert Holmes of Kansas City held second with 430 and Dick Post of San Diego moved from eighth to third with 349.

Jan Stenerud of Kansas City remained the scoring leader, bringing his total to 74 points, 22 more than runner-up Jim Turner of New York.

* * *

In other departments, Dave Grayson of Oakland is No. 1 in interceptions with five, Jerrell Wilson of Kansas City is first in punting with a 47.2 average, George Atkinson of Oakland leads in punt returns with a 18.1 average and Max Anderson of Buffalo heads the kickoff returners with a 27.8 average.

CHIEF COMPLETES COURSE — Senior Jon Costello of Pontiac Central speeds across the finish line first Tuesday afternoon while a somewhat surprised Pontiac Northern substitute coach Bill Willson (long coat in center) checks his stop watch. It was the time that was surprising, a 9:27 clocking. However, the course was discovered to be less than two miles due to a misplaced stake. After Costello's strong finish, the Chiefs were the ones who were surprised as the Huskies commanded the next seven spots and won, 20-43.

BIG DAY FOR TITANS — A quartet of Pontiac Catholic runners celebrate their victory over Dearborn Sacred Heart in the Titans' final dual meet of their first season yesterday. The 21-35 win clinched second place for them in their Catholic League bracket. The happy Titans (left to right) are Rudy Martinez, John Cassani, Pat Lenz and Chuck Gallagher. Martinez broke his arm while performing regularly with the PCHS grid squad, so he finished the season running cross country.

The Lions resumed practice today for their encounter next Sunday at Tiger Stadium against San Francisco. The 49ers have a 3-3 record and are in third place in the Coastal Division. It will be the Lions first game outside their own division since the season opener at Dallas.

Prepare for Notre Dame

Two Terminals Help Spartans

EAST LANSING (AP)—A pair of 6-foot-1 ends will be the key men to watch as Michigan State tries to score against Notre Dame Saturday.

Purdue, the only team to beat the mighty Irish football machine this season, did it mostly by passing.

* * *

The Spartans have a good running attack with Tommy Love, the sophomore tailback, a main threat with his 448 yards and nearly five-yards-a-carry average.

Coach Duffy Daugherty has noted, however, that the combined Irish front four of the defensive line weigh nearly half a ton.

* * *

MSU probably will try to run the ends. It also will be trying to throw to its ends.

* * *

The two top Spartans pass receivers, of identical height, are senior Al Brenner of Niles and junior Frank Foreman, from Louisville, Ky.

Brenner is the top yardage man to date with his 258 yards on 15 catches. He has been the favorite target of quarterback Bill Feraco.

REPLACEMENT

Feraco was out of the game Saturday and sophomore signal-caller Bill Triplett started his first game.

* * *

Triplett threw seven completions to Foreman during the game for 124 yards. This gave Foreman a 204-yard-total.

Almost overlooked in the 14-13 loss to Minnesota was the fact that Foreman set one MSU big Ten game mark and tied another.

* * *

The seven receptions equaled an identical number by Gene Washington against Wisconsin in 1964. The 124 yards gained was one more than the former MSU Big Ten best, owned jointly by Jim Hinesly against Wisconsin in 1954 and Tony Kolodziej, also against the Badgers, in 1956.

* * *

If Feraco starts, Brenner may be the main target. If Triplett is the starter, it could be Foreman. Quarterbacks have the very human habit of throwing to the end that makes them look the best.

* * *

Meanwhile, flankerback Charlie Wedemeyer shouldn't be overlooked when MSU puts the ball in the air. The versatile senior, although only 5-foot-7, has caught six passes for 76 yards.

In addition to working on his passing game, Daugherty has been looking for replacements for two injured players.

* * *

Reserve fullback Ron Cavender is out for the season with a broken leg. Sophomores Kermit Smith and Earl Anderson are being tried at the spot.

Defensive linesman Ken Little is temporarily absent with a knee sprain. Dave Thomas, who started out as an offensive guard, is being tried at the position.

Ohio Players Best in MAC

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The two players who led Ohio University to a 24-7 victory over Miami last Saturday are the Mid-American Conference back and lineman of the Week.

Quarterback Cleve Bryant and defensive tackle Greg McKenzie walked off with the honors.

State Gridders in Scoring Tie

Albion, NMU Backs Have 48 Points

By the Associated Press

Halfbacks Jim Bell of Albion and Lonnie Holton of Northern Michigan have moved into a tie for the college football scoring leadership in the state with 48 points on eight touchdowns each.

* * *

Bell scored a touchdown Saturday in Albion's 9-6 win over Kalamazoo and Holton ran over for two touchdowns in Northern's 47-0 romp over the Quantico Marines. Bell and Holton passed Eastern Michigan quarterback Arnold Fontest after EMU was blanked by Tampa 21-0.

* * *

Holton has led Northern to a 5-1 record as the team has racked up 218 points while holding its opponents to 44.

* * *

Wildcat Coach Rollie Dotsch says Holton is "a team player" who is "Very unselfish."

"He is the best blocking back we have," Dotsch said, "and he's probably our best receiver as a back."

ALWAYS ROOM FOR ONE MORE — Notre Dame quarterback Terry Hanratty studies the football trophy case on the South Bend (Ind.) campus after learning he has been chosen the Back of the Week by the Associated Press for his performance against Illinois last Saturday when he surpassed the school's career total offense mark set by the legendary George Gipp.

Third Best Irish Passer

Hanratty Takes Gipper's Place at ND

By the Associated Press

Terry Hanratty, named for a player famed for catching a baseball, has eliminated a legendary name from the Notre Dame record book by throwing a football.

* * *

Future Notre Dame teams still will be exhorted to win one for the Gipper but Hanratty's name will occupy the spot George Gipp once held as the school's all-time total offense leader.

* * *

Hanratty passed for 212 yards and three touchdowns and ran for 55 more yards in a 58-8 rout over Illinois Saturday, bringing his career yardage to 4,179. That erased the mark of 4,110 set by Gipp almost 40 years ago.

For his performance, Hanratty, named after center fielder Terry Moore of the St. Louis Cardinals, was selected College Back of the Week today by The Associated Press.

Michigan State Coach Duffy Daugherty, whose Spartans take on Notre Dame Saturday in a nationally televised game, says there's no doubt Hanratty is the best college quarterback in the country.

PRO PROSPECT

The 21-year-old 200-pound senior from Butler, Pa., who has completed more passes than any Notre Dame quarterback except Ralph Guglielmi and Bob Williams, is regarded as a top pro draft choice.

* * *

The film of one of Hanratty's high school games in which he scored a touchdown on an 82-yard quarterback sneak may well have been the one Ara Parseghian was viewing when he exclaimed: "Number 11! Who's that Number 11s We've got to have him!"

Hanratty had his mind on Penn State, with Michigan State and Daugherty as a second choice, but Notre Dame lured him away, and he followed his trackman brother Pete to South Bend.

* * *

Terry has an auspicious sports background, having pitched a no-hitter the first time he took the mound for the Butler High baseball team, breaking his brother's high-jump record on his first try and winning two high school basketball letters. And then tere's the name—for his mother's favorite baseball player.

* * *

Terry Moore was a star defensive outfielder with the Cards in the 1940s.

SPARKED RALLY

In gaining Back of the Week honors, Hanratty was picked over Purdue halfback Leroy Keyes, who sparked a last quarter two touchdown drive to lead the Boilermakers 28-27 over Wake Forest; Tennessee defensive back Jim Weatherford, who blocked a last-second field goal attempt as Tennessee stopped Alabama 10-9 and O.J. Simpson, whose second touchdown capped Southern Cal's 99-yard fourth-quarter drive and their 14-7 victory over Washington.

Howard to Coach Yanks; Predicts Negro Manager

NEW YORK A(P) — Ellie Howard thinks major league baseball is ready for its first Negro manager.

If the situation should arise, Howard says he would accept the job. Right now, he is happy to be back home with the New York Yankees as the new first base coach.

Howard, first Negro ever to play with the Yanks, retired as an active catcher with the Boston Red Sox Monday. His appointment with the Yanks was announced Tuesday with the news that Dick Howser, utility infielder, would succeed Frank Crosetti as third base coach.

Jim Turner, pitching coach, and Jim Hegan, bullpen coach, are returning. Whitey Ford is stepping out as first base coach to assume unspecified duties with the club and devote more time to his outside business affairs.

"Eventually, there has to be a Negro manager," Howard said in answer to questions at a news conference at Yankee Stadium.

"We work together as a unit, black and white. No one would hold a grudge against a black man because he was managing a ball club.

"I think Bill White (Phillies first baseman) would be a very good manager. Frank Robinson (Baltimore outfielder) is managing in winter ball. Ernie Banks (Chicago Cubs first baseman) would be a good man.

"Yes, if the opportunity should arise, I would accept it.

"Every club has Negro players. All players work together to win. Eventually, if a Negro is the manager, they will work together to win. Bill Russell does it. This is not the Olympics.

"I've been working together with ball players white and black for years. I've been on 10 championship teams. Togetherness is a very important thing. I've never seen any problems here."

Seals Leading NHL Division

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The Oakland Seals, who won only 15 National Hockey League games in 1967-68, took over first place in the West Division Tuesday night.

The Seals edged the Minnesota North Stars 3-2 on George Swarbrick's rebound with 4:01 remaining.

It was the second consecutive victory for the Seals. Oakland, now 2-3-1, leads Minnesota and St. Louis in the West by one point.

The game was the only NHL contest scheduled Tuesday night.

After the first three games, Gary Smith replaced Charlie Hodge in the Oakland nets and the 6-foot-4 netminder has been superb.

Tigers Add 10 Names to Fall Roster

DETROIT (AP) — Ten new names are on the Detroit Tigers basic 40-man roster.

The players replace others who were on the list last October but who have left the World Champion Tigers for one reason or another.

Cernich finished this year as Detroit's batting practice catcher and traveled with the team for the World Series in St. Louis.

Face, McMahon and Wyatt were acquired by Detroit during the season.

Gone from the list are infielders Eddie Mathews, and Ray Oyler; outfielders Wayne Comer and Bob Christian, pitchers Hank Aguirre, Dick Drago, Mike Marshall, Dennis Ribant, Jim Rooker, Gary Taylor and Jon Warden.

Most were taken in the recent expansion draft. Mathews announced his retirment after 17 years in the major leagues leaving one spot open on the list.

Sweden Holds Lead in Little Olympics

WARSAW (AP) — Sweden is leading the Little Olympic Games in which the crews from 14 ships stranded in the Bitter Lake of the Suez Canal since the Middle East War last year are taking part, the Warsaw newspaper Sports Review reported Tuesday.

Sweden won the water polo tournament, defeating Poland 2-1 in the final game.

Lifeboat sailing and table tennis also were won by the Swedes. France won the dinghy sailing. The Poles were the best in rowing.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW
By John Carter
Can you imagine a man who was blind in one eye — and often couldn't see half the field when he went back to pass — becoming a star passer on pro football . . . Tommy Thompson quarterbacked the Philadelphia Eagles to the National Football League championship in 1948 and 1949 and led the league in passing statistics in 1948 even though he was blind in his left eye! . . . Thompson stands as a great example of man being able to triumph over adversity.

Do you know that the real name of the Oregon State football coach, Dee Andros, is Demosthenes Andreacopoulous . . . Andros says, "I changed the name because I couldn't say it or spell it!"
★ ★ ★
Here's one you may not have known about Jim Nance, the great runner in the American Football League . . . When Nance was in college, at Syracuse, he won more honors in wrestling than he did in football . . . He won the national intercollegiate heavyweight wrestling championship two different years and won 91 out of 92 varsity wrestling matches in college!

I bet you didn't know . . . that if the buyers of all those 3rd line end up tires you see advertised were laid end to end — it would be the longest, narrowest cemetery in the world.

Miss Mann Hikes Golf Money Lead

CINCINNATI (AP) — A $1,875 victory at Waco, Tex., Sunday has increased Carol Mann's lead in official money winnings on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour to more than $3,000.

★ ★ ★

While Miss Mann was winning her 10th tournament of the tour, second-place Kathy Whitworth could do no better than a tie for ninth at Waco and that brought her $422.50.

★ ★ ★

Miss Mann now has won $40,704 in official winnings, the LPGA headquarters here announced today. Miss Whitworth with six victories has $37,654.

★ ★ ★

Sandra Haynie, who has won only once all year, continued to hold third spot with $25,119.

Wind Hinders Gophers' Work

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The University of Minnesota football team battled 20 mile-per-hour winds in practice Tuesday in continuing preparation for Saturday's game at Ann Arbor against Michigan.

Coach Murray Warmath had Phil Hagen at quarterback, Walter Bowser at flanker, George Kemp at halfback and Maurice Forte at fullback in the first string backfield. Jim Carter has started the past two weeks at fullback.

The Gophers came out of the 14-13 victory last Saturday over Michigan State with no major injuries. Doug Roalstad, who returned a punt 58 yards for a touchdown, injured a knee but is expected to play.

'M' Is Solving Problem

ANN ARBOR (AP) — At the beginning of this football season, the depth of the team was a major concern of Michigan's coaching staff. No one knew what might happen once starters were injured.

While lack of depth continues to be a problem at some positions, the problem has turned out to exist more on depth charts than on the playing field.

★ ★ ★

For example, the Wolverines started the season with three flankerbacks, one an experienced junior, one a non-letterman senior and one a sophomore. Senior Dave Farabee was lost for the year in the first game of the season and third string quarterback Jim Betts, a sophomore was rapidly turned into a flanker.

Then John Gabler, the one man with experience at the position, was hurt and sophomore Paul Staroba performed more than adequately in his new job as starter.

WINNING PASS

Before Gabler was fully recovered Staroba suffered a shoulder separation and Betts became a starter. Billy Harris, who started the year at split end, became a flanker and caught the winning pass against Indiana last week.

There have been similar stories involving offensive linemen, defensive ends and linebackers.

"Each week we've been surprised at some of the players who come along and take up the slack where someone is hurt," Coach Bump Elliott said.

Elliott had special praise for a sophomore Tim Killian, a mediocre place kicker who turned into a highly effective defensive end after senior Tom Stincic was ejected from the Indiana game for unsportsmanlike conduct.

The Wolverines, meanwhile, continue to work toward this weekend's showdown against Minnesota in Ann Arbor. The two teams are currently tied with Ohio State for the Big Ten lead.

★ ★ ★

In addition to the regular offensive and defensive work against Minnesota plays, the practice included the weekly feature of "power training"—eight solid minutes of windsprints designed to build up the endurance of the players.

Pheasant Hunting Is Poorest in Over 20 Years

Little Hope Seen for Ringneck Rally

BY DON VOGEL

Pheasant hunting became a secondary sport in Michigan this week.

And the situation will stay this way until the wily ringneck makes a dramatic comeback. Such a rally may never take place. The pheasant count is the lowest since World War II.

★ ★ ★

A population explosion among ringnecks took place in the late 1940s and early '50s. Who is to say that this won't happen again? Time marches on and the odds against the state's No. 1 hunting target mount.

Gone are the overgrown fence rows and weedy ditches that provide shelter during the breeding season and against the icy blasts of winter. Pheasants like to nest in alfalfa. Technology advances make it possible for hay to be cut earlier than ever before — long before eggs hatch.

The destruction of nests and the mortality and crippling rate of sitting hens is high.

SUBURBS DECREASE HABITAT

There are fewer farms. Those still in operation are tilled to the edge of the roads and right up to the fences for economic reasons. The suburban spread is taking its toll in lands once top pheasant country.

Predators cut into the game population. But not enough to cause a major decline. The house cat is a greater destroyer of young wildlife than fox. Pesticides have been mentioned, too, but studies are inconclusive.

It is apparent that diminishing habitat is a major cause of the pheasant decline. But there is one mystery yet to be solved. There are some areas in Southern Michigan that still have ideal habitat for pheasants and light hunting pressure. However, this cover contains few birds.

Other top pheasant states — South Dakota, Nebraska, Wisconsin — are experiencing declines in pheasant populations. And in Nebraska a heavy stocking program was used until recently.

These states have abundant habitat. Game biologists say that ringnecks have population cycles like the periodic ups and downs of grouse and rabbits. Biologists haven't been able to come up with any conclusive answers for these cycles. They are trying to crack this mystery of nature, but even if they come up with the answer, it may be too late in Michigan.

Habitat will continue to yield to the human wave rolling out from the cities. There is a population boom here, too, and coming generations will need places to live.

It is doubtful if the pheasant will disappear from the scene. The fact that ringnecks would rather run out of danger than fly is to their advantage. Only the smartest bird dogs and slow trailing beagles can get the roosters up within gun range — young birds being an exception. Not too many hunters are blessed with such canines.

The continuous decline of the ringneck signals the decline of small game hunting in Michigan. Grouse could become the No. 1 target. But "pats" have three strikes against them in the mind of the average hunter:

(1) They are found in denser cover, (2) are difficult to hit and (3) smaller and less gaudy than the ringneck.

STATE RANKS NO. 1

Michigan offers the best woodcock shooting in the nation. But the timberdoodle is migratory. A prolonged cold spell will rid the state of these small, long-billed birds, before the season ends.

Ducks are in the decline and this is a specialized hunting activity. Geese have their followers, but are too refuge prone. Squirrels don't hold the average gunner's interest and never will.

More rabbits than any other specie of small game are killed annually, but this is a sport for the hound man who likes snow.

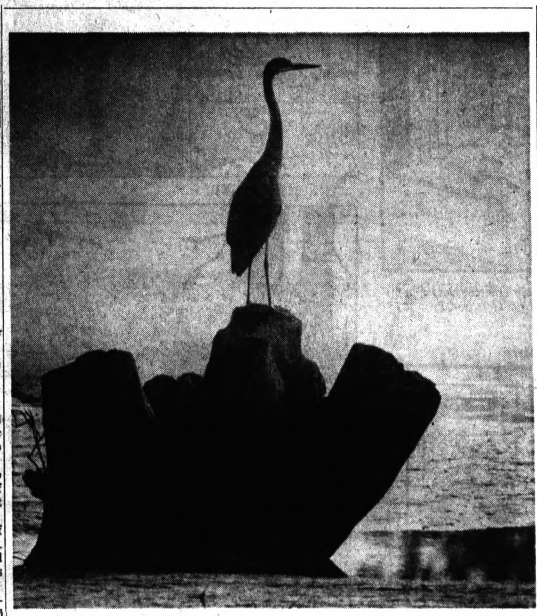
Deer and bear fall into the category of big game. The day is fast approaching when the number of deer licenses will have to be restricted. This will be the result of an increase in hunters more than a diminishing deer herd.

Land available for hunting is decreasing. Thousands of acres in Northern Michigan are coming under the wire annually. Those wires contain no hunting signs. Farmlands in Southern Michigan are either becoming subdivisions or being closed to hunting because of the thoughtlessness of a few.

Biologists agree that state lands won't be able to sustain huntable game and bird populations if the number of nimrods being forced to use these lands continues to rise.

Quality hunting will become the name of the game. It is a nice way of saying hunting by permit only with the number of gunners at any one time restricted. This method will start next year on parts of the St. Clair Flats and Saginaw Bay. It will spread — unless the pheasant makes a big comeback.

This isn't likely.



WATERY DOMAIN — A sandhill crane stands on a large stump along the Huron River near Ann Arbor. The cranes pass through central Michigan each spring and fall during migration. Although hunted in some western states, the sandhill is protected in Michigan.

Opening Day Hot Spots Fail to Yield Birds

Dryden, Almont, Peck Areas 'Fair'; Results Good on Squirrels

Results of the first two days of pheasant hunting have been the worst in over 20 years.

Not since the mid-1940s have hunters reported seeing so few birds. There were a couple of places in Southeastern Michigan and the Thumb where the opening day kill reached one bird per three hunters, but the overall picture reflects the predictions for poor hunting.

★ ★ ★

Conservation Department field checks came up with one of 10 for eastern St. Clair and northern Macomb counties and one of six for western St. Clair, the so-called "hot spots" in preseason forecasts.

★ ★ ★

Twenty-seven hunters contacted by The Pontiac Press in northern Oakland and southern Lapeer counties Monday had three pheasants between them.

Eleven hunters were checked Tuesday and one ringneck was in the bag.

FLUSHING WILD

The Dryden-Almont-Imlay City triangle was rated fair by Conservation officers. Most hunters in this area reported seeing birds, but the ringnecks were flushing wild.

Pockets of birds were located around Peck, Marlette and Brown City. Hunters with good dogs were taking the few pheasants bagged.

★ ★ ★

Paul Castleberry, 3491 Baldwin, bagged the current leader in The Press Pheasant Derby Monday. He downed the 36-incher in Pontiac Township. It was the only pheasant he flushed.

Holding the No. 2 position is a 34¾-incher bagged by Leon Fortier, 415 Highland, opening day near Holly. He was one of the handful of nimrods to collect a two-bird limit.

"They were my first pheasants in three years," he said.

★ ★ ★

The contest is open to all residents of Oakland County. Only ringnecks are eligible. They can be taken anywhere in Michigan except on shooting preserves or from private pens.

TWO AWARDS

A $50 savings bond will be awarded for the longest entry and a $25 bond for second place. Length is the only determining factor.

★ ★ ★

Entries must be brought to The Press sports department between 7 a.m. and 2 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The contest deadline is noon, Nov. 11.

Grouse and woodcock hunting was poor in the Oakland County area. Pats shooting was reported good in the Vassar game area and hunters in St. Clair County found good concentrations of woodcock.

★ ★ ★

Pheasant hunters ran into better than average rabbit numbers in the Hadley Hills and squirrel hunting was reported good in the Holly recreation area.

Duck hunting pressure has been light at Saginaw Bay. Gunners were out in numbers last weekend at St. Clair Flats, but the ducks were across the lake in Ontario following the cornpickers.

★ ★ ★

More pheasant hunters than a year ago were in the fields. The increase in pressure was most notable in Genesee County because of the strike at the Buick plant in Flint.

Although the kill was poor, conservation officers report little complaining from the hunters. They seem to have been conditioned by the prediction of a poor season, said the officers.

DERBY RUNNERUP—This 34¾-inch ringneck is second in The Pontiac Press Pheasant Derby. It was taken Monday afternoon near Holly by Leon Fortier, 415 Highland, who was one of the few opening day hunters to get his limit of two birds. The leading ringneck is 36 inches.

Must Register Machines

Winter Sports Statute

LANSING (AP) — The sport of snowmobiling is snowballing in Michigan.

So many people are buying the versatile little machines, that the Secretary of State's office frankly says it doesn't know how many there are in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

"The trouble is people are buying them every day. We know there are some two snowmobile families. But by the middle of next year, we should have a pretty good idea how many there are in the state," said an information officer for the Secretary of State's office.

The 1968 Legislative session passed a law requiring that snowmobiles be registered starting in January 1969.

THREE YEARS

The fee will be $5 for a three year registration, good through 1971. If a vehicle is registered in 1970, the fee will be only $3. A 1971 registration will cost just $2.

The law provided for a misdemeanor penalty for anyone operating a showmobile without a license.

★ ★ ★

The only exception is if the owner uses a snowmobile only on his own property.

If anyone is caught operating a snowmobile without a registration on other than his own property — "Here Comes Da Judge!"

The penalty is a misdemeanor, with the fine up to the local judge handling the case.

Starting in January, snowmobile owners may register at any Secretary of State's department branch office.

Owners are urged not to send the registration fee to the Lansing headquarters office but to register locally.

LOCAL SIGN-UP

The registration number must be displayed on both sides of the front part of the machine. Letters must be in block type and at least three inches high.

The law covering snowmobile accidents is somewhat similar to those for automobiles.

An accident must be reported if it results in injury or death to any person or causes property damage of $100 or more.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, the state's northern recreation areas are recognizing that snowmobiles will be a major sport this winter.

The State Tourist Council lists a number of events for snowmobile owners.

December events include snowmobile rallies at Yankee Springs Dec. 1 and at Harietta Dec. 15-16.

SCHEDULE SET

The action steps up in January. Events already listed include:

A snowmobile safari at Kalkaska Dec. 3-4, another rally at Harietta Jan. 4-5, a competing snowmobile safari at Atlanta Jan. 1, snowmobile safaris Jan. 11 at Harbor Springs and Jan. 11-12 in Benzie County, a race and rally the same dates at Alpena, a snowmobile safari Jan. 18 at Atlanta, snowmobile races Jan. 25-26 at Lake Linden and a safari the same dates in Benzie County.

★ ★ ★

Guesses on the total snowmobile registration, meanwhile, range from between 50,000 to up to 100,000.

Because of the interest in the sport — appealing to youngsters, families and outdoor fans of both sexes — the best bet is that the higher figure is the one to bet on.

Deer License Law in Moose Areas of Ontario Killed

A restriction prohibiting the use of a non-resident deer license in Ontario areas where there was an open season for non-residents to hunt moose has been rescinded according to the Department of Lands and Forests' fish and wildlife branch.

★ ★ ★

The prohibition which was related to the practice of some hunters using the deer license when actually hunting moose was causing an undue amount of difficulty, since many non-resident hunters had no notice of it until they began to hunt.

Conservation officers are exercising special viligance to ensure that each hunter is hunting only the game provided for by the license he carries.

Snowmobile Show at Artillery Armory

The Greater Michigan Snowmobile and Winter Sports Show now under way at the Detroit Artillery Armory will continue through Sunday.

Show hours are noon to 10 p.m. The armory is located near Northland on West Eight Mile.

In addition to snowmobiles, exhibits include camping equipment, sleds for towing, clothing, chain saws and portable generators.

Solunar Tables

The schedule of Solupar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's SOLUNAR TABLES. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Today's hand has been developed from another Card School question. They ask, "What do you respond with the South hand?"

JACOBY

Lots of players will reply one spade. If asked why, they say, "To keep the bidding low." They would succeed in that purpose admirably. North would rebid either one no-trump or two hearts; South would bid three clubs; North would have no idea that South held more clubs than spades and the bidding would die at three no-trump. South would make at least 10 tricks but there would be no slam bonus awarded.

* * *

The bidding in the box shows what would probably happen after South makes the correct response of two clubs. He would get to six clubs and would make it with careful play and without taking any finesses.

There are several ways to make the contract but the most elegant and surest is for South to win the opening heart lead and plan to ruff out two spades.

* * *

Since there will be entry problems to his own hand, he should play one high trump and cash dummy's ace and king of diamonds for tricks two, three and four. If someone ruffs the second diamond, South decides it is not his day and pays off.

* * *

Then he cashes his ace and king of spades. Spades go twice and his worries are over. He ruffs a spade in dummy, a diamond in his hand, his last spade in dummy and claims his contract. He will have to lose a heart but you can afford to lose one trick when you have contracted for 12.

* * *

Getting back to the bidding, you should learn to bid as normally as possible with big hands. South holds a sound opening bid and should start proceedings by bidding his longest suit.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	1 ♣
Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ AK76 ♥ KQ94 ♦ A ♣ J876

What do you do now?

A—Your hand is worth at least 10 points in support of spades. Jump to the spade game.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues with four no-trump. You show two aces; he bids five no-trump and you show two kings. Then he bids six spades. What do you do?

Classes Are Urged for Drinking Drivers

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Amos Neyhart, director of Pennsylvania State University's Institute of Public Safety, says "Why don't we teach people how to drink and drive? "We know they're not going to stop drinking, so why don't we teach them that it takes the physical system one and a half hours to throw off a jigger of whisky?"

* * *

Neyhart, 69, also says that before drivers travel they should experience all the hazards of the road on obstacle courses set up in their communities.

UP... UP and AWAY!

Though Russia claims Furvin Kryakutskoi trapped foul-smelling smoke in a bag and rose to the height of a birch tree in 1731, historians credit Joseph and Etienne Montgolfier with the invention of the hot-air balloon in 1783. Today this invention is almost unchanged, and hot-air ballooning is again touching the imagination of adventuresome people.

Of the approximately 50 registered hot-air balloons owned in America, two belong to the Stateline, Nev., Quicksilver Productions Corp., of which Deke Sonnichsen is president when not a Lockheed Missiles and Space Company Senior Vehicle Test Coordinator who resides in Menlo Park, Calif.

Deke, co-founder of the Sport Balloon Society of the United States of America, which is affiliated with the Balloon Federation of America, last year filed claim for six new world records to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, which formulates records and sanctions all air events and rules throughout the world.

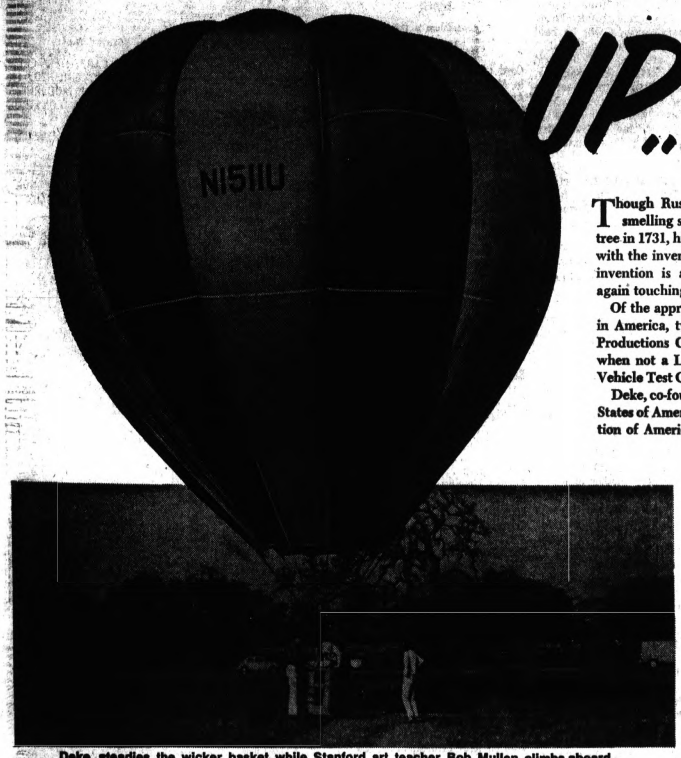
But it is not merely for competition that Deke, wife Joanne and son Kirke, use the two flying machines.

On weekends, neighbors are invited over and the smaller balloon, tied to a lengthy tether line, lifts friends and children above the treetops. At other times, Deke helps train future balloonists at the Daedalus School of Free-Ballooning, the first in the country, at the Menlo Oaks Balloon Field in his city, or at nearby Tracy, Calif. Before and during firing up the balloon, he explains its history and workings, then joins the student to rise skyward.

When speaking before flying clubs, aeronautical groups and schools, Deke discusses the relation between ballooning and the mighty rockets for outer space which Lockheed produces.

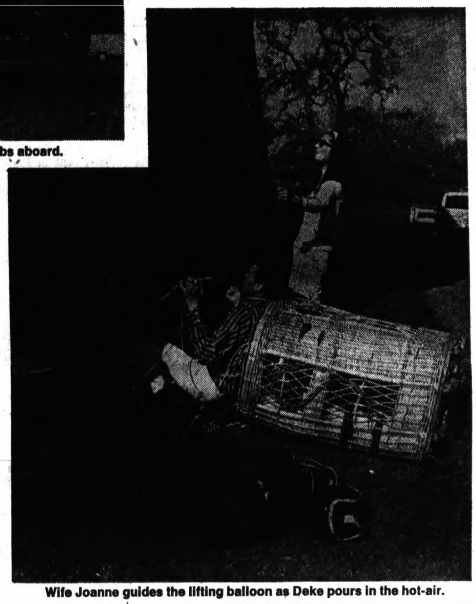
In the sport of hot-air ballooning, there are two controllable directions: up and down. The winds create lateral movement and any ascension might end miles from take-off.

For Deke, whose brightly-colored aircraft (representing the orange, red and yellow of the heat spectrum's lower end) have replaced his parachuting efforts (he led the U.S. Parachute Team in 1962, 1963 and 1964 to FAI meets), these moments of free-flight have replaced free-fall. He shares the silent ride above the rolling California country with those who seek to be up, up and away in that magnificent flying machine.



Deke steadies the wicker basket while Stanford art teacher Bob Mullen climbs aboard.

Following pre-flight examination, Deke carefully packs the balloon while Bob Mullen holds the envelope bag.



Wife Joanne guides the lifting balloon as Deke pours in the hot-air.

Off for a day's drifting.

Son Kirke gets a fatherly ride at home.

In a world-record attempt, Deke increases the heat for lift-off.

One Use for Guns

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — After the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, residents of San Francisco were urged by Mayor Joseph Alioto to turn in firearms, no questions asked. The city collected 1,922 guns. They were turned over Tuesday to sculptor Benny Bufano, who will melt them down and use the metal to cast a memorial statue to St. Francis, the city's patron saint.

Drivers Wanted

LANSING (AP) — The State Labor Department reports it now is accepting applications for youths 16 and 17 years of age to drive automobiles and trucks not exceeding 6,000 pounds of gross weight. Minors will be allowed to drive the heavier vehicles because of a modification of federal safety regulations, the department said.

Delays caused by fog cost the airlines $75 million a year, not counting the loss in time, money and convenience to passengers.

Woman Magician's Specialties Offbeat

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Diana Schultz is 22, pert and pretty, has long blonde hair, large blue eyes, a radiant personality and the honeysuckle sweetness of a southern belle. She also is a woman magician.

She doesn't go in for clouds of pink smoke, rabbits pulled out of a top hat, or card tricks. Her specialty is the offbeat.

* * *

In one number, set to weird, mood music, she works with a square of blue velvet and a tiny golden ball. The ball, beneath the velvet, begins to rise and float through the air—in rhythm with the music. Then it languidly rolls up one side of the cloth, down the other, lazily balances on an edge, leaps beneath the cloth and flutters away on wings of its own.

An estimated total of 37 million out-of-staters will be visiting California by 1975, it is believed.

Candidate Strikes Out

DOVER, Del. (AP) — There comes a time when the rigors of the political campaign starts getting to the candidates as well as the voters.

* * *

Julius (Bud) Tudor, a Democrat running for the legislature, was one of the 10 candidates featured at an open forum staged by the League of Women Voters in the state Senate chamber.

* * *

Tudor opened his statement with: "I want to thank the ladies of the Little League for inviting me."

Grant for Health

EAST LANSING (AP) — The W.K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek has provided the Michigan Health Council of East Lansing with a $77,506 grant to assist in statewide health career recruitment efforts, the council said Tuesday. The grant will run through September of 1971.

$2-Million Extra for Police, Firemen

CHICAGO (AP) — Overtime owed Chicago's police and firemen for work during the Democratic National Convention totalled $2,235,130, bills submitted to the city comptroller's office showed Tuesday.

Police officers are due a total of $1,833,631 for their extra hours during the week and firemen will get $401,499.

Members of the 11,500-man police force were placed on 12-hour shifts and firemen backed up police in such functions as traffic control.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY Of Ruth Scarlott who passed away 5 years ago today.
The fairest lillies are the first to fall.
The sweetest first to fade,
The fondest, dearest, best of all
At peaceful rest is laid.
But in God's garden free from pain
Where grow His fairest flowers,
We know that we shall meet again
This fairest bloom of ours.
Sadly missed by Claude and Mac.

A Look at TV

Apollo Breakfast Bonus

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — Television's big show of the week, the coverage of the return of the Apollo 7 astronauts, started Tuesday morning on the three major networks before most people in the nation were awake.

But millions of Americans, over their orange juice and coffee, welcomed the adventurers upon their safe return.

* * *

The live, color program provided by the pool coverage was excellent. The big television moment came when the helicopter landed on the flight deck of the USS Essex and the three men stepped out. They moved almost immediately to the carrier's sick bay and out of sight.

During the descent period there seemed to be little information coming from the Mission Control spokesman. In earlier missions this was a time of tension. This time the nervous period was after splash-down. The TV reporters on the Essex seemed to have little information for a time, and they were just beginning to fret openly about the men's safety when word came that they had been located by the helicopters.

* * *

After that, it seemed, it was only minutes until the plane landed and the men emerged, a bit stiff and a little wobbly from long confinement. Later, we saw them again briefly, talking with President Johnson by radio-telephone.

NBC's first made-for-TV feature film of the season, "Istanbul Express," on Tuesday night was like a reunion with an old friend whose demise has been erroneously reported.

* * *

Who would have thought that in the age of the jet plane and the end of the glamorous trans-European luxury trains, we'd find Gene Barry, a U. S. secret agent disguised as an art dealer, traveling in Edwardian style and pre-World War II cloak and dagger danger?

* * *

Every familiar device of the train-drama was used—the ransacked compartment, the doped drink, the fight in the baggage car, the comedy conductor, even the snifty British spinster. And there were the mysterious messages, the code words and dead bodies at frequent intervals. The result was pretty tired stuff played by stock characters—the cruel fat villain, the sultry lady spy.

* * *

It was busy but it left all sorts of loose ends. How did Gene Barry armor himself the injection of truth serum to foil the villains? Why did the security man from the train happen to turn up in a dark garage just as they were about to kill Gene Barry?

3 Die in Crash

ST. JOHNS (AP) — Three members of a Lansing family were killed Tuesday afternoon when their car went off the road and slammed into a tree near St. Johns in Clinton County. The victims were identified as Linda Cairl, 28, and her two sons, Steven, 5, and Allen, 4. A fourth son was not injured.

Wilson Comforted to Learn Film Stars Are 'Up in Years'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "Youth . . . youth . . . youth!" Everybody's cheering the revolt of the young, and the accent on youth . . . until it makes an old dodderer like me say, "Hey, about a little accent on middle-age for a change?"

WILSON

I was greatly relieved to hear a good word said for old people by a fellow who didn't think everybody over 30 should be shot.

"You'll notice, the big American movie stars today are not so young," said well-fed Martin Ransohoff, head of Filmways, Inc., producer of movies and TV. "Name me four male and female stars under 35 . . ."

"Faye Dunaway . . . Barbra Streisand . . . Mia Farrow." We couldn't think of any more after that. "Warren Beatty . . . Steve McQueen."

"Both over 35!" Ransohoff said.

"Dustin Hoffman," I remembered. And that was it.

"I'm not sure you can name four under 40," Ransohoff said.

So it's the old people who are the stars.

"But it's the 17s to 27s we're playing to, so we have to develop youth," Ransohoff said. "You put an Anthony Stunning matinee idol type up there on the screen and they'll throw eggs at him."

Suicidal Persons Found Capable of Homicide, Too

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Certain suicidal persons are as capable of homicide as they are of taking their own lives, says doctors at the Suicide Prevention Center.

Dr. Carl I. Wold, chief psychologist at the 10-year-old private facility, said these persons fall into two general categories: the divorced or bereaved who say, "I can't live without him—or her," and those who have episodes of violent behavior accompanied by heavy drinking and punctuated by stable periods.

Doctors at the center said one reaction of strain is to hurt someone else, adding: "Sometimes they come in and ask for help so they don't hurt someone."

The center has studied 26,000 cases.

Cuban Classrooms Ring With Anti-Yankee Songs

NUEVA GERONA, Isle of Pines, Cuba (AP) — The classrooms on this island of fledgling Communists are ringing with anti-American songs and chants of revolution.

"This is the school of the future," says a teacher as her students clap and sing about killing "the Yankee assassin."

* * *

The 13th of March Internado, a boarding school, offers a good example of the Education Ministry's emphasis on music as a teaching tool from songs, every student knows where Che Guevara was killed even if he doesn't know where to locate New York, London or Santiago, Cuba.

The composer of the school's hymn, teacher Rafael Perez Farias, recently reminded his colleagues in a bulletin board letter that music had been used "by all the previous regimes," including the Catholic Church, to get across their messages. He called on teachers to follow the same course.

The school, a few miles from this principal city on this renamed "Isle of Youth," is one of several opened recently here and on the main island. Its 470 elementary students, aged 5-13, are the children of farmers who work on nearby state farms. They live at the school and visit their families on weekends. The school has grades 1 through 5.

* * *

The word "internado" translates literally as confined or interned. But officials say an accurate translation is "integrated."

Life for the young students is certainly that. They study, sleep, eat, drill and play together in a military atmosphere. Meals are adequate, and living quarters are clean.

Officials say if it weren't for the Castro revolution, many of the students would never have seen the inside of a classroom. They cite the fact that school has teen-agers as proof education was not available for these children before.

Opened March 13, the school is named after that date 11 years ago when a band of Havana University students was wiped out trying to kill ex-President Fulgencio Batista. The deposed dictator is not left out of the music. "The Americans said Fidel is a blackbird but the Americans didn't say Batista is much worse kind of bird," sing dozens of smiling faces.

Through its music, the school gives a clear reflection of how the Castro government wants its students to think, especially here where the Communist party is trying to construct an all-Communist society of the young. Classes snap to attention for visitors and chant: "The duty of every revolutionary is to make revolution."

* * *

The students are steeped in guerrilla legend and hatred of Americans.

"The Americans are killing children in Vietnam," says a fourth grader.

'WE ARE BROTHERS'

"Capitalism and imperialism are the enemies of all the peoples of the world," says a 13-year-old fifth grader. "We are brothers of the Vietnamese."

In a plant biology class, a student recites the goals of Cuba's big legume-planting program without listing any of the plant's scientific characteristics.

* * *

The teachers are young, and most have only a high school education. Many are in their first year of teaching. They seem proudest when their students are singing.

"Vietnam, Vietnam, immortal land. To the front with Fidel and Ho Chi Minh."

'DEATH TO YANKEE'

Or the last verse of the school hymn: "Death to the Yankee assassin of the men of the Congo, Bolivia and Vietnam . . . and thus all the peoples of the world will be Communist brothers."

No Break at Paris on Bombing Pause

From Our News Wires

PARIS — U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators failed today to reach agreement on conditions for a bombing pause. But U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman said — and then denied — they would meet again tomorrow.

Harriman told newsmen after emerging from the 27th publicly announced meeting at the former Majestic Hotel: "We have adjourned our meeting and we are going to meet again tomorrow." It would have been an unprecedented special session.

★ ★ ★

But the chief North Vietnamese delegate, Xuan Thuy, said just minutes later that the next meeting would not be held until next Wednesday — apparently meaning a week's delay in the Hanoi reply to Washington peace efforts.

When Hariman got back to the U.S. Embassy, just a mile away from the Majestic, he said the next meeting was scheduled for Wednesday.

SECRET MEETINGS?

There have been persistent reports lately that Harriman and Thuy have been meeting secretly.

At today's meeting Harriman told the Hanoi representatives Washington was ready to move quickly toward peace.

"It is time for you to act," he said. "The choice is yours."

It was possible the delegation had not yet received the official North Vietnam government reaction to President Johnson's peace offensive and that the reply could come tomorrow. It had been expected today and Washington was hopeful of announcing a bombing halt during the day.

SOVIET INTERVENTION?

High diplomatic sources in London said the Soviet Union had intervened to transmit the U.S. proposals to Hanoi and that the North Vietnamese government "means business."

Another sign of developments in the search for peace came from Saigon where U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker met today with President Nguyen Van Thieu for the second time in two days and the sixth time since last Wednesday.

At today's session, Harriman reaffirmed American backing for the Saigon government of Thieu while Thuy once again demanded U.S. recognition of, and negotiations with, the Vietcong's National Liberation Front.

Apollo Trio Flies to Cape

ABOARD USS ESSEX (AP) — The Apollo 7 space trio, well-fed and rested after 24 hours on the carrier Essex, flew toward Florida today to relive for experts their 11-day, 4½ million mile saga in space.

They left the carrier at 8:30 a.m. EDT for Cape Kennedy in two planes. After a short welcoming ceremony there, they were to go into a long series of de-briefings.

★ ★ ★

From their answers and data gathered by the spacecraft, the space agency hopes to determine whether the next manned space shot can take men safely in a circle around the moon. The decision on whether the Apollo 8 flight will be another earth orbit or circumlunar is expected in November.

For Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian Walter Cunningham, the next few weeks will be a continuous round of medical examinations, de-briefings and reports.

'PERFECT MISSION'

The Apollo 7 crew splashed down at 7:12 a.m. EDT yesterday in the Atlantic southeast of Bermuda. Officials called the Apollo 7 flight "a perfect mission."

After the three men were brought aboard the Essex Dr. William Carpentier, the recovery team chief physician, said a medical examination showed all three men "essentially normal — no problems." He said the men showed no sign of mental strain, no irritation. "Quite the opposite," Carpentier said.

★ ★ ★

Eisele had some residual infection, but otherwise there was no evidence of the colds that plagued all three astronauts during the flight and caused so much worry for their re-entry. The men came out of orbit without their helmets to permit them to hold their noses, blow and equalize the atmospheric pressure on their ears.

WALKED STIFFLY

Like most other spacemen on the 16 previous American flights, the Apollo 7 trip walked stiffly after the long confinement.

Varner Outlines OU Fund Plea

An expected enrollment increase of 900 students at Oakland University next fall is a major reason for the university's planned budget hike of nearly $3 million over the current year, according to chancellor Durward B. Varner.

OU's general fund budget of nearly $10.4 million for fiscal 1969-70 provides for a predicted enrollment of 5,828 next fall.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan State University Board of Trustees, which governs OU, has approved the proposed OU budget and sent it to the State Budget Office.

The budget office then recommends a figure to the governor, who then makes recommendations to the legislature for consideration. The legislature then decides the budget.

FACULTY SALARIES

Major areas of the proposed increase of $864,000 to provide salaries for 72 additional faculty members and $411,566 for a suggested salary increase of 7 per cent for all faculty and staff.

The proposed budget also requests $191,740 in additional funds for urban extension services and other help for disadvantaged students.

Varner notes that $50,000 was funded this year to establish the urban affairs center in Pontiac. Called the Pontiac

Hubert's Campaign Gets Shot in the Arm

By United Press International

Despite the stepped up tempo, Hubert H. Humphrey found the going easier as he entered the stretch drive of his presidential campaign.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey had a rare day of unblemished campaigning yesterday in Texas, bringing together warring Democrats, drawing mammoth crowds and winning a hug from Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

In Fort Worth, Waco and Dallas, Humphrey pointed to Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Gov. John Connally together on the platform behind him, an event Humphrey said demonstrated his ability to unite diverse elements. The two Democrats represent hostile factions of the party.

DROPPED IN

The first lady literally dropped in on the Humphrey campaign at Dallas. She embraced Humphrey and told the crowd she was flying over when she saw the gathering and her pilot told her it was a Humphrey rally. She asked to stop so that she might pass on her best wishes.

Related Stories, Pages B-15, C-10

Renewing the debate issue in his talks, Humphrey said of Richard M. Nixon: "I know where he sits, I want to know where he stands. The last time a Republican ever did anything for the South, his name was Sherman and he marched through Georgia."

WHISTLE-STOP TOUR

Nixon meantime rolled through Ohio on an old-fashioned whistle-stop tour partly marred by heckling. Scores of protesters were among good-sized crowds greeting the GOP candidate.

The former vice president also stopped off in Saginaw, Mich.

★ ★ ★

American Independent party candidate George C. Wallace for the second straight day was the target of concentrated heckling as he campaigned in Wisconsin at Oshkosh.

★ ★ ★

A Sindlinger & Co. telephone poll of 2,414 adults reported 38.1 per cent for Nixon, 31.0 per cent for Humphrey, 10.4 per cent for Wallace, 19.6 per cent undecided and 0.9 per cent for other candidates.

Board Decision on Site Crucial

(Last of Two Articles)

By BOB WISLER

The Pontiac School Board is heading toward one of its biggest decisions in years. Where should the school district's planned super high school—an education complex of three high schools for 4,500 students—be located?

The decision has been hanging over the school board like Damocles' sword for more than a year. As time has elapsed, the pressure to build has increased.

★ ★ ★

Because of this pressure, the board had in the beginning of the year tentatively adopted a site on the Pontiac State Hospital grounds.

However, in recent weeks a new site has been proposed — a 45-to-65-acre site centered at Orchard Lake Avenue and Bagley.

OUT ON A LIMB?

Some think the school board may be out on a limb. The leaders of the 90-member citizens finance study council has said the board is committed to the hospital site.

★ ★ ★

But there are a number of persons who believe the school board would err if it chose to go along with the state hospital site, especially the professional planners who are involved in school district and city planning decisions.

In fact, it's unlikely the central city site would be receiving any consideration now if it were not for the collective opinion of a number of planners that the school district was about to pass up a golden opportunity to help renovate the city socially, economically and physically.

★ ★ ★

The planners provided the impetus for a more thorough evaluation and the idea was taken up quickly by the Pontiac Area Planning Council (PAPC), an advisory board created by the school district and the Pontiac City Commission.

Griffin Charges LBJ 'Vendetta'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leader in the Senate fight against President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations says President Johnson has launched a vendetta against him because of his efforts in blocking Abe Fortas' nomination to be chief justice.

"When you stick your neck out and buck the Johnson administration, I guess you have to expect this sort of thing," said Sen. Robert P. Griffin yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Griffin commented in a statement released by his office after the Post Office Department accused the Michigan Republican of misusing free mail privileges in his 1966 Senate campaign and said it would seek reimbursement of some $25,000.

Griffin, who was on a mid-western speaking trip, called the postal department's demand "political harassment" motivated by the senator's successful leadership of the fight to block Johnson's nomination of his old friend Fortas.

RELATIVE ADVICE

"I've advised my relatives and my staff to double check their income tax returns and fasten their seat belts," Griffin said.

Postmaster Gen. Marvin W. Watson said the problem is a matter for Griffin and his conscience. But he added that he had turned it over to the comptroller general for collection.

The issue centers around a newsletter that Griffin sent to constituents during his 1966 campaign for the Senate.

Detroit Blast Rips Car

North Viet Force Smashed Near Da Nang

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marine scouts sighted more than 400 North Vietnamese troops moving through jungled foothills southwest of Da Nang and called in artillery and air strikes that wiped out nearly all of the enemy force, military spokesmen reported today.

The U.S. Command said that the Marine scouts sighted four columns of North Vietnamese totaling about 405 soldiers on the move during the 24 hours before noon today. Four artillery missions and air strikes killed 178 of the enemy troops, a spokesman said.

The enemy soldiers, wearing various uniforms and carrying various types of weapons including rockets and mortars, were spotted in one of the open valleys about 35 miles southwest of Da Nang and only five miles below the embattled Thuong Duc Special Forces camp.

There were headed generally in a north-northeasterly direction, perhaps toward Thuong Duc or even Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city.

2 TOWNS SHELLED

During the same period, enemy gunners slammed 18 mortar rounds into the Thuong Duc district headquarters and a hamlet a mile away. A government spokesman said at least four civilians were killed and 13 others wounded.

★ ★ ★

While the lull in major enemy ground attacks continued in its fourth week, the air war against North Vietnam's southern panhandle continued in full swing yesterday and today despite persistent reports that a halt in the bombing of the North might be ordered.

With a break in the monsoon overcast, American pilots flew 120 missions over the panhandle yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Reports on today's air strikes won't reach U.S. headquarters in Saigon until tomorrow but military sources said the weather was favorable again.

An Air Force F100 Supersabre fighter-bomber was shot down over South Vietnam 11 miles north of Hue. The pilot bailed out over the South China Sea and a Navy boat rescued him. It was the 314th U.S. warplane downed in combat over South Vietnam.

America's biggest bombers, the Air Force B52s, roared over the southern half of the demilitarized zone 12 miles north of Dong Ha to attack North Vietnamese troop concentrations, bunkers and tunnels. Six of the big bombers dumped 180 tons of explosives on the enemy positions.

★ ★ ★

In other strikes, 18 B52s in three waves dropped 500 tons of explosives on enemy supply depots, bunker complexes and weapons positions about 55 miles southwest of Da Nang.

School Budget Up $950,000; Deficit Tallied

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The school board has approved an $8,479,000 budget for the 1968-69 fiscal year, up $952,000 over last year.

The budget includes payment of a deficit of $600,000 from last year.

★ ★ ★

In other recent action, the board appointed Mrs. Thomas Kuzma, 3810 Carriage, Bloomfield Township, to replace board member Richard McGraw, who resigned from the board two weeks ago.

Mrs. Kuzma will complete the three-year term which expires in June.

TESTS APPROVED

Approval was given to use of General Education Development (GED) tests to offer high school equivalent diplomas on the request of those meeting requirements.

Diplomas will be given by the Bloomfield Hills School Board to those who pass the GED tests, which determine if an applicant has a general education level equivalent to a high school graduate.

★ ★ ★

The board determined that the diplomas be given only to persons who had attended Bloomfield schools, but had to drop out, according to Superintendent Eugene L. Johnson.

Approval was given upon the recommendation of the schools counselors. In view of possible state action on the GED tests, however, action on a policy setting requirements to determine who is eligible for the tests was delayed.

DADS' RECOMMENDATIONS

A report was heard from the Lahser High School Dads' group on recommendations to improve the athletic field, and to accelerate the site development plans.

The Bloomfield Hills Education Association reported that negotiations with the board will begin with a public hearing Friday at 10 a.m. at the Penobscot Building in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The hearing will concern a grievance against the school board which came during an all-night bargaining session in September, 1967.

Cuban Blast at U.S. Is Expected at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A Cuban attack on the United States and veiled Romanian criticism of the Soviet Union are expected in the U.N. General Assembly when the two Communist states deliver their policy statement.

Cuban Ambassador Ricardo Alarcon Quesada was expected to deliver today Cuba's usual blast against U.S. policy in Latin America and the presence of the U.S. Naval base at Guantanamo.

But many diplomats feel the tone of the Cuban statement may be more moderate, reflecting the comparatively restrained tone of Cuban speeches in recent months.

Western observers have noted signs of possible Cuban interest in limited relations with the United States. They believed this is motivated by dissatisfaction among members of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government with the results of excessive economic dependence on the Soviet Union.

MOUNTING TROUBLE

Recently, Cuba has been beset by mounting economic troubles capped by a sharp drop in its sugar harvest, the Castro's regime's main export item.

There also have been signs of internal dissension over the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia.

★ ★ ★

Castro, in a speech shortly after the thrust, backed the Kremlin but openly conceded that many Cubans had reacted strongly against the occupation.

Romania was expected to skirt around the Czechoslovak issue with an oblique statement of disapproval.

★ ★ ★

Diplomats believed Romanian Deputy Foreign Minister Mircea Malitza would follow Yugoslvia's example and express approval of Secretary General U Thant's claim that no nation should intefere in the internal affairs of another.

The Western powers have expressed concern that the Soviet action in Czechoslovakia might be followed by similar moves against Romania and Yugoslavia. Both countries, have shown their independence of Moscow.

NEW DOCTRINE?

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said earlier this month that it is important to determine how far Moscow intends to carry the "new Soviet doctrine" of arbitrating East European affairs.

Western delegates who have talked to Romania say they are apprehensive about the course of Soviet policy.

★ ★ ★

Erroneous Ad by GOP Stirs Levin Demand

DETROIT (UPI) — State Democratic Chairman Sander M. Levin today demanded that the Nixon campaign buy the Democrats equal time to reply to a series of radio commercials.

The ad introduces Robert Norsworthy of Detroit as a Democrat who this year is supporting Richard Nixon for president. But yesterday Norsworthy admitted he should have been introduced as "an ex-Democrat."

Earlier Story, Page B-15

★ ★ ★

He has worked on the campaign staffs of Republican Sen. Robert Griffin and Gov. George Romney and currently is campaign manager for a GOP congressional candidate.

"This ad has been run all over the country, hundreds, maybe thousands of times," Levin said. "Every time it has run, it has been a lie, misleading people."

DEMANDS TO GOP

"We demand that the Republicans not only stop running this ad, but give us an amount of equal time to the total time it has run, to reply to the ad and correct the false statements it makes," he said.

Levin also demanded that the Republicans produce a full list of the "so-called Democrats" appearing in similar advertisements along with proof that those involved actually are Democrats.

'Youth Protests Will Not End'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Yale University President Kingman Brewster Jr. says strident protests resulting from frustrated young idealism will not be silenced even by an end to the Vietnam war.

★ ★ ★

Brewster and Tom Hayden, a protest leader in the stormy antiwar street battles during the Democratic National Convention, were lead-off witnesses today as the President's commission on violence began hearings on demonstration disorders.

★ ★ ★

While saying that a university should work against efforts to obtain revolutionary violence, Brewster said that by the same token it ought "to protect the right to revolutionary talk."

Brewster said violence is rooted in frustration, particularly when the government itself ignores constitutional principles.

'FRUSTRATION GOES DEEP'

Brewster said the frustration of the young goes deeper than Vietnam. "Even the shock of sudden peace will not bring serenity to a troubled generation," he said.

Hayden was asked to appear before the panel after waiting three days without being called to testify earlier this month at a House un-American activities subcommittee probe of the Chicago disorders.

★ ★ ★

Hayden, who has visited North Vietnam and played a role in the release of U. S. prisoners, was a leader in the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam. The group sponsored the convention protests that led to four nights of bloody clashes with Chicago police.

Varner Outlines OU Fund Plea

Black Cultural Center, the storefront classroom is expected to officially open soon.

"The funds requested for urban extension and disadvantaged students," will provide $84,340 for expanded support of this activity and $107,400 for the recruitment, counseling and student aid for 50 additional disadvantaged students," Varner said.

$2.5 MILLION MORE

Revenue figures in the budget include a requested state appropriation of nearly $7.6 million, up $2.5 million over the current state support. A large revenue item is an estimated $2.7 million from student fees, up $398,440.

"The appropriation requested for Oakland for 1968-69 operations amounted to $1.9 million (over the previous year's appropriation), which was needed to accommodate an enrollment growth of nearly 20 per cent," Varner said.

"The actual legislative appropriation was only $661,600 and consequently a large portion of urgently needed support could not be provided for the current year's general fund operations.

"Included in the request for 1969-70 is $467,022 to reduce the deficiencies in the Kresge Library and $693,002 to provide for the other needs which were detailed in the 1968-69 budget request and which were unfunded."

POSTS UNFILLED

Because of last year's state appropriation, instructional and administrative positions went unfilled, office and classroom supplies and equipment levels were cut and building maintenance deferred.

OU's state appropriation for 1968-69 amounted to a decrease of $45 per student while all other state universities were increased an average of $62, the chancellor said.

★ ★ ★

The new budget request calls for state funds of $1,302 per student compared with the current figure of $1,024. A year ago, OU's request was $1,281.

Hotel Blaze Kills Four

CHICAGO (AP) — Four persons were killed and 16 were injured, four critically, when fire swept two floors of an apartment-hotel on Chicago's North Side last night.

Firemen said smoke was pouring from the three-story Buena Oaks hotel when they arrived, and residents, many of them elderly, stood in windows of the upper floors calling for help.

Astronauts Bump Jackie From W. Europe Headlines

LONDON (AP) — The Apollo 7 astronauts took Western Europe's headlines away from Jacqueline and Aristotle Onassis today as newspapers cheered the new American space triumph.

West Germany's Frankfurter Allgemeine looked forward to "colonies in space" and said: "the triumph is now complete . . . Now men will reach for the moon."

"Success for Apollo Flight Clears Way to Moon," said the headline in Stockholm's Dagens Nyheter.

Europeans were delighted by the humanity, humor and occasional irritability of the three American astronauts during their space marathon.

"It was nice to see the granite-jawed spacemen showing human quirks," said London's Daily Mail.

"Captain Walter Schirra got a bad cold, refused to appear on TV once, made bad jokes and shouted down to earth: 'We are not going to accept some crazy testing we never heard of before.'

★ ★ ★

"Let us hope that the first man on the moon will still have the guts to bawl out the boss."

"It was as if they were instinctively reacting against the domination of the machine which governs the course of every space mission," said the London Daily Telegraph.

Another Stockholm newspaper, Svenska Dagbladet, commented: "There can be no doubt that both Washington and Moscow have fitted space flights into a military contest."

4 Youths Mute to Rape Charges

Four Oakland County youths facing rape and kidnap charge in the Sept. 20 abduction of a 19-year-old Pontiac girl and her companion stood mute yesterday at their arraignment in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Bonds totalling $70,000 were continued on Raymond M. Spring, 24, of Orion Township; James L. Davidson, 18, of Oxford; James R. Perna, 18, of Oxford; and Percy Greenwood, 21, of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Bond on Greenwood, charged with rape is $10,000, while the other three, charged with rape and kidnap, are held under $20,000 bond each.

Circuit Judge Philip Pratt set no trial date, but a spokesman for the prosecutor's office said that a trial during the November jury term is likely. The term begins Nov. 18.

VICTIMS ABDUCTED

The defendants are accused of attacks on the girl and her escort, also 19, after the victims were abducted from southern Lapeer County.

Perna and Spring face additional charges in Lapeer County of rape, assault and armed robbery in an alleged prior and related incident the same day.

Conviction on either charge carries a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

Sirhan Defense Loses on Evidence

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defense efforts to suppress material seized in the home of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan failed yesterday.

But Russell E. Parsons, attorney for the man accused of slaying Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, told newsmen afterwards that "Sometimes when a judge rules against you it can be very helpful."

Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker said he was not ruling on the admissibility of the evidence, but only on whether it should be suppressed. He said police had "reasonable authority" to enter the home without a search warrant because one of Sirhan's brothers gave consent.

Among items seized — and marked for identification yesterday — were notebooks that included, according to Mayor Sam Yorty's comment shortly after the assassination, "a direct reference to the necessity to assassinate Sen. Kennedy before June 5, 1968."

Slayer Hunted in State

SAGINAW (UPI) — Police today searched for clues to the slayer of a Saginaw man whose bullet-riddled body was found lying in a ditch beside a railroad track in a rural area.

Coroner William F. Shea said Arnulfo Perez, 20, apparently had been shot with a small-caliber weapon.

His body was found east of the city near a vacant migrant workers camp yesterday by State Police of the Bridgeport post, who received an anonymous telephone tip.

Ike Denies His Staff Ran the Presidency

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower writes that it is "nonsense" to believe that he ran his presidency largely through staff decisions.

Eisenhower, in an article in the November Reader's Digest entitled "Some Thoughts on the Presidency," said:

"Naturally, I consulted with my staff and I valued their opinions. But staff work doesn't mean that you take a vote of your subordinates and then abide by the majority opinion. This, of course, is nonsense."

* * *

The former chief executive worked on the article last summer at Walter Reed Army Medical Center just before his seventh heart attack.

Eisenhower wrote that, despite what some persons said, he kept a tight rein on Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' conduct of his administration's foreign policy.

"The persistent statement that I turned foreign policy over to Dulles is, to use a more civilized word than it deserves, incorrect," he said.

Although depending greatly on Dulles' wisdom, Eisenhower added, "Foster made no important move without consulting the President. I reviewed in advance all his major pronouncements and speeches, and when he was abroad he was constantly in touch by cable and telephone.

* * *

"If we did not see eye to eye—and these instances were rare—it was, of course, my opinion that prevailed; this is the way it has to be."

"As a military leader," Eisenhower continued, he learned that his must be the ultimate decision. "Many times during my two terms," he said, "my decisions ran contrary to the majority opinion of my advisors."

'CAN BE EASED'

The former President, who is still in the Walter Reed, said the heavy burdens of the presidency can be eased by good executive organization in the White House.

He listed prime requisites of the presidency as character, ability, responsibility and experience. But above all, he said, every president had "one profound duty to the nation: to exert moral leadership."

State High Court Blocks Legislator in Mayor Race

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court Tuesday ruled State Rep. James Karoub off the ballot as a candidate for mayor of Highland Park in the Nov. 5 election.

The decision reversed one by Circuit Judge James N. Canham, who ruled that Karoub was not barred by legislative membership from seeking the office of mayor.

* * *

Taking the case from the Court of Appeals to expedite a final ruling, the Supreme Court voted 5-1 to reverse Canham and order him to grant an injunction sought by Harold McCoy against the Highland Park Election Commission putting Karoub's name on the ballot for mayor.

McCoy finished third in a Highland Park special primary Sept. 24, behind Robert Blackwell, who led, and Karoub, who finished second. Karoub, a Democrat, had lost for renomination to the Legislature in the regular Aug. 6 primary.

McCoy argued that under the city's charter, the winner of the Highland Park mayor's election must take office Nov. 12. Karoub's term as a legislator does not end until Dec. 31, and McCoy insisted he could not qualify for mayor.

Synagogue Killer Gets Jail

A 34-year-old River Rouge man was sentenced yesterday to 20 to 40 years in the state prison at Jackson for the killing of a custodian in a Southfield synagogue last November.

Edward T. Trudeau also was sentenced to a 5-to-10-year term for breaking and entering the Shaarey Zedek Synagogue.

* * *

Trudeau was found guilty by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury last Tuesday of fatally beating Acie Green, 63, of Detroit.

Green died after being knocked to the floor when he discovered the burglary in progress.

DISMISS CHARGES

Charges against another man were dismissed earlier in a justice court hearing for lack of evidence.

Both prison terms imposed this morning by Judge Frederick C. Ziem are to run concurrently with a 7½-to-10-year prison term presently being served by Trudeau for a breaking and entering case in Detroit.

During Trudeau's three-day trial, testimony was presented by Raymond Smiegal of Detroit that Trudeau had told him about the killing.

Evidence also was offered that matched a heel print found on a piece of paper at the synagogue with one of Trudeau's shoes.

About $150 was taken in the burglary.

4 Heirs Share in Estate of Slain Couple

Four heirs of a Lathrup Village couple, who were slain this summer near Petoskey, will share equally in their estates, valued at an estimated $100,000 each.

Oakland County Probate Judge Donald E. Adams Monday approved the settlement agreement between the survivors of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Robison. They and their four children were shot to death.

The quarter shares will go to Robison's father, Ross C. of Detroit, and a sister, Elaine R. Fox, and Mrs. Robison's mother, Aileen Fulton of Oak Park, and a brother, Marvin L. Fulton.

* * *

The Robisons, according to their wills, dated July 28, 1966, and filed with Probate Court in September, left everything to their children. Since they too were killed, the estates go to the Robison's heirs.

The bodies of all six members of the family were found murdered in their summer home July 22. Their killer has never been found.

In Case of Tie, Let Emotions Decide the Election

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Everyone, I assume, is familiar with the debate over proposals to abolish the Electoral College.

So let us skip the pros and cons of this issue and spend a few minutes juggling a couple of suppositions.

WEST

Suppose that U.S. presidents were elected by popular vote, as critics of the electoral system have advocated. And then suppose that the presidential race were to end in a tie.

This isn't likely to happen, of course. But as long as such a possibility exists, there should be some provision for dealing with it.

One means of breaking the tie was suggested the other day by Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y. Actually, Bingham wasn't referring to this particular problem. But I'll give him credit for solving it anyhow.

MEASURE EMOTIONS

Speaking at a computer symposium in New York, Bingham said it might one day be possible to measure the emotions of voters as they cast their ballots.

★ ★ ★

"The use of computers and some sort of emotion-measuring device in the polling booth" would distinguish "those who feel deeply" from "those who are indifferent or unsure," he said.

★ ★ ★

He added, however, that he personally would oppose such an innovation because it would "favor the fanatics and haters over the moderates."

I certainly agree that it might not be wise to give an emotional vote more weight than a dispassionate vote in the original tabulation.

VOTER ATTITUDE

But if two or more candidates received the same number of votes, then it seems to me that the attitude of the voters would be a legitimate consideration in determining the winner.

The victory could go to the candidate who received the least number of "lukewarm" votes. Or perhaps the greatest number of "I'm for you 100 per cent" votes.

★ ★ ★

Even if not used for breaking ties, the "emotion-measuring device" would more accurately reflect the opinion of the electorate than merely counting the votes.

The tabulations alone are often meaningless, and can even be misleading.

NO WAY TO PROTEST

As I have pointed out previously, there is presently no way to cast a protest vote. You cannot vote against one candidate without voting for another candidate.

★ ★ ★

And if you don't happen to care much about the other candidate either, then your vote does not represent your true feelings.

★ ★ ★

But if your emotions were recorded along with your vote, you could strike a blow for desperation.

Relatively Cheap

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — A driver complained that a state auto inspection had forced him to spend $100 for repairs, an amount he regarded as excessive. Inspection Supervisor Harold Davis investigated. He says a relative of the owner had taken the car for inspection, the repairs cost less than $10 and the relative had pocketed the difference.

Common Cold Still on Top, but Don't Give Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — There has been little practical progress toward curing or preventing the ailment that has plagued the Apollo space travelers—the common cold—government scientists indicate.

They say, however, that they are encouraged because in the last decade medical scientists have at least made significant progress in identifying and isolating many of the common cold germs, thus bringing the problem into sharper focus.

The cold is one of man's oldest, most prevalent, costly and baffling maladies. It can be caused by any one of nearly 100 different known microbes, not to mention others not yet identified.

The ailment—usually relatively mild but occasionally extremely severe—strikes nearly all of the nation's 200 million people at least once a year, and sometimes as often as five times.

$5 BILLION A YEAR

Estimates are that colds cost the nation up to $5 billion yearly in lost wages, lost production and medical expenses. This last item includes perhaps $400 million spent annually for pills and other formulas whose worth, the U.S. Public Health Service says, is questionable.

★ ★ ★

The service's Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases is a focal point of research on the common cold. Scientists there told a reporter:

- As yet there is no known cure for any of the various forms of "acute upper respiratory disease" which are lumped together under the label of common cold.
- With a single exception so far—involving one of the less common, but potentially severe forms—there is no highly effective protective vaccine against any variety of cold.

EXCEPTION

The exception is the recent development of an oral vaccine against a severe form of cold caused by a virus called "adenovirus-4." The latter is a germ that thrives in military training camps where it's imported and swapped around among recruits from different parts of the country.

During 1967-68, nearly a half million men in armed forces training camps were immunized with it—resulting in a reduction of more than 60 per cent in hospitalization for respiratory infections at some bases. The Army estimates the vaccine meant a saving of about $18 million.

★ ★ ★

The government scientists—through admittedly long-range diagnosis—figure the Apollo astronauts have colds caused by one or the other of a group of perhaps 80 or 90 viruses called the "rhinoviruses."

These rhinoviruses are primarily responsible for causing the common cold — especially in adults.

TYPES CLASSIFIED

One estimate is that up to 20 per cent of all absenteeism from industry and business is due to rhinovirus infections.

Fifty-five distinct rhinovirus types have already been classified and up to 40 more are being described from time to time, scientists of the government institute say.

Here's how things stand in the fight against other major villains in the common cold gang — the microbes usually associated with more serious illnesses:

1. The parainfluenza viruses —of which there are three. These cause about 20 per cent of acute respiratory diseases serious enough to hospitalize infants and small children. They cause illness in the form of croup, bronchitis and pneumonia.

★ ★ ★

Separate experimental vaccines—each containing one of the three viruses—showed up to 100 per cent effectiveness in stimulating protective antibodies in children but only limited effectiveness against natural disease.

2. Mycoplasma pneumoniae. This is a microbe that is neither viral nor bacterial, but has characteristics of both.

In epidemic years, it accounts for 10 per cent of all respiratory illness in small children, and causes 30 per cent of all pneumonia in the age group from 10 to 20 years.

PROMISE FADED

Several experimental vaccines against it produced promising results in limited studies in humans, but in large-scale trials, vaccines were only about 50 per cent effective in preventing illness.

3. Respiratory Sycytial Virus —or "RS" for short: This is responsible for the death of 5,000 infants a year—half of the babies who die from acute respiratory diseases.

Experimental vaccines have been developed, but unfortunately with no success in trials, agency scientists report.

But the researchers say intensive efforts are being made to improve all these vaccines, or develop new ones.

Security Plan Launched at City Hospital

Problems of violence, profane speech and unruly conduct in the emergency rooms of two local hospitals has prompted a pilot security program at one of the hospitals, Pontiac General.

Essentially, security has been beefed up at Pontiac General through the use of "moonlighting" policemen hired and assigned to the emergency room.

★ ★ ★

Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, reported recently to the hospital's board of trustees that problems with knives, loaded guns, foul language and drugs had reached the point where something had to be done.

Euler said he met with Pontiac Police Chief William K. Hanger and it was decided to assign a policeman to the emergency area during peak hours — one or two nights a week and on weekends and holidays.

FREQUENT CALLS

"It was getting to the point the police were being called down here to (the hospital) 15 and 20 times a day," Euler explained.

He said the hospital's regular security guards, who patrol the entire hospital and its adjacent parking lots, could not spend enough time in the emergency room to control the problem.

★ ★ ★

Officials at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital reported a similar problem with unruly conduct. Recently the officials there decided to lock all the hospital's outside doors after 9 p.m., leaving only the emergency room entrance itself unlocked.

Pontiac General similarily locks its doors at night.

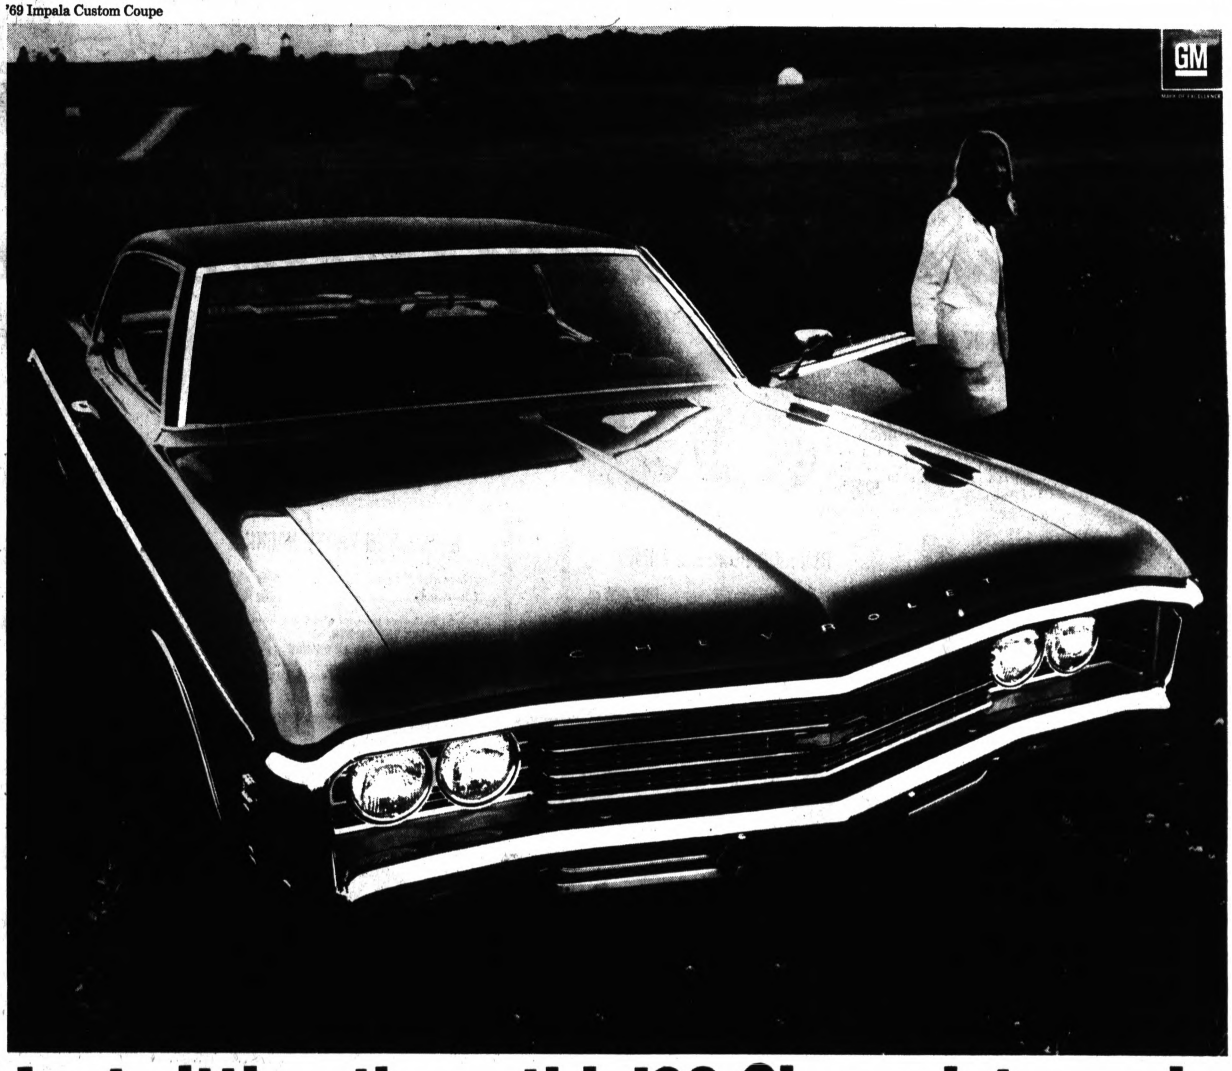
Officials at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital reported no particular problem with visitors to its emergency room, but officails did say that a security guard is always on duty in the building.

The trial program at Pontiac General will run for three to six months, according to Euler. He said the cost has not yet been determined, but would only be the regular police salary paid on an hourly basis.

★ ★ ★

"The problem is not so much with the patients," Euler said, "but with those that come to the hospital with the patient."

'69 Impala Custom Coupe



Just sitting there, this '69 Chevrolet can do four things competitive cars can't:

It can wash its headlights.
It can apply liquid tire chain to its rear wheels.
It can silently defog or defrost the rear window.
It can keep you cool or warm automatically with Comfortron —the self-adjusting air-conditioning system.

And once you've added all these wonderful devices to a new Chevrolet, you just can't imagine why anyone would give a second thought to a second-place car.

The headlight washers and liquid tire chain for traction on slippery roads are operated at the touch of a button from the driver's seat. So is the silent new rear-window defroster. Invisible ceramic strips on the glass heat up to keep the window clear.

Also available: Chevrolet's Light Monitoring System that lets you know from inside if all your outside lights are working, full four-speaker stereo, a smooth 3-speed Turbo Hydra-matic transmission. All in a car made quieter, made stronger, made more comfortable. Now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

We've said it before, and we'll say it again.
Match this, you other '69s!

Putting you first, keeps us first.

MRS. OSCAR SORENSON

She 'Lends' Femininity to Businessman's World

By YOLANDA BENDVIDES

Treading the male-dominated business path with a firm but warm woman's touch is the route for Marie Sorenson.

To date, the hustling president of Century Finance Company in Rochester has extended her feminine influence to the board of directors of the Michigan Consumer Finance Association.

She serves as its newest and only female member.

YOLANDA

Home base is Rochester for the native Detroiter and husband, Oscar Sorenson, DVM. They have been in residence for some 22 years.

★ ★ ★

First stop along Marie's journey through a woman's 'no man's land' found her managing the Rochester branch of the First Federal Savings and Loan of Oakland.

Interest in this field was spurred by a previous job with the Michigan State Highway Department in Lansing.

As fate would have it, ex-teacher Maire was given the task of handling excess property purchased along development routes that had to be rented and subsequently sold.

Once adjusted to the business pace, Marie launched out on her own with the opening of the Rochester firm which she managed for six years.

PARTNERS

By 1961, Mrs. Sorenson found her interest expanding to the counseling aspect of financing which resulted in the present partnership venture with husband Oscar.

Now, seven years later, the Century Finance Company, with a second branch in Oxford, likewise run by women, stands alone with the only female president and general manager in the area's financial realm.

Reflecting on her status in the cold, competitive business race, Mrs. Sorenson feels a woman is best in the area of customer-company relationships.

★ ★ ★

"Because we deal with problems of a personal nature, the customer often finds an older woman (one with experiences in family budgeting) more understanding and easier to relate to," she says.

"Success in dealing with the head of the household, she says, is due to the fact that" a man with financial problems to work out rarely wants to discuss it with another man."

In the field of business competition, Mrs. Sorenson finds a woman's touch again an advantage.

★ ★ ★

"In a large corporation, a man is under great pressure as the breadwinner and he can't always take time to discover the personal aspect of each customer's needs."

"Our advantage over such a large company is that we can and do take time to listen and counsel."

Aside from business endeavors, Maire and husband are familiar participants in several civic and social organizations.

They were members of the original committee working for the Rochester Crittenton Hospital on University Drive.

As business responsibilities have cut short active participation with the local Village Player's group in which they are charter members, the couple has responded by constructing a side room for the Player's box office.

Business away from the office has Mrs. Sorenson serving as president of the Rochester Business Women's Club, and treasurer of the Wesleyan Service Guild of St. Paul's United Methodist Church.

★ ★ ★

Not to be forgotten, of course, is membership in the Southeastern Michigan, Michigan State, and National Veterinary Auxiliaries she belongs to as a veterinarian's wife.

Time for relaxation (when that's possible) finds Marie and Oscar restoring antique furniture.

And who, might one ask, budgets for the budgeter? Again, look no further than Marie, of course.

Letters Express Writers' Views on Certificates

By ELIZABETH L. POST

The following letters refer to a question I printed from a wife whose husband wanted to frame their wedding certificate and hang it in the bedroom.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: Mother tells me (she was married in 1914) that it was the thing to do back in her day to have the marriage certificate framed and hung in the bedroom. We still have hers (now tucked away with some other precious pictures of her young days) with the beautiful gold scroll framed with glass.—Anne B.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a marriage certificate hanging in the hall of my apartment. It is greatly admired, causes much conversation and always gives me thoughts of my long departed parents.

★ ★ ★

It was found, badly folded, among my mother's possessions, when she died 20 years ago. The sheet is illuminated beautifully and is filled out in my father's marvelous penmanship. I smoothed it and had it framed for preservation. I'm proud of it and it's my prize wall piece. —Mrs. Carson

GETS PERMISSION

Dear Mrs. Post: After a girl accepts a date from a boy, when he comes to her home to get her is he supposed to ask her parents again if she can go with him after she has already told them where they are going? My Mom says he should; I say he doesn't have to. Who is right? —Clarinda

★ ★ ★

Dear Clarinda: When a girl accepts a date, the boy may assume that she has her parents' permission to go. There is no reason for him to ask again when he arrives, although he should go in and talk with the parents for a few minutes.

It is the girl's obligation to ask that permission — not just to tell her parents where she is going.

PAYS ON DATES

Dear Mrs. Post: Are you responsible for boys paying for girls on dates? If not, how come it is considered mannerly to do so?—Jim

★ ★ ★

Dear Jim: I certainly didn't invent the rule, but I hope I am partly responsible for seeing that it continues. If you want a girl's company enough to ask her out, you can't ask her to pay for the privilege! If she asks you, she pays. But when it's your date — you pay.

Cushing Defends Jackie's Marriage

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing says the idea that Jacqueline Kennedy excommunicated herself from the Roman Catholic Church by her marriage to Aristotle Onassis is "a lot of nonsense."

In a talk Tuesday to members of the Caritas Guild, men in the licensed beverage industry, the Catholic archbishop of Boston said repeatedly that Caritas stands for charity—and that, he said, is what is needed.

"I turn on the radio and all I hear are people knocking her head off, as it were, criticizing her and so forth, and they are so far from the truth that no one would believe me if I ever got on a radio program and revealed what I know.

"Months ago I knew that Jacqueline Kennedy was going to marry Aristotle Onassis," the cardinal said. "I know what she has been going through for many, many months.

"I have been contacted by many of those who are identified in high places with the administration of the late President Kennedy, and I have been contacted by others intimately related and associated with the Kennedy family to stop all this from taking place, namely that Jack's widow, God rest him, would marry Aristotle Onassis.

NO PART

"Well, I would have no part."

The cardinal, and old friend of the Kennedy family, recalled that the former Mrs. Kennedy visited him secretly a week ago, accompanied only by a Secret Service man, and that they talked about two hours.

★ ★ ★

"My lips are sealed. I cannot tell anything about the private, very private conversation I had with her... No matter what I said to her she was already committed to this marriage months ago and I knew it . . .

"The point I want to make is this: Why do people pour letters in to me? And today's mail ... condemning her, condemning me and condemning the church, and the church has nothing to do with it. I never would condemn anybody.

"And this idea of saying she's excommunicated, She's a public sinner, what a lot of nonsense. Only God knows who is a sinner, who is not.

GOD

"There are so many ramifications with regard to anything that might be considered as sinful that only God Almighty could really interpret them and manifest His infinite love for the sinner, while at the same time despising the sin."

The cardinal noted that he married the late President and Mrs. Kennedy and baptised their children, "so I have had very close relationships with Jacqueline Kennedy."

★ ★ ★

"Why can't she marry whomever she wants to marry, and why should I be condemned and why should she be condemned? I have my faults, undoubtedly she has hers.

"That's not the point. The point is that if we ever are going to get anywhere in uniting this nation we have to use all our efforts to charity, in love, in mutual respect and esteem for one another."

Mr. and Mrs. John Eden, former longtime Bloomfield Hills residents and Bloomfield Hills Country Club members, breezed into town over the weekend for a very short stay; they're bunking at the club. The Edens now live in Pennsylvania.

Bloomfield Hills women are on a bridge binge today. From the length of the country club's reservations list, it looks as if everyone was at the "Ladies Old-Fashioned Card Party."

Mrs. E. Bud Wittus of Bloomfield Hills is ticket chairman.

He Doesn't Grumble

Wife Beats Up Her Husband

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My son is 6 feet, 2 inches, and weighs 220 pounds. He's married to a 95-pound, five-foot wildcat who has sent him to the hospital twice since they've been married, and it hasn't been a year yet.

ABBY

The first time, she laid his head open with a coffee pot and the doc took 22 stitches in his skull.

The next time she hit him with a bridge lamp and broke his nose.

The big dummy refuses to bring charges against her. He won't leave her, and he won't raise a hand against her. He says he "loves" her. Is he crazy or is she?

How can I get him to either defend himself or lock up this maniac. I'm afraid she'll kill him.

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: They could both be a little "crazy," but if your son sticks around and takes this kind of punishment hands down, he's crazier than she is.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: When two couples go out to dinner together is it considered "cheap" to ask for separate checks?

Nick and I have gone out with another couple and unless separate checks are asked for in advance, we split the check in half, which is very unfair because ● I don't drink. ● We never order the most expensive dinner on the menu like the other couple. ● Our share of the tip shouldn't be divided 50-50 either, because we didn't spend as much.

Nick and I talk to each other about this after we get home, but we feel sheepish and never do anything about it. Do you think we should?

"SHEEPISH"

DEAR SHEEPISH: Yes. And if you don't, you are not only sheepish—you're foolish.

DEAR ABBY: I'm sick of reading about dirty old men. How about dirty old women?

I am a bachelor, 65 years of age, and I can tell you that a man who isn't in a wheelchair isn't safe alone anymore.

I went on a cruise for relaxation and the women nearly ran me crazy. I had 60-year-old women propositioning me for early dates, late dates, and the late late dates. I got all sort of gifts, and one old dame even offered me MONEY! Not only that, but a 24-year-old kid passed me a note, "What are you saving it for Dad? The prom?" I even had them trying to break into my room at night.

Maybe I'm old fashioned, but I still like to do the asking, but nowadays you don't get the chance. They ask you first.

SIDNEY

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the young girl whose date got fresh so she started to walk home, and then hitched a ride with a truck driver prompts this letter. She said her father got mad at her because she rode with a strange man. I want to say this:

I am a middle-aged widow who had to take to the highways in order to support my children, and of all the men in the world, truck drivers are the best.

How do I love them? Let me count the ways:

If another car has pulled off the road (even to rest) it's the truck driver who stops first to see if they're in trouble.

Truck drivers are the most considerate and courteous drivers on the road.

It seems to be an unwritten law of the road that a truck driver will never pass up a car that looks like it needs help.

Abby, when I see a truck driver, I see a host of angels behind him all the way to heaven. God bless the truck drivers.

E. G. P.

Two beginning classes of French for children, ages 8-11, will be offered at Mercy College of Detroit during the fall semester.

The classes, stressing the oral approach to foreign language, will be based on the St. Cloud method utilizing filmstrips and tapes produced in France.

Additional information may be obtained by the college.

Plunging Necks Eliminate Bras

One lesson that became obvious during the Paris fall fashion collections was: the lower the neckline, the less likely the model was wearing a bra.

★ ★ ★

Many necklines plunged to the navel or at least to the waist with no support for the bosom other than that provided by nature. The most popular neckline for the newly revived little black dress was a long slit from a high jewel collar to a tiny belted waist.

Flower Talk

AUDUBON'S BIRDS AND FLOWERS

We have all seen the famous American bird pictures painted by John J. Audubon, organizer of the famous Audubon Society. This famous painter had mastered the technique of painting the intricate feathers and features of birds, but he acquired the services of other artists to paint in the floral and plant backgrounds on his picutres.

Flowers, he thought, are special, and need special artists to capture their delicate beauty.

We feel flowers are special, too. That is why we fill our orders with special care. You can be confident that when you order flowers from us, they will be just what you want, carefully prepared.

Killing Suspect Is Bound Over

A Pontiac man accused in the shooting death of another man Oct. 12 was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday on a charge of second-degree murder.

Free after posting $3,000 bond set by Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum at his preliminary examination yesterday is John Byrd, 25, of 92 Crawford.

★ ★ ★

He is to be arraigned Nov. 6 before Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

Byrd was taken into custody at police headquarters shortly after Thomas Johnson, 36, of 441 Bartlett was killed by a gunshot wound in the neck during an alleged argument on the 100 block of Clovese.

Superschool Dispute to Be Aired by Board

The controversial location of Pontiac's super high school is expected to be discussed by the board of education tomorrow, but no board action is planned.

Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer is scheduled to bring the trustees up-to-date on developments pertaining to the school site.

★ ★ ★

No action is anticipated since school officials are waiting for a final site study report from urban planner David Lewis of Orchard Lake Avenue and Bagley, near the center of Pontiac, to the school board Oct. 3 and to the Pontiac Area Planning Council Oct. 10.

A COMMITMENT?

The controversy stems from what some people feel was a commitment by the school board to put the high school for 4,500 students on the Pontiac State Hospital grounds.

Other major items on the agenda include a report on predesign studies of the high school and a progress report on preliminary plans, site acquisition and master site plan for the proposed Human Resource Center elementary school complex near City Hall.

★ ★ ★

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. at the school administration building, 350 E. Wide Track.

Scholarship Set Up at OU

Establishment of a $10,000 scholarship fund at Oakland University through a gift of the Roy G. Michell Charitable Foundation and Trust of Ferndale has been announced by John E. Gibson, dean of OU's School of Engineering.

"This generous gift will allow a number of able scholars who might otherwise not be able to complete their studies in engineering for financial reasons to complete their education," Gibson said.

The dean also noted that the establishment of the scholarships coincides with the rapid expansion of Oakland's modern engeneering program and with the dedicatory year for the school's new Dodge Hall of Engineering.

Old Are Favored

COUNCIL GROVE, Kan. (AP) — There is at least one advantage to being over 65 years of age in this community.

The board of education ruled that residents of Morris County Unified School District 417 will be given free passes to all athletic events, plays and all other school extracurricular activities if they are "senior citizens."

Construction Strike Talks Set for Detroit

A meeting with federal mediators has been set for tomorrow between parties in a strike which has stopped construction on Oakland County's $2 8.5-million Clinton-Oakland interceptor Sewer.

On strike since Oct. 1 is the statewide Local 324 of the International Union of Operating Engineers. Some 600 of their workers (11,000 in state) are on strike against the Associated Underground Contractors, firms which contract for digging operations such as sewers and pipelines.

★ ★ ★

Representatives of the firms and the union are to meet at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Federal Building in downtown Detroit.

According to a union official, William J. Myers, Local 324's business manager, negotiators are still about 50 cents apart on wages and working conditions and fringe benefits also have not been settled. Top classification of worker gets $5.55 hourly at present, he said.

The strike has most large construction jobs in the state at a standstill, however, some work is preceeding under interim agreements, Myers said.

OU Receives 6 Key Grants

Oakland University has accepted six major grants totaling $338,938.

The largest grant is in the amount of $225,244 from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW) for continued support of the National Defense Student Loan Program at Oakland University.

Three grants for Oakland's new Institute of Biological Sciences were accepted: $41,738 from HEW to support study of intraocular fluid dynamics, under the direction of V. Everett Kinsey, director of the institute; $29,378 from HEW and $5,750 from the Fight for Sight —National Council to Combat Blindness, Inc., both to support study of intraocular transport and both under the direction of V. N. Reddy, assistant director of the institute.

The other two grants were in the amount of $19,608 from HEW for continued support of research on "Hydroxypropiophenone and Chemically Induced Hepatomas," under the direction of Nalin J. Unaker, associate professor of biology, and $17,220 from the U.S. Army Research Office for support of research on "Thermomagnetic Effects in Rarefield Gases," under the direction of Robert M. Williamson, professor of physics.

Court Upholds Conviction in Bribery Case

The Michigan Court of Appeals yesterday upheld the bribery conviction of an alleged Mafia leader involved in the operation of a gambling establishment in Pontiac more than three years ago.

Losing his appeal was Angelo (Barrels) Lombardi, 39, of Detroit.

Lombardi was found guilty by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury in June 1966 of conspiracy to bribe and the bribery of a Pontiac police officer who was working undercover to break up the gambling house known as the Seaway Civic and Social Club.

Sentenced to 2 to 5 years in prison for the conspiracy and 2 to 4 years for the bribery, he has been free on bond since his conviction.

2 OTHERS CONVICTED

Two other men involved in the operation were convicted of conspiracy to bribe. Odus Tincher, 51, is presently serving a 1-to-5-year prison sentence after losing his appeal in June.

The third defendant, Charles Rousos, 54, never appealed his sentence of five years probation.

★ ★ ★

A year ago, Lombardi pleaded guilty to maintaining the gambling operation and was fined $500. He was once described in a U.S. Senate subcommittee hearing as a Mafia section leader.

Seals Leading NHL Division

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The Oakland Seals, who won only 15 National Hockey League games in 1967-68, took over first place in the West Division Tuesday night.

The Seals edged the Minnesota North Stars 3-2 on George Swarbrick's rebound with 4:01 remaining.

It was the second consecutive victory for the Seals. Oakland, now 2-3-1, leads Minnesota and St. Louis in the West by one point.

The game was the only NHL contest scheduled Tuesday night.

After the first three games, Gary Smith replaced Charlie Hodge in the Oakland nets and the 6-foot-4 netminder has been superb.

Tigers Add 10 Names to Fall Roster

DETROIT (AP) — Ten new names are on the Detroit Tigers basic 40-man roster.

The eleven are: pitchers Elroy Face, Don McMahon, John Wyatt, Mike Kilkeny, Mike Small, Jim Foor, Norm McRae, Dennis Saunders and Bob Ware; catcher Joe Cernich; outfielder Ron Woods; and infielder Emerito "Junior" Lopez.

Cernich finished this year as Detroit's batting practice catcher and traveled with the team for the World Series in St. Louis.

Face, McMahon and Wyatt were acquired by Detroit during the season.

Most were taken in the recent expansion draft. Mathews announced his retirment after 17 years in the major leagues leaving one spot open on the list.
