Strike Ends at Pontiac Motor

Agree on GM Contract Covering 350,000

Big Blow Coming

HURRICANE FLAGS — Over the bow of a sailing ship dry-docked near Morehead, N.C., flags fly warning area residents of the coming of Hurricane Esther. The storm is veering north and is expected to strike hard at the New England coast late today or Thursday.

New York, New England Await Esther's Lashing

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Hurricane Esther began an eastward movement today with undiminished 130-mile-an-hour winds and the New York-New England coastal area was put under hurricane warning.

The huge, raging storm brushed the North Carolina-Virginia coastal areas with barely gale force winds and then took a course the Washington Weather Bureau said "will bring the storm close to Southeastern New England Thursday afternoon."

The Washington Weather Bureau's 11 a.m. (Pontiac time) advisory said the storm had taken a course between north and northeast on a track which "appears considerably the danger to coastal sections from Central New Jersey southward to the Maryland coast."

The new course caused weather officials to lower hurricane warnings from Cape Hatteras to the Virginia capes although gale warnings and a hurricane watch continued from north of the Virginia capes to Western Long Island.

The New Jersey-New York-New England coastal area had been anticipating the storm and preparations already were well under way as far north as Newport, R.I., where Navy vessels were sent to sea and planes moved inland. But the storm's jump toward a north east movement was a sudden one.

SO FAR, AT SEA

The storm's winds still had been spent only on the open seas.

The Virginia coast was brushed with comparatively mild winds of about 20 miles an hour. Tides were only slightly above normal.

Brief bursts of gale force winds, with highest gusts of 55 miles an hour, were reported along the North Carolina Outer Banks early today. Some flooding was reported there, too, but the damage appeared to be slight.

At midmorning the sun broke through the clouds over the Outer Banks and the clearing spread northward over the Virginia Tidewater area.

The Washington Weather Bureau said westerly winds, which often keep hurricanes from U.S. shores, apparently had been blowing farther north than usual, allowing the storm to get as close as it did.

★ ★ ★

The giant storm apparently hit some west to east air movements early today, however, sparing the middle-Atlantic states and posing threats to New England.

The 11 a.m. advisory put the storm's eye at a point near lat-

Warm Weather Will Continue Through Friday

Temperatures will continue warm through Friday but will turn cooler late Saturday, the weatherman said.

Tonight's low will dip to 58. Thursday's high will rise to near 79.

For the next five days temperatures will average 2 to 4 degrees above the normal high of 69 to 73 and normal low of 48 to 53. Precipitation will average one half to three quarters of an inch in showers Saturday through Monday.

Sixty-two was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 69 at 2 p.m.

21½-Hour Talks Produce Pact for 9,000 Here

Agreement Comes Only Few Hours Before UAW National Settlement

The strike at Pontiac Motor Division ended early today, only a few hours before the United Auto Workers and General Motors Corp. announced final agreement on a new three-year national contract.

UAW picket lines, that had surrounded the division's gates for nine days, dissolved and moved quietly away in the early dawn as word came that a local settlement had been reached.

Three hours later, with the announcement of a national contract agreement, GM officials predicted the giant auto industry would be back to normal production by Monday.

Management and union negotiators, in a determined effort to break a deadlock over local seniority issues, walked out from a 21½-hour bargaining session at 6:30 a.m. with a new contract in their pockets.

The issue over seniority rights was broken at about 5 a.m. Other smaller issues were cleaned up. Then the strike was over for some 9,000 UAW employes at Pontiac Motor.

"We are pleased that a settlement has been reached between Pontiac Motor and the union and we intend to resume production as soon as possible," said S. E. Knudsen, GM vice president and general manager of the division.

"We are recalling several hundred hourly rated employes to make initial preparations for full scale production," he said.

Areas where employes are returning to their jobs include engineering, maintenance and the sheet metal die room.

Knudsen said the "gradual return of employes to their jobs will continue tomorrow when the sheet metal plant resumes operation on the first shift."

This will involve some 3,200 workers.

"It is expected that all Pontiac Motor plants will have returned to their regular schedules Monday."

Tshombe Asks Fast U.N. Action

Pays Tribute at Bier of Hammarskjold, Says 'Offer Solution'

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia (UPI) — Katanga President Moise Tshombe announced tonight that he and U.N. negotiators had agreed on a provisional cease fire in his rebel province to be effective at one minute after midnight.

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia (UPI)—Katanga President Moise Tshombe gave the United Nations an ultimatum today to come up with new proposals by nightfall to end the fighting in his rebel province of the Congo.

Later, as he spoke briefly after paying his tribute at the bier of the late U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, a broadcast by Radio Pere Katanga said Central Congolese government troops had moved into Katanga to help U.N. forces overthrow Tshombe.

"The United Nations must decide immediately," Tshombe told newsmen as he stood on the steps of the church where Hammarskjold's body lay in state.

"It is the force which has massacred my people. We are waiting now for counterproposals from New York, (U.N. headquarters). But I am returning to Katanga tonight, whatever happens."

In previous statements, Tshombe and his ministers have demanded that the United Nations withdraw its troops from Elizabethville, if not from all Katanga.

Tshombe's statement came at the end of the second day of recess-

FRIENDS MEET — Rt. Rev. and Mrs. Ivol I. Curtis of Los Angeles, Calif. (left) and Mrs. Arthur Robertson of 78 Washington St. ran into each other on the street of shops in front of the red and gold temple from Taiwan at the 60th General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church being held in Detroit's Cobo Hall. Bishop Curtis, a former rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, Williams at West Pike Streets, was pastor to Mrs. Robertson's family.

Episcopal Vote Unanimous

Bishops Approve Merger

DETROIT (AP) — Episcopal bishops today gave quick and astonishingly unanimous approval to a plan to seek a broad scale merger with four other Christian denominations.

"I'm quite speechless," said the church's presiding bishop, the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, after the bishops affirmed the action without debate or a single dissenting voice.

The move calls for talks looking toward "one national united church truly catholic, truly reformed and truly evangelical."

The Polish National Catholic Church as well as possible others were added to the original proposal for negotiations with Methodists, United Presbyterians and the United Church of Christ.

Before the vote, Bishop Lichtenberger led a prayer that God would "look with mercy on the broken body of this church," and that divine love would help restore a "unity to bring healing to the nation and to the lives of men."

"The bishops rose and applauded after the vote was taken. The Rt. Rev. Robert F. Gibson, bishop of Virginia, who presented the committee proposal, said:

"I thank the house for better treatment than I expected."

The action still is subject to concurrence by the Episcopal legislative convention's lower chamber, the House of Deputies.

Spectators packed the side aisles and entrance ways, standing over each other's shoulders, as the dignified conclave of 195 bishops got under way. Many women visitors sat on the floor between sections of seats.

The session began with another matter of inter-church relationships — approval of full inter-communion with the Philippine Independent Catholic Church.

Bishop Gibson, bishop of Virginia, called the step "a piece of the greatest ecclesiastical statesmanship that this church has ever been involved in its history."

Mongi Slim Assumes U.N. Presidency

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly quickly elected Tunisian delegate Mongi Slim as its president today, but no agreement was in sight on the critical problem of choosing a successor to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

The moderate North African received all 96 votes cast after Indonesian Ambassador Ali Sastroamidjojo had withdrawn from the race. He took over the chair from the outgoing president, Frederick H. Boland of Ireland.

Slim referred immediately to the death of Hammarskjold, which has overshadowed the normally routine organizational procedure at the opening meetings.

"The shining example that Mr. Hammarskjold has given us should be an inspiration to all of us in this assembly," Slim said.

Slim is expected to play a major role in the efforts now going on to work out a temporary arrangement to keep the office of secretary general operating.

COOL TO IDEA

Western diplomats have been pushing a move to have him chosen as interim secretary general, but he is reported cool to the idea.

Boland also has been urged to take over the post, but he also is said to be reluctant.

Whatever temporary arrangement is made, diplomats believe, probably will have to be done without Soviet support.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko indicated Moscow will settle for nothing less than a three-man secretariat, to control the world organization.

Under the stopgap plan, the U.N. General Assembly would name an interim secretary general to fill the position left vacant by Hammarskjold's death. The West and many neutrals rallied to the support of the proposal.

Soviet opposition heightened fears that the entire question of selecting a new secretary general

Reuther Sure Council Will Ratify Contract

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors and the United Auto Workers Union agreed on a three-year national contract today for GM's 350,000 hourly employes. UAW President Walter P. Reuther said he was confident the union's national GM Council would approve the settlement at its meeting later today.

When approved the contract will bind all 129 UAW locals at General Motors plants, even though some 25 of these locals have yet to settle local issues.

Reuther said the local unions will be bound by the majority decision of the 280 delegates making up the council.

Local strikes in the wake of agreement on economic matters Sept. 6 halted all production at the giant automotive concern. By Sept. 11 GM was idled.

Individual settlements, pushed by both the international union and the company, brought sporadic forces back to work and a few vehicles began trickling from the assembly lines this week. In all, however, the corporation lost almost 100,000 cars from its production schedules.

ASKS QUICK ACTION

In announcing the agreement, Louis G. Seaton, GM's vice president-personnel, said:

"We trust that approval and ratification will be accomplished with all possible speed so that the period of hardship inflicted on our employes and their families by the strike can be brought to an end. We hope to be able to resume our strike-delayed production as soon as materials begin flowing into our plants."

Reuther said he expected all General Motors local unions across the country would complete their vote on contract ratification by Oct. 9.

Asked what would happen in the case of some of the locals which have been slow in working out agreements with individual GM plants, Reuther replied: "We expect all GM locals to abide by the will of the majority of the GM Council."

He referred particularly to the Fisher Body plant at Pittsburgh where the UAW local leaders have revolted against the international union's contract policies.

Asked if leaders of the Pittsburgh local would be at today's council meeting, Reuther said: "No—and I think it's best they stay in Pittsburgh and work with our regional director to get a settlement there."

He declined to speculate on what action the international union would take if the Pittsburgh unit

Fire Destroys Lapeer Plant

Damage Estimated at More Than $500,000; Firm Employed 52

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a Lapeer plastic company early today causing more than $500,000 damage.

Destroyed was the Fabricators, Inc., plant at 97 Farr St., about five blocks north of the downtown business district.

The firm had been in Lapeer less than a year and employed 52 workers.

According to firm officials, contents were valued at $250,000 and the building, leased from the Mount Clemens Metal Products Co., was of the same value.

Lapeer firemen said the blaze was out of control when they arrived at the scene minutes after it was discovered at 3:15 a.m.

Two bowsers on a railroad siding adjacent to the large plant also were destroyed by fire.

Investigation at the scene, however, was to continue today.

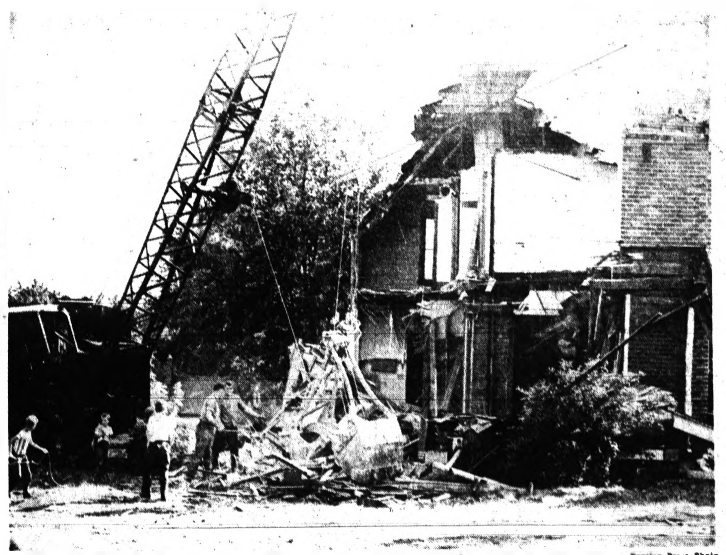
Urban Renewal Gets Under Way



Pontiac Press Photo

LOWERING THE BOOM — After several delays, urban renewal clearance got started this week on Pontiac's East Side. This was the first home to be leveled by Dave Wrecking Co. The two-story brick and frame structure stood at 136 Chandler St., just east of Cobo Hall. Some 200 homes, garages and shacks will suffer a similar fate before the demolition contract is completed.

Rusk, Gromyko to Talk Berlin

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will meet Thursday in the first of a series of showdown talks on the crucial East-West dispute over Berlin and the parallel crisis in the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

Rusk is reported to have decided on a stern approach to the talks, including a warning to the Soviet government against believing that the United States and its Allies will be bluffed or frightened into surrendering their Berlin rights or their stake in the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

The secretary is said to believe that the choice of war or peace over Berlin is now up to Premier Khrushchev and that a soft approach to Gromyko, centered on an appeal for cooperation in working out the world's problems, might do more harm than good.

ASKED TO LUNCH

When Rusk and Gromyko attended the brief opening session of the United Nations General Assembly Tuesday, U.S. diplomat Charles E. Bohlen extended through Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin an invitation for Gromyko to lunch with Rusk Thursday.

★ ★ ★

U.S. authorities discouraged speculation that the first meeting would lead to any concrete results. They expect a series of talks while the two foreign ministers are in New York during the next week or so. They were not optimistic about any better U.S.-Soviet understanding even at the end of the series.

★ ★ ★

These informants said the Soviet government has shown no sign whatever of easing its pressures on Berlin or modifying its essential demands for a change in the structure of the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

Gromyko, in fact, made clear to newsmen Tuesday that he intends to take advantage of the situation created by the death of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to insist on acceptance of the Soviet Union's "troika" proposal.

WANTS 'TROIKA'

Under this plan, Hammarskjold would be succeeded by a three-man board—"troika" means three in Russia. Each of the three — a Westerner, a neutral and a Communist—would have a veto power over the functioning of the U.N. administration.

★ ★ ★

The Western powers and many other U.N. members rejected the "troika" last year when it was first presented by Khrushchev. The West said he wanted to cripple the United Nations, and that view is unchanged.

Due to the tragic death of Hammarskjold, the Soviet Union is now in position to cripple U.N. operations anyway, except for one possibility. The United States and its Allies, with some support from other nations, believe that the General Assembly, where the Soviet Union has no veto, can assume the power to make temporary arrangements for an official to carry on Hammarskjold's work.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson conferred Tuesday with Ambassador Mongi Slim of Tunisia, the prospective new president of the General Assembly. Rusk and Stevenson and some other delegates would like Slim to assume Hammarskjold's duties in addition to those of the assembly presidency. He was reported reluctant to undertake such a task in the face of Soviet opposition.

Khiari followed up with a statement of his own.

"I cannot say whether we are any closer to or further from a cease fire at this stage," he said. "It was the wish of the secretary general that we should bring an end to this stupid struggle, and that is what we are trying to do."

He said he had no fixed time to leave the Ndola talks, saying that "Maybe I'll go tomorrow or maybe the day after."

The claim by Radio Free Katanga followed unconfirmed reports that troops of Congolese Deputy Premier Antoine Gizenga had penetrated Katanga from his neighboring Oriente Province stronghold.

The broadcast alleged that troops of the leftist Gizenga went into action "under the orders of an Indian commander" in the Kinzole-Nyunzu area of North Katanga.

The clandestine station also said Katangese troops still had a U.N. detachment of Swedish, Irish and Indian troops encircled at the strategic Kamina base in Northern Katanga.

Waterford Folk Learn CAI Fair Profit $3,000

Some 200 Waterford Township residents who helped make the 1960 Community Activities Fair a success in June attended a celebration banquet Tuesday night at the CAI building.

Director of the self-sustaining CAI, better known as the Waterford Community Center, told the group that proceeds from the fair amounted to more than $3,000 which would be used for maintaining the building and for capital improvements.

Now Draft Men in East Germany

BERLIN (UPI) — The East German parliament today unanimously approved a "blank check" law authorizing the Communist regime to draft East Germans into the army or any other service in the "defense" of the state.

★ ★ ★

As the rubber-stamp parliament acted, Communist police cleared out residents of East Berlin border housing blocks at gunpoint in a new move to prevent determined Easterners from fleeing to West Berlin.

Deputies of the Communist "Volkskammer" quickly approved a law proclaiming "the honorable duty of its citizens to serve in the defense of the (East) German Democratic Republic."

The law appeared to give Walter Ulbricht's Communist regime power to introduce conscription, mobilization, forced direction of labor or other "defense" measures at will.

NO VOLUNTEERS

Western sources have said it was made necessary by failure of East Germans to volunteer for military service.

A few hours before parliament met the Communists started clearing East Berliners out of their homes along the barricaded border dividing this city.

Communist police tossed tear gas grenades at Western photographers recording the operations, which was first reported by Western police.

West German police said East German police (VOPOS) sent a fleet of furniture trucks to blocks of flats along Harzerstrasse where the line of buildings marks the border and began moving out people and their furniture.

The new Communist pressure followed the arrival in the city Tuesday of Gen. Lucius Clay as President Kennedy's personal representative.

The man who broke the Communist blockade of Berlin in 1948-49 received a roaring welcome from Berliners and gave them a big morale lift.

News Deutschland, the Communist party newspaper, said that as a result of such "provocations" as sending Clay to Berlin and the flight of two West German fighter planes over East Germany last week, the Communists would take new military measures.

Tokyo Detects Another Red Huge N-Blast

TOKYO (Thursday) (AP) — The Soviet Union apparently exploded another nuclear device of several megatons range Wednesday, Japan's Central Meteorological Agency said early today.

The agency's announcement was based on abnormal atmospheric pressures which it said were detected about 10 p.m. (8 a.m., Pontiac time) Wednesday by observations posts throughout Japan.

The agency said the shocks lasted from 20 to 30 minutes and the detonation was believed to be of several megatons range, or several million tons of TNT.

It said shocks felt here were the same as those recorded here Monday when the 13th nuclear detonation was detected by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Assembly Elects Slim as President

SHROUDED IN GLOOM

The assembly met for only four minutes in tribute to Hammarskjold.

The battle lines were drawn Tuesday night when Gromyko told newsmen his government would not agree to any one man serving as secretary general even in an interim capacity.

"Any one person would not be good. We must have three secretaries general," Gromyko said, harking back to the plan proposed by Premier Khrushchev at last year's General Assembly.

Asked about a move to name Slim an interim secretary general in addition to the post of assembly president, he stood firm.

"We hold to the principal position on this matter — that any one person would not be good," Gromyko said.

Gromyko's remarks brought quick comment from U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, who said the United Nations must act at once to choose an interim secretary general. He accused the Soviets of using blocking tactics.

Agree on Contract at GM for 350,000

3 MAJOR PARTS

Today's contract replaces a three-year agreement which expired originally at midnight Aug. 31. The three major parts are the economic package, estimated by the union to be more than 12 cents an hour in take home pay the first years, the noneconomic national agreement covering such things as working conditions, and the local working agreements.

The local agreements proved to be the major snag.

Negotiators came up with the economic package Sept. 6 after extending the contract at the request of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

But when local issues remained unsolved the international union authorized the plants to strike one week ago Monday. The total shutdown followed.

This was the first time General Motors had been strikebound nationally since the winter of 1945-46.

The UAW next will take the GM package to Ford, and then to Chrysler where contracts have been extended pending the GM settlement. Late last month the union settled with American Motors Corp.

Second Suspect Is Charged in Officer's Beating

Another man has been charged in the beating of two off-duty Pontiac police officers at examinations in Pontiac Municipal Court Sept. 27.

Asst. Prosecutor J. Robert Sterling yesterday signed an order for a warrant charging aggravated assault against Frederick McLane, 34 Belevue St.

Complaining witness is Sgt. Fred Goines who charges McLane kicked him early Sunday morning when Goines and Patrolman Oscar K. Kissinger attempted to break up a melee outside a dance hall in the city.

Amended 701 Application on City Planning Ready

BIRMINGHAM — Authorization to submit the final 701 planning assistance application, amended to include the cost of aerial photographs and contour maps, has been given by the City Commission.

The revised application includes $6,200 for photos and mapping for a total cost of $30,174, of which 75 per cent will be borne by the federal government if the application is approved.

The 2-year urban planning program would be undertaken by the Southfield planning firm of Vilican-Leman & Associates, Inc.

The city had submitted its final application earlier but just recently learned that the assistance program would include the cost of aerial photographs.

City Manager L. R. Gare said the engineering department had maps in the 1961-62 budget but had not included the photographs in the 701 program.

The cost to the city now will be reduced 75 per cent.

The only change made in the original amendment request is that the scale will be 200 feet to the inch rather than 100 feet to the inch.

Replacement of a 34-year-old boiler at the Baldwin Public Library also has been approved by the commission, which awarded an installation contract to the S. S. Pirie Co. of Ferndale for $3,565.

Cost of repairing the old hand-fired boiler was estimated at $2,300 and Andrew F. Butt, building inspector, recommended that it be replaced instead of renovated.

The new heating unit is expected to be in operation in 30 days.

The Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Church of Birmingham will hold its fall rummage sale Sept. 27 beginning at 8 p.m. in the lower level of the church.

Those offering items for sale are asked to bring them to the church this week or early next week since they will be sorted and priced the day preceding the sale.

Walkout Is Over at Pontiac Motor

Although local issues were settled, Fisher Body could not resume production because it supplies Pontiac car bodies.

at which time final car assembly will commence," Knudsen said.

The agreement was described as fair and acceptable by both sides.

"We feel we made substantial gains in our local demands," said Cecil C. Mullinix, president of Pontiac Motor UAW Local 653.

"We will retain all our local seniority rights and we feel we got a good relief time agreement," he added.

The union had demanded no change in the plantwide seniority system in its old contract.

Mullinix said other minor issues involved clothing and coveralls for employes and restoring a Thursday payday for afternoon shift employes.

The local will hold a membership meeting to ratify the new local contract terms soon, he said, but no date or place has been set.

PRAISE FROM KOREN

Acting Pontiac Police Chief Joseph Koren praised both sides for keeping peace at the picket lines during the strike which began Sept. 11.

"The people on both sides of the fence conducted themselves in an orderly manner. There were no incidents reported to us," he said.

City Presented $5,000 Check

Commission Is Given Bequest From the Will of Mrs. Lula C. Wilson

Last night's City Commission meeting started on a bright note. Commissioners were handed a $5,000 check.

The money was a bequest from the will of the late Mrs. Lula C. Wilson, whose late husband Charles B. Wilson founded the old Wilson Foundry in Pontiac.

Mrs. Wilson died last February following an illness of eight years. The city was named one of at legatees in her will.

The will specified that the $5,000 must be used for adding equipment at Pontiac General Hospital.

Commissioners expressed their gratitude at receiving the check and ordered a resolution prepared officially recognizing their acceptance.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Moderate to heavy rains and very strong winds are expected Wednesday night from New England states to Middle Atlantic states due to force of Hurricane Esther. Rain is also expected in Carolinas with a few showers in South, ern Florida. Scattered showers and thundershowers are forecast for Upper Mississippi Valley and eastern sections of Plains States. It is expected to be cooler in Upper Mississippi Valley.

Hannah Testifies on Probusiness Policy of MSU

LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University President John A. Hannah declared today that the university provides services to management that "far outnumber and outweigh services to labor unions."

Hannah testified before a three-man Senate committee investigating charges of a prolabor slant at the university's Labor and Industrial Relations Center.

The committee subpoenaed Hannah and some 15 other witnesses to testify at the hearing which is expected to wind up three days of sessions today.

Hannah told the lawmakers that the university trustees had considered the possibility of claiming immunity from the investigation under a provision of the state Constitution.

He said the board decided, however, that it had nothing to fear from a fair, impartial and objective investigation.

"Furthermore, the trustees were anxious to have the truth exposed to public view and to dispel the groundless accusations that have been directed at the center and university personnel," Hannah said.

Drop Souvanna's Name

Buick Special Adds 2-Door Convertible

Buick today introduced a newly styled line of cars for 1962, featuring a revolutionary 90-degree V6 engine in its Special series which has been expanded to include a two-door convertible.

★ ★ ★

New models will go on display in Pontiac at Oliver Motor Sales, Inc., 210 Orchard Lake, Sept. 27.

In styling, all regular-size cars show sporty new roof styles and long sweeping lines intended to make the cars look bigger and more massive.

A two-door hardtop looking like a convertible will be available for the first time in the Invicta and LeSabre series.

In engineering, the big news is the first 90-degree V6 ever offered by an American manufacturer. It will be standard on all regular Special models.

The aluminum V6, introduced last year, will be standard on deluxe models in the Special series.

Horsepower for the V6 is pegged at 135, with a displacement of 198 cubic inches and a compression ratio of 8.8-to-1.

"Our new V6 has performance characteristics of a V8, yet it is from 140 to 179 pounds lighter than in-line sixes of comparable power output," says Edward D. Rollert, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors.

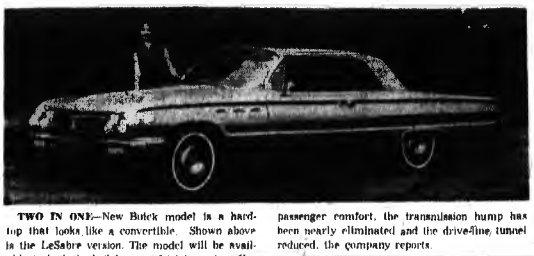
Rollert also claims higher performance, lower initial cost, lower operating costs and low maintenance expense for the new six-cylinder engine.

Inside the large Buick, the big change is in increased comfort provided by the almost complete elimination of the transmission hump, accomplished by widening the frame in front and moving the engine forward four inches.



TWO IN ONE—New Buick model is a hardtop that looks like a convertible. Shown above is the LeSabre version. The model will be available in both the LeSabre and Invicta series. For passenger comfort, the transmission hump has been nearly eliminated and the drive-line tunnel reduced, the company reports.

Equal Rights Could Be Con-Con Issue

(Editor's Note: The convention to revise Michigan's 1908 constitution meets in Lansing Oct. 3. This is the 11th in a series of articles dealing with possible changes in the state's basic law.)

By DON MYERS

LANSING (UPI)—A demand for guaranteed equal rights—not just protection against discrimination—could come from Michigan minority groups at the Oct. 3 constitutional convention.

The first problem facing delegates will be whether such provisions should be written into the constitution.

The second will be, if this is an issue that should go into the state's basic law, then how far should the provisions go. Both problems are difficult and not made any easier by the emotion surrounding them.

Civil rights in its broadest sense includes such things as religious freedom, rights of initiative and referendum, guarantees against encroachment on individual freedom by government and even apportionment of the legislature, some experts say.

But the thing that produces the friction is the rights which are given—or denied—to racial and other minority groups.

Two positions on this kind of civil rights are at opposite extremes, and each is dear to the hearts of many. There seems, as well, little ground for compromise.

ONLY TOKEN MENTION

One extreme holds that individual rights are guaranteed in the federal Constitution, and need only token mention in state documents.

The other side, including the minority groups, says that since discrimination is practiced to some extent in Michigan then all possible steps to eliminate it should be taken.

Statutes and administrative rules dealing with antidiscrimination measures are, of course, on the state books.

The existing constitution of 1908 contains provisions roughly paralleling the federal Bill of Rights, and in addition states in the section which sets up the civil service system that no state worker shall be removed or demoted for "partisan, racial or religious considerations."

The state Fair Employment Practices Act is an attempt to guarantee equal treatment for all in job opportunities, but many people believe there is no real power in enforcement provisions of the act.

Attempts to legislate civil rights have consistently failed in the state's lawmaking body.

RUN INTO PITFALLS

Administrative rules attempting to prevent discrimination, for example the controversial rule nine of the Corporations and Securities Commission, have repeatedly run into pitfalls which have to a great degree prevented their effective enforcement.

The chief argument against such legislation or rules has been that the rights of many are often abused by guaranteeing the rights of a few.

The American principle, well established if not always practiced, that all citizens should have the same rights and obligations, will be a strong argument for the inclusion of some sort of minority rights guarantee in the state constitution.

Perhaps the strongest argument against this position will be that the whole area is in the province of the legislature, not the constitution.

Delegates will have to determine how far they can and should go on the issue of civil rights, but they may have to sift a barrage of propaganda and counter-propaganda to reach a workable and acceptable solution.

(Next: The rights, powers and duties of local units of government may be an even more explosive issue at con-con than the rights of individuals.)

'In Principle' Stand

At its monthly meeting in Muskegon Sept. 8, the Conservation Commission reaffirmed action it took two years ago in endorsing "in principle" establishment of national recreation areas in Michigan.

Controls Are Eased

LANSING (AP) — The state water resources commission said it is considering giving more time for cleanup operations to a group of paper mills charged with polluting the Kalamazoo River.

Hearings scheduled Thursday for the Allied Paper Corporation and National Gypsum Co. of Kalamazoo and Hamilton Paper Co. of Plainwell have been dropped.

Fisheries Boss Dead

Ralph S. Marks, 57, Conservation Department regional fisheries supervisor for the southern Lower Peninsula, died last week at a Lansing hospital following an illness of several months.

Is the U.S. Surplus Food Program Harmful or Helpful?

By The Associated Press

Is Uncle Sam's free food program good or bad for the country?

Does it, as some complain, make able-bodied men and women shiftless so that they spurn work as long as the larder is well stocked?

* * *

Does it cut down on the grocers' sales?

What about reports that allegedly needy have driven to distribution stations in Cadillacs and carted away free rations?

DOESN'T DOUBT MERITS

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has no doubts about the merits of the program.

He says: "We are using America's food abundance. As long as there are hungry people in this country, or as long as families have inadequate diets because they cannot buy the food the farmer produces, we intend to find ways to use the unsurpassed capacity to serve human need."

The program was expanded shortly after President Kennedy took office. Additional foods were added to the direct distribution list, and more needy persons were added to the rolls, both at the President's direction. As a result food distribution is running at about three times the level of a year earlier.

* * *

The Agriculture Department estimates that slightly more than 14 million children will participate in the school lunch program this year. It also reports that 6.8 million persons in 46 states, the District of Columbia and the territories participated in the direct distribution program during the 1961 fiscal year ended June 30. This compared with 3.4 million a year earlier.

USE FOOD STAMP PLAN

Additionally, 248,000 persons are participating in a food stamp plan under which the government makes stamps available to needy persons for purchase of foods at regular grocery stores. The stamps are redeemed from grocery stores by the department through the banking system.

* * *

Under the direct distribution plan, certain foods acquired by the Agriculture Department under its price support and related surplus disposal programs are donated to the states, the Bureau of Indian Affairs, and to the territories for use in the nonprofit school lunch program and for needy persons in charitable institutions and family units.

* * *

With a program so widespread and vast, it was inevitable that complaints of abuses would arise. However, a nationwide survey by The Associated Press uncovered surprisingly few instances of out-and-out chiseling.

DOESN'T BELIEVE CRITICS

For example, John Sanford, supervisor of the commodity unit of the Oklahoma Public Welfare Department, says he doesn't think able-bodied men are turning down work to get the food.

* * *

"There isn't enough to justify turning down a job," he observed.

Marvin E. Larson, Kansas Welfare Director, said his office had received a complaint that a woman appeared in a Cadillac and picked up free groceries.

"That checked out to be a volunteer church worker who was picking up an order for someone incapacitated," Larson added.

* * *

At Wichita, a Welfare Department official said "There certainly, to our knowledge, has been no one who turned down private employment in order to receive public assistance—they could be terminated on assistance if they even refused to take a job washing dishes, for example."

'HAD NO COMPLAINTS'

Floyd Quinlisk, Executive Secretary of the Wichita Independent Businessmen's Association, which includes many grocers, commented:

* * *

"I've had absolutely no complaints, and our members are in the habit of speaking out at everything they don't like. They must feel that these are surplus foods, and it's better to give them to those who need them than let them go to waste."

Donia Girard, Chairman of the Lewiston, Maine, Health and Welfare Board, said "If welfare people weren't receiving free food, they could not buy it at stores. They would have to do without."

* * *

Paul D. McClay, General Relief Director for Maine, said: "The town officials would be hot on the track of any who were turning down jobs."

NO ADVERSE CRITICISM

In Connecticut, welfare officials said they had not heard of any abuses nor adverse criticism.

Massachusetts sources said apparently the $5 or so weekly benefits for a family of four has not resulted in any abuses. Nor was there any adverse reaction from grocers.

Thomas D. Sheehan, Administrator of Jackson County, Mo., surplus food distribution, said "Most of these people are very, very grateful and very appreciative of what they get. We have found very few cheaters."

However, Sheehan added, "Grocers in low-income areas are not so happy. One Kansas City grocer said his business was down about 10 per cent."

* * *

Robert F. McGonagle, chief of the commodity distribution in the Ohio Department of Public Welfare, said "It's a good program—one of the best. We've received some complaints about people picking up the food in taxicabs or cars, or that the recipients are too healthy looking. But usually the complaints are vague — no names."

'NOT ONE IN 500'

C. W. (Jack) Skinner, Director of the Wyoming Welfare Department, remarked, "There has been a minimum of criticism of our program."

He said there probably was not one case in 500 in which a man who could be working was using the surplus foods.

In California, the Education Department, which distributes and stores the food, said it had received no complaints.

* * *

Reed Clegg, Fresno County welfare director, said the program is for emergencies and "As soon as work opens up, they stop coming to us for food."

SAYS REACTION GOOD

Leonard C. Wood, director of the food distribution in New Hampshire, said the reaction of officials, grocers and recipients is good. He said he knew of no abuses.

Morris Huggins, Arizona supervisor of the Federal Surplus Commodity Program, commented: "It's my opinion that people don't apply unless they really need the food. I think the grocers generally feel that people with limited incomes who are receiving this aid are better able to trade at the stores for things we don't distribute."

* * *

In Maryland, Baltimore city officials reported two instances in which food recipients had attempted to sell items they had received free. Also, there was one instance of a client turning down an opportunity to work.

* * *

William J. Brugger, supervisor of the program for the Maryland Department of Budget and Procurement, said "I believe the grocers have come to realize that the recipients in their communities now have more money to spend on foods not available under the program—such as fancier meats."

GREATER THAN EXPECTED

Washington State officials said the program has progressed smoothly, public acceptance has been even greater than expected, and abuses have been held to a minimum.

* * *

Leonard Hegland, public assistance director of Washington, said it was unlikely that food handouts would discourage able-bodied recipients from going to work.

* * *

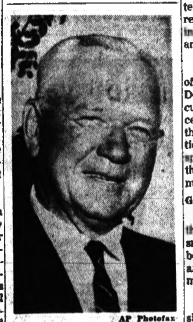
He added that it would not be "a very pleasant experience" to exist on the amounts allotted for a family—the average ration in July was 20.6 pounds per family. Only two grocers were reported to have complained, said a Washington official.

'PROGRAM ON DECLINE'

William Herndon, director of the commodity distribution divison of the Texas Department of Public Welfare, said there was an upsurge in participation soon after the program was broadened but this is now on a decline.

He said most participating counties—70 of Texas' 254 counties participated in the federal-state-county program in February—think the broadened menu was a good thing "but more and more are concerned with the validity of case loads."

Herndon estimated that less than 10 counties refuse to give aid if there is an employable adult in the family asking help. "However, more and more are thinking that vein," he added.



AP Photofax

HE DIES — Mon C. Wallgren, former Democratic governor of Washington, died in an Olympia, Washington., hospital. He was 70, and was hospitalized after an auto accident last July. He had served as a U.S. senator and also as a representative.

Only 13, Lucky Besides

NORTH BOSTON, N. Y. (AP) — For 13-year-old Nancy Gantzer good things come in quick succession. First she won $300 in a national school photo contest. Then she was awarded the Curved Bar, one of the highest honors in Girl Scouting. A few days later, her entry in a newspaper crossword contest took the $625 prize.

Traffic was held up for 2½ days in the Holland Tunnel in 1949 when a truck containing drums of carbon disulfide caught fire in the middle of the tube between New York and New Jersey.

Seeks Big Role in Space Race

Ford Motor President Says Company Readies Saturn Booster Bid

DENVER (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. is seeking a major role in the nation's space program, John Dykstra, Ford president said Tuesday.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the National Defense Transportation Association, he said his company now is preparing its bid to manufacture the biggest, most powerful American entry in the space race — the first-stage booster of the giant Saturn vehicle.

"This is only one sign that we are moving into the defense and space business with both feet," he said. "We are determined to be in the vanguard of our country's effort to regain space-age leadership."

The Saturn will be the nation's rocket capable of putting a man on the moon.

In recognition of the trend of defense business away from Detroit, he said, Ford decided some years ago it should once again become a substantial contributor to the defense effort "not merely as a manufacturer, but as a designer and developer of the most advanced kinds of equipment."

Firemen Get Work Rest; Now It's Only 63 Hours

FLINT (AP) — Flint Township firemen will only have to work 63 hours a week from now on.

The Township Board of Trustees, which ordered another fireman hired to take up the slack, Monday ordered the work week cut from 73 ½ hours, effective Oct. 1.

The township now has eight full time firemen.

Vandals Destroy Trees at Aaron Perry Park

The meanest type of vandalism we know is maliciously destroying something that nature provides which does not belong to you.

According to the Parks and Recreation Department, this happened recently in Aaron Perry Park. Someone, and we hate to blame it on either grownups or youngsters, tore down some 25 trees.

The trees were 10 to 14 feet high and already represented several years growth. To harm anything as beautiful as a tree, which is completely at your mercy, for no reason, is beyond our conception.

Obviously these scoundrels had never heard of Joyce Kilmer's poem "Trees."

The monetary value is not to be sneezed at since it represents approximately $800. Certainly, complete restitution should be made if the culprits are apprehended.

Also, the public would like to know just what kind of a person would stoop this low.

The Press would be happy to cooperate with anyone that has any clues which would help in apprehending these vandals.

U.S. Now Ranks Fourth in Propaganda Effort

Some interesting data in the field of propaganda was given out recently by EDWARD R. MURROW, who directs the Voice of America and other facets of our national propaganda program.

Mr. MURROW says that the United States now ranks fourth in its propaganda efforts. First comes Russia, then China, then the United Arab Republic.

★ ★ ★

But there is a tremendous disparity between the Russian propaganda machine and our own activities in this field of international public relations. Mr. Murrow declares that Russia spends more just to jam our broadcasts than we spend on our whole broadcasting program. She does this, of course, so that the people in Russia and in her satellite countries will not be able to hear our broadcasts and thus learn the truth. So long as they hear only what Khrushchev wants them to hear, it is easy to keep them sold on his program.

★ ★ ★

He points out that the Communist nations pose as favoring the rights of the new African nations to determine their own futures and to enjoy complete freedom in determining their form of government. Yet at the same time the Reds are using all types of brutality and the force of arms to prevent their captive satellite peoples from enjoying those same liberties.

★ ★ ★

They want the African nations to stay clear of any influence from the free nations of the West. Once that has been accomplished, the Communists would use propaganda, or, if that failed, armed force to keep the new nations on the side of communism.

Until and unless the United States learns to oppose the Communist propaganda more effectively, we are apt to lose ground gradually but steadily.

As Mr. MURROW puts it, there is no quick and easy solution to our world problems. We need to possess patience, steadiness and fortitude, and the American people have never been noted for at least the first one of these qualities.

We need to step up our propaganda efforts. We must learn how to take the offensive in this vitally important field instead of remaining constantly on the defensive. We have been pushed hither and yon by the Russian propagandists.

They have organized groups of Communists and Communist sympathizers all over the world who are ready to riot, to carry placards, or to applaud loudly, whatever the action may be that suits Nikita Khrushchev's wily purposes at the moment.

A comparatively few picked agents, carefully trained and completely uninhibited by any necessity to be truthful or ethical, frequently can make it appear that a whole nation is antagonistic to the United States.

And no matter how good our intentions may be toward the newly emerging nations of Africa, if they hear twenty lies tending to put us in a bad light in their minds to every once we are able to tell them our side of the story, it is not surprising that they may feel uncertain as to our motives.

We have to face up to the military strength of our Communist enemies. But at the same time we need to recognize that a great part of their gains have been achieved by more subtle means and take steps to see that we can meet them on more nearly equal terms in this field.

Cotton—Peanuts

Sweet Potatoes, Sugar Cane Are Raised in This Area

Autumn: Not officially due until the wee hours of Saturday morning; but on some recent nights under suspicion of running ahead of schedule.

Now we're growing cotton in Oakland County. Starting from seed coming from Georgia last spring, in the garden of at 7580 Honeysuckle Dr., Orchard Lake, the plants now run to 4 feet high. They are blooming profusely, and already have several bolls as large as plums. Whether or not they mature depends on the antics of that inevitable, unpredictable and elusive character, Jack Frost.

Growing peanuts promised to be a profitable venture for of Waterford, who last year produced several bushels. But he ran into opposition this year. The neighborhood squirrels discovered them and are digging them out even before they mature. They're even hiding them under his garage.

Sweet potatoes, grown from cuttings from those bought in a local store last spring, are now being dug by of Birmingham, and bake up just like the Southern kind. I baked some of them.

Returning from Florida last spring,

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Millhouse

of Walled Lake brought back a few sugar cane plants, which now have reached the height of 6 feet in their garden. The stalks are sweet chewing.

A miniature orange tree, fostered along by

of Rochester for several years, in a flower pot in her home in the winters and in her flower garden summers, now has 25 small oranges, each about an inch in diameter, and fully ripened. In texture and flavor they are perfect miniatures.

Don't blame this column if you beat yourself out of that $300 prize in our football contest, by not getting your entries in on time. NOW is a good time to do it.

David Lawrence Is Worried . . .

Will U.N. Become Another League?

WASHINGTON — Internationalism—which seems at times to impose peace through a league or association of sovereign states—is face to face today with one of its greatest tests. The League of Nations failed in this very task. Will the United Nations now fall down, too?

LAWRENCE

Theoretically a league of equals could be construed to mean that each nation is prepared to forego its sovereignty to a certain extent and to bow to the will of the majority in adjusting its external relations.

Whether a league seeks to accomplish this by moral force—which is, of course, more desirable—or by military force as a last resort, the biggest single requirement is that both sides in a dispute shall have absolute confidence in the integrity of the international organization itself that assumes the role of policeman.

Today the United Nations has lost the confidence of many nations which are members of it. The late Dag Hammarskjold tried an experiment—to use the office of secretary general of the United Nations as a kind of benevolent policeman.

AUTHORIZES FORCE

In Korea and in the Middle East and later in Africa the use of military force was authorized by the United Nations itself. Because of the political entanglements of various members of the United Nations, not one of these efforts could accomplish any more than a cease fire or an armistice.

The Korean problem, for instance, is still unsolved. The Middle Eastern situation is in a sort of stalemate, without a solution, and the mess in the Congo is still characterized by sporadic fighting.

What has happened since the United Nations was founded in 1945 constitutes a noble effort to organize a set of law-abiding nations who would have respect for the opinion of mankind.

AN OGRE IN MOSCOW

But an ogre has appeared in Moscow who overnight brushes aside, for instance, his repeated pledges that he would not resume nuclear tests. He now laughs at the discomfiture of a world which he is sure is helpless to punish him for his misdemeanors.

There is nothing wrong in general with the ideals that gave prestige for a while to the League of Nations and later to the United Nations.

But the mistake made in the last few years has been the belief that Moscow could be dealt with as an equal—as a law-abiding partner of a great alliance of nations.

When such a deviation occurs, the United Nations cannot get anywhere by the use of military force. Everybody knows that the warring factions in the Congo couldn't possibly engage in anything except desultory fighting in the jungle—which wouldn't trouble the rest of the world too much—were it not for the help given from the outside.

The United Nations has the machinery to expose such interference, but has not done so. World opinion has not been informed of the true culprits in the Congo.

But, above all, the United Nations has not had the leadership it ought to have in the exercise of moral force. The United Nations didn't pursue its case against the Soviets in Hungary. It has acted as if it were afraid to show up Communist misdeeds.

CASE FOR EXPULSION

Indeed, there was and is a case for expulsion of the present Soviet government from the United Nations—it doesn't even pay its share of the expenses—and for an appeal to the people of the Soviet Union to establish a free government that can be a true partner of the other free nations in the United Nations.

Instead, today the United Nations has admitted many African and Asian nations that are not yet capable of governing themselves, and is talking, oddly enough, of admitting Red China, which committed acts of aggression against the Korean Republic and actually fought against U.N. forces, inflicting tens of thousands of casualties.

The theory that every government which is in control of a certain land area deserves admission to the United Nations is one of the biggest fallacies of our times.

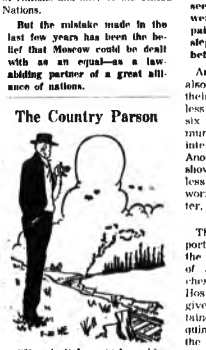
The Country Parson



"You don't have to be a big shot to be important—the hair spring is just as valuable to a watch as the mainspring.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Apparent Success Told in Test of 'Tranquilizer'

Suppose I reported to you that, after giving a new tranquilizer to a group of 60 hospitalized patients for six weeks, I received the following evaluations:

Ten patients said they felt less tense and more relaxed. Four experienced a feeling of unusual well-being. One each attested to improved sleep, better insight, increased resistance to fatigue and a lessening of a psoriasis rash.

Nurses in charge of these patients independently noted that 13 were more sociable. Seven showed improved spirits. Six were more relaxed. Three each appeared more co-operative or slept better.

The psychiatrists in charge, also independently, found nine more comfortable and less anxious, seven less moody, six more energetic and sociable, two sleeping better and one with an improvement of his rash.

Suppose I then reported to you that; after giving a new pepper-upper to another group of 60 patients. I received these evaluations:

Six patients said they felt more relaxed and less tense. Three experienced well-being and cheerfulness. Two were more energetic. One each attested to better appetite and improved digestion.

The nurses in charge of these patients independently noted that 14 were more sociable. Three seemed less depressed. Two were more energetic. Another pair was more alert. One man slept better and another had a better appetite.

And the psychiatrists in charge, also independently, found six of their patients more cheerful and less depressed. Another group of six was more sociable and communicative. Three appeared more interested in their surroundings. Another trio was more active and showed more initiative. Two more less tense. Another pair was less worrisome. And one each slept better, ate better or gained weight.

The reason I thought these reports might interest you rests in the fact that they are the results of a study made at the Westchester Division of the New York Hospital after the first group was given an orange tablet that contained only milk sugar and enough quinine to give a bitter taste. And the second, a yellow tablet of milk sugar and a little salt to give a bland taste!

Dear Reader: Dr. Hyman appreciates your comments and questions but regrets that the heavy volume of his mail doesn't permit him to answer each individual letter or post card. However, he will comment in columns like the above upon matters of general or unusual interest.

Voice of the People:

Navy Commander Knows Importance of Shelter

Congratulations to The Press for its recent editorials on the need for individual action in regard to fallout protection. The prevailing public ignorance and apathy on the subject is the "Achilles' heel" of our nation's defense effort. Without an effective non-military defense, the United States is in the position of brandishing the sword of massive retaliation without buckling on the shield of nonmilitary defense in the form of an enlightened public, adequately sheltered. In this situation we may have our weapon poised and whetted, but find the sword arm paralyzed.

Of course, only Khrushchev can tell what the Russians have in mind. However, the following statement by Dimitri Manuilsky, writing for the Lenin School of Political Warfare in 1931, is got encouraging.

"War to the hilt between communism and capitalism is inevitable. Today, of course, we are not strong enough to attack. Our time will come in about 20 or 30 years. The bourgeoisie will have to be put to sleep, so we will begin by launching the most spectacular peace movement on record. There will be electrifying overtones and unheard of concessions. The capitalist countries, stupid and decadent, will rejoice to cooperate in their own destruction. They will leap at another chance to be friends. As soon as their guard is down we shall smash them with our clenched fist . . . . . "

Today it is 30 years later! I, for one, am going to check out my fallout shelter.

'Writer's Letter Isn't Justified'

"Agnostic" seems to have the natural egotism of those who very eloquently deny their need for God and Jesus Christ. His God is himself and while protesting the propriety of giving space to "organized religion" he feels that his letter is justified and spouts about the brotherhood of man.

Regardless of the pros and cons of the discussion, it is not brotherhood when he wants to deny others the very rights that he feels should be given to him.

'Water Safety Class Would Help a Lot'

I have observed some of the problems of water safety and recognize the need for some type of safety education. The assignment of a water patrol officer to this area has been a great help in reducing the amount of thoughtless conduct that contributes so much to boating accidents.

We visited the Chief of the Oakland County Sheriff's Dept. Marine Division, Officer Donald Kratt and spent considerable time discussing the problem of water safety. Our ability to recognize those things that contribute to boating accidents was greatly enhanced. A program of education would do a lot to reduce the number of safe boating infractions that are committed unwittingly.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

But Hannah answered, No, my Lord, I am a woman sorely troubled; I have drunk neither wine nor strong drink, but I have been pouring out my soul before the Lord. — I Samuel 1:15.

★ ★ ★

'Lincolns Don't Exist in Today's World'

If Abraham Lincoln had lived today, the Rotary Club would have provided him with a number of good books, the Lions Club a reading lamp, while the Kiwanis Club would have supplied his cabin with a wooden floor.

★ ★ ★

Abe would have government protection of the minimum wage law and social security. Unemployment insurance would have been paid to him, if wages offered were not satisfactory a scholarship would have supplemented the wages with country relief. He would have received a subsidy for rail splitting, another for raising some crops he was going to raise anyway, and still another subsidy for not raising a crop he had no intention of raising.

★ ★ ★

Case Records of a Psychologist:

It's Easy to Be Interesting Orator

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE K-403: Joe X., is an able newspaper executive whom I've known as a friend for many years.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane," he said at our luncheon, "I wish you'd insert a case on the need for editors as well as business leaders to learn the rudiments of public speaking.

"At our last Inland Press Meeting in Chicago, we had one of the most boring, uninteresting talks I ever had to sit through . . . and it ran an hour and a quarter!

"The speaker was quite an authority. But I find that authorities are often the poorest at holding an audience's attention.

"He read his paper! Imagine anybody nowadays being so indirect and out of touch with public platform psychology!

"He was also slow in delivery. Never used a joke. Ignored the audience down in front and recited dry statistics.

"I counted 13 people who got up and left right during his address and 5 of them were from the first row of tables directly in front of him.

"That seemed very impolite to me, but if the rest of us hadn't felt obligated to show some deference to an invited speaker, I fear the whole crowd would have vanished before he quit."

SUREFIRE SPEECH STRATEGY

You aren't "born" a good speaker or a poor one, but get that way after you arrive here on earth.

So poor speakers should wise up to the facts! It doesn't take long to choke an interesting address, so memorize this formula:

(1) Pick a title or "text" that has widespread human interest appeal.

(2) Begin with an arresting sentence, as Helen Clapesattle says of Dr. Will Mayo in her interesting biography of those famous doctors.

(3) Try to use a relevant quotation that contains the nubbin of your text, for this adds scholarly ritz.

★ ★ ★

"Music," says John Erskine, "is the only language in which you cannot say a mean or sarcastic thing."

That's a typical start for a talk to a music class.

"Flowers," said H. W. Beecher, "are the sweetest things God ever made and forgot to put a soul into."

Use it before a Garden Club. Get the point?

(4) Document your theme with some concrete cases, told in narrative style and preferably involving some members of the audience.

These illustrations should be graphic and help clarify points, not just jokes inserted with no relevancy to your theme.

(5) Save your jokes for recapturing attention if your audience starts to daydream. Don't shoot them as your opening barrage.

(6) Keep eye-contact with your crowd by looking at them, not at the ceiling or out the window.

(7) Tie the wheat in the sack with a punchy terminal paragraph that summarized your main idea.

If your talk deals with a topic involving lofty sentiment, as a Lincoln Day address, you can often gain a higher emotional peak by coming down the home stretch (peroration) in rhythm.

Use an appropriate bit of verse that caps your climax, for rhythm will bring the audience to a higher emotional pinnacle.

DEMAND U.N. ACTION — Crowd stands on sidewalk across the street from United Nations headquarters in New York Tuesday during a 30-minute demonstration staged by representatives of exile governments of nine East European nations now under Soviet domination. Flags of the nine nations and the United States fly at half mast above sign demanding freedom and independence. The demonstration was staged as U.N. delegates arrived for the opening session of the 16th General Assembly.

Official Canvass Differs Little

Initial Totals Off Only 16 in County Con-Con, Director Reports

There was only a 16-vote difference between the unofficial constitutional convention election returns and the official returns canvassed by the County Board of Canvassers.

No change was noted in the winners for the seven delegate seats from Oakland County.

Mrs. Mabel M. Child, county elections director, attributed the slight difference to the efficiency of the 45 township and city clerks who gathered the totals.

At the same time, Mrs. Child voiced concern over the nearly 2,500 fewer votes cast than those voters who went to the polls Sept. 12. She said this was probably due to some voters just voting on special propositions in their area, and not candidates, "or voting for one candidate and not the other."

Voters were to pick both a senatorial delegate and a representative delegate.

Total votes cast came to 88,-335 in the six legislative districts. Those who went to the polls totaled 90,844. The official canvass showed 1,949 voted by absentee ballot.

The final tally took six votes from senatorial candidate William A. O'Brien's previous total of 15,-071; added six votes to District 1 candidate John S. Coleman's total of 3,905; and subtracted four from the unofficial total of 2,539 of Raymond L. King, winning GOP candidate from Pontiac's 2nd District.

U.S. Denies Entry to Ex-Lumumba Aide

NEW YORK (AP) — Thomas Kanza, a Congolese ally of slain Premier Patrice Lumumba, has been denied entry to the United States on the ground he lacks proper diplomatic papers.

Kanza, who was Congo's minister-delegate to the United Nations when Lumumba was in power, was held up by the Immigration and Naturalization Service as he arrived at Idlewild Airport from Paris Tuesday night.

Kanza will be sent back to the Congo.

Gran Turismo Sports Model Adds to Dodge Line

A new prestige sports model, the Gran Turismo, today was added to Dodge's compact Lancer line for 1962.

The Gran Turismo was designed "to meet the growing demand for compact cars with luxury styling," according to Dodge General Manager Byron J. Nichols.

It will go on display along with the six other 1962 Lancer models Sept. 28 at Rammler-Dallas, Inc., 1001 N. Main, Rochester.

Aside from the "GT," the new Lancers will include two-door and four-door sedans and a four-door station wagon in both the low-price "170" series and the deluxe "770" series.

The "GT" is a two-door hardtop. It has distinctive exterior styling with a minimum of side ornamentation, a convex grille with vertical bars and features a bright saddle molding which also separates the contrasting colors of the optional two-tone model.

Bucket seats are provided in all-vinyl upholstery. Two engines are available in the "GT" — a 101-horsepower, cast-iron block, six-cylinder and a 145-horsepower aluminum block six.

ENGINES AVAILABLE

These engines are also available in the other Lancer models, both using regular fuel. The lower-horsepower standard six has a 170-cubic-inch displacement, and a compression ratio of 8.2 to 1. The optional aluminum block offers a displacement of 225 cubic inches and the same compression ratio. However, it's torque is 215 to 2800 as compared to the standard's 155 to 2400.

In styling, major changes are found in a completely new grille and modifications in side and rear ornamentations.

Roominess has been increased by making the steering wheel shallower and by moving the gearshift from the floor to the steering column.

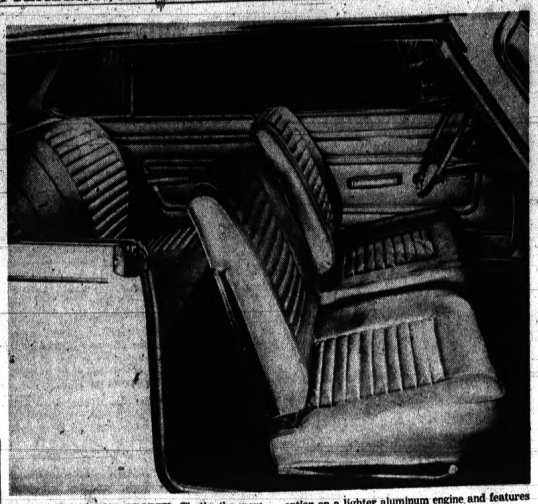
Maintenance improvements include extension of the lubrication period from 2,000 to 32,000 miles and factory-sealed and lubricated key lube points in front suspension, steering linkage and clutch torque shaft.

NEW LANCER SPORTS MODEL—This is the Gran Turismo, new addition to Dodge's compact Lancer line for 1962. The prestige sports model will be available with a choice of two engines: a 101-horsepower, six-cylinder with cast-iron cylinder block and a 145-horsepower six with aluminum block. The aluminum block is reported to have performance comparable to some V8s.



LUXURIOUS AND SPORTY—That's the new Gran Turismo, Dodge's 1962 entry into the luxury compact class. Aiming at a blend of economy and distinctiveness, the "GT" offers a a low-cost option on a lighter aluminum engine and features front bucket seats and all-vinyl upholstery. Bucket-type rear seat has pleated inserts.

Judge Accepts Guilty Pleas in Robbery Trial

Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland yesterday accepted guilty pleas from three men who had earlier stood mute in the $10,400 safe robbery from the Farmington Country Club in May.

Sentences will be handed down Oct. 3 for Danie Hollon, 24, and his brother Bobby, 19, both of 921 Dunreath St., Commerce Township, and Erwin E. Willett, 22, of Walled Lake.

The older Hollon, a parolee, had once pleaded guilty to the May 8 robbery, in which the trio got $400 in cash and $10,000 in checks, then withdrew his plea in June. Yesterday he changed his mind again during a pretrial conference with the judge.

A fourth man who admitted the robbery is serving a 3-to-12-year sentence in prison.

Nikita Welcomes Appeal for Talks

MOSCOW (AP) —Soviet Premier Khrushchev today welcomed the recent appeal of Pope John XXIII for negotiations to avert war but called on President Kennedy, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and other Roman Catholics to heed the pontiff's "solemn warning."

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev's statement was in the form of answers to questions from correspondents of the Communist party paper Pravda and the government paper Izvestia concerning the Pope's special appeal and Mass for peace on Sept. 10.

URGED NEGOTIATIONS

The pope called "upon the rulers of nations to face squarely the tremendous responsibilities they bear." He asked for sincere negotiations to vindicate truth and justice in order that "force shall not prevail."

The Soviet leader's statement was an unusual if not unprecedented reply to a Pope of the Roman Catholic Church.

"As a Communist and atheist I do not believe in "the Lord's will' ", said Khrushchev, "But one thing I can say with confidence: The great responsibility of the governments to their peoples, to mankind, requires that they should exert every possible effort and start seeking jointly ways to do away with the vestiges of World War II, to eliminate the seats of tension, to curb the flambeau bearers of a new world conflagration."

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev said the Soviet government worked hard to ward off the danger of a new world war by seeking to conclude a German peace treaty.

Pontiac Police Seek Hit-and-Run Driver

Strikes Cost GM 80,000 Cars on September's Schedules

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Strikes at General Motors plants cut almost 80,000 cars from projected September production schedules through yesterday.

Original September programs called for the corporation's five car divisions to build an average of 12,175 cars daily for the 20 work days.

So far this month GM's output stands at 54,344 cars. It should have been 133,925 by the end of work today.

A decision on whether lost production this month will be made up, and if so when, will depend to a large extent on public reception of the 1962 models.

First of the new GM cars go on sale late this week. Pontiac makes its debut Thursday, followed by Oldsmobile on Friday. If sales are good the corporation will hurry to catch up. If buying lags any major production spurt probably will be delayed.

Whatever the decision it will be some time before production returns to normal even after all strikes are settled. The walkouts came so early in the model run that stockpiles of parts had not been accumulated. Thus assembly lines will run sporadically until the pipelines can be filled.

STILL SUB-PAR

At the time of the shutdown during the steel strike in 1959 General Motors estimated it would take six weeks for all its plants to return to full production. They came back faster than expected but still were sub-par for more than three weeks.

The other companies continue to build inventories of 1962 models although total industry output last week was only 62,169 cars. Ford, Chrysler, American Motors and Studebaker all will increase schedules this week.

Graves Is Nominated for Lansing Treasurer

LANSING (AP)—Lansing Mayor Willard I. Bowerman has nominated Gerald W. Graves for city treasurer to succeed John F. Webb, retired. Both Bowerman and Graves are former state representatives.

Graves, 36, has been executive secretary of the Michigan Good Roads Federation since 1954. He formerly was a Republican representative from the Alpena District.

Urges Lowering of Voting Age

Citizens Committee Asks Con-Con for Reduction in Requirements

LANSING (AP) — Michigan would be the fifth state in the union to permit persons under 21 to vote if the constitutional convention follows recommendations of a citizens advisory committee.

The advisory committee called for lowering the minimum voting age from 21 to 18. The minimum voting age now is 18 in Georgia and Kentucky, 19 in Alaska and 20 in Hawaii.

The citizens committee was named by Gov. Swainson to make recommendations on the executive department. It also covered some sections of the elective franchise.

The group also called for four-year terms and much stronger appointive powers for the governor.

"Today's high school graduate," the committee report said, "functions as an adult in practically every area of life except politics."

The graduate, the report said usually is employed full time or is engaged in serious academic pursuits. He may be raising a family or serving in the armed forces.

"Although he participates as a mature citizen in these other areas, his interest in public affairs is dulled because he cannot directly influence his government's policies," the report said.

"His exposure to controversial issues in the classroom and through the mass media gives him an unprecedented storehouse of political information. His youthful enthusiasm makes him a potentially active voter. A three year delay before he is eligible to vote stifles this eagerness and interest," the report stated.

Jamaica Withdraws Indies Federation

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — The new West Indies Federation, created by Britain to form a chain of free islands in the Caribbean, lost its largest and wealthiest member today after Jamaica voted to withdraw.

The vote in a referendum Tuesday was 251,776 in favor of withdrawal and 216,371 against.

This weakened the position of Prime Minister Norman Manley of Jamaica, who campaigned for federation with the other British islands stretching down to the coast of South America.

The argument against federation, led by Sir Alexander Bustamente's opposition Labor party, was that it would lower Jamaica's standard of living. He also said Jamaica would be inadequately represented in the new federation government.

State Has $43 Million

LANSING (AP)—Income into the state treasury during the past week totaled $28.4 million and expenditures were $18.5 million. The treasury balance at the end of the week was $43 million.

Interstate Freeway on 10- or 11-Mile

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie today indicated in letters to Berkley and Center Line officials that the route of the proposed I 696 freeway would be either 10-Mile or 11-Mile roads in Oakland County.

Mackie assured South Oakland officials, however, that the route was still undecided and under study.

Gordon Bartell, of Berkley, chairman of the Oakland County I 696 freeway committee, had expressed concern over the proposed route.

The 24-mile east-west freeway will be built at an estimated cost of $120 million from the edge of Novi to Roseville in Macomb County.

It will link I 96 with I 94. Construction of an eight-mile long section from Novi to the Northwestern - Telegraph Road interchange was started recently. It is estimated to cost $16.5 million and should be completed in 1963.

The other 16-mile section from the interchange to Roseville won't go under construction until after 1967.

Engineering studies indicate the probable location of I 696 will be along 11 Mile Road between Center Line and Roseville," but that the 10-mile long segment from Center Line to Southfield "is still under study.

"We are studying alternate locations in Oakland County. The location in Macomb County leaves us completely flexible to choose either 10 Mile or 11 Mile roads as a general location for I 696 in Oakland," Mackie said.

Mackie said the study should be completed "in several months."

Appointed Head of U.S. Agency

N. Y. Attorney Chosen Foreign Aid Program Chief by Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today picked New York attorney Fowler Hamilton to head the new foreign aid agency.

The selection was Kennedy's solution to a thorny problem of obtaining a man who could command wide support as director of the agency for international development.

George D. Woods, New York financier, had been one of those considered for the post, but reports that he was a prospect stirred up opposition in Congress. Woods is chairman of the board of the First Boston Corp., which figured in the controversy several years ago over the Dixon-Yates contract to supply private power in the Tennessee Valley Authority network.

Hamilton previously had figured in speculation as to a successor to Allen Dulles as head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

California Police May Take Charge of Would-Be Thief

A 15-year-old youth who attempted to rob a Pontiac cab driver at gunpoint early yesterday probably will be turned over to a California authorities along with his father, Pontiac police detective Sgt. John DePauw said today.

★ ★ ★

The cab driver, James V. Beach, 38, of 805 E. Pike St. told police he foiled the holdup when he wrestled a sawed-off shotgun from his young passenger.

Beach was holding the youth, James L. Smith, when police arrived at the scene on S. Woodward Avenue, just within the city limits.

The illegal shotgun belonged to the youth's father, William J. Smith, 37, said Sgt. DePauw. The elder Smith was arrested quietly at a downtown hotel and charged with possession of an illegal weapon.

The Smith family arrived the day before from Yuba, Calif., in a stolen car, leaving a trail of worthless checks behind, police said.

The father, who said he served 10 years in San Quentin for forgery and abortion, was on parole from California. He is at the Oakland County jail waiting to be picked up by California authorities.

The youth is in the custody of county juvenile authorities. Besides the sawed-off shotgun, he was carrying a straight razor when apprehended, according to police.

When hunting, coyotes have been known to play dead in order to capture their prey.

Jackson Insurance Co. Stock Oversubscribed

JACKSON (AP) — The Jackson National Life Insurance Co., chartered Aug. 3, has announced that its initial stock offering has been oversubscribed.

★ ★ ★

A. J. Pasant, president, said 300,000 shares of class A common stock selling at $1 a share was oversubscribed by 38,000 shares in less than seven weeks. He said the announcement was held up until money from the oversale could be returned to subscribers.

Experts Called in Murder Trial

Holland Youth Claims Defense of Insanity in Slaying of Girl

ALLEGAN (AP)—Two psychologists and a psychiatrist were called by the defense today to testify in the circuit court trial of James Stephens.

The slim, delicate-featured 16-year-old Holland youth claims a defense of insanity on a charge of murder.

He is cited specifically in the April 29 gunfire death of 11-year-old Carol Gee. She and Margaret Chambers, 12, were slain while playing in a dune area near their homes.

Stephen says his .22 caliber semiautomatic rifle fired by accident as he stumbled on a dunes trail. He said the girls were lying on the path when he first saw them.

Stephen later was apprehended at Kadoka, S.D.

The youth and his mother, Mrs. Kenneth Kerbs, embraced tearfully in the court clerk's office after grueling testimony by both Tuesday. It was the first time in the trial Stephen lost his composure.

He refused to sway from his story under cross-examination by Prosecutor Ervin L. Andrews. Stephen was on the stand about 90 minutes when court adjourned for the day.

Ann Arbor News Gets New Manager

ANN ARBOR (AP) — John A. McDonald, Booth Newspapers, Inc. president, has announced the appointment of Ralph E. Schweitzer of Grand Rapids as manager of the Ann Arbor News.

Schweitzer has been assistant manager of the Grand Rapids Press since April 1960. Prior to his appointment at the Press, he was manager of the Grand Rapids Herald for a year.

He succeeds George P. McCallum Jr., who was named executive vice president and manager of Booth Newspapers.

Much Debate Over Church Name

Some Episcopalians Cringe at Word Protestant

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

DETROIT — Their name is nettling.

At least it is to some members of the "Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America."

They don't like that term, "Protestant." But others do.

It may appear to be a simple matter of nomenclature on the surface.

But underlying it all are the basic tensions that balance the church between "Protestant" and "Catholic" concepts, and which fire its deepest struggles over unity with other denominations.

It also produces an abundance of wry humor.

For more than a century, some Episcopalians have been trying to get "Protestant" stricken from the church's official name, and they're trying again at the current governing convention.

"It's not accurate," says a proposed measure from the Chicago diocese to delete it.

Behind the objection is the feeling that use of the adjective tends to classify the church with strictly Protestant denominations that do not also contain the Catholic elements preserved by Episcopalians.

REVISION SOUGHT

"We are non-Roman and yet Catholic and apostolic in nature," says a similar move for change from the Quincey, Ill., diocese. The dioceses of Fond Du Lac, Wis., and New Jersey also seek a revision.

★ ★ ★

However, "low" churchmen, who in contrast to "high" church Episcopalians prize their Protestant as well as their Catholic traditions, say revising the name would seem to be repudiating the former.

"We also cherish our Protestant heritage," writes the Rev. G. W. Buchalz of Cincinnati, Ohio. "Retaining the word 'Protestant' in our title does not mean we approve all the beliefs and practices of other Protestant churches. It does mean we hold to . . . the principles which led to reforming of the church in the 16th Century."

Although Episcopalians uphold the Catholic liturgy and historic succession of the ministry traced back to the apostles through the "laying on of hands," they also emphasize such Protestant principles as democratic organization and the Bible as the rule of faith.

★ ★ ★

An Episcopal weekly, the Living Church, took a poll on the perennial controversy over names, and found that most of those favoring a change preferred the simple designation, "The Episcopal Church."

★

"To adopt this name would be merely to fall into line with general usage," argued the magazine's editor, Peter Day of Milwaukee, Wis.

But there were a host of other suggested names, including some apparently designed to get a laugh, such as:

"The Church of England in the Colonies." (That's how it got started.)

"Pecusa." (Initials for the present name.)

Other suggested items, reflecting the church's diverse components:

SUGGESTED NAMES

"American Episcopal Church," "The Anglican Church," "The Evangelical Episcopal Church," "The Protestant Catholic Church," "The Reformed Catholic Church," "The American Catholic Church," "The International Church," "The Orthodox Protestant Church," "The Church."

In all but three of the Episcopal general conventions since 1877, moves to change the name have come up. In 1910, a mere one-vote margin saved "Protestant" from the discard.

What will happen this time is uncertain, but the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, the presiding bishop, says part of the job of Episcopalians is to bear the strain of "our double inheritance."

"We," he says, "are both Catholic and reformed."

Car Crash Kills Rider

FLINT (AP) — James Ball, 49, Flint, was killed today when the car in which he was riding went out of control and struck a tree along Bloor Avenue. The driver, Herbert Hopper, 25, Flint, was treated at a hospital and released.

Pledges African Boycott

BOMBAY, India (AP)—The Indian Port and Dock Workers Federation was assured Tuesday by the Kenya African Leader Tom Mboya of support in the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions (ICFTU) for the Indian federation plan for a worldwide boycott of ships and aircraft trading with Portugal's overseas possessions. Mboya is an executive board member of ICFTU.

Lily of the Valley Plants

Lily of the valley transplants are set six to eight inches apart with the fleshy tips just below the surface. Trim back the roots about one quarter and remove only dead or diseased leaves. Be sure the soil is acid, loamy and enriched with superphosphate or a fertilizer strong in phosphorus — such as a 4-12-4 or 5-10-5. Old manure is helpful, too.

Mongi Slim Is His Name

Tunisian Lawyer Moving Up Front

By United Press International

Mongi Slim is only five feet two, but he stands high in the opinion of world diplomats. The 52-year-old Tunisian lawyer is considered one of the most capable diplomats in the international organization.

★ ★ ★

Slim is an eloquent and convincing speaker, and works most effectively behind the scenes. He is trusted by his colleagues, which enables him to act as a mediator between rival blocs on sticky issues.

★ ★

His diplomatic ability has earned him several important U.N. assignments and he likely will play a very important role in the United Nations' future maneuvering to fill the gap left by the death of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

BELIEVES IN U.N.

The dapper bachelor believes sincerely in the United Nations and its ideals, and deplores extremists who try to disrupt the organization.

He believes the world parliament has an important role to play in bringing law into the jungle of international politics, and feels this can best be done through give-and-take negotiations.

Once a fiery nationalist, Slim headed his country's mission to the United Nations until earlier this year when he left the post to assume a wider responsibility in Tunisia's foreign affairs. Tunisia was admitted to the United Nations in 1956.

He returned to U.N. headquarters in New York this summer to present Tunisia's case in its dispute with France over the Bizerte military base. He was a special representative, a designation he retained for the opening of the 16th General Assembly.

IS UPPER CLASS

Slim was born in Tunis to a politically-backgrounded upper class family. He was educated in France where he acquired the polish of French diplomacy.

Two subsequent confinements in French jails as a political prisoner failed to dull the polish, and he became a leading negotiator for his country's independence from France. He ranks second only to Tunisia's President Habib Bourguiba as a national hero.

★ ★ ★

He served briefly as minister of the interior and minister of state before going to the United Nations. He also served as Tunisian ambassador to Washington and Ottawa. He is considered friendly to the West.

★

Slim is an excellent cook and has a continental manner. He drinks coffee in large quantities, and there is a story that Slim's state of mind can be judged by his coffee consumption. The edgier he is, the more coffee he drinks.

New York furnished the most men in the Union army during the Civil War — 446,850. Pennsylvania was second with 337,936 and Ohio third with 314,180.

Mental Health Center to Open in Saginaw

SAGINAW (AP)—The State Mental Health Department today announced its consultation center at Saginaw will be opened Sept. 25.

The Saginaw Valley Consultation Center will serve patients living in Bay, Midland, Saginaw, Gladwin, Arenac, Huron, Tuscola, Gratiot, Clare, Isabella, Roscommon, Iosco and Ogemaw counties, the department said.

It will provide psychiatric, medical and social casework services for patients released from hospitals for the mentally ill.

Almost six million American school children suffer some form of uncorrected visual defects.

Make New School an Adventure

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
Professor of Education, University of Southern California

So you've moved! Well don't worry about the kids—they'll take the change in stride, and with your help, they will probably benefit from it.

DR. NASON

Many people find that their business or profession requires them to make frequent moves. Many worry about the problems their children face in changing schools. Sometimes this can be a valuable experience for them.

Moving to a new city, living in a different house, meeting new people; these are all situations that require adjustment. The child who learns to adjust to change early in life can develop confidence which will prepare him for the many changes in his future.

The younger child sometimes has more difficulty adjusting than his older brother or sister. How well he does in a new situation depends largely upon his feelings of adequacy and belonging to the family.

Children who are secure in their parents' love and approval can face new situations without fear or damage.

DEPENDS ON PARENT

If the parent provides the proper support during the change and provides guidance until the child has confidence in the new situation, the problems will never become very great.

Living in different places can be a distinct advantage for the child whose parents help him gain the most from the experience.

Such a child develops a background for the study of government, geography, economics and history. He usually acquires more than the usual number of contacts, too, with applied psychology and sociology!

Without parental help, he may have a bad time. There are techniques of entering new situations which can smooth the way, and the wise parent sees that his child knows them.

He should NOT talk about how things were done in the last school. Far better to ask how they are done here.

He should NOT try to master a new situation without help. Ask—it's a good way to meet new people. The simple statement, "I'm new here. Could you please help me?" will usually bring out the best in others.

He should remember that a person isn't accepted by a group. Acceptance is by the individuals within the group.

IT'S AN ADVENTURE

He should try to learn the mechanics of life at the new school. Above all, he should find a new friend to lean on for details.

To start over in a course with a different teacher and textbook can be a challenge rather than a problem. A rapid review with the new materials is the best approach to the organization of knowledge. According to John Dewey, this constitutes true education.

A student who enters a new school may find himself in an unfavorable position so far as examinations are concerned. Extra effort is required, and it should come immediately. This early and concentrated effort pays dividends!

It is perfectly natural for a prospective change to create some fears and worries. If you talk your plans over with your children well in advance, you may find that their fears — and your own — will tend to disappear.

Try to make the move an adventure and a learning experience for the whole family. Write ahead to chambers of commerce for data.

Try to discover as much as you can about your new location before you arrive. This will provide some of the necessary moral support your family will need to meet the situation.

Write Dr. Nason in care of The Pontiac Press. If he cannot reply individually, he will cover in his articles the questions of most general interest.)

WHY MORE TRAINING?

The Job Guide, published by the U.S. Dept. of Labor, gives this answer: "You should weigh carefully the long run advantages offered by jobs you are considering against immediate gains. You should be aware of the great importance of education as a general and specific asset. Technical or professional training received after leaving high school will give you definite advantages in seeking and finding a job. When advancement opportunities occur, preference is generally given to persons with superior educational qualifications—other things being equal."

Vote to Rezone Orion Site Despite Angry Protests

By DON FERMOYLE

ORION TOWNSHIP — The Orion Township Board of Trustees voted to rezone a 92-acre site near Indianwood Road for industrial purposes despite protests by an angry group of homeowners here last night.

The board's action, which followed a two-hour debate in the crowded Township Hall last night, climaxed a summer-long controversy on the rezoning request by the Lake Orion Investment Co.

By a 6 to 1 vote, the Township Board approved changing 92 acres of land behind Artco, Inc., 3026 Indianwood Road, from a business classification to an industrial zone.

The board voted by the same margin to rezone a 10 acres facing Indianwood Road from a residential to an industrial zone. The 10-acre site is located just west of the Artco plant.

Scattered threats of replacing the township officials in the next election were heard in the audience of about 50 residents following approval of the rezoning petitions.

During the discussion which preceded the board's action, Pontiac attorney Frank Fortino represented residents who sought to either delay or block approval of the rezoning appeal.

CITE OBJECTIONS

The residents, most of them members of the Northwest Orion Homeowners Association, complained that more industry in the Indianwood Road area would lower their property values, create a nuisance because of obnoxious odors and smoke and increase the flow of traffic in the neighborhood.

Trustee George Collingwood argued that additional industry was needed to improve the tax base of the township. Collingwood said he favored approving the rezoning "for the good of the entire township."

Wesley B. Allen, a local insurance agent and vice president of the nonprofit Lake Orion Area Industrial Development Corp., said no other site in the township was available for industry at the present time.

★ ★ ★

The industrial development corporation, a group formed by the Lake Orion Area Chamber of Commerce to bring new industry here, has been one of the chief backers of the rezoning request.

Walter B. Schreiber, president of Artco, Inc., and an officer in the investment company which owns the 92 acres, is the former president of the nonprofit development group.

Schreiber resigned as president of the industrial development group following a public hearing June 19 when members of the homeowners association challenged his motives in asking to have the property rezoned.

TRADE CHARGES

Again last night, several residents claimed that township officials "were giving the company a blank check" in rezoning the land for industry.

Township officials contended that the Indianwood Road site was not heavily populated and was the only property available for industry here which was near a good source of water and a hard surfaced road.

The homeowners attorney said that more "teeth should be put in the township's zoning ordinance" before reclassifying the property for industry.

Collingwood answered that the Township Board had the opinion of its attorney that the ordinance was suitable.

Fortino said he also was checking deed restrictions on several pieces of property within the 10-acre subdivision. He said the deed restrictions may prove that the land was intended by the original owners to be residential property.

The Oakland County Coordinating Zoning Committee said in its opinion that the 10-acre portion should remain residential, but that the other 82 acres could be rezoned for industry.

Township Clerk Mrs. Margaret Stephen said the township board often makes decisions in zoning matters which are contrary to the county zoning committee's recommendations.

Mrs. Shirley Ryden Assumes New Duties With City Oct. 2

WALLED LAKE — Mrs. Shirley Ryden, a Birmingham municipal employe, was named city clerk here last night. She will take over her new duties Oct. 2.

★ ★ ★

The appointment to the $4,500-a-year post was made by the City Council.

Mrs. Ryden, 28, of 5119 Farm Road, Waterford Township, will take over the job left vacant when Harold Millspaugh was appointed city manager.

A 1953 graduate of Pontiac Central High School, Mrs. Ryden is secretary to Birmingham Treasurer R. T. Berger, a position she has held for a year.

Prior to the secretarial job she had been employed by the City of Pontiac for five years, in the accounting department and treasurer's office.

Her husband, Donald, is a cost clerk for the Temprite Products Corp. of Birmingham. They have a son, Clifford, 7.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gamester of 642 E. Tennyson St., Pontiac, are both municipal employes with the City of Pontiac, each with 25 years of service.

Her father is a captain on the fire department, serving at the Wilson Street station and her mother, Josephine, works in the accounting department.

To Test Hearing in Area Schools

About 3 Pct. Suffer Unknown Defect, Says Health Director

What the child doesn't hear may hurt him.

That's why hearing testing programs will be conducted in many school classrooms in Oakland County this coming school year.

Sponsored by the schools, County Medical Society and County Health Department, the mass testing campaign will detect children who may have trouble in hearing. Follow-up tests will be arranged for such youngsters.

"About 3 per cent of all children have some hearing defect which goes undetected by parents and teachers," said Dr. John D. Monroe, Health Director of the Oakland County Department of Health.

"A hearing loss," he said, "may cause serious behavior problems and failure at school. Yet, when defects are found early, most of them can be corrected by prompt medical care."

"A child's hearing may be saved or permanent hearing loss may be prevented. Over and over again, testing in the schools has found children who need help to hear, and started them on their way toward more normal, fuller lives."

During the program this year, children in grades kindergarten throught four will be screened in seven school districts. Included are Berkley, Clawson, Farmington, Madison Heights, Royal Oak, Troy and Waterford Townships. During September screening will begin in Farmington, Royal Oak and Waterford schools.

By next spring over 28,500 school children will have been screened.

All children with hearing losses will be retested and those needing further attention will have an opportunity to have a medical ear, nose and throat examination.

AREA NEWS

New Price Range 3-24 Cts.

Wheat Premiums Raised

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department said today the 1962 wheat price support program will provide premiums ranging from 3 to 24 cents per bushel for varying qualities of hard red spring, hard red winter, and hard white wheats as measured by the baking quality, or sedimentation, test.

★ ★ ★

The objective of the premium program is to reflect more nearly the value of quality wheats in support prices to producers, thus providing more of an incentive for production of higher quality wheat.

The department said the quality premiums under the new schedule are substantially higher than those under the present price support protein schedule which is being supplanted.

The baking quality test more nearly reflects the true value of hard wheats for making flour for commercial bread baking.

MSUO and MCJC at Avon Park

Party Will Honor Students

ROCHESTER — New students at both Michigan State University Oakland and Michigan Central Junior College will lay aside their books Tuesday evening for a party planned in their honor at Avon Township Park.

The occasion is the third annual Student Welcome sponsored by the Rochester Area Chamber of Commerce.

Although designed primarily for incoming freshmen at both institutions, the affair also is being staged for this year's transfer students.

STUDENTS ON PROGRAM

Words of welcome will be offered by MSUO Chancellor D. B. Varner and Otis W. Gatewood, president of MCJC. In addition, a program of entertainment featuring students from both colleges is planned.

Featured will be Sondra Forsyth, a freshman at MSUO, who will do a ballet number and the A Cappella chorus and a quartet from the junior college.

Other entertainers, both from MSUO, will be Harold Tate who will play an electronic piano, and Nancy Kelly, who will sing.

* * *

Each institution will furnish its own transportation to the party slated to begin at 4:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served following the program.

Cochairmen of the event are Robert W. Swanson and Carl Lehnen, both members of the Rochester Area C. of C. board of directors.

It is being financed by the Rochester Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs, the Village of Rochester and Avon Township.

Lee and O'Donnell Vows Are Exchanged in Iowa

CLARKSTON—David A. Lee claimed Winifred Ann O'Donnell as his bride in a ceremony performed recently at St. James Catholic Church in Forest City, Iowa. Rev. Thomas Knox officiated at the double ring rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. O'Donnell of Forest City. Parents of the bridegroom are the Alfred C. Lees of 26 Orion Road.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white silk organza over taffeta. The waistline was molded with beaded applique inserts, and the bodice featured a scalloped beaded neckline and three-quarter length sleeves.

A scalloped crystal crown held her veil of English silk illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white, fringed carnations.

* * *

Marguerite O'Donnell and Roberta O'Donnell attended their sister as maid of honor and bridesmaid respectively.

Best man was Robert Bredemus with Roland Evans serving as groomsman. The guests were seated by Thomas Hanna and James Mitchell.

* * *

Following a reception at the Bungalow Cafe, in Forest City, the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to Northern Michigan. They are now residing in Ladysmith, Wis.

EVELYN LILLIS

Planning an Oct. 28 wedding are Evelyn Lillis and Dr. Walter E. Haduck of 2378 Orchard Lake Road, Keego Harbor. The bride-elect is the daughter of Percy LaPointe of New Carlisle, Quebec, Canada. Her finance is the son of Mrs. Mary Haduck of Detroit.

Rochester Pushes Joplin Plan for Reading Skills

ROCHESTER—Joplin-plan reading classes began Monday for all 1,163 fourth, fifth, and sixth grade children in the Rochester Community Schools, Mrs. Lois Thompson, instructional supervisor, announced.

Started as a pilot program at North Hill Elementary School three years ago, the plan was adopted at Meadow Brook School the next year.

Studies by principals indicate a rapid improvement in reading skills when the Joplin plan is used. Children are placed in reading ability groups regardless of grade level, for reading classes only, Mrs. Thompson explained.

* * *

Some 1,500 additional reading texts will be circulated in the upper elementary grades this year to keep up with the heavy demand created by use of the Joplin plan.

Schools to Test Children's Eyes

County Health Dept. Seeks Vision Defects in Avondale

Avondale school children in grades 1, 3, 5, 7, 9 and 11 will be screened for vision defects commencing next Monday.

"These children will be taking a positive step toward guarding the gift of sight," declared Dr. John D. Monroe, director of the Oakland County Department of Health.

It has been estimated that about 85 per cent of what a child learns depends upon his sense of sight," Dr. Monroe pointed out," and every child should be given the best possible chance to learn during his school experiences."

Dr. Monroe also stressed that early detection is very important so that needed eye care can be provided before vision defects seriously hamper personality and educational development.

Approximately 1,380 children are expected to be screened for vision defects. Children who fail the vision test will be referred to an eye doctor for further examination. These referrals will be sent directly to parents.

Generally about seven to 10 per cent of the children in a classroom will fail the vision test. However, not all of these children will have defects requiring treatment or glasses, according to Dr. Monroe.

No notice will be sent to parents of children who pass the tests.

This program is jointly sponsored by the Avondale Schools, the Oakland County Department of Health and the Michigan Department of Health.

Last year 1,294 children were tested in Avondale and 129 of these children were referred to eye doctors for further examination.

Court Date Set for C. O. George

Rochester Man Returns to Face Examination in Assault Charge

ROCHESTER — Examination of C. O. George, 65, on a charge of felonious assault with intent to commit murder in the ax beating of his wife Sept. 11, has been set for Tuesday at 10 a.m.

George, 147 Highland St., stood mute when he appeared before Avon Township Justice of the Peace Luther B. Green upon his return to the area after being missing for four days.

The Rochester oil company distributor was released from Oakland County jail on $20,000 bond set by Green.

* * *

George was the object of a statewide search after his wife told local and Romeo state police that her husband would have killed her if neighbors hadn't heard her screams and rushed into their home during a family fight.

Mrs. George was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, with cuts and bruises on her head and arms. She is reported in good condition today.

She told police her husband came at her with the ax but struck her only a glancing blow when she maneuvered out of the way.

* * *

Plan Barbecue Meal Sunday at Rochester

ROCHESTER—Plans have been completed for the 5th annual pit-barbecue beef dinner to be served from 11:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Sunday in St. Andrews Catholic Church hall, 231 Walnut boulevard.

Proceeds from the dinner will be used to augment the church's building fund, with a new convent for the Dominican Sisters who teach at St. Andrew's Church School as the objective.

Robert Deans, former associate professor of animal husbandry at Michigan State University, will again direct the barbecue preparation. Carry-out meals also will be available.

Plans Costly Ski Drive

HOSTS AND GUESTS—President Kennedy has a chat with Peruvian President Manuel Prado as their wives pose prettily at the White House. President and Mrs. Prado were guests of the Kennedys at a state dinner. In rear (from left): Chief of Protocol Angier Biddle Duke; Maj. Chester Clifton, White House Army aide; Col. Godfrey McHugh, Air Force aide; and Capt. Tazewell Shepard, almost hidden, Naval aide.

President Prado of Peru Would Fight Reds in Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Manuel Prado of Peru today called upon American nations to reject communism.

He hinted that the traditional Latin American respect for the principles of self-determination and nonintervention should not apply to Communist Cuba.

* * *

But he stated his anti-Communist postulates in no uncertain terms. (His government was the first in Latin America to break with the regime of Cuba's dictator, Fidel Castro.)

Prado said that for the principle of self-determination to be valid, it must be based upon "free expression of the popular will . . . carried out under democratic principles and through free and periodic elections that will assure a regime of justice and respect for human, individual and social rights."

* * *

"If one country should interfere in the affairs of others it would be absurd for it to invoke the principle of nonintervention in order to continue the violation of it," he said. "Common action thus becomes necessary to bring an end to this abuse of law."

* * *

This was interpreted as a reference to Castro's repeated attempts to invade, subvert and foster revolutions in other Latin American nations, according to charges brought against the Cuban government by these nations.

The reference to "common action" was seen by some observers as an inter-American call to action against the Castro regime.

Mrs. Roosevelt Again Member of U.N. Delegation

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will be on the U.S. delegation to the U.N. General Assembly this year for the first time in nine years.

She showed up as a special adviser to the American delegation in a list of the delegations of various countries issued by the United Nations today.

While the assembly is in session she will have her 77th birthday — on Oct. 11.

Mrs. Roosevelt, the president's widow, was a member of every U.S. delegation to the assembly from 1946 through 1952.

At the same time, she was U.S. representative on the U.N. Human Rights Commission, and much of the time chairman of it.

U.S. Waters Down Report on Fallout

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States has succeeded in watering down a U.N. committee report, preventing it from saying that resumed nuclear tests ruised new problems for the study of fallout, diplomatic sources reported today.

The 13-member Scientific Committee on the Effects of Atomic Radiation finished drafting a progress report to the General Assembly. The report will be published soon.

The committee has been meeting in private since Aug. 28. During that time the Soviet Union and the United States ended their three-year suspension and resumed nuclear tests.

Study group plans of the Pontiac Branch of the American Association of University Women are discussed by (from left) Mrs. Tom T. Reese of Warwick Street, president; Mrs. Philip Lockhart of Bow-Lane Street, program chairman and Mrs. Thomas J. Hollis of South Genesee Avenue following the group's dinner meeting Monday evening at Edgewood Country Club.

Five Films on Cinema Guild List

Five outstanding films will be offered by the Cinema Guild of Birmingham for its 1961-62 season, Opening October 4 with "Teacher's Pet," starring Doris Day and the late Clark Gable, the series offers a choice of 10 a.m. or 1:30 p.m. seating for subscribers.

★ ★ ★

Films are shown at the Bloomfield Theater in Birmingham and the series is sponsored by the Women's Society of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. A subscription donation of $5 benefits the group's charitable projects which last season included Bethesda Heme for the Retarded, the Bay City Orphanage, Lutheran Home for Girls and a Jewish-Christian mission program, Israel's Remnants.

Heading the project is Mrs. J. Harvey Dise assisted by Mrs. Douglas McIntosh, society president; and Mrs. Norman Phillips, secretary.

Assisting them are Mrs. Nils Anderson, Mrs. E. Harvey Hyvonen, Mrs. A. F. Groscop, Mrs. Carl Gavic, Mrs. Walter Dreyer, Mrs. Adam Schubel, Mrs. Lowell Heiserman and Mrs. O. Grant Trick.

Others are Mrs. A. C. Nelson, Mrs. Harold Wilson, Mrs. Edward Pepper, Mrs. J. E. Eckenrode, Mrs. Chester McCormick and Mrs. John Pederson.

The program for the season also includes "39 Steps" English mystery film to be shown Nov. 1; and "Song Without End," the life of Franz Liszt on Dec. 6. "Teahouse of the August Moon" on Jan. 31 and "Cheaper By the Dozen" on Feb. 28 will complete the series.

Tickets may be secured from the Cinema Guild Office in the church on West Maple Avenue.

Be on Guard, Says Abby

'Better Ask My Mother!'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My 11-year-old daughter is very friendly with everyone in the neighborhood, and frequently visits the neighbors. She gets along well with adults, as well as with children, and everyone welcomes her into their homes.

ABBY

My problem is one nosey neighbor who makes it her business to know everybody else's. She asks my daughter questions about who visits us, what we served, what we talked about, and so forth.

You know, Abby, 11-year-olds don't always have the best judgment . . . therefore this old buttinsky gets a lot of information I would rather she didn't have.

Should I call on this busybody and set her straight? Or should I tell my daughter not to go over there any more?

PROJECT DWELLER

DEAR DWELLER: Tell your daughter that it isn't "nice" to tell neighbors what goes on at home. And if this neighbor asks questions that are none of her business, your little girl should avoid her or reply, "Why don't you ask my mother?"

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a bachelor and I have heard that marriage is a 50-50 proposition. I would like to know if the bride has to match bank books before the marriage, since the husband has to support her for the rest of her life?

POOR FISH

DEAR FISH: She doesn't, and she shouldn't. But a woman contributes more important things than money to marriage. I'd like to see a man have a baby!

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I recently lost my precious mother. Although she was ill a long time, when she finally died I was shocked and broken-hearted. Out of respect to my mother's memory I want to wear black and refrain from entertainment for at least three months.

My husband and friends tell me I am foolish and old fashioned, and that nobody does this any more. I need an outside opinion.

IN MOURNING

DEAR IN: Pay no attention to what your husband and friends say. Do what your heart dictates. P.S. Many people go into mourning for a full year.

County Nurses Hold Meeting of Association

Oakland County District Nurses' Association members met at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Tuesday for the first meeting of the season.

Marjorie Garrow, president, announced that in the current drive for the American Nurses' Foundation, the Oakland County district had exceeded its quota, with Michigan reporting the fourth highest amount in the country.

Special guests Alice Dorien, R. N., and Hugh Clarkin, chief investigator for the Michigan Board of Nursing, reviewed implications of the state's law regulating the practice of nursing. Miss Dorien recently was appointed executive secretary of the MBN. She previously worked with the vocational education program at Michigan State University.

Mr. Clarkin pointed out that laws are ineffectual without some means by which the state nursing board may take action when a practice violation is discovered. Miss Dorien added that in Michigan a mandatory, rather than permissive law, requires that all nurses practicing their profession "for hire" be licensed.

Preceding the talks delegates for the Michigan State Nurses Association annual convention in October were named. They are Mrs. Verna Siller, Helen Clark, Mrs. Virginia Smith, Mrs. Helen Nimo and Mrs. Hannah Burns.

Mrs. Ruth Purcell and Helen Murphy were coffee hour hostesses.

MRS. STEVEN L. DEWEL

The George L. Hawns, Chippewa Road, announce the Sept. 16 marriage of their daughter Isabel Mary to Steven Leslie Dewel son of the Kenneth E. Dewels, Atlanta, Ga. Rev. J. Douglas Parker of Rochester's St. Paul's Methodist Church performed the ceremony.

Altar Guild to Stage a Tea

The St. Hugo of the Hills Altar Guild will stage its annual membership tea at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in the home of Mrs. Albert K. Bergel on East Hickory Grove Road, Bloomfield Hills.

New parishioners have been invited to the tea to meet guild officers and members.

Mrs. Donald Weldon is tea chairman. Committee workers are Mrs. Herbert N. VanAken, Mrs. Arthur B. Wittliff, Mrs. William H. Mohrhoff, Mrs. Thomas J. Sansone, Mrs. Alan L. Cline and Mrs. Austin V. Sansone.

500 at MSUO Workshop

Some 500 women attended a workshop for extension club officers from Oakland and Macomb counties Saturday at Michigan State University Oakland. Chancellor Durward B. Varner welcomed the group.

Guest speakers were Mrs. Miriam Kelley, assistant director of home economics with the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service, East Lansing, speaking on "Extension Education for Families in a World of Change," and Myrtle Tabbitt of Detroit area radio and television, whose talk was titled "The Rewards of Leadership."

Following a tape recording "The Hidden Revolution," narrated by Edward R. Murrow, was a panel discussion moderated by Mrs. Kelley. Panelists were Mrs. Ben Burda, Birmingham; Mrs. Charles Brucker, Oxford; Mrs. Arthur Cox, Wixom; Mrs. Arthur Hutchings, Rochester; Mrs. Priscilla Jackson, MSUO; Mrs. Alex MacIntyre, Romeo; Mrs. A. D. McLay, Birmingham; Mrs. Donald Peck, Mt. Clemens; Mrs. Gerald Shafer, Davisburg; Mrs. Harold Schroeder, Royal Oak; and Mrs. A. A. VandeVrekek, Mt. Clemens.

Separate sessions for officers were conducted for the remainder of the meeting. A tour of the MSUO campus completed the day.

The Saverio Mandalaris on Trip to Mountains

The Italian-American Club was the setting for the wedding breakfast and evening reception for Karen Rose Farrell and Saverio S. Mandalari wed Saturday in St. Michael Church. Rev. Charles E. Cushing offered the nuptial Mass.

Daughter of the Thomas M. Farrells of East Rundell Street, the bride wore white silk organza and Chantilly lace styled with chapel train. A seed pearl Swedish crown held her short veil of illusion. She carried sweetheart roses, glamellias and stephanotis.

Elaine Farrell was her sister's honor maid. Her other sisters Darlene Farrell and Mrs. Francis Gaellee served as bridesmaids with Eileen Scott, Jill Farrell and Pat Janette were junior attendants.

All wore emerald green taffeta and carried cascades of butterscotch chrysanthemums. Yellow blooms designated the honor maid's bouquet.

★ ★ ★

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Mandalari of Auburn Heights, had Benny DeSantis for best man. The bride's brothers Donald and Thomas ushered with Russell Rizzuto. Stephen Keller carried the rings.

The couple will return from a honeymoon in the Great Smoky Mountain area to a home in Rochester.

Yellow and bronze chrysanthemums accented Mrs. Farrell's dress of teal blue crepe and lace and aqua satin for the mother of the bridegroom.*

MRS. SAVERIO S. MANDALARI

To Hold Meeting

The Oakland County Osteopathic Medical Assistants' Association will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the conference room at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Minister Installs the New Officers of Ladies Guild

Rev. G. Bratton Smith installed officers of the Ladies Guild of St. Stephen Lutheran Church Thursday evening.

Mrs. Norman Panker is president; Mrs. Victor R. Baade, vice president; Mrs. Frank Mouser, secretary and Mrs. Richard Sobodash, treasurer.

The Lutheran Women's Missionary League will adopt a missionary and his family as a future project.

Pastor Smith spoke on world relief and the urgent need for food, money and clothing.

Prayer and scripture readings were given by Mrs. George Meyerhofer.

A Smorgasbord dinner from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Oct. 18 was announced.

Shower in Honor of Bride-to-Be

Thirty guests attended a miscellaneous shower honoring bride-elect Patricia Ann Kidwell Friday evening at the Drayton Plains home of Mrs. Robert Allan. Mrs. Wallace Kidwell was cohostess.

Sept. 30 vows in the Drayton Plains Presbyterian Church are planned for the daughter of the Robert B. Kidwells of Drayton Plains and Kenneth A. Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Perry of Keego Harbor.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Mrs. Ruth Watowa of St. Louis, Mo., is being awarded one of my exclusive Tailor Trix for sharing with us this imaginative idea.

"Dear Eunice,

"I have just finished a beautiful shrimp colored silk shantung cocktail dress and jacket. I couldn't find hem tape to match the fabric, so I used a one half inch band of lace in the exact color.

"This seemed to add the frosting to the cake, and my friends were enchanted with this unique custom touch. I thought more of your many fans would like to try this."

MRS. R. W.

"Dear Eunice,

"Is there any way to eliminate the bulky look in heavy fabrics at the seams when a hem is turned up?"

MRS. R.E.E.

Dear Mrs. R.E.E.:

This would be the same technique as grading your seams. Trim the seam allowance to one-half the original width from the hem line to the cut edge of skirt.

Now when the hem is turned up, the edges of the seam will not come in exactly the same place.

SLEEVE SECRET

"Dear Eunice,

"What's the secret of a nice roll-up sleeve? Does the material have to be the same on both sides to make this type sleeve? Is there anything that can be done if the material is not the same on both sides?"

MRS. D.H.D.

Dear Mrs. D.H.D.

If the fabric is the same on both sides, you must use a flat-felled seam so that the raw seams will not show on the underarm seam.

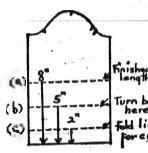
If the fabric is NOT the same on both sides, cut the sleeve perfectly STRAIGHT from the underarm, and 8 inches more than the finished length you desire.

1. Chalk mark the sleeve, 5 inches from the cut edge (b) and 8 inches from cut edge (a).

2. Chalk mark again 2 inches from cut edge (c).

3. Turn under ¼ inch of the lower edge of sleeve and machine stitch.

4. Fold sleeve to inside on the 5-inch marks (b). Either hand stitch or machine stitch hem to sleeve. This stitching will not show.



5. Turn cuff up on the Fold line (c) in order to give you a 3-inch cuff.

SEWING GLOSSARY

Flat-felled seam: This is a seam finish which leaves no raw edges and is used on sportswear primarily. Stitch right sides of fabric together on seam line. Trim one edge of seam close to seam line. Turn under the wider edge and machine stitch flat along the creased edge. This stitching is usually about ⅜-inch from seam.

Please send your questions and suggestions to Sew Simple, in care of your paper. Perhaps you will win a Tailor Trix Pressing Board. If you're having trouble with sleeves, you'll find help in Eunice Farmer's 10-cent booklet, "All About Sleeves." To obtain it, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer in care of The Pontiac Press.

2 PTA Units Will Meet in Waterford

Diamonds No Longer Girl's Best Friend

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the over-$500 class of gifts for the little woman, the personal auto leads both furs and diamonds.

Furs take second place in the list of luxury gifts and diamonds — alleged to be a girl's best friend — are third. A spokesman for the diamond industry said so.

Group Is Asked to Aid Missions

Mrs. Willis Brewer was hostess to Faith Group of First Presbyterian Church for a September luncheon meeting.

Mrs. Hazel Anderson, Mrs. Mabel Vogel and Mrs. Edward Mann assisted the hostess in serving the 15 members and guest Mrs. Mark Sartell.

Following Mrs. Robert Sigler's review of the book "In Him Was Life," a study of the Gospel according to St. John, the group planned a benefit sale which will be a project of the Women's Association.

Shower Honors Karen Lee Tuttle at Allen Home

September bride-elect Karen Lee Tuttle was honored at a tea and shower Sunday in the Cooley Lake Road home of her future sister-in-law, Mrs. Ralph O. Allen.

Guests included the honoree's mother, Mrs. Samuel D. Tuttle of Union Lake, Mrs. Ralph E. Allen, mother of the bridegroom-elect Richard E. Allen, Mrs. William Richardson with daughters Sally and Mary, Mrs. Dan Kinney, Mrs. Ray Richardson, Mrs. Walter Shoup, Mrs. Eugene Pool, Mrs. William Ziegler and Susan Allen.

Attending from Lake Orion were Mrs. John Raymond and Mrs. Edward Richardson.

Miss Miteff Becomes Mrs. Dale A. Payne

White satin bows marked family pews in the First United Missionary Church for the Saturday evening vows of Eleanor Miteff to Dale A. Payne. The bridegroom's cousin Rev. James Pollard of Reading performed the candlelight ceremony assisted by Pastor O. P. Eastman.

* * *

Receiving in the church parlors following the ceremony were Tony Miteff of Detroit who gave his daughter in marriage, the Marco Toshoffs and the bridegroom's parents, the Russell Paynes of Drayton Plains.

The princess-line bridal gown of white silk mist taffeta featured Alencon lace applique and an obi bustle with chapel train. French illusion veiling was held by a Swedish crown. Pale yellow rosebuds centered her hand-cascade of white pompons.

Maid of honor Sharron Monroe, wearing gold iridescent taffeta, carried Talisman capri roses, bronze pompons and cattails. Mrs. Thomas Bickley, Mrs. Eugene Payne, Mary Conrad and Phyllis Burt were bridesmaids. Sonia Illicheff of Dearborn was flower-girl.

* * *

Eugene Payne stood as best man for his brother. Seating guests were Robert Wood, Thomas Bickley, Edward Santela and Douglas Lawson. Steve Wood was ring-bearer.

For her niece's wedding, Mrs. Toshoff wore a blue Chantilly lace sheath dress and Mrs. Payne chose green and silver brocade. Both wore white cymbidium orchids.

MRS. DALE A. PAYNE

Given Stork Shower

Mrs. Lynn Walker was feted at a recent stork shower in the home of her sister Sandra Trietsch of East Yale Avenue. Carreen McClements and Sandra Trietsch were cohostesses.

Eighteen guests attended the affair.

Entertained at Smorgasbord

Mrs. Edward Lewis opened her home in Bloomfield Hills to eight groups of the Bethany Baptist Church Woman's Society Thursday for a smorgasbord luncheon. Mrs. J. W. Smith, Deborah group, assisted.

Dr. Emil Kontz presented devotions on "The Bible On Witnessing."

The state convention Oct. 12-14 in the First Baptist Church, Lansing and the cancellation of the annual harvest dinner were announced.

Mrs. Kontz reported on the national convention in Portland, Ore. Mrs. Clarence Myers, Mrs. Grace Steeves, Mrs. Alfred Coles, Mrs. James Mercer and Mrs. William Dorris told of the various American Baptist summer conferences.

Couple Wed at Home of the Bride

Former Pontiac resident Robert B. Ward claimed Lois Mary Dotzauer as his bride in a ceremony performed by Judge Andrew Haefner at the home of her parents in Cincinnati.

* * *

She is the daughter of Mrs. Frank Lammers and the late Philip M. Dotzauer. Mr. and Mrs. William M. Ward of Beverly Avenue are the bridegroom's parents.

Dr. Lamar MacNutt of Clearwater, Fla., and Ronald Leighton of Satellite Beach, Fla., both formerly of Pontiac, were best man and usher, respectively. Also seating guests at the small family rite on Sept. 2 was Herbert Jacobson of Cincinnati.

* * *

The new Mrs. Ward attended Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, and her husband is a Michigan State University alumnus. Returning from a California honeymoon, the couple will live in Cincinnati.

The William Weinhaars of Pontiac and the Henry Claypools of Oxford were among area guests at the wedding.

Welcome Lodge Holds Meeting

Some 93 members of area Rebekah lodges attended a meeting of Welcome Rebekah Lodge No. 246, IOOF, Thursday evening in Malta Temple.

* * *

Mrs. Richard Rohrer, deputy, assisted by Mrs. Ferman Huston, deputy marshal, installed Mrs. William Sharp as conductor.

* * *

Guest speakers were Mrs. Sam Silkstone, past president of Rebekah Assembly, Mrs. John Swatz, and Mrs. Huston, president and vice president of District 6.

Mrs. Orley Bruff directed lodge members in a special program.

Today's Orthodontist Can Help Adults

Teeth Braces Not Kid Stuff

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When we think of braces on the teeth, we think of children. At one time most of the orthodontist's patients were children. Today, more and more adults are wearing braces and orthodontics is achieving excellent results with an increasing number of adults.

Crooked or protruding teeth, or those which are badly spaced, may have repercussions on both health and personality. They may lead to pyorrhea and tooth decay and an inadequate chewing surface. They may also cause unattractive facial mannerisms, such as the habit of pulling the upper lip down over the teeth when smiling.

Whenever possible, tooth irregularities should be corrected. Of course, if this is impossible, the vibrant, outgoing person forgets the defect and lives happily anyway. However, some people are severely affected by physical defects.

A NEW SMILE

A 42-year-old school teacher with unsightly teeth had to be taught to smile after dental correction. She had to learn to use weakened muscles which, when gradually strengthened, lifted the corners of her drooping mouth. As you can imagine, her personality also changed greatly.

The principles of orthodontics for adults are the same, generally, as those for children, although there may be some variations in the techniques used. It may take longer to correct the same problem in an adult than in a child since children's bones are more responsive to pressure than adults' are.

If you've been afraid to smile and show your teeth, you now can have irregularities corrected at any age —and learn to smile all over again.

The appliances worn by an adult may range from a strap-like cap with appliances attached, worn only at home and during sleep, to appliances which are cemented into the mouth and are removed only by the orthodontist. Simple problems can be corrected in a few months, but usually treatment will last one or two years or more.

There is no doubt that the improvement in appearance which such treatment gives is often startling. If you have a problem like this, your family physician is the one to recommend an orthodontist to you.

Do you have problem hips? Send for leaflet No. 3, which contains exercises for reducing and firming the hips. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, with your request. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Inflation Can Be Cruel to Some and Kind to Others

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — All the angry words today about the stage being set for another raid on the value of the dollar may confuse as many persons as it enlightens.

Inflation wears many guises. It may be a pleasant rise in wage scales for labor—in other words, an unpleasant hike in costs for the boss. It may be a pleasant increase in prices and dollar profits for those who have something to sell, be it goods or services—that is, a jolt to those who have to pay more out of their weekly earnings—a cruel blow to those trying to get by on fixed incomes, such as pensions.

* * *

Or inflation may be what the orthodox economist sees—a pumping up of the supply of money until it loses part, maybe all, of its purchasing value.

* * *

The classic example in this century is Germany after World War I. The government printed more and more paper currency, until finally it took a billion or more of paper marks to get what one metal mark did before the war. Savings disappeared, no one wanted money, only tangible goods. Germany's financial structure collapsed.

TOO MUCH MONEY

After World War II the United States had classic inflation, but in a milder form. There was too much money chasing too few goods—the popular definition.

There was too much money because the supply of paper money and bank credit had been swelled during the war so that the government could buy the military hardware it needed and pay other costs. This swollen supply was in the hands of the banks, of business, of consumers.

* * *

There were too few goods because during the war consumer goods production was held down. At the end of the war there was a great backlog of demand for scarce consumer goods of all types; lots of money with which to bid for them; and therefore a big rise in prices because consumers were willing to pay high to get what producers could offer.

* * *

By the time of the 1949 recession it took $172 to buy what $100 would have before the war.

The Korean War, and the easy money policy that helped finance it, sent the prices on another, if milder, whirl. By the time of the 1954 recession it took $192 to buy what $100 would before World War I.

Since then the supply of money and credit has been increased now and then in periods of government deficit financing. But the other factor—too few goods—has rarely been a problem. There have been fewer and fewer shortages, and now there's a potential capacity to produce too many goods.

In late years, therefore, two other explanations for the rise in the cost of living have been advanced.

One is the cost-push theory. Put simply, this is: Wages have gone on rising each year under union pressure. Added to this greater labor cost are all the other factors: Higher transportation, distribution, repair, servicing charges. These steadily rising costs have pushed prices higher.

* * *

This has been offset to a debatable degree by a rise in productivity, which means the use of machine and automatic controls to get more goods from fewer man hours. Labor insists that productivity has risen as fast as or faster than operating costs. Management contends it's the other way around.

* * *

Another explanation for the rise in the cost of living is the price-pull theory, sometimes called administered prices. The charge is that industry has hiked prices deliberately and by agreement among competitors by keeping production in check. The aim has been higher profits from which more dividends can be paid and more funds put into expansion.

SELF-PERPETUATING

This theory holds that boosting prices, with the accompanying rise in the cost of living, spurred the demand for wage hikes. This kept the wage-price spiral turning—in other words, self-perpetuating inflation.

These are the three charges being argued with increasing heat today: Government monetary inflation through over-spending and artificially easy money; greedy wage demands by labor; greedy pricing policies by business.

The fear is that one, or all three may bring an end to the current relatively stable level of the cost of living.

Bottled Lemon Juice Used in All Parts of Coffee Ring

Almond Twist Lemon Ring, which was served at the ReaLemon-Purdue Company's "Bye Bye Breakfast" at the 1961 Newspaper Food Editors Conference, is an unusual pastry treat.

We predict it will be an immediate "hit" when you serve it to your family.

★ ★ ★

The recipe takes a little time to prepare, however, we can assure you the results are well worth it.

Almond Twist Lemon Ring

1 package active dry yeast or 1 cake compressed yeast
¼ cup warm water
¼ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup soft butter
1 egg, slightly beaten
2¾ to 3 cups flour, sifted (all-purpose)
½ cup butter

★ ★ ★

¼ cup sugar
¼ cup almond paste
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon bottled lemon juice
1 egg white
1 tablespoon water
2 tablespoons sliced almonds

★ ★ ★

2 cups sifted powdered sugar
¼ cup bottled lemon juice

Maraschino cherries

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk and add sugar, salt, butter and eggs. Cool to lukewarm. Add to yeast with tablespoon bottled lemon juice and 1 cup flour. Beat well. Add remaining flour, mixing in the last of the flour with hands if necessary. Knead until smooth and satiny.

Place in a greased bowl, turning once to grease surface. Allow to rise for 30-45 minutes or until increased by one quarter.

Roll dough to ¼-inch thickness. Cut or break butter into small pieces and arrange over one-half of the dough. Fold dough over, sealing edges and re-roll to ¼-inch thickness. Place in refrigerator and chill.

Fold ⅓ of the dough over the center and bring the other third over this. Roll out to ½-inch thickness. Chill. Refold into thirds and roll again. Chill. Fold again into thirds and roll to a rectangle, 12x8 inches. Chill again.

While waiting for dough to chill, combine sugar, almond paste, egg yolk, butter and 1 tablespoon bottled lemon juice. Chill. Spread over dough rectangle and roll tightly like a jelly-roll. Slash in half lengthwise, leaving 1½-inch intact at one end. Twist the two strips tightly and form into a ring. Fasten the ends together and allow to rise until dough is double in size.

Combine egg white and water. Brush over ring and sprinkle with sliced almonds. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 35 minutes. Cool slightly.

Sardine Butter

Next time you are making sardine sandwiches, try mashing the sardines with butter and flavor with lemon juice. Use about a quarter cup of soft butter for a regular-size can of sardines. No butter will be needed on the sandwich bread with this spread, but you can add lettuce and mayonnaise if you like.

Baking tip: when you are making biscuits, flour the edge of the cutter before each cutting; press the cutter straight down on the biscuit dough without twisting.

Cold Wine and Tomato Sauce

Frozen breaded shrimp might be called "the friend in your freezer." Whenever you need a helping hand for quick meal preparation, shrimp already breaded and frozen in attractive packages is among the most convenient of all foods for a hearty snack or a special supper on short notice.

★ ★ ★

You can keep frozen breaded shrimp in your freezer for several weeks (if shrimp lovers in the family will let you, and you keep it solidly frozen). Then, when needed, pull out a package and prepare the shrimp in a matter of minutes according to the directions printed on the package. Most people like a spicy tomato sauce with French-fried shrimp. Use a bottled sauce, or make up your own from tomato juice, dry wine, chili sauce, lemon juice, and a flavorful group of herbs and other seasonings.

Shrimp With Tomato-Wine Sauce

1¼ cups chili sauce
⅓ cup tomato juice
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash Tobasco
½ teaspoon chili powder
1 clove garlic
⅓ cup dry wine
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 bay leaf
1 clove
2 (10-oz.) packages frozen breaded shrimp

Combine sauce ingredients in a jar. Cover and let stand several hours. Strain and serve with French-fried shrimp, using frozen breaded shrimp prepared according to package directions. Serves 6 to 8.

Dill in Dressing

Dried dill seed makes a fine addition to a sour-cream salad dressing. After adding the dill, refrigerate the dressing for a few hours or overnight to allow flavors to blend and develop.

Idea for Green Beans

Here's a bright new suggestion for green beans: Cut off ends, remove strings and cut 1 pound green beans into 1½ inch diagonal pieces. Turn into a 10-inch skillet with ⅓ cup water and ½ teaspoon salt. Cover tightly and bring to a boil. Lower heat and simmer just until beans are tender-crisp, about 10 to 12 minutes.

Push beans to one side; add 2 tablespoons butter to pan. Turn up heat and when bubbly add ½ teaspoon chili powder and ¾ cup drained pineapple chunks. Heat, stirring a minute or two, then combine with beans. Makes 4 servings.

Breakfast Eggs Are Served a la Orient

Here's an angle from the Orient that will sharpen the most jaded breakfast appetite — and so easy to prepare! Called Oriental Eggs, they require only a can of bean sprouts, button mushrooms and sliced bologna in addition to your other ingredients for scrambled eggs.

★ ★ ★

Slice the button mushrooms thinly and dice several slices of bologna. Then saute the bean sprouts, mushrooms and diced bologna together, until the bologna begins to brown. In the meantime, prepare the eggs for scrambling in your usual manner and have them ready in a bowl. When the sauted ingredients are ready, add the eggs, and cook to the desired consistency.

★ ★ ★

Prices Effective thru Sat., Sept. 23rd. We reserve the right to limit quantities.

If Pie Crust Is Your Downfall, Cheer Up

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Remember that old movie starring Irene Dunne, called "The Awful Truth?" I don't believe anyone ever found out what the truth was, but it leads up to a confession I must make.

I've never been able to make satisfactory pie crust.

When plans are discussed for potluck meals and bake sales, I always ask to bring something besides pie. I've never been sure my crust would be good enough.

But now I am a woman of confidence. I have seen a new method of making pie crust demonstrated and I think I can cope with it.

This 1-2-3 Pastry was originated in the Betty Crocker Test Kitchens and was served to us food editors in Chicago last week. You need not sift the flour before measuring for this recipe.

1-2-3 Pastry

1½ cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup corn oil OR other salad oil
3 tablespoons cold water

To measure flour, dip dry measuring cup into flour. Level off with a straight-edged spatula. Mix flour and salt in mixing bowl. Blend in corn oil thoroughly with a fork. Sprinkle all of water over mixture; mix well with fork.

Press dough firmly into ball with hands. If too dry, mix in 2 tablespoons more oil. Divide dough in half.

Flatten half of the dough slightly and roll between 2 sheets of waxed paper to desired thickness. Wipe table first with damp cloth to prevent paper from slipping.

Peel off top layer of paper. Flip crust into pie tin and peel off bottom paper. Repeat for top crust and bake according to directions for specific pies.

This crust had an excellent taste, is golden brown, flaky and tender.

Here's another confession: milk is not my favorite food. But I enjoyed a milk drink at the Food Editors Conference and brought the recipe back for you. Offer this to the teenagers who come in after the football game.

Coffee-Toffee Eggnog

4 eggs, separated
⅓ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons instant coffee
3 tablespoons hot water
4 cups cold milk
1¼ teaspoons vanilla extract
Nutmeg

Beat egg yolks; gradually add ⅓ cup sugar and salt, beating constantly until fluffy. Dissolve coffee in water. Combine coffee, milk, and vanilla with beaten egg yolks. Chill.

When ready to serve, beat egg whites until foamy; gradually add remaining ⅓ cup sugar, beating until stiff. Fold into milk mixture. Pour into punch bowl; sprinkle with nutmeg. Makes 2 quarts.

In one of my stories last week I mentioned some delicious asparagus appetizers. Although we did not get a recipe from the Drake Hotel chef, this is the way I think the appetizers were made.

Drain a can of asparagus spears. Cut the crusts off slices of white bread and roll several times with a rolling pin. Spread with cream cheese. Place an asparagus spear on each slice of bread and roll up. Hold with a toothpick, if necessary and chill until just before serving time.

Brush all sides of the bread rolls with melted butter or margarine. Place in hot oven or broiler until brown. Cut each roll into bite-size serving pieces and serve at once. Elegant and different, yet easy. You could freeze them for serving any time.

Glazed Peach Tarts Suitable Right Now

NEW YORK (UPI)—Take advantage of the bumper peach crop by making fresh peach tarts. Prepare and bake 4 tart shells. Cool. Combine 4 cups of peeled, pitted and sliced fresh peaches with ¾ cup of sugar and 2 teaspoons of fresh lemon juice. Let stand 20 minutes. Drain juice into a measuring cup and add enough water to make 8 ounces of liquid.

* * *

Blend until smooth with 1 tablespoon of cornstarch. Stir and cook until transparent. Divide peaches equally into tart shells. Spoon sauce over surfaces and chill to set glaze. Serve with whipped cream topping.

New Coffee Pot Filter Betters Brew

NEW YORK — Each morning new thousands of people join the ranks of those who have discovered an easy way to improve the taste of good coffee — by filtering it.

* * *

American Machine & Foundry Company has now come up with the only filter which can be used over and over again for at least several months. The AMF Coffee Filter is one of the first products to be marketed by the company's new Home Products Department.

* * *

The trend to filtering coffee is growing every day as more people find out that removing fats, oils, and tiny particles of grounds improves the taste of coffee.

The AMF Coffee Filter can be fitted exactly to either a percolator or drip pot with baskets up to 4 inches in diameter. Also, unlike other "onetime" coffee filters now on the market, AMF's filter is a long-lasting fiber coated with du Pont's Teflon. The non-absorbent, odorless filter is easily rinsed-out after each use.

The AMF Coffee Filter will be sold in grocery, department and variety stores.

Chocolate Pancakes Will Double as a Dessert

You will be competing with pancake houses when you serve flavorsome chocolate cakes. Sift 1¾ cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt into mixing bowl. Add 1 egg, 3 tablespoons melted butter, and 2½ cups chocolate milk. Mix only until dry ingredients are thoroughly moistened. Somewhat lumpy batter makes lighter pancakes.

* * *

Bake on a hot, lightly buttered griddle, turning only once. Use about ¼ cup batter for each cake. Makes 12-14 pancakes. Serve ala mode.

Cook Fish Steaks Quickly in Skillet

Fish Steaks

4 fish steaks (about 2 pounds)
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon paprika
Butter
4 wedges lemon
Butter (for frying)

Wipe fish steaks with damp cloth. Mix flour, salt, pepper and paprika; rub into both sides of fish steaks. Heat butter in large skillet and brown fish rapidly on both sides; reduce heat to cook through if necessary.

* * *

Serve with lemon wedges and Tartar Sauce — homemade or bought. Makes 4 generous servings. When fish is done it should flake easily and look opaque.

TOMATO AND EGGPLANT — Thick tomato slices make a savory nutritious and low-calorie topping for a baked casserole dish. Oregano and grated cheese add interest and flavor.

Sardines Served as First Course

Food scientists and technologists and public health officers are highlighting the importance of fish and sea food, so abundant in the oceans of the world, in combating malnutrition and for use in animal feeding. The U.S. State Department is sponsoring the 400 attending representatives.

★ ★ ★

Marinated Maine Sardines

2 cans (4 oz. ea.) Maine sardines
1 cucumber, peeled and thinly sliced
1 medium onion, thinly sliced
½ green pepper, thinly sliced
1 cup commercial sour cream
2 tablespoons chopped chives
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
¼ teaspoon black pepper
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
⅛ teaspoon celery salt
Lettuce or water cress

★ ★ ★

Drain sardines. Arrange layers of sardines, cucumber and green pepper in shallow dish. Combine remaining ingredients, except lettuce and pour over fish. Cover with foil and place in refrigerator for 2 hours or overnight, to chill and allow flavors to blend. Serve as first course, garnished with lettuce or water cress. Makes 6 servings.

Feature Fall Vegetables in Tasty Casserole

The tomato is a Johnny-come-lately in the vegetable basket. A scant hundred years ago, people were asking "what's that?" Today it's our second-most-important vegetable in dollar volume. Dr. Victor R. Boswell of the U.S. Department of Agriculture says that "As a food of worldwide importance, the tomato is about the newest."

In the U.S.A. we use more than two billion pounds of fresh tomatoes every year. They are available at all times and there are literally hundreds of dishes which taste better for the tangy goodness of sliced or diced ripe tomatoes.

From the test kitchens of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association come this recipe for a casserole dish topped in most savory fashion with thick juicy slices of tomato. Over the tomato slices space a few butter dabs. Or scatter the tomato topping with grated cheese, chopped chives, finely minced onion, bread crumbs herbed with basil or marjoram. Finely minced parsley, chives or green peppers make an attractive garnish after baking.

Unlike many casserole toppings, tomatoes are both nutritious and low-calorie. (Only 81 calories per pound—about 4 small tomatoes). Tomatoes offer a rich supply of vitamin C. They also contain a wide variety of other nutrients, including vitamin A and minerals. In short, when you want to combine both good eating and good nutrition, reach for a fresh ripe tomato.

Tomato and Eggplant Casserole

1 medium (1¼ lbs) eggplant
½-inch boiling water
1½ teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 eggs, beaten
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 teaspoon finely chopped onion
½ teaspoon oregano leaves
½ cup crumbled saltines
6 medium-size tomato slices
½ cup grated American cheese

Peel eggplant and cut into slices ¼-inch thick. Place in a saucepan with boiling water and salt. Cover, bring to boiling point and cook 10 minutes or until tender. Drain and mash. Blend in butter or margarine, egg, black pepper, onion, oregano and saltines.

★ ★ ★

Turn into a buttered 1-quart casserole. Cover surface with tomato slices. Sprinkle with additional salt, black pepper and grated cheese. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 25 minutes or until lightly browned over the top. Yield: 6 servings.

Special Tips Insure Good Meringues

CHICAGO (UPI)—Make a better meringue by following these tips.

—Let egg whites warm up to room temperature before beating.

—Use an electric beater, if possible, beating mixture two minutes, with sugar, at high speed.

—Add sugar — two tablespoons per egg white — when egg whites have been beaten to the "frothy" state. This helps prevent overbeating and makes the meringue creamy and smooth, with less leaking.

—Add one teaspoon of water per egg white to improve the volume and tenderness of the meringue.

—Using one-eighth teaspoon of cream of tartar per egg white makes the meringue stand up better.

—Spread meringue on hot filling rather than cold to avoid leakage. Bake at 400 degrees F. three minutes for best results.

Chives Give Rice Color and Flavor

Chive Rice

1 cup converted-type rice
2¼ cups chicken broth
2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoon chopped chives

Cook rice according to package directions using chicken broth; adjust amount of salt called for according to saltiness of broth. Stir at once. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

★ ★ ★

Note: Amount of butter given is minimum; another tablespoon may be added. Chopped chives come frozen; remove amount needed (they separate easily) and return container to freezer.

Hawaiian Style Tuna Salad

Here's to that can of tuna on your shelf. It has a story to tell of the fish at sea; of the men who catch them; of the tuna clippers that roam the ocean for months at a time; and of the canneries where the prize of the fishermen is packed for consumer use. But there's another part of this story that every homemaker is aware of . . . the nutrition, economy, versatility and delightful flavor that have made tuna one of the most popular foods in the United States.

So give a salute to this delicious fish during International Tuna Week, September 21-30, by serving this tuna salad. You'll like it.

Hawaiian Tuna Salad

1 large banana, sliced
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cans (6½ to 7-ounces each) tuna, drained
1 small pineapple, pared, cored and cut in lengthwise strips, (optional)
2 medium-size oranges, pared and sliced
1 small green pepper, cut into rings
½ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives
Lettuce
1 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/3 cup toasted coconut
Watercress

Brush banana with 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Arrange bananas, tuna, pineapple, oranges, green pepper and olives on lettuce. Chill. Combine remaining ingredients; mix well. Serve coconut-mayonnaise with tuna salad. Garnish with watercress.

Nice Nutty Taste Is Wheat Germ

Blueberry Wheat Germ Muffins

1 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup wheat germ
1 egg
½ cup milk
¼ cup butter or margarine (melted and slightly cooled)
1 cup blueberries

Sift together into a mixing bowl the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar; stir in wheat germ. Beat egg until thick and ivory colored; add milk and beat to combine; stir in butter. Add to dry ingredients stirring just until they are moistened; fold in blueberries.

Turn into buttered muffin pan. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven 20 to 25 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Serve at once. If muffin cups each hold 1-3 cup, this recipe will make 12 muffins.

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First — a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Each Has Own Reason for Volunteering

Thirty-Three Peace Corpsmen Training for Nigeria

EAST LANSING (AP) — What does a Peace Corpsman expect to get out of his or her two-year assignment to an underdeveloped nation?

Some expect an education.

Thirty-three young men and women—four of them from Michigan—are training today at Michigan State University for two years at the University of Nigeria.

Some expect their assignment as graduate assistants at the year-old institution at Nsukka, Nigeria, to be a continuation of their schooling.

Most of the volunteers were working toward a doctorate when they enlisted. Most are in their 20's, and 13 are women.

AN OPPORTUNITY

"It's not as much a sacrifice as an opportunity," said Roswell C. Blount, 25, of Allerton, Iowa. Blount and his 23-year-old wife Lorena are one of three married couples in the group.

Howard S. Swann, 25, of Brookline, Mass., sees it as an opportunity "to take part in the enthusiasm of the people who will be learning here," and to become familiar with another culture.

The young man or woman who has not yet settled yet on definite career "can't help but to be helped by an experience like this," said David Schickele of New York City.

And Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy M. Law of Stockton, Calif., are going "just because we want to."

* * *

The volunteers include a 52-year-old junior high school principal from Washington, D.C., a 34-year-old Michigan farmer who received a bachelor of arts in accounting at MSU last June, and a 34-year-old director of psychiatric social workers from Buffalo, N.Y.

* * *

Catharine E. Crook, principal of a junior high school in Washington for the past 15 years, is on a two-year leave of absence to serve in the corps. She has taught college mathematics in Ghana under a Fulbright grant.

OPERATION CROSSROADS

John P. Kaechele, '34, of Mid-dleville, attended Grand Rapids Junior College and the Davenport Business Institute, then worked on his parents' dairy farm for nine years. He went to Nigeria in 1960 as a member of Operation Crossroads Africa.

Vincente L. Sparacio, 34, of Williamsville, N.Y., has supervised psychiatric social workers at the E. J. Meyer Memorial Hospital, Buffalo, since 1953.

"We are exceptionally pleased at the caliber of this group," said Dr. Donald L. Grummon, professor of psychology and director of the MSU Counseling Center.

Grummon will accompany the corpsmen to the fast-growing university, established a year ago with help from Michigan State and Inter-University Council of Great Britain, the International Cooperation Administration and the Nigerian government.

In an intensive eight-week training program, the volunteers will be schooled in African and Nigerian studies, United States and world affairs, comparative education, the role of education and the educator in developing countries, African languages, health and preventative medicine and physical education and conditioning. They began training Monday.

Ford Investing $60 Million in Argentine Plant

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. of the United States is investing about $60 million into its Argentine affiliate, Ford Argentina, to build Falcon cars and Econoline light trucks.

The announcement was made at a press conference by Chairman, D. R. Kitterman of the Ford Argentina Co. He also noted the company's expansion plans for its operations in this country.

Ford has been operating in Argentina for some 47 years.

New modern plants at the suburban town of General Pacheco will be inaugurated Thursday, President Frondizi, other high ranking government officials, legislators, church authorities and local businessmen have been invited to attend the dedication ceremonies.

Kitterman said present plans call for the building of 9,000 four-door and two-door Falcon cars in 1962.

Retirement Sentiment Goes Little Too Far

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A copy of a City Council resolution commending George Arneson, retiring city purchasing director, was retyped because of this interesting error: "Whereas he has carried on the cuties of his office with a minimum of cost to the city."

4-H Club

Featuring Prize-Winning Beef from the Michigan State Fair

Wrigley takes pride in saluting the know-how, the ingenuity and the industry of the youthful agricultural specialists who developed the prize-winning beef shown at our recent Michigan State Fair.

The 4-H Club members, the students and the skillful farmers who participated, exhibited much more than their prized Blue Ribbon cattle (a large part of which was purchased by Wrigley and is listed elsewhere on these pages). They showed their determination and desire to contribute to the progress of American farming—by demonstrating that through such progressive effort, even the best can be improved. We, and the consumer, are thankful for their talent.

Phone Monitoring Common

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Big brother may not be watching you, yet, but his secretary probably is listening in on your telephone calls to government agencies."

That's the conclusion of the House Government Information subcommittee after a survey of telephone monitoring practices of 27 major government agencies.

The report, issued today, said 23 of the 27 federal agencies permit some kind of telephone monitoring—if you include having a secretary make notes of dates, numbers, future engagements and the like.

It added that 21 agencies have no regulations on telephone monitoring, and 17 do not always require that the other party be warned that what he is saying is being taken down.

The report said most agencies "rationalize it as an aid to efficiency. When monitoring is done secretly and becomes eavesdropping, however, the bureaucracy is sacrificing principle on the altar of efficiency.

"No matter what the excuse, there is something mean and unprincipled in a government's official arranging for a secretary —or a transcribing machine—to eavesdrop on telephone calls."

The report said there were indications of "a dangerous drift toward a huge bureaucracy peering over the shoulder of the citizen."

The survey was conducted by the staff of the subcommittee headed by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif. The subcommittee was fought for five years to make information on government business more accessible to the public.

MANY SWITCHERS

The report said it found 363 transmitter cutoff switches and 240 listening-in circuits on telephones going through a switchboard operated by the General Services Administration. It said the great majority of these was on phone lines of the Welfare Department.

★ ★ ★

A transmitter cutoff switch is a button that shuts off the transmitter part of a telephone, so someone can hear but cannot be heard. A listening-in circuit is another method of hearing without being heard.

The telephone company charges extra for both devices, and the report estimated that "many thousand of dollars a year are spent on the listening-in devices."

The report included answers to the subcommittee questionnaire from each of the 27 departments involved. Most of them said that secretaries listened in on calls from time to time, but merely to take general notes.

Redevelopment Subject of Workshop Friday

EAST LANSING (AP) — Representatives of federal agencies involved in area redevelopment will conduct a workshop Friday at Michigan State University.

The economic development department said local planners interested in area redevelopment have been invited.

Rozycki Quits Race for U.S. Congress

LANSING (UPI) — State Sen. Stanley F. Rozycki, D-Detroit, Tuesday withdrew as a potential candidate for the First District congressional seat being vacated by Thaddeus M. Machrowicz.

Machrowicz has been appointed and confirmed as a federal judge for the Eastern District of Michigan.

"I decided not to run when I saw how many people were getting into the race," Rozycki said. "A lot of them are my good friends and it wouldn't do any good to get into a hassle with them."

He mentioned Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, who has announced for the congressional seat, former Liquor Control Commissioner [illegible] Kozaren and several others.

Troops, Police Manning Uganda-Ruanda Border

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Troops and special police are manning the entire Uganda-Ruanda border because of fighting, looting, cattle slaughtering and arson in Ruanda, police said Tuesday.

The report said 400 African refugees, many of them women and children, have crossed the border from Ruanda in the last two days.

Bride, Guests Eat Cake and Are Poisoned

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—The bride and 39 guests at a proxy wedding at Tavira in Southern Portugal suffered food poisoning by something in the wedding cake. But other guests were saved by a romantic superstition.

Police said a number of young girls at the party saved their cake to put under their pillow. Tradition says this brings dreams of a future husband.

The bride and the guests who didn't save their cake were treated at the hospital and released. The bridegroom was away in the armed forces.

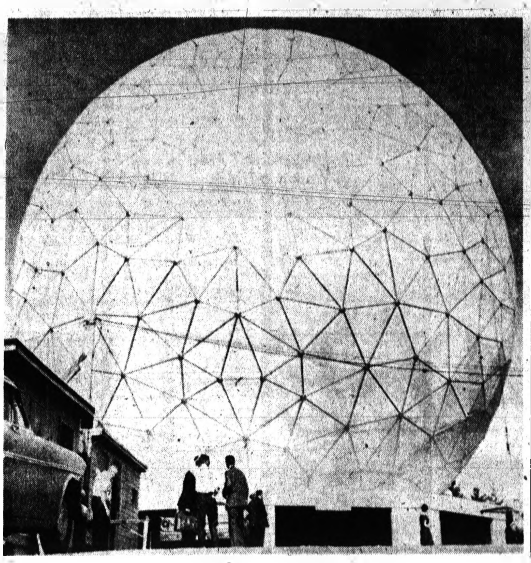
To Allow Liquor Sales Two Hours on Sunday

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov. David L. Lawrence has signed into law legislation permitting Pennsylvania's licensed liquor establishments to stay open until 2 a.m. on Sundays.

The new law takes effect in 60 days.

It will remove a prior prohibition against liquor sales after midnight on Saturdays.



WORLD'S LARGEST RADOME — The world's largest radome, which will house a highly sensitive Air Force antenna to be used in satellite communications, has been completed on top of a hill in Tyngsboro, Mass. The radome, made of fiberglas stretched over hollow aluminum beams, is 134 feet high and will shelter a 120-foot diameter antenna. The AF said, that though no such use has yet been established, the antenna used as part of a radar could obtain valuable new information about the surface of the moon and such a comparatively nearby planet as Venus.

Civil Rights Bill to Be Delayed

Congress Not Likely to Act on Measure in 1962 Election Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The prospect that Congress will act in the 1962 election year on any civil rights measures appeared slim today after the Senate's refusal to consider changing its antifilibuster rule.

Administration leaders said President Kennedy intends to put off until January any decision on whether to recommend legislation in this field. The signs now indicate he won't.

Advocates could bring up the Senate rule change in January, as Sens. Kenneth B. Keating and Jacob K. Javits, New York Republicans, indicated they plan to do. But if they try it they will be without leadership support.

When Keating asked Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana Tuesday if he planned to revive the matter early in the next session, Mansfield replied: "No, I do not."

The Senate voted 43-37 against a debate limitation on the motion to bring up the rules change, thus denying even majority support to a proposal that would have required two-thirds approval for adoption. The chamber then voted 47-35 to return the rules change to its calendar, a motion that needed only a majority.

Priest Claims Discrimination in Detroit Shop

DETROIT (AP)—"If we're going to test racial barriers in the South, we also ought to do some testing here," says a Negro Episcopal priest who claims he was refused a haircut by a local hotel barbershop.

Rev. Robert S. Chapman, vicar of St. John's church, Hempstead, N.Y., said he was refused a haircut Tuesday at the barber shop in the Fort Shelby hotel in downtown Detroit.

Bob Holmes, owner of the shop which leases space from the hotel, said 75 per cent of his business was by appointment. He said the incident apparently was the result of a misunderstanding as his barbershop has "no discrimination policy."

Dogs Are Saved From Threat of Being 'De-Barked'

DROXFORD, England (AP) — Seven miniature poodles and a Kerry blue terrier have been saved from a dog's life without barks.

The high-spirited dogs were threatened with de-barking after complaints were made that their yelping disturbed the lay quiet of this Hampshire village.

The village council warned their owner, Mrs. Olwyn Harbottle, that action might be taken against her if she didn't make the dogs pipe down.

The council suggested an operation involving severing the dogs' vocal chords to silence their barking. Outraged dog-lovers all over Britain rallied to Mrs. Harbottle's side.

The council backed down. It announced Tuesday a council official made a check and considered the eight dogs were not a nuisance.

'Impossible for Jet to Attack U.N. Plane'

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A senior officer in the Katanga air force said Tuesday night it would have been impossible for a Katanga jet fighter to shoot down Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's airliner near Ndola in darkness Monday.

Commandant Josh Puren, on leave in Johannesburg, said the Katanga air force's one jet fighter did not have the range to fly to Ndola and was not equipped for night flying.

Space Capsule Fails to Separate From Satellite

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force said that Discoverer XXXI's capsule failed to leave the satellite when a separation attempt was made Tuesday.

The satellite was launched here Sunday. It contained human cells and equipment to measure nuclear radiation in the atmosphere.

A spokesman said trackers should know today if its power plant failed. He indicated no new separation attempt could be made. The satellite could orbit for several months.

A seven-plane aerial recovery force took off from Hawaii but returned after tracking stations in Alaska and Hawaii said the capsule hadn't separated.

Niagara Falls will retreat into Lake Erie in 27,000 years if the present rate of erosion continues.

U.S. Calls Up 73,000 More Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has called 73,000 more reservists and National Guardsmen to the colors to give the United States a bigger stick in the days of crisis. But Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says there are no plans to send any more Army divisions to Europe now.

The men called up Tuesday—including two National Guard divisions—will report Oct. 15.

McNamara described the action as another readiness measure in the light of world conditions. Asked if it indicated a worsening in the Berlin situation, he replied: "No, I think not."

McNamara said "no decision has been made to send any divisions to Europe." He also said there are no plans for alerting any more units—at least not immediately.

The call to active duty went out to two National Guard divisions—the 32nd Infantry of Wisconsin and the 49th Armored of Texas—and to 240 reserve and guard support units.

* * *

The 32nd—the famed Red Arrow Division which two decades ago was summoned to spearhead the war against Japan in southwest Pacific — will train at Ft. Lewis, Wash. The 32nd was the first National Guard division called to federal service in 1940.

* * *

The 49th is a new division with no battle record. It will train at Ft. Polk, La.

'Criticism' of Ike to Be Cut

To Rewrite Berlin Paper

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department announced Tuesday it will rewrite a historical pamphlet on Berlin, to make clear that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was not responsible for the way Germany was divided after World War II.

The original version set off a string of Republican protests and a statement from Eisenhower that the issue was decided at a level above his office as allied commander.

Press Officer Joseph W. Reap said the disputed paragraph in the department's just-issued pamphlet, "Background Berlin —1961," will be revised in the next edition to make sure "no criticism is implied or intended" of Eisenhower's wartime "belief that the Western armies be more usefully employed elsewhere rather than in an assault on Berlin."

The revised wording states that the occupation status of Berlin had already been agreed on among the allied governments including Russia when the Western Armies made their final push into Germany.

* * *

Reap said the main point of the original wording had been to refute a Soviet claim that the Western Allies had no rights to Berlin because the Soviets got there first.

More for Dutch Defense

Community Club Selects Officers for Coming Year

The Northside Community Club has elected Ervin A. Volrath of 768 Rundell St. as its president for the coming year.

★ ★

Volrath has been a member for several years and was vice president of the club last year. He is a tool and die inspector at Fisher Body Division.

Other new officers are George Rouse, vice president; Kenneth Strine, secretary; and Russell Theunn, treasurer. Both Strine and Theunn were reelected.

Club members also announced they would give $500 to the Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation for lights at the city's softball field at Edison and Montcalm Streets.

Knight Supporters Give Nixon Warning

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon was urged Tuesday to decide against running for governor of California and avoid being "blackjacked into withdrawing from the world scene by a few political opportunists."

Ralph Andrews, chairman of "Volunteers for Knight," conceded in an open letter to Nixon that he was giving the 1960 GOP presidential candidate "a little unsolicited advice."

Ex-Gov. Goodwin J. Knight announced his candidacy last week and said he would bid for the Republican nomination regardless of what Nixon, currently a Los Angeles attorney, decides.

★ ★ ★

The open letter, released as a press handout, claimed the Knight support group had conducted a poll and found Knight running ahead of all candidates.

Jackson Insurance Co. to Open Detroit Push

LANSING (AP)—The recently chartered Jackson Life Insurance Co. will inaugurate its Detroit area program with a dinner in Detroit Thursday, said A. J. Pasant, president.

State Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford and Detroit Mayor Louis C. Miriani—along with more than 120 stockholders—were to attend, he said.

The company, organized 15 months ago with headquarters in Jackson, now has 65 agents and is processing 120 more, Pasant said.

Cuba Executes Blanco

HAVANA (AP) — Anti-Castro leader Nelson Figueras Blanco died before a firing squad Tuesday. He was the 12th person executed in Cuba since Sept. 9.

Heart trouble is more common among men than among women, except at ages 75 and over.

McClellan Offers Anti-Hoffa Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., introduced legislation Tuesday he said would nullify Teamster President James R. Hoffa's hopes of uniting all transportation unions and limit his power to call a nationwide strike.

The legislation would make it unlawful for any transportation union to call a strike in concert with another union if the walkout would decrease transportation services substantially.

Pray for Hammarskjold

DETROIT (UPI)—The 60th general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America Tuesday stood for a minute of silent prayer for Dag Hammarskjold, secretary general of the United Nations who was killed in a plane crash in Africa.

Historian Says Only Compromise Will Prevent War

'U.S. Pride Has Led to Her Humiliation'

(Editor's Note — Philosopher-historian Will Durant now 76, is writing the 11th volume since 1927 to chronicling the story of civilization in what will be a nine-volume work. The seventh volume, "The Age of Reason Begins," has just been published. In the following dispatch, Durant presents his own analysis of the issues and backgrounds of the Berlin crisis and his own proposal for a compromise solution to end the threat of a thermonuclear war.)

By WILL DURANT
Written for UPI

I must speak with modesty on current political problems. Though I try to keep abreast of the news as given us so fully and fairly by our major newspapers, I realize that hundreds of pertinent facts known to the government are unknown to me or to the general public. I speak only as a citizen vitally concerned, with only one grandson of military age, but with a special stake in the civilization whose achievements my wife and I have tried to record. We must not let our subject die on our hands!

It is difficult for a lover of philosophy to discuss the international situation publicly, for philosophy likes to see all sides of a problem as a prelude to understanding it and coping with it, whereas national sentiment prefers to see only one side, lest a more impartial view should weaken the vigor of national defense in case the issue should come to blows. Until an effective international organization takes form, such national sentiment will be forgivable, and governments will continue to speak in one way to their people, in another to their diplomats.

Hence in any international crisis those who are most bellicose win public acclaim as patriots, and those who suggest negotiations — that is, mutual concessions — are branded cowardly appeasers and compromisers. I am an appeaser and a compromiser; that is, I believe in seeking a peaceable understanding with my opponents, and I do not insist on their admitting that they are 100 per cent wrong. Politics, as John Morley said, is the art of compromise. Those who shout "no compromise" should remember that this now means "no civilization." After such a madness as large-scale nuclear war what would remain for the victor to occupy — if there should be a victor? Only a poisoned wasteland and a few survivors to transmit an undying hate.

It is difficult for us to realize that the Russians fear us even more than we fear them. We fear their intercontinental missiles and their ground forces and their birth-rate; they fear the airplane and missile and munitions bases with which we have, as a necessary measure of defense, surrounded the Communistic states.

The problem of both statesmanship and philosophy today is to reduce this mutual fear; for unless reduced it must lead to a ruinous race of armaments, and finally to such destruction as would put Europe and America back 300 years in civilization. The only victor in such a catastrophe would be Communist China; Asia and Africa would inherit the earth. Christianity would perhaps receive a mortal blow.

Since 1918 we have, amid many brilliant victories, over despotism and reaction, made basic blunders through unwillingness to compromise. It was a blunder to insist on the resignation of Kaiser Wilhelm II; this was an open door to Hitler. It was a blunder to insist on the unconditional surrender of Germany in 1945; this was an open door to Stalin, letting the Russians reach the Elbe and surround Berlin. It has been a blunder to refuse to recognize Communist China and to refuse to admit it to the United Nations. Our pride has led to our humiliation, and we have lost even the bargaining power that might have accompanied a timely compromise.

WANTS COMPROMISE

Yes, I should like to see the Berlin situation eased by a compromise. I believe that we should recognize East Germany as an independent state. I know it is not independent, that it is a satellite of Soviet Russia; so is Poland, which we recognize as an independent state. We have to close our eyes to legal fictions.

I see no real difference between Soviet Control and East German control of the access routes from West Germany to West Berlin; in either case it will be Soviet control.I would not compromise in the full right of Western access to Berlin. I believe, with Prime Minister Diefenbaker of Canada, that our diplomats should turn their intelligence to creating a new status for West Berlin as an international city under United Nations guarantee and international protection. I would end our propaganda broadcasts into East Germany from West Berlin, just as I would object to a Russian propaganda station a few blocks away from New York.

The weak point in this call to compromise is that one concession paves the way to another. But I do not believe that a willingness to be realistic will weaken us. I recognize the necessity of maintaining our capacity for national defense. Hence I see no sincerity in Khrushchev's call for total disarmament, as he has revealed to all the world the insincerity of Soviet negotiations for a ban on atom tests.

We cannot demolish our stockpile of atomic weapons, or withdraw our forces from Europe, so long as the manpower of Russia and its despotic ability to sacrifice butter for guns, endangers the independence of Western Europe with all its heritage of civilization.

I believe that our system of democracy, free enterprise and the welfare state gives more stimulus and happiness than such a system as obtains in Russia today.

And I believe that our President will find a humane solution for the international crisis. He has the courage to make his peace with the facts. The calm way in which he is facing the problem is an inspiration to all of us to lower our voices and begin to think.

Anyone Want to Slim Down to Fit Fall Clothes?

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Your bathing suit fit you perfectly at the beginning of the summer; but your fall skirts seem a little tight? Did a season of sweet-ened cold beverages and some lazy living add unwanted pounds and inches?

Exercise is the answer to the extra inches, while adherence to low-caloried foods should subtract the pounds. In this harvest season of fruits and vegetables you can diet without difficulty.

As you know, the simple rules are to stick to fruits, vegetables and protein foods, while omitting heavy starches, sugars and fats.

Fresh lemon or lime juice and a sprinkling of freshly ground pepper does almost as much for cooked vegetables as large quantities of butter. You may even come to prefer the former. The newest low-calorie salad dressings are delicious on both salads and some cooked vegetables.

For luncheon you might have a creamy molded salad, surrounded by your choice of fresh fruit. The accompanying low-calorie dressing is fine for any fruit salad.

Creamy Fruit Salad Mold

1 package peach gelatin
1 cup boiling water
½ cup cold water
1 cup plain yogurt
1 cup chopped fresh fruit (no pineapple)

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Stir in cold water. Slowly stir in yogurt. Chill until lightly thickened. Fold in fresh fruit. Pour into 3-cup mold and chill until firm.

Low Calorie Orange Dressing

½ cup orange juice
¼ cup white vinegar
2 teaspoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon grated orange rind
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients and shake or blend thoroughly. Serve with fruit salad. Makes one cup.

★ ★ ★

Grilled hamburgers have fewer calories than fried ones. You dress these up with fresh tomatoes, onions and marinated mushroom caps.

Grilled Tomato-Burgers

1½ pounds ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
6 firm, ripe tomatoes
1 sweet onion, sliced into rings
6 large mushroom caps, cooked or canned, marinated in Italian style low-calorie salad dressing

Lightly mix meat with salt and pepper; shape into 6 burgers. Cook over flowing charcoal on outdoor grill or cook in skillet or broil as desired. Cut each tomato into 3 slices, crosswise. Lightly brown with hamburgers for a few minutes, being sure tomatoes remain firm; place hamburgers on 6 tomato slices; top with remaining slices.

Arrange a few onion rings on top and put a mushroom cap in center. Garnish serving platter with additional onion rings if desired. Makes 6 servings.

There are several ways to cut calories in desserts. One of them makes use of nonfat dry milk topping. This same topping can be used over small slices of sponge or angelfood cake without going too far over the caloric budget for the day.

Pirate's Whip

6 cups watermelon cubes
2¼ cups tangerine whipped instant nonfat dry milk crystals*

Chill watermelon. Arrange in serving bowl. Serve with tangerine whipped topping. Makes 6-8 servings.

*To whip tangerine instant nonfat dry milk crystals:

1. Mix ⅓ cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals with ⅓ cup well-chilled tangerine juice in bowl.

2. Whip until soft peaks form (3-4 minutes). Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

3. Continue whipping until stiff peaks form (3-4 minutes longer).

4. Gradually add ¼ cup sugar. The second way to cut down on dessert calories is to use artificial sweeteners. Here's a recipe for sugar cookies that cuts out about two-thirds of the calories in a similar size cookie made with sugar.

Sugar Crisps

2 tablespoons butter or shortening
2 level teaspoons granulated sugar substitute and 1 tablespoon orange or lemon rind well blended
½ cup sifted cake flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon milk, fruit juice, or instant coffee
6 teaspoons vanilla

Cream butter or shortening until light; blend in mixture of sugar substitute and rind. Sift together cake flour, baking powder, and cinnamon; add to shortening mixture a little at a time alternating with liquid — blend well after each addition. Add vanilla; blend.

Chill batter in refrigerator 12 minutes, or until firm. Form cold batter into balls and bake on ungreased cookie sheet 15 minutes or until golden brown in 375 degree oven.

Calorie count per cookie: standard recipe 111, sugar substitute recipe 34. Saving 77 calories.

Frankfurters Glorified in Baked Cheese Rolls

With Sandwich Month being celebrated in August, nothing could be more appropriate to the occasion than "Cheese and Frank Rolls." A tangy medley of tasty ripe olives, cheese, onion, mustard and pickle relish is spread on slices of bread which are then rolled around split frankfurters and baked until golden brown. If it's true that every dog has its day, the red-letter day for a glorified hot dog will be the one you pick to serve "Cheese and Frank Rolls."

Cheese and Frank Rolls

½ cup ripe olives
6 to 8 frankfurters
1 (8 ounce) jar process American cheese spread
2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
1 teaspoon instant minced onion
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish
1½ dozen slices fresh white or whole wheat bread
Melted butter or margarine

Cut olives into wedges. Pour boiling water over frankfurters and let stand 10 minutes. Drain and cut in half lengthwise (cut into thirds if frankfurters are large.) Blend cheese spread, butter, onion, mustard, pickle relish and olives.

Cut crusts from bread. Flatten slices gently with rolling pin. Spread each slice with cheese-olive mixture. Place frankfurter at one end and roll up as for jelly roll. Place seam side down, in shallow pan. Brush with butter.

Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees F.) until deep golden brown, about 8 to 10 minutes. Makes 1½ dozen rolls.

Note: Rolls may be wrapped in heavy foil and frozen until ready to use. To bake, remove foil, brush frozen rolls with melted butter and bake as directed; baking time will be about 15 to 20 minutes. Or, defrost rolls and bake as directed above.

Halved Flank Steak Will Serve Three

This savory Chinese recipe is repeated by request.

Green Pepper Steak

1 pound boneless flank steak
2 tablespoons each cornstarch and soy sauce
1 tablespoon dry sherry
1 teaspoon sugar
1 large clove garlic (crushed)
3 medium-size green peppers
2 tablespoons salad oil
½ cup water or unsalted chicken broth

If necessary, trim steak of most of outside fat; if meat is regular width, cut in half lengthwise; freeze. Before preparing, allow meat to stand at room temperature to defrost just enough to slice easily. Slice on bias into strips about 1-inch wide and ⅛-inch thick.

★ ★ ★

In a small platter or large plate, stir together the cornstarch, soy sauce, sherry, sugar and garlic until cornstarch is not lumpy. Add beef and turn to coat each piece. Halve peppers lengthwise; remove seeds and membrane; slice lengthwise into strips about ½-inch wide.

★ ★ ★

Heat 1 tablespoon oil in 9- or 10-inch skillet over moderate heat; add green peppers; cook a few minutes, stirring; remove with slotted spoon. Add remaining tablespoon of oil to skillet; heat. Add meat and brown over moderate heat, turning with wide spatula or pancake turner. Return peppers to skillet, add water. Cook and stir constantly until small amount of sauce clears and thickens. Makes 4 servings.

Snack to Broil

After - school snack: Cream brown sugar with butter or margarine, grated orange rind and a pinch of nutmeg. Cover toast with the spread and let bubble under the broiler.

Legend Tells Tale of Cabbage Love

The astronaut who lands on the moon with a head of cabbage is sure to be greeted with open arms by the Man-In-The-Moon, whose tongue must be hanging out for some of this delicious eating.

Legend, you see, says the Man-In-The-Moon was once an earthly creature who was "crazy" about cabbage. But he didn't have any of his own, so he stole out in the dead of night and snitched his neighbors'. He got caught and was transported off to the moon, never to be tempted again. Poor Guy, how he must drool as he looks over our fields of cabbage and our delicious cabbage dishes!

One dish that probably makes him spin in orbit is our Molded-Cabbage-plus Salad that's festive enough even for party fare. It's prepared like this:

Dissolve 1 package of lemon-flavored gelatin by pouring 1 cup hot water over gelatin and stirring until dissolved. Add ¾ cup more water, along with 1 tablespoon each of horseradish and vinegar with a dash of hot pepper sauce.

Chill until thickened; then stir in about 3 cups chopped cabbage, 1 diced onion, 1 diced green pepper, and any other fresh vegetables you desire. Pour into salad mold and chill until set. Unmold and serve with any favorite salad dressing.

Quick Company Dessert Made With Sponge Cake

Company coming? You can make a luscious quick dessert by splitting two sponge-cake layers (from the bakery or your freezer). Put one of the layers together with vanilla pudding; sandwich the other together with apricot preserves spiked, if you like, with rum or cognac. Frost the top of both cakes with whipped cream and serve a wedge of each, twin style, for each portion.

For the Book Set

The school crowd will like Bologna Gouda Burgers for lunch. Heat and brown slices of ring or sandwich size sliced bologna. Arrange on bottom of hot buttered bun. Top with slices of Gouda cheese and a thin slice of onion, and pickle relish if desired, and cover with bun top. You'll approve of Bologna Gouda Burgers for the cheese adds important body building proteins to your child's lunch.

Try a New Way With Peaches

Fresh peaches are at their juicy best topped with a delicate wine-flavored custard sauce. It's a case of adding one fruit flavor to another when California Muscatel wine is used as part of the liquid in the sauce. No other grape has quite such a distinctive, persistent flavor as the members of the Muscat family; they're unrivaled as a compliment to fresh or canned fruits. An extra dividend for this dessert is a crunchy topping made of peanut brittle.

Peaches with Custard-Crunch Sauce

4 egg yolks
¼ cup brown sugar (packed)
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
1 cup light cream, scalded
¼ cup California Muscatel
5 or 6 fresh peaches
Crushed peanut brittle

Beat egg yolks lightly; combine with brown sugar, salt and orange rind. Stir in to cream; place over hot water. Cook and stir until mixture coats a spoon.

Remove from heat and cool; stir in wine and chill thoroughly. Remove skin and halve or slice peaches. Serve topped with chilled wine custard and a generous sprinkling of crushed peanut brittle.

Yank Slugger Has One Game Left to Tie or Surpass Babe's Record

Time Is Running Out on Roger Maris---58...

By The Associated Press

An asterisk looms large in Roger Maris' destiny.

Held to an infield single while the New York Yankees clinched at least a tie for the American League pennant Tuesday night by splitting a doubleheader with Baltimore, Maris must hit two home runs tonight against the Orioles to officially tie Babe Ruth's home run record.

If he doesn't, he'll have eight more regularly scheduled games in which to tie or surpass the Bambino's 60-homer record of 1927, but will have to take the asterisk along with any record under the edict handed down by Commissioner Ford Frick.

That's the prospect facing Maris, who still has 58 homers after failing to connect in nine tries against the Orioles' sharp pitchers, as he prepares to take his final official shots against right-hander Milt Pappas (12-8) while the Yanks go with Ralph Terry (14-3) if Hurricane Esther doesn't intervene.

The honor of clinching the tie for the Yankees' 26th pennant, their 11th in the past 13 years and the first under rookie Manager Ralph Houk, went to left-hander Bud Daley who beat the Orioles 3-1 in the nightcap with a five-hitter.

Steve Barber won the opener for the Birds 1-0 with a four-hit job for his eight shutout, tops in the majors. The whitewash also checked Maris, who walked in the first, then failed to get a hit in three other at-bats.

In the second game, Maris fouled out in the first, got his in field single in the third, grounded out in the fourth, hit a long foul in the seventh before flying out to center and struck out in the ninth for a 3-for-26 performance at Baltimore this season. Memorial Stadium is the only park in which Maris has not hit a homer this year.

Bill Skowron took up the homer slack for the Yankees, cracking his 27th, with one on in the fourth, for a 3-1 New York lead that stood up and reduced their magic number to one over the second-place Detroit Tigers.

* * *

The Tigers, who play an afternoon game against Los Angeles today and can wrap it up for the Yanks if they lose, maintained a mathematical chance for a tie by beating the Angels 6-2. Cleveland and Kansas City split, the A's winning the opener 6-0 and the Indians taking the nightcap 6-2. Chicago whipped Boston 5-1 and Minnesota defeated Washington 3-1.

Skowron's homer, with Elston Howard on base against Baltimore starter Skinny Brown (10-6), gave Daley his 12th win against 7 defeats. The lone Baltimore run came on Ron Hansen's homer leading off the third.

In the opener, Barber (17-11) had the Yankees completely in control while Baltimore's first inning run stood up and made Whitey Ford (24-4) the loser. The Orioles scored when Brooks Robinson singled, reached second as the ball got by Hec Lopez and scored on Jerry Adair's double.

Jim Archer (9-13), loser of six in a row, held the Indians and Dick Stigman (12-5) with a six-hitter in the opener. Tito Francona's bases-loaded single in the second off Bob Shaw (11-13) and a run-scoring triple by Ty Cline and Francona's squeeze bunt in the fourth gave the Indians' Gary Bell (11-15) all the margin he needed to subdue the A's in the second.

Juan Pizarro (14-6) hurled a three-hitter against the Red Sox while the White Sox scored three in the second off Tracy Stallard (2-6) to win it. The Twins defeated the Senators behind the six-hit pitching of Jim Kaat (9-15). Joe McClain (8-18) was the loser.

Scheffing Boosts Mossi as League's 'Comeback' Player

Southpaw Beats Los Angeles on Four Hits, 6-2

Year Ago He Was Told His Pitching Days May Be Over

DETROIT (AP) — A year ago Don Mossi was on his way home, fearing he'd never pitch again.

His left arm ached, he couldn't throw and the Detroit Tigers let him return to California two weeks before the season ended.

"He's got to be the comeback of the year in the American League," said manager Bob Scheffing after Mossi picked up his 15th victory yesterday. He's lost only seven.

* * *

The stylish southpaw shackled the Los Angeles Angels on four hits—and for a change his Detroit teammates gave him some runs. Mossi beat the Angels 6-2. The triumph left the Tigers four games ahead of Baltimore, which split with New York in the battle for second place.

"Look," said Scheffing about his veteran 31-year-old left hander, "this year he's pitched the top number of innings in his career, 234⅓ so far. And his strikeouts are high for his career, 186.

"When I took this job and asked about Mossi, I was told 'we don't know, we doubt if he'll ever pitch again.' His arm has been better this year than it's ever been."

Mossi had been plagued lately by another kind of trouble until the Tigers started hitting for him yesterday. He had been given just one run to work with in 24 innings, covering his four previous starts.

* * *

But the Tigers teed off right in the first inning against the Angels for four runs. It was a breeze for Mossi the rest of the way. He struck out seven and turned in his 12th complete game.

The only damaging blows off Mossi were home runs by former teammates Eddie Yost and Steve Bilko.

Billy Rigney paraded six Angel pitchers at the Tigers with the loss going to starter Ken McBride.

McBride failed to survive the Tigers' big first.

* * *

With one out, Billy Bruton singled and Al Kaline chased him home with a hit-and-run double into the right field corner. Rocky Colavito scored Kaline with a double and went to third on Norm Cash's infield hit.

McBride then uncorked two wild pitches, getting Colavito home and Cash to third. Cash scored when catcher Ed Sadowski made a poor throw while trying to run the Tiger down.

The Tigers took advantage of Ryne Duren's wildness to get the two runs back in the sixth.

Redlegs' Flag Bid Now on Fast Rail

By The Associated Press

They're playing taps for the Dodgers in Los Angeles while Cincinnati's rambunctious Reds continue to ride their pennant-bound express train over a lightning fast rail to their first National League flag in 21 years.

The Reds, a patchwork outfit that includes a host of youngsters and a batch of castoffs, ballooned their lead to five games over the Dodgers Tuesday night by walloping the Pittsburgh Pirates 10-1 for their seventh victory in the last eight games.

The triumph, coupled with Los Angeles' second straight loss to the seventh-place Chicago Cubs, 7-3, reduced the Reds' magic number to five. Any combination of five Cincinnati victories or Dodger defeats will give the Reds their first pennant since 1940.

It was a typical story for Reds Tuesday night as trade acquisition Gene Freese smacked two homers, including a key three run shot in a seven-run fourth inning rally, and 24-year-old Jim O'Toole brought his pitching record to 17-9 with his sixth win in a row.

The seven runs represented the Reds biggest one-inning outburst since they scored five against Chicago on June 27. It also snapped the Reds out of a low-run streak in which they had scored only 23 times in the last seven games.

San Francisco and Milwaukee players hammered four homers each before Ed Bailey's ninth inning single drove in the winning run for the Giants' 11-10 victory. St. Louis blanked Philadelphia 3-0 as Curt Simmons five-hit his former teammates.

O'Toole stopped the Pirates on seven hits, allowing their only run in the fifth on Hal Smith's single, a double by Bill Mazeroski and an infield out. Meanwhile, the Reds laced Pittsburgh starter Bob Friend (14-18) for seven runs in the fourth. Freese's solo shot in the seventh, his 26th homer, closed out the scoring for the Reds, who pounded Friend and three successors for 15 hits.

Bob Anderson (7-9), who hadn't completed a game in 10 previous starts, went the route for the Cubs and knocked in the winning runs with a two-run homer in the fourth as Chicago went ahead to stay. Stan Williams (13-12), beaten by the Cubs for the first time since he joined the Dodgers in 1958, left in the top of the fifth while a fan with a bugle blew taps in the left field stands.

Bailey's single settled a homer battle that saw Willie Mays, who smashed a grand slam, Orlando Cepeda, Jimmy Davenport and Bailey connect for the Giants, Joe Adcock, Roy McMillan, Ed Mathews and Frank Bolling homered for the Braves. Reliever Stu Miller (14-4) won it with the loss charged to Curt Willey (5-12). Milwaukee's Warren Spahn was sent to the showers in the second inning without victory No. 20.

* * *

The Cards scored all their runs off John Buzhardt (6-17) on a double by John Buchek and Curt Flood's single in the fifth and Stan Musial's two-run homer in the sixth. Simmons (9-10) now is 9-0 against his former mates.

Colt Aerials to Test Lions' Defense

By BRUNO L. REARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

To most pro-football teams, the city of Baltimore is a "kiss of death." In the past several years, many NFL contenders have met their doom in the Maryland city.

This has been true for the Lions for many years when they had to open the season against the Colts. As result Detroit has gone through several seasons with a demoralizing effect after an opening game bombing by the Colts.

* * *

Likewise, two of the most thrilling games ever played by the Lions took place against the Colts.

In 1957, the Colts rattled the Lions 34-14 in Baltimore, in the return game in Detroit, a fantastic victory led by Bobby Layne sparked the Lions from a 27-3 halftime deficit to a 31-27 victory.

This is the game which started the momentum the Lions needed to start their bid for the division title and world championship.

* * *

Last year's thriller which a Baltimore victory seemed assured after a last minute Colt touchdown with 18 seconds to play, the Lions scored on the game's last play on a pass from Earl Morrall to Jim Gibbons to shock the wild Colt fans who had already jammed the field in anticipation of a victory celebration.

Another typical Lion-Colt battle is expected Sunday with the winner pushed out of first place in the Western Division.

The Colts rallied to beat the Rams last week, 27-24, while the Lions were surprising the conference champion Green Bay Packers, 17-13.

Baltimore has been installed a seven-point favorite in the 18th meeting between the two teams.

The highly vaunted Detroit defense stopped Green Bay's running attack last week. Sunday it will be the defensive backfield which will get the brunt of the work as Roy Berry returns to action as Johnny Unitas' prime passing target.

* * *

Against Detroit, Berry seems to be at his best. He has an all-time record of 58 pass receptions for 1,011 yards against the Lions. Unitas also has some of his most favorable statistics against Detroit.

He has nicked Detroit for 148 completion in 271 passes for 2,362 yards and 20 touchdowns. The Rams shackled Unitas last week allowing him only 10 completions in 22 attempts, but halfback Lenny Moore and fullback Joe Perry picked up the slack to supply the necessary momentum for victory.

The Lions haven't put together a pair of victories to start the season since 1956 when they took the measure of the Packers and Colts in order.

Sunday's game to be telecast back to this area will be at 1:05 local time.

* * *

Packers' Game Films Show 5th Down Score

The issue is purely academic, but Detroit Lions coach George Wilson plans to remind NFL headquarters that Green Bay kicked a field goal on fifth down Sunday.

The Lions won the game, 17-13, so the officials good didn't hurt them.

But Wilson feels the incident should not be overlooked because "maybe they'll be more careful next time."

Movies of the game proved what Wilson and several other persons suspected. "Mistakes like that by the officials can cost you a game," the Detroit mentor said. "It's a good thing we won."

The five-down sequence took place after Green Bay gained a first down on the Lions 10 shortly before the first half ended. The Lions were leading, 14-7, at the time.

* * *

Bart Starr passed to Jim Taylor on the one. Tom Moore was stopped for a one-yard loss back to the two. Paul Hornung was dumped back on the seven. Then Starr threw out of bounds to stop the clock and, on fifth down, Hornung booted the field goal.

Officials claimed that Taylor picked up a first down on the one but Detroit movies showed that he would have had to touch the goal line, thus scoring a touchdown, to gain a first down.

Dodgers Start to Fade Out of NL Pennant Race

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Barring a National League playoff series here—and the only thing less likely to be held here is the Iowa State Fair—this will be the Coliseum's last night as a major league baseball park.

* * *

The Dodgers, fading from the 1961 National League picture along with their vast stadium, play their final home game tonight against the Chicago Cubs, who beat them 7-3 Tuesday night. The loss dropped the Dodgers five games behind league-leading Cincinnati.

The coliseum, largest park in the majors, is hardly as rich in baseball history as the Dodgers' previous home in Brooklyn. But, in four seasons, it has had a few moments that will not be forgotten, and it has helped the Dodgers set some attendance records that may never be broken.

* * *

The coliseum also is the home of one of the greatest curiosities in baseball history—the left field screen. In four seasons, 741 home runs have been hit at the coliseum, and something like 90 and 85 per cent of them have gone into left field, sailing over or near the screen.

* * *

The home run records expected could drive in as many as four runs, the screen did invest each game with an extra element of suspense. One National League umpire, who might prefer anonymity, said the other day:

"The most exciting games in the league have been played right here."

The most curious baseball innovation introduced here, besides the screen, was the bugle call. Dozens of fans started bringing horns to the park. When the Dodgers came to bat, they blew cavalry calls and the crowd yelled "charge!"

* * *

Viking Quarterback Leads NFL in Aerial Statistics

NEW YORK (AP)—Who says a rookie quarterback can't run a National Football League team?

Of course, it doesn't happen very often. Still, occasionally some young upstart does exactly that. Davey O'Brien pulled just such a trick with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1939. And there was Bob Waterfield with the Cleveland Browns in 1945.

* * *

Now comes a youngster named Francis Asbury Tarkenton. A week ago, he was just a 20 showing a lot of promise with the abrand new Minnesota Vikings. Today, Tarkenton leads the league in individual passing figures released by NFL headquarters.

Rookie Tarkenton, son of a Methodist minister, sent some 32,000 spectators away with his name on their lips Sunday after throwing four touchdown passes and scoring six points himself in Minnesota's debut, a 37-13 victory over the once-feared Chicago Bears.

Tarkenton piled up 240 yards with his passing and wound up on the NFL's first week of play with a completion percentage of 73.9, tops in the 14-team circuit. San Francisco's John Brodie wasn't far behind with a 72.7 percentage. He, too, tossed four touchdown passes as the 49ers clobbered the Washington Redskins 33-3. Tarkenton completed 17 of 23 passes and had no interceptions and Brodie 16 of 22 with one interception.

Sandwiched between the two in the passing race is Cleveland's Milt Plum, who connected on 18 of 30 for 329 yards, most gained by one passer opening day. Plum's completion average is 60 per cent. The league ranks its passing leaders after considering several factors, including completions, yards gained, touchdown passes, per cent of completions, per cent of interceptions and average yards gained.

Green Bay's Max McGee and San Francisco's Monty Stickles are tied for pass receiving honors, each with seven receptions.

An exhibition in judo and self defense will be held Thursday night at the Pontiac YMCA. Otto Chanko, former 150-pound national judo champion, holder of the third degree blackbelt and a member of the Detroit Judo Club, will conduct the exhibition starting at 7:30 p.m. There is no admission charge.

* * *

Course in men's judo and self defense for women will be offered at the YMCA starting Thursday, Sept. 28 and running for 10 weeks.

* * *

PCH Grid Ducats on Sale

Kurt Beyer, ticket manager at Pontiac Central High School, has announced that tickets for the Chiefs' four home football games will be sold at the following locations: Osmun's Downtown Osmun's Tel-Huron, Trade Fair, Riker Building lobby, Pitpatrick Pharmacy. Tickets go on sale Mondays prior to home games. PCH meets Bay City Central this Friday at Wisner Stadium at 8 p.m.

Local speedboat racer Chuck Cartwright enjoyed his best racing day of the season last Sunday when he took three firsts and a third in the Reese Channel Windsor races. He won the B Hydro, B Runabout, B Stock Hydro and a 2nd in the Modified Hydro. Harry Nye took a 2nd in B-Runabout and D Stock Hydro.

Preps Swing Into League Action on Friday

League action swings into high gear on the prep football front Friday.

There is a full slate of Saginaw Valley contests topped by Bay City Central's invasion of Wisner Stadium to meet Pontiac Central.

* * *

Waterford Kettering, upset winner over Waterford Township, travels to Romeo for its Tri-County initiation. The Township Skippers are also on the road, playing a non-league game at Lapeer. Rochester plays at Mount Clemens.

Pontiac Northern is idle. All other Inter-Lakes teams will play outside the league.

Royal Kimball is at Birmingham Seaholm.

All eight Wayne - Oakland schools go against each other and there are three Oakland B contests scheduled, Avondale, seventh member of the league, taks a week off.

The Southern Thumb has four games set and Oxford plays at Imlay City in the South Central Ildiffer.

Saturday action has Cranbrook playing its opening game at Birmingham Groves, on the Seaholm ing New Boston Huron at Wisner and Ortonville traveling to Birch Run.

Four Suburban Catholic games will be played Sunday.

* * *

PCH will have its hands full against the Wolves, rated No. 4 in the first Associated Press poll. But the Chiefs were not supposed to win two years ago when Elmer Engel brought his charges to Pontiac. The Wolves were upset that night.

Kettering could be walking into a trap at Romeo. The Bulldogs of coach Ernie Maule were supposed to be way down this year, but rolled over Richmond 31-0 in a stunning upset last Friday.

Coach Jim Larkin of Kettering will have to get his offense clicking much better than against WTHS. The Captains sputtered on the ground — making most of their 54 yards rushing off the single wing.

Pass interceptions gave Kettering both touchdowns in its 13-12 win.

Waterford Township will be an underdog at Lapeer. The Skippers can expect plenty of difficulty from the Panthers who edged a good Mount Pleasant eleven, 8-7 last Friday. Lapeer is heavy favorite in the Tri-County and the outcome should be an indication of how Kettering will do against the Panthers later in the season.

Walled Lake, I-I favorite, plays host to Dearborn Lowry. The Vikings should have an easier time against this club than they did while outlasting Redford Union.

Farmington seeks its first victory at injury-riddled Plymouth. Berkley travels to Livonia Bentley and Southfield has a tough game at Ferndale.

The Rochester Falcons will have to continue their impressive play to get past Mount Clemens of the Eastern Michigan League. Coach Gene Konley's charges showed good scoring punch in the opening victory over Utica.

There are two top contests in the W-O. Milford travels to Clarkston with the winner gaining an edge in what is expected to be a three-way battle for third place before the season is over. Northville goes to Holly, the other squad seeking a high finish.

West Bloomfield, the defending champion, should pick up win No. 2 at home against Clarenceville and Bloomfield Hills will be a heavy favorite over Brighton when the teams tangle Friday afternoon on the Baron's field.

Lake Orion puts its Oakland B co-championship on the line for the first time against a good Troy ball club on the Dragons' gridiron. The Colts were very impressive in their opening triumph over Warren while the Dragons were being overpowered by Pontiac Northern.

* * *

Fitzgerald should get past Clawson on latter's field, but the Oak Park at Madison battle must be rated a toss-up.

Oxford can expect little mercy at Imlay. The Wildcats should be used to this, however, because of the 72-7 walloping suffered in the final game of the 1961 campaign. The Spartans administered that beating and will be waiting for Oxford again.

Farley Leads Senior Trials at Plum Hollow

C.J. Farley of East Grand Rapids, six-time Michigan Seniors champion, fired 37-40—77 Tuesday at Plum Hollow to set the pace in 18-hole qualifying rounds for the U.S. Senior Amateur golf tournament.

The 68-year-old Farley and Plum Hollow's Theodore Stilwell tied at 77, but business will prevent Stilwell from competing in the national tourney Oct. 2-7 at Southern Hills in Tulsa.

The remaining two qualifying spots went to Plum Hollow's Art Wittig and John Driver of Atlas Valley. Wittig shot 38-40—78 and Driver 39-40—79.

Southpaw George Haggarty, 1961 club champion at Bloomfield Hills, won the No. 1 alternate position by defeating Detroit Golf Club's Cornelius Boyle with a par on the 3rd extra hole of a sudden-death playoff after the two men deadlocked at 80. Haggarty posted 40-40 and Boyle 37-43.

Craft to Pilot Houston Entry

HOUSTON (AP)—Harry Craft, Houston's last minor league baseball manager, will lead the city into the major leagues.

Craft, 46, signed a two-year contract Tuesday, as field manager of the Houston Colts, a 1962 National League entry.

The terms of the contract were not announced.

* * *

Craft was summoned from the "brain trust" of Chicago Cubs coaches in mid-season to manage the American Association Houston Buffs.

He managed the Kansas City Athletics from the middle of 1957 until the end of the 1959 season, finishing seventh each year.

The Buffs were in fifth place in the association when Craft arrived July 16. They won 32 of their last 54 games to squeeze into fourth place and the league playoffs.

WAITING—Roger Maris has a grim look as he waits his turn at bat during the Yankees' doubleheader with Baltimore Tuesday night. The Yankee slugger has one game left in which to hit the two needed homers to tie Babe Ruth's record.

Maris in Final Act of 'Beat Ruth Play'

BALTIMORE (AP)—The backdrop for the last act tonight of Roger Maris in his saga of the home run is deserving of Broadway or Hollywood.

* * *

For what fiction writer would overlook the chance to stage it elsewhere than in the native city of the immortal holder of the endangered record, Baltimore's own Babe Ruth.

But beyond that, it is a city steeped in more than a century of baseball lore.

Whether Maris, a New York Yankee like Ruth, fails or breaks the Bambino's record of 60 homers, it will be a deserving chapter in a baseball history almost as old as the game itself.

Baltimore's first organized team was formed in 1858 only 20 years after Abner Doubleday is credited with inventing the sport.

Eight leagues and 102 years later, the city has left indelible marks in record books or memories.

* * *

The beloved of baseball, Babe Ruth, ironically is best remembered for being the forerunner of today's style of play — the long ball, sometimes referred to as "outside baseball."

It was "inside baseball," the game of strategy, for which Baltimore is best known among historians of the game.

Ruth himself made his professional debut in Baltimore by pitching a 6-0 shut out as a 19-year-old southpaw in 1914. He hit no homers in his only season with Baltimore in the International League that year.

* * *

Twenty-eight years before that, a 19-year-old named Matt Kilroy struck out 505 batters in a season while pitching for Baltimore, still an all-time baseball record.

Ten years later, Baltimore played Louisville in one of the three tripleheaders in history.

And Jim Bready, author of a book on Baltimore baseball history, claims the subject of the famous poem "Casey at the Bat" was a center fielder in Baltimore in 1884-85.

The "Orioles of the golden age" are in every baseball history book. This was the era when Baltimore won the National League pennant in 1894-95-96.

* * *

The individual names are a "who's who" baseball roll call. John McGraw, who later managed the New York Giants to 10 pennants; Wilbert Robinson, twice a pennant winner as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers; Willie Keeler, famed for "hitting them where they ain't;" Dennis Brouthers, who had a lifetime batting average of .348; Hughey Jennings who managed Detroit to three pennants, were only a few.

The late Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics was moved to comment, "The Orioles played the game like gladiators in ancient Roman arenas."

* * *

Baltimore's baseball interest survived in a drought of more than half a century without being in the major leagues. It lost a franchise in the American League in 1902 to the New York Highlanders—the present Yankees.

It was 1954 before the city returned to the same league with the franchise of the St. Louis Browns.

Another bowling season is under way and with it The Press resumes its annual column on keg doings.

Stories that ran in the sports section during the summer months covered some moves to improve things in this area by the Greater Detroit Bowling Association, high scoring including a 297 by Mike Nagel at Motor Inn on the opening league night, interesting team matches and a decision by Lou and Jay Koprince to open North Hill Lanes in Rochester in the near future.

Featuring latest reports to this corner are some surprisingly high scores for a new "house" at "300" Bowl and the starting of construction of a new Cooley Lanes in Union Lake.

The Ladies All Stars, Pontiac's first and oldest scratch loop for women is off to a big start. Helen Smith, 1960 city women's singles champion, hit 204-550. Marie Reynolds 206-536, Lucille Zorvan 201-536, Nancy Majeski 210-534 and Lois Enden 221-528. Al Bornak (GMC-Federal) tops the men there with 267.

Paul Rabaut, proprietor of the present 8-alley Cooley place, has announced the starting of work on a 16-lane establishment about 400 feet from his present location on Cooley Lake Road. "We hope to be ready for bowling about mid-November," Paul said. He says any leagues wishing to bowl a short season can do so there.

Rabaut reveals he will be the 1st in this area and the 2nd in the nation to have a new four-second jet air ball return. An automatic pin selector to help in practice will be another new feature. A cocktail bar, dining room and snack bar are also planned.

* * * *

Richard E. Spease, new administrator of the Oakland County Chapter of the National Foundation of the March of Dimes, is working on plans for a tourney in this sector to aid the fight against polio.

Joe Foster, Frank Spadafore and Jim Walker are among the team members on a Huron Bowl contingent in the Detroit All Star Classic. Local lady instructors Shirley Pointer of Huron and Mary Monroe of "300" are bowling in Motor City loops.

The West Side Ladies Classic is off to a close start with Randy West Hair Stylists and Team No. 7 heading the pack. Doris Lanktree has posted scores of 201-206-586, Jane Straka 212-547, Marguerite Young 530, Alma Bennett 522 and Lois Enden 208 and the West team 848-2505. They are bowling at Motor Inn while West Side is being repaired after a hummer fire.

SKIPPING AROUND

Don Carter, Ray Bluth, Billy Welu and Joe Joseph followed Dick Weber in the voting for bowler of the year by keg writers across the country. Five lists in 10 pro tourneys paced Weber over Carter by 32 votes. Marion Ladewig was 2nd to Shirley Garms among the women by only 24 votes.

GM Truck & Coach has seven leagues competing at four sites—"300", Lakewood Lanes, Pontiac Recreation and Sylvan Lanes . . . Most of the game's top names are entered in the Southern Match Game championships Sept. 23-26 at Nashville, Tenn.

The Hi-Lo League has been looking for lady bowlers to roll at Huron Wednesday nights. Call Alice Mack, secretary, at FE 2-6745 or president Viola Van Natter at FE 5-3490. There may still be some openings . . . ABC averages for 1960-61 show Bill Bull 209, Lloyd Hoover 202-203 and Hank Gnewek 203-206-213.

Proprietors, secretaries and all others in bowling are invited to contribute items for use in the 11th Frame.

MRS. WILLIAMS — Lee Howard, 36, a model, was married Tuesday to Ted Williams, 43-year-old retired Boston Red Sox slugger, in East Cambridge, Mass., district court clerk's office. The bride's parents live near Chicago.

Miller Poses as Miller at MSU and Duffy's Unhappy

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State had Doug Miller making like Ron Miller yesterday and football coach Duffy Daugherty didn't like the result.

* * *

Doug Miller, Spartan sophomore from East Lansing, was impersonating Wisconsin quarterback Ron Miller in the afternoon workout. He and Ken Bankey of Detroit, another sophomore quarterback, were running some Wisconsin plays against the top offensive and defensive units.

The plays were from Wisconsin's bag of tricks, picked up by scouts last year. They were among those that made the Wisconsin sig-nal-caller the top passer in the Big Ten.

The plays were going too well to satisfy Daugherty. The defense looked rusty and a lot more work was promised before the Spartans meet Wisconsin in their opener a week from Saturday.

The workout was the first of the afternoon—only sessions scheduled for the remainder of the season. There still will be limited hitting, Daugherty said, although an effort will be made to avoid injuries.

The top offensive and defensive units will scrimmage Saturday against reserves using Wisconsin plays. Assistant coach Vince Carilo, meanwhile, will be at Madison, scouting the Badger opener against Utah.

Draws Pole Position

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Lang Hanover's Ohio's chief hope in the 1961 Little Brown Jug, drew the pole position in the first division Tuesday for the $70,000 3-year-old pace Thursday.

The 16th edition of the Jug has attracted a record entry of 19 colts and fillies, exceeding by one the previous high in 1959.

Packer Lineman Lost

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Dave Hanner, defensive tackle for the Green Bay Packers, underwent an appendix operation Tuesday and will be out of action for several weeks.

Defenseman Jack Evans Tuesday became the 8th player to sign his 1961-62 contract with the Chicago Black Hawks.

Lighted Archery Range Ready at Perry Park

By DON VOGEL
Outdoor Writer, Pontiac Press

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac Parks & Recreation Department will open its archery range in Aaron Perry Park Thursday. The target area, located off Edison Street, is lighted for night use.

Archers using the facilities to sharpen their aim for the coming hunting season are requested, by recreation officials, not to use broad head arrows.

The lights will remain on each night until 10 p.m.

The Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club will hold a demonstration tonight at the community recreation building on Williams Lake Road in Waterford Township at 8 o'clock.

Registrations for dog obedience training classes will be taken by SMOTC members after the demonstration. There will be no instruction tonight and dog owners are urged to leave their pets home.

WORLD SERIES OF FISHING

Delaware County in Oklahoma will be the scene of the 1961 Fresh Water World Series of Sport Fishing.

Residents around Union Lake helped originate this international event last fall by hosting the opening and closing rounds of competition.

This year it will be held at Grand Lake O' the Cherokees Oct. 23-28. This is different than 1961 when the anglers competed twice on Union Lake and on different waters in Northern Michigan.

Things should be somewhat easier this time. The prime target will be black bass. Last year the fishermen competed for everything from bluegills to trout.

Hy Peskin, originator of the tournament, has moved from Bloomfield Hills and is now living in Monterey, Calif. He is executive director of the series.

There was so much bickering during the Michigan tournament that it is doubtful if this year's entry list will have the international representation needed to make it succeed.

True, a good number of anglers will appear from Mexico and points south, but the Europeans probably will stay home.

NEW CLUB ORGANIZED

The newly organized Ortonville Gun Club will stage a turkey shoot Oct. 8 behind Arnason's Trading Post on M-15. A new trap range is open and will be the scene of the shoot which starts at 10 a.m.

Joe French is president of the club. Peter Tandski is the secretary treasurer. Future plans call for rifle and archery ranges.

Dave Grubb sends word that he has opened a training kennel at his new home in Lake Orion. He has several dogs under instruction and plans to take his own field trial champions and two other dogs to the national championships in New York state next month.

Duck Hunter Decline Forecast for State

LANSING (AP) — If it's any consolation, the competition for shooting positions won't be as heavy as usual when the Michigan duck season opens its brief 30-day run Oct. 13.

The proportion of hunters who commit the violations and breaches of shooting etiquette that infuriate the experienced sportsman probably will be smaller, too.

When the U.S. Department of the Interior ordered the most restrictive duck hunting regulations in history last month, the automatic effect was to discourage a good many hunters from paying the $3 for duck stamps.

Merrill L. (Pete) Petoskey, waterfowl specialist for the State Conservation Department, predicts that no more than 60,000 stamps will be sold in Michigan this year. That would be a decline of nearly 30 per cent from last year and the lowest total in 25 years.

Sales hit a peak of 146,000 in 1955 and have been dropping ever since.

"With the bag limits set at two a day and four in possession, hunters won't be filling their freezers with ducks this year," said Petoskey. "It's likely that we'll see mostly the kind of hunter who goes out for the fun of it rather than for the meat he expects to bring home.

"More of them will be sportsmen first and hunters second—the kind who wait until a duck gets within easy shooting range before pulling the trigger, who take pride in being able to identify the various species and avoid shooting at those that are illegal targets.

"They'll also shoot only at male ducks, knowing that a female will produce a brood next year.

As every duck hunter knows by now, severe limits set this year stemmed largely from the worst drought to hit the "duck factories" of the northern plains states and the prairie provinces of Canada since the 1930s. In some years, the pothole country of that area produces two-thirds of the sport waterfowl population on the continent.

The drought this year reduced the number of potholes available for breeding waterfowl to an estimated 900,000, down from 5.5 million six years ago.

Combined with the dry spell as a hazard to migrating waterfowl is a steady growth in the number of hunters. There are more in the 14 states of the Mississippi Flyway today than there were in the whole country 25 years ago.

Another problem is a steady shrinkage in the number of potholes as farmers drain them for crop production.

Note Sharp Increase in Outdoor Activity

LANSING (AP) — Across the country, more people than ever are hunting and fishing, and the number is increasing about twice as fast as the population.

That's the report from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in its first national survey of fishing and hunting since 1955.

Fishing license sales have declined slowly but steadily for six years, dropping from 1,188,000 for residents, non-residents and temporary permits to 952,000 last year.

From 1946 to 1960, the period covered by the federal survey, small game license sales in this state fell from about 758,000 to 647,000.

New Fishing Laws Have Taken Effect

Michigan fishermen are advised that new laws went into effect last week removing the hook-and-line catch limit on perch and permitting the use of treble hooks.

Use of treble hooks may still be banned in waters designated by the Conservation Department during certain periods of the year. This restriction, aimed at protecting rainbow trout from snagging during the spring spawning season, affects no waters in the state during the remainder of 1961.

Exponents Preparing New Moves

Enough Quail in State for Season

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan hasn't had a quail season since 1911, but Conservation Department reports this year gave proponents of legalizing quail hunting some new ammunition for their battle.

"Biologically, we could support a quail season, but the public has been against it so the legislature has not passed laws allowing it," said Andrew Ammann of the department's game division.

During the 1961 legislative session, Rep. William C. Sterling D-Monroe, initiated a bill which would have allowed quail hunting in Berrien, Cass, St. Joseph, Branch, Hillsdale, Lenawee, Monroe, Jackson, Calhoun, Kalamazoo, Van Buren, Barry, Eaton, Ingham, Livingston, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and Wayne Counties.

The proposal survived committee perusal, but when it reached the floor, legislators, one by one, removed their respective counties because of public opposition to it.

Only two or three counties remained in the measure when it was withdrawn from consideration.

"Opposition to such proposals generally seems to come from bird lovers and farmers, who like to have quail around and believe a hunting season would result in too great a kill," Ammann said.

WINTER KILL

"The two or three winters previous to this last one, which was relatively light, resulted in about a 50 per cent reduction in the state's quail population—which we don't think any hunting season would cause," he said.

The 1961 quail whistling survey in Southern Michigan showed vast improvements in the population, Ammann said. The survey in 30 southern counties showed the population was up 42 per cent from last year.

"Actually, some states which have a quail season have less birds than Michigan," he said.

The farmer's sentiment against a quail season apparently stems from a fear of trespass problems as well as the fact that landowners believe quail don't do any harm and possibly do some good by eating certain insects.

"I guess they're afraid they'll lose all the birds if we have a season," Ammann said.

In 1911, when Michigan had an Oct. 15-Nov. 30 season, the daily limit was six birds, he said. The Conservation Department has the authority to establish an experimental season on any small game species at will, but a proposal for research hunting tests on quail two years ago was turned down by the Conservation Commission.

"We proposed at that time to open a limited experimental season at our Rose Lake experiment station, but it was not approved because of public opposition and a number of other reasons," the game division spokesman said.

Proponents of an open season on quail have tried for several successive years to get legislative approval, but failed.

GRADUAL CHANGE

"It's one of those things that has to come about gradually, I guess," Ammann said. If we break the ice with an experimental season one of these years, it will probably lead to a wider spread of quail hunting. We have no definite plans of new recommendations, however.

"All of our recommendations for hunting seasons are generally tied into the public sentiment on deer seasons—because deer licenses are our bread and butter," he said.

"And if we're at odds with the majority of the deer hunting public we generally try not to increase the antagonism because it would hinder us in the long run."

Ammann said the department was not likely to sponsor legislation in 1962 for a quail season, but it would approve of sportsmen's efforts to open one.

DSC Teams Win Three Crowns

Thiefels on Victorious Skeet Squad in Annual MUCC Squad Events

The Detroit Sportsmen's Congress won all three major team championships in the 13th annual Michigan United Conservation Clubs Skeet, Trap and Archery competition last weekend at Grand Rapids.

Shooting over the Kent County Conservation League ranges, the DSC skeet team of Howard Confer, Jack Pattyn, Neve Peressini and Chet Crites, all of Detroit, and Pontiac's Bob Thiefels broke 244 of 250 clay targets to win the championship.

The trap squad from Detroit Sportsmen's Congress also was first, Jack Heinberger of Rochester, Buck Heide, Dave Dunlap Sr., Dave Dunlap Jr., and Frank Dill, Utica gunners, clipped 237 x 250.

DSC archers made off with the bow and arrow title.

Confer won the individual skeet crown by breaking 50 straight in a four-way shootoff. Jeanne Shields of Grand Rapids was one of the gunners he bested.

Heide placed second in the trap competition.

There were 62 trap teams entered and 40 skeet squads. Thirty-five archery teams went to the line. About 300 shotgun shooters took part in the events.

Seeks Captive Duck Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department today proposed changes in regulations to give it more effective control over migratory birds held in captivity.

★ ★ ★

Mallards and black ducks raised in captivity and more than two generations removed from the wild could be possessed only under permit and would have to be marked so as to distinguish them from wild birds.

When so possessed and marked, such birds could be killed by shooting on commercial shooting clubs at any time and in any numbers.

Currently, such birds are not subject to federal regulations although they cannot be distinguished from wild birds of the same species, the department said.

Another change would require a $15 fee for the issuance of propagating and taxidermist permits. The department said this is proposed to permit the government to recover a portion of the cost of administering the permits.

★ ★ ★

The proposed amendments will be published in the federal register. Interested persons will be given until Oct. 15 to submit comments to the department.

Buys 1st Parks Bond

The first bond from Michigan's opening $2,000,000 bond issue to finance state parks improvements and land purchases has been sold to Conservation Commission Chairman Robert F. Brevitz of Battle Creek.

Governer's Plan for Recreation Shows Headway

Headway is being made in laying the groundwork for a coordinated master plan requested by Governor Swainson to chart Michigan's recreational development in line with future demands.

Conservation Department officials directed to formulate the plan reported that a series of meetings has been held in recent weeks with officials of various state agencies, groups, and organizations to discuss Gov. Swainson's 11-point recreational policy statement.

Within the Conservation Department, staff members are making an inventory of present recreational facilities under their administration. A hard look is also being given to future needs as projected from trends in recreational use.

Results of these meetings and surveys will be incorporated into the preliminary plan which is due for Gov. Swainson's consideration by Oct. 15.

Shorthaired Trial Set

The Michigan German Shorthaired Pointer Club will hold its annual field trial Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 at the Highland Recreation area. The closing date for entries is Sept. 25.

Fox Hunter Trials Scheduled at Lapeer

The Michigan State Fox Hunters Association Field Trial and Bench Show will be Friday, Saturday and Sunday in Lapeer.

Headquarters for the events will be the Center building on Elm Street. Entries will be accepted beginning at 7 p.m. Thursday.

The starting time for field trial will be 7 a.m. each day. The bench portion of the program will be at 8:30 p.m. Friday.

Registration Monday for Evening School

Registration will being Monday for the fall term of the adult education classes in the Pontiac Public Evening School, according to Richard C. Fell, director of vocational and adult education.

Registrations will be taken from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday, with additional registration hours 7 to 9 p.m., Thursday, in the Vocational Building at Central High School, 250 W. Huron St.

The usual classes in business education, foreign languages, vocational industrial education, arts and crafts, driver education, citizenship and Americanization, and classes for high school credits will be offered.

Most of the courses offered will be held on Wednesday or Thursday evenings. Registration fees vary from $3 to $25 for the semester starting Oct. 4 and ending Dec. 14, depending on the type of class and the number of sessions per term.

Courses offered this fall term are:

Wednesday — Accounting and bookkeeping, office machines, beginning shorthand, intermediate shorthand, advanced shorthand, beginning typing, advanced typing, Russian, French, Spanish, fundamental economics, beginning reading, public speaking, first aid and citizenship.

Thursday — Typing, business English, filing, retail selling, stocks and investments, cake decorating, photography, tailoring and dressmaking, copper enameling, ceramics, china painting, jewelry making, water color painting, oil painting and Americanization.

Vocation - industrial classes offered on Thursdays include automotive diagnosis and tune-up, shop mathematics, blue-print reading, tool and die design, drafting, sheet metal layout, electrical maintenance, machine shop, advanced projection and welding.

★ ★ ★

In addition, according to Fell, other classes will be organized if there is sufficient interest.

Pleads Guilty to Theft While Awaiting Trial

William O. Steele, an ex-convict who was awaiting trial for the $150 holdup of a Pontiac bar last month, will be sentenced Oct. 3 after he changed his plea to guilty yesterday before Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

★ ★ ★

Ex-Press Employe Puts Out Magazine

A former employe in The Pontiac Press editorial department is one of two publishers of "Impresario," a new magazine devoted to the performing arts in Detroit, slated to make its debut in October.

He is Stephen F. Booth, a partner with Granville C. Ryan in Booth-Ryan Associates of Detroit and Bloomfield Hills.

Besides local news, comment and criticism, the magazine will contain footnotes on New York and London theatrical events, as well as exclusive stories from Paris and Rome. Editor is Andy Wilson, formerly television editor of the Detroit Times.

Five Offered Low Figures

Open Twelve-Town Drain Bids

Fifty-three separate bids from 30 sewer construction companies were received in Pontiac yesterday as Oakland County drain officials began taking bids for the $43.5-million Twelve-Town Drain to serve Southern Oakland County.

★

Other bids will be received Sept. 22, 26 and 29 as Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry moves closer to the time the long-awaited drain will be built, expected now after the first of the year.

A. J. Berst, coordinator for the project, described yesterday's bids as "generally under the engineer's estimate."

Officials asked submission of construction bids by sections because of the size of the project and to allow those bidders failing on one day to submit a winning low bid to resubmit on another project on a subsequent day, Berst said:

150 ATTENDING

About 150 persons packed the supervisors room yesterday to hear the bids on the first six sections. Berst said five contractors were low bidders, with one contractor given the work on two sections and four others a section each.

★ ★ ★

Low bidders were Michigan Sewer Construction Co., Detroit; a combined venture of Rogers, Healey, Cargaro and Barton Malow, Detroit; Greenfield Construction Co., Detroit; Sugden, Inc., Detroit; and Chris Nelson & Son, Inc., Royal Oak.

"What we'll do is award all contracts after all the bids are in and subject to the sale of bonds on Dec. 1," Berst said.

Spanish Sculptor Dies

MADRID (AP)—Juan Cristobal, 84, Spanish sculptor, died Tuesday. His best known works include the statues of El Cid, legendary Spanish hero of the 11th century, in Burgos, and that of the late Dominican dictator Generalissimo Trujillo, in Ciudad, Trujillo.

'Nudies' Stir Ire of Hollywood

EDITOR'S NOTE—A rash of films featuring unclad women is drawing big crowds in major cities—and causing an uproar in the movie capital. Critics blame the film industry. The industry blames fly-by-night operators. Supreme Court decisions have freed theater owners from effective prosecution. There seems no stopping the "Nudies." AP columnist Bob Thomas explores the situation in three stories. The first follows.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The matinee audience at the Vista Theater consisted of 35 men, all of them sitting alone. A handful of others stood rather sheepishly in the lobby, eating popcorn and waiting for the program to begin.

First came the trailers. The next attraction was "Not Tonight, Henry," and there were brief shots of a burlesque comic ogling bare-breasted babes.

THOMAS

There was an ad for another theater that was playing something called "Erotica." This was pointedly billed as a sextette of films including "Nudists on the High Seas," "Naked Innocents" and "Bikini Busters." There was little evidence of bikinis or other clothing in the film clips.

The shorts title was "This Is My Body." A well-endowed model goes on a hike in the woods, takes a nude swim and lies on a hot rock. That's all.

The main feature was "The Immoral Mr. Teas," a humorless copy of the French "Mr. Hulot" films. It features a bearded delivery man who sees nude girls wherever he looks—in offices, at lunch counters, on the beaches and in the lakes. Swimming scenes are a must in these films.

The Vista Theater is not unique. A dozen theaters in the Los Angeles area are showing such films. Dozens more are showing them in virtually all major cities. Some are big downtown theaters, many are art houses in respectable neighborhoods.

The black-robed justices of the Supreme Court might blush to learn they are largely responsible. Their decisions proclaiming freedom of the screen have hamstrung authorities from censoring sex in films.

The major producers are hopping mad.

Says Paramount patriarch Y. Frank Freeman: "Unfortunately, everything done in Hollywood reflects on the motion picture industry. The public doesn't realize that these nude films are made by fly-by-night promoters who have no connection with the industry."

Despite their protests, the major producers continue to take the rap for the nude films.

The issue came to a head recently when the Los Angeles County supervisors urged closing of a neighborhood theater that had drawn complaints over its nude movies. One supervisor threatened withdrawal of county support for the $4-million movie museum.

That brought industry leaders streaming to the supervisors' meeting to proclaim innocence. The board removed the threat and appointed a clean-up committee headed by Freeman.

"Obviously these films are made for the purpose of attracting people on the basis of sensuality and sex," Freeman told this reporter. "This kind of problem has been going for 4,000 years. Frankly, I don't know what we can do about it."

Meanwhile, theaters like the Vista continue pouring forth a bountiful brood of bosoms and backsides.

Steel Shipments to Be Reduced

Industry Magazine Sees Steady Production Rise Despite Auto Unrest

NEW YORK (AP)—Auto industry unrest will cut deeply into September steel shipments but so far has not reduced steel production, The Iron Age said today.

The metalworking weekly estimated that even with a settlement of General Motors Corp. plant strikes this week some 190,000 cars would be cut from September production schedules.

"Furthermore, the possibility of similar local labor troubles at Ford and Chrysler cannot be dismissed," the magazine said.

It noted that some GM plants that have settled their local issues are prevented from operating by shutdowns at supplier plants.

The magazine said existing labor turmoil plus uncertainties of auto parts makers that have kept them from building up stocks of steel will "assure a first class scramble for tonnage" in the next two months, with automakers and suppliers pressing delivery demands.

"In spite of the confused auto picture, steel operations are in for a steady rise through the year and well into 1962," The Iron Age said.

Wants Parliament Back in Session

LONDON (UPI) — Opposition Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell asked Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today to call Parliament back from recess to discuss the international situation, political sources said.

Gaitskell asked for a two-day session next week, the sources said, after a meeting of top Labor party leaders known as the "shadow cabinet."

If this is not possible, the sources said, Gaitskell wanted the session held at least a week earlier than Oct. 24, the date Parliament is scheduled to return from its summer recess.

Labor party left wing members of Parliament have been demanding a special session for more than a month.

State Police Assigning 4 Dogs to Their Posts

EAST LANSING (AP) — Rex, Chip, Schuyler and Rip are being assigned to four strategically located state police posts Sept. 25, state police headquarters announced.

The four are German shepherds. They and their handlers — all state troopers — have completed three months of basic training at police headquarters, East Lansing.

One-Car Mishaps Most Puzzling, Official Claims

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The most puzzling traffic accidents in Michigan are those involving just one car, says a State Highway Department official.

Gerald J. McCarthy, department chief design engineer, told a University of Michigan conference that about one third of the state's traffic fatalities involve one car.

"It is interesting to note that nearly 70 per cent of these accidents in 1960 occurred on straight roads when skies were clear and the pavement dry," he said.

The number of one car accidents has been increasing at a faster rate than the accident total, McCarthy said. More than half happen at night and the highest kill is on weekends during July and August when traffic is heaviest, he said.

Prosecutor Is Missing With Papers on Swindle

MANILA (AP)—A special prosecutor of the department of justice, reported carrying papers involving a big government swindle, has been missing nine days, the government said today.

The prosecutor, Isidro Vejungco, was last reported seen on his way home from his office here Sept. 11.

Plate Fee Cash Down

LANSING (AP)—License plate fees so far this year total $68,090,430, the secretary of state's office reports. This is $270,184 less than during the same period last year although the 3,658,790 plates sold was 60,137 more than last year.

Took Insults in Fight for Peace

Hammarskjold Was Congo's Best Friend

(Editor's Note: Lynn Heinzerling won the Pulitzer Prize for international reporting this year for his coverage of the turbulent birth of the Congo as an independent nation.)

By LYNN HEINZERLING

BERLIN (AP)—The Congo has lost the best friend it ever had.

When U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold died in a plane crash in Northern Rhodesia he was on a mission he first undertook in July 1960—to safeguard the unity, territorial integrity and viability of a new and confused republic.

Hammarskjold took snubs, insults and vilification from the immature, helpless and self-seeking political leaders of the Congo. He did not move an inch from what he considered was his mandate from the United Nations.

Ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba and other Congolese leaders assailed the secretary general whenever they felt their own personal progress was being impeded.

Not one of them contributed as much toward making the tottering, backward jungle land a stable political state as Hammarskjold. He was far from completing his task in the Congo when he met his death.

Lumumba was most vociferous in denouncing Hammarskjold in the wild and dangerous days of 1960 until he found it necessary to seek U.N. protection.

Moise Tshombe, the Katanga leader now fighting the United Nations, opposed Hammarskjold from the beginning.

DENOUNCED POLICIES

Antoine Gizenga, the left-leaning Lumumba deputy who tried to set up a government in Stanleyville after Lumumba's death, questioned Hammarskjold's motives and denounced his policies.

Gen. Victor Lundula, once commander of the Congolese army, turned his back on Hammarskjold and permitted his troops to mistreat and beat up U.N. personnel.

Some members of the present government were publicly on record as opposing Hammarskjold. Even President Joseph Kasavubu opposed him at times.

The Congo, with more than a year of history, does not even have a legally adopted constitution. Only an outside organization of impeccable motives could hope to bring order out of the chaos which followed independence.

ON FAILING MISSION

It was ironical that at his death Hammarskjold was flying to a meeting with Tshombe which could have resulted only in failure. Hammarskjold never could have accepted Tshombe's views of Katanga's future in cease-fire discussions to halt the fighting between Katanga and U.N. forces.

From the beginning of the U.N. operation in the Congo, the international body's policy has been to treat Katanga as a province of the Congo. Without Katanga, the Congo does not make sense as an economic unit.

Without Katanga, the rest of the Congo almost inevitably would drift back into its tribal boundaries, a largely subsistence economy and its ancient feuds.

Hammarskjold's directives in the Congo were clear. The United Nations moved in to safeguard the unity and territorial integrity of the entire Congo. U.N. troops were on a peaceful mission to assist the progress of the new state. They were empowered to prevent civil war, by force if necessary as a final resort.

Circuit Court Jurors Face County's Heaviest Docket

The 84 women and 25 men will be asked to help trim down the heaviest criminal and civil caseloads ever accumulated in Oakland County.

Sixteen days—at $8 a day plus six cents a mile round trip for jurors—have been allotted to hear more than 300 criminal cases and about 250 civil cases.

The number of criminal cases ready for trial is expected to be cut down appreciably during three days of pre-scheduling conferences which began yesterday before presiding Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

The first day brought 18 guilty pleas thereby eliminating that number of trials.

Prosecutor George F. Taylor said the record load—the previous high was 175—was due to no jury term being held during the summer, some attorneys being out of town during the June term, and a concerted effort to handle first those accused in jail, thereby causing a backlog of those cases where the accused is out on bond.

Fifteen assistant prosecutors instead of the current 12 would help, Taylor added.

In the criminal docket a major case is the first-degree murder trial of Earl C. White, accused of the Jan. 21 shotgun shooting of his 29-year-old stepfather outside a New Hudson bar. This will be one of the first to be tried, Taylor said.

There's an abundance of cases involving bogus checks, larcenies and burglaries.

Assignment Clerk Louis E. Fairbrother said he hopes the jury can dispose of 250 of the 575 civil matters marked ready for trial. Most are negligent or accident cases and those involving collections.

Bodies of 2 Niles Men Found in U.S. 31 Wreck

NILES (UPI) — The bodies of two Niles men were found in the wreckage of a demolished car early today on a rural road, two miles east of U.S.31 in Cass County.

★ ★ ★

State police said Donald Gene Krisher, 33, the driver of the car, and Paul H. Hickey, 23, apparently died of injuries in a high-speed crash into a tree.

Must See Things Through in Congo, Williams Claims

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Asst. Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams says the United States must recognize the importance of "seeing things through to a successful conclusion" in the Congo.

"We have stated it as a cornerstone of our foreign policy that we hope for the peoples of Africa what we hope for ourselves in building and perfecting our own society," the former governor of Michigan stated in an address Monday night.

The assistant secretary for African affairs spoke before the Negro Trade Union Leadership Council. He stressed the need for help in building up strong and stable societies in Africa.

U. of M. Extensions Are Still Registering

Hunters for higher learning can still register with the University of Michigan extension service, even for classes which have already started.

Registration must be completed by the second class meeting. Beginning dates for the semester are scattered through September, ranging as late as Sept. 25 in some communities.

In Pontiac, courses are being taught at Northern High School, 1051 Arlene St. Registration will be taken in class.

Man Sentenced for Violation of State Probation

Raymond E. Schermerhorn's insistence that he was "prepared to go out in society and contribute to it" came a little late yesterday.

Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero sentenced the 31-year-old former Commerce Township man to 1½ to 15 years in Jackson Prison because he didn't live up to the terms of the three years probation he was given in June, 1959.

Schermerhorn had to be brought back from California. This was in violation of the terms of his probation he received for his part in the April, 1959, theft of a 700-pound safe from a Walled Lake auto dealership.

While in California he served time for passing bad checks.

Market Steadies but Deals Slow

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market steadied and displayed a mixed price pattern in slow trading early this afternoon.

A sizable gain by Du Pont early in the day helped rally the list which showed more losers than gainers in early trading.

Gains and losses of key stocks were mostly from fractions to about a point.

Trading was dampened by the Jewish holiday of Yom Kippur and also by continued suspense over the outcome of labor negotiations at General Motors. International uncertainties continued to throw a pall over Wall Street.

Big Three motors steadied. Non-ferrous metals, chemicals, airlines and tobaccos were higher on balance. Drugs and aircrafts were mostly lower.

★ ★ ★

Du Pont, up about 4 points, responded to overnight news that the House had adopted a bill which would give tax relief to Du Pont stockholders in the future distribution to them of Du Pont's vast holdings of GM shares. The rise of this blue chip greatly bolstered market averages.

Minor plus signs were displayed by GM, Ford and Chrysler. Studebaker-Packard continued active and fractionally higher.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregularly lower in quiet trading. Losses of a point or so were shown by Anken Chemical, Permian Corp., and Polarad Electronics. Northeast Airlines was about unchanged in light dealings despite news of a merger proposal. Empire National rose a point or more. Kawneer, Audio Devices and Standard Metals made moderate gains.

Prices Up Slightly in Slow Grain Trade

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices were slightly higher generally in rather slow early grain futures transactions today on the board of trade.

September rye, one of the strongest contracts the past several days, posted the broadest gain. It was ahead almost 3 cents.

Dealers said there was little commercial business and that a good deal of the volume was toward evening up positions in the September contracts on which trading ends today.

To Study Charge Pentagon Bans Anti-Red Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Armed Services Committee voted today to investigate the basis for charges by Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., that the Pentagon bans anti-Communist statements by military personnel.

The committee, meeting behind closed doors, adopted a resolution calling the inquiry a study and appraisal.

But Thurmond told reporters "I'm satisfied."

He said there have been interpretations that the word study is synonymous with investigation.

★ ★ ★

Thurmond has rejected the idea of anything less than a full-scale investigation

★ ★ ★

Members of the committee told reporters the inquiry will be handled by a subcommittee appointed or designated by Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga.

Waterford Area Plans Volleyball, Chess Programs

Two new programs — women's volleyball league and chess — have been added to the Waterford Township Department of Recreation schedule.

★ ★ ★

Response from various subdivisions for the volleyball league spurred the organization of the activity. Five women's teams have registered. Recreation director Robert Lawyer said he hopes at least three more teams will sign up.

Games will be played Monday evenings for a fee of $2.50 per person. The first night of play will be set at a manager's meeting in the near future.

Individuals interested in playing chess have been asked to call the recreation office. Lawyer explained that this activity would be on a club level with members who have some knowledge of the game. Instruction will not be given.

★ ★ ★

"It is the department's hope this will bring chess players together from various parts of the township and surrounding area," Lawyer said.

Rochester Firm Reports Earnings

Earnings of 81 cents a common share are reported by President Carlton M. Higbie Jr. of Higbie Manufacturing Co., Rochester, for the fiscal year ended July 31, 1961.

★ ★ ★

This compares with $1.18 paid per common share in 1960.

Higbie said net sales in 1961 were $6,696,684 against $7,512,404 in 1960; net earnings after federal income tax: $292,156 in 1961 against $458,515 in 1960. Outstanding by July 31 this year were 357,603 common shares.

Fallout Shelter Firm to Attend CD Conference

The Family Fallout Shelters, Inc., of Pontiac will be among manufacturers and installation engineers from throughout the country attending the national conference of Office of Civil Defense Mobilization Sept. 28 at the Hotel Bismarck in Chicago.

The conference is to help solve many serious problems being encountered since the sudden upsurge in demand for fall-out and blast protection.

Hearings Set Oct. 24 Over Glenwood

The way was cleared for public hearings on the city's proposed vacating of five parcels of land for Glenwood Shopping Plaza expansion at last night's City Commission meeting.

★ ★ ★

Acceptance of recommendations from the City Planning Commission to vacate the property was deferred last week until proper legal descriptions of the land could be drawn up.

At last night's meeting, all five recommendations were accepted. A public hearing on each resolution to vacate was scheduled for Oct. 24.

Resolutions propose the vacating of a 20-foot alley across the proposed Glenwood Shopping Plaza area, Grandview Boulevard, Paddock to Montclair; Omar Street, 100 feet south of Grandview; Gilmour Street, from Grandview south and westerly to within 150 feet of Paddock; and McGregor Avenue, from Gilmour west to within 150 feet of Paddock.

An ordinance to rezone from residential to commercial the area surrounding these streets was introduced following acceptance of the vacating reports.

HEARING OCT. 10

The commission scheduled a public hearing on the rezoning ordinance for Oct. 10. Rezoning of the area, some nine acres, was okayed by planners two weeks ago.

Barring any major protest to the change, the ordinance will be approved at the Oct. 10 meeting.

The shopping center, part of which is already under construction, is located just east of Perry Street on Glenwood Avenue.

Also introduced last night was an ordinance to rezone a lot at 650 Joslyn Ave. from residential to commercial for use as a parking lot. It will also come up for public hearing Oct. 10.

PETITION ACCEPTED

A petition signed by 74.5 per cent of affected property owners, requesting that eight lots on Cass Avenue north of Wisner Street be rezoned, was accepted and forwarded to the planning commission.

The owner, Manley Young, who owns and operates Art Metal Platers, 61 Short St., in back of the Cass property, is asking that the land be rezoned from Residential-1 to Commercial-2.

Five public hearings were held last night with only one meeting any opposition.

A proposed reconstruction and grade change of a sidewalk at the corner of Willard and Jessie streets was protested by several property owners on Willard. Others also appeared to voice approval of the project.

Work is proposed on Willard from Jessie west to the west line of lot 99 and on Jessie to a point 101 feet north of Willard.

FOR AND AGAINST

Property owners objected that changing the level of the sidewalk and moving it closer to the street would create too steep a grade in their front lawns. Others claimed the change was needed because the sidewalk was so high they couldn't get in their driveways during icy weather.

Commissioners considered the hearing held and deferred any commission action until a public hearing on the special assessment roll slated for next Tuesday.

There were no objections during hearings on the city's intent to replace a sidewalk on both sides of Hopkins Street, from Baldwin to the first alley west; blacktopping of Manitou Road, Navajo to Ottawa Drive; and curb and gutter work, to Steinbough Court, Augusta to State.

Public hearings on the special assessment rolls for all three projects were scheduled for Sept. 26.

A public hearing on the special assessment roll for construction of a water main in Home Street, from an existing main to one in Poplar Street, was also held with no objections.

Special assessments were confirmed in two payments for grade, gravel and related work completed on Howard McNeill Street, Gillespie to Warner; and in five payments for curbs and gutters on Monticello Avenue, Oakland to Orlando.

SEPT. 26 HEARING

Commissioners accepted estimates of the city engineer on two proposed sidewalk projects and stated public hearings on the city's intention to do the work for Sept. 26.

One involves changing the grade and building a new sidewalk on the north side of E. Wilson Street from lot 327 to 351. Total cost is estimated at $5,673.48.

The city's cost is estimated at $4,332.43 with the property owners paying $1,280 in special assessments.

The other estimates concern sidewalk construction on Inglewood Avenue, Oakland to Monticello with the exception of 30 feet in front of Lot 27 in Dixieland subdivision.

Total cost is set at $8,626.48, with the city's share estimated at $4,839.28 and $3,787.20 coming from assessments to property owners. For both projects the estimated assessed cost for an 80-foot lot is $40.

Commissioners okayed a request from Robert O. Rivest that Lawrence H. Stowe be added as a partner on his Class C and SDM license and the license be transferred from 837 Baldwin to 849 Baldwin.

L. E. Jolls Named to Control Post by Ford Motor

The speaker will be Robert E. Coleman of S. B. Whittier and Sons, Inc. The meeting starts with a social hour at 5 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m. at the Waldron Hotel, 36 E. Pike, Pontiac.

Ervin C. Richards of 76 Seminole, Pontiac, is program chairman, assisted by Lorne W. Swartz of 851 S. Squirrel Road, Auburn Heights.

Other officers are: Chairman Charles T. Gaffney of 2844 Sylvan Shores, Pontiac; First Vice Chairman Walter Morris, 1677 Willowood, Rochester; Second Vice Chairman Albert Post of 1253 Randall Beach, Lake Orion; Secretary George Freeman of 2482 Thomas, Berkley, and Treasurer Robert Grant of 369 Gallogly Road, Pontiac.

Tot's Face Cut in Car Accident

An 18-month-old girl suffered multiple cuts on her face yesterday when her mother's car crashed into a tree in Commerce Township, near their home.

The tot, Toni Clem of 676 Adelaide Drive, was listed in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

She went partially through the windshield of the car when it slammed into the tree alongside Newton Road.

The 21-year-old mother, Mrs. Anthony Clem, was released yesterday from the hospital after being treated for minor injuries.

She told sheriff's deputies the car's steering mechanism failed. Officers noted a broken steering rod on the car.

News in Brief

Theft of a telephone, $12 worth of electrical wire, and a fuse box worth $16 from a house at 3097 Simmons Court, Pontiac Township, was reported to the sheriff's department yesterday.

Rummage sale, Sept. 22 and 23, Fri. and Sat., 8 a.m. 2 S. Saginaw.

Vatican May Act Against Castro

Waits for Word From Deported Bishop Before Making Decision

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Vatican today waited for direct word from a deported Cuban bishop to determine if the latest anti-religious act of Fidel Castro's regime warranted the church's sternest spiritual penalty.

The Vatican City newspaper Osservatore Romano warned Tuesday night that the expulsion of Msgr. Edmardo Boza Masvidal and 136 priests "cannot leave insensible those who still have at heart the reasons of justice and freedom."

The Vatican radio said the Cuban regime had taken upon itself "a very grave responsibility before its people and above all before God."

* * *

The warnings were considered by church sources as the possible forerunner to more drastic action, including excommunication of Castro and other Cuban leaders if they are responsible for the actions against the church.

Waterford Offering Education for Adults

If enough interest is shown in nine classes in adult education in Waterford Township the courses will be put into operation Tuesday, Sept. 26, according to director Byron J. Merritt.

Classes will be held 7 to 9:30 p.m. for 10 weeks with a registration fee of $7 per course.

Available courses include auto mechanics (beginning); ceramics and painting; introductory drafting; beginning conversational French; furniture construction and refinishing; advanced sewing; beginning sewing; beginning typing; typing and office machines.

MERCURY STYLE CHANGE—Dramatic new rear view design of the 1962 Mercury Monterey borrows from the jet age with cone-shaped taillights on new designed rear fenders. Shown here is the new Monterey Custom series in a four-door hard-top model. Nine transmission combinations are available with four engines.

MONTEREY CUSTOM SERIES—Introduction of a new Custom series (shown here) and extensive styling improvements distinguish the Mercury Monterey for 1962. The roof of all Mercury Montereys is four inches longer. The front is marked by a new aluminum grille. Both standard and Custom series offer four-door sedans, two and four-door hardtops, and six- and nine-passenger four-door station wagons.

Line Shows Extensive Changes

Monterey Adds Custom Series

The addition of a new Custom series to its Monterey line marks the big news for the Mercury line of 1962.

* * *

The Monterey, with extensive styling changes and new luxury interiors, is the top entry in a wide range of products for Mercury's new year.

The Mercury name banner includes the Monterey, the compact Mercury Comet and the new standard-size Mercury Meteor to be offered later in the year.

The two early 1962 models will be in the showroom of Lloyd Motors, Inc., 232 S. Saginaw, Sept. 29.

* * *

The Monterey offers 12 models in the standard and new Custom series. They are lengthened one very grave responsibility before its inch over last year to 215½ inches, but the wheelbase remains 120 inches.

DRAMATIC STYLING CHANGE

Most dramatic styling change is in the rear view where cone-shaped taillights are repositioned on newly designed fender panels. The front is marked by a new aluminum grille. Sides differ in sheet metal lines and trim.

The roof is four inches longer, extending forward to provide better headroom and eyeshade.

Cost of ownership will be reduced by increasing oil change cycle from 4,000 to 6,000 miles, extending the life of radiator coolant to take care of anti-freeze protection for two years, installation of a new 60,000-mile, replaceable fuel filter, prelubrication of chassis at the factory to last 30,000 miles, and use of regular-grade fuel on all but the highest compression engine.

* * *

Four engines are available. A six-cylinder engine with 223-cubic-inch displacement and 138 horsepower offers maximum economy for the standard Mercury Monterey. Overhead valve V-8 engines available: 292 cubic inches with 172 horsepower, 352 inches with 220 horsepower and 390 cubic inches with 300 horsepower.

* * *

"Cushion-link" suspension, allowing wheels to move rearward as well as upward under road shocks, will be featured in both Monterey series.

U.S. Plane to Carry Day's Body Home

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United Nations is sending a plane to Ndola, Northern Rhodesia, to fly the body of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold back to Stockholm, a spokesman said Tuesday night.

* * *

The plane also will carry home the bodies of other Swedish victims of the plane crash that took Hammarskjold's life. It will leave Ndola Friday or Saturday.

Eisenhower Guards Self Against Crackpots

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower now packs a pistol. He explains that since's he's no longer heavily body-guarded, he carries his own protection against cranks and crackpots who worry him in these tense times.

WILSON

"I'd better call my bride—or I'll get clobbered," said Dick Powell, over dinner at the Tower Suite. June Allyson, tired from the trip from L.A., had gone to bed early in their hotel suite. June's well-known deep voice has gone 'way, 'way up since her throat operation. "She hasn't been well enough to do a spot on my new TV series," Dick said, "but she's got to do one—because she's a stockholder in the company."

With $150,000 of his own and friends' money in "Let It Ride," George Gobel's using some of his TV monologue technique to strengthen the show, now in Philadelphia. Comedian-writer-play doctor Ronnie Graham wrote a Gobel monologue just inserted last night.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: An intellectual is someone who goes into the library even when it isn't raining.

Hot weather dialogue. "Boy, I wish it would snow" . . . "Oh, no, it's too hot to start shoveling" . . . That's earl, brother.

Praises Plans for Con-Con

MSU President Meets With House Unit, Other Delegates on Convention

LANSING (AP)—"Very sensible people," is the way Michigan State University President John A. Hannah described members of the Constitutional Convention preparatory commission.

* * *

Hannah and several other Con-Con delegates met Tuesday with the House Interim Committee on the Constitutional Convention headed by Rep. Wilfred G. Bassett, R-Jackson.

Bassett said purpose of the meeting was to find out how his committee could help the convention.

Delegates present expressed satisfaction with advance plans for the convention.

Questioned on housing, Hannah said he thought there would be enough hotel and motel rooms available in the Lansing area to take care of the Con-Con delegates as well, as the legislature.

If the convention works hard, he said, it should be possible to complete the job of framing a new constitution in less than seven months.

Bassett promised to look into the matter of making bill-drafting services of the Legislative Service Committee available to the convention.

* * *

This was suggested by former State Treasurer D. Hale Brake. Brake also asked if the legislative committee could draw up a list who have worked for the legislature and might be available for the duration of the convention.

U.S. Combines Army, Air Units

McNamara Calls Move 'Major Step Forward' in Combat Readiness

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon has welded into a unified land-air team 115,000 troops of the Strategic Army Corps and the Tactical Air Command with its 1,800 planes.

* * *

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced the Unified command—under an Army general—at a news conference Tuesday.

The joining of the "fire brigade" Army group and the tactical air units has been under study for many months. McNamara said the decision to establish the command was made by President Kennedy and was based on studies made by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and on McNamara's recommendations.

* * *

The Pentagon chief said he looks on the unification of these ground and tactical air forces as a "major step forward" in achieving combat readiness.

Designated to lead it was Lt. Gen. Paul Dewitt Adams, commanding general of the 3rd Army with headquarters at Ft. McPherson, Ga.

Overshoots Runway

DUBLIN (AP) — A chartered airliner carrying 69 Irish pilgrims home from Lourdes, France, overshot Dublin airport Tuesday night in a heavy rain storm. Pilgrims and the four crewmen got out of the plane, shaken but unhurt. The plane was badly damaged.

GM, Union Race Clock in Detroit

End Pontiac Motor Strike

Struggle to Find Key to Contract for 350,000

Both Sides Indicating They Expect Settlement and Not Stalemate

DETROIT (UPI)—General Motors and the United Auto Workers today reached final agreement on a new national contract to pave the way for a quick end to the 10-day strike that has crippled the largest of the nation's automakers.

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. and United Auto Workers Union bargainers, racing the clock against a third deadline in three weeks, struggled today to wrap up a new three-year contract for GM's 350,000 production workers.

There still was no agreement as weary negotiators went on with almost continuous bargaining. But representatives of both sides, emerging from time to time, gave every indication they anticipated settlement, not stalemate.

The new deadline is 2 p.m. today. The around-the-clock bargaining sessions started at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The UAW made GM its target for a pattern-setting contract it will take to Ford and Chrysler with demands that these other members of the automotive Big Three match or beat it. While concentrating on the world's No. 1 automaker, the union has let Ford and Chrysler negotiations slide.

Today's deadline is the scheduled meeting of the UAW General Motors Council.

The council can accept or reject whatever settlement is reached and it could authorize local unions to continue crippling strikes supporting at-plant working agreement demands or it could, in the absence of complete agreement at the national level, call a nationwide walkout.

Local-level working agreements, which supplement a national contract, had stymied national-level bargaining since Sept. 11 when the UAW authorized local unions to walk out in support of their at-plant demands.

Progress was slow and gradual over the first several days, but the tempo picked up Tuesday with the new deadline approaching.

21½-Hour Talks Produce Pact

The strike is over at Pontiac Motor Division.

United Auto Workers picket lines, that had surrounded the division's gates for nine days, dissolved and moved quietly away in the early dawn as word came that a settlement had been reached.

Management and union negotiators, in a determined effort to break a deadlock over local seniority issues, walked out from a 21½-hour bargaining session at 6:30 a.m. with a new contract in their pockets.

The issue over seniority rights was broken at about 5 a.m. Other smaller issues were cleaned up. Then the strike was over for some 9,000 UAW employes at Pontiac Motor.

"We are pleased that a settlement has been reached between Pontiac Motor and the union and we intend to resume production as soon as possible," said S. E. Knudsen, GM vice president and general manager of the division.

"We are recalling several hundred hourly rated employes to make initial preparations for full scale production," he said.

"However, no definite time for resumption of manufacturing operations has been determined. Areas where employes are returning to their jobs include engineering, maintenance and the sheet metal die room," Knudsen concluded.

The agreement was described as fair and acceptable by both sides.

"We feel we made substantial gains in our local demands," said Cecil C. Mullinix, president of Pontiac Motor UAW Local 653.

"We will retain all our local seniority rights and we feel we got a good relief time agreement," he added.

* * *

The union had demanded no change in the plantwide seniority system in its old contract.

Mullinix said other minor issues involved clothing and coveralls for employes and restoring a Thursday payday for afternoon shift employes.

The local will hold a membership meeting to ratify the new local contract terms soon, he said, but no date or place has been set.

PRAISE FROM KOREN

Acting Pontiac Police Chief Joseph Koren praised both sides for keeping peace at the picket lines during the strike which began Sept. 11.

"The people on both sides of the fence conducted themselves in an orderly manner. There were no incidents reported to us," he said.

Lapeer Plant Gutted by Fire

Damage Estimated at More Than $500,000; Firm Employed 52

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a Lapeer plastic company early today causing more than $500,000 damage.

Destroyed was the Lapeer Plastic Fiber Co. plant at 97 Fair St., about five blocks north of the downtown business district.

* * *

The firm had been in Lapeer less than a year and employed 52 workers.

According to firm officials, contents were valued at $250,000 and the building, leased from the Mount Clemens Metal Products Co., was of the same value.

Lapeer firemen said the blaze was out of control when they arrived at the scene minutes after it was discovered at 3:15 a.m.

Two boxcars on a railroad siding adjacent to the large plant also were destroyed by fire.

* * *

Fire Chief Matthew Dougherty said the destruction caused by the blaze likely would prevent any determination of the cause.

Investigation at the scene, however, was to continue today.

Big Blow Coming

HURRICANE FLAGS — Over the bow of a sailing ship dry-docked near Morehead, N.C., flags fly warning area residents of the coming of Hurricane Esther. The storm is veering north and is expected to strike hard at the New England coast late today or Thursday.

New England Awaiting Whim of Mighty Esther

NAGS HEAD, N. C. (UPI)—Hurricane Esther barely brushed North Carolina's protective Outer Banks island chain today and swept north with its 130-mile-an-hour winds. Residents of the Atlantic Coast from New Jersey to New England braced for the worst.

Hurricane warnings were lowered south of Hatteras, N.C., and the Weather Bureau said they may be lowered as far north as the Virginia Capes in a matter of hours although weathermen warned residents not to let down their guard.

At 9 a.m. (Pontiac time) hurricane warnings still were displayed from Hatteras to the Virginia Capes and a hurricane watch went up from the Capes to Massachusetts.

The Washington Weather Bureau said in its 9 a.m. advisory that Esther was expected to continue in a northerly direction about 14 miles an hour for the next 12 to 18 hours at the same size and intensity—big and mean.

At 9 a.m. the storm's eye was located about 140 miles east-northeast of Cape Hatteras, at latitude 37.6 north, longitude 73.1 west.

Should the storm hit the New York-New England area it probably would strike late today or Thursday, anniversary of a Sept. 21, 1938 hurricane that swept across Long Island into New England, killing 550 persons and causing $500 million property damage.

The Washington Weather Bureau's emergency warning service said it was still too early at midmorning to predict where or whether the storm would hit land but indications were for a continued northerly movement.

Warm Weather Will Continue Through Friday

Temperatures will continue warm through Friday but will turn cooler late Saturday, the weatherman said.

Tonight's low will dip to 58. Thursday's high will rise to near 85.

For the next five days temperatures will average 2 to 4 degrees above the normal high of 69 to 73 and normal low of 48 to 51. Precipitation will average one half to three quarters of an inch in showers Saturday through Monday.

Morning southerly winds at 2 miles per hour will become southeasterly at 10 - 18 m.p.h.

FRIENDS MEET — Rt. Rev. and Mrs. Ivol I. Curtis of Los Angeles, Calif. (left) and Mrs. Arthur Robertson of 78 Washington St. ran into each other on the street of shops in front of the red and gold temple from Taiwan at the 60th General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church being held in Detroit's Cobo Hall. Bishop Curtis, a former rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, Williams at West Pike Streets, was pastor to Mrs. Robertson's family.

Episcopal Bishops Weigh Issue

Crucial Test Nears on Merger

DETROIT (AP)—A crucial test neared today on a monumental proposal for uniting four major Christian denominations into a single church "truly catholic, truly reformed and truly evangelical."

The House of Bishops at the triennial General Convention of the Episcopal Church set a full day of sessions for action on the matter.

"We're in for considerable debate on it," said Bishop Henry I. Louttit, of Orlando, Fla., chairman of the House's Committee for Dispatch of Business.

Before the church-governing conclave is a recommendation by its unity commission to approve merger negotiations with the United Presbyterians, Methodists and the United Church of Christ. Altogether, they have nearly 26 million members.

Moves also were afoot to include the Polish National Catholic Church.

CHURCH HOLDS KEY

Whether the historic plan actually gets under way hinges heavily on action by the Episcopal Church, which clings to ancient catholic concepts not found in the other strictly Protestant bodies.

* * *

Anglo-Catholic "high church" forces have mounted a full-scale assault on the plan, saying it would mean "sacrifice of essential principle," concerning the church's sacraments and historic succession.

Episcopalians trace the ordination of their bishops and clergy back to the Apostles through the "laying on of hands" from one generation to another, and stress Christ's real spiritual presence in the Lord's Supper.

These are Catholic qualities, not characteristic of Protestantism generally. But Episcopalians also hold to Protestant traditions, such as democratic church government and the Bible as the rule of faith.

Many top Episcopal leaders, including the presiding bishop, the Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, have urged launching of the merger negotiations, expressing hope the difficulties could be overcome.

"It may be the Lord's will for a large portion of His church," says the Rt. Rev. Leland Stark, of Newark, N.J. "It might make for the healing of division in Christendom."

* * *

The United Presbyterian Church outlined the proposal officially last spring at the suggestion of its chief officer, the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake.

His plan also called for including any other churches besides the four that were willing to enter the broad scale reunion effort.

Assembly Quickly Elects Mongi Slim as President

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly quickly elected Tunisian delegate Mongi Slim as its president today, but no agreement was in sight on the critical problem of choosing a successor to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

The moderate North African received all 96 votes cast after Indonesian Ambassador Ali Sastroamidjojo had withdrawn from the race. He took over the chair from the outgoing president, Frederick H. Boland of Ireland.

Slim referred immediately to the death of Hammarskjold, which has overshadowed the normally routine organizational procedure at the opening meetings.

"The shining example that Mr. Hammarskjold has given us should be an inspiration to all of us in this assembly," Slim said.

Slim is expected to play a major role in the efforts now going on to work out a temporary arrangement to keep the office of secretary general operating.

COOL TO IDEA

Western diplomats have been pushing a move to have him chosen as interim secretary general, but he is reported cool to the idea.

Boland also has been urged to take over the post, but he also is said to be reluctant.

Whatever temporary arrangement is made, diplomats believe, probably will have to be done without Soviet support.

* * *

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko indicated Moscow will settle for nothing less than a three-man secretariat to control the world organization.

Under the stopgap plan, the U.N. General Assembly would name an interim secretary general to fill the position left vacant by Hammarskjold's death. The West and many neutrals rallied to the support of the proposal.

Soviet opposition heightened fears that the entire question of selecting a new secretary general

Pays Tribute at Bier of Hammarskjold, Says 'Offer Solution'

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia (UPI)—Katanga President Moise Tshombe gave the United Nations an ultimatum today to come up with new proposals by nightfall to end the fighting in his rebel province of the Congo.

Even as he spoke here after paying his tribute at the bier of the late U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, a broadcast by "Radio Free Katanga" said Central Congolese government troops had moved into Katanga to help U.N. forces overthrow Tshombe.

"The United Nations must decide immediately," Tshombe told newsmen as he stood on the steps of the church where Hammarskjold's body lay in state.

"It is the force which has massacred my people. We are waiting now for counterproposals from New York (U.N. Headquarters). But I am returning to Katanga tonight, whatever happens."

In previous statements, Tshombe and his ministers have demanded that the United Nations withdraw its troops from Elizabethville, if not from all Katanga.

Tshombe's statement came at the end of the second day of ceas-

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will meet Thursday in the first of a series of showdown talks on the crucial East-West dispute over Berlin and the parallel crisis in the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

Rusk is reported to have decided on a stern approach to the talks, including a warning to the Soviet government against believing that the United States and its Allies will be bluffed or frightened into surrendering their Berlin rights or their Stake in the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

The secretary is said to believe that the choice of war or peace over Berlin is now up to Premier Khrushchev and that a soft approach to Gromyko, centered on an appeal for cooperation in working out the world's problems, might do more harm than good.

ASKED TO LUNCH

When Rusk and Gromyko attended the brief opening session of the United Nations General Assembly Tuesday, U.S. diplomat Charles E. Bohlen extended through Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin an invitation for Gromyko to lunch with Rusk Thursday.

★ ★ ★

U.S. authorities discouraged speculation that the first meeting would lead to any concrete results. They expect a series of talks while the two foreign ministers are in New York during the next week or so. They were not optimistic about any better U.S.-Soviet understanding even at the end of the series.

★ ★ ★

These informants said the Soviet government has shown no sign whatever of easing its pressures on Berlin or modifying its essential demands for a change in the structure of the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

Gromyko, in fact, made clear to newsmen Tuesday that he intends to take advantage of the situation created by the death of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to insist on acceptance of the Soviet Union's "troika" proposal.

WANTS 'TROIKA'

Under this plan, Hammarskjold would be succeeded by a three-man board—"troika" means three in Russia. Each of the three, a Westerner, a neutral and a Communist—would have a veto power over the functioning of the U.N. administration.

★ ★ ★

The Western powers and many other U.N. members rejected the "troika" last year when it was first presented by Khrushchev. The West said he wanted to cripple the United Nations, and that view is unchanged.

Due to the tragic death of Hammarskjold, the Soviet Union is now in position to cripple U.N. operations anyway, except for one possibility. The United States and its allies, with some support from other nations, believe that the General Assembly, where the Soviet Union has no veto, can assume the power to make temporary arrangements for an official to carry on Hammarskjold's work.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson conferred Tuesday with Ambassador Mongi Slim of Tunisia, the prospective new president of the General Assembly. Rusk and Stevenson and some other delegates would like Slim to assume Hammarskjold's duties in addition to those of the assembly presidency. He was reported reluctant to undertake such a task in the face of Soviet opposition.

Khiari followed up with a statement of his own.

"I cannot say whether we are any closer to or further from a cease fire at this stage," he said. "It was the wish of the secretary general that we should bring an end to this stupid struggle, and that is what we are trying to do."

He said he had no fixed time to leave the Ndola talks, saying that "Maybe I'll go tomorrow or maybe the day after."

★ ★ ★

The claim by Radio Free Katanga followed unconfirmed reports that troops of Congolese Deputy Premier Antoine Gizenga had penetrated Katanga from his neighboring Oriente Province stronghold.

The broadcast alleged that troops of the leftist Gizenga went into action "under the orders of an Indian commander" in the Kongolo-Nyunzu area of North Katanga.

★ ★ ★

The clandestine station also said Katangese troops still had a U.N. detachment of Swedish, Irish and Indian troops encircled at the strategic Kamina base in Northern Katanga.

East Berlin Uses New Wall Move

BERLIN (UPI) — The Communists today started clearing East Berliners out of their homes along the barricaded border dividing this city, West German police reported.

They said East German police (VOPOS) sent a fleet of furniture trucks to blocks of flats along Harzerstrasse where the line of buildings marks the border and began moving out people and their furniture.

The doors and first and second floor windows of the apartments facing West Berlin had been sealed with stones and cement weeks ago to prevent refugees from fleeing to the West, but still they continued to break through. Another 18 made it during the night.

It has been predicted that the Communists eventually will evacuate an area of East Berlin along the whole 25-mile border with West Berlin.

Tuesday night, the VOPOS were ordered to act "without pity" against West Berliners who come close to the concrete and barbed-wire dividing wall.

AFTER CLAY ARRIVED

The man who broke the Communist blockade of Berlin in 1948-49 received a roaring welcome from Berliners and gave them a big morale lift.

The Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland today labeled Clay as "the NATO spearcarrier" and said he was sent to Berlin "to try to repair the trigger-mechanism of the Nazi generals' atom war which was put out of order on Aug. 13."

That was the day the Communists started building their Berlin dividing wall.

Neues Deutschland said that as a result of such "provocations" as sending Clay to Berlin and the flight of two West German fighter planes over East Germany last week, the Communists would take new military measures.

★ ★ ★

"Today the volkskammer (parliament) will consider and pass the law for the defense of the German Democratic Republic," it said. "With it we will manifest before all the world that we will not fail to make the wall, behind which we shut up the aggressors in August, insurmountable."

★

West German military sources said they believed this meant East Germany would start drafting civilians into the military because its volunteer program had failed.

would wind up in an East-West deadlock, leaving the U.N. administration without a leader.

SHROUDED IN GLOOM

News of the Soviet stand plunged delegates into gloom as the 99-nation assembly got down to business Tuesday.

The assembly met for only four minutes in tribute to Hammarskjold.

The battle lines were drawn Tuesday night when Gromyko told newsmen his government would not agree to any one man serving as secretary general even in an interim capacity.

"Any one person would not be good. We must have three secretaries general," Gromyko said, harking back to the plan proposed by Premier Khrushchev at last year's General Assembly.

Asked about a move to name Slim as interim secretary general in addition to the post of assembly president, he stood firm.

"We hold to the principal position on this matter — that any one person would not be good," Gromyko said.

Gromyko's remarks brought quick comment from U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, who said the United Nations must act at once to choose an interim secretary general. He accused the Soviets of using blocking tactics.

JFK Working on U.N. Speech

Will Propose Specific Action on Disarmament Within Few Days

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON— President Kennedy worked today on a major speech proposing specific action on disarmament and other issues designed to rally the United Nations in its time of crisis.

★ ★ ★

The President hoped to decide today when to go to New York to make the address to the U.N. General Assembly. Friday and Monday were under discussion.

Kennedy today canceled the news conference he had scheduled for Thursday morning.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said the main reason is the uncertainty about when Kennedy will appear before the General Assembly.

But the President's plans were still flexible.

Kennedy was reported to believe his proposals to get the United Nations "moving" on major problems would help rally world votes against Russia's "Troika" plan with its implication of rudderless drifting for the world organization.

★ ★ ★

The timing of the President's speech depended partly on arrangements for U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's funeral, and the possibility of a General Assembly recess.

Spaak Finds Nikita Relaxed but Quite Firm

BRUSSELS (UPI)—Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak said today Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev had been "very sincere and relaxed" in their five-hour talk Tuesday.

"We have made an effort to understand each other," Spaak said on his arrival here from Moscow.

"I have always been in favor of negotiations in cases of divergencies. I still am. Khrushchev was very sincere and relaxed, but firm on certain points."

Spaak said he would report today to the king and Prime Minister Theo Lefevre and may go to Paris to report to NATO.

Amended 701 Application on City Planning Ready

BIRMINGHAM — Authorization to submit the final 701 planning assistance application, amended to include the cost of aerial photographs and contour maps, has been given by the City Commission.

The revised application includes $6,200 for photos and mapping for a total cost of $30,174, of which 75 per cent will be borne by the federal government if the application is approved.

The 2-year urban planning program would be undertaken by the Southfield planning firm of Vilican-Leman & Associates, Inc.

The city had submitted its final application earlier but just recently learned that the assistance program would include the cost of aerial photographs.

City Manager L. R. Gare said the engineering department had maps in the 1961-62 budget but had not included the photographs in the 701 program.

The cost to the city now will be reduced 75 per cent.

The only change made in the original amendment request is that the scale will be 200 feet to the inch rather than 100 feet to the inch.

Replacement of a 34-year-old boiler at the Baldwin Public Library also has been approved by the commission, which awarded an installation contract to the S. S. Pirie Co. of Ferndale for $3,565.

Cost of repairing the old hand-fired boiler was estimated at $2,300 and Andrew F. Butt, building inspector, recommended that it be replaced instead of renovated.

The new heating unit is expected to be in operation in 30 days.

The Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Church of Birmingham will hold its fall rummage sale Sept. 27 beginning at 8 p.m. in the lower level of the church.

Those offering items for sale are asked to bring them to the church this week or early next week since they will be sorted and priced the day preceding the sale.

Esther Continues on Relentless Path

ner called a meeting of police, fire, hospital and sanitation department heads to plan emergency action.

Coastal residents of New Jersey were advised to move to higher ground and state police said many already had left their low-lying homes.

The storm had been following a northwestward movement and the vulnerable Outer Banks and Virginia Capes areas had been braced for severe flooding and possibly the full brunt of the furious winds.

It got windy and there was minor flooding but the Sandy Islands apparently were spared.

Heavy rains extended deep inland, however, and tides reached four to six feet above normal at places along the North Carolina coast, including Atlantic Beach. Tides were expected to be two to four feet above normal north of the Virginia Capes to Long Island today.

Far up the coastline at Newport, R.I., naval base, ships were ordered out to sea today to ride out the blow.

The Navy set storm condition No. 2—a 24-hour alert—in the Narragansett Bay area. The Navy said there were 12 destroyers, three destroyer tenders and one oiler at the base.

Condition No. 2 also covers Quonset Point Naval Air Station, where virtually all planes were flown inland.

Massachusetts Gov. John A. Volpe alerted all state departments and the Boston Weather Bureau warned Esther was moving into a position that would "constitute an appreciable threat to Southern New England."

City Presented $5,000 Check

Commission Is Given Bequest From the Will of Mrs. Lula C. Wilson

Last night's City Commission meeting started on a bright note. Commissioners were handed a $5,000 check.

★ ★ ★

The money was a bequest from the will of the late Mrs. Lula C. Wilson, whose late husband Charles B. Wilson founded the old Wilson Foundry in Pontiac.

Mrs. Wilson died last February following an illness of eight years. The city was named one of 42 legatees in her will.

The will specified that the $5,000 must be used for adding equipment at Pontiac General Hospital.

Commissioners expressed their gratitude at receiving the check and ordered a resolution prepared officially recognizing their acceptance.

It was not determined exactly what type of equipment will be purchased for the hospital.

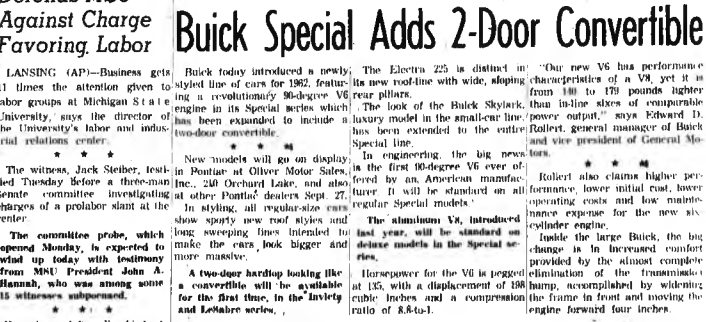
NATIONAL WEATHER — Moderate to heavy rains and very strong winds are expected Wednesday night from New England states to Middle Atlantic states due to force of Hurricane Esther. Rain is also expected in Carolinas with a few showers in Southern Florida. Scattered showers and thundershowers are forecast for Upper Mississippi Valley and eastern sections of Plains States. It is expected to be cooler in Upper Mississippi Valley.



ELECTRA 225—A new roof line with wide, sloping rear pillars distinguishes the two-door and four-door hardtops in the Electra 225 series. Design is intended to make the car look bigger without increasing actual size. Power plant is the 401-cubic-inch V8 engine with four-barrel carburetor coupled with Turbine Drive transmission. Transmission hump is nearly eliminated.

Defends MSU Against Charge Favoring Labor

LANSING (AP)—Business gets 11 times the attention given to labor groups at Michigan State University, says the director of the University's labor and industrial relations center.

★ ★ ★

The witness, Jack Steiber, testified Tuesday before a three-man Senate committee investigating charges of a prolabor slant at the center.

The committee probe, which opened Monday, is expected to wind up today with testimony from MSU President John A. Hannah, who was among some 15 witnesses subpoenaed.

Hannah was left cooling his heels for the second day Tuesday despite efforts of one committee member, Sen. Stanley Rozycki, D-Detroit, to have him called up "as a matter of courtesy."

★ ★ ★

Steiber was refused permission to read a statement to the committee. But Sen. Lynn O. Francis, R-Midland, the chairman, accepted the statement as an official exhibit.

★ ★ ★

In it, Steiber said that during the four-year period 1957-61, the average number of man-days devoted by all university departments to business-oriented as opposed to labor-oriented conferences was 31-to-1 in favor of business.

Buick Special Adds 2-Door Convertible

Buick today introduced a newly styled line of cars for 1962, featuring a revolutionary 90-degree V6 engine in its Special series which has been expanded to include a two-door convertible.

★ ★ ★

New models will go on display in Pontiac at Oliver Motor Sales, Inc., 240 Orchard Lake, and also at other Pontiac dealers Sept. 27.

In styling, all regular-size cars show sporty new roof styles and long sweeping lines intended to make the cars look bigger and more massive.

The Electra 225 is distinct in its new roof-line with wide, sloping rear pillars.

The look of the Buick Skylark, luxury model in the small-car line, has been extended to the entire Special line.

In engineering, the big news is the first 90-degree V6 ever offered by an American manufacturer. It will be standard on all regular Special models.

The aluminum V8, introduced last year, will be standard on deluxe models in the Special series.

Horsepower for the V6 is pegged at 135, with a displacement of 198 cubic inches and a compression ratio of 8.8-to-1.

"Our new V6 has performance characteristics of a V8, yet it is from 140 to 170 pounds lighter than in-line sixes of comparable power output," says Edward D. Rollert, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors.

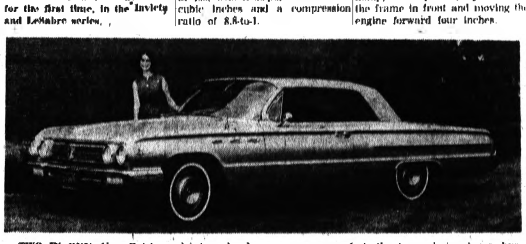
Rollert also claims higher performance, lower initial cost, lower operating costs and low maintenance expense for the new six-cylinder engine.

Inside the large Buick, the big change is in increased comfort provided by the almost complete elimination of the transmission hump, accomplished by widening the frame in front and moving the engine forward four inches.



TWO IN ONE—New Buick model is a hardtop that looks like a convertible. Shown above is the LeSabre version. The model will be available in both the LeSabre and Invicta series. For passenger comfort, the transmission hump has been nearly eliminated and the drive-line tunnel reduced, the company reports.

Equal Rights Could Be Con-Con Issue

(Editor's Note: The convention to revise Michigan's 1908 constitution meets in Lansing Oct. 3. This is the fifth in a series of articles dealing with possible changes in the state's basic law.)

By DON MYERS

LANSING (UPI)—A demand for guaranteed equal rights—not just protection against discrimination—could come from Michigan minority groups at the Oct. 3 constitutional convention.

The first problem facing delegates will be whether such provisions should be written into the constitution.

The second will be, if this is an issue that should go into the state's basic law, then how far should the provisions go. Both problems are difficult and not made any easier by the emotion surrounding them.

Civil rights in its broadest sense includes such things as religious freedom, rights of initiative and referendum, guarantees against encroachment on individual freedom by government and even apportionment of the legislature, some experts say.

But the thing that produces the friction is the rights which are given—or denied—to racial and other minority groups.

Two positions on this kind of civil rights are at opposite extremes, and each is dear to the hearts of many. There seems, as well, little ground for compromise.

ONLY TOKEN MENTION

One extreme holds that individual rights are guaranteed in the federal Constitution, and need only token mention in state documents.

The other side, including the minority groups, says that since discrimination is practiced to some extent in Michigan then all possible steps to eliminate it should be taken.

Statutes and administrative rules dealing with antidiscrimination measures are, of course, on the state books.

The existing constitution of 1908 contains provisions roughly paralleling the federal Bill of Rights, and in addition states in the section which sets up the civil service system that no state worker shall be removed or demoted for "partisan, racial or religious considerations."

The state Fair Employment Practices Act is an attempt to guarantee equal treatment for all in job opportunities, but many people believe there is no real power in enforcement provisions of the act.

Attempts to legislate civil rights have consistently failed in the state's lawmaking body.

RUN INTO PITFALLS

Administrative rules attempting to prevent discrimination, for example the controversial rule nine of the Corporations and Securities Commission, have repeatedly run into pitfalls which have to a great degree prevented their effective enforcement.

The chief argument against such legislation or rules has been that the rights of many are often abused by guaranteeing the rights of a few.

The American principle, well established if not always practiced, that all citizens should have the same rights and obligations, will be a strong argument for the inclusion of some sort of minority rights guarantee in the state constitution.

Perhaps the strongest argument against this position will be that the whole area is in the province of the legislature, not the constitution.

Delegates will have to determine how far they can and should go on the issue of civil rights, but they may have to sift a barrage of propaganda and counterpropaganda to reach a workable and acceptable solution.

(Next: The rights, powers and duties of local units of government may be an even more explosive issue at con-con than the rights of individuals.)

'In Principle' Stand

At its monthly meeting in Muskegon Sept. 8, the Conservation Commission reaffirmed action it took two years ago in endorsing "in principle" establishment of national recreation areas in Michigan.

Controls Are Eased

LANSING (AP) — The state water resources commission said it is considering giving more time for cleanup operations to a group of paper mills charged with polluting the Kalamazoo River.

Hearings scheduled Thursday for the Allied Paper Corporation and National Gypsum Co. of Kalamazoo and Hamilton Paper Co. of Plainwell have been dropped.

Fisheries Boss Dead

Ralph S. Marks, 57, Conservation Department regional fisheries supervisor for the southern Lower Peninsula, died last week at a Lansing hospital following an illness of several months.

Is the U.S. Surplus Food Program Harmful or Helpful?

By The Associated Press

Is Uncle Sam's free food program good or bad for the country?

Does it, as some complain, make able-bodied men and women shiftless so that they spurn work as long as the larder is well stocked?

* * *

Does it cut down on the grocers' sales?

What about reports that allegedly needy have driven to distribution stations in Cadillacs and carted away free rations?

DOESN'T DOUBT MERITS

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has no doubts about the merits of the program.

He says: "We are using America's food abundance. As long as there are hungry people in this country, or as long as families have inadequate diets because they cannot buy the food the farmer produces, we intend to find ways to use the unsurpassed capacity to serve human need."

The program was expanded shortly after President Kennedy took office. Additional foods were added to the direct distribution list, and more needy persons were added to the rolls, both at the President's direction. As a result food distribution is running at about three times the level of a year earlier.

* * *

The Agriculture Department estimates that slightly more than 24 million children will participate in the school lunch program this year. It also reports that 6.8 million persons in 46 states, the District of Columbia and the territories participated in the direct distribution program during the 1961 fiscal year ended June 30. This compared with 3.4 million a year earlier.

USE FOOD STAMP PLAN

Additionally, 248,000 persons are participating in a food stamp plan under which the government makes stamps available to needy persons for purchase of foods at regular grocery stores. The stamps are redeemed from grocery stores by the department through the banking system.

* * *

Under the direct distribution plan, certain foods acquired by the Agriculture Department under its price support and related surplus disposal programs are donated to the states, the Bureau of Indian Affairs, and to the territories for use in the nonprofit school lunch program and for needy persons in charitable institutions and family units.

* * *

With a program so widespread and vast, it was inevitable that complaints of abuses would arise. However, a nationwide survey by The Associated Press uncovered surprisingly few instances of out-and-out chiseling.

DOESN'T BELIEVE CRITICS

For example, John Sanford, supervisor of the commodity unit of the Oklahoma Public Welfare Department, says he doesn't think able-bodied men are turning down work to get the food.

* * *

"There isn't enough to justify turning down a job," he observed.

Marvin E. Larson, Kansas Welfare Director, said his office had received a complaint that a woman appeared in a Cadillac and picked up free groceries.

"That checked out to be a volunteer church worker who was picking up an order for someone incapacitated," Larson added.

* * *

At Wichita, a Welfare Department official said "There certainly, to our knowledge, has been no one who turned down private employment in order to receive public assistance—they could be terminated on assistance if they even refused to take a job washing dishes, for example."

'HAD NO COMPLAINTS'

Floyd Quinlisk, Executive Secretary of the Wichita Independent Businessmen's Association, which includes many grocers, commented:

* * *

"I've had absolutely no complaints, and our members are in the habit of speaking out at everything they don't like. They must feel that these are surplus foods, and it's better to give them to those who need them than let them go to waste."

Doris Girard, Chairman of the Lewiston, Maine, Health and Welfare Board, said "If welfare people weren't receiving free food, they could not buy it at stores. They would have to do without."

* * *

Paul D. McClay, General Relief Director for Maine, said: "The town officials would be hot on the track of any who were turning down jobs."

NO ADVERSE CRITICISM

In Connecticut, welfare officials said they had not heard of any abuses nor adverse criticism.

Massachusetts sources said apparently the $5 or so weekly benefits for a family of four has not resulted in any abuses. Nor was there any adverse reaction from grocers.

Thomas D. Sheehan, Administrator of Jackson County, Mo., surplus food distribution, said "Most of these people are very, very grateful and very appreciative of what they get. We have found very few cheaters."

However, Sheehan added, "Grocers in low-income areas are not so happy. One Kansas City grocer said his business was down about 10 per cent."

* * *

Robert F. McGonagle, chief of the commodity distribution in the Ohio Department of Public Welfare, said "It's a good program—one of the best. We've received some complaints about people picking up the food in taxicabs or cars, or that the recipients are too healthy looking. But usually the complaints are vague — no names."

AP Photofax

HE DIES — Mon C. Wallgren, former Democratic governor of Washington, died in an Olympia, Washington., hospital. He was 70, and was hospitalized after an auto accident last July. He had served as a U.S. senator and also as a representative.

NOT ONE IN 500

C. W. (Jack) Skinner, Director of the Wyoming Welfare Department, remarked, "There has been a minimum of criticism of our program."

He said there probably was not one case in 500 in which a man who could be working was using the surplus foods.

In California, the Education Department, which distributes and stores the food, said it had received no complaints.

* * *

Reed Clegg, Fresno County welfare director, said the program is for emergencies and "As soon as work opens up, they stop coming to us for food."

SAYS REACTION GOOD

Leonard C. Wood, director of the food distribution in New Hampshire, said the reaction of officials, grocers and recipients is good. He said he knew of no abuses.

Morris Huggins, Arizona supervisor of the Federal Surplus Commodity Program, commented: "It's my opinion that people don't apply unless they really need the food. I think the grocers generally feel that people with limited incomes who are receiving this aid are better able to trade at the stores for things we don't distribute."

* * *

In Maryland, Baltimore city officials reported two instances in which food recipients had attempted to sell items they had received free. Also, there was one instance of a client turning down an opportunity to work.

* * *

William J. Brugger, supervisor of the program for the Maryland Department of Budget and Procurement, said "I believe the grocers have come to realize that the recipients in their communities now have more money to spend on foods not available under the program—such as fancier meats."

GREATER THAN EXPECTED

Washington State officials said the program has progressed smoothly, public acceptance has been even greater than expected, and abuses have been held to a minimum.

* * *

Leonard Hegland, public assistance director of Washington, said it was unlikely that food handouts would discourage able-bodied recipients from going to work.

He added that it would not be "a very pleasant experience" to exist on the amounts allotted for a family—the average ration in July was 20.6 pounds per family.

Only two grocers were reported to have complained, said a Washington official.

PROGRAM ON DECLINE

William Herndon, director of the commodity distribution divison of the Texas Department of Public Welfare, said there was an upsurge in participation soon after the program was broadened but this is now on a decline.

He said most participating counties—70 of Texas' 254 counties participated in the federal-state-county program in February—think the broadened menu was a good thing "but more and more are concerned with the validity of case loads."

Herndon estimated that less than 10 counties refuse to give aid if there is an employable adult in the family asking help. "How-in that vein," he added.

Jackson Insurance Co. Stock Oversubscribed

★ ★ ★

A. J. Passant, president, said 300,000 shares of class A common stock selling at $4 a share was oversubscribed by 38,000 shares in less than seven weeks. He said the announcement was held up until money from the oversale could be returned to subscribers.

Algerian Admirer of Mao

New Rebel Chief Bears Watching

By PAUL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A man to watch carefully is a dark, bespectacled figure of severe deportment, an admirer of Red China who now is expected to quicken the pace of the Algerian rebels' guerrilla war against France.

He is described as a "pure, tough revolutionary, not necessarily Communist but a leader of the rebel "Chinese wing" which admires Mao Tse-tung's success in organizing 600 million Chinese.

Ben Khedda's ascendancy over Abbas is a defeat for the rebel conservative wing and has aroused doubts 'even among such ardent admirers of the Algerian revolt as presidents Nasser of Egypt and Bourguiba of Tunisia.

These doubts spring from a fear that Ben Khedda will open the way for further Communist penetration of Africa or to internationalization of the Algerian conflict through use of Chinese "volunteers."

These fears, still only in the speculative stage, have led to further speculation that North Africa could at some time in the future surpass Berlin as a world flash point.

Unconfirmed reports have said that he soon will have at his disposal 5,000 Algerian "volunteers" trained in Red China. Some of these were said to have fought with the French in Indochina and to have deserted to communism there.

TOUGHER TERMS

He is said not to oppose further peace negotiations but his terms are believed even tougher than those which the French already have refused to accept.

The next few weeks should see the announcement of plans for holding the first referendum in Algeria to allow the people, Moslems and French alike, to say whether they want independence or to remain tied to France.

Contributing also to the possibility of new violence in North Africa is the continuing problem of Bizerte, the French naval base on Tunisian soil which the Tunisians want turned over to them.

If negotiations had not been forthcoming, then Bourguiba, with full support of the Arab league, probably would have resumed rough tactics.

ROCKY'S SON-IN-LAW — Rev. Robert L. O. Pierson, 35, of New York and Evanston, Ill., reads a statement in front of the city jail in Jackson, Miss., after he and 12 other Episcopal priests gained freedom on bond following a desegregation conviction. They said they acted to implement church teachings. Pierson is the son-in-law to New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Long List for Con-Con Delegates

'Citizens' Read Off Suggestions

LANSING (AP) — A four-year term and greatly increased appointive powers for the governor were urged today by a constitutional convention Citizens Advisory Committee.

The committee was appointed by Gov. Swainson to make recommendations for reorganization of the state's executive department by the constitutional convention.

The committee also urged that the voting age in Michigan be lowered from 21 to 18.

The governor and lieutenant governor should be elected for four-year terms instead of the present two, the committee said. It also recommended that they be elected as a package, from one political party, and start their terms on Dec. 1.

The committee proposed that the secretary of state, attorney general, state treasurer and highway commissioner be appointed by the governor and serve terms of office at his pleasure instead of being elected by popular vote.

SHOULD BE APPOINTED

Heads of all other state departments also should be named by the governor, the group said.

The auditor general, the committee said, should be selected by the legislature.

The longer term, the committee said, would give the governor a better chance to carry out his policies. The group also opposed any limit on the number of terms a governor might serve.

A constitutional limit of 29 was proposed on the number of state agencies. There are presently more than 120.

Retention of the present Civil Service Commission was recommended. But members of the governor's personal staff would be exempt from civil service requirements. A maximum of 10 exempt positions also would be allowed in other agencies with a ratio based on the number of employes.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS:

Members of the advisory committee on the executive department are Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams of Pontiac; William J. Brake of Lansing, master of the Michigan State Grange; William C. Marshall of Taylor, vice-president of the state AFL-CIO; Former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner of Birmingham; Mrs. Irwin Whitaker of East Lansing, member of the Michigan League of Women Voters, and Dr. Joseph Woodka, associate professor of political science at Central Michigan University.

Accuses Priests of Revolt Plot

Castro Charges Clergy Linked With U.S. Plan of 'Internal Disorders'

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro today accused "fascist" priests of plotting with the United States to overthrow his revolutionary government.

He said the clergy was working with the U.S. State Department and the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency to promote internal disorders and organize an international campaign against Cuba.

CITES DEMONSTRATION

Castro cited the antigovernment demonstration that began as a religious procession in front of Havana's Roman Catholic Church of Charity Sept. 10.

Despite the fact that one man was killed, he said the clergy went ahead and organized another hostile demonstration last Sunday in Regla, on the outskirts of Havana.

Warning that if this happens again the government will not issue permits for religious processions, he said: "When we launch the masses into the streets we will crush the government's enemies."

★ ★ ★

Last Sunday the government deported 136 Cuban and foreign-born priests. The prime minister said those expelled for counterrevolutionary activities will lose their rights as Cuban citizens.

Yank Slugger Has One Game Left to Tie or Surpass Babe's Record

Time Is Running Out on Roger Maris---58...

By The Associated Press

An asterisk looms large in Roger Maris' destiny.

Held to an infield single while the New York Yankees clinched at least a tie for the American League pennant Tuesday night by splitting a doubleheader with Baltimore, Maris must hit two home runs tonight against the Orioles to officially tie Babe Ruth's home run record.

If he doesn't, he'll have eight more regularly scheduled games in which to tie or surpass the Bambino's 60-homer record of 1927, but will have to take the asterisk along with any record under the edict handed down by Commissioner Ford Frick.

That's the prospect facing Maris, who still has 58 homers after falling to connect in nine tries against the Orioles' sharp pitchers, as he prepares to take his final official shots against right-hander Milt Pappas (12-8) while the Yanks go with Ralph Terry (14-3) if Hurricane Esther doesn't intervene.

The honor of clinching the tie for the Yankees' 26th pennant, their 11th in the past 13 years and the first under rookie Manager Ralph Houk, went to left-hander Bud Daley who beat the Orioles, 3-1 in the nightcap with a five-hitter.

Steve Barber won the opener for the Birds 1-0 with a four-hit job for his eight shutout, tops in the majors. The whitewash also checked Maris, who walked in the first, then failed to get a hit in three other at-bats.

In the second game, Maris fouled out in the first, got his infield single in the third, grounded out in the fourth, hit a long foul in the seventh before flying out to center and struck out in the ninth for a 3-for-26 performance at Baltimore this season. Memorial Stadium is the only park in which Maris has not hit a homer this year.

Bill Skowron took up the homer slack for the Yankees, cracking his 27th, with one on in the fourth, for a 3-1 New York lead that stood up and reduced their magic number to one over the second-place Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers, who play an afternoon game against Los Angeles today and can wrap it up for the Yanks if they lose, maintained a mathematical chance for a tie by beating the Angels 6-2. Cleveland and Kansas City split, the A's winning the opener 6-0 and the Indians taking the nightcap 6-2. Chicago whipped Boston 5-1 and Minnesota defeated Washington 3-1.

Skowron's homer, with Elston Howard on base against Baltimore starter Skinny Brown (10-6) gave Daley his 12th win against 17 defeats. The lone Baltimore run came on Ron Hansen's homer leading off the third.

In the opener, Barber ...

Jim Archer (9-13), loser of six in a row, beat the Indians and Dick Stigman (2-5) with a six-hitter in the opener. Tito Francona's bases-loaded single in the second off Bob Shaw (11-13) and a run-scoring triple by Ty Cline and Francona's squeeze bunt in the fourth gave the Indians' Gary Bell (11-15) all the margin he needed to subdue the A's in the second.

Juan Pizarro (14-6) hurled a three-hitter against the Red Sox while the White Sox scored three in the second off Tracy Stallard (2-6) to win it. The Twins defeated the Senators behind the six-hit pitching of Jim Kaat (9-15). Joe McClain (8-18) was the loser.

Scheffing Boosts Mossi as League's 'Comeback' Player

Southpaw Beats Los Angeles on Four Hits, 6-2

Year Ago He Was Told His Pitching Days May Be Over

DETROIT (AP) — A year ago Don Mossi was on his way home, fearing he'd never pitch again.

His left arm ached, he couldn't throw and the Detroit Tigers let him return to California two weeks before the season ended.

"He's got to be the comeback of the year in the American League," said manager Bob Scheffing after Mossi picked up his 15th victory yesterday. He's lost only seven.

★ ★ ★

The stylish southpaw shackled the Los Angeles Angels on four hits—and for a change his Detroit teammates gave him some runs. Mossi beat the Angels 6-2. The triumph left the Tigers four games ahead of Baltimore, which split with New York in the battle for second place.

"Look," said Scheffing about his veteran 31 year-old left hander. "this year he's pitched the top number of innings in his career, 234⅓ so far. And his strikeouts are high for his career, 134.

"When I took this job and asked about Mossi, I was told 'we don't know, we doubt if he'll ever pitch again.' His arm has been better this year than it's ever been."

Mossi had been plagued lately by another kind of trouble until the Tigers started hitting for him yesterday. He had been given just one run to work with in 24 innings, covering his four previous starts.

★ ★ ★

But the Tigers teed off right in the first inning against the Angels for four runs. It was a breeze for Mossi the rest of the way. He struck out seven and turned in his 12th complete game.

The only damaging blows off Mossi were home runs by former teammates Eddie Yost and Steve Bilko.

Billy Rigney paraded six Angel pitchers at the Tigers with the loss going to starter Ken McBride.

McBride failed to survive the Tigers' big first.

With one out, Billy Bruton singled and Al Kaline chased him home with a bit-and-run double into the right field corner. Rocky Colavito scored Kaline with a double and went to third on Norm Cash's infield hit.

McBride then uncorked two wild pitches, getting Colavito home and Cash to third. Cash scored when catcher Ed Sadowski made a poor throw while trying to run the Tiger down.

The Tigers took advantage of Ryne Duren's wildness to get the two runs back in the sixth.

Redlegs' Flag Bid Now on Fast Rail

By The Associated Press

They're playing taps for the Dodgers in Los Angeles while Cincinnati's rambunctious Reds continue to ride their pennant-bound express train over a lightning fast rail to their first National League flag in 21 years.

The Reds, a patchwork outfit that includes a host of youngsters and a batch of castoffs, ballooned their lead to five games over the Dodgers Tuesday night by walloping the Pittsburgh Pirates 10-1 in for their seventh victory in the last eight games.

The triumph, coupled with Los Angeles' second straight loss, to the seventh-place Chicago Cubs, 7-3, reduced the Reds' magic number to five. Any combination of five Cincinnati victories or Dodger defeats will give the Reds their first pennant since 1940.

It was a typical story for the Reds Tuesday night as trade acquisition Gene Freese smacked two homers, including a key three run shot in a seven-run fourth inning rally, and 24-year-old Jim O'Toole brought his pitching record to 17-9 with his sixth win in a row.

The seven runs represented the Reds biggest one-inning outburst since they scored five against Chicago on June 27. It also snapped the Reds out of a low-run streak in which they had scored only 23 times in the last seven games.

San Francisco and Milwaukee players hammered four homers each before Ed Bailey's ninth inning single drove in the winning run for the Giants' 11-10 victory. St. Louis blanked Philadelphia 3-0 as Curt Simmons five-hit his former teammates.

O'Toole stopped the Pirates on seven hits, allowing their only run in the fifth on Hal Smith's single, a double by Bill Mazeroski and an infield out. Meanwhile, the Reds laced Pittsburgh starter Bob Friend (14-18) for seven runs in the fourth. Freese's solo shot in the seventh, his 26th homer, closed out the scoring for the Reds, who pounded Friend and three successors for 15 hits.

Bob Anderson (7-9), who hadn't completed a game in 10 previous starts, went the route for the Cubs and knocked in the winning runs with a two-run homer in the fourth as Chicago went ahead to stay. Stan Williams (13-12), beaten by the Cubs for the first time since he joined the Dodgers in 1958, left in the top of the fifth while a fan with a bugle blew taps in the left field stands.

Bailey's single settled a homer battle that saw Willie Mays, who smashed a grand slam, Orlando Cepeda, Jimmy Davenport and Bailey connect for the Giants. Joe Adcock, Roy McMillan, Ed Mathews and Frank Bolling homered for the Braves. Reliever Stu Miller (14-4) won it with the win charged to Carl Willey (5-12). Milwaukee's Warren Spahn was sent to the showers in the second inning without victory No. 20.

The Cards scored all their runs off John Buzhardt (6-17) on a double by John Buchek and Curt Flood's single in the fifth and Stan Musial's two-run homer in the sixth. Simmons (9-10) now is 8-0 against his former mates.

Colt Aerials to Test Lions' Defense

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

To most pro-football teams, the city of Baltimore is a "kiss of death." In the past several years, many NFL contenders have met their doom in the Maryland city.

This has been true for the Lions for many years when they had to open the season against the Colts. As result Detroit has gone through several seasons with a demoralizing effect after an opening game bombing by the Colts.

Likewise, two of the most thrilling games ever played by the Lions took place against the Colts.

In 1957, the Colts rattled the Lions 34-14 in Baltimore. In the return game in Detroit, a fantastic victory led by Bobby Layne sparked the Lions from a 27-3 halftime deficit to a 31-27 victory.

This is the game which started the momentum the Lions needed to start their bid for the division title and world championship.

Last year's thriller which a Baltimore victory seemed assured after a last minute Colt touchdown with 18 seconds to play, the Lions scored on the game's last play on a Pass from Earl Morrall to Jim Gibbons to shock the wild Colt fans who had already jammed the field in anticipation of a victory celebration.

Another typical Lion-Colt battle is expected Sunday with the winner pushed out of first place in the Western Division.

The Colts rallied to beat the Rams last week, 27-24, while the Lions were surprising the conference champion Green Bay Packers, 17-13.

Baltimore has been installed a seven-point favorite in the 18th meeting between the two teams.

The highly vaunted Detroit defense stopped Green Bay's running attack last week. Sunday it will be the defensive backfield which will get the brunt of the work as Ray Berry returns to action as Johnny Unitas' prime passing target.

★ ★ ★

Against Detroit, Berry seems to be at his best. He has an all-time record of 58 pass receptions for 1,014 yards against the Lions. Unfortunately for Detroit, Berry is not the only Colt threat.

He has nicked Detroit for 148 completion in 271 passes for 2,362 yards and 20 touchdowns. The Rams shackled Unitas last week allowing him only 10 completions in 22 attempts, but halfback Lenny Moore and fullback Joe Perry picked up the slack to supply the necessary momentum for victory.

The Lions haven't got together a pair of victories to start the season since 1936 when they took the measure of the Packers and Colts in order.

Sunday's game to be telecast back to this area will be at 1:05 local time.

★ ★ ★

Packers' Game Films Show 5th Down Score

The issue is purely academic, but Detroit Lions coach George Wilson plans to remind NFL headquarters that Green Bay kicked a field goal on fifth down Sunday.

The Lions won the game, 17-13, so the official's goof didn't hurt them.

But Wilson feels the incident should not be overlooked because "maybe they'll be more careful next time."

Movies of the game proved what Wilson and several other persons suspected. "Mistakes like that by the officials can cost you a game," the Detroit mentor said. "It's a good thing we won."

The five-down sequence took place after Green Bay gained a first down on the Lions 10 shortly before the first half ended. The Lions were leading, 14-7, at the time.

★ ★ ★

Bart Starr passed to Jim Taylor on the one. Tom Moore was stopped for a one-yard loss back in the two. Paul Hornung was dumped back on the seven. Then Starr threw out of bounds to stop the clock and, on fifth down, Hornung booted the field goal.

Officials claimed that Taylor picked up a first down on the one but Detroit movies showed that he would have had to touch the goal line, thus scoring a touchdown, to gain a first down.

Viking Quarterback Leads NFL in Aerial Statistics

Of course, it doesn't happen very often. Still, occasionally some young upstart does exactly that. Davey O'Brien pulled just such a trick with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1939. And there was Bob Waterfield with the Cleveland Browns in 1945.

Now comes a youngster named Francis Asbury Tarkenton. A week ago, he was just a guy showing a lot of promise with the brand new Minnesota Vikings. Today, Tarkenton leads the league in individual passing figures released by NFL headquarters.

Rookie Tarkenton, son of a Methodist minister, sent some 32,000 spectators away with his name on their lips Sunday after throwing four touchdown passes and scoring six points himself in the Minnesota's debut, a 37-13 victory over the once-feared Chicago Bears.

Tarkenton piled up 250 yards with his passing and wound up the NFL's first week of play with a completion perverstage of 73.9, tops in the 14-team circuit. San Francisco's John Brodie wasn't far behind with a 72.7 percentage. He, too, tossed four touchdown passes as the 49ers clobbered the Washington Redskins 35-3. Tarkenton completed 17 of 23 passes and had no interceptions and Brodie 16 of 22 with one interception.

Sandwiched between the two in the passing race is Cleveland's Milt Plum, who connected on 18 of 30 for 329 yards, most gained by one passer opening day. Plum's completion average is 60 per cent. The league ranks its passing leaders after considering several factors, including completions, yards gained, touchdown passes, per cent of completions, per cent of interceptions and average yards gained.

Green Bay's Max McGee and San Francisco's Monty Stickles are tied for pass receiving honors, each with seven receptions.

Dodgers Start to Fade Out of NL Pennant Race

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Barring a National League playoff series here—and the only thing less likely to be held here is the Iowa State Fair—this will be the Coliseum's last night as a major league baseball park.

The Dodgers, fading from the 1961 National League picture along with their vast stadium, play their final home game tonight against the Chicago Cubs, who beat them 7-3 Tuesday night. The loss dropped the Dodgers five games behind league-leading Cincinnati.

The coliseum, largest park in the majors, is hardly as rich in baseball history as the Dodgers' previous home in Brooklyn. But, in four seasons, it has had a few moments that will not be forgotten, and it has helped the Dodgers set some attendance records that may never be broken.

The coliseum also is the home of one of the greatest curiosities in baseball history—the left field screen. In four seasons, 741 home runs have been hit at the colossus, and something like 80 and 85 per cent of them have gone to left field, sailing over or near the screen.

★ ★ ★

The home run records expected could drive in as many as four runs, the seven did invest each game with an extra element of suspense. One National League umpire, who might prefer anonymity, said the other day.

"The most exciting games in the league have been played right here."

The most curious baseball innovation introduced here, besides the screen, was the bugle call. Dozens of fans started bringing horns to the park. When the Dodgers came to bat, they blew cavalry calls and the crowd yelled "charge!"

★ ★ ★

Lighted Archery Range Ready at Perry Park

By DON VOGEL
Outdoor Writer, Pontiac Press

Here is good news for archers who would like to get in some practice shooting at targets.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac Parks & Recreation Department will open its archery range in Aaron Perry Park Thursday. The target area, located off Edison Street, is lighted for night use.

Archers using the facilities to sharpen their aim for the coming hunting season are requested, by recreation officials, not to use broad head arrows.

The lights will remain on each night until 10 p.m.

The Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club will hold a demonstration tonight at the community recreation building on Williams Lake Road in Waterford Township at 8 o'clock.

Registrations for dog obedience training classes will be taken by SMOTC members after the demonstration. There will be no instruction tonight and dog owners are urged to leave their pets home.

WORLD SERIES OF FISHING

Delaware County in Oklahoma will be the scene of the 1961 Fresh Water World Series of Sport Fishing.

Residents around Union Lake helped originate this international event last fall by hosting the opening and closing rounds of competition.

This year it will be held at Grand Lake O' the Cherokees Oct. 23-28. This is different than 1961 when the anglers competed twice on Union Lake and on different waters in Northern Michigan.

Things should be somewhat easier this time. The prime target will be black bass. Last year the fishermen competed for everything from bluegills to trout.

★ ★ ★

Hy Peskin, originator of the tournament, has moved from Bloomfield Hills and is now living in Monterey, Calif. He is executive director of the series.

There was so much bickering during the Michigan tournament that it is doubtful if this year's entry list will have the International representation needed to make it succeed.

True, a good number of anglers will appear from Mexico and points south, but the Europeans probably will stay home.

NEW CLUB ORGANIZED

The newly organized Ortonville Gun Club will stage a turkey shoot Oct. 8 behind Arnason's Trading Post on M-15. A new trap range is open and will be the scene of the shoot which starts at 10 a.m.

Joe French is president of the club. Peter Tandski is the secretary treasurer. Future plans call for rifle and archery ranges.

Dave Grubb sends word that he has opened a training kennel at his new home in Lake Orion. He has several dogs under instruction and plans to take his own field trial champions and two other dogs to the national championships in New York state next month.

Duck Hunter Decline Forecast for State

LANSING (AP) — If it's any consolation, the competition for shooting positions won't be as heavy as usual when the Michigan duck season opens its brief 30-day run Oct. 13.

The proportion of hunters who commit the violations and breaches of shooting etiquette that infuriate the experienced sportsman probably will be smaller, too.

When the U.S. Department of the Interior ordered the most restrictive duck hunting regulations in history last month, the automatic effect was to discourage a good many hunters from paying the $3 for duck stamps.

Merrill L. (Pete) Petoskey, waterfowl specialist for the State Conservation Department, predicts that no more than 60,000 stamps will be sold in Michigan this year. That would be a decline of nearly 30 per cent from last year and the lowest total in 25 years.

Sales hit a peak of 146,000 in 1955 and have been dropping ever since.

"With the bag limits set at two a day and four in possession, hunters won't be filling their freezers with ducks this year," said Petoskey. "It's likely that we'll see mostly the kind of hunter who goes out for the fun of it rather than for the meat he expects to bring home.

"More of them will be sportsmen first and hunters second—the kind who wait until a duck gets within easy shooting range before pulling the trigger, who take pride in being able to identify the various species and avoid shooting at those that are illegal targets.

"They'll also shoot only at male ducks, knowing that a female will produce a brood next year."

As every duck hunter knows by now, severe limits set this year stemmed largely from the worst drought to hit the "duck factories" of the northern plains states and the prairie provinces of Canada since the 1930s. In some years, the pothole country of that area produces two-thirds of the sport waterfowl population on the continent.

The drought this year reduced the number of potholes available for breeding waterfowl to an estimated 900,000, down from 3.3 million six years ago.

Combined with the dry spell as a hazard to migrating waterfowl is a steady growth in the number of hunters. There are more in the 14 states of the Mississippi Flyway today than there were in the whole country 25 years ago.

Another problem is a steady shrinkage in the number of potholes as farmers drain them for crop production.

Note Sharp Increase in Outdoor Activity

LANSING (AP)—Across the country, more people than ever are hunting and fishing, and the number is increasing about twice as fast as the population.

That's the report from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in its first national survey of fishing and hunting since 1955.

Michigan, one of the nation's leaders in both sports, ironically is not one of the gainers.

Fishing license sales have declined slowly but steadily for six years, dropping from 1,198,000 for residents, non-residents and temporary permits to 962,000 last year.

From 1956 to 1960, the period covered by the federal survey, small game license sales in this state fell from about 758,000 to 647,000.

New Fishing Laws Have Taken Effect

Michigan fishermen are advised that new laws went into effect last week removing the hook and-line catch limit on perch and permitting the use of treble hooks.

Use of treble hooks may still be banned in waters designated by the Conservation Department during certain periods of the year. This restriction, aimed at protecting rainbow trout from snagging during the spring spawning season, affects no waters in the state during the remainder of 1961.

Exponents Preparing New Moves

Enough Quail in State for Season

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan hasn't had a quail season since 1911, but Conservation Department experts this year gave proponents of legalizing quail hunting some new ammunition for their battle.

"Biologically, we could support a quail season, but the public has been against it so the legislature has not passed laws allowing it," said Andrew Ammann of the department's game division.

During the 1961 legislative session, Rep. William C. Sterling, D-Monroe, initiated a bill which would have allowed quail hunting in Berrien, Cass, St. Joseph, Branch, Hillsdale, Lenawee, Monroe, Jackson, Calhoun, Kalamazoo, Van Buren, Barry, Eaton, Ingham, Livingston, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and Wayne Counties.

The proposal survived committee perusal, but when it reached the floor, legislators, one by one, removed their respective counties because of public opposition to it.

Only two or three counties remained in the measure when it was withdrawn from consideration.

"Opposition to such proposals generally seems to come from bird lovers and farmers, who like to have quail around and believe a hunting season would result in too great a kill," Ammann said.

WINTER KILL

"The two or three winters previous to this last one, which was relatively light, resulted in about a 50 per cent reduction in the states quail population—which we don't think any hunting season would cause," he said.

The 1961 quail whistling survey in Southern Michigan showed vast improvements in the population, Ammann said. The survey in 50 southern counties showed the population was up 43 per cent from last year.

"Actually, some states which have a quail season have less birds than Michigan," he said.

The farmer's sentiment against a quail season apparently stems from a fear of trespass problems, as well as the fact that landowners believe quail don't do any harm and possibly do some good by eating certain insects.

"I guess they're afraid they'll lose all the birds if we have a season," Ammann said.

In 1911, when Michigan had an Oct. 15-Nov. 30 season, the daily limit was six birds, he said. The Conservation Department has the authority to establish an experimental season on any small game species at will, but a proposal for research hunting tests on quail two years ago was turned down by the Conservation Commission.

"We proposed at that time to open a limited experimental season at our Rose Lake experiment station, but it was not approved because of public opposition and a number of other reasons," the game division spokesman said.

Proponents of an open season on quail have tried for several successive years to get legislative approval, but failed.

GRADUAL CHANGE

"It's one of those things that has to come about gradually, I guess," Ammann said. "If we break the ice with an experimental season one of these years, it will probably lead to a wider spread of quail hunting. We have no definite plans of new recommendations, however.

"All of our recommendations for hunting seasons are generally tied into the public sentiment on deer seasons—because deer licenses are our bread and butter," he said.

"And if we're at odds with the majority of the deer hunting public we generally try not to increase the antagonism because it would hinder us in the long run."

Ammann said the department was not likely to sponsor legislation in 1962 for a quail season, but it would approve of sportsmen's efforts to open one.

Fox Hunter Trials Scheduled at Lapeer

The Michigan State Fox Hunters Association Field Trial and Bench Show will be Friday, Saturday and Sunday in Lapeer.

Headquarters for the events will be the Center building on Elm Street. Entries will be accepted beginning at 7 p.m. Thursday.

The starting time for field trial will be 5 a.m. each day. The bench portion of the program will be at 8:30 p.m. Friday.

DSC Teams Win Three Crowns

Thiefels on Victorious Skeet Squad in Annual MUCC Squad Events

The Detroit Sportsmen's Congress won all three major team championships in the 13th annual Michigan United Conservation Clubs Skeet, Trap and Archery competition last weekend at Grand Rapids.

★ ★ ★

Shooting over the Kent County Conservation League ranges, the DSC skeet team of Howard Confer, Jack Pattyn, Neve Peressini and Chet Crites, all of Detroit, and Pontiac's Bob Thiefels broke 244 of 250 clay targets to win the championship.

The trap squad from Detroit Sportsmen's Congress also was first, Jack Heinberger of Rochester, Buck Heide, Dave Dunlap Sr., Dave Dunlap Jr., and Frank Dill, Utica gunners, clipped 237 x 250.

DSC archers made off with the bow and arrow title.

Confer won the individual skeet crown by breaking 50 straight in a four-way shootoff. Jeanne Shields of Grand Rapids was one of the gunners he bested.

Heide placed second in the trap competition.

There were 62 trap teams entered and 40 skeet squads. Thirty-five archery teams went to the line. About 500 shotgun shooters took part in the events.

Governer's Plan for Recreation Shows Headway

Headway is being made in laying the groundwork for a coordinated master plan requested by Governor Swainson to chart Michigan's recreational development in line with future demands.

Conservation Department officials directed to formulate the plan reported that a series of meetings has been held in recent weeks with officials of various state agencies, groups, and organizations to discuss Gov. Swainson's 11-point recreational policy statement.

Within the Conservation Department, staff members are making an inventory of present recreational facilities under their administration. A hard look is also being given to future needs as projected from trends in recreational use.

Results of these meetings and surveys will be incorporated into the preliminary plan which is due for Gov. Swainson's consideration by Oct. 15.

Shorthaired Trial Set

The Michigan German Shorthaired Pointer Club will hold its annual field trial Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 at the Highland Recreation area. The closing date for entries is Sept. 25.

Seeks Captive Duck Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department today proposed changes in regulations to give it more effective control over migratory birds held in captivity.

★ ★ ★

Mallards and black ducks raised in captivity and more than two generations removed from the wild could be possessed only under permit and would have to be marked so as to distinguish them from wild birds.

When so possessed and marked, such birds could be killed by shooting on commercial shooting clubs at any time and in any numbers.

Currently, such birds are not subject to federal regulations although they cannot be distinguished from wild birds of the same species, the department said.

Another change would require a $15 fee for the issuance of propagating and taxidermist permits. The department said this is proposed to permit the government to recover a portion of the cost of administering the permits.

★ ★ ★

The proposed amendments will be published in the federal register. Interested persons will be given until Oct. 15 to submit comments to the department.

Hammarskjold Was Congo's Best Friend

By LYNN HEINZERLING

BERLIN (AP)—The Congo has lost the best friend it ever had.

When U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold died in a plane crash in Northern Rhodesia he was on a mission he first undertook in July 1960—to safeguard the unity, territorial integrity and viability of a new and confused republic.

Hammarskjold took snubs, insults and vilification from the immature, helpless and self-seeking political leaders of the Congo. He did not move an inch from what he considered was his mandate from the United Nations.

Ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba and other Congolese leaders assailed the secretary general whenever they felt their own personal progress was being impeded.

Not one of them contributed as much toward making the tottering, backward jungle land a stable political state as Hammarskjold. He was far from completing his task in the Congo when he met his death.

Lumumba was most vociferous in denouncing Hammarskjold in the wild and dangerous days of 1960 until he found it necessary to seek U.N. protection.

★ ★ ★

Moise Tshombe, the Katanga leader now fighting the United Nations, opposed Hammarskjold from the beginning.

DENOUNCED POLICIES

Antoine Gizenga, the left-leaning Lumumba deputy who tried to set up a government in Stanleyville after Lumumba's death, questioned Hammarskjold's motives and denounced his policies.

Gen. Victor Lundula, once commander of the Congolese army, turned his back on Hammarskjold and permitted his troops to mistreat and beat up U.N. personnel.

Some members of the present government were publicly on record as opposing Hammarskjold. Even President Joseph Kasavubu opposed him at times.

★ ★ ★

The Congo, with more than a year of history, does not even have a legally adopted constitution. Only an outside organization of impeccable motives could hope to bring order out of the chaos which followed independence.

ON FAILING MISSION

It was ironical that at his death Hammarskjold was flying to a meeting with Tshombe which could have resulted only in failure. Hammarskjold never could have accepted Tshombe's views of Katanga's future in cease-fire discussions to halt the fighting between Katanga and U.N. forces.

From the beginning of the U.N. operation in the Congo, the international body's policy has been to treat Katanga as a province of the Congo. Without Katanga, the Congo does not make sense as an economic unit.

Without Katanga, the rest of the Congo almost inevitably would drift back into its tribal boundaries, a largely subsistence economy and its ancient feuds.

Hammarskjold's directives in the Congo were clear. The United Nations moved in to safeguard the unity and territorial integrity of the entire Congo. U.N. troops were on a peaceful mission to assist the progress of the new state. They were empowered to prevent civil war, by force if necessary as a final resort.

Circuit Court Jurors Face County's Heaviest Docket

The 64 women and 25 men will be asked to help trim down the heaviest criminal and civil caseloads ever accumulated in Oakland County.

Sixteen days—at $8 a day plus six cents a mile round trip for jurors—have been alloted to hear more than 300 criminal cases and about 250 civil cases.

The number of criminal cases ready for trial is expected to be cut down appreciably during three days of pre-scheduling conferences which began yesterday before presiding Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

The first day brought 18 guilty pleas thereby eliminating that number of trials.

Prosecutor George F. Taylor said the record load—the previous high was 179—was due to no jury term being held during the summer, some attorneys being out of town during the June term, and a concerted effort to handle first those accused in jail, thereby causing a backlog of those cases where the accused is out on bond.

Fifteen assistant prosecutors instead of the current 12 would help, Taylor added.

In the criminal docket a major case is the first-degree murder trial of Earl C. White, accused of the Jan. 21 shotgun shooting of his 29-year-old stepfather outside a New Hudson bar. This will be one of the first to be tried, Taylor said.

There's an abundance of cases involving bogus checks, larcenies and burglaries.

Assignment Clerk Louis E. Fairbrother said he hopes the jury can dispose of 250 of the 575 civil matters marked ready for trial. Most are negligent or accident cases and those involving collections.

Bodies of 2 Niles Men Found in U.S. 31 Wreck

NILES (UPI) — The bodies of two Niles men were found in the wreckage of a demolished car early today on a rural road, two miles east of U.S.31 in Cass County.

State police said Donald Gene Krisher, 33, the driver of the car, and Paul H. Hickey, 23, apparently died of injuries in a high-speed crash into a tree.

Must See Things Through in Congo, Williams Claims

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Asst. Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams says the United States must recognize the importance of "seeing things through to a successful conclusion" in the Congo.

"We have stated it as a cornerstone of our foreign policy that we hope for the peoples of Africa what we hope for ourselves in building and perfecting our own society," the former governor of Michigan stated in an address Monday night.

The assistant secretary for African affairs spoke before the Negro Trade Union Leadership Council. He stressed the need for help in building up strong and stable societies in Africa.

U. of M. Extensions Are Still Registering

Hunters for higher learning can still register with the University of Michigan extension service, even for classes which have already started.

Registration must be completed by the second class meeting. Beginning dates for the semester are scattered through September, ranging as late as Sept. 25 in some communities.

In Pontiac, courses are being taught at Northern High School, 1051 Arlene St. Registration will be taken in class.

Man Sentenced for Violation of State Probation

Raymond B. Schermerhorn's insistence that he was "prepared to go out in society and contribute to it" came a little late yesterday.

Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero sentenced the 31-year-old former Commerce Township man to 1½ to 15 years in Jackson Prison because he didn't live up to the terms of the three years probation he was given in June, 1959.

Schermerhorn had to be brought back from California. This was in violation of the terms of his probation he received for his part in the April, 1959, theft of a 700-pound safe from a Walled Lake auto dealership.

While in California he served time for passing bad checks.

Loss List Tops Gainers on Mart

NEW YORK (AP)—Du Pont early today spurted more than 4 points on news that the House had adopted, a bill which would give tax relief to Du Pont stockholders in the future distribution to them of Du Pont's holdings of General Motors shares.

Losers outnumbered gainers throughout the rest of the list but most losses were small and there was an increasing number of slight gainers.

Among the wider losses was one exceeding a point by National Dairy which had a big advance Tuesday. Profits were taken.

GM was steady as collective bargaining continued with the United Auto Workers. Ford dipped a fraction while Chrysler traded about unchanged. Studebaker-Packard continued in demand, showing an upside edge.

U.S. Steel took a 9point loss while other top steelmakers showed little change, if any.

Tobaccos, airlines, farm implements and mail order-retails were firm to higher while oils, nonferrous metals, building materials and electronics drifted off on balance.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally lower but Fairchild Camera rose about 3 points in continued response to stock split news. Aerojet-General was down about 2. Other losers were Barnes Engineering, Technicolor and Heli-Coil.

Prices Up Slightly in Slow Grain Trade

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices were slightly higher generally in rather slow early grain futures transactions today on the board of trade.

September rye, one of the strongest contracts the past several days, posted the broadest gain. It was ahead almost 2 cents.

Dealers said there was little commercial business and that a good deal of the volume was forward evening up positions in the September contracts on which trading ends today.

Suspect Demands Examination in Officer's Beating

Jessie H. Diaz, 916 Fremont St., was charged with felonious assault. He was released on $100 bond set by Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum pending the pretrial hearing Sept. 27.

Patrolman Oscar K. Kissinger had been hired to police a dance at the Bellaire Hall, 76 Marvin St., which was sponsored by the Mexican Mutual Aid Society.

He was hospitalized with injuries suffered when he and another officer were attacked by some 25 persons while trying to make an arrest.

Loan Firm Gyp Before Bench

Township Judge Hears Case of Conspiracy; Cite $100,000 in Fraud

The Prosecutor's Office yesterday began its case against six men accused of bilking a Ferndale Loan company of more than $100,000.

Examination opened before West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle. Charges were: obtaining money under false pretenses, conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses and conspiracy to avoid paying the state sales tax.

Senior Assistant Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry Jr. said there were two other men originally named as defendants, but now named as co-conspirators.

They are Frank Beznos, 12925 Wales St., Huntington Woods, and Jordan Raider, 24, Detroit.

Defendants are: Ivan Batten, 46, of 29460 Fall River Road, Southfield; Peter Lazaros, 27, of 2410 Dalesford Road, Troy; Gino Ronchetto, 33, Garden City; Robert Levine, 27, Detroit; William Tees, 39, Detroit; and Anton Postic, Highland Park.

All but Postic have been arrested, Barry said.

The men are accused of forging names to credit statements, selling low-cost household goods to bad credit risks and putting the loans through the Ferndale branch of the General Public Loan Co., of which Ronchetto was former manager.

★ ★ ★

Barry said he expected the examination to take at least four days.

Chosen to Head Trial Board

Malcolm Kahn Elected at First Meeting in Many Years

The Pontiac Police Trial Board held its first organizational meeting in many years Monday night and elected H. Malcolm Kahn chairman for the coming year.

★ ★ ★

Kahn, a Pontiac attorney, is presently serving a term that expires next May.

Cecil C. Mullinix was elected vice chairman and the board's secretary is T. Warren Fowler.

The seven-member board was officially reappointed by City Commissioners last week. Voters approved a charter amendment reconstituting the trial board in April 1960, but an organizational meeting was not held until the Commission voted on appointments.

Commission action was delayed until the State Supreme Court ruled on an appeal that the charter amendment was illegally worded on the 1960 ballot.

Hearings Set Oct. 24 Over Glenwood

The way was cleared for public hearings on the city's proposed vacating of five parcels of land for Glenwood Shopping Plaza expansion at last night's City Commission meeting.

★ ★ ★

Acceptance of recommendations from the City Planning Commission to vacate the property was deferred last week until proper legal descriptions of the land could be drawn up.

At last night's meeting, all five recommendations were accepted. A public hearing on each resolution to vacate was scheduled for Oct. 24.

Resolutions propose the vacating of a 30-foot alley across the proposed Glenwood Shopping Plaza area, Grandview Boulevard, Paddock to Montclair; Omar Street, 100 feet south of Grandview; Gilmour Street, from Grandview south and westerly to within 150 feet of Paddock; and McGregor Avenue, from Gilmour west to within 150 feet of Paddock.

An ordinance to rezone from residential to commercial the area surrounding these streets was introduced following acceptance of the vacating reports.

HEARING OCT. 10

The commission scheduled a public hearing on the rezoning ordinance for Oct. 10. Rezoning of the area, some nine acres, was okayed by planners two weeks ago.

Barring any major protest to the change, the ordinance will be approved at the Oct. 10 meeting.

The shopping center, part of which is already under construction, is located just east of Perry Street on Glenwood Avenue.

Also introduced last night was an ordinance to rezone a lot at 6580 Joslyn Ave. from residential to commercial for use as a parking lot. It will also come up for public hearing Oct. 10.

PETITION ACCEPTED

A petition signed by 74.5 per cent of affected property owners requesting that eight lots on Cass Avenue north of Wisner Street be rezoned was accepted and forwarded to the planning commission.

The owner, Manley Young, who owns and operates Art Metal Platers, 61 Short St., in back of the Cass property, is asking that the land be rezoned from Residential-1 to Commercial-2.

Five public hearings were held last night with only one meeting any opposition.

A proposed reconstruction and grade change of a sidewalk at the corner of Willard and Jessie streets was protested by several property owners on Willard. Others also appeared to voice approval of the project.

Work is proposed on Willard from Jessie west to the west line of lot 99 and on Jessie to a point 101 feet north of Willard.

FOR AND AGAINST

Property owners objected that changing the level of the sidewalk and moving it closer to the street would create too steep a grade in their front lawns. Others claimed the change was needed because the sidewalk was so high they couldn't get in their driveways during icy weather.

Commissioners considered the hearing held and deferred any commission action until a public hearing on the special assessment roll slated for next Tuesday.

There were no objections during hearings on the city's intent to replace a sidewalk on both sides of Hopkins Street, from Baldwin to the first alley west; blacktopping of Manitou Road, Navajo to Ottawa Drive; and curb and gutter work to Steinbaugh Court, Augusta to State.

Public hearings on the special assessment rolls for all three projects were scheduled for Sept. 26.

A public hearing on the special assessment roll for construction of a water main in Homer Street, from an existing main to one in Poplar Street, was also held with no objections.

Special assessments were confirmed in two payments for grade, gravel and retired work completed on Howard McNeill Street, Gillespie to Warner; and in five payments for curbs and gutters on Monticello Avenue, Oakland to Orlando.

SEPT. 26 HEARING

Commissioners accepted estimates of the city engineer on two proposed sidewalk projects and stated public hearings on the city's intention to do the work for Sept. 26.

One involves changing the grade and building a new sidewalk on the north side of E. Wilson Street from lot 287 to 251. Total cost is estimated at $5,672.48.

The city's cost is estimated at $4,392.43 with the property owners paying $1,280 in special assessments.

The other estimates concern sidewalk construction on Inglewood Avenue, Oakland to Monticello with the exception of 30 feet in front of Lot 27 in Dixieland subdivision.

Total cost is set at $8,626.48, with the city's share estimated at $4,839.28 and $3,787.20 coming from assessments to property owners. For both projects the estimated assessed cost for an 80-foot lot is $40.

Commissioners okayed a request from Robert O. Rivest that Lawrence H. Stowe be added as a partner on his Class C and SDM license and the license be transferred from 837 Baldwin to 849 Baldwin.

Waterford Board Starts Slowly on Charter Gov't

The Waterford Township Board Monday decided to move "slowly but surely" in making the transition from the standard to the recently approved charter township type of government operation.

Elected officials positions remain the same.

However, the board has the authority to appoint new, or reappoint heads of various departments. Members indicated that the present department heads would be officially reappointed in a meeting set aside for this procedure.

The question of township trustee fees was discussed at length and State Representative Lloyd Anderson (R) answered questions from the audience. At the present time the law only allows $10 per meeting for $500 maximum pay.

The board asked Anderson to present a request to the legislature to amend the charter township laws to allow boards under this type of government to establish the fees of the trustees in the charter township. The Waterford Board felt they are better equipped locally to determine the trustee's value rather than the State Legislature.

The board reappointed Dr. John Naz as chairman of the Health Department, assisted by health officers Carl Walton, Ernest (Dick) Lawson and James Sammons. Paul Mandel was also reappointed township attorney at an annual fee of $3,000.
