

Historic Treaty With Russia Is Announced

LBJ Calls Consular
Pact Significant Step;
Senate OK Needed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson announced today an historic consular treaty with the Soviet Union and termed the event "a significant step" in building understanding between the American and Soviet people.

The treaty, announced simultaneously in Washington and Moscow, will provide for the opening of consular offices in the two countries.

It is the first treaty ever negotiated between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Johnson, citing the advantages which he expects this country to receive as a result of the agreement, said that when the treaty takes effect "Americans detained in the Soviet Union for any reasons will be assured of access without delay to American consular officials."

George Reedy, White House press secretary, was asked whether this would apply to any Americans who might be arrested on espionage charges.

ANY REASONS

"The statement says 'for any reasons,'" Reedy replied.

Johnson said the agreement, which must be ratified by the Senate before it can take effect, will be signed in Moscow on June 1.

Foy D. Kohler, U.S. ambassador in Moscow, will sign for the United States.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko is expected to sign for the Soviet Union.

SIGNIFICANT STEP

In announcing the completion of lengthy negotiations on the agreement, Johnson hailed the treaty as "a significant step in our continuing efforts to increase contacts and understanding between the American people and the peoples of the Soviet Union."

"It is my hope that this treaty—the first bilateral treaty between the United States and the Soviet Union—will be a step forward in developing understanding between our two countries, which is so important in the continuing struggle for peace."

Johnson, in citing improved consular services to be made possible in both countries as a result of the treaty, said Americans visiting the Soviet Union either as tourists or for business reasons "will have available to them a greater degree of consular protection than ever before."

The United States and the Soviet Union have entered into a number of treaties which also involved other signatory countries. An example is the limited nuclear test ban treaty of 1963.

Heart Attack Is Fatal for India's Nehru

But Dems Consider Appeal

Court Clears Up Districting

LANSING (AP)—The legislature will return to Lansing tonight to find its bed already made. But it may not get a chance to lie in it.

The Michigan Supreme Court yesterday ended nearly three months of confusion, stalemate and partisan fighting in the legislature when Democratic Justices Otis Smith and Paul Adams joined three Republican justices to agree on a Republican-sponsored redistricting plan.

But leading Democrats say the problem—which had the Supreme Court stymied for nearly four months—may return to the court within 60 days, in the form of an appeal.

In what amounted to a 5-3 decision, the plan submitted to the court by Republican members of the eight-man, bipartisan Legislative Apportionment Commission, was approved as the one that most closely conformed to principles set down in the new State Constitution.

Approved was a plan to set up a 110-member House in districts based on population and

No Nostalgia for City Dump

Landfill Site Closed; Set New Location

The gates of a faithful city servant closed quietly this week, and nobody much cared.

Pontiac's Kennett Road dump became a has-been sanitary landfill after 10 years as a familiar landmark.

Had it been a library closed or an old fire hall vacated, things might have been different. Such events usually draw a few nostalgic pioneer citizens and history-minded folk.

But no one ventured to the city dump for so much as a whiff of things gone by.

City residents and the Department of Public Works will henceforth dump refuse on a new site located at 4390 Lapeer Road (M24), in Pontiac Township, according to Clyde Christian, DPW superintendent.

10-YEAR CLOSING

Except for a few hours every Sunday, the dump on West Kennett will be closed to public use for at least 10 years.

Even the Sunday visiting hours are slated to be discontinued in July, when spring cleaning is largely completed by Pontiac householders.

DPW officials (with tongue in cheek) feel that most northside residents will get used to life without the frequent Saturday night infernos that used to play pretty colors off the summer sky.

Christian pointed out that by using the new dumping site the city will save about $14,000 annually and aid in future development of a ski resort and golf course.

JOINT OPERATION

"The new sanitary landfill will be operated jointly by DPW forces and Bald Mountain Properties, Inc., on a 300-acre site on the east side of M24, two miles north of Pontiac," he said.

Christian said the company was "interested in utilizing our waste as fill material" for development of the ski resort and golf course at that location.

Company officials estimate they can use all of Pontiac's refuse for the next 10 years or more. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

A 38-member Senate, with districts based on a formula giving 60 per cent weight to population and 20 per cent to area.

ONE OF FIVE

It was one of five submitted to the court by the deadlocked Apportionment commission.

It was the second major log-jam to break loose in a week.

Republican legislators Friday rammed through a congressional redistricting plan and passed a bill which some hoped would push the primary election back from Aug. 4 to Sept. 1.

Both of these problems are far from solved, however.

AWAIT GUIDELINES

"The court had been awaiting 'guidelines' from the U.S. Supreme Court, but Smith said because of election scheduling Michigan could no longer afford the 'luxury of anticipating' either when or what the Supreme Court of the United States will decide."

At issue was the question of whether the so-called "one man-one vote" principle applied to both houses of a two-chamber legislature, or whether other factors—such as area—could enter in.

Most Democrats say they expect the U. S. Supreme Court to decide in favor of the one man-one vote method of apportionment.

Smith and Adams said, they reserved the right to consider the one man-one vote question later, if the U.S. court supplies guidelines.

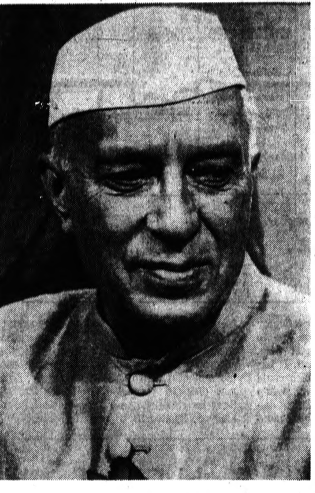

Reaction to the decision followed party lines.

Heart Attack Kills Collins

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (UPI)—Ted Collins, 63, former radio announcer and manager of singer Kate Smith, died today in a doctor's office here.

Collins, who had suffered from a heart ailment for years, was driven to the office of Dr. George Hart by Miss Smith for an examination.

She had parked the car and just walked into the doctor's office when Collins died. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Prime Minister Nehru

LBJ Urges Peace as Nehru Memorial

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said today that in the death of Prime Minister Nehru of India the world has lost a leader who served all humanity in "fearless pursuit of a world free from war."

Paying tribute to the Indian leader as "a great and beloved man," Johnson said in a statement that there could be no more fitting memorial to Nehru than a world at peace.

In another statement of official sorrow over the passing of Nehru, Secretary of State Dean Rusk looked to the future.

"Because of Prime Minister Nehru," Rusk said, "Indians can say that India lives and can go forward with its great tasks."

At Andrews Air Force Base as he boarded a jet plane for New Delhi at the head of a high level delegation to Nehru's funeral, Rusk said Johnson had asked him to speed to India "to bring to the Indian people and its government the deep sorrow and complete sympathy of the American people at this moment of great loss."

"Goldwater appeared on television and radio extensively in the last week and campaigned against us," said Tom Fairfield Brown of Tampa, state Republican chairman who heads the winning slate.

"I feel we have a mandate from the people to go to California and represent Florida the best we can."

Hayden Burns, 52-year-old mayor of Jacksonville and a tough-talking foe of the civil rights movement, said he would support the party of the people.

Recalling the death of President John F. Kennedy last November, Rusk said that "we too in recent months have suffered the loss of one of our great leaders."

INDIA LIVES

"We were aware at that time that our nation lives on. Because of Prime Minister Nehru, Indians can say that India lives and can go forward with its great tasks."

India's defense minister, Y. B. Chavan, flying in from Colorado Springs, Colo., barely in time to accompany Rusk to India, echoed much of what Johnson and Rusk had said.

He called Nehru's death "not only a loss to our country but to the cause of democracy around the world."

In a formal message of condolence to President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan of India, Johnson said:

"BELOVED MAN" "Once again we come together in grief over the death of a great and beloved man—this time your own leader Prime Minister Nehru."

"Yet his spirit lives on. The rich heritage he left us, his faith in his people and in humanity, will, I know, serve to sustain you and yours as we strive together to translate his ideals into reality."

World Loses Key Figure in Neutral Bloc

Top Cabinet Member Sworn In as Nation's Acting Prime Minister

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, the aristocratic, quick-tempered idol of India's hungry millions and a leader of the world's nonaligned, died today of a heart attack. Handicapped since Jan. 7 by a paralytic stroke, he was 74.

Home Minister G. L. Nanda, a senior Cabinet member who has a reputation for getting things done, was sworn in as acting prime minister.

Nanda was sworn in by President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, Radhakrishnan was charged under the constitution to take over the government on the death of the prime minister.

But Nanda was quickly chosen to handle the administrative details.

Nehru's death was attributed to a heart attack and shock.

"The prime minister is no more," Steel Minister C. Subramaniam told the sobbing Parliament. "Life is out. The light is out."

MORNING STROKE

Nehru was stricken at 6:25 a.m. as he arose at his usual hour. He died at 2 p.m.—4:30 a.m. EDT, seven hours and 35 minutes later. A stroke on Jan. 7 had partially paralyzed his left side, but he had recovered somewhat and in recent weeks had resumed his seat in Parliament.

His only child, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, was with him when he died. A large team of doctors was in attendance. The U.S. Embassy offered its medical staff and equipment, but an embassy spokesman said the Indian government did not request assistance.

Nehru's two sisters, Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit and Mrs. Krishna Hutheesing, left Bombay by special plane for New Delhi.

Mrs. Pandit is governor of Maharashtra State.

Nehru's death urgently raised a question that has plagued India for years—his successor. The strong-willed prime minister held the reins of power firmly and adamantly refused to designate a successor.

LEADING CANDIDATE

A leading candidate has been Lal Bahadur Shastri, 59, a mild-mannered, 5-foot-2 veteran of the ruling All-India Congress party, and a close friend of Nehru. After Nehru's first stroke, he summoned Shastri, made him a Cabinet minister without portfolio and put him in charge.

But when Nehru began recovering, Shastri was elbowed aside and his political stock dropped.

Two other political figures generally regarded as possible successors are Nanda and Finance Minister T. T. Krishnamachari.

Nehru's daughter also has been mentioned but has not shown that she has great political backing.

PRESIDENT CONTROLS

The Indian constitution provides for the president, normally a ceremonial official, to take over the government on the death of the prime minister.

Possibility of Bus Loss Faces City

For the second time in four years, Pontiac may be without bus service by the end of next month.

American Transit Corp. has advised city administrators that it will not renew the annual agreement between its subsidiary, Pontiac Transit Corp., and the city, when it expires June 30.

The bus company has been operating in Pontiac under the annual contract agreement with the city since June 9, 1960.

Company officials said that according to their financial records, Pontiac Transit had an operating loss of about $34,319.78 since coming here in 1960.

The union contract between Pontiac Transit and its bus drivers expires Sunday at midnight.

"The union argues with considerable merit that their wages in this area are substantial," wrote K. E. Totten, regional manager, in a letter received at City Hall late yesterday.

OPERATING EXPENSE

"However, in view of the operating experience since we have been in Pontiac, it is impossible for us to grant any increase."

"Therefore, it is our intention not to renew our lease and supervisory agreement with the City of Pontiac," the letter read.

Both Totten and Glen Crawford, manager of the Pontiac operation, are attending an American Transit Association convention in Chicago and were unavailable for comment.

City Manager John F. Reineck said that "since they aren't in town, we cannot do much about this until Monday."

"I'm very sorry to learn of their plans to terminate the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Nice Weather Is Predicted

Sunny skies and spring temperatures—not too warm, not too cool—are forecast for the Pontiac area for the next few days.

The weatherman said temperatures will average 2 to 4 degrees below the normal high of Precipitation will total one-half inch in showers and thundershowers Saturday and Sunday.

Rain falling early last evening measured near .08 of an inch.

The low reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 54. At 2 p.m. the thermometer registered 70.

Barry Backers Lose in Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A delegate slate pledged to Sen. Barry Goldwater was turned down by Republicans, and a governor sworn to erect barriers against civil rights was nominated by Democrats in yesterday's Florida primary.

Goldwater's chances of Florida support at the national convention were not erased.

But they were weakened by election of a slate headed by a man who made no bones about current disenchantment with the Arizona conservative.

"Goldwater appeared on television and radio extensively in the last week and campaigned against us," said Tom Fairfield Brown of Tampa, state Republican chairman who heads the winning slate.

"I feel we have a mandate from the people to go to California and represent Florida the best we can."

Hayden Burns, 52-year-old mayor of Jacksonville and a tough-talking foe of the civil rights movement, said he would support the party of the people.

READINESS — Young Linda Terry, 574 Nebraska, is one of 50 preschoolers participating in a "nursery school" readiness program at Whittier School. Puzzles, paints and free play are a part of the program to prepare youngsters to enter kindergarten next fall.

Plan Prepares Preschoolers

A Pontiac elementary school principal may have discovered a way to eliminate tears and tantrums from the first day of school.

With the aid of parent and teacher volunteers, Mrs. John Butler, Whittier School principal, has quietly put to work a readiness program for preschool youngsters.

At the end of its second year of operation, Mrs. Butler can claim some success for her "nursery school" project.

Purpose of the program is to solve some of the adjustment problems that kindergarten children must make.

NEED TO ADJUST

Mrs. Butler said the orientation program is more than mere introduction to pencil and paper. She said youngsters have to adjust to school and the group setting.

"We hope to remove some of the frustration of getting into kindergarten."

The 4- and five-year-old participants will enter kindergarten in the fall.

Twice-week sessions are held for the preschoolers for 10 weeks. They meet after school hours with two volunteer teachers, Mrs. Edward Thompson and Mrs. Willie Maxey.

PARENT VOLUNTEERS

Parents also volunteer to help with the children.

Mrs. Butler said that the program is similar to that of a nursery school with music, story telling and free play.

With nearly 50 children taking part this year, the Whittier School principal estimates that 97 per cent of next fall's kindergarten class are participating.

One-Third at OU Achieved Honors

More than one-third of the 1,229 students enrolled at Oakland University during the winter achieved honor grades, according to a recent announcement.

Among the 476 students on the Dean's List were 62 named university scholars. A university scholar must have a grade point average of 3.9 or higher with no grade below 3.0.

One-third (145) of the honor grades were achieved by freshmen.

At White House

GOP Senators Briefed on S.E. Asia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has given Republican senators a special briefing on conditions in Southeast Asia.

They were summoned to the White House yesterday after Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a statement that "indication is dribbling away both American lives and American prestige" in the area.

The session was held against

'State Need for Plan on Water Use'

LANSING (AP) — Michigan already is a "Water Wonderland" but should plan to use its abundant resources more wisely, members of a new task force on water rights, use and pollution control told Gov. George W. Romney Tuesday.

Romney held a briefing session with the 22-member task force, headed by Claude Erickson, engineer of the Lansing Water and Light Board.

"The job," Romney told the appointees, "is nothing less than to recommend a complete water policy for the state, encompassing all areas of water management, water use, water rights and purity."

"This is a favored state," said Erickson, "there is no place in this state that is more than 80 miles away from our abundant source of fresh water in the Great Lakes."

FAR AHEAD

Board member Gerald Remus, manager of the Detroit Water Board, agreed.

"We are far ahead of any other state in pollution controls. We have a marvelous supply of water. We should just plan to use it wisely."

Romney said Michigan, advertised nationally as a "Water Wonderland," should lead the nation in wise management of water resources.

"As our population increases, and the conflicting demands for water multiply, we need more than a coherent, up-to-date, realistic water policy. And our problems are compounded by the steady decline of water levels in our lakes. We must not permit careless use of our abundant water resources as we once did with our abundant forest resources."

the backdrop of persistent reports that the Johnson administration is in the process of making new decisions on U.S. policy moves in Southeast Asia.

A White House statement said the talk covered the "current situations in South Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos." No further details were disclosed.

Southeast Asia has been crackling with military advances by Communist-led Pathet Lao forces in Laos and intensive guerrilla warfare by the Communist Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

CAMBODIA CHARGE

Meanwhile, Cambodia has been airing charges at the United Nations against the United States and South Viet Nam, alleging border violations.

Before meeting with the Republicans, Johnson conferred with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara — presumably on Southeast Asia.

On the diplomatic front, meanwhile, officials said the United States welcomes and supports Britain's call for stop-gap "consultations" on Laos.

Communist China called instead yesterday for a 14-nation conference in Cambodia and coupled this with a charge that the United States plans to send troops into Thailand "from where they intend to enter Laos."

CLOUD SITUATION

U. S. sources view Peking's move as an attempt to cloud the already muddled Southeast Asian situation.

Called to the White House along with Dirksen were: Assistant Republican Thomas H. Kuchel of California;

Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Milton R. Young of North Dakota, J. Glenn Beall of Maryland, Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, George D. Aiken of Vermont, Frank Carlson of Kansas and John J. Williams of Delaware.

They are the ranking Republicans on the Senate Armed Services, Foreign Relations and Appropriations Committees.

Central Opens Registrations

Summer Sessions to Run June 22-July 31

Registrations are now being taken at Pontiac Central for summer school credit courses, according to Donald McMillen, summer school principal.

School begins June 22 and runs through July 31.

Operated on a self-supporting basis from tuition fees, summer classes are open to all high school students regardless of whether they reside within the school district.

A fee of $20 will be charged for one class, and $30 for two classes. An additional class will cost $15 extra.

Textbooks will be furnished without charge.

All courses, except reading and a pre-college workshop for graduating seniors, are offered for credit. A half unit of credit is given upon completion of a course with a "D" or better.

SATURDAY CLASS

McMillen said one Saturday session is planned this year to make up for the July 4th holiday.

Classes meet at Pontiac Central High School from 8:15 to 12:14 each morning.

Special classes in social studies and consumer education will meet from 12:30 until 2:30 p.m.

Among the credit courses offered are English, U.S. history, world history, world geography, economics, algebra, general science, biology, business law, typing and several industrial arts classes.

McMillen said the purpose of summer school is to give students the opportunity to make up a deficit in credits, provide "enrichment courses and enable students to make curriculum readjustments.

A feature of this year's summer school will be a special chemistry class to make it possible for a student to complete a year of chemistry in summer school.

LBJ's 'Bare-Bones' Foreign Aid Request Rattles Congress

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP)—Add the "bare-bones" technique to President Johnson's long list of ways of getting things done.

It served to get the foreign aid bill through the House Foreign Affairs Committee, and it may well get the bill all the way through Congress virtually untouched.

For the first time since the foreign aid program started back in the days after World War II, the Foreign Affairs Committee did not cut even one cent from the total.

Not only that, it added an extra $125 million to jack up the war effort in Viet Nam, making a total of about $3.5 billion for economic aid and military assistance to countries around the world.

FINAL VOTE

A final routine vote by the committee on a clean copy to send it on its way to the House floor.

Last year, by contrast, President John F. Kennedy first asked for $4.9 billion for the program. By the time it had threaded its way through the appropriations process it came out at $3.3 billion.

COMPLETE REVERSAL

Foreign Affairs Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., said in past years "everybody looked on this as a padded affair. I think this is a complete reversal. I think the President took a look at this thing and said he wasn't going through that procedure and run that gantlet."

"I think we've seen the last time the old way will be tried," Morgan added in an interview. "The new method is just to ask for and request exactly what it takes for defense and the mutual security of our nation."

That is the bare-bones technique. It gets its name from repeated references by administration witnesses to "bare-bones" and "rock-bottom." "It was very effective," said

Rep. E. Ross Adair, R-Ind., leader of the antiforeign aid forces on the committee. He gave much of the credit to effective presentation by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on the military portion of the program.

TEST OF FIRE

But in spite of the success of Johnson's technique so far, its test of fire is still to come. That test is Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that must vote on the actual money for the program. The Foreign Affairs Committee merely sets the ceiling in its authorization bill.

Does Passman think there is still some fat on the bones?

"What do you mean, think?" Passman snorted. "I know there's fat in there. I've never seen it submitted to Congress yet that it wasn't loaded with fat. I never knew a time when it couldn't be cut." Asked what he thought about the Johnson technique, Passman said, "There's salesmen down town (the executive branch) and there's salesmen on the Hill (Congress). We'll have to see who's got the biggest soap case. I'm an old soap peddler myself."

But there has been a great change in Passman's gleam since last year.

Clarence Cannon, the 85-year-old chairman of the Appropriations Committee who always backed up his foreign aid cuts, died two weeks ago. The new chairman, Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., while a conservative man himself, says he supports the foreign aid program in principle.

Passman himself is philosophical. "I'm very fond of the President," he said. "I'm a lover, not a hater."

The National Better Business Bureau processed a record 117,708 requests for information and assistance from business and the public last year.

Memorial Day '500' National Sports Classic

Of all the spectacles regularly offered sports-minded Americans, the annual Indianapolis "500" on Memorial Day is certainly one of the greatest.

Saturday, 33 diminutive speed wagons will take off on a grueling, thrill-packed chase that will circle the famed speedway's two and one-half mile track 200 times in a little over three hours. The first race, ran in 1911, took twice as long to cover the distance.

Although attempts have been made over the years to establish auto racing on the grand scale in other areas, "Indy's" preeminent position in the speed sport has never been threatened.

The original track, once called the Old Brickyard because it was paved with 3.2 million bricks after it opened as a dirt track in 1909, is now covered with an anti-skid type of asphalt.

It is expected that a quarter-million fans will jam their way into the speedway's double-decked steel and concrete stands and the infield parking area.

Oh, yes. If you are making your maiden trip to the gasoline extravaganza, don't set your navigational sights on Indianapolis, Ind. The track ain't there. It's in Speedway, same state, just a 5-iron shot away.

Mankind Is Powerless Before Nature's Might

The recent disaster at Anchor Bay brings forth arresting and grim data on one of nature's worst killers—the tornado.

As most people know, late spring and early summer is tornado weather. About 230 of the violent storms occur in the U. S. each year, resulting in slightly more than 200 deaths. Over a 45-year period, twisters caused 9,346 deaths—somewhat less than one-fourth the ANNUAL 38,000 auto fatalities.

The storms are rare west of the Continental Divide and in mountainous areas. They are also rare in most foreign countries. Europe has fewer than two a year.

Over 80 per cent of tornadoes blow in between noon and midnight. They form most readily in the hours following the warmest part of the day. The surface wind is usually from the southwest; nearly two-thirds of the twisters move from that direction.

A tornado's path is usually about 16 miles long and less than one-fourth mile wide. The longest officially recorded tornado traveled 293 miles, in 1917, and lasted more than seven hours. Its speed was 40 miles per hour, about average. But tornado speed has varied from five to 139 miles per hour.

As great progress as science has made in almost all areas, it is still impotent when matched against nature's awesome phenomena.

'Delinquency' Cause Not Working Mother

With society gravely concerned by the growing incidence of juvenile delinquency, sociologists in attempting to combat the menace have striven to formulate a pattern of living most responsible for it.

One of the causes of youthful lawlessness is generally ascribed to the frugality of the domestic establishment related to the working mother.

But a recent survey by a team of experts on juvenile delinquency shows that there are just as many delinquents in the families of nonworking mothers as in those of mothers who work.

The largest number of delinquents come from families in which the mothers work irregularly.

The authorities interpret this as reflecting not so much the mother's employment as a factor in her child's waywardness but rather the disruptive tendency of her own emotional instability or marriage problem.

Indeed, say the investigators, in most cases the child of a steadily working mother develops more personal responsibility. He sees a living example of how a family can work as a unit for the common good.

It would appear from these findings that the character of a child is not as delicate and unfavorably subject to external influences as some psychologists would have us think.

Vice Presidency Dogs Congress

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—That big hole at the top of the government—the empty vice presidency—is still there. Congress is making sounds about doing something and, as usual, it's all uncertain.

Equally important, perhaps more so, is the twin problem never yet settled by law: presidential disability.

For instance: who decides the next in line should be president if the president refuses to admit he can't do his job?

If Congress does act this year—it may not be able to because the Southern filibuster on civil rights has in the form of a constitutional amendment. Congress long ago tried to provide for the line of succession if the president died and there was no vice president. But it has never tackled the disability problem.

The assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the succession to the presidency of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, leaving the No. 2 spot vacant again, has forced the country to look at the problem again.

In a nuclear age like this, when an enemy attack might within a few minutes remove a president and vice president, the problem looks vivid.

But there is that other problem of disability. Since there was no law on the subject, President Dwight D. Eisenhower and President Kennedy arranged with their vice presidents for them to take over if the president became disabled.

But suppose a president is too disabled to know it. How does the vice president step in? And what happens if a president can't carry out his duties but won't admit it?

A subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee has been studying the problem for months and this week is expected to urge the full committee to approve this solution:

NEEDS APPROVAL
When there's no vice president, the president must nominate a vice president, but he can't take office unless approved by a majority of both houses.

When a president says in writing he's too disabled to carry out his job, the vice president would become acting president until the president declared his disability ended.

If the president should not make known his disability, the vice president with the concurrence of a majority of the Cabinet could declare the president disabled and assume the power and duties but not the office of the president.

If the president disputed the act of the vice president and a majority of his Cabinet, Congress would decide with a two-thirds vote of both houses for the vice president to continue as acting president.

WOULD RESUME DUTIES
Otherwise, the president would resume his powers and duties.

But if this ever comes to a vote in House and Senate, amendments offered on the floor could change the solutions just outlined. So, as of now there is nothing definite either about the final form or the final act.

'A Further Appropriation Is Necessary'

David Lawrence Says:

Court Dictates Virginia Tax Use

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court of the United States has just handed down a decision which transcends in importance its ruling of May 1954 ordering public schools to be desegregated.

This time the Supreme Court goes further.

lative body of a Virginia county how it shall appropriate the taxpayers' money.

It tells the board of supervisors, which is the legislative body of the county under the constitution of Virginia, that a federal court order can be issued commanding the county board to levy certain taxes and spend certain funds for purposes specified by the court.

No such sweeping decision has ever come from the Supreme Court in the history of the United States.

The theory of the Federal Constitution has always been that the executive, legislative, and judicial powers are separate, and that the right of the people to govern themselves and to elect a legislative body to decide how tax money shall be spent cannot be interfered with or impaired by any order of a court.

The Supreme Court, in this instance, admitted that a state "has a wide discretion in deciding whether laws shall operate statewide or shall operate only in certain counties, the legislature having in mind the needs and desires of each."

DECIDES FOR ITSELF

But the opinion went on to say that the Supreme Court of the United States may decide for itself what objectives the board of supervisors may have had in mind and can veto such legislation if it doesn't conform to the court's conception of how the county's money shall be spent.

The Supreme Court was explicit in its command as it ruled that the federal court may, if necessary, "require the supervisors to exercise the power that is theirs to levy taxes to raise funds adequate to reopen, operate, and maintain without racial discrimination the public school system in Prince Edward County like that operated in other counties in Virginia."

Even more sensational is the Supreme Court's ruling that a county, and perhaps even a state, must operate its educational system in accordance with the dictates of the judiciary.

The legislature of Virginia, for instance, passed laws in 1959 and 1960 providing grants of tuition to parents of "every child, regardless of race," to finance the attendance of such a child at any "nonsectarian private school or a public school outside his locality."

The day cannot be far distant when private schools throughout the country may be subjected to the same judicial supervision on the ground that, while they might not have state financial support, these schools nevertheless operate under a state license or must obtain educational accreditation from state authorities.

Private schools could some day be classified—in the words of the latest Supreme Court decision—as "beneficiaries of county and state support."

Most surprising of all, however, is the concept expressed by the Supreme Court that it may at will substitute its own decrees for the judgment actually rendered by a state or county legislative body elected by the people.

Bob Considine Says:

Healthy Pallor Beats Tan, According to the AMA

NEW YORK—The American Medical Association wishes you forget that nonsense about getting a suntan this summer.

The croakers say it will make you old before your time, damage your hair, provide less vitamin D than you get in the average American meal.

"At least 10,000,000 people will succeed in roasting themselves to a turn on the first long, hot weekend at the beach or pool or even in the backyard garden," AMA frowns.

"If you want to get a sunburn, it's easy. Just stay out in the summer sun too long."

"However, do this with the knowledge that the physical benefits of tanning are at best dubious, and there is solid evidence that continued exposure to sun weathers and ages the skin."

It foresees a day "when tanning will no longer be a status symbol and the fair, creamy complexion will once again be the vogue."

Anyone for a healthy pallor?

Planning a trip out of the country?

Well, first take time out to thank the good Lord you've got the dough for it, and the right to go.

The Hungarian traveler to the West must first prove he is invited to visit a "reliable" person in the free world.

The Western host must give written assurance that the tourist's expenses while abroad will be taken care of, including food and lodge.

A passport costs 400 forint, about $16, a considerable amount when it is remembered that the average skilled industrial worker makes less than $70.

It is illegal to take out more than $5 in Hungarian money.

Travelers are often stripped down to the skin by border guards as they leave.

One poor soul managed to save $80 in U. S. ones and twos over the past 10 years, against that happy day when his vacation in Paris would start. He hid the money in his beehive, for it is illegal to possess imperialistic dough. Alas, the bees took a liking to the bills and devoured large portions of each of them.

The man placed what was left of them in special innersoles he built into his shoes, and walked his sad little fortune across the border. The good Jews at Radio Free Europe arranged for the U. S. Treasury to exchange good money for the stung cabbage, and the Hungarian lived happily ever after—at least, until he returned to the peoples' paradise.

Big City Disease

Chicago's American

A crowd of people around a west side drive-in restaurant watched two men beat and kick a lone policeman who had tried to question them. None of the on-lookers made a move to answer his calls for help. Finally, an unidentified off-duty policeman happened by, noticed the crowds watching through the restaurant windows, and rescued the victim, Patrolman Timothy D. Nolan. Said the battered Nolan, "I can't figure it. They just stood there. They wouldn't lift a finger."

The incident was not quite on a par with the ghastly occurrences that plagued New York. It is certainly shameful for a crowd to stand by as two men beat a third, but it is not as utterly inhuman as passively watching a woman being stabbed to death as she pleads for help, or hurrying past the shrieking victim of a rapist. The way Roy L. Rumble talks about the PTA proves he has never attended a meeting. Otherwise he would know what the PTA stands for. It promotes the welfare of youth in home, school, church and community, seeks to raise the standard of home life and secures adequate laws for the care of children.

Says 'Massachusetts Bill' Needs Signing

I hope Gov. George W. Romney signs the so-called "Massachusetts Bill." The bill is an aid to the intelligent voter and follows the idea of "one man one vote." It makes it necessary for a voter to intentionally vote for each man and ensures that "one man" will have "one vote" for each and every office on the ballot.

The bill should be called the "Kennedy-Massachusetts Bill." The entire family thrived on politics in Massachusetts and President Kennedy said that the voting methods there are the fairest in the country. What's good for the Kennedys and Massachusetts and seventeen other states is good for Michigan.

Another Backs Drag Strip for Pontiac

I favor a drag strip in the Pontiac area. I've been to International Raceway Park and it was so dusty we couldn't see our lunch. Another time it was so muddy and crowded we couldn't get in. And as for it being twenty miles from Pontiac, they must be air miles because it takes an hour at least. The drag strip proposed by the Dragster Association will be modern, and I think the people who are doing this could do nothing better for Pontiac.

Feels Negro Issue Basically Economic

It follows, in view of the relatively second-class citizenship of Negroes and automation's threatened creation of a permanent army of unemployed, that the Negro issue is basically an economic one.

Until our society is democratically reconstructed so that human need rather than private profit motivates production, and demands of all who are physically able the duty of useful labor—workers as well as black shall never be free and economically equal.

Together we must organize to own and administer the natural resources and social tools of production (industries). Since labor alone produced all wealth that accumulated as capital in private hands and was as currently existing commodities—they are morally ours upon political demand.

Reader Says God's Name Is Jehovah

Letter writer George Kinney should consult both his Bible and dictionary concerning the words "holy," "reverend" and "hallowed." These words are descriptive adjectives—not names. If he reads Exodus he will find that God's name is Jehovah and the name can't possibly apply to anyone but God.

It is no wonder then that Michigan is exceeded only by New York in the number of outboard motors in use.

Michigan, in addition, has some of the most lavish recreational accommodations, is also the average man's playground.

There are about 7 million acres of public forest and park land in the state available for picnicking and camping.

These public lands and most of the privately-owned land of 13 million acres that is open to hunting and Michigan's vast water resources results in the state of more hunting and fishing licenses than any state in the nation with the exception of California.

It is estimated that tourists spend over $700 million in Michigan each year, making the tourist and resort industry the third largest producer of revenue for the state.

This is a boom to northern Michigan where a large share of this expenditure is made and where other business opportunities are not as numerous as they are in southern Michigan.

Detroit is one of the three major league cities which have teams in professional baseball, football, hockey and basketball.

Michigan is unexcelled as a location for those who want water as a recreational attraction.

In addition to the Great Lakes shoreline that nearly surrounds Michigan, there are over 12,000 inland lakes in ad-

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Thermogram Finds Body's Trouble Spots

Are you cool as a cucumber or are you hot under the collar? Many ways have been devised to measure the temperature of the body, but none offers more promise than the thermograms made by infrared photography.

As an instrument for locating trouble BRANDSTADT spots before severe damage has been done they have a wide variety of uses.

Long before there are any signs of obstructed blood vessels and incipient gangrene in the toes of diabetics, the thermogram will reveal cold spots in the affected areas.

The same is true for similar obstructions due to other causes.

Finding these areas early can lead to the prevention of gangrene.

USED BY OBSTETRICIANS
The obstetricians are using thermograms to locate the placenta in pregnant women to discover the presence of twins and to detect false pregnancies and the ectopic pregnancies that sometimes occur outside the uterus.

One great advantage of this form of examination is that it gives information formerly obtained only with X rays.

Thus it avoids the dangers associated with irradiation of the fetus and the ovaries.

An early diagnosis of pregnancy can also be made because pregnancy causes definite changes in the thermograms of the breasts and uterus. Other uses include the detection of hidden abscesses and tumors, determination of the severity of damage in a burned area and the rate of healing in wounds.

The chief drawback is that the equipment is very expensive.

Thermograms, when they can be used to replace X rays, are much safer. In time, less expensive machines for this purpose may be produced.

Q—I had one breast removed because of cancer. Now my arm on that side is swollen. What can I do to reduce the swelling?

A—About 50 per cent of the women who have a breast removed for cancer have swelling of the arm.

This is because in an effort to remove any possible cancer cells in the area your surgeon had to remove the lymph nodes and vessels that carry lymph from your arm toward your heart.

Sometimes this swelling clears up in a few weeks. Meanwhile you should keep your arm raised on a pillow when you are lying down. If the swelling persists, use an elastic weave bandage.

Destroy Civil War Torpedo

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP)—A century-old experimental torpedo—nudged from its Civil War grave in the old Mississippi River channel near Vicksburg—has been detonated.

Demolition experts blasted the cigar-shaped Union navy torpedo yesterday at Greenville Air Force Base.

The torpedo was discovered Sunday by William W. Felker of Greenville, while fishing near Vicksburg. Felker said he drove home "with the thing rolling around in the back of my car."

A. W. Banton, resident historian of the Vicksburg National Military Park, said a check with the Smithsonian Institute indicated the torpedo was the first such of Civil War vintage ever discovered.

TROUBLE OVER TRAINS — Wives of C. & O. trainmen scuffled with police yesterday in Grand Rapids. They protested for their husbands by blocking trains in retaliation for the injunction prohibiting railroad men from striking over new work rules.

Rail Wives Halt 4 Trains

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Irate railroad wives, described by the presiding judge as "very refined women," yesterday halted four Chesapeake & Ohio trains by standing on the tracks at two crossings.

The women, wives of workers affected by new nationwide work rules, protested the rules and said they worked hardships on their husbands. They carried signs and battled and hosted police who tried to drag them off the tracks.

The women were arrested and fined $10. But Grandville Justice Henry Alkema suspended the fines against Mrs. Donald Rice, 32, of Wyoming, Mich., and Mrs. Rolling Urban, 32, Cedar Springs, Mich. after seven other pickets came to his office and offered to plead guilty to the charges of obstructing an officer.

Alkema described the women as "very refined ladies" and said they promised not to take part in such a demonstration again.

About 40 women took part in the demonstrations, all wives of C&O engineers, brakemen and firemen. They blocked a Chicago bound train for 23 minutes and a Detroit bound train for 30 minutes.

Two incoming trains also were delayed about one half hour until police could clear the tracks.

Some of the women charged police with tearing their clothing as they attempted to move them from the tracks. Police refused comment on the charges.

One demonstration was in suburban Grandville and one here. At the local demonstration the women marched in a circle on the tracks.

Police formed a skirmish line and tried to force the women from the tracks, but the indomitable pickets squirmed free and resumed their stance. Police called for reinforcements and finally cleared the tracks.

Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Urban were arrested at the Grandville demonstration.

The wives said the railroad had ordered their husbands re-assigned and said the action was unfair. The company said the assignments were in line with the recent national arbitration decision.

Junior Editors Quiz on MARS

QUESTION: Do astronomers think there is life on Mars?

ANSWER: The surface of Mars can be seen more clearly than that of other planets and it has certain features which suggest that some kind of life may exist.

Experts agree that Mars has some air around it, although this atmosphere is thinner than ours on Earth. Mars is tilted on its axis, giving it seasons something like ours.

Its north and south poles have white caps when each pole comes into its cold season, suggesting they are covered with frost or snow. With spring, the white vanishes and dark green patches appear which many believe to be some kind of primitive plant such as moss.

With autumn, these turn brown, as our plants do on Earth. A large part of the planet appears red—supposedly because of iron oxides. This color gives the plants its name, since Mars was the ancient god of war, and the color of war is red.

Many astronomers have seen straight lines on Mars which have been called "canals," built to conduct water—others say these are simply cracks of different color rock.

Although many astronomers think there is plant life of some kind, most doubt that intelligent, higher beings can exist, because of the very small amount of water and air.

FOR YOU TO DO: Get some adult to help you locate Mars in the sky.

Truck Driver Killed in Detroit Collision

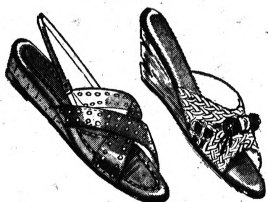

DETROIT (AP) — William D. Page, 25, of Wayne, a delivery truck driver, was killed Tuesday in a collision involving two moving autos and a parked car.

The drivers of the moving cars escaped injury but Page was crushed to death in a vain leap for safety from his van as it was rolling over, police said. The truck fell on him.

Ike Tells of 3 Periods of Disability During 8 Years in Office

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — That old Ike magic was in his smile, and in the tumultuous applause which greeted the springing of the old soldier.

Lawyers are not ordinarily the most demonstrative of our population, but as former President Eisenhower strode into the American Bar Association's "Forum on Presidential Inability," they might have been mistaken for teen-agers welcoming a Beatle.

The standing ovations before and after his man-to-man talk, the swell of repeated hand-clappings, and the chuckles at his sallies seemed to demonstrate anew that President Lyndon Baines Johnson's most formidable opponent would be a candidate named Ike.

Hale, pink-checked and full of vitality, the ex-president gave living proof that any constitutional change must provide iron-clad guarantees that a disabled president be able to resume the office which he might temporarily cede to a vice president.

With disarming candor, Ike freely admitted that thrice during his own White House tenure he would have been incapable of making a crucial decision, if the enemy had chosen such times to strike.

His white eyebrows traveling around his forehead as he flashed the familiar, lop-sided grin, he told lawyers that he intended to discuss presidential disability "from the standpoint of a patient."

PERSONAL OPINION
"I have a very personal opinion," he said, "because three times I found myself with a disability that might have prevented me from carrying out my duties in the event of a crisis."

"One morning at two o'clock I had a pain and the doctor came," he said. "He gave me something in the arm. The next thing I knew I was several miles away, under an oxygen tent."

After his heart attack, White House staff members were not permitted to see him for a week, he said, and newspapers were also denied him. Thus he was totally out of touch with what was going on in the world, and not for several weeks afterwards was he able to resume his presidential duties in full—from a hospital bed.

Following an operation a year later, he said, "I felt nothing of disability except extreme hurt — pain — which made me unable to carry out my duties."

MOST PERILOUS
He was about to joke about his third, and perhaps most perilous presidential illness. "I had a spasm of the brain — if any," he grinned.

"For 24 hours I had an absolute loss of memory of words. I could walk around, but if someone came to see me I couldn't possibly remember his name."

"This would have offered a total gap in my ability to function in the event of enemy action."

Thrusting his hands deep into the pants pockets of his slate-colored suit, Ike pointed out that a president can be "equally disabled" in a plane over the ocean or at some other isolated spot, if communications failed.

For that reason, he strongly underwrote the Bar Association's proposal that a president, with the approval of the House and Senate, should be able to name his own vice president to fill a vacancy such as that which exists today.

"A president and vice president must be able to see eye-to-eye — to have a real rapport such as grew in my case" with Vice President Richard M. Nixon, he said, because no one except a vice president who attends all national security and Cabinet meetings is prepared to act intelligently in the event of a foreign policy crisis.

With such knowledge, he smiled, a president or acting president can make a decision "in his bedroom, or on the golf course."

General Eisenhower, who has never quite closed the door to a vice presidential draft, the Republican convention in July, sounded like he considered the vice presidency as a decidedly attractive job.

Optometrists Rap Federal Program

BOYNE FALLS (AP) — The government's Area Redevelopment Administration came under attack Tuesday by the Michigan Optometric Association.

The Association, holding its annual convention here, adopted a resolution charging the ARA has failed in its purpose of creating jobs in depressed areas.

Dr. Robert Britton of Charlotte was elevated to president, succeeding Dr. Ralph Howard of Battle Creek. Dr. Thomas Sandon of Detroit was named president-elect.

Teen Admits Setting Fires at Orphanage

CULLMAN, Ala. (AP) — A teen-age orphan was in the city jail today after officers said he had confessed to setting three costly fires at the Childhaven Orphanage because he was unhappy over a change of administrators.

Police Chief R. B. Moyer said the boy, 14, a timid youth who had been in the orphanage since age 3, signed a statement admitting he set fires on April 2, May 6 and May 11.

The May 6 fire virtually destroyed the third floor of the orphanage's main building and forced the evacuation of children housed there. No one was hurt. Damage was placed at $45,512.

Dearie, Do You Remember When...

Older the Memory, More Valuable It Is

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is one thing in life that increases in value as you get older.

The more you have to remember the richer you are, and the longer you live the more worth while things you have to recall — if you've had any luck at all.

You've had your fair share of nostalgia if you can look back and remember when —

Spinach was the vegetable bane of childhood, because parents said, "It's full of iron — and iron is good for you."

The dentist was pleased if you brushed your teeth at night and morning. Even most rich people didn't bother to brush after every meal.

There was a difference between masculine and feminine areas of power. Mother was the expert on anything pertaining to the house, father was the unchallenged authority on such matters as baseball, politics and the tariff.

NAUGHTY WORDS

One of the secret diversions in high school English classes was juking up the naughty words in the works of William Shakespeare.

There was no greater thrill than getting to feed a carrot to one of the great gray horses that pulled the fire department's hook and ladder wagon.

If you were trusted to go outside and beat the dust from the blackboard erasers, all your en-vicious schoolmates called you "Teacher's pet!"

Medicine, if it was to do you any real good, had to taste bad — and it usually was colored dark brown.

SISSY SPORT

Golf and tennis were both regarded as sissy games played largely by well-to-do people who weren't physically up to the wear and tear of body contact sports.

Hospitals were feared by most persons. They were regarded as places where you went to die rather than to get well.

Anybody who got his car up to more than 60 miles an hour was considered a reckless daredevil.

Every blonde in America wanted to look like Jean Harlow, and every brunette like Clara bow.

Teen-agers screamed almost as loudly over the singing of a beanpole kid named Frank Sinatra as they do now over the music of England's four hairy Beatles.

People of 40 were thought of as old but still employable.

Every well-brought-up little girl took piano lessons; every little body studied either the violin or the saxophone.

English sparrows were more of a bane to city dwellers than starlings or pigeons are now.

INEXPENSIVE TOY

You could buy a child a satisfactory toy for $5 — and get back more than $4 in change.

An alarmist was a fellow who thought there might really ever be a second World War.

Conservatives thought Norman Thomas was a dangerous radical who would surely destroy the capitalist system — if the five-day work week didn't do it first by wrecking our moral fiber.

WIDELY ADMIRER

Oratory was still widely admired, and a political candidate who couldn't give a stirring two-hour speech was hardly worth voting for.

Any stenographer risked her reputation if she showed up at the office wearing red fingernail polish.

Only the very wealthy worried about the income tax. The working man who got a full week's paid vacation a year felt he was fortunate. And only sick people ever were put on diets.

Those were the days. Remember?

Owosso Elects Council

OWOSSO (AP) — Voters Tuesday elected Owosso's first 7-member city council under a new charter approved by the electorate in April. The council is to hire a city manager.

Action Urged in Auto Deaths

NEW YORK (AP) — "There must be public understanding of the problem and public action to correct it," says Alfred P. Sloan Jr. of the nation's auto traffic death toll.

Sloan, former chairman of General Motors Corp. expressed the sentiment Tuesday night in a message to a highway safety meeting.

The meeting was a dinner honoring broadcasters and advertisers for safety promotion and at which the 16th annual Alfred P. Sloan Radio-TV Awards were presented.

Sloan, 89 this week, sent a message to the meeting since he was unable to attend at the last minute.

Advertising sponsors receiving 7-member city council under a new charter approved by the electorate in April. The council is to hire a city manager.

More Doctors—but Rural Areas Still Suffer

(Editor's Note—In parts of the United States, many communities are without a doctor to take care of their growing medical needs. This condition exists despite the fact that the nation's medical schools have increased their output of doctors. The following articles, first of two, explores the reasons for this seeming contradiction.)

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO — American medical schools are winning a tough struggle to produce bumper crops of new doctors each year, but that doesn't mean everyone will find it easy to get a doctor to come to his home at night to find out what's causing John's stomach ache.

Although the nation's supply of doctors has grown faster than the population explosion since the start of this decade, many rural and small town areas are without a physician. And more and more medical school graduates after years of struggle to become physicians, are going into the selective, higher paying specialties.

Opinions differ on whether there is an actual doctor shortage in the United States.

A resounding "yes" comes from small town patients who have to drive to a larger city to find a doctor, from city residents who spend hours waiting their turn in a busy doctor's office, and from suburban residents who have trouble locating a general practitioner.

ISSUES DENIAL.

But Dr. Hugh Hussey, director of the American Medical Association division of scientific activities and former dean of the Georgetown University School of Medicine, Washington, gives a "qualified no" to the question.

He said the physician-population ratio, which measures the number of physicians available for each 100,000 persons, is more favorable today than 10 years ago. He said this greater physician supply has been and will be able to meet increasing demands for medical care stemming from general prosperity and expanded sickness insurance programs.

But he added that he could not give an unqualified "no" because of his conviction that "we could use more physicians right now—in education and research to take advantage of rapidly developing new knowledge — and in practice to relieve the modern physician's problem of chronic overwork."

BLAMES SPECIALIZATION

Norman Davis, director of the program for community medical assistance of the Sears, Roebuck Foundation, believes many small communities are hard hit by a doctor shortage and he blames the trend toward specialization in medicine.

Davis, who specializes in assisting small communities to prepare for and attract physicians, said the AMA and medicine in general have done a good job in boosting the output from the nation's medical schools.

"But it doesn't do a lot of good if 78 per cent of each year's graduating class specialize," he added. "Maybe the ratio of doctors is increasing, but what good does it serve if it doesn't meet the needs of the community?"

In 1950 there were 80 approved medical schools in the United States. Today there are 87, with 11 additional universities having construction commitments or planning to build medical schools.

RISE CONSTANT

Today there are 141.7 physicians for every 100,000 persons in the United States and Dr. Hussey said the rise has been constant in recent years.

The generally rosy physician supply situation existing today didn't just happen.

A job came after America entered the space race. Costs of financing a medical education had soared and many top medical prospects in high schools and colleges went into glamorous scientific fields requiring fewer years of study.

INTENSE RECRUITING

Intensive medical recruitment and financial assistance programs sprang up nationally and in the various states to cope with the problem.

The AMA and many constituent medical societies offered scholarships and loan funds to medical students. In the last two years, the AMA has made nearly 14,000 loans totaling some $16 million.

Several medical schools have begun experimental programs to consolidate and correlate courses so that the years of formal study can be reduced.

The American Academy of General Practice established a project to visit students groups and interest them in becoming generalists.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAMS

Even before the advent of the space age, local medical societies inaugurated programs to attract graduates of medical colleges in their states.

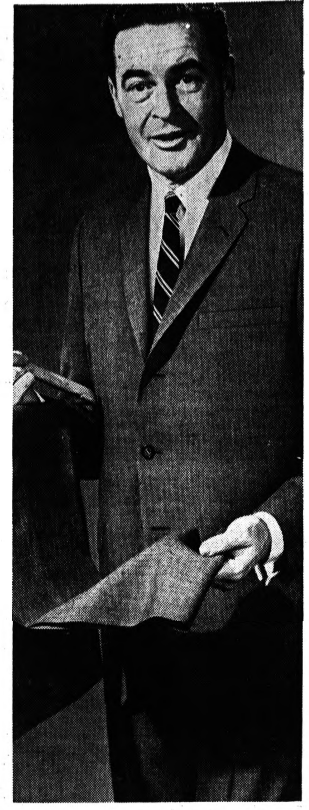

A medical society in Alabama offers student gifts of a medical commission said a goal of 10,500 that year appears as "a reasonable, tentative objective to be increased or diminished as events in the next few years may warrant." There were 7,264 graduates in 1962-63.

The world's oldest legislative body is the Althing of Iceland which was founded in 930 A.D.

Dems Plan Tactics on Ballot Bill, Urge Romney Action

LANSING (AP) — Democratic legislators were preparing today to ask Gov. George W. Romney to act — one way or the other — on the "Massachusetts ballot" bill before Friday in order that their party's petition drive against it can begin immediately.

by the Republican governor, the Democratic legislators were ready to consider anew the question of giving immediate effect to a bill aimed at postponing the Aug. 4 primary.

The strategy was agreed upon Tuesday night as a score of top Democrats who comprise the party's "policy committee" met at a motel in nearby East Lansing.

"Quite frankly, we are trying to make a deal with Romney," said one party official.

Although avoiding such blunt terminology, Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency said the party is concerned about losing some of the 90 days it will have to prepare, circulate and file petitions against the ballot bill.

In order that none of these days be lost, the Democratic chairman said, the appeal would be for Romney to sign the bill before the legislature adjourns Friday.

The bill — passed by Republicans who control the legislature — would wipe out the straight party ticket method of voting and substitute a ballot on which candidates are listed by office, requiring a separate vote for each office.

Democrats, who depend on a strong straight party vote, fear the change and have pledged the petition drive to prevent its going into effect for the 1964 election.

Romney and Republicans, on the other hand, are eager for the primary bill to be given immediate effect so it can be effective ahead of the Aug. 4 primary. It is intended to postpone the date.

Immediate effect for the bill presumably would remove any doubts as to its validity in carrying out the intent of pushing back the date.

Davis-Lucas Vows Repeated in Home Rite

Clariss Sue Lucas and William George Davis were wed recently in the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bell on Dundee Road.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Gus Lucas of South Squirrel Road, Mrs.

Chester Skiba of East Montcalm Street and William Davis of Oxbow Lake.

For the midafternoon ceremony performed by Justice Patrick Daly, the bride chose a street-length gown of ice blue taffeta with bodice of white Chantilly lace.

A shoulder-length veil with silk tiara completed her ensemble. She carried blue-tipped white carnations.

Mrs. Russell Dosch of Ulita attended the bride and James Davis was best man for his brother.

Auxiliary Evaluates Activities

Efforts of the past year were assessed by the Women's Auxiliary to Pontiac General Hospital during their annual luncheon meeting at the Pine Lake Country Club Tuesday.

Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, spoke of the growth of auxiliary services and the group's program to promote nurse education.

Mrs. Herbert E. Norris of Detroit, state president of the Michigan Association of Hospital Auxiliaries, stated that the hours of service given by state-wide auxiliary members has doubled over the last year.

NEW OFFICERS

Mrs. Norris installed the group's new officers. Re-elected president, Mrs. Forest R. Wood will be assisted by vice presidents Dr. Mary Guthrie, Mrs. Alec Capalls and Mrs. Ross Elliott.

Other officers are: Mrs. Arnold L. Brown, recording secretary; Mrs. William Freyermuth, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Cecil McCallum, treasurer; Mrs. Maxwell Doerr, controller, and Mrs. Howard W. Waider, parliamentarian.

SLIDE REVIEW

Donald Carros, assistant administrator, presented "Marvelous Machines," a slide review of equipment in use at the hospital.

The state convention of the Michigan Association of Hospital Auxiliaries will be held June 15 at Mackinac Island.

Mrs. John J. Marra and Mrs. William Fox were in charge of arrangements for the day.

The local group's membership tea will be held June 3 at the Lake Orion home of Mrs. Marcus Freud.

Public Welfare Forum

An open forum on "Public Welfare and the Relationship of Federal, State, and Local Programs," is being planned by the League of Women Voters.

Slated for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Services Building on Franklin Boulevard, the meeting will inform listeners on the individual functioning of the various welfare agencies in Oakland County.

Among those organizations to be represented include Oakland County Health Department, Oakland County Welfare Department, League of Women Voters of Royal Oak, Catholic Family Services and Oakland County Association of "Big Brothers."

Demonstrations, dramatizations and panel discussions will make up the evening's presentation.

League of Women Voters committee members organizing the program include Mrs. Francis McGinty, chairman, and Laura Belz, Mrs. George Flessland, Mrs. Glenn Griffin and Mrs. Barney Habel.

Because public welfare affects nearly all citizens either as receivers, workers or taxpayers, all interested persons are welcome to attend the affair which is a League public service.

Child Study Group Installs New Leaders

Continuation of activities of the Child Study Group III were insured Tuesday as officers were installed and committees appointed.

Mrs. Robert Shorey will lead the group as president, with the assistance of Mrs. Richard L. Kieft, first vice president; and Mrs. William H. Taylor Jr., second vice president.

Mrs. Howard Deeter will be recording secretary; Mrs. Harrison Hanson, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Robert T. Flynn, treasurer.

Committee chairmen for the coming year were announced by Mrs. Shorey. Working on group projects will be Mrs. William E. Hutchinson, Mrs. Carl W. Bird, Mrs. Flynn, Mrs. Emil Bair, Mrs. Robert E. Bego, Mrs. John Hubbard, Mrs. William L. Belaney, Mrs. Kieft, Mrs. Edward W. O'Brien and Mrs. Walter Godsell.

Mrs. Knight opened her Bloomfield Hills home for the luncheon meeting. Mrs. Bird was in charge of the event, assisted by Mrs. Edward Forsyth, Mrs. Fred Mills, Mrs. Wendell Doolin and Mrs. Leslie Miller.

Other activities of the business meeting included annual reports by officers and committee chairmen.

No summer meetings will be held and the club will again resume fall activities with a meeting Sept. 22.

City Council Closes Season

New officers were installed at the final business meeting of the season for the Pontiac City Council of Beta Sigma Phi sorority Monday evening.

Mrs. Lawrence Ettinger accepted the gavel as incoming president.

Other officers included Mrs. Elwyn Hall, vice president; Carl Johnson, recording secretary; Mrs. O Ray Courtney, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Russell Perkins, treasurer.

Mrs. Perkins hosted the group in her South Sharon Street home for the 8:30 p.m. meeting.

Taking office as leaders of Child Study group III are (from left) Mrs. William H. Taylor Jr., of Ottawa Drive, second vice president; Mrs.

Robert Shorey, Wenonah Drive, president; and Mrs. Robert T. Flynn, Ogema Road, treasurer.

Challenge Thrown to Ladies' Unit

"A changing Pontiac challenges our church—problems and possible solutions" was discussed at a Tuesday noon luncheon meeting of the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church.

Discussing the theme were Judge Donald Adams, Max Adams, and Rev. Galen Hershey.

Judge Adams of the juvenile court stressed a religious affiliation's having a solid influence in the lives of young people.

As manager of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, Max Adams related the importance to the business climate of having an active church in the central business district.

Hershey, the pastor of the church, explained this is a downtown church by heritage and choice.

Two Couples Honored at Wedding Showers

By SIGNE KARLSTROM
Honoring George Russell Jr., son of the George Russells of Lone Pine Road, Dr. and Mrs. Luther R. Leader recently gave a dinner party in their Cranbrook Road home.

On Friday in the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, George will take as his bride Robin Duke Harris, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ivar D. Harris of Grosse Pointe.

The rehearsal dinner which will include relatives and out-of-town guests will be given by the senior George Russells in the Bloomfield Hills Country Club on Thursday.

Previously Mr. and Mrs. William Hoglund entertained for brunch honoring the young couple.

Nancy Roe Knight, daughter of the Robert B. Knights of Wing Lake Road, has been honored with numerous parties.

Mothers—Don't Worry

Affair Created in Diary

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: This is for the mother who read her 16-year-old daughter's diary and was "worried sick."

I, too was 16 when my mother read my diary (20 years ago). It read like this: "After chair practice we all went to Margaret's house and as usual her mother was out. We were popping corn when Margaret's brother came in with some friends."

"R.M." sure is the love of my life. When Margaret's mother came home, "R.M." was showing us how the coach gives rubdowns.

"I'm sure she thought the worst! Next week after choir we will go to Betty's as her folks will be out of town.

"Oh, boy! Here's hoping 'R.M.' will be there."

Some of the above was true, but the part about "R.M." was all wishful thinking. I had a terrific crush on him and he didn't know it was alive.

I filled my diary with one imaginary love affair after another. Of course my mother would never believe that it was all made up.

I'm sure that many teenagers do this today.

My own little girl (13) is now entering the thrilling age of secrets, and I am glad I have a secret to help guide me. Sincerely,

AUTHOR OF A TEEN-AGE DIARY

DEAR ABBY: I seldom disagree with you, but when you say that it is "unforgivable" for a mother to read her daughter's diary, I can't go along with that.

It is the DUTY of parents to keep a close eye on the children until they are able to assume full responsibility for their actions.

If a mother can learn something that will be helpful in guiding her daughter by reading her diary, or letters, or listening in on telephone conversations, I say more power to her!

The "loss of privacy" is not nearly as serious to 15- or 16-year-olds as the trouble they could get into when they get away with things they shouldn't.

It doesn't do any good to hear the confessions after a girl is in trouble when the trouble is evident.

Robed Choir Gives Music for Ceremony

In a recent candlelight ceremony at All Saints Episcopal Church, Margaret Voy Ambler became the bride of Richard Ralph Remund of Detroit.

Rev. C. George Widdfield officiated at the all-white wedding with music by a robed choir.

The bride is the daughter of Harry Ambler of Lorraine Court and the late Mrs. Ambler. Her husband's parents are the Ralph E. Remunds of Detroit.

SILK ORGANZA

The bride's gown of white silk organza over tulle was appliqued with seed pearls. A matching headpiece was attached to her silk illusion veil. She carried white roses.

With honor maid Carole Demsky of Detroit were bridesmaids, Mrs. Edgar Bilups and Mrs. Henry Ambler.

Kathleen and Randy Ambler attended the aunt as flower-girl and ring-bearer.

Ronald Dombrowski performed the duties of best man. Guests were seated by the bride's brothers Henry and Hugh Ambler.

Enemy Is 'Be-Always-Sweet,' Not Aunt

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My father-in-law is dead and an aunt of my husband lives with his mother. She is a very dominating woman but my husband says I should ignore her. She thinks I spend too much money on my cigarettes and keeps bringing me articles on how they will give me cancer. If she is here for a meal she has to know what I paid a pound for my meat and even asks me why I don't learn to cut my little boy's hair instead of taking him to the barber.

Answer: What would she do if you shoved her back next time she pushes? *

If you said, for instance, "Aunt Flo, let's get this straight. Pleading you is not the whole aim of my life." What would she do? Accuse you of rudeness? Of extravagance? Slam on her hat and go home? Complain to your husband?

None of these responses could really hurt you. Not one could put you in the hospital. You would survive each of them.

Maybe the real bully you're scared of is not your husband's aunt. Maybe the real one is lodged right inside you; and its name is Be-Always-Sweet. Nine times out of 10, the really scary bullies are not the outside ones but our inside ones; and none is more merciless than the Be-Always-Sweet one.

It is because it is so cruel that I can't say to you, "Make this pushy relative aware of your power to shove her back."

If we have this particular bully inside of us, we can get a most awful kickback for offending it by saying something not sweet and truthful.

It will carry on like any other bullying slave owner who realizes that his slave is demanding freedom.

When we want to say the unsweet, defiant words to someone who's badgering us, it will lose its cruellest accusations on us — to scare us back into our former meekness and bondage.

Our parents teach us to construe the Be-Always-Sweet bully inside us.

As children trying to learn how to survive, we drew the inevitable conclusion from the terrors inflicted on us by our parents' bad tempers, impatience and punishments.

We concluded that sweet meekness was safety and any unsweet, truthful resistance dangerous.

I am saying these things because I am sure that your husband's aunt is only one of many people whom you allow to encroach.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Now's the time to take stock of your men's shirts—you can turn a good shirt with frayed cuffs into a "good" shirt for the rest of the summer.

Just cut the sleeves off, hem them (you might check on the different finishes you find on ready-made shirts) and they'll be just like new ones. There is no difference between the styling of long and short sleeves except on sport shirts.

READER TIP

"When patching sheets, sew a little colored thread into the hem. If badly patched, sew in two colors. This saves embarrassment when guests come and you pull out the wrong sheets."

Mrs. T. M.

"Dear Eunice Farmer:

"I am not the skirt and blouse type, but think I would like an overblouse if the skirt were attached to a bodice. I can't seem to find any patterns for these. Can you tell me what to use as to pattern, zippers, etc?"

Dear Mrs. C. A. R.:

I would suggest you get a pattern for a sleeveless dress: one that has a rather low front and back would be most comfortable. Use the skirt part of this pattern for your garment fabric. Use a lightweight cotton, china silk, etc., for the bodice. Dart the bodice to fit and perhaps add a zipper for a back closing.

Sometimes you might consider a variation of this by making this type of garment out of the same fabric with a separate overblouse, you can make it so much more versatile by wearing the dress with or without the blouse.

"Dear Eunice:

"Many patterns for sleeveless dresses and blouses have the facing for the armholes cut in one with the facing of the neck. I cannot get a nice smooth finish at the shoulder by using the pattern instructions. You must have the answer!"

Mrs. K. G. N.

Dear Mrs. K. G. N.:

When stitching the facing to the neck and armholes of your garment, and your stitching two inches from the shoulder on ALL SEAMS. Grade and clip your seams.

Turn the FRONT shoulder strap right side out and slip into the back shoulder strap so that the right sides of the garment are together. Machine stitch this shoulder seam.

Press the seam open. Next, stitch the two facing seams together at the shoulder and press. Pull this finished strap OUT further so that you may continue stitching each side of the strap. Grade the seams and press and pull through to the right side of garment. You will find a perfect finish each time, be sure to keep these step-by-step instructions and follow them carefully — it works like a dream!

You'll be lining shorts and other washable garments for your summer clothes. If you use lawn or batiste (both make excellent linings) be sure to shrink them first by placing in hot water, dry thoroughly and press. This will avoid any shrinking later which is always irritating when you press your clothes.

One for Road: an Ancient Bag Gone Glamorous

In the last year, the tote has grown up and gone glamorous. It's also bred a host of handsome offspring, in such assorted shapes and sizes as to satisfy each possible requirement.

What started as a sort of sack — a replica in paper of a paper bag — is now the pampered darling of the best designers. For a pleasant change, however, high fashion hasn't interfered with function; utility and elegance are equal partners.

Today the tote is found in everything from tweed to taffety... from the newest "double shoe" or boot tote to descendants of the first all-purpose pouch.

DEAR POLLY — Clean heavy batter or dough off the beaters on your mixer by placing them between the tines of a fork and working down.

The batter falls away easily and the beaters will be easier to wash.

Traveling men who cannot find the stays that go in their shirt collars will find that a toothpick on each side will make a good emergency stay.

I need your help with a sewing term that is unfamiliar to me. What does "couching down stitches with couching stitches" mean in embroidery talk? — MRS. E. W.

MRS. E. W. and others interested in embroidery — Plain couching is when a heavy thread or group of threads are laid on the fabric along a desired line or pattern.

With another thread, hold this heavy thread down with short stitches across it, made at regular intervals.

Be careful that the heavy thread does not pucker.

More elaborate couching may be done by using cross-stitch, buttonhole stitch and so on to hold down the heavy thread or threads. — POLLY

Bob Kennedy Continues to Serve Memory of Martyred Brother

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six months after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, Robert F. Kennedy tends the flame of his brother's memory. Dropping the trappings of mourning—except for a black tie adorned, as ever, with a PT-boat clip—the young attorney general has bent every effort toward keeping the spirit of his brother alive throughout the world.

On June 26, he will take his wife, Ethel, and speak on the steps of West Berlin's City Hall—at the John F. Kennedy Plaza.

There, precisely one year earlier, President Kennedy stood and told a wildly cheering

Search Fails to Find Muskegon Fishermen

MUSKEGON (AP)—The Coast Guard and sheriff's deputies searched vainly into dark Tuesday night for two fishermen reported missing since Monday on Muskegon Lake.

throng of Berliners: "Ich bin ein Berliner."—"I am a Berliner."

On Friday, in honor of the late president's 47th birthday anniversary, he will appear on a live, transatlantic television program via the Telstar II satellite to discuss Kennedy's spiritual legacy and his impact abroad. He will be joined by the president's widow, Jacqueline Kennedy; younger brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and foreign dignitaries.

CONNEERSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A Michigan boy who had come to Indiana with his mother to attend the funeral of a relative died Tuesday of injuries suffered when he was struck by a car on a Connersville street. Police said Anthony D. Sleet, 3, son of Mrs. Anthony Sleet of Ann Arbor, was struck when he ran into the street.

into what he hopes will be a fitting memorial to his brother.

From the time details for the library were announced in early January, Kennedy has been a whirlwind of activity. He has flown countless times between Washington, New York and Boston to get the project moving.

A key phase of the library is its oral history facility. The taped voices of persons associated with John F. Kennedy will record for posterity their impressions and recollections.

Robert Kennedy has recorded nearly 100 hours of these recollections himself in interviews with former ambassador and writer John Bartlow Martin. The interviews aren't nearly finished.

Prison Executioner Dies of Heart Attack

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—The executioner for the Texas prison system, Capt. Joe Byrd, died Tuesday of a heart attack at the age of 78.

Byrd's role as official executioner was a closely guarded secret until his death. Officials declined to say how many times he had thrown the electric chair switch.

This week, he was present at the opening of an exhibit of Kennedy library mementos in New York—and is likely to show the late president's children, Caroline, 6 and John Jr., 3, and from time to time brings them to the Justice Department.

While serving Kennedy's memory, the attorney general also remembers to serve his family.

Many Suffer Heart Attacks Every Day

Twinge of Chest Pain Triggers Fear for Many in U.S.

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the ninth in a series of 12 articles condensed from the new book, "Your Heart Has Nine Lives.")

By ALTON BLAKELEE and JEREMIAH STAMLER, M.D.

Within the next 24 hours, 4,000 to perhaps 10,000 American men and women will suffer heart attacks — their first, or a recurrence.

It's no wonder that a twinge of chest pain can trigger chilling fear.

We fear not only sudden death, but also that just one attack means an end to normal family and social life and work — a sentence to invalidism.

This fear is unjustified, as shown by the example of President Johnson and former President Eisenhower and many hundreds of thousands of men and women.

Over 60 per cent of people do survive sudden, acute heart attacks. Four out of five resume normal living and return to work, although sometimes at less strenuous jobs.

GOOD STEAD

And whatever we do to minimize the chances of an initial attack, can stand us in good stead if trouble comes.

If you are concerned about your heart, or have chest pains or other symptoms, a checkup and frank discussion with your doctor frequently brings good news — the pains don't involve your heart at all.

Indigestion, spasms of the esophagus, tightness of muscles from nervous tension, arthritis, gallbladder disease or certain infections and other conditions can be responsible, exonerating your heart entirely.

With good treatment, if a heart attack does come, years of productive, happy life can lie ahead. Research is producing more refinements and techniques to increase the ratio of good recoveries.

ROAD BACK

The road back to health can follow various byways, suited to the individual case, but some general guidelines apply to most patients.

Complete and total rest in bed is the first immediate rule, to take all unnecessary burdens from the stricken heart.

Just like an injured muscle, the heart needs time to repair itself. With time, scar tissue forms in the wounded area. With time, other arteries can distribute nourishment to the affected area.

Most heart specialists immediately put patients on a low-calorie diet, since excessive eating and weight add to the heart's task.

SERUM CHOLESTEROL

If serum cholesterol is high, the physician will most likely prescribe a diet to bring it down.

He most likely will say no smoking, or no cigarettes.

And most specialists prescribe suitable exercise and activity after the heart has recovered. The man doing physical work is frequently back at his old job, as is the businessman, the lawyer, newspaperman, or salesman.

In general, the rules for recovery and avoidance of a second attack will embrace most if not all the elements of the mode of life, described in preceding chapters, aimed at reducing the chances of ever suffering any premature attack at all.

TALK FRANKLY

Every patient should talk frankly with his doctor about his progress, his prospects, the date when he can go back to work, and resume hobbies or sports or sex relations.

Anything puzzling or bothersome should be brought into the open.

Many heart patients find better health than they had enjoyed before, by changing habits which had not been health-promoting, or by finding new interests in a wider world.

Some come around to the type of philosophy expressed by the famous golfer, Walter Hagen: "Don't hurry and don't worry. You're only here on a short visit, so be sure to smell the flowers."

ANOTHER INEVITABLE?

Once a heart attack is another inevitable?

Hundreds of thousands of heart patients attest the answer, a hopeful "NO!" They live out normal lifespans. It's not uncommon for a man of 60 at the time of his first attack to live to 80 or 90.

The heart patient, through the way he lives, plays an active role in the effort to ward off repeat attacks. As yet there is no safe, proven drug that will cut down blood cholesterol, or really prevent heart attacks.

Drugs, especially nitroglycerin, are helpful in angina pectoris, the painful cry of a heart hungry for enough blood and oxygen.

BECOME NARROWED

Angina comes about because of atherosclerosis. The coronary arteries become narrowed so that the heart muscle has difficulty at times of exertion or stress in getting enough nourishment.

Angina may develop after a

Dallas Clergy Unit Has Negro Leader

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Pastors' Association has its first Negro president in its four decades.

The Rev. Zan Wesley Holmes Jr., 29, pastor of the 650-member Hamilton Park Methodist Church, was unanimously elected president Tuesday.

Also for the first time, a Roman Catholic was named to the group's board. He is the Rev. Joseph W. Drew, pastor of St. Paul the Apostle church in Richardson.

person has had one or more heart attacks, or it may come on before a frank heart attack has ever occurred.

For the anginal patients, doctors generally advise doing things slowly, avoiding sudden strains from exertion or unaccustomed activities, or lifting heavy objects, or shoveling snow, as well as trying to avoid great emotional upsets.

Excess pounds should be trimmed off, and smoking is often forbidden.

MAJOR CAUSE

Atherosclerosis is a major cause of strokes, when it stuffs up arteries in the chest or neck leading to the brain, or in the brain itself.

Strokes slay and cripple because the brain with its marvelous complex of 10 billion nerve cells is even hungrier for oxygen than is the heart.

If the supply is choked off, you can fall unconscious within seconds, and the brain can be irreversibly damaged within four to five minutes.

Strokes are not just a hazard of old age. They hit a significant percentage of younger men and women in their years of greatest productivity.

MAJOR AND MINOR

Some strokes cause massive damage. But thousands of them are "little strokes" bringing minor changes in judgment, abilities, skills, speech, memory or behavior.

All is not lost even if a stroke has occurred, despite severe paralysis or interference with normal functions.

Modest improvement usually comes spontaneously unless the damage is extreme, and it can be promoted by early passive exercising, by heat treatments, and other means.

Seeming miracles are being achieved in retraining the brain. Hope is one of the greatest medicines. The person who is unable to talk today may be able to talk within a month or more, or recover use of paralyzed legs or hands.

As for prevention, whatever you do to make your heart less vulnerable to atherosclerotic attack can also serve as a shield against strokes.

Nehru's Death May Weaken Indian Unity

By HENRY S. BRADSHER
MOSCOW (AP) — He was India.

To the ill-clad man in the 470 million people live, and to the man in the street on the other side of the world he was the national symbol.

Without him, without the combination of dreamy idealism and tough politician, plus the common touch of Jawaharlal Nehru, what will India be?

There are many problems, including how to hold together people so diverse they speak more than a dozen languages; how to maintain the effectiveness of disparate elements in his ruling political party, the Indian National Congress; how to make heard in all corners of

Hot Anger and Impatience Were Leader's Twin Traits

By PRESTON GROVER
AP Bureau Chief in Moscow

Born an aristocrat, Jawaharlal Nehru never achieved the easy relationship with the common man that typified his predecessor, Mohandas Gandhi. But he had a commanding personality that pushed him forward in Indian politics.

Nehru had a violent temper. I once saw him plunge with flying fists into a group of Congress party followers who were slow to clear a way for him.

One of the handsomest leaders of his time, Nehru was vain about his appearance. It was said he wore his white Gandhi cap indoors and out, less as a tribute to the fallen leader than as a cover for the bald head which impaired his good looks.

He believed in atheism more than in the Hindu conception of God, but he never seemed troubled by the deep faith of Gandhi or the intense religious orthodoxy of his Brahmin colleagues in politics.

JAIL A PLEASURE
Nehru spent more than a dozen years in prison for his activities on behalf of Indian independence. But he once told me that jail was almost a pleasure because it gave time for study and reading.

He took little interest in sports. But one relaxed evening he showed a group of correspondents how he kept in shape — standing on his head and indulging in other yogi exercises.

To foreign newsmen, Nehru was a mine of information about the politics, history and customs of his land. He once told me that India had the greatest body of sex literature of any people.

Although an admirer of Gandhi, Nehru was impatient with his predecessor's effort to develop hand industries. As soon as he came into power he began pushing for India's industrialization.

The statue atop the Capitol in Washington was modeled in Rome by an American sculptor, Thomas Crawford, and erected in 1863.

(Editors Note — What sort of man was Jawaharlal Nehru? The recollections of two Associated Press men who have covered India and dealt with Nehru personally over the past 20 years give some insight into this complex figure.)

By HAROLD K. MILKS
AP Bureau Chief, Madrid

I best remember Prime Minister Nehru for the outbursts of anger which came without warning and left subordinates quaking.

These fits of temper usually disappeared as quickly as they flared, and Nehru would often administer a friendly pat to the object of his wrath.

Anger and impatience were twin traits of this leader who succeeded Gandhi as champion of peace and nonviolence. Usually both stemmed from Nehru's determination to pull India from the mire and make it a great nation.

These traits made life a nightmare for Indian security men entrusted with his safety.

HOSTILE CROWDS
In six years spent covering the prime minister, I repeatedly saw him plunge into thick crowds, some of them hostile.

Once, touring eastern India, Nehru became enraged when authorities at one city erected a wire fence around the speaker's platform to protect him from the huge crowd.

Nehru summoned the police commissioner and berated him before the crowd. Glowering, Nehru sat down, refusing to permit the meeting to start until the fence was removed.

At another mass gathering near New Delhi, Nehru became aroused by the noisy audience, who were giving scant attention to a fellow speaker. Leaping from the platform, he plunged into the packed throng, flailing away with his swaggy stick.

ONLY AMUSED
Frightened security guards finally retrieved him from the midst of the crowd, which appeared amused at his outburst.

AP Photo/Asa

World Leaders Grieve

By United Press International
World leaders expressed grief today at the death of India's Premier Jawaharlal Nehru.

(Clement) Attlee said Nehru was "a great world figure... perhaps the dean of world statesmen."

Earl Alexander of Hillsborough, only surviving member of the British Cabinet Mission that set up independent India for 1947, said Nehru "has undoubtedly been of great service to India."

The 1,500 delegates to the U.N. Trade and Development Conference in Geneva observed one minute of silence as a tribute.

British Parliamentary leaders met to consider the possibility of tributes in the House of Commons when it meets Tuesday. There is no precedent for such tributes to a Commonwealth premier, although all parties joined in honoring President John F. Kennedy after his assassination in November.

Vatican sources said Pope Paul VI said a prayer in his private chapel for the Indian leader.

'DEAN OF STATESMEN'
Former Prime Minister Earl

Radio Moscow said the Russian people feel "deep grief" over the death of Nehru, who the broadcast said was a "sincere friend" of the Kremlin.

Handpicked Heir Is Contrast to Late Premier

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—Few Indian politicians are more unlike Jawaharlal Nehru than the man who is the front-runner to succeed him as prime minister of India.

He is Lal Bahadur Shastri, who was handpicked as the ailing premier's unofficial deputy and heir because he had just those qualities which Nehru lacked.

He prefers compromise to conflict; he hides from the limelight; and he keeps his opinions to himself.

The 50-year-old minister without portfolio was able to win the trust of Nehru and his party colleagues because he never competed in the prime minister's own domain of personal magnetism, stirring oratory and the spinning of high-level policies.

Shastri is scarcely 5-feet tall. He has no showy trademarks such as Nehru's rosebud boutonniere.

RELIGIOUS SKEPTIC

Nehru was well-traveled, Cambridge-educated and a skeptic about religion.

Shastri has never been out of the Indian subcontinent and he is devoted to Hinduism.

Nehru was the son of a rich, aristocratic, Brahmin family.

Shastri is the self-made son of a humble village school-teacher.

SACRED CITY

Shastri was born in 1904, near the sacred city of Benares. His father died while he was a child.

He distinguished himself at school in the study of Hindu philosophy and Sanskrit literature. He received the highest scholarly rank of "Shastri."

Although this is a title comparable to the academic degree of bachelor of arts, Shastri adopted it as his name.

Shastri devoted his life to nationalist politics, shuttling back and forth between public office and British jails, like Nehru.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL

His first government job was on the municipal council of the north Indian city of Allahabad.

In 1930 he went to jail for the first time and spent over two years behind bars for anti-British activity.

Shastri's biggest talent has always been in the field of party politics.

He was such a good organizer he was elected secretary general of Nehru's Congress party in his home state, Uttar Pradesh, when he was only 30 years old.

RAILWAY DISASTER

After 15 years in state politics, he was named railways minister but resigned to save the government embarrassment following a railway disaster.

This left him free to manage the Congress party's national campaign in the 1957 general election. Shastri returned to the Cabinet after the election victory, holding various posts.

Nehru began to lean on Shastri in 1962, when a Communist Chinese invasion forced him to drop foreign policy advisor V. K. Krishna Menon.

When the 74-year-old prime minister was suddenly taken ill in January, Shastri was the obvious man to fill in for him.

NO ENEMIES

He had no political enemies, and he held the respect of machine politicians whose elections he often had helped to win.

Shastri has done his official decision-making at a desk next to Nehru's office in the Ministry of External Affairs.

But much of his real political work is handled in the shade of two huge banyan trees on the front lawn of his government villa.

There are no guards at Shastri's home, and anybody with a grievance or petition can wander in through openings in the 10-foot-high hedge which surrounds his garden.

OLD-FASHIONED PATRIARCH

Shastri is an old-fashioned Hindu patriarch who likes to have his whole family around him. This is one reason for his outdoor office hours.

His nine-room villa is too crowded for business, with his wife, four sons, two daughters, his daughters-in-law and six grandchildren.

Hinduism influences Shastri's private life.

His favorite recreation is listening to classical Indian music, which often consists of Hindu hymns.

SOS: Save Our Stream

Issue Paint Creek Call

UAW President Walter Reuther last night issued an urgent SOS to six northeast Oakland County communities affected by the Paint Creek Citizens Conservation Committee.

Elected chairman of the group at its organizational meeting, Reuther told approximately 75 persons attending why and how they should "Save Our Stream."

Residents of Rochester, Lake Orion and Avon, Oakland, Orion and Oxford town-

It begins west of Oxford, then travels down through Lake Orion, Oakland and Avon Townships, and Rochester. It merges with the Clinton River southeast of Rochester.

What's the problem? Pollution. And the committee feels it's being carried in a rising tide of trouble.

"We are the custodians of that stream," Reuther said.

He conjured up memories of the old Paint Creek—when his tee officers, Oscar Boyeau, Oakland County Health Department sanitarian, explained the county's view.

"We are now at the beginning of cleaning up this entire area," he said.

"The Oakland County Health Department stands solidly behind you."

Boyeau said one corrective measure will be instituted in early 1965, when the Lake Orion Sewage plant is in operation.

SEWER EXTENSION

The sanitarian said the Oakland County Health Department plans to eventually have a large sewer system extending up the Paint Creek basin, which would also aid in remedying the pollution situation.

Reuther, returning to the rostrum, detailed the committee's objectives. He said members would conduct periodic surveys of the stream.

Goals would be to accelerate legislation on water pollution, correctives, control the water flow and pollution, add to the creek's beauty and make it again suitable for recreational purposes.

"We want to involve as many people as possible," he said. He issued blanket invitations to residents and organizations in the area concerned.

MOST WILLING

"We believe 99.9 per cent of the people will be willing to assist cleaning up the creek, when defects they are causing are pointed out."

Stressing the need for a united effort, he said it had already begun.

"The spirit of this thing is illustrated here tonight. The leaflets you have were mimeographed by the UAW and the membership cards were printed by Ford Motor Co."

Asked what the next step is, the committee chairman said meetings of the various subgroups will begin soon.

GROUP OFFICERS

Officers of the group besides Reuther include George Lyon, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lucy Ali, recording secretary; and William Shoup, treasurer.

Heading the area committees are James McCarthy, Rochester, Ed Alward, Avon Township; C. H. Wiest, Oakland Township; Francis Miller, Orion Township; and Irvine Unger, Lake Orion.

Also LaVern Robinson, Oxford Township; and Vic Maes, vice chairman of the Michigan United Conservation Club committee.

ships were on hand for the session at the Lake Orion Junior High School.

"We believe there is sufficient public concern and interest," he said. "We hope to better control the flow of water, improve the fishing, swimming and recreational assets and beautify the creek."

Reuther said the job could be accomplished, if it were started now.

PATH WANDERS

Paint Creek meanders through the six villages and townships, following a crooked southeast-bound path.

SUDSY PROBLEM — One of the pollution contributors most difficult to control is a detergent. Examining samples are (from left) H. W. Poston, federal pollution control agent; Walter Reuther, Chairman of the newly formed Paint Creek Citizens Conservation Committee; and Oscar Boyeau, Oakland County health department sanitarian.

Oxford Legion Post Sets Memorial Day Ceremony

OXFORD—The village's war dead will be honored Saturday with Memorial Day ceremonies sponsored by the Walter Fraser Post No. 108, American Legion.

Post Commander Duane Sprague has issued an invitation to all residents of Oxford to attend the affair, which will begin with presentation of the colors at 10 a.m.

The commemorative ceremony will take place in the Village Park.

OPEN CEREMONIES

Village President Edmund Unger will open the ceremonies and introduce Commander John R. Tobin, United States Naval Reserve Center, Pontiac.

Following the main address, by Commander Tobin, there will be a parade to the Oxford Cemetery.

Graveside services, placing of the wreath and decoration of the graves will take place there. The solemn procedure will close with a salute to the dead by the Marine Corps League Firing Squad, and the playing of taps.

DECORATE GRAVES

Program chairman is Amos F. Odell. In addition to the formal services, the Post 108 legionnaires will decorate graves of all known veterans with flags.

Post Commander Sprague reminded Oxford residents that homes and business places in the village should display the United States flag in observance of the day.

1st Full Week in Troy Post

TROY — Serving in his first full week of duty is John L. Albrecht, new Troy City Engineer and Department of Public Works director.

The new city engineer was appointed by City Manager David E. Firestone, and begins at a salary of $11,400. He is a graduate of Lawrence Institute of Technology and has been assistant city engineer in Oak Park.

OLE SWIMMIN' HOLE? — Youngsters still play near Paint Creek, but for swimming it's useless. Seen viewing the bridge where Atwater crosses the stream in Lake Orion are Chester Decker, 6, and Joe Noble, 16. They won't see many fish here. A sewer empties into the creek near the bridge. The Paint Creek Citizens Conservation Committee hopes to convert the polluted river to its original form, a haven for swimmers, fishermen and hikers.

Waives Exam in Bar Robbery

Flint Man Bound Over to Await Arraignment

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Thomas R. Blower, 40, of Flint waived police court examination Tuesday on a charge of armed robbery in a case in which a companion was shot to death by police.

Judge Robert M. Verrier bound Blower, an ex-convict, over to await arraignment.

Blower was captured early Tuesday while his companion, ex-convict James E. Lilly, also 40, of Flint, fell victim to several shots from the service revolver of patrolman James Wells. Both men were sought in the $300 armed robbery of a near South State tavern.

Blower was unarmed when taken and offered no resistance after breaking away earlier from patrolman Richard Steinko who had stopped him and Lilly in a speeding car. Steinko emptied two guns at Blower who fled on foot after scuffling with the officer.

Lilly was cornered by Wells and other officers in a dead-end alley and refused to surrender. Officers said Lilly tried to fire a .32-caliber automatic pistol, but it failed to discharge. The gun later was found jammed.

Wells, a police officer 18 months, aimed at the man's arm and fired, striking Lilly's right arm. He said the man transferred the pistol to his other hand and threatened to kill the officer. Two more shots by Wells felled Lilly.

Violence Breaks Out in Essex Wire Strike

HILLSDALE (AP) — A plant guard was shot and a union picket was slashed late Tuesday as the long, bitter Essex Wire Corp. strike erupted in new violence. A second guard was slashed with a baseball bat.

Sandwiched between the incidents was a demonstration outside the Hillsdale County Sheriff's office by an estimated 150 persons. They demanded that the car of a non-striking Essex worker be searched.

State police said guard Louis Scott, 27, of Detroit, was wounded in the left leg by a shotgun blast shortly after midnight. Scott's co-worker, Edward Brantley, 23, of Detroit, was struck with a bat, troopers said.

Scott and Brantley, who were escorting two non-strikers home, were set upon at M99 and Concord Rd., about a block from the Jonesville state police post. The bleeding Brantley reported the attack to troopers, who found Scott lying near the road.

The two guards were admitted to Hillsdale Community Hospital. A witness said "five to seven carloads of men" followed the guards and non-strikers out of Hillsdale.

"They forced the guards' car off the road," the witness said. "They jumped out of their cars and started to beat the guards with clubs."

The slashed picket, Jack Bowditch, said he was wounded by a sharp instrument during a change in work shifts at the Essex plant Tuesday night.

Bowditch, vice president of Local 810 of the International Union of Electrical Workers, gave this account to police:

BACKED INTO CAR

A car backed into his parked auto outside the main gate. He approached the driver and demanded: "What are you trying to do, run me over or something?"

One of the auto's three occupants slashed Bowditch across the face, he told police.

The driver of the car, Ollie Prater, 27, of Albion, was ticketed by police on a charge of careless driving. A company spokesman said the incident was set off when rocks and eggs were hurled at non-striking workers as they drove up to the plant. He said one man was cut by flying glass.

CROWD GATHERED

A crowd of pickets and others gathered near the sheriff's office when Prater and a companion went there for questioning. The mob demanded that Prater's car be searched.

George Gould, an IUE international representative, asked the crowd to disperse.

"You and I both know the company is hiring scabs to wreck the union," Gould told the gathering. "But by resorting to lawlessness, we are stooping to as low as they are."

OTHER VIOLENCE

The strike, which began Feb. 28, has been marred by other violence, including a bomb explosion, a fight at nearby Pulaski, and numerous picket line incidents.

Essex wire continued production around the clock with some 40 non-union workers. They were hired to replace the 180 strikers.

Efforts to mediate the contract dispute have been futile. The latest effort to negotiate differences ended Friday.

POSSIBLE RESULT

A finding that English is mentally ill could result in his being committed to a state mental hospital for treatment.

State police testified that their investigation showed English had a history of mental illness and had spent some time undergoing treatment in a Florida institution.

The hearing reached its climax with the judge, prosecutor Leo Farbat and others spending more than four hours listening to recordings on a miniature wire recorder.

State police revealed in the hearing that English had the device strapped to his chest when he barged into the governor's office, claiming that he was on a police errand for former Vice President Richard Nixon.

FRYING EGGS

Farbat said the recording contained snatches of conversation, including what appeared to be testimony in a Congressional hearing in Washington, D.C., and other noises, including "the sound of eggs frying."

He said the recording contained nothing of any value to the investigation, however.

Among witnesses during the hearing was Romney himself, who reiterated a statement that he believed English meant him no physical harm.

Also testifying was trooper Jay Kennedy, the governor's bodyguard, who pulled English from the governor's private office and found the weapons in his possession.

Lasting Beauty in Rochester?

Permanent Status Sought for Committee

ROCHESTER — Spring cleaning for the village of Rochester promises to be a lasting thing. The 15-member Village Beautification Committee is on its way to becoming official.

Under chairmanship of councilman John Boeberitz, the group has divided the village into 15 districts, each of which will be studied by committee members.

Now that Boeberitz has an organization interested in "dressing up" the village, he's seeking official recognition by the council.

Main purpose of the committee will be to improve the looks of Rochester through planting of trees and flowers, as well as other methods.

Another 15-man committee is also in the mill here, a Rochester Historical Commission. Goal of this group, also headed by Boeberitz, will be to study and record the village history.

INTEREST IN EVENTS

The commission will attempt to promote interest in Rochester's past and current events, and recommend plans for observance of significant dates of the village's formation.

Publication of historical documents will also be aimed at by the group. The membership will be appointed by Village President John O'Donnell.

Diversification Said Needed on Part-Time Farms

EAST LANSING — Specialization does not fit the part-time farmer, thereby so well as it does the full-time farmer, according to George Irwin, USDA agricultural economist at Michigan State University.

"For maximum income, farming is adjusted to the nonfarm job, and not vice versa," explains Irwin.

"With labor more limited in part-time farming, a diversified operation becomes important. This means a variety of crops and livestock to spread labor requirements over the year."

"The size of livestock operation on the part-time farm must be geared to the number of hours a farmer is willing to work. And this depends on the relative importance of added income versus shorter working hours to the individual farmer," says Irwin.

Irwin points out that a farmer who receives a high nonfarm wage or prefers to work fewer hours might be satisfied with the farm income from crops alone.

But these farmers might make better use of labor and receive higher income if they add feeder cattle and diversify their cropping system to complement the livestock.

Woman Passenger Killed in Car Crash

JONES (AP) — Mrs. Zelda Whitney, 72, of near Jones, a passenger, was killed Tuesday when a car driven by Mrs. Jean Skehens, about 70, of Three Rivers, ran off a road near this Cass County town and hit a tree. Mrs. Skehens was injured and taken to Three Rivers Hospital.

Some 600,000 Americans patients are fitted with contact lenses annually, statistics of the American Optometric Association reveal.

Hunt Assailant of Girl Found Beaten, Raped

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — An assailant who beat and reportedly raped a 6-year-old girl and left her unconscious in a wooded area Monday still was sought today. The girl was reported in serious condition at St. Mary's Hospital. Two boys found the girl while riding their bicycles in the woods. Another boy said he saw a "big boy" striking a girl with a club.

Nearly 2.6 million Americans have some form of crossed eye.

Named as Director of Port Commission

DETROIT (AP)—Andrew W. Fleming, former acting director of the Detroit-Wayne County Port Commission, was named director Tuesday, succeeding Carl J. Stettin. Fleming, 63, onetime newspaperman, was former Gov. Harry F. Kelley's press secretary in the 1940s. Stettin left the port commission to enter private industry.

Federal aid under the National Defense Education Act went to 630 vocational schools last year.

Firms Bid to Remove Barracks in U. P.

CHICAGO (AP) — Bids were received Tuesday by the General Services Administration for removal of 41 barracks-type buildings at Camp Lucas at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. The bids were not tabulated immediately since they were made on individual buildings or groups of all as a single unit.

Agricultural employment is expected to decline to 4 million by 1975. In 1960, nearly 5.7 million persons worked on American farms.

3 Million Autos Seen on Road Over Holiday

DETROIT (AP) — Three million automobiles will be running on Michigan's roads over the Memorial Day weekend, the Automobile Club of Michigan predicted today. The Auto Club said the busiest travel hours will be from 5 to 8 p. m. Friday and from dusk to 10 p. m. Sunday.

NY Scooter Police to Patrol Central Park

NEW YORK (AP) — The paths and meadows of Central Park soon will be patrolled at night by policemen on motor scooters. About 50 policemen took tests Tuesday to become scooter jockeys. Inspector John F. Spreen said the scooters can climb steep, slippery surfaces, dart through narrow spaces and overtake a running man quickly.

Inconel is a heat resisting, nonmagnetic alloy of nickel, chromium and iron.

Soviet Defense Chief Visits in Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, Soviet defense minister, arrived in Belgrade today for an official visit. A delegation headed by General of the Army Ivan Goshnjak, the Yugoslav defense secretary, greeted Malinovsky.

A dam Gimbel, first of the merchant family to arrive in this country in 1835 from Bavaria, began his career by peddling goods along the Mississippi River.

London Restaurateur Dies at Age of 81

LONDON (AP) — The death of Filippo Ferraro, 81, one of London's most famous restaurateurs, was announced Tuesday. As restaurant manager at London's Berkeley Hotel for nearly 20 years, Filippo reckoned he had waited on almost every member of the royal family and the top people in England. He emigrated to England 60 years ago from Sorrento, Italy.

Post cards were first used in Austria in about 1869.

Weight Watchers Can Enjoy Noodles

Yes, dear weight-watchers, you can have macaroni in your meals! The National Macaroni Institute has planned a nourishing and satisfying dinner menu just for you. The calories have been calculated, so you can easily decide how many calories to allot to the other two meals of the day.

An unusual meat loaf—stuffed with low-calorie celery, green pepper, onion and mushrooms—served on a platter of saffron-tinted egg noodles, is as tasty as it looks. You don't need much more to complete the meal.

(About 550 calories)
STUFFED BEEF ROLL
WITH SAFFRON NOODLES
(1 serving, with gravy, 477 calories)

Garden Salad
(10 inner leaves chicory, 1/2 tomato, 1/6 medium onion, 1 teaspoon low calorie French style dressing, 32 calories)

Fresh Pineapple
(1/2 cup diced, 37 calories)
Black Coffee or Tea

Stuffed Beef Roll
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (3 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms
1 1/2 pounds ground beef round
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons dry bread crumbs

1/4 teaspoon each: salt, pepper, garlic salt
1 egg slightly beaten
1 tablespoon salt
1/4 teaspoon saffron stamens
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces medium egg noodles (about 4 cups)
Brown Mushroom Gravy* (optional)

Cook celery, green pepper and onion in butter 3 minutes. Drain mushrooms; reserve liquid for gravy. Add mushrooms to vegetables; set aside. Mix together meat, cheese, crumbs, 1/4 teaspoon salt, pepper, garlic salt and egg; blend well.

On transparent plastic film, pat meat mixture into 10x8x1/2-inch rectangle. Spoon vegetables across center, lengthwise; add pimiento strips. With the aid of plastic film roll meat mixture over filling into 8x3x2 1/2-inch roll.

Chill, "seam" side down about 1 hour. Bake in lightly buttered shallow baking pan in 375 degrees (moderate) oven 1 hour or until tests done.

Meanwhile, add 1 tablespoon salt and saffron to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Serve sliced meat roll on saffron noodles.

from noodles with Brown Mushroom Gravy, if desired.

*To prepare Brown Mushroom Gravy: (Makes about 1 1/2 cups) Remove excess fat from roasting pan; stir reserved mushroom liquid into pan drippings. Pour into measuring cup; add liquid from additional can (3 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms.

Add water to measure 1 1/2 cups; gradually stir about 1/4 cup of the liquid into 1 tablespoon flour to form a smooth paste. Add remaining liquid and mushrooms. Bring to boil, stirring constantly; boil 1 minute. Season to taste.

Brush Hamburgers With Peppy Sauce

The simple hamburger reigns supreme as America's favorite outdoor food, and a peppy sauce will spice it to everybody's liking. Season hamburger meat with salt and shape into patties.

Brush with a mixture of 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco, the piquant liquid red pepper seasoning, and 3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce. Broil hamburgers, basting several times with additional sauce, and serve on toasted buns.

Weight of Olives

The weight listed on labels of canned ripe olives indicates drained weight and doesn't include the weight of the liquid in which the olives are packed.

What to Do if Tornado Strikes

Safety Rules Issued in Wake of Twister

DETROIT (UPI) — The U.S. Weather Bureau, in the wake of a twister that killed 12 persons and leveled portions of Chesterfield Township and Pontiac Township earlier this month, has issued a list of "Tornado Safety Rules."

If near a tornado cellar, the Weather Bureau said, this is the safest place to wait out a twister.

The cellar should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure.

It should be kept free of water, gas or debris and should be equipped with a pick and shovel.

"There is no universal protection against tornadoes except underground excavations," the Weather Bureau said.

AT RIGHT ANGLES
If in open country when the tornado hits, the Weather Bureau said a person should move at right angles to the tornado's path.

Tornadoes move at about 25 to 40 miles per hour. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or a ravine.

If in a city or town, seek shelter inside, preferably in a strongly reinforced building . . . stay away from windows.

CORNER OF BASEMENT
In homes, the corner of the basement toward the tornado usually offers greatest safety particularly in frame houses.

People in houses without basements can sometimes be protected by taking cover under heavy furniture against inside walls.

Doors and windows on the side away from the tornado may be opened to help reduce damage to the home.

Stand against the inside wall on a lower floor of an office building if caught at work.

INSIDE WALL
If in schools, if the building is strongly reinforced stay inside away from windows, preferably near an inside wall on a lower floor.

Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums with large poorly supported roofs.

In rural schools that are little more than frame construction, remove the children and teachers to a ravine or ditch.

If in factories and industrial plants when an alert is sounded, post a lookout to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach.

MOST PROTECTION
Workers should move to that portion of the plant offering the most protection.

Keep calm. People have been killed by running into the street and by turning back into the path of the tornado.

The chance of a tornado striking a home are very slight because the tornado covers such a small area.

Keep tuned to your radio or television station for the latest tornado advisory information.

Do not call the Weather Bureau except to report a tornado.

London Residents Cheered as Bird Chorus Returns

By JOHN GALE
LONDON (AP) — The liquid notes of the dawn chorus are filling the London air once more. It is an almost forgotten music which is giving the Londoner a new spring in his stride and turning the open spaces of the capital into chattering aviaries.

Birds have not been in such abundance since smoke and smog drove them from the crowded city to suburban gardens and wooded hillsides. They are returning in increasing numbers with strict enforcement of antipollution legislation which now constitutes almost the whole of greater London as a clean-air zone.

ALMOST BARRON

The evacuation had made London almost barren of bird-song. Only a few hardy stragglers hung on — the grimy, perky sparrows and the pigeons begging for crumbs in Trafalgar Square, the starlings clustering along the rooftops of Whitehall, and the exotic Mandarin ducks and red-crested pochards imported to St. James's Park. Other visitors were rare.

But a report on bird life in the royal parks just published by a government committee says the whole picture has changed. There are 800 acres of royal parks in the center of the capital and the cuckoo — once lost to London — has been sighted in all of them.

OTHERS SIGHTED

Also sighted have been kittiwake gulls and puffins up from coastal regions, the spotted flycatcher, the garden warbler, waxwings and crossbills.

Even the great spotted woodpecker has alighted on the royal acres where the committee said 134 different species of birds have been identified in the last couple of years.

SOME LOSSES

The balance sheet also shows losses.

Once there was a heronry in Richmond Park where Princess Alexandra, a cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, lives with her husband, Angus Ogilvy. Herons started nesting there 80 years ago. In 1934, 48 pairs were identified in the park. Now there are none — the last bird having left in 1961.

Said the committee in a glum explanation that the heronry is no more: "The activities and preferences of birds are not often predictable."

Shedd's Italian Dressing

BLUE CHEESE DRESSING

1/2 cup Shedd's Chef Italian Dressing
1/2 cup sour cream
4 tablespoons Blue or Roquefort cheese

Mash blue cheese with a spoon or fork in a mixing bowl. Shake bottle of Chef Italian Dressing vigorously to obtain a uniform mix. Measure immediately 1/2 cup of the dressing. Add 2 or 3 tablespoons of the dressing to the cheese and mix. Blend in sour cream. Finish by adding remainder of Chef Dressing and mixing smooth.

The dressing will keep nicely for several days if stored in the refrigerator.

Johnson Slants Civil War History

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

The daughters of the Confederacy in their devotion to a lost cause will have no reason to complain against President Johnson's conception of Civil War history and its heroes as he stated it last week at Lexington, Va.

The President spoke at dedication ceremonies for the George C. Marshall Research Library at the Virginia Military Institute. About four years ago U.S. Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, with his eye on the White House, was projecting the authentic image of a western, Texan cattle-TV tycoon. Yippee!!!

The 1960 presidential nomination eluded LBJ. As John F. Kennedy's running mate, Johnson resumed being a southerner. His assigned job was to hold southern states for yankee JFK.

Kennedy and Johnson carried seven of 11 southern states.

Richard M. Nixon won Florida and Virginia. The Mississippi electors, and some of those from Alabama, were independent and refused their votes to the JFK-LBJ ticket. But Johnson held Texas (24 electoral votes) and most of the south for the Democrats. He apparently has assigned himself the same task this year while also bidding for the big city labor and racial vote.

Johnson's salute to the late Gen. Marshall was at Virginia Military Institute because the World War II chief of staff was a VMI graduate. Johnson in his speech called a select roll of U.S. military heroes.

"Listen," he said, "to the roll of some of those great names—warriors in war and (like Marshall) apostles in peace—names which ring across the centuries of our history with that single theme: George Washington, Andrew Jackson, Robert E. Lee, Douglas MacArthur, George Marshall, Dwight David Eisenhower."

ROBERT E. LEE

Robert E. Lee? Hmmmmmm. Lee certainly belonged in that select list. But would a northern statesman include him if he were speaking to a GAR picnic? He would not of course. Nor would a southern statesman fail to include Masses' Robert in his hero list unless he wanted to bring his own southern antecedents into question.

There was more. The President said it was appropriate that the research library be located among the VMI cadets, explaining that:

"Before the Battle of Chancellorsville, Stonewall Jackson said: 'The men of Virginia Military Institute (serving in the Confederate ranks) will be heard from today.'"

President Johnson then added on his own:

"Throughout our history—when the day was in doubt and freedom seemed to falter—the voice of VMI has helped lead the nation to victory."

NEW VERSION

Now that is a new version altogether of the Battle of Chancellorsville and the part played in that bloody engagement by the VMI cadets who fought under the confederate flag.

If the nation to which the President was referring was the United States, the Lexington speech record should be corrected to show that at Chancellorsville on May 24, 1863, the VMI cadets and other confederates under Lee and Jackson disastrously defeated bumbling Gen. Joe Hooker and his army of the Potomac. It was almost catastrophe.

Bruce Catton, everybody's Civil War authority, wrote of Chancellorsville: "The South won a spectacular victory."

It is no reflection on their courage to recall that when freedom faltered at Chancellorsville, the VMI cadets were fighting to lead the nation not to victory but to defeat.

U. S. Finance Officer

Dies in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert W. King, 63, agency finance officer of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, died Tuesday. He was the founding president of the Federal Government Accountant's Association and served as its first national president when the Association was reorganized in 1956. King, who was born in Skagway, Alaska, served a total of 32 years in various federal offices.

A doctor predicts that is a distinct possibility that as many as 40 per cent of all deaths in the United States 30 years hence could be caused by lung cancer.

SIZZLIN' SCENE — With the City of Paris as 'third star,' 'Paris When It Sizzles' presents Audrey Hepburn and William Holden in what may be their most unique screen roles... Holden as Richard Benson, world's most highly paid screenwriter, and Miss Hepburn as his adoring secretary, Gabrielle Simpson. Starts today at Miracle Mile Drive-In theater.

'Fair Lady' on Summer Circuit

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — This is the summer of "My Fair Lady" and one of the liveliest of the Eliza Doolittles will be perched on the lips of Jane Powell.

The Lerner-Lowe masterpiece has been released for stock this year. Hence, a large number of summer musical theaters will be offering "MFL" to cash in on its immense popularity—and to beat the movie version, due in October.

Come August, Jane Powell will make her debut as Eliza and also inaugurate the latest addition to a growing California industry; the musical theater-in-the-round.

It started with last summer's startling success of Melodyland, near Disneyland. Now Concerts Inc., is putting on a season of musicals at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium; the Melodyland people are building a theater in San Carlos, south of San Francisco; and the San Fernando Valley will have the Valley Music Theater. Jane will play Eliza in the latter two.

BOON TO PERFORMERS

"These theaters and those in the East have become a boon to us performers," she remarked over a club sandwich the other day. "We could work only in the summer and live the rest of the year on the earnings, if we wanted to."

Trouble is, twice-divorced Jane has three growing children to care for, and they grow restive when she's gone, especially in the summer. So she tries to arrange engagements close to home or in places the kids can go along.

The harvest for a week's trilling on the four-sided stage? It can be anywhere from $10,000 to $20,000. Jane holds the gross record at Melodyland and perhaps in summer musicals anywhere: $87,000 a week in "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," last year's favorite on the summer circuit.

The musical theaters are not without their hazards.

SOUND PROBLEMS

"The major problem is always the sound," Jane remarks. "Even when the greatest care has gone into a sound system, something can go wrong."

With audiences on all sides, the actors have to keep moving constantly. They must carry the microphones on their persons to get the best amplification.

"The microphone goes here," she explained, indicating her bosom. "So that is no problem for us girls. But some of the hikes require batteries, and that can be a problem."

"In 'Molly' I had the battery strapped under my skirt. Sometimes when I ran down the aisle to get onstage, it would come loose and almost trip me. I had to signal the orchestra to keep playing until I could get it fixed."

To Hold AA Meeting

DETROIT (AP)—The seventh annual International Young People's Conference of Alcoholics Anonymous will be held here June 12-14. An attendance of 1,000 is expected. The organization is composed of alcoholics under 40.

Army Staff Faces Cut Within Year

WARREN (AP)—The Army Mobility Command will reduce its 550-man headquarters staff by more than one half under a reorganization within the next six months or a year, the Army announced Tuesday.

The Command will cut the staff to about 200, but all severed employees will be offered Army jobs elsewhere in the Detroit area, a spokesman said.

Personnel cuts will be the result of a long-planned streamlining of the Mobility Command it was reported. The Command has 13,500 employees, including 6,000 in the Detroit area. Others are in St. Louis.

Maj. Gen. Alden K. Sibley will continue as commanding general and also is to be deputy commander of the Aviation Materiel Command in St. Louis.

The spokesman said the streamlining has been under study for some time and has nothing to do with recent Congressional questions about the costs of Gen. Sibley's office accommodations, including the bathroom's silk wallpaper.

Questions were raised at a Washington appropriations hearing. Gen. Sibley said his $5 million headquarters building had been approved by the Army and that its space was limited.

U.S. Faces Unpleasant Choice in Laos

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Since 1954 the United States has known what it wanted for Laos but not how to get it. In that same 10 years, the Communists and their Laotian army, the Pathet Lao, also have known what they wanted and have pursued with success a line alternating between military pressures and the propaganda forum afforded by international conferences.

The United States is on record as saying that it will not stand by and see Laos, the strategic heart of Southeast Asia, turned over to the Communists.

But as time goes by, with two-thirds or more of Laos now in Communist hands, the choice seems to become more and more distressingly simple.

Either the United States can admit that its policy in Laos has been a failure or it can send U.S. troops to Laos and thus risk the possibility of a head-on class with Red China.

UNPLEASANT DILEMMA

The United States dilemma becomes the more unpleasant in the light of the positions taken by the Soviet Union and France, both of whom have declared themselves in favor of a recall of the 14-nation Geneva conference which in 1962 established Laotian neutrality.

The U.S. opposes such a recall on the grounds that the mechanics for enforcement of Laos' neutrality already exist in the original Geneva accords.

But with too much talk and too little action, the United States also runs the danger of new application of the "paper tiger" tag used by the Red Chinese to ridicule U.S. military determination.

A show of U.S. force which sent American troops into Thailand and the U.S. 7th fleet into the Gulf of Siam in 1962 presumably influenced the Communists against a threat then to overrun the whole of Laos.

DOUBT EFFECT

But there is considerable doubt that such a show would influence the Communists now, particularly without any restraining force from the Soviet Union and if they really have made up their minds.

With Russian influence practically eliminated in Laos and with the Red Chinese running the show, the Communists' own immediate intentions also remain in doubt.

Not always clearly pointed out in news dispatches is the fact that whatever the final decision for Laos, the stake remains the whole of Southeast Asia.

Souanna Phouma put it negatively last September when he said that so long as the war in South Viet Nam continues "...the North Viet Nam Reds will insist that the Pathet Lao fight to hold open Viet Cong supply routes from North Viet Nam through Laos and into South Viet Nam..." it is because of this foreign problem that we have been unable to solve our own problems."

It is the identical problem

now being discussed before the United Nations concerning another supply line to the Viet Cong through Cambodia.

The source of Pathet Lao and Viet Cong strength are the Viet Minh of Communist North Viet Nam, and it is to find new ways to discourage the Viet Minh that U.S. planners now devote their attention — rather than to direct action in Laos.

School Board
Sets Agenda

A series of personnel changes, including a report on teacher transfers, top the Pontiac School Board's agenda for tomorrow night's meeting.

The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. at 40 Patterson.

Also on tomorrow's agenda is a tentative plan for organization of the vocational education department.

Bids on milk and bread for the school lunch program will be presented.

A resolution in support of a proposed Oakland County community college will be considered among other business.

Ireland President
Is Visiting in U.S.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—President Eamon de Valera of Ireland planned a brief carriage ride around this restored colonial capital today before leaving for Washington and a five-day state visit.

The Irish chief executive, now 81, was to depart for Washington by helicopter.

De Valera arrived in Williamsburg Tuesday.

4-Star Welcome for General

Air Base Has 'Betsy Ross'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Luke Air Force Base had a traditional four-star flag for Gen. Maxwell Taylor's visit yesterday, and Sharron Wynn has the nickname of "Betsy Ross."

Luke officials discovered Monday afternoon that they lacked the proper flag to greet the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

They called on Mrs. Wynn, who runs a clothing specialty shop.

She started working on it at 5 in the afternoon and finished the 18-by-26 inch flag at 7 a.m. Tuesday, after sewing through the night.

"It is a great honor to do something for somebody important," Mrs. Wynn said. "I didn't even know it was Gen. Taylor."

N. C. Dem Aspirant
Reports Son Gone

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The 13-year-old son of Democratic gubernatorial candidate Kidd Brewer was reported missing today after failing to return home from school yesterday.

Police said Kidd Brewer Jr. was last seen about 4 p.m. yesterday on his way from school to a shopping center where he was supposed to telephone his mother to pick him up.

Deputy Sheriff L.S. Coveri said Brewer reported his son missing about 11:45 p.m.

Europe Leadership Poor Before WWI

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is another in a continuing series on World War I to appear in The Pontiac Press during the summer.)

By JOE VAN DOREN STERN
DRAWINGS, JOHN LANE

"I regard myself as an instrument of heaven," said the German emperor, Kaiser Wilhelm II. "I pay no attention to the events or opinions of the day."

The ancient principle that the king can do no wrong still prevailed in most of Europe in the decade before 1914.

It placed absolute power in the hands of men who were wholly unsuited to hold the destiny of nations in their hands.

Central Europe — Germany, Austria-Hungary, and Italy — made up the Triple Alliance. Surrounding this power group was the Triple Entente — England, France, and Russia.

The Entente had more men, more resources, more armed ships; the Alliance had better trained troops, more advanced war machines, and a carefully thought-out plan of operation.

It cannot be said that no one wanted war, because certain highly placed people did. In those days, war was still a clash between armies on the field in which common soldiers died by the thousands, while well-to-do civilians far behind the lines still had champagne and caviar.

Air bombs that could rain death on cities had not yet been used. They soon would be, but only in a small way.

The royal families were related to each other. England's Queen Victoria was the grandmother of Kaiser Wilhelm and of Czar Nicholas II's wife.

The head of the house of Hapsburg, octogenarian Francis Joseph I, was related to all European royalty. But these family ties meant nothing when the armies marched.

There were ancient feuds that could not be forgotten. Germany had conquered France in the Franco-Prussian War of 1870 and wrested Alsace and Lorraine from it. Germany thirsted for more; France wanted her lost territory back. England had world markets that Germany longed for.

Huge Russia was still smarting from defeat by little Japan in 1905.

Austria could not keep peace between the warring national and racial groups in the Balkans. The odds favored war; it was only a matter of when it would come.

To the United States, far away across the wide Atlantic Ocean, all this seemed very remote. Few people understood or even cared about what was going on in Europe. Whatever happened, America could not be involved — or so her people thought.

Many went to Europe on vacation that fateful summer. Living was cheap there, and the food was superb.

Pontiac Central vs. Walled Lake

Third Annual Prep Baseball Tourney Starts Friday

Competition in the third annual Pontiac Press-Parks and Recreation Department sponsored High School Baseball Tournament will start Friday night at Jaycee Park.

A 7:30 p.m. contest between Pontiac Central (co-host with Pontiac Northern) and Walled Lake will begin play in the upper bracket of the eight-team tourney.

The winner there will advance to a semifinal clash with the survivor of the Romeo-Royal Oak Kimball meeting.

The latter contest is slated for 3:30 p.m. Saturday and will open a three-game Memorial Day card.

The other two games are among the lower bracket squads. Waterford Kettering will play Rochester at 6 p.m. and PNH will oppose Milford at 8:30 p.m.

All games are slated for the Jaycee Park lighted diamond.

will enter the action with a fine record, 16-3, and as Tri-County League champions.

They can expect difficulty right off the bat, however, from a Royal Oak Kimball team that is the defending tournament champion.

The Knights will come into the Saturday afternoon game with a 6-3 mark and a share of the Eastern Michigan League crown with East Detroit.

The contest between the two will undoubtedly attract several major league scouts since Royal Oak's Benny Payne and Kimball's Kim Hillstrom will oppose each other on the mound. Both are highly regarded prospects, Hillstrom having a 29-3 mark for his high school career.

Kimball's catcher, Dan Sherman, also has attracted envious glances from the scouts.

Walled Lake also, will have a 10-3 mark going against PCH Friday night. The Vikings boast a standout infield, two solid pitchers in John Thomas and Don Rickard, and improving hitting.

The Chiefs' record is not impressive, 4-8, but they have not been pushovers, particularly in the strong Saginaw Valley Conference. They defeated the top two teams in the league.

Steve Drass and Chuck Owen have carried the pitching load effectively, while Nell Roberts has been the top threat at the plate.

Tickets are on sale in advance at reduced rates for each session. Each school entered, the Parks and Recreation Department and managers in the city's Class A summer baseball league are selling tournament tickets.

Baltimore Wins, 2-1

Orioles Trump Tigers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Manager Hank Bauer of the Baltimore Orioles is using another of his young trump cards to night against the Detroit Tigers.

And if 21-year-old Dave McNally is anything like Wally Bunker, the Tigers won't be treating him as though he were a batting practice pitcher.

Bunker, the Orioles' 19-year-old ace, numbed the Tigers with a three-hitter Tuesday night as Baltimore posted a 2-1 victory. Bunker walked only one batter and struck out five in recording his fifth straight victory.

McNally has won three of his first five games. Opposing him will be Phil Regan (3-4).

WINNING RUN
Bunker and Mickey Lolich were hooked up in a 1-1 duel until the seventh inning, when pinch hitter Bob Johnson slapped a single to send in the winning run.

The Orioles nicked Lolich for a run in the first. After two outs, Lolich issued a pair of walks. Brooks Robinson then hit an RBI single.

The Tigers squared things in the fifth on a walk to Jerry Lumpe, Bill Freehan's single and Don Wert's sacrifice fly.

In the Baltimore seventh, Jerry Adair singled to left and Dick Brown, an ex-Tiger, beat out a grounder to deep short. Johnson, batting for Bunker, singled to center, Adair scoring. Brown was nailed when he tried to go to third on the play.

Veteran Stu Miller relieved Bunker and was just as stingy. He retired the last six Tigers in order for his fifth save of the season.

Bunker, who signed a $70,000 bonus with the Orioles last year, lowered his earned-run average to 1.76 for 41 innings.

The Tigers, who are idle Thursday, return to Detroit Friday night to launch a four-game series with the Chicago White Sox.

PNH Tops Central; Kettering Triumphs

Injury to Pitcher Could Hurt Chiefs

Pontiac Central's pitching staff, worn thin by a heavy schedule, suffered another blow when hurler Tom Carie was struck on the left knee by a line drive during a 5-3 loss to Pontiac Northern yesterday.

Carie, who handles the third base assignment on occasions, was felled by a smash off the bat of Roger Hayward in the sixth inning.

Tests at Pontiac General Hospital revealed a severe bruise on Carie's knee, and coach Melvin Nuss said he is through for the season.

The loss came at a bad time for the Pontiac Press-Pontiac Parks and Recreation tournament which opens Friday night.

Nuss used four hurlers against Northern, the same four who were on the mound as the Chiefs split a doubleheader with Flint Central Monday.

The win upped the Huskies season record to 16-2. Central is 4-8.

And the Chiefs have another game Thursday—with Kettering. Despite the heavy work, Nuss said his ace hurler Chuck Owens should be ready for the tourney opener against Walled Lake Friday.

Northern came up with three runs in the sixth to tame the Chiefs for the second time this season.

The Huskies loaded the bases against Carie in the sixth and Hayward's hot liner brought in one run. Catcher Bruce Mann chased home the last two with a single.

Central jumped on starter Dave Tinkis, making his first appearance on the mound, for three runs in the second to take a 3-0 lead.

Mike Burklow came on in the third to relieve Tinkis and picked up the victory. Carie took the loss.

The 'he' was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and the former president not only didn't embarrass himself, but stole the show from his partner, Masters champion Arnold Palmer.

Eisenhower and Palmer teamed in a match Tuesday for the benefit of the Heart Fund against veteran pro Jimmy Demaret and dancer Ray Bolger. The Heart Fund reported it took in $25,000.

On the course made famous by Bobby Jones, when he completed his golf grand slam here in 1930 (winning the British and American Open and amateur tournaments), General Ike played the kind of golf that prompted Palmer to comment: "I must admit, he carried me all the way. His golf was superb."

This was Ike's first public golf exhibition, and he did himself proud as he and Palmer defeated Demaret and Bolger 3 and 2 over the par 36-34 course in suburban Philadelphia.

Actually, the match was over from a competitive standpoint at the end of the 18th, but at Ike's insistence, the foursome finished the round. When the 18th hole was halved, referee Clarence Benedict, president of the U.S. Golf Association, said to Ike:

"The match is over General. You've won. Do you want to stop or play the last two holes?"

Ike consulted with an aide, asking the time and was advised to call it a day.

"Aw, let's go play," said the sunbanned 73-year-old Ike, introduced here as "the dirt farmer from Gettysburg, Pa."

50-FOOTER
So they played. And on the 17th hole Ike brought the house down. Putting from the edge of the green he dropped in a 50-footer.

As the crowd cheered and applauded, he tipped his white golf cap, grinned from ear to ear and accepted congratulatory whacks on the back from his fellow players.

Asked if that was the longest putt he ever made, Ike said, "I've sunk longer, but they're all miracles as far as I'm concerned."

Speeding by Gary at left is Chiefs' Craig Zadosko who scored the final run for PCH on the wild toss. Gary is telling the baserunner he can move up one base. Northern won, 5-3.

CRAIG HANSON started the scoring for Kettering in the third with a three-run home run.

The Skippers stormed back with five runs highlighted in the fourth by Larry McGuffey's three-run triple.

Kettering regained the lead with four in its half of the fourth. Bob Bogert, the winning pitcher, brought in the final two runs with a single.

FANNED EIGHT
Bogert fanned eight and retired the last nine batters.

The win was the fifth straight for the Captains on their new field. They close the season Thursday against Pontiac Central on Wisner Field.

RANDY MCCONNELL clouted a three-run homer in the third inning to force Romeo to share the league title with Kettering.

The home run spoiled a sparkling performance by Romeo's Benny Payne, who gave up three hits and struck out 14.

Romeo and Kettering closed the league season with 6-3 records.

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Mike Boedy gave up four hits and struck out 11 in pitching Western Michigan to a 6-2 victory over Michigan State Tuesday night in the season finale for both teams.

The Broncos scored three runs in the first inning to wrap it up. Center fielder Fred Decker sparked the rally with two RBI's. Jerry Sutton had three of the Spartan hits.

Proceeds from the game will be donated to the U. S. Olympic Committee for the 1964 games.

Western ended the season with an 18-7 record to 22-12 for the Spartans.

BIG SEVEN — Dick Farrell of the Houston Colt .45s toasts last night's 4-2 victory over Milwaukee. Farrell allowed only four hits, two of them homers, as he became the first National League pitcher to win seven games. He's lost only one.

Mets Wallop Chicago Cubs, 19-1

By The Associated Press
National League umpires, who are talking about a strike, must have been out painting picket signs.

How else can you explain the New York Mets scoring 19 runs? In a week you say? Well, it's true that would be a prolific out-put for Casey Stengel's runless wonders for seven days and it's more than they scored last week. But we're talking about a single game.

That's right, a single game. And there were 2,503 fans in Chicago's Wrigley Field Tuesday who can testify to the 19-1 victory. In years to come that number is sure to grow. People like to say they were on hand when history was made.

The Mets, whose past performance has made them somewhat modest souls, did most of the damage with a couple of fellows named Smith. They weren't the cough drop boys but Dick and Charley certainly irritated the Cubs as New York sprayed 23 hits against six Chicago hurriers.

Run Spree Puts Casey in Ecstasy

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Mets did a jig in the dressing room and said he expected other club owners to be knocking at his door in possible player deals.

Casey had reason to be jubilant. After all, his Mets had turned in the greatest effort in their three-year history with a 19-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday.

"I suppose most of the club owners will be trying to contact me now to get my players," said Stengel. He then winked roughly at a photographer and said "What brings you down here, young man? We don't see much of you people lately."

ALL RECORDS

Casey had every reason to be merry. His Mets had cracked every one of their existing records since they entered the National League in 1962.

Their 19 runs exceeded their previous high by five. Their 23 hits topped their previous total of 18 which one was claimed was done "several times in two games."

But that wasn't all. For the first time in Met history a player collected five hits in one game. That was Dick Smith, a first baseman who came into the game with a .224 average resulting from 13 previous hits in 58 times at bat.

Ace at Pontiac CC

Tuesday was a big day for Mrs. Delbert Hammett of Pontiac.

Playing in the Ladies Tuesday-Ten league at Pontiac Country Club, Mrs. Hammett picked up a hole-in-one on the par 3, 165-yard No. 17 using a three wood. She carded a 42 for the round.

Met ever to get five hits in a game with three singles, a double and a triple. Charley Smith belted a three-run homer, the game's only four-bagger, and added two singles for five RBI.

Jack Fisher, delighted with the fantastic support, fashioned a four-hitter and went the distance.

Pittsburgh gave Philadelphia a similar treatment. The Pirates scored 10 runs in the first two innings and coasted to a 13-4 victory. Houston dropped Milwaukee 4-2 and Cincinnati whipped Los Angeles 6-2. San Francisco and St. Louis were rained out.

Manny Mota had a solo homer and Jim Pagliaroni crashed a grand slammer as the Pirates hopped on Chris Short and Dallas Green in the first two innings.

Vern Law won it with a six-hitter fanning seven and walking one. Cookie Rojas and John Callison homered for the Phils.

Dick Farrell became the first seven-game winner in the majors, throttling the Braves on four hits. Al Spangler's leadoff homer got the Colts started and Farrell's 11 strikeout pitching kept them going.

LOUDEST NOISE
Braves, who had banged out 43 hits in winning their last three games, made their loudest noise with solo homers by Felipe Alou and Joe Torre. Torre also doubled and walked running his average to .376.

Don Drysdale permitted just three hits but Cincinnati bunched them in the second inning and combined with Drysdale's throwing error on an attempted pickoff it led to a 3-0 Reds' lead.

Cincinnati added three in the ninth against Ron Perranoski. Bob Purkey had a four-hit shut-out until Tommy Davis singled and Frank Howard cracked his 13th homer in the 9th.

Seek Pension Plan Increase

Senior League Umps May Strike

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Baseball League Umpires Association, having failed to pressure a pension plan increase, has issued a strike ultimatum.

Either the National League meets the association's demands or "appropriate action" will be taken by 3 p.m., July 3, said attorney John J. Reynolds of Chicago, who represents the group, on Tuesday.

The move hit such baseball officials as Warren Giles, president of the National League, and Ford Frick, the game's commissioner, by surprise.

However, the umpires' association has been angling for increased pension benefits for the last six months without receiving league courtesy, said Reynolds.

LETTER DRAFTED

Eighteen of the league's 20 umpires met with Reynolds in Chicago and drafted a letter demanding increased benefits. Copies of the letter were sent to Giles and every team in the league.

Currently, the pension plan for umpires retiring at 55 calls for $200 a year for each year of service meaning an umpire with 10 years of active service would receive $2,000 a year upon retirement.

The association, however, wants this figure boosted to $300 a year for each year of service. Recent dickering resulted in an offer of $250 by Giles which the National League umpires turned down before issuing their ultimatum.

Reynolds said that he and five directors of the group met with league officials at the major league meetings last December. This group also huddled with the National League Pension Committee.

HEARD NOTHING

"We made repeated requests for an opportunity to discuss our demands," said Reynolds "but we heard nothing from the league. Two weeks ago we received a letter from Mr. Giles in which he presented his proposal of $200 a year per man.

"We held our meeting and the umpires voted against acceptance. That is our final decision and I don't think we have told of any other meetings."

Giles, reached in Cincinnati, said he had not heard about a strike threat.

Hazel Park Planning Week-Long Celebration

Hazel Park race track is planning its annual anniversary week celebration from June 2 through June 6.

The track has scheduled the following traditional events.

Tuesday, June 2, will be appreciation day. Everybody will be admitted to the track free. All patrons will also receive, without charge, a chance on a new Ford Mustang which will be raffled off after the last race.

Wednesday, June 3, will feature the first of two successive handicap contests, this one for a 1964 Plymouth Valiant Barracuda. Patrons will be invited to try their hands at handicapping the day's races, beginning with the third race.

Thursday, June 4, there will be another handicapping contest, this time for a 1964 Cadillac. Every Thursday is Ladies' Day.

Friday, June 5, will be presentation day when the new cars will be given to their fortunate new owners.

Saturday, June 6, will see the running of the $10,000 Michigan derby trial.

This will be a prelude to the big race of the year — the $30,000 added Michigan derby for three-year-olds at a mile and a sixteenth on Saturday, June 13.

Busy Time for OLSM Athletes

These are hectic days on the Orchard Lake St. Mary campus. The seniors are taking their final examinations in preparation for the Saturday Commencement Exercises, the Senior Banquet is planned for on Thursday evening, Friday night there will be an Honors Convocation and prep tribute to 62 seniors.

The Orchard Lake Track is being readied for the Sunday invasion of all the Second Division High School Catholic League teams for the Championship Meet.

But for the Eagles, Northwest Catholic League championship baseball team, there will also be an engagement with Detroit St. Andrew on Friday afternoon in quest of the Second Division Baseball Championship.

Tuesday afternoon St. Mary battled Richmond St. Augustine for eleven innings to what is hoped to be a string of three. The Macomb County Catholic League champions fell behind 1-0 on Frank Rompel's sixth inning home run.

The Eagles scored the game winning run in the top of the eleventh. Rompel singled, advanced to third on a single by Bob Lascinski, and scored on an error by second baseman Clarence Rose on Larry Bialobreski's grounder.

Pontiac Central downed Kettering, 82-27, and Cranbrook tripped Bloomfield Hills, 62-47, in area track meets yesterday.

with DON VOGEL—Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press

Fisherman 'Glad' He Stayed at Lake

"I almost went back home because I didn't have a net with me. Now, I'm glad I didn't." Frank Kimmel, 759 Crescent Lake, Waterford Township, held up a scraped thumb as he spoke.

"That's where the rainbow got me with his teeth when I landed him," related the local barber. "After battling him 20 minutes I wasn't about to let the fish get away."

Kimmel's rainbow tipped the scales at 4 pounds and is the first entry in the Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby's rainbow trout division.

He caught the 22-inch trout Saturday night while fishing Deer Lake at Clarkston. A night-crawler, fished near the bottom on the north end of the lake was the successful bait.

Kimmel said he was using two-pound test line and an ultralight rod and reel combination.

TOO CLOSE
"When the trout was up by the boat, I reached down by the boat and grabbed him by the gills and my thumb came too close to his mouth," said Kimmel.

"It's the biggest trout I've ever landed without a net," he added.

Charles Yockey, 715 Cameron, caught a 9½-ounce bluegill Saturday morning at Cemetery Lake.

Only a road separates Deer and Cemetery Lakes. It is the first entry in the Derby's bluegill division. A three-pound northern tops the pike class. No entries will be accepted in the black bass division until the season opens next Monday.

The Derby is open to all residents of Oakland County. The fish must be caught in county waters other than commercial or private. No entries will be accepted from Lakes Angelus or Sherwood.

All entries will be brought to The Press sports department for weighing. The heaviest pike and black bass entered will be worth $50 savings bonds. For the top rainbow and bluegill will be $25 bonds.

Michigan fishing takes on a fast-paced addition with the start of the black bass season in inland waters, the Great Lakes and St. Marys River.

Elsewhere—in Lake St. Clair, the St. Clair and Detroit rivers—largemouth and smallmouth bass become legal catches June 20 to put angling action into full swing throughout the state.

As in the past, the season makes a later debut in the southeastern area to keep it closely in line with Canada's bass opener for these same waters.

Last year's regulations on bass fishing remain in effect for all Michigan waters, the Conservation Department reports. The minimum size limit stands at 10 inches.

Sportsmen may have five bass in their daily lake or possession. Top bass waters in Oakland County for early season large-mouths are Silver, Upper Silver, Pine, Pontiac and Louise Lakes. Smallmouth action can be found on Cass Lake and the Huron River below Proud Lake.

Come the first part of the season, fishermen can make their best play for largemouths by casting and spinning with artificial lures in three to 10 feet of water.

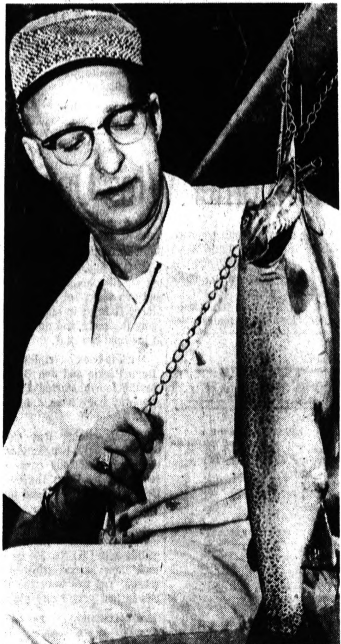

These scrappy fish are mostly found in lily pad or bullrush areas and around stumps, submerged logs and other such types of cover.

SPAWNING PERIOD

Action on smallmouth bass hits its peak right after the season begins, while they are still spawning in shallow water of lakes, near mouths of rivers and in bays of the Great Lakes.

At this early time, anglers get top results with small-mouths by casting small to medium-sized plugs, spoons, poppers, bugs, and streamers into the shallows.

The most productive places for catching these fish are rock, stone, or gravel-bottomed areas in cold water.

Ducks May Waddle Out of Gibraltar

GIBRALTAR, Mich.—A couple of dozen mallards are making themselves at home in this Detroit suburb, but their days as town characters may be numbered.

The ducks waddle around town quacking for handouts. They have been known to march down the aisles of a grocery store, sampling merchandise.

They lay their eggs wherever they please.

One businessman said he was tired of having the ducks stop traffic at his store. He is fed up with having to hose down his parking lot every week.

He confided: If I thought I could get away with it, I'd like to go out and wring a few necks tonight.

PANHANDLING MALLARDS — These mallard ducks, visiting Mrs. Frank Mason, have become known as "town characters" in Gibraltar. The ducks haven't bothered to migrate south the last couple of winters. They waddle around town quacking for handouts, stopping traffic and interrupting business plates. They may have to go.

Folders Aimed at Helping Sportsmen

Hunting, fishing, camping, canoeing and boating all add up to a single formula outdoor fun for Michigan citizens.

It is this outdoor fun philosophy which is behind the pamphlets, folders, maps and directories published by the Michigan Conservation Department's publications division.

The best part about it all is most of the publications are offered to recreationists free of charge.

Want to know where the action is on trout fishing? Ask the department for their free pocket-sized folder guide to 400 waters in 55 counties which were planned with trout.

Besides telling you how to get there, each listing gives the number, size and kind of trout planted.

HOW-TO FOLDER

Interested in improving your fishing skill? Request a copy of a popular how-to folder filled with the tried and proven savvy of several hundred of Michigan's top fishermen.

New supplies of "Michigan Fish and How to Catch Them" are now available. The pamphlet is packed with pointers on all types of game fish even to suggesting tackle and methods.

Canoeing enthusiasts will be pleased to know an updated guide representing a joint effort of the Conservation Department and the Michigan Tourist Council lists 59 easy-to-hard canoe runs on Michigan streams.

Each run is described in a short sketch which guides the canoeist from start to finish, telling him the length of his trips and tough spots to watch out for along the way.

The canoeing map even indicates what should be taken on a trip, including equipment and clothes.

Starting to plan a camping trip? More than 12,000 camping sites at 300 state camp grounds are listed in another pocket-sized where-to-go guide.

Recreational features, a sketch of camping facilities and answers to common camper questions are provided in the informative publication.

There are free copies of "Michigan Beach Stones," a colorful four-page folder which makes you sound like a learned geologist to the small fry.

Large Elk Return as Prime Targets

LANSING (AP) — The first explorers pushing into Michigan found the massive elk ranging over both peninsulas.

They shot these prime targets for meat and hides until the last native elk was killed around 1870.

Now, for the first time in the memory of any living hunter Michigan sportsmen may again have an elk for a target.

The legislature has given the Conservation Commission approval for a limited elk-shoot during the next two years. The fee will be $25 and only Michigan hunters may apply.

"This is a new opportunity to handle Michigan outdoor resources in the right way," said Ralph MacMullan, department director. "I want to congratulate the legislature for allowing us this experimental elk season."

The elk were reintroduced in Michigan in 1918 with an experimental herd of eight animals, brought in from Wisconsin and collected from zoos. They since have multiplied and the best estimate now is that some 3,600 elk occupy a range in the Sturgeon, Pigeon and Black River valleys.

The department planning is to issue about 300 licenses this fall to elk hunters, expected to take some 200 animals.

This sounds fairly simple, but department experts still are trying to figure out the way to work it.

"Thousands, we don't know how many thousands, of hunters will want a permit," said Bartlett. "We will have to conduct a drawing, as in the special deer season. Local hunters want first rights."

"We don't think we can permit it. We have to figure out what guns can be used and arrange for checking stations. We've decided to bar bow and arrow hunters."

The thinking now is the department will set up certain areas for the taking of the elk.

Liberal Arts Colleges Greatly Changed

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

Up to a hundred years ago, liberal arts colleges provided the ultimate training not only for scholars, but for cultured gentlemen of leisure and for those preparing for the ministry. Early colleges included little other than the study of Latin and Greek, logic, rhetoric and geometry. Every student took the same series of courses. The student's only decision: To go or not to go?

All this has changed. The modern liberal arts college of today shares space in the university with such professional schools as those of architecture, engineering, medicine, dentistry, business administration, education, and international relations.

While the bases of a broad education are still centered in a liberal arts college it now serves in many other ways. A student must turn to the liberal arts college to complete the special requirements for law, education, medicine and other professional schools.

The liberal arts college must now provide opportunities for specialization in mathematics, physics, chemistry, biology, psychology and each of other graduate fields.

TRANSFER STUDENTS

With the rise of the two-year community colleges and with the transient nature of our population, universities get more and more students through transfer.

It is not surprising that a large fraction of these transfer students fail to meet precisely the requirements of the new professional schools.

It is in liberal arts that the student can cushion these transfers from college to college. The liberal arts curriculum accepts these students temporarily, giving them an opportunity to secure the missing requirements and later transfer to professional schools.

A student must have a goal in mind and work hard to avoid getting lost. Only a goal can serve as a guide as he threads his way through the maze of courses, choosing those which meet his requirements.

Need Early Start

The explosion of knowledge has been so great that specialization must start early to gain acceptance for work in graduate school.

Some deans of liberal arts colleges fear this singleness of purpose will encourage too early specialization and a narrow rather than a broad education.

I disagree with their suggestion that students delay goal-setting. Early goal-setting stimulates learning. Even at the high school level the goal-minded student is the most successful.

Jacoby on Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

The words, "He was right, dead right, as he drove along. But he's just as dead as if he'd been wrong," are inscribed on a motorist's tombstone.

JACOBY

They might well serve as an epitaph for today's North.

South's bidding was horrible and his play at four diamonds doubled was just about as bad.

When the smoke cleared away, East and West were chalking up 1,400 points on their side of the ledger.

Thus, in assessing the blame for the tragedy, I have to charge South. North had to pay off with South and North could easily have averted most or possibly all of the loss.

North must have played with South before. He must have known that South liked to keep bidding.

Hence, when South's first rebid was two hearts, North might well have passed right then and there. South might even have made that two heart contract.

However, North did bid two spades, whereupon South carried on to a two-no-trump. Now, North surely should have passed.

True, his hand appeared worthless at no-trump, but two no-trump had not been doubled and South was a man who liked to keep on bidding. It was up to North to give up while still in a reasonably healthy condition.

It took the three spade bid to set the stage for South's final and rather ridiculous four diamond call. Obviously, he shouldn't have made that call, but he did.

Q-CARD Sense

Q-The bidding has been:
South West North East
1♣ Pass 1♥ Pass
1♦ Pass 4NT Pass
5♦ Pass 5NT Pass
6♥ Pass 6♠ Pass

You, South, hold:
♠KJ75 ♣KQJ106 ♠A6
What do you do?

A-Pass. Seven spades is tempting but this tempest should be resisted. Settle for an apparently sure small slam.

Hoffa: Paying Lawyers' Fees

Says He Is Spending His Savings on Trial

CHICAGO (UPI) — Teamster Union President James R. Hoffa told reporters yesterday he is spending "what amounts to all my savings" to finance the rising defense costs of his $25-million fraud trial.

The Teamster Union earlier this month cut off payments to Hoffa for lawyers defending him in his tangled legal troubles.

"As soon as the question was raised, even though the Union constitution authorized such expenditures, I started spending my own money for all parts of the defense," Hoffa said.

Hoffa said he was selling his stocks, bonds and real estate, but "we'll stand the trial."

The tedious and highly technical trial, in which Hoffa and seven associates are charged with conspiring to obtain illegally more than $25 million in Teamster Union pension funds, was in the middle of its fifth week today.

It is expected to drag on through much of the summer.

Despite the demands of the courtroom, Hoffa said he is maintaining control of the Teamsters. "I have an office in the hotel here and I have secretaries there," he said. "I take on much of my work in the morning and in the evenings and when I left today we were up to date."

"It's a very long day," he said.

A lawyer for the Teamsters pension fund testified yesterday that a number of records subpoenaed by the government in the trial are missing.

CERTAIN RECORDS

Stanford Clinton, general counsel for the fund, testified that certain records used by prosecutors in presentations before federal grand juries and later returned to Teamster officials had been "lost or mislaid."

"They may still turn up in the next few days," said Clinton, a witness for the prosecution. "I have someone looking high and low for them."

He said government attorneys have photostatic copies of all the missing records, which concern various loans from the union pension fund.

Another government witness, appraiser Morris B. Lieberman, said a defendant in the trial had tried to persuade him to raise his estimate of the value of property owned by a Florida businessman applying for a pension fund loan.

STRONG PROTEST

Lieberman said defendant Benjamin Dranon protested vociferously that Lieberman's appraisal of an apartment and mobile homes project in Palm Beach, Fla., was "too low."

Dranon's protests were "so vehement," Lieberman said, that both his wife and Dranon's wife were asked to leave the room.

Guard Chief Seeks to Halt Race Strife

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (UPI) — The commander of National Guard troops imposing military law on Cambridge worked today to set up "lines of communication" with Negro leaders to prevent a recurrence of bloody racial strife.

Brig. Gen. George M. Gelston yesterday ordered all demonstrations and mass meetings halted for 10 days because integration leaders have "lost control" of their followers.

"They are turning into unruly mobs," he said.

Gelston was to meet separately again today with a committee of local civic leaders and with members of the Cambridge Non-Violent Action Committee to discuss the possibility of expanding recreational facilities for Negroes.

SPECIAL PATROL — Two Hasidic Jews, Rabbi Samuel Schrage (left) and Sidney Gordon, patrol their Brooklyn community in an attempt to cut down on crime in the streets, which has plagued the area. The patrol has a short-wave radio and operates from sunset until dawn. Pedestrians have suffered muggings, beatings and robberies in recent weeks.

NY 'Patrol Cars' Foil Attackers

Jews Organize for Protection

NEW YORK (AP) — A fear-ridden community of Jews in Brooklyn is operating a nightly radio car patrol to protect its 65,000 people from marauders. Jewish leaders charge the attackers come from the predominantly Negro Bedford-Stuyvesant section, which adjoins the Jewish neighborhood.

Each of four cars with two-way radios is manned by six young men over 21—"all strong" although not armed—says Rabbi Samuel Schrage, a leader among the Hasidic Jews in Crown Heights.

Rabbi Schrage said the patrol cars are used primarily to prevent trouble.

"In case of trouble, our people try to overwhelm the attackers by sheer weight of numbers. If it is beyond their capacity, they call us on the radio and we call the police," the Rabbi said.

FORMED GROUP

The Hasidic Jews decided recently to fight their tormenters and formed a group of about 100 volunteers named the Macabees of the Community.

The Macabees were a Jewish family that led a fight for religious freedom when the king of Syria attempted to force Greek culture upon Jews in the second century, B.C.

Hasidic men wear beards, side curls, wide-brimmed black hats and long black coats—customs they brought from the old world.

7 OU Faculty Promoted

Promotion of seven Oakland University faculty members has been approved by the Michigan State University Board of Trustees.

Man Found Guilty in 1963 Shooting

Gene Hill, 52, of 52 Clark, yesterday was found guilty in Oakland County Circuit Court of felonious assault in the shooting of a neighbor last Sept. 26. Judge Philip Pratt ordered Hill to return for sentencing June 23. An earlier charge of assault with intent to murder was dismissed.

Hill is accused of wounding Howard Brown, 58, of 20 Clark with a small caliber pistol in a dispute over money.

Queen Elizabeth Plans to Visit Germany in '65

BONN, Germany (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II will visit West Germany in May, 1965, a spokesman for President Heinrich Lübke said today.

The spokesman said the exact date has not been set.

All promotions are effective July 1.

Average age of the seven is 33, while six of the seven hold doctorate degrees, according to Chancellor D. B. Varner.

Dr. Walter S. Collins II, 38, was promoted to professor of music. He has been an associate professor and chairman of the OU music department.

Appointed associate professor of political science was Dr. Sheldon L. Appleton, 30, of 3569 Percy King, Waterford Township.

John Beardman, 26, an instructor of art since 1962, was promoted to assistant professor of art by the action of the MSU board.

Dr. Maurice F. Brown, Jr., 36, moved up to associate professor of English. He joined the OU faculty in 1961.

Promoted to associate professor of psychology was Dr. Donald C. Hildum, 33, who came to Oakland also in 1961.

Dr. Robert C. Hoves, 39, was appointed associate professor of history. He formerly was assistant professor of Russian language and literature.

Dr. Norman Susskind, 34, was named an associate professor of French. He joined OU in 1960.

Rabbi Schrage said the tightly knit community in Crown Heights—one of several Hasidic neighborhoods in Brooklyn—has been virtually house-bound by fear since it heard that a rabbi's wife had been dragged from her apartment at knife point by a man who tried to rape her two weeks ago.

Beatings and robberies of a number of men and women in the neighborhood led the religious and community leaders to organize the radio car patrol. A group of Negroes recently attacked children at a Jewish religious school headed by Rabbi Schrage.

SECTION RESIDENTS

Hasidic leaders are reluctant to identify their tormenters as Negroes. But they say that most attacks are made by residents of the Bedford-Stuyvesant section.

The Inter-County Committee, comprised of seven supervisors from each of the six counties in the area, provides liaison among the counties the rest of the year.

An awards banquet will follow the meeting at 6:30 p.m.

Jury Decides on Acquittal in Robbery

An Oakland County Circuit Court jury yesterday found Robert E. Thompson innocent of armed robbery charges.

Thompson, 27, who gave his address as a Ulica motel, had been accused by police as the third man involved in the robbery of a Pontiac bar patron last Dec. 28.

Police said the bandit trio persuaded the man to give them a ride home, then robbed him of $100.

Two others admitting their part in the robbery were given 4 to 15 years prison terms Feb. 18. They were Larry McCray, 24, of 180 Norton and Alfred Stacy, 21, of 5605 Sunwood, Waterford Township, both ex-convicts.

Thompson, who was arrested Feb. 25 in Warren by state police of the Center Line Post, later stood mute at his Circuit Court arraignment. The jury deliberated 30 minutes at the end of the three-day trial which began Friday.

Two brothers, among four men who robbed a Southfield gas station owner after gaining entrance to his home March 2, were sentenced yesterday by Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Drawing a one- to 50-year prison term was William Carey, 25, of 59 Monroe, Detroit, while his brother James, 20, of 23803 Florence, Detroit, was placed on five years probation.

They admitted entering the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin B. Swerdlin, 28724 W. Kalong, Southfield, on pretext of delivering a telegram, then holding the couple and their three children at bay with a shotgun and pistol while taking $4,500 in cash and checks.

William Carey had earlier pleaded guilty to a charge of armed robbery and his younger brother to a charge of assault with intent to rob while armed.

Previously sentenced for their part in the robbery were Debra Jones Jackson, 21, of 2616 Pennsylvania, who received one year to life in prison, and Richard Robinson, 18, of 7300 Agnes, 3- to 15-year prison term.

Metro Confab for Supervisors

County Officials to Hear Gov. Romney

Boards of supervisors for six counties in the Detroit metropolitan region will gather in Detroit tomorrow for their annual meeting in joint session at the Veterans Memorial Building.

Gov. Romney will address the group on closed-circuit television from Lansing.

Speakers present at the meeting are to include Hobart Taylor Jr., associate special counsel to President Johnson, and County Executive Officer Edwin G. Michaelian of Westchester County, N.Y., who also is first vice president of the National Association of Counties.

Planning to attend from Oakland County are 56 of the 85 supervisors, and 14 other county officials.

Other counties to be represented are Wayne, Macomb, Monroe, St. Clair and Washtenaw.

A welcoming address by Edward Connor, chairman of the Supervisors Inter-County Committee and of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, will launch the program at 2 p.m.

MUTUAL PROBLEMS

"This year's annual meeting commemorates the 10th anniversary for the Inter-County Committee and reflects the importance of intercounty cooperation in solving mutual problems throughout the metropolitan area," he said.

While no official action can be taken by the supervisors outside their respective counties, the annual joint meeting gives them an opportunity to meet with their counterparts from other counties and discuss mutual problems," said Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County board.

The Inter-County Committee, comprised of seven supervisors from each of the six counties in the area, provides liaison among the counties the rest of the year.

An awards banquet will follow the meeting at 6:30 p.m.

Woman Is Injured in Hit-Run Crash

Mrs. James Shelby, 29, of 85 E. Colgate is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital with injuries suffered when an unidentified car hit her auto last night and then left the scene.

Mrs. Shelby told police that a car hit her northbound car on the rear on Joslyn south of Walton at 8:30 p.m.

The driver of the other car got out and argued with her and then left the scene, Mrs. Shelby said.

Dr. Robert C. Hoves, 39, was appointed associate professor of history. He formerly was assistant professor of Russian language and literature.

Dr. Norman Susskind, 34, was named an associate professor of French. He joined OU in 1960.

2 Sentenced for Parts in Area Robbery

Two brothers, among four men who robbed a Southfield gas station owner after gaining entrance to his home March 2, were sentenced yesterday by Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Drawing a one- to 50-year prison term was William Carey, 25, of 59 Monroe, Detroit, while his brother James, 20, of 23803 Florence, Detroit, was placed on five years probation.

In addition, the meeting at 8:15 p.m. in the Birmingham Community House, will feature a report on New Horizons, a county group planning a center for vocational training and sheltered employment for the mentally retarded.

Speaking on recent developments will be William Wagner, vice chairman of the newly created Community Mental Health Service Board of Oakland County and Duane Koschok, staff assistant of the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

Also on the program is Mrs. Rita Charron of Royal Oak, a member of the State Mental Health Advisory Council and chairman of the Governmental Affairs Committee of the Michigan Association for Retarded Children.

'Green Paint' Substituted for Grass?

For a couple days this week, it looked like Oakland County Road Commission employees were spraying green paint on bare ground at the County Service Center on Telegraph.

Even Road Commissioner Sol Lomerson was momentarily fooled.

"My gosh, they'll get those passing cars smeared with paint," thought Lomerson with a shudder as he edged closer to investigate.

"It wasn't paint at all, but a lumpy kind of stuff that was being spread, along with grass seed, under water pressure from the hose," he said. "I recalled that we had purchased through bids a new type of fertilizer and found this was it."

The ground which moments before had been brown dirt was now a brilliant green, even greener than grass.

The color is put into the new product to allow for a uniform spread, said Lomerson.

Latin American countries are experiencing the fastest population growth rate in the world. Population there is increasing at an annual rate of 2.3 per cent compared to 2.3 per cent a year in Asia and Africa.

Mob Threatens Negro Suspect

Admits Slaying of New York Bartender

NEW YORK (AP) — "Lynch him. Kill him," shouted a mob of whites outside a bar where a Negro was being questioned about the holdup murder of a white bartender.

The victim was the third white man attacked by Negroes near the western edge of Harlem in five days.

Police had to call in reinforcements Tuesday night to push through the mob to a patrol car with the Negro. They said early today that the man, Alonzo Cook, 20, of Harlem, had admitted the shooting.

Police said the bartender, Gerald Esmond, 55, was talking to a lone customer when the gunman entered and said, "Give me your money."

SHOT TWICE

"Are you kidding?" Esmond asked, and was shot twice. The gunman grabbed $40 from the cash register and fled, pursued by the customer.

Police arrested Cook after they found him in bushes in a church yard.

Esmond, married and the father of one, was widely known in the Vinegar Hill section of Manhattan's upper West Side, a predominantly white neighborhood.

A crowd gathered at the bar at 3259 Broadway and the noisiest rattled and pounded on the door, shouting for a lynching.

PROF ATTACKED

Last Friday night, L. Carroll Adams, 56, a professor of physical education at Columbia University, was attacked and robbed of $70 by about 20 teenagers.

Adams was attacked at 120th Street and Riverside Drive after he left a Peace Corps meeting. Police captured six of the Negroes, aged 13 to 16.

Commuters to Protest Rail Slash

Oakland County rail commuters affected by proposed discontinuance of Grand Trunk Western Railroad's overnight trains will go to Detroit to air their complaints tomorrow.

A representative of the city will also be present at the hearing although city commissioners last night declined to take any stand on the issue.

B. J. Pruett, of 6430 Clovermen, had contacted Mayor Pro Tem Leslie H. Hudson Monday night asking that commissioners pass a resolution urging Grand Trunk not to drop the train runs.

At their weekly meeting last night, commissioners indicated they had not been given sufficient time to study the situation and would need more data before taking any official action.

However, they appointed Deputy City Attorney Thomas Hunter to act as the city's official representative at tomorrow's hearing.

CONDUCT HEARING

Interstate Commerce Commission examiners will conduct the hearing at 9:30 a.m. on the fourth floor of the Army Corps of Engineers building at 150 Michigan Ave.

County residents who work in Detroit are affected because the morning Chicago-Detroit train picks up commuters cars in Pontiac for the first commuter run of the day.

Body Is Detroit; Suspect Foul Play

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A body discovered near a railroad track Monday in suburban Cascade Township has been identified as that of Walter C. Cleasen 48, of Detroit, Kent County sheriff's men said Tuesday.

Fingerprints established the identity. Detective James Hieshutter said an autopsy was being performed to determine the cause of death. An investigation continued into the possibility of foul play, he added.

Way Back in 1950

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The "Emmy" awards program Monday night included a flashback that gave viewers a retrospective look at the early days of television.

Some viewers may have concluded, as I did, that television has changed amazingly little in the past 10 or 15 years. The prevailing attitude toward television, however, has changed a great deal.

WEST

When television sets first began to appear in American homes, many of us parents laid down firm guidelines as to how they were to be used.

Some of us said, "We only permit our children to watch television for one hour a day and under no circumstances is it to interfere with their home work."

Others said, "We look over the schedule every day and pick out the programs our children may watch. They are not allowed to watch anything we don't approve of."

It has been a long time since I have heard any pronouncements of that sort. What I hear now are colloquies that run something like this:

GO WATCH IT

"Why don't you kids go watch television?"

"There is nothing good on."

"Oh, come now. There must be something you could watch."

Two of the juvenile members of my household are survivors of the regulated era of television. The third came along after all the wraps were off. It is interesting to observe the contrasts.

The older two, both girls, have reached the ages of 14 and 9 without compiling a police record. I conclude from this that they benefited from the policy of limited television.

The younger one, a boy, has had unrestricted access to television set since infancy. He has never been arrested either. It is clear, however, that he has been deeply influenced in other ways.

This kid, who is now 2 years old, is a walking commercial.

India's Prime Minister Nehru Dies

But Dems Consider Appeal

Court Clears Up Districting

LANSING (AP) — The legislature will return to Lansing to find to find its bed already made. But it may not get a chance to lie in it.

The Michigan Supreme Court yesterday ended nearly three months of confusion, stalemate and partisan fighting in the legislature when Democratic Justices Otis Smith and Paul Adams joined three Republican Justices to agree on a Republican-sponsored redistricting plan.

But leading Democrats say the problem—which had the Supreme Court stymied for nearly four months—may be resolved in the form of an appeal.

In what amounted to a 5-3 decision, the plan submitted to the court by Republican members of the eight-man, bipartisan Legislative Apportionment Commission, was approved as the one that most closely conformed to principles set down in the new State Constitution.

Approved was a plan to set up a 110-member House in districts based on population and a 38-member Senate, with districts based on a formula giving 80 per cent weight to population and 20 per cent to area.

ONE OF FIVE
It was one of five submitted to the court by the deadlocked Apportionment commission.

It was the second major logjam to break loose in a week.

Republican legislators Friday rammed through a congressional redistricting plan and passed a bill which some hoped would push the primary election back from Aug. 4 to Sept. 1.

Both of these problems are far from solved, however.

AWAIT GUIDELINES

The court had been awaiting "guidelines" from the U.S. Supreme Court, but Smith said because of election scheduling Michigan could no longer afford the "luxury of anticipating either when or what the Supreme Court of the United States will decide."

At issue was the question of whether the so-called "one man-one vote" principle applied to both houses of a two-chamber legislature, or whether other factors—such as area—could enter in.

Most Democrats say they expect the U. S. Supreme Court to decide in favor of the one man-one vote method of apportionment.

Smith and Adams said they reserved the right to consider the one man-one vote question later, if the U.S. court supplies guidelines.

Reaction to the decision followed party lines.

LBJ Calls Consular Pact Significant Step; Senate OK Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced today an historic consular treaty with the Soviet Union and termed the event "a significant step" in building understanding between the American and Soviet people.

The treaty, announced simultaneously in Washington and Moscow, will provide for the opening of consular offices in the two countries.

It is the first treaty ever negotiated between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Johnson, citing the advantages which he expects this country to receive as a result of the agreement, said that when the treaty takes effect "Americans detained in the Soviet Union for any reason will be assured of access without delay to American consular officials."

George Reedy, White House press secretary, was asked whether this would apply to Americans who might be arrested on espionage charges.

ANY REASONS

"The statement says 'for any reasons,'" Reedy replied.

Johnson said the agreement, which must be ratified by the Senate before it can take effect, will be signed in Moscow on June 1.

Foy D. Kohler, U.S. ambassador in Moscow, will sign for the United States.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko is expected to sign for the Soviet Union.

SIGNIFICANT STEP

In announcing the completion of lengthy negotiations on the agreement, Johnson hailed the treaty as "a significant step in our continuing efforts to increase contacts and understanding between the American people and the peoples of the Soviet Union."

"It is my hope that this treaty—the first bilateral treaty between the United States and the Soviet Union—will be a step forward in developing understanding between our two countries—which is so important in the continuing struggle for peace."

Johnson, in citing improved consular services to be made possible in both countries as a result of the treaty, said Americans visiting the Soviet Union either as tourists or for business reasons "will have available to them a greater degree of consular protection than ever before."

Prime Minister Nehru

Stroke Is Fatal to Neutralist Head of Nation

Temporary Leader Sworn In; Three Men Considered for Post

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, the aristocratic statesman who led India in the paths of neutralism and socialism since it became independent in 1947, died today after suffering his second stroke in less than five months. He was 74.

Home Minister G. L. Nanda, a senior Cabinet member who has a reputation for getting things done, was sworn in as acting prime minister 10 hours after Nehru's death.

Nanda was sworn in by President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan. An elderly philosopher renowned in world academic circles, Radhakrishnan was charged under the constitution to take over the government on the death of the prime minister.

But Nanda was quickly chosen to handle the administrative details.

Nehru's death was attributed to a heart attack and shock.

"The prime minister is no more," Steel Minister C. Subramaniam told the sobbing Parliament. "Life is out. The light is out."

MORNING STROKE

Nehru was stricken at 6:25 a.m. as he arose at his usual hour. He died at 2 p.m.—4:30 a.m. EDT, seven hours and 35 minutes later. A stroke on Jan. 7 had partially paralyzed his left side, but he had recovered somewhat and in recent weeks had resumed his seat in Parliament.

His only child, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, was with him when he died. A large team of doctors was in attendance. The U.S. Embassy offered its medical staff and equipment, but an Indian spokesman said the Indian government did not request assistance.

Nehru's two sisters, Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit and Mrs. Krishna Hutchesing, left Bombay by special plane for New Delhi.

Mrs. Pandit is governor of Maharashtra State.

Nehru's death urgently raised a question that has plagued India for years—his successor. The strong-willed prime minister held the reins of power firmly and adamantly refused to designate a successor.

LEADING CANDIDATE

A leading candidate has been Lal Bahadur Shastri, 59, a mild-mannered, 5-foot-2 veteran of the ruling All-India Congress party and a close friend of Nehru. After Nehru's first stroke, he was summoned Shastri, made him a Cabinet minister without portfolio and put him in charge.

But when Nehru began recovering, Shastri was elbowed aside and his political stock dropped.

Two other political figures generally regarded as possible successors are Home Minister G. L. Nanda and Finance Minister T. T. Krishnamachari.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Nehru's daughter also has been mentioned but has not shown that she has great political backing.

PRESIDENT CONTROLS

The Indian constitution provides for the president, normally a ceremonial official, to take over the government on the death of the prime minister.

No Nostalgia for City Dump

Landfill Site Closed; Set New Location

The gates of a faithful city servant closed quietly this week, and nobody much cared. Pontiac's Kennett Road dump became a has-been sanitary landfill after 10 years as a familiar landmark.

Had it been a library closed or an old fire hall vacated, things might have been different. Such events usually draw a few nostalgic pioneer citizens and history-minded folk.

But no one ventured to the city dump for so much as a whiff of times gone by.

City residents and the Department of Public Works will henceforth dump refuse on a new site located at 4390 Lapeer Road (M24), in Pontiac Township, according to Clyde Christian, DPW superintendent.

10-YEAR CLOSING

Except for a few hours every Sunday, the dump on West Kennett will be closed to public use for at least 10 years.

Even the Sunday visiting hours are slated to be discontinued in July, when spring cleaning is largely completed by Pontiac householders.

DPW officials (with tongue in cheek) feel that most northside residents will get used to life without the frequent Saturday night infernos that used to play pretty colors off the summer sky.

Christian pointed out that by using the new dumping site the city will save about $14,000 a year and aid in future development of a ski resort and golf course.

JOINT OPERATION
"The new sanitary landfill will be operated jointly by DPW forces and Bald Mountain Properties, Inc., on a 300-acre site (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

ALL STRINGS — Nearly 500 public school pupils gathered last night in the Pontiac Central High School Gymnasium for the first citywide Gala Orchestra Concert. All string instruments were featured. Participating were all-city grade school, junior high and senior orchestras. In addition, first and second year string classes and the combined junior high orchestras also took part.

Possibility of Bus Loss Faces City

For the second time in four years, Pontiac may be without bus service by the end of next month.

American Transit Corp. has advised city administrators that it will not renew the annual agreement between its subsidiary, Pontiac Transit Corp., and the city, when it expires June 30.

The bus company has been operating in Pontiac under an annual contract agreement with the city since June 9, 1960.

Company officials said that according to their financial records, Pontiac Transit had an operating loss of about $34,319.78 since coming here in 1960.

The union contract between Pontiac Transit and its bus drivers expires Sunday at midnight. The union argues with considerable merit that their wages in this area are substandard," wrote K. E. Totten, regional manager, in a letter received at City Hall late yesterday.

OPERATING EXPENSE

"However, in view of the operating experience since we have been in Pontiac, it is impossible for us to grant any increase."

"Therefore, it is our intention not to renew our lease and supervisory agreement with the City of Pontiac," the letter read.

Both Totten and Glen Crawford, manager of the Pontiac operation, are attending an American Transit Association (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Weather Slated to Be Just Right

Sunny skies and spring temperatures—not too warm, not too cool—are forecast for the Pontiac area for the next few days.

The weatherman said temperatures will average 2 to 4 degrees below the normal high of 74 and normal low of 54 until the weekend when the mercury will drop a little.

Precipitation will total one-half inch in showers and thundershowers Saturday and Sunday.

Rain falling early last evening measured near .08 of an inch. The low reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 54. At 1 p.m., the thermometer registered 72.

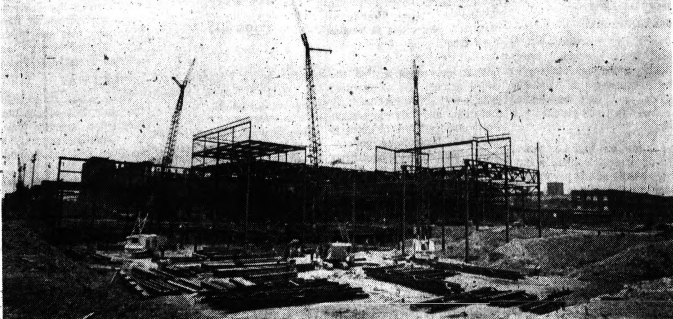

Priest Claims LBJ Broke Church Law

NEW YORK (UPI) — A prominent Episcopal priest complained yesterday that President Johnson had violated church law by taking communion in an Episcopal church although he is not a member of the denomination.

The Rev. Canon Albert J. DuBois, executive director of the American Church Union, an association of Episcopal clergy and laity, said he had no doubts about the President's "good faith and sincerity," but church law restricts communion to members.

"The trouble lies in the past with priests and bishops who took the law into their own hands and now undoubtedly create a situation for clergy in Washington and elsewhere who wish to maintain the church's law and discipline but who do not wish to make an issue of this at their altar rails," DuBois said.

Johnson is a member of the Disciples of Christ Church. Mrs. Johnson and their two daughters are Episcopalians and the first family frequently worships in St. Mark's Episcopal Church in the Capital.

Rusk to Represent U. S. at Funeral Rites

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk made emergency preparations to lead a high-level U.S. delegation today to the funeral of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India.

Roused before daybreak to receive notice of the death of the Indian leader, Rusk arranged to fly out of Andrews Air Force Base, Md. for New Delhi.

Barry Backers Lose in Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A delegate slate pledged to Sen. Barry Goldwater was turned down by Republicans, and a governor sworn to erect barriers against civil rights was nominated by Democrats in yesterday's Florida primary.

Goldwater's chances of Florida support at the national convention were not erased.

But they were weakened by election of a slate headed by a man who had no bones about current disenchantment with the Arizona conservative.

"Goldwater appeared on television and radio extensively in the last week and campaigned against us," said Tom Fairfield Brown of Tampa, state Republican chairman who heads the winning slate.

"I feel we have a mandate from the people to go to California and represent Florida the best we can."

Property Owners Object to Street Paving Plans

BIRMINGHAM—It's the time of year when the thoughts of city officials again turn to paving streets.

The thoughts of property owners, however, turn to tax bills.

They are inclined to consider the pleasures of living in the "rural atmosphere" created by an unpaved street. They worry about loss of trees, increased traffic and the inconvenience of having their street torn up.

They remember past grievances with the city.

These factors came into play when the City Commission made an unprecedented decision Monday night — it voted to reconsider an action only minutes after initiating it.

So the residents of Bird, Cummings, Davis, Emmons, Humphrey, Smith, Catalpa, Cedar and Edgewood have another week to formulate and express their opinions.

Assessment District

Hearings on the necessity of paving these streets were held Monday. The first six streets listed would be in one special assessment district and the other three in another.

According to City Manager L. R. Gare, the ratio of persons objecting to the work ranged from 14 per cent on Smith to 60 per cent on Catalpa.

Hearing on the first assessment district was requested by a petition bearing the signatures of 22 per cent of the Bird property owners. Another 34 per cent signed the petition against the work and four per cent signed both.

Some members of the hearing audience, which numbered about 100, said the city's estimate of objectors was too low. More petitions were handed in during the hearing.

City Engineer William T. Killen explained the proposed program, which would include curbs and gutters and drainage work.

Necessity of Program

After two hours of discussion, the five commissioners present voted to declare the necessity of the street paving program.

Commissioner William E. Roberts assured the property owners that "We don't just sit up here and say, 'Who will we get this year?'"

The city wants eventually to pave all the streets, but must take them a group at a time, he said.

Noting additional protests, Commissioner Carl F. Ingraham pointed out that public improvement programs are not to be determined by a popular vote, and that the commission must be responsible.

"We will continue until every street in the city is paved," he said.

Ingraham was the only commissioner who did not vote for reconsideration.

John J. Moorman

Requiem: Mass for John J. Moorman, 89, of 512 Hanna will be 9:30 a.m. Friday at Holy Name Catholic Church. Burial will follow in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Moorman died this morning after a long illness. Rosary will be recited at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at Manley Bailey Funeral Home.

Former owner of the Rose Laundry, Mr. Moorman retired in 1961.

Surviving are his wife, Rose; a son, Richard Bryce of Royal Oak; a daughter, Mrs. George Kernick of Birmingham; a sister; and six grandchildren.

Mrs. Charles H. Smith

Service for Mrs. Charles H. (Lula M.) Smith, 84, of 2339 E. Maple will be Friday at Doan and Johnson Funeral Home, Richmond, Ind. Burial will follow in Earlham Cemetery, Richmond.

Mrs. Smith died yesterday after a long illness.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Arnold W. Berndt of Birmingham, and a grandchild.

Manley A. Tyson

Manley A. Tyson, 66, of 691 Ann died this morning in New York.

His body will be at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home tomorrow night.

Before his retirement in 1963, he was employed at Mills Pharmacy.

Surviving are his wife Dena; two sons, Robert and Charles, both of Los Angeles; and four brothers.

academic circles and a highly respected figure in India.

Nehru was born an aristocrat — a Kashmiri Brahmin, or the highest of the high among Hindus. But Gandhi's persuasion and his own compassion for his oppressed British rule drove Nehru and his whole family into the independence movement. It meant years in British jails for him and his father, the wealthy lawyer Motilal Nehru, and others in the family.

City Finds Extra Funds for Murphy Park Sewers

The City Commission last night deferred action on a measure designed to finance part of the Murphy Park sewer construction costs because of a "money problem" unlike any other faced by city officials in the 1964 budget.

The city found $195,545 it had nearly forgotten — and it was a gift from the beginning.

Stated for action last night was the original $3.5-million bond ordinance which financed the building of Pontiac's new sewer treatment plant.

A financial statement showed there was $195,545 left over after the plant was completed, and city administrators had recommended it be transferred for use in financing the estimated $467,000 Murphy Park sewer.

convention in Chicago and were unavailable for comment.

City Manager John F. Reineck said that "since they aren't in town, we cannot do much about this until Monday."

TO SEEK MEETING

"I'm very sorry to learn of their plans to terminate the agreement and will arrange a meeting with company officials as early as possible," Reineck said.

"I'm sure we will do everything feasible within our financial limits to keep bus service here."

In his letter, Totten said company officials would like to meet with city officials "to work out the details of the termination of the transit operation."

Totten said that "if the city is able to find any other operator, we will cooperate in every way possible to sell or lease any of our assets on a mutually satisfactory basis."

City Agreement Under the city-transit agreement, the city actually leases vehicles to the bus company so they may operate as municipal vehicles and, thus, be eligible for lower fuel and maintenance costs.

For the first time last year, the agreement included a flat rate subsidy of $420 per bus paid by the city to the bus firm.

Totten's letter said financial statements showed an operating loss of $19,074.75 from June 9, 1962 to June 30, 1963, and a loss of $425.58 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1964.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1963 the company showed losses of $10,322.45 in Pontiac. The loss from last July 1 through last month amounted to $4,677 after applying the $400 subsidy picked up as of that time.

Romanian Kin Welcomed

Family Finally Together

The house at 637 Sheryl, Waterford Township, is ringing again with laughter and inquisitive talk.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. John Botan expanded the second and third time in a month to add niece Angela, 21, and nephew Nicolai Glavan, 19, formerly of Bucharest, Romania.

It is the second part of a modern-day miracle the Botans realized April 30 when his mother, Mrs. Maria Popp, 68, arrived here after finally getting permission to leave Romania.

Departure of the young people — a rarity from a Communist country — completed the Botan's 16 year effort to have the family reunited here.

"The best way to describe Angela and Nicolai is to say they are 'real bubbly,' with excitement," exclaimed Mrs. Botan.

"She's amazed at the women's clothing, and he's crazy about all the gadgets around the house."

EXTEND VOCABULARY

She said the two, although trying to add 10 new words a day to their limited English vocabularies, want to attend school to broaden their knowledge of America.

Angela hopes to utilize her training as an architectural engineer, said Mrs. Botan.

'Cuba Air Drop to Rebel Force'

MIAMI (UPI) — A Cuban exile organization said today it made a successful air drop of supplies to guerrilla forces in Cuba's easternmost Oriente Province last Monday morning.

The organization, known as the "South of November Movement," said the plane which made the air drop also scattered some 150,000 anti-Communist leaflets over Santiago, capital of Oriente.

A Pompano Beach, Fla., newspaper, the Sun-Sentinel, first carried a report on the claimed air mission in a copy-right story yesterday.

It quoted a Cuban who said he was one of three men aboard the twin-engine plane as stating that the flight originated in "south Florida."

But the Cuban exile group said the plane took off from "a secret base in the Caribbean."

Viet Windup Not in Sight

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is unlikely to admit it, but it seems apparent the plan to wind up the major part of the U.S. military effort in South Viet Nam by the end of 1965 has quietly withered away.

When officials are reminded of that plan, announced last October, they reply: "But there have been two coups in Saigon since then."

What they mean is that the effort against the Communist insurgents has been set back by confusion and disorganization stemming from two changes in the South Vietnamese government. These were the overthrow of the Diem regime by a military junta in November and the overthrow of the junta by another military group in January.

The belief is that the 15,000 U.S. military men in South Viet Nam will not be reduced appreciably, if at all, this year, and perhaps not to any great extent next year.

New plans to double the number of Vietnamese pilots and to bring the Vietnamese ground forces by some 50,000 men will entail increased U.S. training responsibilities that will carry over at least into 1965.

Brown's slate will send at least 28 of the 34 Florida delegates to the convention. The six other spots remained in doubt.

It was a "big victory for Brown, who had led his delegation in a fight for the state party leadership against Rep. William Cramer, R-Fla., who headed the slate pledged to Goldwater.

In Oklahoma, Democrats last night pulled Fred Harris, a 33-year-old attorney, as their man to tackle the pride of the Republicans — ex-football coach Bud Wilkinson — for the U.S. Senate.

Earlier this month, the defense secretary and Taylor were in Viet Nam for the fifth time in two years — and returned with news that the Communists had stepped up their rate of attack. McNamara recommended still further strengthening measures, chiefly beefing up the Vietnam sea air force.

After reporting to Johnson on May 14, McNamara saw newsmen and once more was asked about the plan for major U.S. withdrawals from South Viet Nam by 1965.

Again, he recited that U.S. units are in the country chiefly for training, support and logistical assistance to native forces.

MORE PERSONNEL

He also said: "It may be necessary in order to expand the training to send over certain additional U.S. personnel. If that becomes necessary, they will be sent for that purpose."

The defense secretary never did respond to the reporter's mention of the withdrawal plan.

Memorial Day '500' National Sports Classic

Of all the spectacles regularly offered sports-minded Americans, the annual Indianapolis "500" on Memorial Day is certainly one of the greatest.

Saturday, 33 diminutive speed wagons will take off on a grueling, thrill-packed chase that will circle the famed speedway's two and one-half mile track 200 times in a little over three hours. The first race, ran in 1911, took twice as long to cover the distance.

Although attempts have been made over the years to establish auto racing on the grand scale in other areas, "Indy's" preeminent position in the speed sport has never been threatened.

The original track, once called the Old Brickyard because it was paved with 3.2 million bricks after it opened as a dirt track in 1909, is now covered with an anti-skid type of asphalt.

It is expected that a quarter-million fans will jam their way into the speedway's double-decked steel and concrete stands and the infield parking area.

Oh, yes. If you are making your maiden trip to the gasoline extravaganza, don't set your navigational sights on Indianapolis, Ind. The track ain't there. It's in Speedway, same state, just a 5-iron shot away.

Mankind Is Powerless Before Nature's Might

The recent disaster at Anchor Bay brings forth arresting and grim data on one of nature's worst killers—the tornado.

As most people know, late spring and early summer is tornado weather. About 230 of the violent storms occur in the U.S. each year, resulting in slightly more than 200 deaths. Over a 45-year period, twisters caused 9,346 deaths—somewhat less than one-fourth the ANNUAL 38,000 auto fatalities.

The storms are rare west of the Continental Divide and in mountainous areas. They are also rare in most foreign countries. Europe has fewer than two a year.

Over 80 per cent of tornadoes blow in between noon and midnight. They form most readily in the hours following the warmest part of the day. The surface wind is usually from the southwest; nearly two-thirds of the twisters move from that direction.

A tornado's path, is usually about 16 miles long and less than one-fourth mile wide. The longest officially recorded, tornado traveled 293 miles, in 1917, and lasted more than seven hours. Its speed was 40 miles per hour, about average. But tornado speed has varied from five to 139 miles per hour.

As great progress as science has made in almost all areas, it is still impotent when matched against nature's awesome phenomena.

'Delinquency' Cause Not Working Mother

With society gravely concerned by the growing incidence of juvenile delinquency, sociologists in attempting to combat the menace have striven to formulate a pattern of living most responsible for it.

One of the causes of youthful lawlessness is generally ascribed to the frugility of the domestic establishment related to the working mother.

But a recent survey by a team of experts on juvenile delinquency shows that there are just as many delinquents in the families of nonworking mothers as in those of mothers who work.

The largest number of delinquents come from families in which the mothers work irregularly.

The authorities interpret this as reflecting not so much the mother's employment as a factor in her child's waywardness but rather the disruptive tendency of her own emotional instability or marriage problem.

Indeed, say the investigators, in most cases the child of a steadily working mother develops more personal responsibility. He sees a living example of how a family can work as a unit for the common good.

It would appear from these findings that the character of a child is not as delicate and unfavorably subject to external influences as some psychologists would have us think.

Vice Presidency Dogs Congress

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—That big hole at the top of the government—the empty vice presidency—is still there. Congress is making sounds about doing something and, as usual, it's all uncertain.

Equally important, perhaps more so, is the twin problem never yet settled by law: presidential disability.

For instance: who decides the next in line should be president if the president refuses to admit he can't do his job?

If Congress does act—MARLOW this year—it may not be able to because the Southern filibuster on civil rights has everything gummed up—it will probably be in the form of a constitutional amendment.

Congress long ago tried to provide for the line of succession if the president died and there was no vice president. But it has never tackled the disability problem.

The assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the succession to the presidency of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, leaving the No. 2 spot vacant again, has forced the country to look at the problem again.

VIVID PROBLEM
In a nuclear age like this, when an enemy attack might within a few minutes remove a president and vice president, the problem looks vivid.

But there is that other problem of disability. Since there was no law on the subject, President Dwight D. Eisenhower and President Kennedy arranged with their vice presidents for them to take over if the president became disabled.

But suppose a president is too disabled to know it. How does the vice president step in? And what happens if a president can't carry out his duties but won't admit it?

A subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee has been studying the problem for months and this week is expected to urge the full committee to approve this solution:

NEEDS APPROVAL
When there's no vice president, the president must nominate a vice president, but he can't take office unless approved by a majority of both houses.

When a president says in writing he's too disabled to carry out his job, the vice president would become acting president until the president declared his disability ended.

If the president should not make known his disability, the vice president with the concurrence of a majority of the Cabinet, could declare the president disabled and assume the power and duties but not the office of the president.

If the president disputed the act of the vice president and a majority of his Cabinet, Congress would decide with a two-thirds vote of both houses for the vice president to continue as acting president.

WOULD RESUME DUTIES
Otherwise, the president would resume his powers and duties.

But if this ever comes to a vote in House and Senate, amendments offered on the floor could change the solution just outlined. So, as of now there is nothing definite either about the final form or the final action.

'A Further Appropriation Is Necessary'

David Lawrence Says:

Court Dictates Virginia Tax Use

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court of the United States has just handed down a decision which transcends its importance in its ruling of May 1964 ordering public schools to be desegregated.

This time the Supreme Court goes further.

It undertakes to tell the legislative body of a Virginia county how it shall appropriate the taxpayers' money.

It tells the board of supervisors, which is the legislative body of the county under the constitution of Virginia, that a federal court order can be issued commanding the county board to levy certain taxes and spend certain funds for purposes specified by the court.

No such sweeping decision has ever come from the Supreme Court in the history of the United States.

The theory of the Federal Constitution has always been that the executive, legislative, and judicial powers are separate, and that the right of the people to govern themselves and to elect a legislative body to decide how tax money shall be spent cannot be interfered with or impaired by any order of a court.

The Supreme Court, in this instance, admitted that a state "has a wide discretion in deciding whether laws shall operate statewide or shall operate only in certain counties, the legislature having in mind the needs and desires of each."

DECIDES FOR ITSELF

But the opinion went on to say that the Supreme Court of the United States may decide for itself what objectives the board of supervisors may have had in mind and can veto such legislation if it doesn't conform to the court's conception of how the county's money shall be spent.

The Supreme Court was explicit in its command as it ruled that the federal court may, if necessary, "require the supervisors to exercise the power that is theirs to levy taxes to raise funds adequate to reopen, operate, and maintain without racial discrimination the public school system in Prince Edward County like that operated in other counties in Virginia."

Even more sensational is the Supreme Court's ruling that a state, may operate its educational system in accordance with the dictates of the judiciary.

The legislature of Virginia, for instance, passed laws in 1959 and 1960 providing grants of tuition to parents of "every child, regardless of race," so as to finance the attendance of such a child at any "nonsectarian private school or a public school outside his locality."

The day cannot be far distant when private schools throughout the country may be subjected to the same judicial supervision on the ground that, while they might not have state financial support, these schools nevertheless operate under a state license or must obtain educational accreditation from state authorities.

Private schools could some day be classified—in the words of the latest Supreme Court decision—as "beneficiaries of county and state support."

Most surprising of all, however, is the concept expressed by the Supreme Court that it may at will substitute its own decrees for the judgment usually rendered by a state or county legislative body elected by the people.

Bob Considine Says:

Healthy Pallor Beats Tan, According to the AMA

NEW YORK—The American Medical Association wishes you'd forget that nonsense about getting a suntan this summer.

The croakers say it will make you old before your time, damage your hair, provide less vitamin D than you get in the average American meal.

"At least 10,000,000 people will succeed in roasting themselves to a turn on the first long, hot weekend at the beach or pool or even in the backyard garden," AMA frowns.

"If you want to get a sunburn, it's easy. Just stay out in the summer sun too long."

"However, do this with the knowledge that the physical benefits of tanning are at best dubious, and there is solid evidence that continued exposure to sun weathers and ages the skin."

It foresees a day "when tanning will no longer be a status symbol and the fair, creamy complexion will once again be the vogue."

Anyone for a healthy pallor?

Planning a trip out of the country?

Well, first take time out to thank the good Lord you've got the dough for it, and the right to go.

The Hungarian traveler to the West must first prove he is invited to visit a "reliable" person in the free world.

The Western host must give written assurance that the tourist's expenses while abroad will be taken care of, including food and lodge.

A passport costs 400 forint, about $10, and is a considerable amount when it is remembered that the average skilled industrial worker makes less than $70.

It is illegal to take out more than $5 in Hungarian money. Travelers are often stripped down to the skin by border guards as they leave.

One poor soul managed to save $80 in U.S. ones and twos over the past 10 years, against that happy day when his vacation in Paris would start. He hid the money in his bee-hive, for it is illegal to possess imperialistist dough. Alas, the bees took a liking to the bills and devoured large portions of each of them.

The man placed what was left of them in special inner-soles he built into his shoes, and walked his sad little fortune across the border. The good Joes at Radio Free Europe arranged for the U.S. Treasury to exchange good money for the bee-stung cabbage. . . and the Hungarian lived happily ever after—at least, until he returned to the peoples' paradise.

Big City Disease

Chicago's American

Chicago has witnessed a case of the big city disease that has been afflicting New York. The ailment may be called creeping gutlessness, and no treatment for it has yet been discovered.

A crowd of people around a west side drive-in restaurant watched two men beat and kick a lone policeman who had tried to question them.

None of the on-lookers made a move to answer his calls for help. Finally, an unidentified off-duty policeman happened by, noticed the crowds watching through the restaurant windows, and rescued the victim, Patrolman Timothy D. Nolan. Said the battered Nolan, "I can't figure it. They just stood there. They wouldn't lift a finger."

The incident was not quite on a par with the ghastly occurrences that shamed New York. It is certainly shameful for a crowd to stand by as two men beat a third, but it is not as utterly inhuman as passively watching a woman being stabbed to death as she pleaded for help or hurry past the shrieking victim of a rapist. PTA President Explains Purpose of Organization

The way Roy L. Rumble talks about the PTA proves he has never attended a meeting. Otherwise he would know what the PTA stands for. It promotes the welfare of youth in home, school, church and community, seeks to raise the standard of home life and secures adequate laws for the care of children.

If that hickory stick were used at home instead of blaming the schools and PTA, we wouldn't have delinquent youths.

Says 'Massachusetts Bill' Needs Signing

I hope Gov. George W. Romney signs the so-called "Massachusetts Bill." The bill is an aid to the intelligent voter and follows the idea of "one man one vote." It makes it necessary for a voter to intentionally vote for each man and ensures that "one map" will have "one vote" for each and every office on the ballot.

The bill should be called the "Kennedy-Massachusetts Bill." The entire family thrived on politics in Massachusetts and President Kennedy said that the voting methods there are the fairest in the country. What's good for the Kennedys and Massachusetts and seventeen other states is good for Michigan.

Another Backs Drag Strip for Pontiac

I favor a drag strip in the Pontiac area. I've been to International Raceway Park and it was so dusty we couldn't eat our lunch. Another time it was so muddy and crowded we couldn't get in. And as for it being twenty miles from Pontiac, they must be air miles because it takes an hour at least. The drag strip proposed by the Dragcar Association will be modern, and I think the people who are doing this could do nothing better for Pontiac.

Feels Negro Issue Basically Economic

It follows, in view of the relatively second-class citizenship of Negroes and automation's threatened creation of a permanent army of unemployed, that the Negro issue is basically an economic one.

Until our society is democratically reconstructed so that human need rather than private profit motivates production; and demands of all who are physically able the duty of useful labor—white workers as well as black shall never be free and economically equal.

Together we must organize to own and administer the natural resources and social tools of production (industries). Since labor alone produced all wealth that accumulated as capital in private hands as well as currently existing commodities—they are morally ours upon political demand.

Reader Says God's Name Is Jehovah

Letter writer George Kinney should consult both his Bible and dictionary concerning the words "holly," "reverend" and "hallowed." These words are descriptive adjectives—not names. If he reads Exodus he will find that God's name is Jehovah and the name can't possibly apply to anyone but God.

Ike Tells of 3 Periods of Disability During 8 Years in Office

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — That old Ike magic was in his smile, and in the tumultuous applause which greeted the springing step of the old soldier.

Lawyers are not ordinarily the most demonstrative of our population, but as former President Eisenhower strode into the American Bar Association's "Forum on Presidential Inability," they might have been mistaken for teen-agers welcoming a Beatle.

The standing ovations before and after his man-to-man talk, the swell of repeated hand-clappings, and the chuckles at his sallies seemed to demonstrate anew that President Lyndon Baines Johnson's most formidable opponent would be a candidate named Ike.

Hale, pink-cheeked and full of vitality, the ex-president gave living proof that any constitutional change must provide iron-clad guarantees that a disabled president be able to resume the office which he might temporarily cede to a vice president.

With disarming candor, Ike freely admitted that thrice during his own White House tenure he would have been incapable of making a crucial decision, if the enemy had chosen such times to strike.

His white eyebrows traveling around his forehead as he flashed the familiar, lop-sided grin, he told lawyers that he intended to discuss presidential disability "from the standpoint of a patient."

PERSONAL OPINION

"I have a very personal opinion," he said, "because three times I found myself with a disability that might have prevented me from carrying out my duties in the event of a crisis."

"One morning at two o'clock I had a pain and the doctor came," he said. "He gave me something in the arm. The next thing I knew I was several miles away, under an oxygen tent."

After his heart attack, White House staff members were not permitted to see him for a week, he said, and newspapers were also denied him. Thus he was totally out of touch with what was going on in the world, and not for several weeks afterwards was he able to resume his presidential duties in full from a hospital bed.

Following an operation a year later, he said, "I felt nothing of disability except extreme pain — pain — which made me unable to carry out my duties."

MOST PERILOUS

He was about to joke about his third, and perhaps most perilous presidential illness. "I had a spasm of the brain — if any," he grinned.

"For 24 hours I had an absolute loss of memory of words. I could walk around, but if someone came to see me I couldn't possibly remember his name."

"This would have offered a total gap in my ability to function in the event of enemy action."

Thrusting his hands deep into the pants pockets of his slate-colored suit, Ike pointed out that a president can be "equally disabled" in a plane over the ocean or at some other isolated spot, if communications failed.

For that reason, he strongly underwrote the Bar Association's proposal that a president, with the approval of the House and Senate, should be able to name his own vice president to fill a vacancy such as that which exists today.

"A president and vice president must be able to see eye-to-eye — to have a real rapport such as grew in my case" with Vice President Richard M. Nixon, he said, because no one except a vice president who attends all national security and Cabinet meetings is prepared to act intelligently in the event of a foreign policy crisis.

With such knowledge, he smiled, a president or acting president can make a decision "in his bedroom, or on the golf course."

General Eisenhower, who has never quite closed the door to a vice-presidential draft at the Republican convention in July, sounded like he considered the vice presidency as a decidedly attractive job.

Teen Admits Setting Fires at Orphanage

CULLMAN, Ala. (AP) — A teen-age orphan was in the city jail today after officers said he had confessed to setting three costly fires at the Childhaven orphanage because he was unhappy over a change of administrators.

Police Chief R. B. Moyer said the boy, 14, a timid youth who had been in the orphanage since age 3, signed a statement admitting he set fires on April 2, May 6 and May 11.

The May 6 fire virtually destroyed the third floor of the orphanage's main building and forced the evacuation of children housed there. No one was hurt. Damage was placed at $45,512.
