Lodge Reports on Viet to LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has received from Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge a report of progress in Vietnam and a prediction of further gains in 1967.

Lodge, home from his Saigon post for the holidays, gave this account to newsmen at the White House last night during discussions with the President and his top advisers.

Lodge said he sees no signs yet of Hanoi interest in peace. But he added he anticipates enough headway in 1967 to be able to see "light at the end of the tunnel" by then, even though the fighting is still going on.

Of what he termed the "four kinds of wars" in Vietnam—conventional arms, political development, economic development and pacification of terrorism—he said the pacification program is making the least progress and "is not yet rolling . . ."

Lodge said Johnson called him to the White House for a report while he is on home leave, as he has on past occasions.

The 1960 Republican nominee for vice president denied he intends to resign, ducked political questions and backed the administration's Vietnam policy.

He said he will return to his Boston home, then go on to Saigon after New Year's.

Sitting in on the White House session, which began in late afternoon prior to Johnson's evening departure for Texas, were Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg.

Others there were Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach, roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and presidential adviser W. Rostow.

U.S. Leaflets Urge N. Viets to Desert Units

Air Drop Showers Hanoi, Delta With Surrender Message

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — American planes showered Hanoi and the Red River Delta with millions of surrender leaflets today.

A U.S. spokesman said Air Force planes dropped nearly 2.5 million leaflets calling on the young men of North Vietnam "to leave your unit when you are sent south" and to enjoy good treatment from the allied forces.

The leaflet drop was carried out while a worldwide dispute still raged over American air raids on the North Vietnamese capital area earlier this week.

Communist China claimed its embassy in Hanoi was seriously damaged by the raids, and the North Vietnamese said more than 100 civilians were killed.

The United States has repeatedly denied any bombs fell in Hanoi itself in the raids Tuesday and Wednesday.

No raids since the U.S. military command has reported no raids near Hanoi since then, although American planes have struck at other targets in the Communist north.

U.S. B52 bombers struck this afternoon at a North Vietnamese base camp and supply area in the demilitarized zone, a U.S. spokesman reported.

It was the fourth time this week the giant, Guam-based jet bombers hit in the buffer zone between North and South Vietnam.

In fighting in South Vietnam, U.S. headquarters listed only minor action but Vietnamese military headquarters reported a headquarters unit of the Vietnamese 9th Infantry Battalion was badly mauled early today by a Vietcong mortar and ground attack in the Mekong Delta.

UNDERSTRENGTH
A Vietnamese spokesman said an understrength headquarters company of an infantry battalion—estimated between 60 and 100 men—suffered heavy casualties in the enemy attack 66 miles southwest of Saigon.

Accord Is Reached on City Police Pay

A tentative agreement on requested pay hikes for Pontiac police was reached by the city and representatives of the Pontiac Police Officers Association yesterday.

Also included in the tentative agreement are salary adjustments for Pontiac firemen and department of public works employees in the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Local 100.

No specific terms of the settlement were revealed, but the entire general fund surplus acquired over the past three years will be required, it was indicated.

The settlement will be taken before the employees and the City Commission Monday night for ratification.

Detroit arbitrator Harry N. Casselman, appointed a fact-finder in the case by the Michigan Labor Mediation Board, said use of the surplus was necessary "to place the employees in a pay range which compares more favorably with surrounding communities which gave substantial increases in July."

ALLIED FAIR

"All parties are agreed that the settlement does not meet all economic demands of each group, but it deals fairly with the employees and Pontiac taxpayers," Casselman said.

The tentative agreement came on the heels of four days of fact-finding meetings and two days of lengthy discussion. Casselman entered the dispute on Nov. 9, following a Nov. 13 "Sick-call boycott" in which many police officers participated.

A previous wave of reported illness by police officers occurred Oct. 21. The PPOA wave demand was (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Boycott's Success Doubted

U.N. Votes Rhodesia Sanctions

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Security Council has adopted mandatory economic sanctions for the first time in U.N. history in a move to bring down Rhodesia's white minority government. But failure to provide for enforcement machinery immediately raised doubts that the boycott would work.

The 15-nation council yesterday night ordered all 122 U.N. members to boycott 12 specific exports from Rhodesia and embargo shipments of oil, arms, aircraft, motor vehicles and parts to Rhodesia.

It decided that they "shall prevent" the forbidden transactions "by their nationals or in their territories," notwithstanding prior business contracts to the contrary.

The action was embodied in a British resolution modified by African amendments and adopted by a vote of 11-0 with 4 abstentions.

Those in favor were Britain, the United States, Nationalist China, Argentina, Uruguay, Japan, Jordan, The Netherlands, New Zealand and two of the sponsors of the amendments—Nigeria and Uganda.

ABSTENTIONS

Those abstaining were the third such sponsor, Mali, plus France, the Soviet Union and Bulgaria.

The purpose of the resolution was to end the rebellion against Britain that began when Prime Minister Ian Smith declared Rhodesia independent Nov. 11, 1965, in the face of British pressure for equal votes for Africans.

It put mandatory sanctions in place of the voluntary sanctions the council adopted shortly after that event.

Rejecting five of 13 African amendments, the council refused to deplore Portuguese and South African "support to the rebel regime," to deplore Britain's failure to use force against the regime and to invite Britain to use "all means" in preventing oil from reaching Rhodesia.

It also refused to add coal and manufactured goods to Britain's list of exports for boycott—asbestos, iron ore, chrome, pig-iron, sugar, tobacco, copper, meat, meat products, hides, skins and leather.

Romney Glad About Interest

Talks With Press at Governors' Windup

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI) — Michigan Gov. George W. Romney said today support for his possible Republican presidential candidacy "has moved ahead faster than I anticipated."

He said he finds it encouraging. Romney maintained his position of an unannounced but frontrunning prospect for the GOP nomination in an informal news conference following the close of the mid-year National Governors Conference.

Asked about evidences of support for him in public opinion polls and from other areas, Romney said, "I don't find it an unfortunate development."

He told reporters he will need some kind of organizational help in order to explore problems involved in reaching a final decision on whether to be a candidate.

'OUT FRONT'

Asked if he felt he was "too far out front" in the GOP presidential preliminaries, Romney replied:

"Things have moved ahead faster than I anticipated before the election . . . I don't see how any red-blooded American could be other than honored to feel the way these developments indicate. It is also very sobering."

N-Pact Pushed by Goldberg

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg expressed hope today that the treaty outlining use of outer space for warlike purposes could be a prelude to one outlawing the spread of nuclear weapons.

He spoke in the U.N. General Assembly's Main Political Committee, where the treaty was expected to win approval by an overwhelming vote.

President Johnson announced U.S.-Soviet agreement on the treaty nine days ago. It represents the first legal code to govern the exploration of outer space.

Goldberg said the outer space treaty was a third historic step in a series of peace-building agreements.

He listed the first as the Antarctic Treaty of 1959 reserving that area of the world exclusively for peace, and the second the Limited Nuclear Test Ban Treaty of 1963.

HOPE FOR GROWTH

"We hope and believe this series of peace-building agreements will continue and grow," he said. "Nothing would make us happier than if the treaty against the proliferation of nuclear weapons would soon be added as the fourth item on this historic list."

"And step by step, we may also advance the rule of law into further areas of the relations between states."

Cutting Down Yule Tree Is Costly for 4

Court costs totaling $110 were levied yesterday on four persons apprehended by Oakland County sheriff's deputies and accused of cutting down and removing a pine Christmas tree.

Alvin E. Heft, 40; his wife, Emogene, 43, both of 12 Gingell, paid $20 each, while Alvin G. Beyett, 27, also of 12 Gingell; and George J. Brown, 26, of 1604 Alma, Waterford Township, paid $35 each.

All pleaded guilty at their appearance before West Bloomfield Township Justice Christian Powell.

The four were arrested at 12:30 a.m. yesterday as they dragged a freshly cut tree from a wooded plot in the Pine Knob-Clarkston Road area of Independence Township.

Race Driver Refutes Accident Claims

In a recent article in Ford Times, noted race driver DAN GURNEY poses a question and sets forth several down-to-earth driving tips that seem worth repeating.

To the question what makes a safe driver, GURNEY's answer is simply that safety in a car begins with the driver. He points out that he (meaning the driver himself) is the only thinking component in the car.

How else could it be? Your brakes and steering wheel can't do the thinking. Too many of the self-appointed experts today blame a malfunction of the car, or they point out a certain stretch of highway as the culprit.

Yet, a little study reveals that oftentimes after literally a hundred thousand cars pass safely over a portion of highway some combination of inexperience such as responses dulled by alcohol, drugs or lack of sleep, or just plain carelessness causes car 100,001 to crash.

The hue and cry after the crash blames the car and highway. DAN GURNEY says "nuts" to this and stresses the point that no car can be made safe for the individual who accepts no responsibility as a driver.

This coming from a world champion race driver sounds like straightforward advice. Several GURNEY tips to being a good driver are:

1. Know your own abilities or limitations in a car and stay within them.
2. Avoid completely the habits that rob you of driving skills.
3. Develop the ability to anticipate potential hazards before they actually occur.

With the Christmas season and parties at hand, we could all do each other a favor by following these tips from a guy who knows what he is talking about.

Dr. Ethan B. Cudney

The death of Dr. ETHAN CUDNEY at 71 takes from the local scene a renowned physician who had made Pontiac his home for 40 years.

A native of Owosso and a World War I veteran, Dr. CUDNEY, in addition to his private practice, had been medical director of the Pontiac Motor Division for 31 years. He had been honored with the presidency of the Oakland County Medical Society in 1949 and served on the staffs of three area hospitals.

Dr. Cudney was an active participant in professional and fraternal affairs and an avid outdoorsman, hunting and fishing being special hobbies. His time and pocketbook never failed to meet the call of a worthy cause.

A gracious and outgoing personality had won Dr. CUDNEY a host of friends whose sorrow is deep over the passing of an estimable citizen who had well fulfilled his mortal mission.

Survey Spotlights Auto Ownership Economics

University of Michigan Survey Research Center surveys just about every earthly thing, and there's no reason to doubt that it's taking a preliminary gander at space phenomena.

Of interest to motorists and the area that produces their vehicles is the Center's recent analysis relating single-multiple car ownership to family income.

Thus, single car ownership ranges between 24 per cent of families with annual incomes of $1,000 or less and 95 per cent of those whose yearly incomes are $10,000 or more. Multiple-ownership spreads from 3 per cent of families with less than $3,000 annual income to 60 per cent of those whose yearly incomes are $15,000 or more.

If proof were needed that Americans and automobiles go together like love and marriage, the statistics cited should supply it.

Little 'Joy to the World' This Year

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — This is not going to be one of those glistening, joyous Christmases even if the snow flies and warm candles light a thousand windows.

There is too much unfinished business knocking around the edges of the holiday, too much uncertainty, too many uneasinesses.

In the Holy Land itself there is no war, but there is no real peace. There is tension between Jews and Moslems.

There will be 48-hour Christmas and New Year's truces in Vietnam, and President Johnson's administration says it is ready to discuss an extension of the truces.

But the White House has indicated it is not interested in extending a pause in the bombing — as it did last year, with no visible benefit for the American side — without some corresponding action from the other side.

So far there has been none. As of now the prospect is for the same old war between the holidays and afterward and no sign anywhere that the war is closer to an end than it was last Christmas.

This makes the favorite holiday phrase, "peace on earth, good will to men" more a wish than a reality.

The Soviets have upped their military spending about 8 per cent, blaming the need for the boost on what they call American aggression in Vietnam, just at a time when American-Soviet relations might have been improving.

RED MENACE
The Red Chinese are not a menace yet on a world scale but they are trying hard to be, and soon will be, making present days seem as tranquil and noiseless as the times when man's only weapon was a rock.

In this country the economy seems to be having twitches. Industrial production dropped in November as the output of automobiles, other consumer goods, iron and steel went down.

No one seems to know at this minute whether Johnson — he himself may not know right now — will ask for higher taxes in 1967. Meanwhile, his own popularity, according to the polls, like industrial production, is going down.

On top of this his official White House family — or, rather, the earliest members of it — are about all gone, dropping away from him singly or in pairs for better paying jobs elsewhere.

PROGRAM IN TROUBLE
In addition, his Great Society program is in trouble. The war on poverty is in retreat, the war on city problems has slowed down, any try for new civil rights legislation in 1967 is for a rough time.

While calamities are never in sight nor expected, although they could happen, there has been an erosion of peace and of peace of mind.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Fearful Herod has a scheme The wise men betray Him not.

THE CHRISTMAS STORY—III

The star of Bethlehem guided not only the shepherds to the manger where Christ was born nearly 2000 years ago, but three wise men. Arriving at Jerusalem they went to King Herod and asked "Where is he that is born king of the Jews, for we have seen His star in the East and have come to worship Him."

This was news to Herod and he was much disturbed by it, lest his own power be endangered. Cunningly he sent the wise men to Bethlehem, telling them to find the Babe and then report back to him so that he might go and worship also.

The wise men were warned in a dream of his treachery, however, and did not return to Jerusalem after worshipping with great joy at the manger.

Confident Living:

Develop New Outlook on Life

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I received a wonderful letter from a young married woman who has a terrific new attitude toward life. From the picturesque old town in the Midwest where she lives she wrote: "I've developed a great new outlook on life and have a better attitude. 'For as long as I can remember I have been depressed with feelings of inferiority and nervousness. Now I have begun to practice what you suggest and I too have found that it really works."

"I have replaced my usual grim expression with a smile and I find it much more satisfying to have good things to say about people instead of derogatory remarks. I have again taken up prayer and I truly believe that it has already begun to work for me. I never knew before," she admits, "the effective use of faith."

"Now I find myself practicing my beliefs. As a result I have a more cheerful outlook. I have finally learned and accepted the fact that no one is against me but myself. I have been able to make new friends out of old enemies."

Then my correspondent goes on to illustrate her new-found attitude with this down-to-earth incident: "Last night, just for fun, I ran a little experiment at the laundromat. As you may know, there's not much fun in doing laundry. Well, I cleared my mind of any previous dislike of laundry and told myself that it simply had to be done and that I must make the best of the situation. (And may I interject, that is just plain common sense, isn't it?) If there is something you have to do, like it or not, you may as well make the best of it while you do it.)

"So," the young woman continues, "with my new-found smile firmly and pleasantly in place, I started out. I smiled at everyone, and in turn people smiled back at me. When one of the washing machines I was using quit, a lady came up and helped me fix it."

"Then I noticed a man having trouble with the candy machine. Thinking that the coin he was using might be defective, I offered to trade coins with him. The machine still didn't work, but while I wasn't looking this man picked up my empty soda bottle and returned it to the rack for me." (One thing leads to another, you see, and there was still more to come.)

"Then a young father sitting there with his nine-month-old daughter struck up a conversation with me. Time passed quickly. By the time she left the laundromat she was so happy that instead of cursing all the obnoxious drivers on the road she just hummed a song, marveling at how much better she felt."

"I have forgotten about myself and the problems I had imagined myself to have," she concludes, "I have put in their place a sincere interest in others and a desire to show them every kindness. I have come out of my shell at long last. I cannot adequately describe the happiness I now feel, instead of the self-pity and self-hate that once were me. I have interested my husband and he too is beginning to find a change coming over him. I nag less and find more things to be thankful for."

Now that she has made progress with herself, this woman's story makes it sound easier, of course, than it actually was. Basic changes in oneself cannot be achieved without arduous self-discipline. A person who runs from the challenge of persevering efforts ends up by being the same old person living the same old unsatisfactory life.

To have a changed life it is necessary to become a changed person with a real revision of your attitudes. And that is hard to do — as hard as changing the proverbial leopard's spots. Some things about personality resist change as stubbornly as a mule remains unamenable to reason.

How then can you ever do it? It is accomplished by linking your self-disciplinary determination to another and greater power of the mind. And that is the mental faculty which through all experience and difficulty steadily practices faith coupled with the desire to change your attitudes and thoughts to creative and positive ones.

That is the combination which brings victory over toughest obstacles time and time again. And it is important to change for not only will it make you happier and more effective in living but it transforms relationships. As the woman who wrote said, it transforms enemies into friends. It also has the power to change yourself — which, if you are like me, is the toughest proposition of all.

Teen-Ager Relates Driving Experience

While driving slowly around a curve leading to a steep hill in a residential section, I was startled to find grade-school aged boys sliding down the icy roads with sleds. Although I drove slowly, the ice caused my car to skid a little and I narrowly missed one boy.

On the way home after dark, I found them still there, all wearing dark colored clothing. I blew my horn before starting up the hill but the kids didn't move until I was very near them. If these children and their parents don't care about their safety, why should we?

Reminds Readers of Doctor's Dedication

In regard to the Dr. Sullenger case, I hope the ones who have done nothing but sling mud at him and his work can rest in peace. But let's not stomp on his grave after his funeral. I'm sure he was a living soul and will meet with his Maker who never made a mistake.

DISGUSTED

We would remind readers of the laudable, dedicated side of the life of Dr. Neil Sullenger. We refer to The Pontiac Press of April 19, 1957, the front page coverage of a delicate, new type heart surgery he performed. He was never too tired to make a night call or perform surgery.

Let his children realize that although he had severe emotional problems, he also had a life that brought service and dedication through his profession.

'Off-Duty Officers Give Added Protection

A letter questioned the right of police officers to wear uniforms which taxpayers buy for police departments, while working extra jobs. Taxpayers should be thankful for the added protection of the off-duty officers.

Most people are aware of the manpower shortage on most police departments and shopping centers, stores and even schools would not spend money needlessly. The police officers work extra jobs for our benefit.

If he stops a robbery, a purse snatching, or someone from stealing a car by his mere presence, I say let the policeman work extra jobs.

Question and Answer

While obtaining information for a school project, I visited the Pontiac City Planning Office. I obtained two booklets containing results and recommendations of a study sponsored by the Downtown Development Group and the City of Pontiac. It contains detailed market and traffic analyses plus a sound and feasible plan for the Central Business District. It pinpoints problems still facing the City today, although it was presented and passed in April, 1962. Has this plan been implemented, and if not, why?

REPLY

Jim Bates of Planning and Urban Renewal tells us some aspects of the study have been implemented, such as completion of Wide Truck Drive, covering the Clinton River, and clearing urban renewal land. However, he says, many of the recommendations required cooperation of private enterprise and at that time not enough interest was generated to attract the necessary private developers or to stimulate active response from downtown property owners and existing businesses.

A Junior Editors Quiz About WEIGHTS

QUESTION: Why is pound written lb. and ounce oz.?

ANSWER: Early in English history a standard pound weight was established. In old documents, often written in Latin, the Latin word libra was used for pound, and this became shortened to lb. This abbreviation then became used when writing in English.

Oz. for ounce comes from an old Spanish coin, the dubloon, which had the value of 16 dollars and was widely circulated and used at one time by people in many countries.

This coin was often referred to as a "Spanish ounce." The Spanish word for ounce being onza, the abbreviation oz. became used for ounce.

Today, avoirdupois weight is used for weighing most commodities. It has 16 ounces to the pound. Sometimes, fractions of a pound are used instead of ounces, as a bag of apples might weigh 2 1/2 lbs. For measuring fluids, 2 cups equal 1 pint, 2 pints equal 1 quart, and 4 quarts equal 1 gallon.

Jewelers use troy weight, with 12 ounces to the pound, for weighing precious metals.

The metric system is used by druggists when they compound prescriptions.

FOR YOU TO DO: Check on some food items in your local store to see how the weights are written on the packages.

Possibility of Bail Eyed for Ailing Jack Ruby

DALLAS (UPI) — Lawyers for Jack Ruby, who is getting daily doses of a cancer-retarding drug, expected to discuss this weekend the possibility of getting him admitted to jail.

The condition of Ruby "remains stable and unchanged," Parkland Hospital said late yesterday.

"His chemotherapy (drug) treatments are continuing and additional treatments are not anticipated at this time," the hospital said.

Phil Burleson, one of Ruby's lawyers, said yesterday the thought of getting Ruby out on bond had been brought up. "But we're not making a concentrated effort in that direction."

The only difference if Ruby was admitted to bond would be that guards inside and outside his hospital room would be removed and his relatives would be free to move him to another hospital, if they chose.

J. H. Tonahill, who helped defend Ruby in his 1964 trial on charges of murdering presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, suggested yesterday that Ruby be sent to M. D. Anderson Tumor Institute in Houston, where he might offer himself for research to help find a cancer cure.

Washington, D.C., is administered by three commissioners appointed by the President and approved by the Senate.

Olivia and Her Ex-Husband Are Happy Under One Roof

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I am living in sin without the sin..." Olivia de Havilland was summing it up. The quite practical and thoroughly workable, if slightly strange, arrangement she has with her ex-husband, Paris editor Pierre Galante, which intrigues most Americans. Legally separated, they nevertheless live under the same roof, quite an enchanting and picturesque roof not far from the Eiffel in Paris... together but apart.

There is their own part of the menage. Olivia may be having dinner with an admirer, Pierre could be serving an aperitif to a friend and never the twain should meet nor interfere.

"I have the front and he has the rear," Olivia told me recently.

"I will always tell Pierre in advance, 'So-and-so is in town and would like me to dine with him, he'll drop by to pick me up,' or 'Do you mind if I have so-and-so to lunch?' Pierre will generally say, 'It's all right, I'll lunch elsewhere.'"

Olivia finds most of her friends fascinated by her arrangement, and with a lift of her chin and a snapping of her bright eyes, she says, "I consider myself a trail blazer... but the truth is, we're not the first to do it."

It was about 11 years ago, on a Sunday noon, that I found the two of them walking along the Strand in London, having just come from church. Olivia invited me to join the two of them for coffee or tea in her suite in the Savoy overlooking the Thames. They were married very soon thereafter.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Cindy Adams, the ABC-TV interviewer, proudly showed up for work in her new chinchilla coat—and her first assignment in it was to ride the subway... Omar Sharif met Bette Davis at the Ground Floor, told her he'd seen all her films—in Cairo.

Walter Pidgeon turned down two fat film offers—he'll stay with "Dinner at 8"... The Dick Culp (ex-Latin 1/2 girl Chickie James) are expecting... The new slick magazine, "Show Dog," has a cover by the Walt Disney studio (and a "Canine Comics" section)... Connie Francis signed a 5-year deal with MGM records.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "A pat on the back develops character, if administered young enough, often enough and low enough."

EARL'S PEARLS: Marty Cohen says he heard a salesman ask a woman, "And does madame wish the mink coat for wearing, or for draping over a chair?"

Ginger Rogers, of "Dolly," whose film career began in 1929, told an interviewer, "My first picture was 'Kitty Foyle' in 1940. It was actually my mother who made all those movies with Fred Astaire..." That's earl, brother.

Spending Cut Demand Seen

Head of House Unit Cautions Taxpayers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee said today he has detected "a pronounced grass-roots demand" for reduced government spending. But he cautioned taxpayers not to expect drastic cutbacks.

"There just isn't too large an area where you can cut," Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said in an interview. He termed the sentiment for reduced spending "a very wholesome thing."

"The challenge facing the 90th Congress next year," Mahon added, "is to hold the line where possible and cut where possible so spending doesn't get out of line."

"We've got to give the war top priority and prune nondefense spending wherever we can."

'PARING KNIFE'

Another key congressional Democrat, Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, said in an interview in Baton Rouge that President Johnson "needs to take a paring knife to his own Great Society program."

Long, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and assistant Democratic leader, said Vietnam war costs may produce a $20-billion deficit next fiscal year unless Johnson raises taxes or sharply cuts nondefense spending. He said he hopes a tax increase can be avoided.

Mahon said the "battlefield in the next Congress" will be in the House and Senate Appropriations Committees. The committees' recommendations generally are followed by Congress.

Vietnam Course on GI Menu

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — U.S. soldiers bound for Vietnam have a glamorous former Warlike School, home of the Saigon movie actress teaching them to eat cha gio and other Vietnamese delicacies.

Lan Nam, with black hair reaching almost to her waist, isn't part of the Army's official training program, but her husband says the soldiers gave him the idea for opening a Vietnamese restaurant in Fayetteville.

"Many boys ask how is our department at the Special Warfare School where troops destined for Vietnam learn the language and some of the customs of the country."

At the restaurant after school, a soldier can get tips on where to go in Saigon and what to order in restaurants. They also practice speaking Vietnamese.

The favorite appetizer on the menu is cha gio, the first prize winner at a recent Tokyo international food contest. It is a crunchy rice-paper roll filled with meat, crab meat, mushrooms and bean threads.

Vietnamese-style bean thread chicken soup, called mien ga, also is available as are entrees of beef, pork, seafood and poultry.

SHISHKABOB

One of the most popular dishes is Vietnamese shishkabob, marinated in sauce and spices and grilled on skewers. It is served with Vietnamese vermicelli salad.

Dessert can be Vietnamese originals or just ice cream and fortune cookies.

Tri's family ships rice paper, shrimp chips and tea from Vietnam. The bamboo shoots, shredded and served with beef, pork or chicken, come from Hong Kong. Most of the vegetables are grown in the Fayetteville area.

In addition to Tri's beautiful wife, a former professional singer and Vietnamese movie actress who also worked in the Pasadena Playhouse in California before her marriage, there are two American and two Vietnamese waitresses. The chef is from Saigon.

3 Killed in Gunfight at Nebraska Motel

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A veteran Lincoln police officer and father of three was shot fatally, and two men wanted for questioning in a series of forgeries were killed Friday night in a gunfight at a Lincoln motel.

Police Chief Joseph Carroll identified the dead officer as Frank Soukup, 33, who had joined the force in 1956. He was dead on arrival at a hospital late Friday night.

Killed instantly by police bullets were men who had registered at the motel as Ronald F. Myers and Donald Rodgers, both about 30, of Sacramento, Calif.

Romania Says Embassy Hit

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — Communist Romania charged today U.S. warplanes damaged its embassy in Hanoi during the Dec. 13-14 bombings, the official Yugoslav News Agency reported from Bucharest.

Communist China made the same charge yesterday in a broadcast by Radio Peking.

The Romanian charge came in a Bucharest announcement which protested the alleged bombing, the Tanjug News Agency said.

It said a student demonstration backing the Romanian announcement followed at the university law faculty in Bucharest and that other protest meetings were held in other Romanian cities.

The United States has denied American warplanes bombed Hanoi and said the targets were purely military targets outside the city.

It suggested the ring of thousands of anti-aircraft guns around Hanoi might have dropped shells on the city or that surface-to-air (SAM) missiles fell back on the city.

Tot Calls at Random; Gets Help

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — "My name is Tina Marie. My mommy is asleep in the bathroom. I can't wake her up."

That mystifying message came in a phone call Friday to an office in the big General Electric Co.

Mrs. Charles L. Calvert answered the call and sensed danger from the tone of the small voice on the other end.

The voice belonged to Tina Marie Triplett, 5. She was trying to get help for her mother, Mrs. Jack Triplett, who had fainted and fallen into the bath tub.

FATHER AT WORK

Tina's brother Mike, 3, and sister Teresa, 2, were crying until Tina took over. Their father already had left for work.

The little girl picked up the telephone and randomly dialed. She reached the GE office.

Mrs. Calvert knew something was wrong. She cried from Tina that she lived on what sounded like "Allegheny Drive." But Tina couldn't remember her last name.

Tina told her she had put some covers over her mother. She left the phone from time to time to try and wake her mother.

SANTA'S HELPER

Murray Solomon relieved Mrs. Calvert on the phone and told Tina he was Santa's helper — to keep the girl on the line.

Mrs. Calvert had tried to get Tina to run next door to neighbors for help, but Tina said she wasn't allowed to leave the house.

Tina — finally — remembered her father's name and blurted it out to Solomon.

The GE workers immediately reached neighbors and sent police to the house.

Deputy Sheriff Stanley Duffey arrived and said he found Mrs. Triplett a big groggy, but in no real danger. She had just regained consciousness and explained she had heart trouble and fainted while in the bathroom.

Mrs. Triplett was out for about 1½ hours, which seemed like many more to the GE workers who solved the mystery call.

A spokesman for the GE crew said: "We're chipping in to buy some Christmas presents for the children. That way we'll atone for deceiving Tina by saying we were Santa's helpers."

Fast Ruling Seen on JFK Book

By GEORGE ESPER NEW YORK (AP) — A Manhattan judge indicated today a speedy decision on Mrs. John F. Kennedy's suit to block publication of author William Manchester's book about the assassination of the president.

Supreme Court Justice Saul S. Streit, ranking Manhattan justice, ordered Manchester and two publishers to appear before him Dec. 27 to show cause why an injunction against the book, "Death of a President," should not be granted.

Streit said he would "decide the matter shortly" after the hearing.

Cyclist Breaks Leg in Pontiac Collision

A 26-year-old Crosswell youth suffered a broken leg yesterday when his motorcycle collided with a car on North Perry at Gage.

In fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital following the 11:10 a.m. accident is Vey J. Valentine.

The driver of the car, Kerry Lee Ferrier, 21, of 460 Harper, told Pontiac police that she didn't see the motorcycle when she turned onto Perry because a truck obstructed her view.

Reflections

CHRISTMAS NOSTALGIA

Each of us, at Christmas time, like to recall what Christmas was like for us, when we were children.

We are so sure, in our memory, that the snow was much deeper, the icicles on the roof reached to the ground and we etched our initials in the frost that formed on the window panes.

J. L. Voorhees

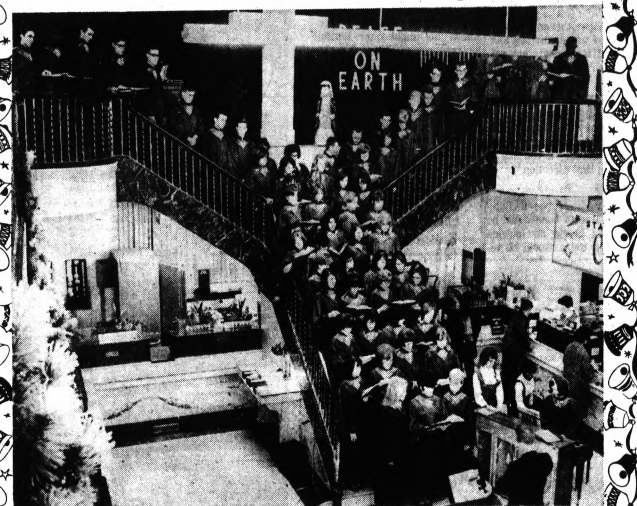

We were so sure that if we were not good little girls and boys that Santa would not leave anything but a lump of coal in our stockings. The tree did not go up until after we were put to bed on Christmas Eve. Our stockings were filled with oranges, nuts and a small toy or two. (and weren't those stockings something?) But times have changed and we wouldn't want to go back, really, but we do have our memories.

Armed Vigilantes Guard Decorations

Baby Girl Doe 'Grows Up' in Year

By MARVIN R. PIKE
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Baby Girl Doe — the new name for her Jane — is a bouncy, dainty 17-pounder who has "discovered" stairs. She climbs them too well."

Only a year ago there was doubt whether she would live.

Jane was a two-pound, two-ounce newborn who was found abandoned Dec. 18, 1965 in St. Gerard's Roman Catholic church. She had been wrapped in a hotel towel and a blanket and placed on a covered heating radiator.

At Mever Memorial Hospital

where nurses used to have Baby Girl Doc, she was placed in an incubator and given tender care. She was believed to be about 10 hours old when found.

• Baby Girl Doc was discharged from the hospital March 3 and the Erie County Welfare Department placed her in a foster home.

• "She's a lovely looking baby," a department official said today. "She has a small frame and is dainty."

• "But the pediatrician who cares for her says she probably will be a girl at maturity."

• The infant's mother and and their three children, all nearing teen-age, give her much attention.

• "They play with her. They enjoy having a baby around," the official said.

• The family calls her Jane and she calls them by their names.

• Jane now is 27 inches tall, has dark brown hair, brown eyes and a dark complexion.

• "She has a happy disposition," the official said. "She's responsive and a real talker."

• She walks by holding on to furniture and has discovered stairs. She climbs them too

NEVADA, Iowa (AP) — A group of citizens say they've had enough of vandals stealing or ruining their Christmas decorations.

So they formed a committee of armed vigilantes to patrol after dark with shotguns loaded with mustard seed or salt.

Mayor H. A. Shearman says he isn't involved with the holiday decoration defenders — but he'd be delighted to slap a stiff penalty on anybody they bring before his mayor's court.

LINCOLN, Ill. (AP)—An "apple for the teacher" theme featured a reception for more than 70 new teachers in local school systems. Big, red apples were placed by their plates at the banquet put on by the Chamber of Commerce.

PUBLIC HEARING
Also Monday night, a public hearing will be conducted on the proposed 1967 budget for the township water supply system.

Santa and the Giant Fighter

By LAURECE BEALE
Synopsis: Billy meets an underground gnome who sends him to the moon cave in a Go-Bucket.

CHAPTER TWELVE THE MAGIC WORDS

The cracking, rattling, crashing clangor of the Go-Bucket dropping through the earth frightened the dragon nearly out of his wits. He shivered and shook. His eyes rolled back in his head and he nearly swallowed his long forked tongue.

Then he remembered that he was a dragon (a fierce looking dragon, at that, the giant had told him so) and he said to himself, "If I think like a dragon I will act like a dragon."

He thought quickly of all the dragons he had known and how they made rumbling noises like thunder and lashed with their tails and shot fire and smoke from their nostrils.

At that moment the Go-Bucket slammed-banged into the cave. Billy the Giant Fighter jumped out and stood there waving his sword.

The dragon reared up on his hind legs. He thumped his ponderous tail and roared. He shut his eyes and took a great breath and went "A-a-a-h!"

SHEET OF FLAME

Billy expected a sheet of flame to burst from the dragon's jaws but there was not a single spark. The dragon cleared his throat and tried again. He huffed and gurgled and rumbled deep in his innards and went "A-a-a-h!" A teeny, tiny wisp of smoke drifted from his nostrils. That was all.

"You're not a fire breathing dragon at all," exclaimed Billy. "I'm not afraid of you!"

"I may not breathe fire," snarled the dragon, "but my tail can smash you 'to pieces!' He lashed out furiously with his sharp, pointed tail.

Billy threw his hands up to guard his face. He need not have bothered. The dragon's tail was not lashing back and forth. It was pumping up and down like a friendly puppy's and was doing no harm at all.

NOT EVEN DRAGON

"Why, I don't believe you're even a dragon," taunted Billy. He poked the monster on the snout with his wooden sword.

"I am, too, a dragon," whimpered the poor beast.

"But I've never been a very good dragon. All my friends went off to live in zoos. I did so hope if I did a good job guarding the moon someone would give me a home, too. But I am a disgrace. Who would ever want me?"

"You can go to Santa Land," said Billy. "Santa would love to have you there."

"Santa wouldn't want me," sniffed the dragon. "I'm no good to anyone."

HOME FOREVER

"Help me free the moon," said Billy. "Then I bet Santa would give you a home forever because you will have saved Santa Land."

"The moon is sealed in this box," said the dragon. "Tell me what to do and I will gladly help."

Billy got his spelling book from his pocket. "Patrick Tweedleknobs told me the magic words that would unseal the box are in this book," he sighed. "Unfortunately, I can't read the words."

"Didn't you ever go to school?" asked the dragon in astonishment.

DIDN'T STUDY

Billy blushed. "I didn't study very much. I wanted to be a giant fighter and I didn't think I had to study for that."

The dragon looked at the spelling book. "It's a very pretty book. It's probably filled with enough magic to open anything."

Toot, Tootsie ... Goodbye?

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — First there was Tweedie and now there's talk of Tootsie.

And Tweedie doesn't like it. Tweedie is a railroad train that just runs around in circles as a tourist attraction near the town of Boone.

Tootsie is a railroad being built at Lake Lure in another part of western North Carolina. Tweedie says it doesn't mind a little competition, but its promoters don't like the similarity of names. So it will be Tweedie vs. Tootsie in Mecklenburg Superior Court Jan. 4.

Billy the Giant Fighter confronted the dragon.

They scanned the pages together. Billy could read "Cat" and "Dog" and "Boy" and "Baby." He said the words out loud but the sealed box did not open. The dragon turned to the front cover. "What are these words written here?" he asked.

"That's my name," explained Billy. "I can read that easy."

He pointed to each word and said "William Henry Christopher Preserver!"

STRANGE HISSING

As he spoke the words a strange hissing whistled through the cave. The box holding the moon rocked and swayed and bounced and bobbed.

Suddenly the seal burst and the lid flew open.

Trial Ordered in Detroit Slaying

DETROIT (AP) — Ex-convict charge, which includes premeditated killing a department store clerk in a crowd of Christmas shoppers, has been bound over for trial on a second-degree murder charge.

Recorder's Court Judge David Kaufman ruled Friday that there was too little evidence to hold Larry on a first-degree charge, which includes premeditation. Larry is accused of fatally stabbing William Frederick, 30, of Royal Oak in the downtown J.L. Hudson Co. store Nov. 30. Five were trying to prevent a shoplifter from walking out with a stolen coat at the time.

She Wants Advice on Open House

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Dear Mrs. Post: When an announcement of an anniversary Open House celebration appears in the papers, stating that "all friends are welcome," what does it mean? How close a friend must one be?

I have met the couple five or six times and would like to congratulate them but I do not wish to impose. Please advise me. Sheila M.

Dear Sheila: It is hard to say — it really depends on whether you think they would be pleased that you had come. If your meetings have led to a pleasant, though not intimate, relationship, they would be delighted to have you come to offer congratulations on their anniversary.

WIDOWED GRANDMOTHER

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband died this fall and now my granddaughter has set her wedding date for early January. She and her mother are urging me to attend the wedding and reception, and I would like to very much, but I do not wish to show any disrespect for my husband, or to bring criticism on the family.

We have agreed that your opinion will guide my decision. Mrs. Martin.

Dear Mrs. Martin: Of course, you may go. You would not go to the reception at a friend's wedding, but you should certainly be at both church and reception when your granddaughter marries.

Richard B. Baker Is Honor Guest

Richard Brown Baker whose collection of contemporary art is being shown in Oakland University's new Art Gallery was guest of honor at a reception tea on Friday. He flew here from New York City for the opening of the show.

The exhibition traces the chronological development of art in the New York area during the past two decades.

Pastime Benefits Others

By BEA SWORDS

Some red birds, a baby eating noodle soup, a spotted dog and add some blue flowers — that's the way Mrs. Ethel Clark of Pine Knob Road, Independence Township makes her scrapbooks. She also uses a big magnifying glass and that along with her glasses makes it possible to see the bright colors in the pictures. She cannot read the fine print beneath the photos or see the smaller figures.

Mrs. Clark began making scrapbooks some forty years ago as a pleasant pastime. The books were given to each of her ten grandchildren and later to each of her ten great-grandchildren, but now with everyone temporarily past the picture book stage there was no one to give them to.

Her daughter, Mrs. Bill Porter, with whom she lives called the "Play Ladies" at Pontiac General Hospital and later gave them several of her mother's books. The children in the hospital loved them and now, once again, there is someone to make books for.

She told me she had also been offered the opportunity to donate books to the children at Pontiac State Hospital, but she hasn't sent any there just yet. It takes her one month to put a scrapbook in order.

USEFUL HOBBY

"I thought," she said, "perhaps there was some other elderly person with little to do who would like to do something useful and rewarding." People get the impression that Mrs. Clark has spent much of her life helping others.

"I just can't bear to sit around and do nothing," she told me. "I try to do little things around the house, like dishes, but it isn't easy. I can't watch television or play the piano or any of the things I used to do. This way I am busy."

Her books have the quality that small children value most. They are colorful and have varied subjects. She seems to have a natural sense of what goes where. She doesn't cut out individual figures but the background as well and then she cuts the background to fit around the pictures already on the page. Something like piecing a quilt. Her friends and family keep her well supplied with pictures.

Mrs. Ethel Clark of Pine Knob Road, Independence Township is just about to put the finishing touches on another of her scrapbooks. She makes the books for the enjoyment of children who are hospitalized having made books for her own 10 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Abby Gives Commandments for Wives by Special Request

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

In response to the overwhelming number of requests to reprint my TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR 20TH-CENTURY WIVES, which was the forerunner of my recently published TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR 20TH-CENTURY HUSBANDS, I hereby comply:

● Defile not thy body neither with excessive foods, tobacco nor alcohol, that thy days may be long in the house which thy husband provideth for thee.

● Putteth thy husband before thy mother, thy father, thy daughter, and thy son, for he is thy lifelong companion.

● Thou shalt not nag.

● Permit no one to tell thee that thou art having a hard time of it; neither thy mother, thy sister, nor thy neighbor, for the Judge will not hold her guiltless who letteth another disparage her husband.

● Thou shalt not withhold affection from thy husband, for every man loveth to be loved.

● Forget not the virtue of cleanliness and modest attire.

● Forgive with grace, for who among us does not need forgiveness?

● Remember that the frank approval of thy husband is worth more to thee than the admiring glances of a hundred strangers.

● Keep thy home in good order, for out of it cometh the joys of thy old age.

● Honor the Lord thy God all the days of thy life, and thy children will rise up and call thee blessed.

TRULY YOURS,
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You technically answered "NO SNOB" as subtly as you could have, since religion is a good subject to steer clear of.

However, I hope you will add this for "NO SNOB" who complained because a family with nine children came to church in a dump truck, and weren't dressed fancy enough for church, according to her standards.

And to think this person was judging in the home of the Only Judge.

Poor Jesus Christ! If he were to return to earth today, He would probably be crucified all over again because of his long hair, beard, and thong sandals.

Sign me NO SNOB

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago you printed a letter from a woman whose husband had a chance for a better job but it meant moving to another city, which frightened her. You advised her to be a good kid, smile, and go with him.

I felt so smug at the time because I was waiting to be moved to our new home.

Now that we are moved I am miserable. My children have regressed to bed-wetting and thumb-sucking, and their school work has slipped from excellent to poor. The sale of our home turned out to be a financial loss, and to complete the picture my husband is very unhappy in his new position. We can't go back.

Abby, some families are just not meant for relocating. Now that I am a bitter, frustrated transplant I have met oodles of women in the same boat.

Why didn't I hear their stories before? I think your optimism was misleading. WILTED

DEAR WILTED: When a man is asked to move his family in order to "grow" with his company, it usually proves to be beneficial for all concerned. Since no one has a crystal ball, some moves are bound to be disappointing. But ours would be a sad society if everyone stayed rooted in one place for fear of making a mistake.

I agree, you have had an unfortunate start, but between you and me, "a few months" is hardly a fair period for adjustment. (P.S. Perhaps your husband is "unhappy" in his new job because you are miserable at home.)

DEAR ABBY: I am being married soon and would like very much to have my brother be an usher at my wedding, but my fiancé told me that he has already chosen his ushers and he isn't planning on having my brother. He will give me no reason other than he wants his "friends."

Abby, I asked a cousin of his to be a bridesmaid, and she refused. I thought it would please him. My brother feels very hurt about this and my parents are upset. Please give me a suggestion on how I can tactfully solve this problem?

OHIO BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: Technically the groom selects whomever he wishes for his ushers, but since it has now become an issue, it would be both wise and generous for him to include your brother, knowing that if he doesn't, ill feelings will prevail.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, care of The Pontiac Press.

For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Jet Age Party Dress Will Guarantee Notice

All you need for the aluminum foil dress are 2 or 3 yards of cotton material (an old sheet, muslin or curtain will do), a simple shift pattern, a package of 25'x12" aluminum foil, double-faced tape (sticky on both sides), a 24-inch zipper, sequins and other little baubles.

● Cris cross a dress length of material with double-faced tape 23 inches apart.

● Apply foil to tape side and press with fingers along tape strips.

● Cut dress, from pattern chosen.

● Stitch darts, then seams and zipper on machine using largest stitch.

● Press open seams with fingertips.

● Turn dress right side out and cover seams with foil-covered strips of double-faced tape. (Cover one side only).

● Bind neck and armholes with more foil-covered tape.

● Decorate to your own taste using sequins, spangles, and beads.

Here's how to get into the silvery swing of the sparkling look this holiday season. Fashion a shimmering party shift from aluminum foil, cotton fabric and double-faced tape. Add more holiday sparkle with sequins and other decorative materials. It's fun, inexpensive and takes very little time to make.

Children Receive Toy Telephone

Toy telephones for children at the Oakland County Children's Village are the gift of the PBX Club of Pontiac.

This week in Devon Gables the group also made donations to the Oakland County Sanatorium and to the Pontiac Police Officers' Association benefit fund.

A magic soap tree for Christmas creates its own Winter Wonderland! Overnight the tree begins to look "frosty" and in three days it is covered with snow. (The secret is a safe cosmetic ingredient, activated when exposed to air.) A perfect favor for Christmas parties, stocking stuffers, or a holiday get well remembrance.

Seminole Residents Thinking Christmas

By MADELINE DOEREN
Everyone at Seminole Hills Nursing Home is "thinking Christmas" in anticipation of the annual staff party for the residents next Wednesday afternoon.

The medical and nursing personnel, as well as the kitchen staff, participate, providing the program, food and beverages for the gala occasion.

The group of women pictured believe in "letting George do it" when it comes to hanging wreaths and topping a Christmas tree with a star. They are, however, working on gifts for their loved ones... and time is running out!

Knitting expert in the group is Mrs. Stella Edgar who has four granddaughters and one great-grandson. This year she made two afghans from knitted strips and is completing a two-piece suit for Maria DeLong, head cook at the home.

For 35 years, Mrs. Edgar was a practical nurse in the Birmingham-Bloomfield area. She was also press correspondent for Pythian Sisters, chapter 94, and spoke on the "Gift of Sight" before the Lutheran Churchwomen in Birmingham and area service clubs. She is in charge of the book clubs at the home and serves as librarian.

VARIED PROJECTS

Mrs. Arthur Hemeon is not content to use the ordinary patterns for her crochet work but develops her own. She takes orders for edgings for linens and makes doilies.

She formerly lived in Keego Harbor and had her own beauty shop in the old Orpheum Theatre building. She enjoys music and plays the organ.

Mrs. George Mitchell who is 79 years old comes from Mitchell, Ont., where her brother and sister (who are twins) reside.

This year she made eight pairs of wool socks for her nephews, sews aprons and sometimes walks to the neighborhood drugstore. She makes scrapbooks of leaves, collects Christmas cards.

Mrs. Robert Boyd is from Ferndale and came to Seminole less than four years ago. While serving as a Yeoman in World War I she was stationed in Los Angeles for three years where she met her husband who also was in the Navy.

MAY BUY EXTRAS

She is in charge of the canteen at Seminole where the residents can purchase toilet articles, cigarettes, stationery and personal needs. "They come to me... I don't go to them," she says.

While a resident at the Oakland County Medical Care Facility, Mrs. Boyd won top honors for her flower arrangement in a contest.

There is no planned activity at the home but there are the crossword puzzle fans and the jigsaw buffs. Watching television passes the time for many, especially at present while the record-player is in need of repair.

Everyone is looking forward to the completion of the occupational therapy unit which will bring new interests to so many.

According to Mrs. Susan McCarthy, director of nurses, 130 of the 152 residents, are ambulatory.

Corduroy Care

If corduroy clothes are to look nice, they must be laundered properly. To launder, use any mild soap and warm water. Squeeze suds through the fabric and rinse by pressing the water out gently. Never twist or wring, as this sets creases in corduroy pile which ruins its appearance. Turn all corduroy garments inside out before washing.

Baby Is First

It's wise to stick to baby's regular routine even though you have taken him with you to call on friends. Do not cancel naps or delay meals.

Residents at the Seminole Hills Nursing Home find contentment working on their hobbies on a wintry afternoon. From left are Mrs. Stella Edgar who is knitting gold socks for her roommate's grandson; Mrs. Arthur Hemeon who crochets placemats; Mrs. George Baker who crochets a doily and Mrs. Robert Boyd, painting on black velvet.

Make Ordinary into the Unusual

Want to put some holiday color in your wardrobe? Reach for a towel!

Fieldcrest, makers of the colorfully coordinated bed-and-bath fashions, has just asked its designers to draw up a series of patterns for transforming your own linen - closet towels, sheets, bedspreads, blankets and shower curtains into unique, exclusive wardrobe items. One of the most timely is a holiday hostess skirt that can be made easily from two of Fieldcrest's luxurious bath towels in colors of the season or in designs that most flatter the hostess.

Hostess Skirt

For the holiday hostess skirt Fieldcrest uses its "Artistry" towels in rich cranberry red and gold or viridian green and jade. Simply seam two bath towels together along both lengths, leaving a 7-inch zipper opening on the top left. (If a slimmer line is desired, trim excess off sides of towels.) Cut the top off for the correct length, remembering to allow for gathering at the waist. Gather with small tucks at left, and right front and left and right back to fit the top to your own waist measurements. Then sew on a 1/2" velvet waistband in the background color of the towels. Attach a hook and eye for fastening and, presto, you have a one-of-a-kind hostess skirt!

ADD SPARKLE

For added holiday sparkle you can even sprinkle the "Artistry" design with gold or silver sequins. A solid-sequin top then makes the ideal fashion partner for this holiday season's glitter styles. Gold or silver slippers and huge, shiny earrings complete the picture.

Another variation on this skirt is to sew the towels together on one side only, gather and sew on the waistband and wear the open side in front over evening pants.

Mrs. Robert Boyd is beginning her second picture of "Emmett the Clown" with oils on black velvet. She is presenting these to Mrs. Susan McCarthy, director of nurses, for her children's room. The first one showed Emmett in a more jocular mood. She also makes mosaic ashtrays and wall plaques.

Candlelight Pledge Rite for Sorority

Members and pledges of Alpha Alpha chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority gathered in the Fox and Hounds Inn for the annual Christmas pledge pin dinner on Thursday.

Mrs. Edmund O. Smith, president, assisted by Mrs. Bert Anselmi, conducted the candlelight pledge ceremony for Mrs. Ernest Mallery and Mrs. LaMac White, both of Pontiac, and Mrs. Robert Kraud of Clarkston.

A report on Christmas gifts to the Oakland County Children's Village by Mrs. James Davis was heard at the Christmas dinner-party for Beta Theta chapter, Lambda Chi Omega sorority on Thursday.

Mrs. A. J. Lowe of Lakeview Drive was hostess with Mrs. Harold Seils and Mrs. Lowell Cately assisting.

Bathtub Navy

If youngsters dislike bathing, turn it into a game. Provide plenty of floating toys and let them play a game of pretend. He can be a shipwrecked sailor in sudsy waves or a fisherman who slipped into a wild soapy stream. Paper toys become waterproof when dipped into melted paraffin.

Fold in Pairs

Always fold pillow cases together in pairs after ironing. Saves time when getting them out for use.

Cynthia Kilmer told of holiday customs in Korea and Olga Cooper spoke of Christmas in Italy.

Traditional foods from many lands were served from a holiday table. The house committee chairman Mrs. Herbert Langton was assisted by Mrs. Edmund Hadden, Mrs. Ben Mosher and Mrs. George Durr.

The embroidered "Swedish Wheel" is in lush melon velvet with brilliant red woolwork and tassels matching the solid-color pillow below. Ironing Notes

It's a help to the mother of several children if she keeps a notebook and pencil by the ironing board as she irons. She can then attach a note to each garment that needs mending, telling what is wrong with it. This also keeps her from hanging this piece of clothing with the others.

Use Quality

When making a cloth rug at home the main factors to consider are the type, size and colors.

It is a must that you use strong rags, whether old or new, else your efforts will be wasted, as weak cloth wears out quickly.

Keep Piano Cool

Keep your piano away from steam pipes and registers, stoves or any place where one end of the piano may be hot, and the other cold, as good care of the instrument calls for protection against major temperature changes and dampness.

Cut on the Line

Prevent easy-to-ravel material from fraying by marking around the pattern pieces with a wax crayon and then cutting along the crayon line.

Watch for Those Long-Term Payments

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

A lot of people who never bought anything on the installment plan in their lives will be having a go at the "buy-now-and-pay-later" type of shopping — because Christmas is coming and cash is short.

Installment buying means signing a contract. And signing a contract means reading what MARY FEELEY says on the paper — with your eyes open. But before you sign up for long-term payments on any merchandise, you'll want to know some simple facts and ask some straightforward questions of the salesman.

Let's say the TV set is priced at $100. How much is it really going to cost you before you own it? Some of the questions you'll want answers to are:

- How much am I paying to buy this set on a monthly basis, compared with the price I would pay if I bought it for cash right now?
- What is the carrying charge you ask me to pay for this time period?
- How many payments until it's paid up?
- What other costs are involved. Any service charges? Any sales tax?
- What part of the carrying charges can be deducted as interest for income tax purposes?

You should know, too, that the original seller from whom you bought the merchandise may sell the "paper," or contract, which you signed. The man or firm who buys this "paper" is a money lender. He takes over the financial liability of the original seller. This buyer then is actually the owner of the TV set you bought, and the salesman or store you dealt with is out of the picture. You owe the man or company who bought your "paper."

This is entirely legal and customary. Just don't be surprised if, should you miss a payment, a stranger comes to call — and collect. He has a right to repossess the merchandise if you don't pay up.

Remember, too, that if you are dissatisfied with the article you bought and think you can return it, you're bound by the contract you signed.

There are so-called "add on" clauses in installment contracts which are permitted in some states. What does add-on mean? Simply that if you decide to buy, say, an electric toaster while you're still paying on the TV set, the cost of the toaster is added on to the contract you already have.

But in the event you can't meet the payments on the toaster — AFTER the TV set is finally paid for — the seller can repossess BOTH items. You lose the paid-for TV as well as the toaster.

All the above information, of course, is stated in the original contract. But maybe you didn't read it or understand it. So it's better to ask for a separate contract for each piece of merchandise you buy on the installment plan.

There's another kind of contract known as "bailment lease" or "hire purchase

This means that the seller rents the article for a stipulated period of time, and at the end of this time the renter has an option to buy. The rental fees are then applied on the purchase price.

Next thing to consider: what part of the carrying charges you're paying can be deducted as interest on your income tax return? If the interest payments are not separately stated in the contract, they can be determined this way:

An amount equal to 6 per cent of the average unpaid balance of your installment contract during the year can be considered interest. For example, if you total the unpaid balances on the first day of each month in the year and divide this figure by 12, you're entitled to deduct 6 per cent of this on your tax report.

Although generally considered a winter resort, there are now more visitors to that state in the summer than in the winter.

Tall Arthur Hill Quintet Hands PCH First Defeat

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

First impressions can be deceiving. Pontiac Central learned this last night.

The Chiefs took fast and impressive 12-1 and 13-4 leads in their game with Arthur Hill last night, but when it was all over the Lumberjacks went home with a 57-53 victory.

PCH hustled, had the opportunities, but couldn't capitalize in the hectic final minutes of the game when it counted most.

Two big Arthur Hill players, 6-6 Bob Weiden and 6-5 all-state football player Tom Thon dominated the boards and took away any second chances PCH could get at its own offense bucket.

Weiden picked off 17 rebounds while Thon had 20 points and 12 rebounds.

After a 16-11 first period lead, Central lost its shooting touch, but more important the Chiefs couldn't get the ball off their own board.

Thon hit a bucket to tie it 21-21 and the Chiefs took the lead for the last time 22-21 on a free throw by Prentice Hill. Lee Sturtz hit two free throws to make it 23-22 and the Hillites never gave up the lead.

In the third quarter Arthur Hill pushed to its biggest margin 41-34 and with three minutes left in the period, PCH suffered a big loss when Alton Wilson, who had nine rebounds up to this point, fouled out.

GET THE BALL
Early in the 4th quarter, AH threw the ball away four straight times, but Central failed to capitalize.

Instead the Chiefs lost the ball in return three times, getting only one shot at the bucket.

Pleasant Rut for Broncos: 103-104-100

It's the 'Turn of the Century' every time North Branch's Broncos move onto the basketball court.

The Broncos moved out of the corral last night and hit the century mark for the third time in a row as they whipped Millington, 100-52.

A week ago, the Broncos stamped in a 103-68 triumph over Birch Run, and followed it with a 104-57 nod over Harbor Beach Tuesday.

Sharing in the point production last night were Norm Edwards (27), Tom Snoven (19), Francis Baldwin (17), Dave Costello (18) and Al Haack (10).

and missing it in this exchange of turnovers.

At 2:23 left, Gordon Hamilton hit a bucket for PCH to pull within one point, 52-51. But then the golden opportunity to go ahead at the charity line presented itself, but Central couldn't hit them, missing three times, once on a two-shot foul and twice on 1-1 situations.

Arthur Hill hit only one field goal in the final quarter, but guard Art Dijac hit four straight freethrows in the final 35 seconds to pull it out of reach.

The defeat knocks Central out of the Saginaw Valley lead leaving Saginaw on top all alone after the 87-54 win over Midland.

Huskies Rout Walled Lake in I-L Action

PNH Rumps, 72-52; Reserve Guards Pace Winners' Attack

By JERE CRAIG
The scoring of two reserve junior guards and the rebounding of a pair of frontline regulars sparked Pontiac Northern to a 72-52 conquest of Walled Lake's Vikings Friday night.

An estimated 1,000 fans at PNH saw the Huskies sport ahead comfortably in the opening minutes of the event and fourth periods to even their Inter-Lakes League mark at 1-1 and win their third game in four starts.

PNH led, 34-21, at the intermission following a 14-11 first-period margin. It held the victory scoreless for the first 2½ minutes of the second while scoring to a nine-point advantage.

Don Hayward rammed in 11 of his 18 points in the initial half for the Huskies, and also had seven of his 16 rebounds. Bob Traynor aided him on the backboards with seven of his 13 retrieves.

The guards took over in the closing half. Craig Deaton poured in five field goals in the third period as the lead grew to as many as 15 points. Running mate Mike Clancy then hit four field goals in the final session as the margin grew to 20 points.

COMEBACK
But Dave Baker, a senior Viking guard, entered the game and sparked a Walled Lake resurgence by hitting four of five shots and reducing the deficit to 11 points late in the period before the Huskies finished with a 13-4 start.

Outside of Baker's brief outburst and some hard work by Greg Fogle, the Vikings just didn't have the resources to cope with PNH's superior manpower. They went scoreless for two minutes again in the last period.

Fogle hit 6 of 13 from the floor and added six of eight free throws for 18 points, but Walled Lake's rebounding with 12 grabs. Teammate Larry Grinnell had 10 but lost effectiveness in the second half.

In addition to having Clancy and Deaton tally 26 points as subs, Northern coach Dick Hall also had another fine performance by reserve frontman Stan Allison who nabbed seven rebounds and six points.

Clancy made 7 of 14 and set up four scoring plays with his passes. Deaton shot 6 for 12.

Dondero Suffers 4th Cage Loss

Royal Oak Dondero almost ended its losing streak last night, forcing Monroe into overtime before bowing, 57-54.

The Oaks, owners of a 0-5 record, seemingly had the game wrapped up as they took a 47-34 into the fourth quarter.

But Monroe, led by Al Jagu and Barry Bankman, outscored the Oaks, 18-4, in the final frame to deadlock the game at 52 in regulation and then pitched in five points in the extra session while Dondero managed only one bucket.

Fred Heideman led Dondero with 16 and teammate John Rehbine added 10.

Guards Spark Farmington '5' Past Skippers

Falcons Take Third Straight Tilt, 57-53; Losers Now 2-2

A pair of lightweight guards who sparked last year as members of the junior varsity last year are flying high with Farmington's varsity Falcons this season.

Before the season started, George Grimala (5-10, 145) and Tom Wirtz (5-9, 128) were listed among coach Jack Quigley's 'Other Candidates' in his rundown of the team's personnel.

They weren't listed among the top 10 at that time. Now they're among the top five.

The junior sharpshooters displayed good floor leadership last night and combined for 31 points in pacing Farmington to a 57-53 triumph over Waterford's Skippers in an Inter-Lakes League contest.

The victory was Farmington's third straight after an opening session loss, and it gave the Birds a 2-0 record in loop play, a game ahead of the pack. EVEN RECORD

For the Skippers, the loss left them with a 2-2 record and an 0-1 mark in I-L play.

Waterford came close in the final moments of the game, pulling within two points, 54-52, with less than a minute remaining, but the Falcons' Greg Dorow registered three charity tosses in the final 30 seconds to put the game on ice.

Wirtz came off the bench last week and sparked Farmington to a 53-52 win over Pontiac Northern, and it was that play that earned him a starting berth last night.

The youngster didn't blow his first starting assignment. He scored 18 points, flipping in 10 of them in the second period, and teamed with Grimala to lead the attack.

Grimala wound up with 13 markers. Greg Dorow led all scorers for Farmington with 20 points. Center Mike Ames was held to only two points but he hauled down 18 rebounds.

Eagles Take 50-48 Verdict in Loop Tilt

By FLETCHER SPEARS
There's still some life left in the old champion.

Defending state Class A titlist Ferndale, surprised by Southfield (69-61) last week, rebounded last night to a 50-48 nod over highly-regarded Birmingham Seaholm.

With the setback last week, some observers were ready to write the Eagles out of this year's title picture, but last night's performance may have changed a few of the skeptics.

It was a tight defensive game, loosely played at times, and the two stayed neck and neck most of the way with Ferndale losing Seaholm's efforts in the last 1:25.

Trailing 49-47 at the 1:25 mark, Seaholm's Dick Slater dropped in a free throw cutting it to 49-48.

With 18 seconds remaining and the score still at 49-48, Seaholm took control on a jump ball and Rick Copeland raced toward the basket but the Eagles stole the ball to end the threat.

Ferndale's Jim Stevenson was fouled with two seconds left and he made the first to push the score to 50-48.

Guard Charles Packett and center Wayne Clapp, a member of the All-Oakland County football team this fall, provided the scoring punch for the Eagles (2-1).

Puckett hit from outside in collecting 16 points while Clapp picked up most of his 15 markers on short shots near the basket.

Clapp also sparked on the backboards, helping the Eagles to a 36-32 edge in that department.

Kettering Sails into Loop Lead

Waterford Kettering needed only one period to take command of the Tri-County League basketball race Friday night.

The defending champion and preseason pick of the coaches to repeat, Kettering romped to a 25-9 first period lead at Lapeer en route to an impressive 64-30 rout of the Panthers.

Meanwhile, L'Anse Creuse surprised Oxford, 41-38 in the Wildcats' fair, thus giving WKHS first place in the league race after only one loop encounter for the Captains.

Romeo, the only league member without a win and idle last night, invades Rochester for a nonleague game tonight.

QUICK START
Kettering broke loose in the first period as Dick Miceli bombed five field goals from 20 feet for 10 of his game-leading 24 points.

With Ralph Windeler, Joe Raczynski, Miceli and Dave Cox controlling the backboards, and Jack McCloud providing scoring assistance, the Captains outscored Lapeer in every quarter.

The closest the host team came after the opening outburst was a 12-point deficit in the third quarter.

Field goal accuracy was the determining factor in the large margin of victory. Kettering connected on 32 of 82 shots while Lapeer shot a dismal 13 of 81.

Miceli added eight points in the third quarter to his effort, while McCloud hit 11 of his 17 in the middle two quarters.

Raczynski and Cox each had 15 rebounds while Miceli and Windeler grabbed 10 each among the 65 retrieves by WKHS (3-0).

Oxford had a 22-21 intermission edge, but L'Anse jumped ahead, 32-29, after three periods and held on throughout the final session — helped by some untimely bad shooting by Oxford.

The lead grew to 40-35 late in the period. The Wildcats cut it to 40-38, then missed the tying points with two charity stripe opportunities in the closing minute, and on two field goal tries before Bruce Moullet's free throw.

How Wolves Fite Hits 49 for Wolves

Clarkston Tops Clarenceville; Barons Lose

Winners Still Tied in W-O Race; Hills Rally Falls Short

By DON VOGEL
Holly and Clarkston remained in a deadlock for the Wayne-Oakland League basketball last night, but not before exciting finishes.

The Broncos played a little too safe in the fourth period and almost lost a 17-point lead on the way to topping visiting Bloomfield Hills Barons, 55-49. Clarkston's Dan Fife poured in 49 points to tie a school record as the Wolves also held on to win at Clarenceville, 78-73.

Holly, Clarkston and Northville are tied for first place with 3 records. Northville has a key game at Clarkston next Friday.

Bloomfield Hills, which lost its second league outing in three starts, appeared out of contention when the third period ended with Holly ahead, 52-35.

But the Broncos were very reluctant to shoot, getting off only four field goal tries in the final eight minutes and failing to connect, and this enabled the Barons to start pecking away.

Led by Bruce Hall, who topped all scorers with 22 points, and reserve Steve Jones, the Barons whittled the big deficit down to 33-47 with 2:46 to play and had the Broncos scrambling. The Broncos, who had missed the first of four one-and-one free throws in the last quarter, finally received a lift when Dennis Walters made two charity tries with 2:01 to play.

This opened an eight-point gap and took the pressure off.

STRONG DEFENSE
The first half was featured by control-offenses and tight defensive play. The Broncos finally moved in front 21-19 on Ron Ranger's jump shot midway in the second quarter and held a 30-25 halftime lead.

The turning point came with 3:38 to play in the third quarter. Hall drew his fourth foul and Greg Averyhardt made both shots to up Holly's lead to 42-33. With Hall unable to effectively block the middle for fear of fouling out, the Broncos pressed to shred the Hills' defense.

Averyhardt hit a basket and Mike Carnes added two more before the Barons could score. Mike Beely's one-and-one with a minute to play was the final Holly basket of the game.

The Broncos were outbreasted, 27-20, by the taller Barons but had a better shooting mark, 16 of 34 in 49 of 49. Bloomfield's edge in field goals came mainly because of the Broncos' reluctance to shoot in the fourth period.

One misstep by a teammate cost Fife the school record. The 6-2 senior sharpshooter pumped in 20 of 29 field goals and added nine of his 15 free throws to equal his own Wolves' point total.

He lost a 50-point performance when a teammate violated the free throw lane too quickly on a successful attempt by Fife late in the game.

Fife hit 10 field goals in each half, most of them within 10 feet of the basket as he moved into the pivot and guards Tom Allen (14 assists) and Randy Nicolson (4) repeatedly hit him with passes.

Word around the Oakland League these days is: "Who's going to stop those two Warren twins?" Fitzgerald and Cousin?

The two Warren powers remained unbeaten and tied for the league after posting easy victories last night.

Northville Also Wins to Stay on Top

West Bloomfield got into the victory column last night as they topped Milford, a team which has yet to win in four starts, 70-52.

Northville however stayed unbeaten in the Wayne-Oakland league and in a tie with Clarkston by defeating Brighton, 63-48.

Milford held a 32-29 lead at halftime, but a high third quarter with Gary Hahnef getting 12 of his 14 points, doomed the Redskins.

Don Hill, with 20 points led Milford despite four fouls early in the third period.

Northville's Jim Zavti collected 21 in his team's victory. Northville led the way but pulled out of reach in the final quarter.

Tom Miner led the Clawson attack with 20 points, followed by Joe Dillon (15) and Dave Williams (10).

Rochester's Don Golding held a hot hand, hitting 13 field goals and a pair of free throws for 28 points for his best performance of the season. Jim Burton added 14.

Cousino and Fitzgerald led in the O-A last year and it's unlikely they'll be any different this season.

START FAST
It looked like a good evening for Avondale's Yellow Jackets who jumped off to a 31-25 half-time lead.

The downhill came midway in the third period when Madison's Eagles (2-1) began to find the range and when the frame ended, Avon trailed, 43-40.

Tim Black, who paced Madison with 21 points, scored seven in that third-period rally and teammate Marty Putnam tossed in eight and finished with 13.

The Jackets' Lee Saunders led all scorers with 22 markers and Bob Burt chipped in with 18.

Rochester (1-2) battled Clawson (2-1) in nearly even terms through the first half, trailing after intermission, 29-27, but the Trojans posted a 19-12 edge in the third quarter to open up a nine-point lead.

HILKS LEAD
Clawson pushed the margin to 56-42 midway in the fourth quarter.

Cousino raced to its sixth win of the season, 3-0 in league play, behind the scoring of the Papak cousins, Paul (23) and Bob (22).

Tim Daigle tossed in 15 points for Lake Orion (3-3) and teammate Gary Hollins produced 11. Fitzgerald (3-4) held a 22-16 lead at halftime and upped the margin to 38-26 after three periods.

John Pashoki led the winners with 16 points. John Popovich produced 19 for Troy (3-3).

MOMENT OF JOY — Cranbrook's Pete Hatch (3) raises his stick to signify a goal against Detroit Austin in a prep hockey game yesterday afternoon. It was one of two goals Hatch scored in the 6-5 Cranbrook triumph. The Austin goalie and a defenseman look at the puck in the net. Pete Robinson, who also picked up a goal for the Cranes, has position for a possible rebound.

WOLL, 4-0 in league play, will entertain the Mikemen Tuesday night.

In another outing last night, St. Frederick held on to whip Marine City Holy Cross, 57-56.

Brother Rice showed their class Schearer contributed eight each.

Jim Navetta flipped in 15 markers to lead the Notre Dame attack.

The losers pulled within three points of the Warriors, 49-46, with 36 seconds left in the game, but they fouled Parks in a rebound battle and he canned a shot to make it 50-46.

A-Smasher: Key to Big Energy Source?

By FRANK CAREY

AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) The government's proposed atom smasher may hold the key to whether science can ultimately hope to tap a hypothetical source of energy vastly more powerful than that loosed by hydrogen bombs.

Such a titanic force could come from still-undiscovered but theorized — subnuclear particles called quarks.

Some physicists believe such particles exist within the nuclei, or hearts, of atoms and that they constitute the long-sought basic building stones of all matter in the universe.

Indeed, these physicists say, the hypothetical quarks may even be the keystones to the basic forces of nature, such as gravity.

PRIME REASON

They long have said that the possible existence of this particle is a prime reason why the United States should build its proposed $375-million atom smasher. Weston, Ill., was selected Friday as site of the device.

The Atomic Energy Commission has neither confirmed nor denied that its huge machine might settle once and for all whether quarks exist. But its scientists have indicated repeatedly that a machine of such energy, 200 billion electron volts — BEV, would for an indefinite time offer science its most powerful tool for tapping the secrets of matter.

Only a generation ago, the atomic nucleus was thought to consist of only two kinds of particles — neutrons and protons. But the atom smashers now have uncovered a brigade of about 100 additional ones. Scientists figure there likely may be others in what they call the "nuclear jungle."

— and imparting tremendous energies to them.

CRASH THROUGH

The projectiles then crash through the nuclei, or hearts of atoms of various target chemicals.

Some atom smasher machines are doughnut-shaped, others are linear affairs. In all of them, the tiny bullets are kicked to high energies by the action of magnetic or electrical fields through which they pass.

The Weston machine would be a system of four different accelerators, one feeding another in series.

In each of the first three units of the system, the subnuclear projectiles — protons — would be successively sped to higher and higher energies by magnetic and other forces.

Then, the "bullets" would be injected into the main ring measuring a mile in diameter.

The main ring — called a synchrotron — would consist of a ring of 500 magnets surrounding a slender vacuum tube about the size of a man's arm. The tube would comprise the race-track for the projectiles.

The entire device would be covered by at least 20 feet of earth as a shield against radiation leakage. The general public would not be allowed within 500 feet of the machine. Heavy shielding also would be provided for scientists working in the area.

GI Wounded Show Effect of New Rifle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Vietnam, using captured U. S. weapons, are giving GIs brutal proof of the devastating effect of the American M16 rifle.

An Army doctor and veteran of Vietnam described yesterday the "dum-dum" effect of the M16's bullet which, he said, shatters on impact, causing "massive tissue destruction."

The doctor, Maj. Norman Rich, served with the Second Surgical Hospital and described the effect of the bullet in a symposium on the care given casualties of the war.

In one case Rich cited, a GI wounded by an M16 bullet received an entry wound the size of the eraser of a lead pencil. The exit wound was about the size of a regular cigarette pack, or some 125 times larger.

This occurs, Rich said, because the M16 bullet breaks into small lead fragments after its hard casing opens on impact.

REMAINS WHOLE

In other bullet designs, the bullet remains whole and it passes through a target nearly intact. Exit wounds from bullets of this type are closer to the size of an entry wound.

Rich's description came in a discussion of "Comparative Missile Wounds in Vietnam" and a study of 750 surgical cases at his hospital between January and October, 1966.

Of that number, 434 had been hit by shell fragments, mostly from artillery and mortar fire, and another 316 were wounded by small arms fire, primarily from 30-caliber weapons.

A few, he said, had been hit by the 5.56 millimeter bullet from captured M16 rifles which are replacing the larger 7.62 caliber M14 rifle as the Army's basic weapon.

Criminal Lawyer a Pro's Pro at 33

NEW YORK (AP) — F. Lee Bailey of Boston is a new breed of criminal lawyer, master of the rapier, where many of the oldtime greats used a cudgel. "There's no disgrace in criminal law and there's plenty of money in it," Bailey says. "The criminal law is no barren that anybody with some ability and willingness to work hard can help but succeed."

Bailey, 33, takes over a courtroom by his mere presence — as all the good ones do — and he appears before many judges who are old enough to be his father. Intimates claim to live furtherance of his skyrocketing career. A few hours after Cop-olwa, to address a legal sem-

Bailey, however, can be decorous when courtroom occasion demands it. He tempers his brassiness to the judicial climate of the court. In Judge Francis Talty's no-nonsense courtroom in Cleveland, Ohio, during the Samuel Sheppard trial, Bailey was a model of restraint.

FREEHOLD CASE

In the somewhat less rigid atmosphere of Freehold, N.J., during the just-terminated Dr. Carl Coppolino trial, Bailey was questioning a man who eventually became the jury foreman. The lawyer conceded that his client might be classed as "a swinger — somebody who steps out of line on occasion."

"We're all human beings," replied the prospective juror, "and I've stepped out of line myself."

"You can talk if you like," quipped Bailey. "I'm taking the Fifth Amendment."

"Well, you look like the type," shot back the juror.

Judge Elvin R. Sirmmler joined the spectators in laughter.

NEWS COVERAGE

Bailey has a number of cases in which pretrial news coverage has been heavy. He may attack newspapers as prejudicial to his cause — but while doing so he also may offer a slight bow or a wink to newsmen in the court.

Out of court, Bailey gets on well with newsmen. In Freehold he gathered with them nearly every evening in the lounge of the American Hotel, the social center of the little town.

The retinue traveling around the country with Bailey is an arresting one. It may include his beautiful blonde wife, Wicki, who was once his secretary; Andrew Tunney, a ruddy-faced Boston Irishman who is his chief investigator; and another investigative aide, Teri Plaut, a tall, leggy brunette.

"I'll pay more for a good investigator than for a good lawyer," Bailey says. "If your investigator is good enough, almost any lawyer will do."

A former Marine jet pilot, Bailey flies his own plane in

Son's Moment

LINCOLN, Ill. (AP) — Richard Broughton, exalted ruler (head officer) of the Elks lodge, had the unique pleasure of serving on the initiation team when his father, Harold Broughton, became a member of the fraternal order here. The father is 63, his son, 43.

Hoffa Backers Eye '67 Role

DETROIT (AP) — A Teamsters drive appears to be shaping up to keep the union's president, James R. Hoffa, out of prison at least through negotiations on a new national master contract for the trucking industry.

Bargaining is to begin in Washington, D.C., on Jan. 17 on a contract to replace a current three-year agreement expiring on March 31. It covers 1,100 employers with nearly 450,000 interstate, over-the-road drivers and serves as an industry pattern.

Hoffa's eight-year sentence for jury tampering was upheld Monday by the U.S. Supreme Court. U.S. District Judge Frank Wilson of Chattanooga, Tenn., where Hoffa was convicted, said he will await routine receipt of the higher court's decision before issuing any jailing order. This normally would take about two weeks.

Hoffa said here yesterday, however, he is petitioning the Supreme Court for a rehearing, which, in itself, could delay his entering prison, if he does.

INDISPENSIBLE

The 53-year-old Teamsters chief described himself as virtually indispensable to the union's national contract bargaining in an address in which he ordered back to work Detroit Teamsters who had called a 24-hour work stoppage to protest the court's decision.

"I hope to represent you in (national) negotiations," Hoffa said, adding that he knew the trucking industry coast-to-coast "as no other officer does."

"I know how to take and squeeze and bend and block off," he continued, "until I get you what you want."

Hoffa warned against becoming embroiled in a nationwide strike, but said he believes

Trucking Employers Inc., with whom the national contract is being made, "will try to create chaos and stonewall at the bargaining table" if he's not there.

According to Douglass Carter, special assistant to the President for health and education, 98 per cent of the nation's hospitals are participating in Medicare in the government; and care.

Divide and Decorate

Home Editor, The Pontiac Press
Many wives like trying their hand at interior decorating but not many have builder husbands who give them free rein to decorate model homes. "It was a lark," said Mrs. Robert H. Pastor. "My friend and I worked together and we decorated and hunted for just the right fabric, color or accent piece to our hearts' content."

When the Pastors moved into their new home in Bloomfield Township, Mrs. Pastor took into consideration their four children ranging in age from 1 to 11 years.

"We needed rooms for formal entertaining and rooms where the children would feel comfortable," she said. In the formal sections of their home, Mrs. Pastor chose to follow a regal French Provincial theme, relying on a rich green-gold to set the background.

GOLD CUT-VELVET

Grouped near the ebony grand piano is a cane-backed arm chair with cut-velvet seat and armrests in gold. A covered green-glass dish centers the grouping's fruitwood end table.

Gold and brown throw pillows highlight the ecru-covered sofa. Completing the arrangement are matching chairs of linen tapestry. The pattern repeats the room's green-gold theme.

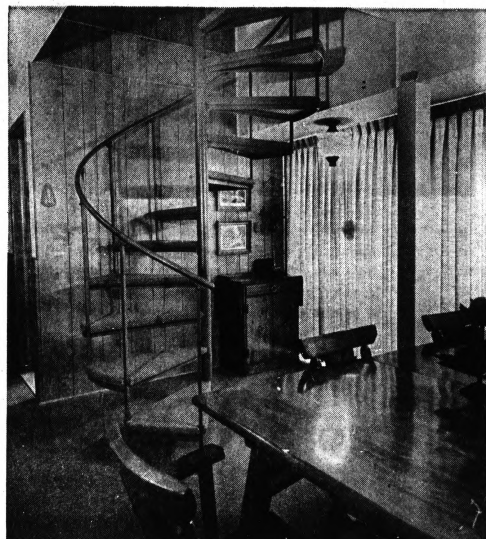

Comfort sets the key in the pecan family room with decorating trends favoring both Early American and Mediterranean.

Child-proof carpeting in a shades-of-gold and brown tweed complements the burnt gold draperies.

Reaching for the ceiling behind the forest green chair and ottoman is a sugar cane tree.

"It's ten years old," said Mrs. Pastor, "and, practically indestructible."

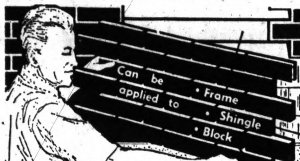

"As each of our four children began toddling, the plant's bottom leaves met the fate of inquiring baby fingers."

Christmas Displays at Greenfield Village

Early American holiday decorations will deck many of the historic buildings in Greenfield Village during the 1966 Christmas season.

Through Dec. 31, buildings, ranging from the 17th century Cotswold Cottage to the Wright Brothers' Victorian home, will be decorated with authentic Christmas greens and ornaments.

They reflect an era when people relied more on their own skills and creativity than they are able to do today.

Holly, ivy, mistletoe and scented candles combine with hand-blown glass balls, poinsettias and cedar ropes to fill the Village with a special holiday charm.

Visitors to Greenfield Village will be taken on guided tours through the decorated homes, pausing at the Clinton Inn for a cup of hot spiced cider and cookies.

Depending on the weather, a sleigh or carriage ride will conclude this intriguing look at American Christmas of the past.

The Village will be open 9-5 daily except Christmas Day during the holiday season.

Final tours through the Village will begin each day at 3:30 p.m.

Craftsmen Featured in Yule Show

Today's young people are hard-pressed to remember what Christmas was like without remote-controlled robots, talking dolls, cake and cookie mix and aluminum Christmas trees, but this year's holiday visitor to Henry Ford Museum will glimpse nostalgic portions of earlier American Yuletides.

Recalling an era when almost all Christmas gifts and decorations were made in the home, skilled Museum craftsmen will demonstrate arts that have disappeared from the American scene.

This special exhibition, "The Crafts at Christmas," continues daily through next Saturday, with the exception of tomorrow.

Working before a backdrop of antique toys, a candlemaker will pour bayberry holiday candles. A woodcarver will create toy soldiers and animals and a glassblower will fashion Christmas tree ornaments.

Nearby a potter, pewterer, printer and dollmaker will demonstrate their skills. A baker will make cookies from 19th century recipes, and the tinsmith will form toys and household articles.

The beauty and simplicity of the craftsman's work is a vivid reminder of Christmas past and is high on the list of things to see for the holiday visitor to Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum.

Adhesive Protects Furniture Surface

Out furniture scratches from vases, ash trays, lamps etc., down to size with "Surface-Stik."

This item is made of an adhesive backed natural sponge rubber which, when applied to the bottom of ash trays, lamps, vases, statuettes, etc., serves a two-fold purpose; it protects the surface of furniture from ugly marred abrasions and also eliminates objects from slipping, sliding and breaking.

Within one package there are two 4"x8" sheets that when cut to any object's dimensions, stick to the bottom surface securely with the other side preventing unsightly damages.

Because "Surface-Stik" retains its sticking power when removed, it can be reapplied to another item or another area with the same effective working power.

Santa waves to all from the roof top. He is life-size and easy to cut from hardboard or plywood. Pattern 415 gives actual size cutting and painting guides for this figure and chimney and 10-inch letters for Merry Christmas along the eaves of your house. Mounting directions come with the five large pattern sheets. You will use this decoration year after year. The price of the pattern is $1.

Children Plan Disney Tribute

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Children of Walnut Hills Baptist Church will pay tribute Sunday to the late moviemaker Walt Disney.

The Rev. Dr. Arthur E. Cowley, the pastor, said he will ask the children to come to the church during the service and offer silent prayers for the man "who brought joy and happiness to so many."

SHOULD BE RECOGNIZED — Disney, whose films and cartoons delighted youngsters all over the world, died Thursday at the age of 65.

In planning the memorial, Dr. Cowley said that people such as Disney should be recognized for their "great contributions to modern creative art which enriches life."

Also, he said, the children's participation in a memorial service for the creator of Disneyland "makes religion relevant and contemporary to them."

BOMBERS AWAY—Two B52 bombers of the U.S. Air Force's Strategic Air Command drop their loads of 750-pound general purpose bombs on Vietcong targets below in this photo released by the Department of Defense. The caption accompanying this picture said the action took place in late October when B52 crews flew a number of missions against Communist targets in South Vietnam.

U.S. Leaflets Urge N. Viets to Desert Units

Air Drop Showers Hanoi, Delta With Surrender Message

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — American planes showered Hanoi and the Red River Delta with millions of surrender leaflets today.

A U.S. spokesman said Air Force planes dropped nearly 2.5 million leaflets calling on the young men of North Vietnam "to leave your unit when you are sent south" and to enjoy good treatment from the allied forces.

The leaflet drop was carried out while a worldwide dispute still raged over American air raids on the North Vietnamese capital area earlier this week.

Communist China claimed its embassy in Hanoi was seriously damaged by the raids, and the North Vietnamese said more than 100 civilians were killed.

The United States has repeatedly denied any bombs fell in Hanoi itself in the raids Tuesday and Wednesday.

NO RAIDS SINCE

The U.S. military command has reported no raids near Hanoi since then, although American planes have struck at other targets in the Communist north.

U.S. B52 bombers struck this afternoon at a North Vietnamese base camp and supply area in the demilitarized zone, a U.S. spokesman reported.

It was the fourth time this week the giant, Guam-based jet bombers hit in the buffer zone between North and South Vietnam.

In fighting in South Vietnam, U.S. headquarters listed only minor action but Vietnamese military headquarters reported a headquarters unit of the Vietnamese 9th Infantry Battalion was badly mauled early today by a Vietcong mortar and ground attack in the Mekong Delta.

UNDERSTRENGTH

A Vietnamese spokesman said an understrength headquarters company of an infantry battalion — estimated between 60 and 100 men — suffered heavy casualties in the enemy attack 66 miles southwest of Saigon.

The OEO presently has 119 employees.

The budget submitted for approval to the regional office totaled $13 million, according to McNeely.

Since the tentative cutback came to light, McNeely said at least 200 letters and telegrams have been sent by his office to organizations throughout the country in hopes they will intercede on behalf of the OEO.

"I'm hopeful that we can obtain the present program," said McNeely.

He said that it would probably be Monday when he hears from the regional office on the final budget allocations.

Accord Is Reached on City Police Pay

A tentative agreement on requested pay hikes for Pontiac police was reached by the city and representatives of the Pontiac Police Officers Association yesterday.

Also included in the tentative agreement are salary adjustments for Pontiac firemen and department of public works employees in the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Local 100.

No specific terms of the settlement were revealed, but the entire general fund surplus acquired over the past three years will be required, it was indicated.

The settlement will be taken before the employees and the City Commission Monday night for ratification.

Detroit arbitrator Harry N. Casselman, appointed a fact finder in the case by the Michigan Labor Mediation Board, said use of the surplus was necessary "to place the employees in a pay range which compares more favorably with surrounding communities which gave substantial increases in July."

CALLED FAIR

"All parties are agreed that the settlement does not meet all economic demands of each group, but it deals fairly with the employees and Pontiac taxpayers," Casselman said.

The tentative agreement came on the heels of four days of fact-finding meetings and two days of lengthy discussion. Casselman entered the dispute on Nov. 9, following a Nov. 13 "sick-call boycott" in which many police officers participated.

A previous wave of reported illness by police officers occurred Oct. 21.

ATTENTIVE AUDIENCE—A report on revenue sources has these officials in an attentive mood during yesterday's governors' conference session at White Sulphur Springs, W.Va. Boycott's Success Doubt

U.N. Votes Rhodesia Sanctions

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Security Council has adopted mandatory economic sanctions for the first time in U.N. history in a move to bring down Rhodesia's white minority government. But failure to provide for enforcement machinery immediately raised doubts that the boycott would work.

The 15-nation council yesterday night ordered all 122 U.N. members to boycott 12 specific exports from Rhodesia and embargo shipments of oil, arms, aircraft, motor vehicles and parts to Rhodesia.

It decided that they "shall prevent" the forbidden transactions "by their nationals or in their territories," notwithstanding prior business contracts to the contrary.

The action was embodied in a British resolution modified by African amendments and adopted by a vote of 11-0 with 4 abstentions.

Those in favor were Britain, the United States, Nationalist China, Argentina, Uruguay, Japan, Jordan, The Netherlands, New Zealand and two of the sponsors of the amendments—Nigeria and Uganda.

ABSTENTIONS
Those abstaining were the third sponsor, Mali, plus France, the Soviet Union and Bulgaria.

The purpose of the resolution was to end the rebellion against Britain that began when Prime Minister Ian Smith declared Rhodesia independent Nov. 11, 1965, in the face of British pressure for equal votes for Africans.

It put mandatory sanctions in place of the voluntary sanctions the council adopted shortly after that event.

Rejecting five of 13 African amendments, the council refused to deplore Portuguese and South African "support to the rebel regime," to deplore Britain's failure to use force against the regime and to invite Britain to use "all means" in preventing oil from reaching Rhodesia.

It also refused to add coal and manufactured goods to Britain's list of exports for boycott — asbestos, iron ore, chrome, pig-iron, sugar, tobacco, copper, meat, meat products, hides, skins and leather.

Romney Urges GOP Change

Says Party Can't Rely on Troubles for LBJ

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP) — Influential Republican governors said today Republicans cannot count on President Johnson's current drop in popularity to carry their party to victory in the 1968 presidential race.

Michigan Gov. George Romney, a top prospect for the GOP presidential nomination, said his party must offer the voters two years from now "a basic change in direction" instead of relying on a protest vote against Johnson's "Great Society" programs or on frustrations about the war in Vietnam.

"The basic issue in 1968 will be whether the people themselves are going to reclaim the direction of this government or whether it will continue to be run solely from Washington," Romney said.

Agreeing generally with this, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller discounted in a separate interview the harsh indictments Democratic state executives have drawn against Johnson during the National Governors' Conference here.

Some Democratic governors pictured Johnson as the over-riding architect of their party's defeat in the November elections.

LOCAL CONDITIONS

Rockefeller, who won reelection in that balloting, said it was his feeling that local conditions dictated the outcome of the elections, "rather than some absent political personality" — Johnson in this case.

As for some Democrat suggestions that their party may have to seek a new face in 1968 unless Johnson mends his ways, Rockefeller said Republicans would be foolish to put any confidence in current public opinion polls which rank the President at a low point.

"After all," he said, "I was lower in the polls than the President ever has been and I won." Some of the Democratic governors who had vented their political spleen on Johnson seemed to be having second thoughts.

Cutting Down Yule Tree Is Costly for 4

Court costs totaling $110 were levied yesterday on four persons apprehended by Oakland County sheriff's deputies and accused of cutting down and removing a pine Christmas tree.

Alvin E. Heft, 40; his wife, Emogene, 43, both of 12 Gingell, paid $20 each, while Alvin G. Beyett, 27, also of 12 Gingell; and George J. Brown, 26, of 1604 Alma, Waterford Township, paid $35 each.

All pleaded guilty at their appearance before West Bloomfield Township Justice Christian Powell.

The four were arrested at 12:30 a.m. yesterday as they dragged a freshly cut tree from a wooded plot in the Pine Knob-Clarkston Road area of Independence Township.

Indict Airman in Spying Plot

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — An Air Force sergeant who served at the Pentagon in 1965 and part of 1966 has been indicted on charges of conspiring with a Soviet diplomat to commit espionage.

If convicted, Sgt. Herbert W. Boeckenhaupt, 24, could receive the death penalty. He was arrested by the FBI Oct. 31 at March Air Force Base, Riverside, Calif.

In other action Friday in U.S. District Court here, Retired Army Lt. Col. William Henry pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiring to obtain defense secrets for the Soviet Union.

The cases apparently are unrelated. An espionage charge against Whalen, carrying a possible maximum sentence of execution, was dropped at the government's request.

INDICTMENT
According to the indictment, Boeckenhaupt conspired with Aleksey R. Malinin, a former assistant commercial counselor

AMC Protests Safety Format

Says U.S. Procedure Discriminatory to Firm

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors lodged a vigorous protest Friday over proposed federal safety standards for automobile producers and said the procedure for determining the standards discriminates against the company.

The firm was the third manufacturer to object to the new standards. Earlier this week, Ford and Chrysler also denounced them.

If the procedure tentatively specified for determining safety standards is adopted, it would be a crippling blow to the company, said American Motors president Roy Abernethy.

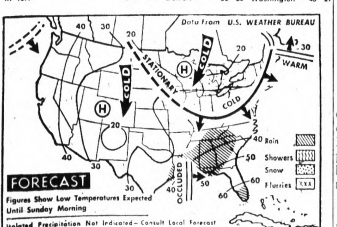

In an open letter to Alan Boys, Undersecretary of Commerce for Transportation, Abernethy said the standards would preclude a unique new car the company plans to build. This would reduce the consumer's right to freedom of choice, Abernethy said, adding:

"There are many buyers of automobiles to whom high fashion is of no value—buyers who need reliable low-cost vehicles that maintain their worth over a long period."

Talks Aim at Settling Hospital Grant Row

The Oakland County Mental Health Services Board and officials from Pontiac State Hospital will meet next week in hopes of settling differences over a proposed federal grant to the hospital.

The hospital is seeking a $250,000 grant to increase the size of its Mental Health Services.

The granting agency, the National Institute of Mental Health, however, will not approve it until the Mental Health Services Board agrees to the program.

Pontiac Man Is Guilty in Murder Case

An Oakland County Circuit Court jury yesterday found a Pontiac man guilty of second-degree murder.

It was the second time that James S. Walker, 40, of 154 Franklin Road, had been found guilty of fatally shooting Jerry M. Draper.

In October, after being sentenced to 15-30 years for the shooting, Circuit Judge James S. Thornburn granted Walker a new trial.

Thornburn ruled that at that time that an assistant prosecutor had erred by making a prejudicial statement when he presented his final arguments to the jury.

Walker's second trial lasted nine days, and the jury deliberated more than two days before reaching a verdict.

Walker was convicted of shooting the 20-year-old Draper during a scuffle at Draper's home, 409 S. Jessie, on May 21.

Thornburn will sentence Walker Jan. 26.

A $1,276 annual hike, with longev- ity benefits in addition. In a preliminary city budget re- vealed two weeks ago, no pro- vision was made for pay in- creases for police.

During the fact-finding hear- ings, P.P.O.A. representatives sought to establish the existence of unappropriated city funds which could be used for a police pay raise.

City officials, however, said Pontiac was close to a financial crisis, and cutbacks might be necessary in the number of police and fire employees.

Competition which will run from 8 a.m. to noon, will be held at Lincoln Hills Golf Course, 2666 W. 14 Mile.

Started in 1960 between the Forestry and Parks Departments of Oak Park and Birmingham, competition is the climax of the year's in-service training program for the departments.

Gunman Robs GTW Station

A gunman held up the Grand Truck Western Railroad office in Pontiac last night, escaping with $168.

Melborne Haughton, 66, a ticket seller, said he was alone in the station at 110 W. Huron when the gunman entered shortly before 10 p.m.

After being ordered to open the company safe, Haughton, 28, State, was forced into a restroom where the bandit struck him on the head with the gun.

The bandit fled on foot down the tracks toward Huron, according to Haughton.

Phone Service Is Cut to 200 in Birmingham

Telephone service to 200 Birmingham customers of Michigan Bell was interrupted more than eight hours yesterday when underground cables were slashed by a pile driver at a construction site.

In addition, 275 long-distance circuits were affected from Pontiac to Birmingham, Royal Oak, Southfield and Detroit.

Charles Woodhead, Bell manager in Pontiac, said service was restored by 1 a.m. today. Six two-man crews worked all night to complete the job, he said.

The service went out about 4 p.m. when the lines were cut in Woodward and Merrill in Birmingham.

Cubans Fear Blackout, Cut Decorations

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuba has limited the number of Havana stores and homes that may put up Christmas decorations, Havana radio reports.

The reason: Communist officials don't want the city's shaky electrical power system over- loaded.

The broadcast, monitored in Miami Friday night, said stores and homes would be allowed to set up electrical decorations and a few toy stands.

In the interior, Cubans were told to coordinate their decoration plans with government agencies to make sure "electric circuits are not over- charged."

Power failures are frequent in Havana, sometimes blacking out areas of the capital for up to six hours.

The Birmingham team is the winner of all previous competitions.

The new St. Regis Church is presently under construction at Lahser and Lincoln, scheduled for completion in the fall of 1967.

The design reflects the revived Catholic liturgy as promulgated by the Vatican Council.

A Junior Editors Quiz About WEIGHTS

QUESTION: Why is pound written lb. and ounce oz.?

ANSWER: Early in English history a standard pound weight was established. In old documents, often written in Latin, the Latin word libra was used for pound, and this became shortened to lb. This abbreviation then became used when writing in English.

Oz. for ounce comes from an old Spanish coin, the dublon, which had the value of 16 dollars and was widely circulated and used at one time by people in many countries.

This coin was often referred to as a "Spanish ounce." The Spanish word for ounce being onza, the abbreviation oz. became used for ounce.

Today, avoirdupois weight is used for weighing most commodities. It has 16 ounces to the pound. Sometimes, fractions of a pound are used instead of ounces, as a bag of apples might weigh 2 1/2 lbs. For measuring fluids, 2 cups equal 1 pint, 2 pints equal 1 quart, and 4 quarts equal 1 gallon.

Jewelers use troy weight, with 12 ounces to the pound, for weighing precious metals.

The metric system is used by druggists when they compound prescriptions.

FOR YOU TO DO: Check on some food items in your local store to see how the weights are written on the packages.

Olivia and Her Ex-Husband Are Happy Under One Roof

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I am living in sin without the sin..." Olivia de Havilland was summing it up. The quite practical and thoroughly workable, if slightly strange, arrangement she has with her ex-husband, Paris editor Pierre Galante, which intrigues most Americans. Legally separated, they nevertheless live under the same roof, quite an enchanting and picturesque roof not far from the Etoile in Paris... together but apart.

There in their own part of the menage, Olivia may be having dinner with an admirer, Pierre could be serving an aperitif to a friend and never the twain should meet nor interfere.

"I have the front and he has the rear," Olivia told me recently.

"I will always tell Pierre in advance, 'So-and-so is in town and would like to dine with him, he'll drop by to pick me up,' or 'Do you mind if I have so-and-so to lunch? Pierre will generally say, 'It's all right, I'll lunch elsewhere.'"

Olivia finds most of her friends fascinated by her arrangement, and with a lift of her chin and a snapping of her bright eyes, she says, "I consider myself a trail blazer... but the truth is, we're not the first to do it."

It was about 11 years ago, on a Sunday noon, that I found the two of them walking along the Strand in London, having just come from church. Olivia invited me to join the two of them for coffee or tea in her suite in the Savoy overlooking the Thames. They were married very soon thereafter.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Clady Adams, the ABC-TV interviewer, proudly showed up for work in her new chinchilla coat—and her first assignment in it was to ride the subway... Omar Sharif met Bette Davis at the Ground Floor, told her he'd seen all her films—in Cairo.

Walter Pidgeon turned down two fat film offers—he'll stay with "Dinner at 8"... The Dick Culp (ex-Latin 1/4 girl Chickie James) are expecting... The new slick magazine, "Show Dog," has a cover by the Walt Disney studio (and a "Canine Comics" section)... Connie Francis signed a 5-year deal with MGM records.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "A pat on the back develops character, if administered young enough, often enough and low enough."

EARL'S PEARLS: Marty Cole says he heard a salesman ask a woman, "And does madame wish the mink coat for wearing, or for draping over a chair?"

Ginger Rogers, of "Dolly," whose film career began in 1929, told an interviewer, "My first picture was 'Kitty Foyle,' in 1940. It was actually my mother who made all those movies with Fred Astaire..." That's earl, brother.

Spending Cut Demand Seen

Head of House Unit Cautions Taxpayers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee said today he has detected "a pronounced grass-roots demand" for reduced government spending. But he cautioned taxpayers not to expect drastic cutbacks.

"There just isn't too large an area where you can cut," Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said in an interview. He termed the sentiment for reduced spending "a very wholesome thing."

"The challenge facing the 90th Congress next year," Mahon added, "is to hold the line where possible and cut where possible so spending doesn't get out of line."

"We've got to give the war top priority and prune non-defense spending wherever we can."

"PARING KNIFE" Another key congressional Democrat, Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, said in an interview in Baton Rouge that President Johnson "needs to take a paring knife to his own Great Society program."

Long, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and assistant Democratic leader, said Vietnam war costs may produce a $20-billion deficit next fiscal year unless Johnson raises taxes or sharply cuts nondefense spending. He said he hopes a tax increase can be avoided.

Mahon said the "battleground in the next Congress" will be in the House and Senate Appropriations Committees. The committees' recommendations generally are followed by Congress.

Vietnam Course on GI Menu

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — U.S. soldiers bound for Vietnam have a glamorous former Saigon movie actress teaching them to eat cha gio and other Vietnamese delicacies.

Lan Nam, with black hair reaching almost to her waist, isn't part of the Army's official training program, but her husband says the soldiers gave him the idea for opening a Vietnamese restaurant in Fayetteville.

"Many boys ask how is our food," explained the husband, Nguyen Minh Tri, 25, a Vietnamese language teacher at nearby Ft. Bragg's Special Warfare School, home of the Army's Special Forces.

"We want to present my country in all ways for people who go to see start restaurant," Tri continued in his cautious English. "Only one room at first. Now we open three."

His partner, Ngan Van Dao is head of the Asian language department at the Special Warfare School where troops destined for Vietnam learn the language and some of the customs of the country.

At the restaurant after school, a soldier can get tips on where to go in Saigon and what to order in restaurants. They also practice speaking Vietnamese.

The favorite appetizer on the menu is cha gio, the first prize winner at a recent Tokyo international food contest. It is a crunchy rice-paper roll filled with meat, crab meat, mushrooms and bean threads.

Vietnamese-style bean thread chicken soup, called mien ga, also is available as are entrees of beef, pork, seafood and poultry.

SHISHKABOB

One of the most popular dishes is Vietnamese shishkabob, marinated in sauce and spices and grilled on skewers. It is served with Vietnamese vermicelli salad.

Desserts can be Vietnamese originals or just ice cream and fortune cookies.

Tri's family ships rice paper, shrimp chips and tea from Vietnam. The bamboo shoots, shredded and served with beef, pork or chicken, come from Hong Kong. Most of the vegetables are grown in the Fayetteville area.

In addition to Tri's beautiful wife, a former professional singer and Vietnamese movie actress who also worked in the Pasadena Playhouse in California before her marriage, there are two American and two Vietnamese waitresses. The chef is from Saigon.

Possibility of Bail Eyed for Ailing Jack Ruby

DALLAS (UPI) — Lawyers moved and his relatives would be free to move him to another hospital, if they chose.

J. H. Tonnahill, who helped defend Ruby in his 1964 trial on charges of murdering presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, suggested yesterday that Ruby be sent to M. D. Anderson Tumor Institute in Houston, where he might offer himself for research to help find a cancer cure.

Washington, D.C., is administered by three commissioners appointed by the President and approved by the Senate.

Phil Burleson, one of Ruby's lawyers, said yesterday the thought of getting Ruby out on bond had been brought up. "But we're not making a concentrated effort in that direction."

The only difference if Ruby were admitted to bond would be that guards inside and outside his hospital room would be re-

Romania Says Embassy Hit

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI)—Communist Romania charged today U.S. warplanes damaged its embassy in Bucharest during the Dec. 13-14 bombings, the official Yugoslav News Agency reported from Bucharest.

Communist China made the charge yesterday in a broadcast by Radio Peking.

The Romanian charge came in a Bucharest announcement which protested the alleged bombing, the Tanjug News Agency said.

It said a student demonstration backing the protest announcement followed at the university law faculty in Bucharest and that other protest meetings were held in other Romanian cities.

The United States has denied American warplanes bombed Hanoi and said the targets were purely military targets outside the city.

It suggested the ring of thousands of anti-aircraft guns around Hanoi might have dropped shells on the city or that surface-to-air (SAM) missiles fell back on the city.

Cyclist Breaks Leg in Pontiac Collision

A 20-year-old Crosswell youth suffered a broken leg yesterday when his motorcycle collided with a car on North Perry at Gage.

In fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital following the 11:10 a.m. accident is Vey J. Valentine.

The driver of the car, Kerry Lee Ferrier, 21, of 460 Harper, told Pontiac police that she didn't see the motorcycle when she turned onto Perry because a truck obstructed her view.

Reflections

CHRISTMAS NOSTALGIA

Each of us, at Christmas time, like to recall what Christmas was like for us, when we were children.

We are so sure, in our memory, that the snow was much deeper, the icicles on the roof reached to the ground and we eluded our initials in the frost that formed on the window panes.

We were so sure that if we were not good little girls and boys that Santa would not leave anything but a lump of coal in our stockings. The tree did not go up until after we were put to bed on Christmas Eve. Our stockings were filled with oranges, nuts and a small toy or two, (and weren't those stockings something?) But times have changed and we wouldn't want to go back, really, but we do have our memories.

Divide and Decorate

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press
Many wives like trying their hand at interior decorating but not many have builder husbands who give them free rein to decorate model homes.
"It was a lark," said Mrs. Robert H. Pastor. "My friend and I worked together and we decorated and hunted for just the right fabric, color or accent piece to our hearts' content."

When the Pastors moved into their new home in Bloomfield Township, Mrs. Pastor took into consideration their four children ranging in age from 1 to 11 years.

"We needed rooms for formal entertaining and rooms where the children would feel comfortable," she said.

In the formal sections of their home, Mrs. Pastor chose to follow a regal French Provincial theme, relying on a rich green-gold to set the background.

GOLD CUT-VELVET
Grouped near the ebony grand piano is a cane-backed arm chair with cut-velvet seat and armrests in gold. A covered green-glass dish centers the grouping's fruitwood end table.

Gold and brown throw pillows highlight the ecru-covered sofa. Completing the arrangement are matching chairs of linen tapestry. The pattern repeats the room's green-gold theme.

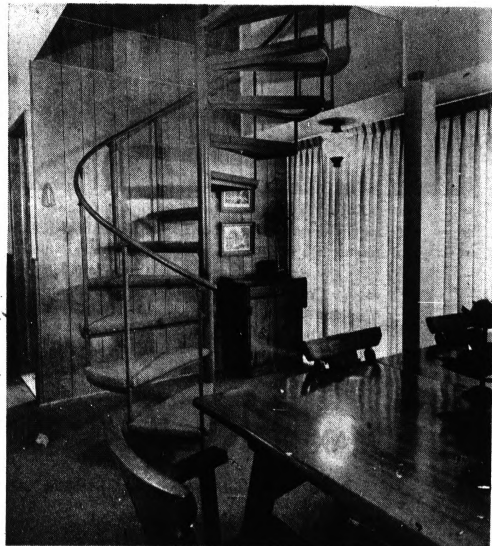

Comfort sets the key in the pecan family room with decorating trends favoring both Early American and Mediterranean.

Child-proof carpeting in a shades-of-gold and brown tweed complements the burnt gold draperies.

Reaching for the ceiling behind the forest green chair and ottoman is a sugar cane tree.

"It's ten years old," said Mrs. Pastor. "and, practically indestructible."

"As each of our four children began toddling, the plant's bottom leaves met the fate of inquiring baby fingers."
