

West Mounts Offensive Against K in Assembly

WARNS U. N. — United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld (left) tells the General Assembly delegates today Nikita Khrushchev has threatened the future of the U. N. Ham-marckjöld said the Red boss' attacks on him are not as dangerous to the secretary general as to the world body. Beside Hammarskjöld is Assembly President Frederick A. Boland of Ireland.

Livid Nikita Slams Desk in Thumping Disapproval

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld today rejected Soviet pressure to resign in a speech that sent Premier Nikita Khrushchev into a desk-pounding rage that sounded like an anvil coming down.

Most of the delegates at the General Assembly gave Hammarskjöld a tremendous ovation but Khrushchev led the Communist delegates in a display of anger that astonished the world of diplomacy and caused Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India to stare in disbelief.

The choleric Khrushchev, sitting near the back of the chamber, began pounding his desk the moment Hammarskjöld finished his unscheduled speech in which he rejected Khrushchev's suggestion the secretary general's job be abolished.

The Soviet foreign minister took his cue from his leader and joined in the demonstration. They were followed quickly by the Communist satellites in a rhythmic thump that jarred the moderator's tables and lasted till the applause died away.

Khrushchev appeared pleased with the commotion he was causing and finally broke into a wide grin.

When Hammarskjöld finished speaking, Khrushchev, livid with anger, began pounding his desk in fury to express his dissent. Members of the Communist delegation joined in.

In minutes the Communist pounding sounded thunderous.

Cold War Opens New Era in Worldwide Police Work

The late afternoon sun threw long August shadows across the streets of West Berlin. The workday was ending for most Berliners. People streamed from office buildings heading for home or perhaps for a stroll along Kurfürstendamm, the glittering show window of the West which contrasts so oddly with the drabness of the central streets in Communist East Berlin.

The streets mirrored the economic and spiritual resurgence of West Germany since the war. The display of prosperity was an open taunt to the lords of communism. East Berliners slipped across the dividing line to feast their eyes, and then they smuggled small purchases past the East German guards.

To these people, the line dividing the city was a hateful barrier. But the criminals and Communist agents who operated out of East Berlin often found the border a shield.

On this August day, a battered black Mercedes-Benz sedan cruised slowly through West Berlin. Police Detective Hans Wardetki sat behind the driver scanning each face. For months the police had been seeking an elusive Communist courier, who had been slipping in and out of West Berlin.

The police car was halfway along a block when Wardetki spotted his man. He stepped out of the car no more than 20 feet from his quarry. But the Red agent wheeled and ran. The detective could not shoot for fear of hitting a pedestrian. The hunted man sprinted to an alleyway and ducked around the corner. Then he stopped and calmly fished out a cigarette.

INVISIBLE BARRIER

Wardetki raced to the corner and halted as if he had run headon into a glass barrier. The fugitive laughed.

Puts His Own Future Second; Body Defended by Canada, Argentina

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A Western counter-offensive against Soviet attempts to revise the United Nations rolled into high gear today with the Soviet Union accused of conducting a "giant propaganda drama of destructive misrepresentation" to undermine the world organization.

Kicking off the counter-attack for the West was Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker of Canada, who told the assembly that President Eisenhower had tried to open the door to East-West conciliation, but Khrushchev tried to shut that door.

President Eisenhower arranged meetings later in the day with two powerful leaders—Prime Minister Nehru of India and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic, in a drive to rally massive support against Khrushchev's proposals to abolish the secretary-general's office and move the U.N. out of the United States.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld made a surprise appearance in the General Assembly as the session opened, and declared that his future lay with that of the United Nations in the face of Khrushchev's attacks on him.

Khrushchev's proposals took on the look of ultimatum when he demanded that his terms be met or the cold war would get colder.

Diefenbaker accused Khrushchev of giving lip service to the U.N. "which would be destroyed by his proposal." He rejected as unjust the Soviet attacks on the secretary-general, and called those attacks part of "a transparent plan to undermine the prestige and authority of the United Nations."

In a vigorous counterattack, Diefenbaker poured scorn on Khrushchev's proposal to grant immediate independence to all dependent areas. He challenged Khrushchev to permit free elections in areas now under Soviet control.

For the Communists, Soviet-backed President Antonin Novotny endorsed Khrushchev's proposal to substitute a three-member commission for the secretary-general's organization, which he said would be "in full harmony with the democratic principles upon which the U.N. is based." He was the first of the top satellite Communist leaders to address the assembly.

Waves 'Hello' on Arrival in Pontiac

GREETED BY BROOMFIELD — A sparse but enthusiastic group of persons waved "Hi, Rocky!" standards Saturday at Pontiac Municipal Airport upon the arrival of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller (left). Here he is greeted by Congressman William

S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, just before the 10-car motorcade pulled out for stops in Pontiac, Birmingham, Berkeley and Oak Park. Broomfield accompanied the governor throughout the trip and into Inkster and Detroit.

Boosts Nixon-Lodge Ticket

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

The Nixon-Lodge ticket has the "courage, vision, understanding and experience to meet the dangerous decades ahead," Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller strident in his swing through Oakland County Saturday.

As recently as the ballot season of Congress, the opposition ticket of Kennedy and Johnson proved it could not fulfill promises of carrying out planks in the Democratic platform, Rockefeller said.

"That's not the kind of leadership we need in this country," the 57-year-old liberal said in the Democratic stronghold of Oak Park.

From the moment that the governor's yellow, blue and white teardrop Camair taxied up before a cheering, "Hi Rocky!" standard waving crowd at Pontiac Municipal Airport Saturday, the story was told that Nixon and Lodge were the answer to the troubled times ahead.

Sen. John F. Kennedy boosters didn't seem to pay much attention until the motorcade was just about to enter Birmingham. The Kennedy supporters were still nearby and apparently stealing some of Rockefeller's thunder.

He ordered his driver to pull up alongside the Kennedy car. "Let's have a little sportsman-ship," Rockefeller said standing up in the back seat of his convertible. "Now you set off the road." The clerk did.

County Republican leaders said they were pleased with the turnout in the three cities. Rockefeller said an unplanned throng of about 300 in Birmingham was the "friendliest welcome I've seen."

Those Mrs. Florence H. Willitt, city's first lady and mayor, had to push her way through unrestrained greeters, most of them men, to shake hands with the man who more had visions of bumping Vice President Nixon from the ticket.

Rockefeller's aim was to win over the independent and liberal voters during his two-hour stop-over here and in Inkster and Detroit later.

He also urged voters to get registered and vote. Under sunny skies and 82-degree temperatures — which caused the governor to shed the coat to his grey chalk-strip suit in Berkeley — Rockefeller appeared to be leaving an image of a man looking to the future, although he personally denied this.

SHEDS COAT IN BERKELEY

It was in the strong Democratic stronghold of Oak Park that a smiling Rockefeller got in his best lines. He said he was addressing his remarks, which came after his regular talk, to some youngsters who had displayed a large photograph of the Democratic standard-bearer when the guest strolled into the Oak Park High School auditorium.

"We saw that young Lochinvar gathering strength in Los Angeles with young Bobby (Kennedy's brother) twisting the arms of delegates," Rockefeller chuckled the Kennedy supporters, most of whom were young teenagers.

Neutrals Out to Heal U.N. Wounds

Castro Expected to Rant, Rave

K's Reported Advice: Stop Clowning or Be Ridiculed in Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro makes his maiden speech to the U.N. General Assembly today with some advice he is not expected to take—keep it short.

The bearded Cuban leader was the first scheduled speaker in this afternoon's Assembly session. He was considered certain to adhere closely to the Kremlin line.

Castro reportedly got advice from Nikita Khrushchev Sunday to cut out the clown or people would not take him seriously.

Castro also has received hints that U.N. delegates would appreciate his not putting on the kind of marathon speech he has made in Havana. But in Cuba, communications facilities were readily to broadcast a four-hour address or more.

Cuba only last Saturday became the first Western Hemisphere nation to extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China and North Korea.

The move was announced shortly after Castro had been the guest of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev at his U.N. delegation headquarters on Park Avenue.

Castro has met with only one non-Communist government head since arriving in New York Sept. 18. He conferred with United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser for an hour and 40 minutes Sunday at the Hotel Theresa.

HARASSMENT ON SWING

Throughout Rockefeller's whirlwind swing through the county, the New York chief executive encountered some harassment from Kennedy backers. There were hand-painted signs for Jack and should support for him as the motorcade made its way from Pontiac Municipal Airport to Oak Park.

As Rockefeller mounted the platform at the crowded ball game, he was greeted by an attractive young lady sporting a "If I Were 3' I'd Vote for Kennedy" button. Rockefeller smiled cordially, greeted Sally O'Brien, of the William R. Hamilton Co., on the shoulder and moved on to speak.

The seven "Kennedy Girls" Rockefeller came across later hugged the front of the platform at the governor's feet. As he moved to leave one of them attempted to hand him a Kennedy pin.

After criticizing the Democratic ticket for its failure to carry out its platform promises during the hotly contested election, Congress, Rockefeller handed the pin back to the young lady in front of him.

"Put it back in your memory book," he said. "That's where it is going to end up."

MSU Dormitory Fire Routs 1,000 Students

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Some 1,000 students at West Hall dormitory on the Michigan State University campus were routed by smoke which spread from a clogged incinerator Sunday night. Firemen, who spent more than an hour attempting to shut off the automatic sprinkler system, said smoke and water damage to the building was extensive. Smoke infiltrated every room in the dormitory's east wing.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—This is the week the world's neutralists will try — and most certainly fail — to bridge the gap between Russia and the West.

Everyone wishes them well but nobody gives them any chance of success.

The Big Four of the uncommitted world are all either on stage or in the wings. Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser arrived on the weekend. Yugoslav President Tito has been here a week. Indonesia's President Sukarno is due Wednesday.

Each has his own idea of how to be helpful in the current U. N. crisis.

Nehru believes strongly in trying to bring to bear moral persuasion and reason. His Hindu heritage gives him a faith in the soft approach which is not necessarily shared by some of his colleagues.

Tito, the tough realist, believes the neutrals can really influence the course of history only if they would a solid bloc of votes which can be used to force the East-West power groups into line on key issues.

Nasser inclines to follow Tito but wavers at times toward the Palestinian Indian.

Sukarno is regarded by the other three as something of a light-weight in international affairs. But he welcomes his help as leader of a strategic country with 85 million inhabitants.

The neutralists would like to see British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, a strong one-time proponent of summitry, try to patch up a meeting between Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and President Eisenhower.

Although Macmillan is scheduled to meet with Khrushchev, the two apparently have no common objectives at present: The British will try to arrange such a meeting, it leaves the odds are too great.

The neutralists, in their efforts to wield effective force for moderation, face two apparently insurmountable obstacles at present: The 41 Asia-Africa nations, a large number of them uncommitted, cannot be counted on to hold together as a bloc on major issues because their loyalties are divided. The present bitter stalemate between the United States and Russia in which agreement could be achieved only by unconditional surrender of issues by one or the other, renders largely futile any efforts at moderation.

Lassiter Judge Stays on Case

Refuses to Disqualify Himself from Trial of Nello, Watson

Wayne County Circuit Judge Joseph G. Rashid this morning refused to disqualify himself from presiding at the murder trial of Mrs. Nello Lassiter and Gordon Watson.

Attorneys for the pair protested at a hearing this morning that Judge Rashid displayed prejudice against three men now serving life terms for the actual killing of the Beverly Hills widow's husband, Parvin (Bill) Lassiter, April 6, 1958.

Mrs. Lassiter and Watson, Lassiter's former husband partner, are charged with arranging the killing.

Joseph Louisell, defense attorney for Mrs. Lassiter, presented an affidavit from a Detroit psychiatrist, Ronald Seibert, in which the psychiatrist stated it was impossible for the judge to be prejudiced after hearing the previous case.

Judge Rashid, who sentenced the three admitted Lassiter killers to life imprisonment, said the psychiatrist's opinion was based on "conclusions, opinions and inference on inference not based on facts."

"It is wholly unavouched and unsubstantiated and not supported by the record," he said.

After the ruling, Louisell asked a 20-day stay of proceedings to appeal the question to the State Supreme Court.

Rashid will rule on the request at 2 p.m. today, and also on motions that the charges against the pair be quashed and that Asst. Prosecutor George D. Kent be barred from the case.

When Hammarskjold finished speaking, the Communist contingent, laughing, thumped their desks with their fists in what most onlookers took to be a gesture of mockery. They did not join in the applause for him.

County GOP Plays Button, Button . . .

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was the only one out to greet the Nixon-Lodge ticket Saturday.

Just after the caravan departed at noon for the New York governor's arrival at Pontiac Municipal Airport, a group of young children made their way into the unheated and unattended county headquarters in Birmingham.

"He didn't have a younger brother," the liberal 32-year-old Rockefeller said Kennedy had promised during the special session of Congress to boost the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour, help for the aged, child rights laws, and federal aid to education.

"But what happened," the governor said. "Nothing. That's not the kind of leadership we need in this country."

"For those who carry these Kennedy signs just think of what happened at this special session of Congress," he concluded.

"Rocky for '64," some youngsters yelled in Berkeley. These cries followed some of "We want Nixon."

Rockefeller made it clear he was here for one reason — to tell the folks "I'll be happy," he said. "I have no plans beyond that."

But some of the cheers were obviously for Rockefeller, the man of wealth who has served under President Roosevelt and Truman as well as President Eisenhower. He surprised Democrats and Republicans when he survived a national Democratic sweep in 1960 to land the post of governor.

At the Kiwanis Club celebration in Berkeley, Rockefeller pointed out to the crowd of 1,000 that the voters and leaders of today are the trustees of the youngsters in the crowd.

At all stops he emphasized the need of equality for all individuals, regardless of race, color or creed, in voting, employment, housing and education.

"You are a symbol of the hope of those who believe in freedom," he said from the platform erected on the courthouse lawn.

"If we want to be leaders of the free world, we must first make a way out of civil rights for all Americans."

"I'm proud to support the man who saw to it to write the first civil rights bill in the platform," the governor said.

During his talk in the Oak Park High School auditorium, Rockefeller applauded the civil rights leaders of both parties.

"Because party leaders here had an obligation to deliver the governor and his party for the dedication of a new civic center in Oakland by 8:15, an old-fashioned alarm clock today and the airport and in front of the courthouse. But Rockefeller didn't want to be rushed, his press said.

The clock then disappeared. He made the appointment on time, Oakland officials announced.

He was greeted at the airport by Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson, R-Waterford Township, and Pontiac Mayor Philip E. Rowton.

In Pontiac Rockefeller was presented with a model Pontiac automobile by Rowton. In Berkeley he received a golden key to that city from Mayor George W. Kuhn, and in Oak Park three box lunches came from Sam Leiberman, owner of a local restaurant.

The mayors received sets of elephant book ends from the governor.

Adding to the clamor of the 10-car motorcade was the appearance of the attractive "Oakland Girl," attired in bright red dress with white buttons reading "Oakland." Rockefeller made it a point to shake hands with each.

Public Hearing Tonight on E. Maple Widening

BIRMINGHAM — A public hearing on widening East Maple Road between Adams and Cordell roads will be held at tonight's City Council meeting.

Plans call for the installation of integral curbs and the widening of the road to a width of 45 feet with cement concrete pavement.

The road is now 34 and 40 feet wide in most places.

The project, which would be financed through individual assessments, was suggested following a traffic count conducted on East Maple during the past two weeks.

The traffic study showed that enough vehicles use the road to warrant widening it to four lanes with a maximum width of 11 feet per lane.

In a report by City Planning Director Herbert Herzberg and City Engineer Clark H. Hagerman it was stated that property values should not depreciate because of the widening.

The proposed widening "provides a measure of controlling existing and future traffic congestion," their report stated, "thereby reducing the possibility of there being greater depreciation on Maple and in its surrounding neighborhoods if the widening did not take place."

Any objections to the project will be considered at tonight's meeting.

William R. Lehr, 50, of 5801 Gilbert Lake Road, will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., Detroit, will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery, Detroit.

the best man," Robinson said.

Rockefeller's appearance at Detroit clinched an all-day session of the state. He drew his best crowd at a Kalamazoo rally and peddled his political views chiefly to labor.

Appearing on the same program with Jackson Sunday night was Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, the Democratic gubernatorial candidate. Swainson called Rockefeller "the dejected suitor of the Republican party."

Earlier in the day, Swainson toured five Detroit area union halls where he told workers Paul D. Bagwell, his Republican rival for governor, "is a speech in structure" who is "employing Republican double talk" when he says he wants to debate the issues.

Swainson referred to today's Detroit "hundred of the Economic Club of Detroit at which both he and Bagwell will speak on 'What are the determining state issues in the next November election?'"

Swainson also attacked what he called "Eleventh-hour Nixon 'poor-brother' medical bill for our older citizens." He labeled as a "Republican fraud" a bill, passed last week by an emergency session of the Michigan legislature, which would implement the federal medical care plan.

15 Arrested as Fists Fly

Fidelistas, Foes Fire Eggs

NEW YORK (AP)—Eggs and fists flew Sunday night when foes and supporters of Fidel Castro clashed outside the Cuban prime minister's Harlem hotel. Fifteen persons were arrested.

The battle royal erupted after about 6,000 persons gathered to watch Castro smile—and wave from a window of the Hotel Theresa. Police quickly quelled the battle.

Other demonstrators and pickets—protesting the presence here of Communist leaders—showed no sign of halting their activities in other parts of the city.

Many of the Communist chieftains, and neutralist leaders, spent the weekend relaxing, holding conferences—and sightseeing.

The Harlem brawl began when four cars loaded with Castro foes stopped in front of the bearded leader's hotel. They were immediately surrounded by Castro supporters.

The occupants of the cars—some armed with ball bats—hopped out and a fight began. Several cops were hit by flying eggs. Two of the more than 500 policemen on guard were treated at a hospital for minor injuries.

RIOT EARLIER, TOO

Two of the 15 arrested were booked on felonious assault charges. The others were held on disorderly conduct charges.

Earlier, police had quelled another riot which started after Castro sympathizers chanted "yellow press—cha, cha, cha" to the throbbing beat of congo drums.

Police escorted about 30 Castro opponents away from the hotel, separating them from 300 Castro supporters.

CASTRO, NASSER TALK

During the afternoon, Castro and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic conferred for 90 minutes at Castro's headquarters.

While they met, about 1,500 Moslem and African movement demonstrators swarmed in the area carrying signs that read "Belgium and United Nations out of the Congo" and "Allah is the greatest."

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, a Harlem Negro Democratic congressman, issued a statement denouncing "Castro's use of Harlem as a battleground for his own political ends."

About 100 Albanian anti-Communistists paraded near the United Nations. Another group of 50 picketed near the building where Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia is staying.

About 150 demonstrators picketed the offices of El Diario in support of the Spanish language newspaper's anti-Communist editorials.

The car bringing Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev back to New York City from Long Island was struck by a thrown egg.

Tito Gen. Mehmet Sheku, premier of Albania and Janos Kadar, first secretary of Hungary's Communist party, did a little sight-seeing Sunday.

Kadar visited Times Square, the Empire State Building and City Hall. Police said he was "very impressed."

This took a stroll through Central Park.

Sheku went to the top of the Empire State Building.

President Antonin Novotny of Czechoslovakia and Todor Zhivkov, Communist party chief of Bulgaria, visited Bear Mountain, N. Y., a resort area.

British Truck Makers Hit All-Time Record

LONDON — British truck manufacturers have hit the best of good times, new output and export figures show.

An all-time high was reached this year with a quarter of a million commercial vehicles produced — 74,000 of them going overseas and earning $5.6 million a week.

The figures were announced by Geoffrey Rootes, president of the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders, at the commercial motor show. The exhibition opened at Earl's Court Friday.

Nikita Wooing Neutrals; Vows to Hear Out Fidel

NEW YORK (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev maneuvered today for the favor of neutrals in the swelling struggle over international leadership and the future of the United Nations.

The Soviet premier promised to hear out Cuba's Fidel Castro even if Castro's speech to the U.N. General Assembly ran six hours instead of the predicted four.

He arranged an early evening date with Jawaharlal Nehru, Indian prime minister who had an appointment with President Eisenhower earlier in the day.

Khrushchev lunched today with his millionaire friend Cyrus R. Eaton and a top-secret roster of capitalist guests behind an iron curtain designed to protect the Americans' identity from publicity.

Eaton, who met Khrushchev in Moscow and is an exponent of peaceful coexistence, had his own security force on hand to keep newsmen away from the Hotel Biltmore.

It was Khrushchev's first venture into American society this trip but he had to sneak in a side door under Eaton's security plan. Practically no one saw him.

Khrushchev also planned to attend a luncheon given by Cleveland industrialist Cyrus Eaton, who said the purpose is "to consider means of increasing trade between the Soviet Union and North America." U.S. and Canadian industrialists were invited.

Khrushchev was off to a running start for his second week here as the result of a supposed rest weekend at the Glen Cove, Long Island, estate of the Soviet delegation to the U. N.

From the time of Khrushchev's Saturday noon arrival at the luxurious mansion, under heavy security guard, to his departure Sunday night, the 72-acre estate was the scene of diplomatic activity interspersed with Khrushchev news conferences.

The Kremlin boss met with newsmen with several canal-nest, once late Saturday and twice Sunday for questions-and-answer periods lasting as long as 1½ hours.

He alternately joked and, turning serious, tossed out new fireworks as followups to his Friday speech that shook the U.N.

BOTH OR NEITHER

He said: "1. Unless the U.N. is revamped as Khrushchev proposes, 'We will likewise be unable to solve the disarmament question.'"

Famed Woman Flier Found Dead at 59

NEW YORK (AP)—Ruth Rowland Nichols, 59, world famous flier, was found dead in her apartment Sunday.

Her body was found by the apartment house superintendent after an aunt of Miss Nichols, Polly Haines, said she had been unable to reach the flier by telephone.

Police said the cause of death would not be known until a medical examination was completed. They listed her death as a possible suicide.

Miss Nichols, who was a society girl, was regarded with the late Amelia Earhart as one of the pioneering women in American aviation.

Miss Nichols' latest achievement was in 1958 when she claimed women's records by flying an Air Force jet faster than 1,000 miles an hour at an altitude of 51,000 feet at the Suffolk County Air Force Base on Long Island, New York.

Nehru and Ayub to Sign Indus Water Agreement

Prime Minister Nehru of India and President Ayub of Pakistan met on Sept. 19 to sign a treaty for the development of the Indus River basin and for sharing its waters.

This long, drawn out and bitter dispute between the two countries prevented full use of the system for irrigation and hydroelectric power. Fed by Himalayan snows and monsoon rains, the water will be channeled to make fertile 30 million acres in Pakistan and India to help feed 47 million people.

Difficulties had arisen because six rivers of the Indus valley rise in India, yet flow through Pakistan to empty into the Arabian Sea. For 5,000 years until India's partition, the rivers and canal networks had been treated as a single unit. The British had added hydraulic engineering to the canal leading from the system.

The immensity of the task can be grasped when it is realized that the networks discharge 10 times as much water as the Colorado and twice as much as the Nile. Some canals planned to feed Pakistan, which will get about 80 per cent of the flow, will be 400 miles long and carry 10 times as much water as the Thames.

The project will take 10 years to complete and will cost $1.3 billion. Half of this sum will be obtained through loans and grants from the World Bank which is financed by six nations including the United States.

Officials of the bank deserve great credit for persisting until India and Pakistan finally came to terms after 12 years of bickering.

Bureaucrats Convinced Live Woman Is Dead

A somewhat wry story comes from Italy where Mrs. BLANCH TAMPFERI of Rome hasn't yet had any success in convincing the various bureaucrats in the government that she is alive.

Some time ago, as reported in the Baltimore Sun, a policeman called on Mrs. Tampferi to tell her that she had died and that she owed the hospital for her last illness, transportation to the cemetery and burial. The law officer paid no attention to her protestations that she was alive and well.

Then Mrs. TAMPFERI was drawn into the picture. According to the Hall of Records he was now a widower. His family allowance was cut and his wife's pension stopped. In vain Mrs. TAMPFERI appeared in person at a chain of bureaus as proof that she had not died. Dead to her living evidence a gendarme threatens to seize her furniture unless those bills are paid. It's now a deadlock.

This is what happens when bureaucracy runs wild.

No Reporter Exchange for U.S. and Red China

At a meeting in Warsaw, Communist China offered to admit reporters from the United States if we would sign a joint statement favoring withdrawal of American forces from Formosa where a small number assist the Nationalist Government by agreement.

Made by Ambassador WANG PING-NAN to American Ambassador JACOB BEAM, the State Department promptly turned down the impossible condition and proposed a joint statement pledging admission of reporters on a reciprocal basis.

China doesn't want American reporters around and has turned down the offer made by this country to exchange correspondents on a reciprocal basis. However, for a long time our State Department barred news men from going to the Republic of China, then relented but set up such stringent tests for admitting Chinese in return that not one even tried to enter.

Exchange of correspondents should benefit both countries and could lead in time to a basis for mutual understanding. Certainly we should know more first hand of the world's most populous country.

Perhaps the best solution would be for a free America to take down all barriers for exchange of reporters.

We have nothing to hide.

4,147 in Contest

And First Game Brought a Big Bunch of Eliminations

Rainy day: What some people save for as if they expected a personal death.

A total of 4,147 good sports entered our annual football contest before the closing time Friday. This is the largest number of entries in its history.

Each predicted the outcome of 14 games. The prize of $300 in U.S. savings bonds goes to the person making the best prediction on an elimination basis.

The first contest game was that between Auburn and Tennessee on Saturday. Auburn was the favorite among the contestants, but it was defeated by Tennessee by a score of 10-3.

On that first game the entries were divided as follows: Auburn, 2,461; Tennessee, 1,382; tie game, 274.

So 2,765 were eliminated in the first round, being those who favored Auburn and those who picked tie.

The 1,382 who picked Tennessee to win will now carry over to the next contest game which will be on next Saturday. Their predictions are: Michigan State, 1,067; Michigan, 293; tie game, 22.

K Cavorts to Quiet Fears at Home

WASHINGTON—What is the real reason for Nikita Khrushchev's reckless tactics at the U.N.?

The conclusion is slowly crystallizing that the Soviet premier has his mind primarily on the revolt that he is anxious to keep from breaking out someday inside the Soviet Union.

His strategy is directed toward internal rather than external problems. Khrushchev doubts he can have to worry about LAWRENCE what the rest of the world says or thinks. Nothing is printed or broadcast anyhow in his own country without his permission.

The Soviet premier, therefore, needs crisis after crisis to keep the minds of his people from becoming too restive over the hardships suffered as the conditions of living inside the Soviet Union fail to rise to meet the standards of the rest of the world.

The stiff given to the Russian people is that more and more money is needed for armaments. An examination of recent history reveals that if there isn't a crisis going on to justify his policies, the Soviet premier has to create one.

What about OTHERS? First it was West Berlin and then, when the Allies stood firm, this war scare died down.

While the U.S. incident was made to order for Khrushchev's purposes, other U.S. flights in the previous four years could have readily been exploited, but the Soviet premier was too much absorbed in playing the role of "peace-maker for the world" at summit conferences.

Shooting down the U2 gave him a chance for a quick turnaround in tactics. Khrushchev could then pose as a defender of Soviet sovereignty.

He could rant and rave about the hostility of America and get more and more of the Soviet population, intellectuals particularly, to believe that he was engaged in a heroic battle to protect them against the "warmongering" West.

Like some of the intellectuals in this country, the Russians of the same species are naive. They get wrapped up in big words and "diatribes."

They worry about "revision" of ideology, while all the time Khrushchev is conducting a diversionary tactic to cover up his failure to get better housing, better wages and better living for the 200 million people he is supposed to rule.

RATHER PATRIOTIC PEOPLE Russians are a patriotic people. So it is important for Khrushchev to keep them so.

In view of the way the dentist scrapes and chips away at plaque, it is a good idea to have a "clean tooth never decays" and give elaborate instructions on tooth brushing and warned against the use of toothpicks, which they said might injure the enamel or something.

"Our different denominations don't seem to disagree about facts in the Bible... only about what we think they mean."

to keep Russian patriotism heated up to crisis temperatures all the time.

Just as the Berlin crisis and the U2 crisis seemed to be dissolving in recent months, the Soviet premier deliberately ordered the RB47 to be fired upon even though it was flying over the open seas.

But since the American aircraft was close to Soviet shores, this afforded an opportunity for Khrushchev to show his vigilance in defending the homeland against "surprise attack."

Just as much as the RB47 incident seemed to have yielded about as much mileage as possible for propaganda purposes, it was time to invent another crisis.

No first came a deliberate intervention in the Congo and then a decision to assault the United Nations itself.

Having been defeated 70-0 on the resolution that upheld the secretary general, the Soviet premier now sees an opportunity to start a whole new series of arguments about the secretary general's office.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER? "What can be done with such a man who knows neither manners nor ethics nor morality nor integrity and who nevertheless says he speaks for 200 million people inside the Soviet Union as well as many millions now dominated by communism?"

Soap, Water Clean Teeth Best, Next to Using Them

From Virginia, comes this note bearing a typed signature which may or may not be fictitious: something like A. N. OYUNOV: "I agree with you on most things, but when you say tooth brushing is the best way to achieve it, I must be natural use of the teeth, that is."

Your question implies, doesn't it, A. N., that I'm not one of your friends? Well, no matter, I'll tell you how a person knows when breath is foul when husband, wife, brother, sister, father, mother, son, daughter, uncle, aunt, cousin tells him it is bad.

Washington lady wants to know what is the substitute for tooth brushing. Even after a session of neta, she runs for her toothbrush. Should she just use a toothpick and not brush?

Use a toothpick, period.

For mouth wash and tooth cleaner, plain soap and water does everything any mouth wash or tooth cleaner can do. In real life I mean, Fifty million Americans and twenty million Englishmen with rotten teeth know better—they have learned from fairy tales in technicolor.

Voice of the People:

Writers Voice 'Pros'-'Cons' on Current Religious Issue

I think that people who write to The Press and run down Kennedy's religion ought to move to Russia. The story in your paper from Raymond Konkle isn't the belief of many Americans and I'm very happy about that.

Ken. Kennedy wants only to help this country get back on its feet after the Republicans ran it down. I think the majority of people here think the same. If Ken. Kennedy gets in office the Pope will run this nation.

Let's all get behind this man and help get the United States back where she belongs. Let man worship as he believes.

Roger E. Owen

No one is more worried about the danger of loss of freedom than the Catholics, but the National Conference of Citizens for Religious Freedom is looking in the wrong direction for the enemy of freedom. It is organized against which threatens all religions and it is atheists.

Even if Jack Kennedy won the presidency he would not have the power to favor the Church, since Congress still makes the laws and they are mostly non-Catholic. Our danger is not union of church and state, but union of atheism and state. All religions should stand together against the forces which are trying to build a godless society by dehumanizing Christ in the world. They are working not only to keep all religion out of our public schools, but are trying to make it more difficult for Catholics and others to maintain their system of religious education. These ministers profess to fear the Church, but never seem to be worried about the advance of the godless.

A resolution was adopted recently by the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches in London, England, to urge all Christians to help create a climate that would permit Red China to be admitted to the N. Y. Conference, particularly the papers of the Communist dominated countries, gave wide coverage to this misstatement in an effort to prove that their system of slavery was not so repugnant to the Christian world Protestantism. They urged that this system of slavery be formally recognized and labeled with the gathered peace loving nations to dishearten the enslaved people living under Communist tyranny who may have hoped that the leaders of world Protestantism would also stand with them and with the Catholic Church in their dream of ultimate liberation and freedom.

Other ministers protested vehemently against this, that such a policy would make the Protestant Church an ally of the most diabolical forces in the world. A nationwide study of Protestants in 1957 showed 87 per cent opposed admission of Red China to the U.N. after an affiliate of National Catholic Churches broke up and adopted a similar resolution to that of the Central Committee. This showed that the pro-Communist delegates to the meeting of National Council of Churches are not speaking for American Protestants or the American people.

Raymond Konkle is wrong when he claims that religion should be an issue in this presidential campaign.

In his letter, Mr. Konkle mentioned a link between the Spanish government and the Vatican. Over 95 per cent of the people of Spain are Catholic. It is natural that Spain should have close links with Rome. In Spain the official state religion is Catholicism. In Sweden the official state religion is the Lutheran faith. In England the Queen is head of the Anglican church.

Why should people object so much to Catholic school children using books and free textbooks. There are other denominations which have religious schools. People who send their children to religious schools pay taxes just as everyone else. Why shouldn't they receive some benefits from the tax dollars? Nineteen states permit Catholic children to ride school buses and use free textbooks. I haven't heard of these states being taken over by Catholic school children.

People like Dr. Poling are the ones who are mixing church and state. When a clergyman urges his congregation to vote against a man just because of his religion he is being a hypocrite by his actions. He is not separating church and state, but is integrating church and state.

Part of Dr. Poling's dislike for Ken. Kennedy is the fact that Dr. Poling is a Conservative Republican. Mr. Kennedy is a Liberal Democrat. Mr. Kennedy was invited to the dedication of the four chaplains' memorial as "representative of the Catholic faith." (Time magazine) If Ken. Kennedy had been invited as a member of Congress or as a dignitary, he would have stood.

John Kennedy has already stated more than once that if a decision came before him which would be detrimental to the interest of the American people and Rome brought pressure on him, he would resign. His answer should be clear enough. DeGaulle is President of France, a largely Catholic nation, and Rome has not taken it over. I find it hard to believe that 3 priests and 40 laymen of the Catholic Church broke up and adopted a similar resolution to that of the Central Committee. This showed that the pro-Communist delegates to the meeting of National Council of Churches are not speaking for American Protestants or the American people.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. I read your column on distemper shots. Our young dog died of distemper after being vaccinated. I think they're better off without distemper injections.

A. In this field of medicine, distemper vaccination probably evokes more controversy than any other subject. As with humans, no vaccines are infallible, but we have found that about 90 per cent of all dogs vaccinated against distemper are immune.

This figure more than warrants the necessity for distemper injections. Over the years, we have used killed vaccine, live vaccine, and modified live vaccine.

There is now a new live tissue vaccine available that is claimed by its makers to have even greater protective powers. Until recently, research was hampered by lack of funds, but now substantial grants have been made to Cornell University and other centers where research is now in progress.

In some areas, there is now a test available that determines the immunity of the dog vaccinated against distemper. I'm sorry your pet was one of the unfortunate few, but if you come to me with a new puppy, I'd still strongly advise distemper injections.

HOW WE STACK UP — Although America's population increased by some 28 million between 1950 and 1960, the density decreased by some 28 million between 1950 and 1960, the density decreased slightly. The average is now 50.4 persons per square mile, down from 52.7. Cause was the admission of Alaska with its great expanse of empty land. Figures for the states shown in Newsmag are found by dividing a state's population by its square miles of area. New Jersey is at the top with 800.2 and Alaska at the bottom with one person for each 2 1/2 square miles. Alaska's population is only 224,386. The newest state, Hawaii, with a population of 520,385, has a density of 96.8, almost double the national average. New York continues to lead in total population (16,598,507).

Cars Pull In Their Tummies, to Abide by 'Outmoded' Laws

By JACK VANDENBERG

UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT—Most American-made cars have pulled in their bulging waistlines for 1961 to avoid "outmoded" laws in several states.

Several states still have laws which require all vehicles over 80 inches wide to be 79 inches wide. A few of the states threatened to enforce the antiquated laws last year when many cars exceeded the 80-inch limit. If the law had been enforced, it would have required passenger cars exceeding the maximum width to carry amber clearance lights and red rear reflectors.

Actually, the Louisiana law set the maximum at 76 inches which would still require all cars to carry the special lighting in 1961 if the law were enforced.

But most of the laws, like one in Wisconsin, set the limit at 80 inches and all but three of the 1961 models have reduced under that limit—just in case someone decides to enforce the laws before they can be amended.

And amendment of these laws is the real objective of the auto industry.

"There is no limit aimed at the size of a passenger car," an auto industry spokesman said. "These laws are outmoded statutes which were aimed at requiring commercial vehicles, like trucks and buses to display clearance lights so the approach of an unusually wide vehicle at night."

The spokesman cited recent experiences with headlights on cars as an example of how states get into trouble whenever they put specifics into laws governing cars.

"In 1964 when the auto industry brought out improved sealed beam headlights, 39 states had to change legislation to make the new headlights legal," he said. "Then a few years later, when dual headlights came out, another 23 states had to change laws to make this improvement legal."

There have been cars of more than 80 inches in width since 1948 and most high-priced cars have been at least that wide since 1950. And it's the luxury cars of 1961 that are the major violators of the 80-inch maximum.

One model of Cadillac is exactly 80 inches in width and the 1961 Plymouth also matches the maximum. The 1961 Imperial has actually reversed the normal industry attempt to get under the maximum and has increased its width from 80.5 to 81.7 inches from its 1960 to 1961 models.

All Ford Motor Co.'s 1960 models, except the Falcon and Comet, exceeded the 80-inch limit but all of them have been reduced between one and two inches to get under the limit in 1961.

The same is true of all General Motors Corp. models except the Cadillac, which in most models was already under the limit, and the Corvette and Corvair, which were under the limit in all models in 1960.

The Imperial was the only Chrysler Corp. car over 80 inches in width in 1960 and it holds that distinction in 1961.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas—For years, "they said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If your symptoms indicate that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. This is all the more remarkable in light of the fact that the great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped. But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Actually, there are 18 scalp disorders that can cause hair loss.

No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. If you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to act.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the hair you lose in one morning's combing, together with information to help them analyze your problem. This information should include how long your hair has been thinning, do you have dandruff? Is it dry or oily? whether your scalp erupts in pimples or other irritations, does your forehead become oily or greasy? does your scalp itch and how often? and any other information you feel might be helpful. All letters will be answered promptly. Send the hair sample, the above information, and your name and address to Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Box 6001, Houston 6, Texas.

Congolese Mob Civil Servants

Police Quickly Scatter
200 Demonstrators in
Leopoldville Frazes

BRUSSELS (AP) — A group of 200 demonstrators this morning tried to prevent Congolese civil servants taking up their posts at various offices in Leopoldville but were quickly dispersed, the Belgian radio announced.

The report said that the Congolese army and police restored order, and that U.N. soldiers also intervened.

The demonstrators shouted slogans in support of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba. There were a few clashes with anti-Lumumba demonstrators. The radio report said the demonstration did not succeed in interrupting the work of the Congolese civil servants.

LUMUMBA EMERGES

Lumumba emerged from his residence Sunday for the first time in a week and drove through the nearly deserted streets of Leopoldville with an escort of police and U.N. soldiers. Occasionally persons on the street recognized him but there was no disturbance.

Ghana's charge d'affaires, N.A. Wellbeck, whose government is strongly backing Lumumba's bid to return to power, conferred with Lumumba and told newsmen he was trying to reconcile the ex-premier and President Joseph Kasavubu, who ousted him. He said the reconciliation may come within 48 hours.

Wellbeck also said that Col. Joseph Mobutu, who staged a bloodless coup d'état Sept. 14, "has said that he was misguided and will now follow the right path." But he subsequently admitted this was third-hand information.

Finishes Training Just in Time

A Waterford Township policeman who had just finished a first aid course on emergency first aid delivery got his first actual lesson late Saturday night.

Richard (Moore) Beckman and his partner, Merile Flade, were called to the Paul Hemming home at 1701 Irwin Dr. at 6 p.m. Saturday night.

When they arrived they found Mrs. Hemming in labor with an infant to spare.

The two patrolmen made Mrs. Hemming comfortable and proceeded to assist in the delivery.

Hemming had already called an ambulance, but by the time it arrived he had a seven-pound baby boy.

Ambulance drivers found 35-pound Moore Beckman sitting in the middle of the floor, cradling the infant in a soft warm towel.

Resting comfortably today in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, Mrs. Hemming said she had not yet decided on a name.

Beckman had completed the standard Red Cross training course for policemen last week.

Speedy Man Fails Teen-Agers in Robbery Effort

A 30-year-old Pontiac man told city police a gang of eight teen-agers attempted to rob him Saturday.

Frank E. Burrow, 206 S. Park St., said he was stopped 1:15 a.m. on Howard McNeill Street by two youths who demanded he turn over his money to them.

They whistled, Burrow said, and six other teen-agers emerged from behind nearby shrubbery and surrounded him.

He told police he broke free and fled. Burrow said the gang members threw rocks at him but he outraced them.

Invite Hopefuls of Both Parties

League of Women
Voters Rally Slated
Wednesday at PCH

Candidates of both major political parties have been invited to speak at a bipartisan rally at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday at Pontiac Central High School auditorium.

Cosponsored by the League of Women Voters in Pontiac, Birmingham, Rochester and West Bloomfield Township, this will be the first and only league sponsored rally this fall in North Oakland County, said Laura Beitz, president of the Pontiac group.

Candidates on congressional, state and county levels have been invited, but nominees for governor won't be there, she said.

Both Paul D. Bagwell, Republican nominee, and Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, Democratic standard-bearer, have indicated they have prior commitments, she explained.

Invitations have also gone to candidates for the short term in Probate Court and from the county's first three legislative districts including Pontiac.

She said the public is invited to question individual candidates after each has been allowed to speak.

Furniture Store Safe Cracked by Burglars

Burglars broke into the Metro Furniture Co., 88 S. Saginaw St., Pontiac, police who investigated the break-in Saturday said.

The burglars climbed up a fire escape to the third floor of the building and entered through an unlocked window.

The burglars pried open a small safe and took an undetermined amount of cash.

Officers said the burglars also ransacked the main office of the firm.

Castro Trying Patience of Negroes in Harlem

NEW YORK (UPI) — Harlem's Negroes interviewed said they thought it was fine that he had come.

But Saturday night the tide started to turn. Negroes watched while the Lettice demonstrated and shook their heads.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months.

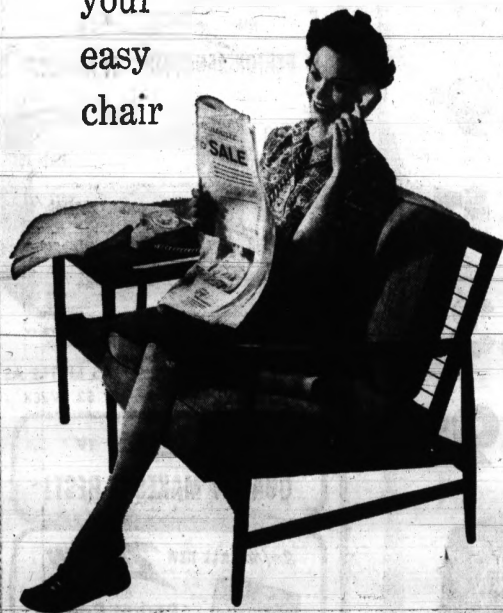

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne), the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Graham Sets Up in W. Berlin

Calls Visit to Divided City Provisionally Ready Attack Evangelist

BERLIN (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham, under attack by the Communists, today called his visit to divided Berlin "provisional."

A huge tent holding 20,000 persons has been set up for him within 100 yards of the "Little Iron Curtain" that separates the two parts of the city. The first of a series of meetings was to be held tonight.

"We planned this trip more than 18 months ago," he told a news conference, "and we did not know that we would be here at this difficult time. It is providential that we should be here just now, where the two worlds meet."

"Berlin is the most prayed-for spot in the world just now—unless it is New York," he said. "The Communists have attacked him as a representative of 'Wall Street' and 'American imperialism.' Communist police have questioned choir-singers and other helpers recruited in East Berlin for the meetings. There were unconfirmed reports that East Berliners had been forbidden to attend. There is normally no interference with Berliners moving between the two parts of the city. Since early this month, the Communists have required West Germans on visits here to get a special pass to go into East Berlin.

Listening Parties Urged During Tonight's Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Adult Education Association urged persons throughout the country to hold parties tonight — listening parties.

The association said it hoped that friends would gather in every community to watch and listen to the television debate between the two presidential candidates — Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

This should be followed, the association said, with individual discussions of the issues, facts, arguments and proposals presented by the candidates.

Nixon for Broad Education Aid

Supports Only Indirect Help in Teacher Pay; Against Rigid Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — A broad program of federal aid to education, including college scholarships and money for building both public school and college classrooms, is advocated by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

But he supported only indirect aid for teachers' salaries saying, "We must avoid the danger of rigid federal control over who teaches and what is taught in our public schools."

He said federal funds should be used to help build new public schools and to help local districts pay off bonded debt on new schools already built. He said the local money thus freed could be used to raise teachers' salaries.

Nixon's views were set forth Sunday night in the third of a series of "position papers" he is issuing during the election campaign.

length on various national issues. Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming told newsmen Nixon's program "is the most practical you can get in terms of what you can get through Congress." He said many Congress members would support such a program, which would oppose any direct federal aid to increase teachers' salaries.

But Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said in a statement that such a program lacking salary aid "continues to miss the most essential issue." He contended also that matching construction grants would attract state money away from teachers' salaries, rather than adding to the total available for that purpose.

He said that Nixon, in advocating aid for college classroom construction, is now supporting a Democratic program which President Eisenhower vetoed twice when it was included in general housing bills.

Ship-Idling Strike Stays

LONDON (AP) — Dock tally clerks decided at a mass meeting today to continue a wildcat strike holding 141 cargo ships idle in the port of London. A total of 1,529 clerks are involved in the stoppage, now in its seventh day.

More New Students Register at Hillsdale

HILLSDALE (UPI) — Hillsdale College registrar Florence Kretzer said Saturday that 280 new and transfer students have registered at the school this fall.

Miss Kretzer said Hillsdale had 130 new and transfer students a year ago. Enrollment of the college will be slightly more than 900. Persons 65 or more have the highest traffic death rate of any age group.

Denim Sets Theme for Out-Patient Benefit Dance

The Henry Johnsons (at right) join the Edward E. Rothmans on the stairs at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club at Saturday evening's Denim Dance. Both couples were among the patrons of the affair.

which benefited the out-patients clinic of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Refreshment time found Dr. and Mrs. J. Donald Green (at right) and the Emmet Tracys enjoying the salad selection at the informal buffet.

Sitting out a square dance at the gingham-flavored biennial dance were the E. E. Fishers and the P. J. Monaghans. A western theme found round and square dancing as popular for the party-goers as the more conventional ballroom steps.

Tell Her You Need the Lines

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: When my next door neighbors moved into their house last winter, they did not have a clothes line. At the time I suggested to the wife that she use ours until they could put one in the ground. As a result she has been sitting it ever since. I work and can wash only on my days off, which vary.

Many times I have had to put off my own washing because my line was filled with her clothes. It is becoming quite an annoying situation. We are quite good friends and I don't want to cause strained feelings. Will you please tell me how I can tactfully handle this situation?

Answer: There should certainly be no strained feelings if you tell your neighbor that while you are delighted to have her use your clothes line, you have to have it for yourself on your days off, because those are the only days on which you can do your washing.

Dear Mrs. Post: When a waiter brings a dish to the table for the host's inspection and approval before serving it to the guests, what is the appropriate remark to make to the waiter?

Answer: The host may simply nod that it is all right to serve, perhaps adding, "It looks very good," or if the dish is not what was ordered or unsatisfactory, he tells the waiter what is wrong in a low voice, so as not to attract any unnecessary attention.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is proper for a woman in her forties, who has never been married before, to dress as a bride, complete with veil? I think not, but have been told that a woman who is marrying for the first time, no matter what her age, may wear bridal clothes if she wishes to do so. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: She may properly wear a bridal dress and veil if she wishes to. It would be wise, however, to choose a becoming off-white rather than unrelieved white for both her dress and veil.

Life Long—or Short

Suit Fabric to Use

EAST LANSING — As soon as you buy a new dress or a curtain, it begins its journey to the rag-bag.

The journey may be long or short, depending on the fabric and the use it gets.

Barbara Spiller Stowe, textile researcher at Michigan State University, says you may wear the dress a great deal and give it much mechanical stress as you sit, twist and bend your elbows.

Yarns and fibers are repeatedly bent and stretched, and their ability to take this treatment directly affects the life of the garment.

The dress or curtain also is subject to deterioration from chemical substances. It may be perspiration or fruit juice or some other liquid accidentally spilled.

COULD BE IN AIR — In industrial areas, air-borne oxides may work on the fabric. These particles may be in minute amounts, but the effect builds up over a period of time.

The chemicals can attack the fiber or dye or the finish.

Weathering, too, takes its toll as sunlight and wind and soil micro-organisms go to work on the fibers.

If you never wear a dress and it hangs in the closet, it may work its way to the rag-bag right on the hanger.

There are possibilities of moth or carpet beetles finding it. And certain types of dyes will react to atmospheric fumes and begin to change color.

Fabrics are designed with built-in strengths to withstand certain deteriorating influences. Fibers with elastic properties are best able to take repeated stress of bending and stretching.

GLASS FIBER POOR — In this area, nylon and polyester fibers are superior, while glass fiber is poor.

Initial strength of the fiber may not be so important as its elastic properties. Wool, for instance, is a relatively weak fiber, but it is so elastic it can absorb strain.

Glass is high in strength, but it is not elastic.

Glass fiber on the other hand, is resistant to chemical substances, as are several synthetics. This is due in part to the low moisture absorbency of the fibers.

This same water-resistant property, while making fabrics resistant to water-laine stains, may make you feel uncomfortable in a hot, humid day.

Some resin finishes help make fabrics more resistant to soil, but in turn may weaken them so that the fabrics cannot take repeated stress.

Mrs. Stowe notes that seldom does any fabric have all the advantages. The consumer must decide which properties are most important, then choose the fabric to match the service she desires.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Lyon Jr. found the dancing at the third benefit dance was smooth and easy. They were among the large group supporting the hospital clinic at Saturday's affair.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, own my own home and live in a friendly neighborhood. At present a neighbor is alone, as his wife is out of town. He invited me to his house for morning coffee.

I refused, as he was alone and I felt it wouldn't look right. Then he asked if he could come to my place. I said no. Was I wrong in acting like this, knowing he was lonesome?

LONESOME? BUT CAREFUL. DEAR LONESOME: Since you had doubts about "how it would look," you used good judgment. His loneliness is acute — yours is chronic. The combination could be unhealthy.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SUSPICIOUS HUSBAND: Your wife could certainly be telling you the truth. Some women DO set their hair with BEER!

Dear Abby Says: Start Dating

Frank Talk Overdue, Boy

By ANNA VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The girl I go with has been putting the pressure on me to marry her. I can't even think of marriage until I finish college and get a job, but she keeps talking about "our home" and "our children."

I like her more than any other girl I've ever gone with, but I haven't gone with many. When she tells me how much she loves me, I feel like a heel.

Her home life isn't very happy and she can't wait to get away from her parents. She loves my parents and they like her, but they don't want to see me married yet. How can I chill her without throwing her into a tulip?

DEAR PRESSURED: A frank talk is long overdue. Tell her you think it is unfair to ask her to wait indefinitely for you, so you think you should both start dating others.

Then prove you aren't bluffing by doing so immediately. She'll follow suit.

When a young man dates one girl exclusively, he usually gives her so much rope he soon finds himself roped in.

DEAR ABBY: Isn't there a law against bigamy? There is a man in our neighborhood who makes no secret of the fact that he has a wife on each end of his run. We are respectable people and want to know if we can do something about it.

RESPECTABLE NEIGHBORS: There is indeed a law against bigamy, and since this man makes no secret of it, surely both "wives" should have heard about it by now. If he has two "wives," it's up to them to bring him to justice.

If you want to "do something about it"—see your district attorney or lawyer about the proper legal procedure.

Virginia Sheehan Weds Jerome T. Aftowski

The nuptials of Virginia Lee Sheehan and Jerome T. Aftowski of Battle Creek were solemnized by the Rev. Thompson L. Marcero Saturday morning in St. Vincent de Paul Church. Altar flowers were white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Daughter of Mrs. John L. Sheehan of Williams Street, and the late Mr. Sheehan, the bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law Robert E. Guinn. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs.

MRS. J. T. AFTOWSKI

Frank Aftowski of South Bend, Ind., and the late Mr. Aftowski. Medallions of Alconon lace accented the wrap-neck beauteous bride and bouquet skirt of white tulle. Hand-rolled fingertip veiling of silk tulle was attached to a crown of simulated orange blossoms of seed pearls.

A spray of miniature white roses, stephanotis and lilies of the valley rested on the bride's white prayer book.

Mrs. Thomas E. Guinn, her sister's honor matron and Mrs. James Souden, bridesmaid, wore princess-line mint green taffeta, with veiled green velvet headpieces. They held crescent-shaped bouquets of miniature yellow roses and ivy.

Edward Parson of Battle Creek attended the bridegroom at best man and Frank Aftowski Jr. of Watervliet, Ind., ushered for his brother, assisted by Ronald Janowczyk and Thomas Cool of South Bend, and Robert Urschall of Grand Rapids.

Before leaving for the Upper Peninsula, the new Mrs. Aftowski donned a beige Italian wool knit dress, with accessories of black and rose. She is a graduate of the school of medical technology, Kalamazoo College, where her husband received his business administration degree. They will live in Battle Creek.

For the reception in Bethany Baptist Church parlors, Mrs. Sheehan chose toast-silk organza over taffeta with French side pout. She wore miniature pink roses at her shoulder. The mother of the bridegroom, in a two-piece dress of bone brocade, wore green cymbidium orchids.

Good Make-Up Important

Emphasize Best Features

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Today let me give you a few makeup hints. In the first place the mission of makeup is to bring out your best features and to play down or compensate for any defects. Here are a few facts to remember.

The "hairline" brow is not attractive and is old-fashioned looking. Therefore, be careful about too much plucking. First remove the stray hairs, or those which grow outside of the natural line of the brow.

There are also usually a few hairs which grow in the wrong direction at the inner ends of the brows. Remove those.

CAN TRAIN THEM
If you have hairs growing in the wrong direction in the brow itself, you can train these by using a little soap or cream or petroleum jelly. If your brows are thin, fill in with very fine strokes, using a sharply pointed eyebrow pencil.

The sharpness of the point is most essential if you wish to achieve a natural appearance. Use the pencil with a light touch.

The arch of the brow is important. It should be slightly darker than the rest of the brow, so that it is emphasized. This should not be extreme, but subtle.

If you wish to make the arch of your brows higher than they naturally are, remove a very few hairs from underneath the brows and add a very few lines with your pencil at the top of the brows at the arch.

After plucking and shaping with the pencil, use a very light application of powder. Then brush the powder of the hairs carefully with a little brush. The powder banishes the way look which the pencil may cause.

STARTLING

Good grooming and flattering makeup of the brows and lashes can make a tremendous difference in the way a woman looks. The improvement can be truly startling.

I think the main mistake women make in the application of mascara is getting too much on the brush and using too much water.

Do not get your brush too wet and use less mascara even if you must apply it twice. This will look more natural.

If you would like to have makeup called "What's Going On?" send stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 30 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Good grooming and flattering make-up of the brows and lashes can make a tremendous difference in the way a woman looks. But be careful about too much plucking.

She Sticks to Hairdo 'Cause Jack Likes It

By RUTH MILLETT

A lot of people have wondered (some in print, including me) why Mrs. John F. Kennedy doesn't get a hairdo that looks more First Ladyish than her present casual, windblown effect.

Well, she has answered that question in a way that any devoted wife can understand. Her reason for keeping her hair "as is" is simply that her husband likes it that way.

That's a good enough reason for most of us. After all, we try to please our own husbands. If they're pleased, we don't care too much what anybody else thinks. I know a wife who spends hours in a beauty shop every week because her husband prefers her to be a blonde — even though her hair is naturally brown and she would just as soon have it brown.

I also know a wife who is a marvelous cook and loves to eat, but she has been starving herself for years because her husband wants her to stay slim.

I know a wife who has worn blue until she is sick of it because her husband likes her in blue that matches her eyes.

And I know more than one wife who uncomplainingly takes back any hat or dress her husband vetoes, no matter how much she may want to add it to her wardrobe.

"My husband didn't like it," she tells the saleswoman when she returns the vetoed article — and the saleswoman knows better than to try and outtalk the husband.

So Mrs. Kennedy has explained her hairdo in the one way that women can understand. Her husband likes it.

That's good enough for Mrs. Kennedy — and it's good enough for the rest of us. That purely feminine reason has our wholehearted respect and support.

For practical pointers on getting along with that man in your life, order your copy of Ruth Millett's new booklet, "How to Have a Happy Husband." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, care of The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

NEW DODGE COMPACT—Chrysler Corporation's Dodge Division will introduce its latest addition to the compact fleet—the Lancer—in showrooms Thursday. It is five inches longer than Chrysler's other compact, the Valiant, but about two feet shorter than the Dodge Dart. The 106.5 inch wheelbase is the same as the Valiant.

and the engine will be the same 101-horsepower, six cylinder model, with a 140-horsepower six cylinder optional. The Lancer will be available in two series, in eight basic colors. It will be on display at John J. Smith, Inc. 211 S. Saginaw St., and Rammer-Dallas, Inc., 1001 N. Main St., Rochester.

Dodge Lancer Debut Thursday — Car Will Battle Compacts

Dodge's new entry in the compact car field — the 1961 Lancer — will go on display in Dodge dealers' showrooms Thursday.

Dodge General Manager M. C. Patterson said the new Lancer competes in size and economy with the compacts.

The new compact is nearly two feet shorter and 700 to 800 pounds lighter than conventional cars in the low-price field.

The Lancer is the second new car to be introduced by Dodge within a year. Last fall the company invaded the standard low-price field with its popular 118-inch-wheelbase Dodge Dart. The Lancer has a wheelbase of 106.5 inches. Before introduction of the 1961 models, Dodge marketed only medium-price automobiles.

The Lancer features wide use of aluminum to reduce weight. It also offers two highly economical, six-cylinder, front-mounted engines and under-the-hood mechanical refinements. Favorable weight distribution and a low center of gravity, combined with famed Torsion-Air suspension, is designed to give the new small car its big-car ride.

The new compact is offered in seven models in two series: taxi model, 2-door sedan, 4-door sedan and 4-door station wagon in the lowest-price "170" series; and 2-door hardtop, 4-door sedan and 4-door station wagon in the deluxe "170" series.

Eight basic colors are offered — medium blue, green and gray in metallic enamel, and red, light blue, light green and black and white in non metallic enamel.

Patterson said the Lancer achieves economy by creative engineering throughout the car — not simply through a reduction in size and weight. He claimed the following money-saving economies for the new compact:

Both of Lancer's 6-cylinder engines deliver top performance on regular grades of gasoline. One has 101-horsepower and a displacement of 170 cubic inches; the other has 145 horsepower and a displacement of 225 cubic inches. Both are inclined engines with a compression ratio of 8.2 to 1. A special four-barrel-carburetor power package for the 170-cubic-inch engine is a dealer-installed option.

Gardner said after he fills two more speaking engagements he will retire from the lecture circuit but will continue writing.

County's Senior Citizens Romp at Fun Fest

ALREADY A WINNER — Mrs. Anna Lindvall of 238 Marlborough St. was a winner before she started this bingo game.

At 81, she won an award for being the oldest member to attend a recent Oakland County Senior Citizens Council outing. Mrs. Lindvall also holds the distinction of being one of the oldest active members in the county-wide organization (where anyone under 60 is just a young whipper-snapper). She's a real "bingo shark" and rarely misses an outing. A member of the Pontiac YWCA Golden Age Club, she agrees all of the several hundred members of Oakland's senior citizens club are winners — of friends and fun.

LONG N' SHORT OF IT—

Typical of the spirited and fun-loving senior citizens in Oakland County are (photo below) Gerri Van Zaan, 67, and Mrs. Frances Blair, 72, both of Oak Park. They were award winners at the outing sponsored by the Senior Citizens Council. Van Zaan, president of the Oak Park "Going Like 60 Club," was tallest at the event. Mrs. Blair, of the same club, was on the short end.

BOYS IN THE BACKROOM—When the Oakland County Senior Citizens Council throws a party for its members, there's always a few of the "boys" who want to get away from a few of the "girls." Put this together with a backroom, and out come the cards for a hand of euchre. At this council outing the "boys" in the backroom" are (from left) Noel Martin, 75, of 101 W. Rutgers St.; William Martyn, 86, of 29 Waldo St.; Henry Jones, 78, of 264 E. Rundell St.; and the youngest of the group, Charles Crossman, 73, of 85 W. Colgate St. Together they represent 312 years of card playing experience. Try and trump that!

SWINGIN' SENIORS—Whether it's a waltz or fox trot, these senior citizens know how to cut a rug on any dance floor. Here, they're enjoying themselves at the outing. The dancers are (from left) Cecil E. Weber, 63, and his wife, 61, of 1382 Hiller Road, Waterford Township; Pauline Abrams, 62, and Cornelius Barnds, 66, both of Oak Park; and Joseph Gardner, 68, and his wife, 63, of 350 E. Gunn Road, Rochester. Gardner is treasurer of the council.

Urges Stand-Ins on Vote Issue

Martin Luther King Wants Demonstrations of Registration Places

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King advocates peaceful stand-ins to dramatize the continued injustices the Negroes face in the area of voter registration.

The Negro leader of the Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott said Sunday that "stand-ins" at registration places must follow all-in at lunch counters, wash-ins at benches and pools, and kneel-ins in churches. The Atlanta minister, at a meeting sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, also said, "Even in counties of the Deep South where resistance is great, Negroes must organize themselves by the hundreds of thousands to stand nonviolently and peacefully for hours in the corridors and on the sidewalks of places of registration."

Monetary Fund Sees Rosy World Finances

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The International Monetary Fund reports that inflation has been curbed, world trade is expanding and nations are dropping restrictions on currency exchange.

"In many countries there has been a waning of inflationary psychology," the 68-nation fund said in its annual report Sunday night. It said strong anti-inflation measures taken by many governments and the high degree of stability of the cost of living have made a marked impression on the general public all over the world. The report was issued on the 14th anniversary of the fund's government. The meeting will be held here this week along with the annual meetings of the World Bank and International Finance Corp.

The 14 republics, each granted independence this year, are Cameroun, the Central African Republic, Chad, Congo, the Congo Republic, Cyprus, Dahomey, Gabon, the Ivory Coast, the Malagasy Republic, Niger, the Somali Republic, Senegal, Sierra Leone, and Togo, and Upper Volta.

Morocco Gains Anyway

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—Morocco's population increased about 22 percent in 10 years despite the departure of nearly half a million foreign residents and troops since independence four years ago. Official census figures show the total was 11,300,000.

NEW ART CENTER — A young man with a purpose is Ivan Rouse, who has just opened his conservatory of music on Main Street in Clarkston to further the cultural arts. Although primarily a school of music, the center is open to all individuals and groups interested in promoting any phase of artistic expression.

Clarkston's Cultural Center Is More Than Music School

By REBA HENTZELMAN
CLARKSTON — This town's new conservatory of music is more than just a place to learn how to play music, to receive voice instruction or to study harmony in theory.

It is a cultural center for those interested in promoting individual expression.

Although there are four instructors under the direction of Ivan Rouse, owner and originator of the conservatory, teaching ballet, violin, piano and music theory, the initial intent was to encourage projection of all of the arts, Rouse explained.

On the walls of the charming century-old house on Main Street are colorful paintings produced by residents living in and around Clarkston.

Vivid fall landscapes, fighting bulls and abstracts, along with the softer pastels of people and animals, are tastefully placed throughout the building, which has been converted into an art center.

There are exquisite hand-made pieces of silver jewelry, modern sculptured works of art and shelves of fine books intermingled with artistic ceramics and intricate enameling, all done by local artists.

IT'S A COMBINATION

For several years Rouse had been toying with the idea of opening his own studio, but since Clarkston had no real art center — and there seemed to be such a demand — the young bachelor decided to combine the two projects.

His background as present organizer for St. Andrews Church in Waterford Township and membership on the faculty of the Birmingham Conservatory of Music has provided him with invaluable experience as a classical piano teacher.

Rouse was born and raised in Clarkston. He attended the Detroit Art Center music school, has a bachelor of music degree from the American Conservatory of Chicago and studied at the University of Chicago. He also studied music in Japan while stationed with the U.S. Army there.

Delorus Ruhl, a graduate of the American Ballet Theater in New York and Carnegie Hall School of Ballet is teaching dancing at the new conservatory. She is recognized for her direction of the Birmingham Concert Dancers.

Rouse teaches piano, organ and music appreciation and history and Arthur Burn, who has a master's degree from the University of Michigan, is the violin instructor.

An instructor at the Detroit Institute of Musical Art school, Adele Thomas, is teaching theory and harmony. She is the organist at the Clarkston Methodist Church.

The newly formed Village Friends of Art have made the conservatory their headquarters for meetings, training and art discussions, and the membership has grown to more than 40 enthusiastic participants.

Rouse emphasizes the fact that the conservatory is not operating for profit, but more for enrichment of cultural interests. The code the center has adopted summarizes its purpose.

"The richness of a community is not to be measured by its material possessions, but by the material deposits of gold or jewels. It is to be found in the values proclaimed through those endearing arts born of mind that see beyond the realm of temporal goals and vestiges of little else but richness. It's a lasting heritage for our children and our children's children."

Oxford Music Club Passes Out Pins

OXFORD — State past-president pins were presented to eight members of the Oxford Music Club at the first meeting of the season. It was held at the home of Mrs. Mark Van Wagener, 102 Denison St.

Making the official presentation was Mrs. L. W. Robertson, state chairman of the Past-Presidents Assembly of the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs.

Mrs. Curtis, state president of the federation, presented the president's pin to the hostess.

Fulkerson and Daly to Talk in White Lake

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Two candidates in the Nov. 8 election will speak to the public at an 8 p.m. meeting sponsored by the White Lake Township Democratic Association here tomorrow.

Guest speakers are Democrats George Fulkerson, running for Oakland County prosecutor, and Pat Daly, seeking the state representative post in District 1.

The meeting will be in the White Lake Township Hall.

Hawaiian Call Locates Lost Son

Commerce Twp. Woman Joins 'Dead' Blind Man

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Thanks to a lucky phone call made in Honolulu, Hawaii, a local woman has been reunited with her son who she formerly believed had died in World War II.

Mrs. Bertha Lawrence, 56, of 6441 Willow St., recently visited her missing son, John Jackson, 44, who now lives in Honolulu with his pretty Japanese wife Susy.

Mrs. Lawrence hadn't heard from John since 1945 when she said he wrote her a "mimicry" letter while he was stationed in the Pacific area with the U.S. Army.

After several months without hearing from him, she said she was unable to find a record of his discharge or death when she checked with the Army and the Red Cross.

"I felt he was dead," Mrs. Lawrence said.

The apparent loss of her son was another to a succession of personal tragedies for Mrs. Lawrence, whose first husband died in World War I.

After her husband's death, she contracted tuberculosis and was hospitalized five years. Her son lived with different relatives while they were growing up, and they assumed the names of the families with whom they were staying.

She later married Patrick Lawrence and she was able to take her children back with her again. Last year their youngest son, Edwin P. Lawrence, 30, was killed in a race car accident at Sebring, Fla.

But last month happiness came into Mrs. Lawrence's life when another son, Martin Corp. Sgt. Wallace Gibson, 44, called from Hawaii to tell her that he had found his missing brother.

Wallace, who was stationed in Hawaii, looked through the phone book and discovered a listing for John Jackson. He called the number and found it belonged to his brother.

Despite a chronic heart condition, Mrs. Lawrence flew to Honolulu to visit John. She discovered that he was blind.

"He had just had surgery on his right eye and was disappointed that he could see only shadows when the bandages came off," she said.

John told his mother he was still writing because he did not want her to know he was blind.

She said he is going to have another operation on his left eye but that doctors say it would take a miracle to give him sight.

Mrs. Lawrence professes to be a devotee in miracles, having found her missing son alive.

Start Rink Drive in Orion Twp.

Door-to-door Bid Set for Tonight, Basement to Be Ready Thursday

ORION TOWNSHIP — With one step of this building program completed, recreational leaders here will start a drive tonight to raise funds for a new hockey rink.

The rink is to be built on a 2½-acre site near the partially completed Orion Community Center at Kern and Orion roads.

The 4½ by 80-foot basement section of the center will be completed in time for its board of directors to hold the first annual meeting there at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Other parts of the structure will be added later, but the basement will be ready when wiring is completed this week, says Chamber of Commerce members are doing the electrical work on a voluntary basis.

Funds for building materials were donated by local residents and organizations.

Members of the Lake Orion Hockey Association will conduct a door-to-door campaign tonight to raise money for construction of the hockey rink.

The association now has two pee-wee hockey teams for youngsters and two senior teams for those 17 years of age and older, according to Paul Bryant, president of the LOHA.

Bryant said a film of the 1958 Lake Orion Centennial will be shown for the first time at the Thursday meeting at the community center.

Five directors also will be elected. The OCH membership fee of one dollar per year is required to vote in the election.

Stiles Branch to Sponsor a Brunch in Avon Twp.

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Stiles Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association will sponsor a brunch at 11 a.m. Thursday in the home of Mrs. Ferdinand Kersting, 1081 W. Auburn Road.

Proceeds from the organization's fund-raising event will be used to further the Stiles School landscaping project.

Reservations are being accepted by the hostess.

Early fall is the best time to plant a new lawn or reseed an older lawn. Temperatures there are moderate and there is generally enough moisture to cause germination and insure continued plant growth.

Tell Registry Times, Places in Orion Twp.

ORION TOWNSHIP — Places and hours where Orion Township electors may register to vote in the presidential election Nov. 8 were announced today by Margaret Stephen, township clerk.

The township hall at 271 S. Broadway St., Lake Orion, is open from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily Monday through Friday. It will be open the same hours on Oct. 7 and from 1 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Oct. 10.

The township clerk also will be at the Marsh Building Company office at 2823 Joslyn Road Oct. 3 from 5 to 8 p.m. to accept registrations of residents in that tract. The office is near the Carpenter School.

Changes of addresses of registered electors should be reported to the township clerk at the township hall before Oct. 10, she said today.

Thieves Win on 2nd Try; Cart Off $80 — and Safe

SOUTH LYON — Thieves who at first didn't succeed in a burglary attempt here Saturday tried again yesterday and wound up rapping with $80 and a 260-pound safe.

The money and safe were taken Sunday morning from Mickey's Service Station at 100 S. Lafayette Street while police were at the scene of a garage fire at 334 N. Lafayette Street.

Police believe the fire was set to cover up the burglary.

A similar attempt was made the previous night. A window on the gas station was broken while police responded to a call at 315 W. Whipple Street where a car trailer had been set on fire.

However, the burglars fled when the police car drove near the station on the way back from that fire.

Sensing that another burglary attempt would be made on the station, police advised the owner, Ralph Weinberger of 2210 Pontiac Trail, Lyon Township, to remove his money from the safe.

Candlelight Rite in Avon Twp.

Dorothy Lee Bishop Wed

AVON TOWNSHIP — The former Dorothy Lee Bishop and Thomas F. Galloway Jr. exchanged marital vows Saturday evening in a candlelight ceremony at Avondale Baptist Church.

Officiating were the Rev. Alger T. Lewis of Avondale Baptist Church and the Rev. Gordon C. Lindsay of Five Points Community Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loris R. Bishop of 5101 Milwaukee St. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Galloway Sr. of 5101 Milwaukee St.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of not over satin, featuring a beauteous waistline, long tapered sleeves, a fitted bodice of Chantilly lace over satin and a Sabrina neckline outlined with seed pearls and sequins.

A crown of seed pearls and sequins secured a fingertip veil of French illusion. Flowing white curtains centered with a white orchid made up the bridal bouquet.

Marvella Reynolds of Rochester was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sharon Hensley of Pontiac and Elaine Chalk of Rochester.

The bride's sister Deanna and the bridegroom's sister Nancy were flowergirls. Ringbearer was the bridegroom's brother Billy.

Robert Smith of Rochester was best man. Ushers were Kenneth Nichols, Donald Stover and Charles Phelps, all of Pontiac, and Wilbur Jamieson of Rochester.

The newlyweds are on a honeymoon tour of Canada and Niagara Falls. They will reside in Boston.

is your name in the book?

You can't vote if you're not registered

When you graduate from high school, they put your name in the school yearbook.

When you have a telephone installed, they put your name in the telephone book.

But you and only you — can get your name in the most important book of all — the roll of Registered Voters of your precinct — the "Election Book."

And if you're not in this book, you ought to be.

Because, if you're not registered, you can't get in the polls come Election Day.

You can't even vote for dog catcher — much less mayor, councilman, congressman, senator, or president — unless your name is in the book.

You don't even have the right to complain — unless you're registered and vote.

So don't cut yourself out of this year's key elections. Get your name in the book. A lot of your friends and neighbors are already listed there. If you know of one who isn't, take him with you when you go to register on this "Roll of Honor" of Americans. And then — we'll see you at the polls!

Be sure you're registered!

BRIDES! Even if you had previously registered under your maiden name, you have to register again under your "new" name. Be sure your "married name" is in the book!

Pirates Back Into NL Title as Cards Lose

Will Seek Revenge for Beating by Ruth and Mats in 1933

By The Associated Press
A dream 33 years in the making came true for the Pittsburgh Pirates today as they are the champions of the National League flag. They met the New York Yankees in the World Series and were humiliated in four straight. Danny Murtagh, the present Pirates manager, was present. Pirates manager, the Pirates will try to even the score, for they'll meet the Yanks again.

The Pirates won the pennant Sunday in unglamorous fashion, bowing to the Milwaukee Braves 4-2 when Eddie Mathews blasted a home run in the bottom of the 10th inning.

But it was the humble Chicago Cubs, and pitcher Glen Hobbie in particular, who came to the rescue of the Buccos. Beaten by St. Louis only last Friday, Hobbie came back to hold the Cards to six hits and enabled the Cubs to win 5-0.

That mathematically eliminated the Cards, and, in fact, pushed them into third place behind Milwaukee.

In other National League action, the Philadelphia Phillies downed the Cincinnati Reds 7-1 and the San Francisco Giants toppled the Los Angeles Dodgers 13-5.

The Series will open on Oct. 5 in Pittsburgh. The first two games will be played at Forbes Field. Then there will be an off day, and the teams will play the next three games in New York on Oct. 8-10. If it isn't over by then, it'll be back to Pittsburgh for the final two games on Oct. 12-13.

Back in 1927, the Pirates faced the great Yankee murderers' row, led by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, in the Series. Yet, it was the Yankee pitching that won it. The Pirates managed to score only 10 runs in the four games. In fact, only two homers were hit in the Series, both by Ruth.

This was the seventh National League championship for the Pirates. In addition to 1927, they won in 1901, 1902, 1903, 1909 and 1925.

Mathews' homer came off Elroy Face, who was making his 67th appearance on the mound for the Pirates. Until the eighth, the Buccos led 2-0 behind Harvey Haddix. But the Braves tied it to set the stage for Mathews' homer.

Home run by Joe Koppe and Tony Gonzales spearheaded Philadelphia's ninth-inning attack on the Reds. Willie Sanchez drove in the Reds, three with a homer and a double in an eight-run second inning, in the Giants victory over the Dodgers.

Sunnybrook Wins Publix Title Again

Sunnybrook won the Michigan Publix Golf Association's team championship for the 2nd straight year Sunday with an 18-15 victory over Rochester in their title play-off at Detroit's Western Golf and Country Club.

Sunnybrook won the Red Division and Rochester the White Division during the regular season schedule of team competition.

Although not shooting well individually, Pontiac's Wally Smith and John Kirsch combined for a best ball score of 89 to furnish the eventual margin of victory. Kirsch shot 80 and Smith 83.

Tom Stevens gained a four-over-par 71 to lead the defending champions to another crown. A 77 by Alan (Scotty) Thompson was Rochester's best effort.

Central Mows Down Dots With Dazzling Speed, 47-0

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Any resemblance to the Pontiac Central team which got by Waterbury 13-0 in the season opener and the team which rolled over Wyandotte Saturday night, 47-0, has to be purely coincidental.

The Chiefs put on a dazzling running attack and the most effective blocking displayed by any Pontiac Central team in many years.

"I haven't seen a Pontiac team in at least eight years throw the blocks that these boys threw against Wyandotte," said former coach Ed Graybill, now the school's athletic director.

Graybill got lot of support from many of the 4,200 who watched PCH rip the Dots with a 34-0 halftime lead.

With Dick McCauley, a 5-foot-9 and 170 pound senior, and Roy Couser, a 145 pound junior, each piling up more yardage than the entire Wyandotte total, the Chiefs blockers swept downfield opening the way for touchdown runs of 21, 15, 53, 10, 8, 20 and 20 yards.

On the first three plays of the game, after Central took the opening kickoff, the ball exchanged hands on fumbles. Wyandotte recovered quarterback Bob Pomery's fumble on the PCH 35.

A 15-yard penalty moved the ball back to the 47 where QB Dave Jones fumbled. McCauley picked up the ball at midfield and was knocked down on the Dot 21. On the first play, McCauley swept his right end and crossed the goal without a Dot player coming near him. Larry Brennan converted and it was 7-0 with 8:58 still remaining in the period.

Following the kickoff, three Wyandotte running plays failed to gain a yard. On the punting down, the Chiefs struck with a low punt. Central recovered on the Dot 21. Couser got 7, Tony Rubio got 10.

Mathews' homer came off Elroy Face, who was making his 67th appearance on the mound for the Pirates. Until the eighth, the Buccos led 2-0 behind Harvey Haddix. But the Braves tied it to set the stage for Mathews' homer.

Home run by Joe Koppe and Tony Gonzales spearheaded Philadelphia's ninth-inning attack on the Reds. Willie Sanchez drove in the Reds, three with a homer and a double in an eight-run second inning, in the Giants victory over the Dodgers.

4 and after a beautiful fake by Chiefs gave up the ball on the PCH 40. McCauley, he handed Dot 21, but Wyandotte had to punt to Couser who slanted over left from its own 18. On the second play after the kickoff, Jones tried to pass in end Neal Smith. McCauley deflected the ball, Couser took it in mid-air and went 20 yards for the touchdown to make it 34-0 with the point. Just as the half ended, Couser raced 34 yards to the Dot 32.

Wyandotte finally perked up in the second half. Jones picked the first 1st down with the longest gain of the day for his team, a 18 yard dash.

The drive got to the PCH 40 but McCauley ended it with a pass interception. He returned it 38 yards to the Dot 37. Two plays later McCauley hugged the sidelines and went the final 15 yards to make it 41-0 after Brennan's point.

Wyandotte certainly wasn't a gambling team. On several occasions late in the game the Dots refused to take a chance on 4th down situations. On one occasion on their own 45, there were only four inches to go on a 4th down, and they punted.

PCH got the ball back to their own 47. From there McCauley took a handoff from Pomery and went 83 yards for the score. The most beautiful work of the game came at the Dot 35 when Ellick Shorter loop two defenders out of McCauley's path. Pomery's try for the point failed, and that ended the scoring and all attacks.

Whether Wyandotte was that bad or Pontiac Central was that good will be seen in the next six games, five in the Saginaw Valley.

The Dots were guilty of 11 penalties for 123 yards, six for personal fouls. Four were assessed against halfback Gerald Sieg who persisted in piling on after the play was dead.

Coach Paul Dellera, gaining his second victory since taking the reins this year, cleared the bench. "We did nothing but won on blocking all week," he said, "and the boys really came through."

The Chief line was aggressive and the defensive backs made it impossible for the Dot runners on the wide plays. The only drawback to Pontiac's offense was the lack of an aerial game. Of six pass attempts, one was intercepted and none completed.

McCauley picked up 146 yards and Couser 143 of the 355 amassed by PCH.

ANOTHER PENNANT—Cousy Stengel, New York Yankees manager, lets out a yell with his players, in their dressing room, after defeating the Boston Red Sox, 4-3, to clinch their 10th American League pennant in a dozen years. Joe Cronin, American League president, smiles, standing beside Stengel.

Tigers Finish Season at Home With Victory

DETROIT (AP)—The start was good — a 6-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox back on April 22. And the finish was good, a 6-5 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics yesterday.

Somehow in between, something went wrong with the Detroit Tigers.

They finished their home season yesterday just as they started it, with a victory, and for the 77 games in Briggs Stadium the Tigers compiled a 40-37 record. The 4,200 spectators at the Sunday finale raised the home attendance to 1,671,000 — that's $5,322 below the 1959 total.

Five games on the road — two in Chicago and three in Kansas City — will wind up the campaign for the Tigers. And unless they collapse completely, they'll finish sixth, their lowest since 1953.

The final home victory came in the same fashion as did the opening one. It was a come-from-behind chore, but this time Al Kaline delivered the game-winning hit, Lou Berberet did it in the opener.

Kaline was forced out of the starting lineup with a bruised back, suffered when he ran into the fence Friday night. When the

Yankees' Great Finish Gives Casey 10th Flag

Defeat Red Sox 4-3 for 9th Straight Win in Stretch Drive

By The Associated Press
Just 11 days ago, the New York Yankees were clinging to the American League lead by one percentage point and it was a lanky ship Casey Stengel was piloting.

The Yanks had just lost two straight to their country cousins, the Kansas City A's. A drastic patching job was needed with a four-game set coming up against the second-place Baltimore Orioles.

Stengel did the job, the leaks were plugged, the ship got on an even keel, the Orioles tumbled to four straight defeats and today the Yanks are the champions of the American League for the 10th time in the past 12 years.

Since that day more than a week ago, the Yanks haven't lost. They've won nine in a row, including the clincher, a 4-3 decision over the Boston Red Sox Sunday. But to the Cleveland Indians goes an assist. The Tribe blanked Chicago, thus eliminating the defending champion White Sox.

So the 70-year-old Stengel now has equaled the record of John McGraw as the major league manager who has won the most pennants, 10. Stengel once played for McGraw as an outfielder with the New York Giants.

The pennant is the Yanks' 25th in 40 years.

The last time the Yanks met the Pirates was in the 1927 World Series—the last time the Buccos won the National League pennant. The Yanks won it in four games.

Ralph Terry—with a one-batter assist from Luis Arroyo—pitched the Yanks to their deciding victory two months ago. Terry was strictly excess baggage on the New York pitching staff. At one point, he had the dubious distinction of picking 11 batters, 11 of whom hit safely.

But he was untouchable Sunday from the fourth until the ninth when he yielded three singles and one run. With the tying run at third, Arroyo came to the rescue and forced Pete Runnels, the league's batting leader, to foul out to third baseman Bobby Richardson.

Roger Maris drove in two Yank runs and it was Terry himself—an Able hitter who doubled home what proved to be the deciding run.

The World Series will open on Oct. 5 in Pittsburgh. The first two games will be played there. The teams will get a day off and return to New York for the next three on Oct. 8-10. If it isn't over by then, they'll have another day and head for Pittsburgh for the final two games on Oct. 12-13.

Bobby Locke took care of the White Sox for the Indians. He let four hits, and worse yet, dropped them into third place behind the Orioles, who whipped the Washington Senators 3-1 when Brooks Robinson blasted an eighth-inning home run with two on.

The gritty little 4-year-old colt owned by the Brookmire Stable won the $12,200 Woodward Stakes Saturday at Aqueduct.

Bury the Yankees.
"Bury the Yankees," said a fan. "Who cares about beating Milwaukee? We've got the pennant—now we'll beat the New York Yankees."

The Pirates were an hour late arriving from Milwaukee because of their clubhouse celebration. But the fans didn't seem to mind that it was 11 p.m. when the pennant winners arrived in downtown Pittsburgh from the airport.

The players transferred from buses to convertibles, one for each player and his wife. Manager Danny Murtagh's wife was nearly in tears when she kissed her husband.

Danny just grinned, patted her on the cheek and took out a big cigar which he clenched happily during the long transfer.

It was past midnight before the parade broke up—and long after that because some celebrants went home.

4 Burn Despite Cripple's Efforts

Children Die as Their Grandmother Is Routed by Flames in Saginaw

SAGINAW (UP)—A 56-year-old grandmother, crippled by a stroke, tried in vain to rescue her four grandchildren when flames gutted their two-story frame house here moments before midnight.

Two of the four children of Freeman Davis, 33, perished in the blaze, the other two were critically burned.

Dead are Freeman Jr., 11, and Nathan, 8. Gregory, 12, and Willie, 4, were pulled from the wreckage by firemen.

The grandmother, Mrs. Evelyn Bailey, suffered a stroke two years ago. Although her left side is completely paralyzed, she staggered through the smoke and flames in an attempt to rescue her grandchildren but she couldn't reach their bedroom.

She then hurled herself through a window and escaped with only minor cuts.

Mrs. Bailey told firemen she heard a muffled explosion. Seconds later, flames swept through the house. Firemen said the explosion was caused by a faulty water heater.

The children's musician father was playing an engagement in nearby Bay City at the time. His estranged wife is in California.

Regular Fall Drop Hits Cost of Living

DETROIT (U)—Seasonal price declines caused a drop in the cost of living index for the Detroit area in a regular fall "breather," the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) reports.

The government's August Detroit price index was 125.6 per cent, a drop of 2 from July. Despite the leveling off, however, the index was still 1.5 per cent above the level of the same period last year.

Food dropped 3 per cent, housing 2 and apparel 1 while medical care rose 4, transportation and personal care rose 2 and reading and recreation rose 1.

BLS index figures are computed from 1947-48 price base as 100.

Waves 'Hello' on Arrival in Pontiac

GREETED BY BROOMFIELD — A sparse but enthusiastic group of persons waved "Hi, Rocky!" standards Saturday at Pontiac Municipal Airport upon the arrival of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller (left). Here he is greeted by Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, just before the 10-car motorcade pulled out for stops in Pontiac, Birmingham, Berkeley and Oak Park. Broomfield accompanied the governor throughout the trip and into Inkster and Detroit.

Sees Himself as Lesser Factor in Controversy

Ike and Other Leaders Rally Body's Forces 'to Resist Red Onslaught'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, in an unexpected General Assembly appearance today, told the world organization that not his future but that of the United Nations is at stake in the crisis aroused by Soviet attacks on him.

Hammarskjold spoke against a background of heavy assault upon his office by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, who has asked the assembly to abolish the secretary-general's job and substitute a three-man board.

The Communist contingency, possibly to show their disagreement, failed to join in applause for Hammarskjold, but smiled and thumped their fists upon their desks.

The secretary-general's brief talk opened a day to be marked by much diplomatic activity touched off by Khrushchev's offensives at the United Nations.

President Eisenhower is playing a big role in the activity, with meetings with Afro-Asian leaders. He is working for massive support against Khrushchev's attempts to recast the U.N. structure.

From all corners of the earth more heads of government rushed to New York, drawn by the great and increasingly dangerous conflict. Never before in history have so many presidents, prime ministers and princes been gathered under one roof.

Eisenhower, reportedly grim, had appointments this afternoon with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India and the president of the United Arab Republic, Gamal Abdel Nasser.

First, however, Eisenhower flew to Philadelphia where he told the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants that despite spending as a threat to American world leadership as well as "the way of the political course."

TO STAY IN N.Y.

The President prepared to stay overnight in New York. He sees Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Canada's Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker on Tuesday.

In the U.N. itself, delegates of the 96 nations braced for two more stormy sessions.

Fidel Castro trained his guns on American policy in Cuba in a speech expected to last four hours. Castro usually speaks (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

BEAR WORLD'S ROES — Arriving in New York Sunday to take part in the U. N. General Assembly sessions were (from left) Prime Minister John Diefenbaker of Canada, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Great Britain. They bear the hopes of the world on their shoulders as they seek desperately to heal the widening breach between the United Nations and Communist-dominated countries. Diefenbaker addressed the assembly this morning, and all three leaders were scheduled for talks with President Eisenhower.

What Will Soviets Tell Us Tuesday?

From Our News Wire

NEW YORK—The Russians set off a wave of new speculation today by announcing that they plan to mark Tuesday as an important day in the history of the world.

As one source to have quite what they are up to, but the result has been a spate of guessing that includes everything from the possibility they may about a man into space to the disclosure they have already one there on the moon.

The moon remains an elusive target for American rockets, while the Soviet Union continues to hold a commanding lead in lunar exploration.

COLD FACTS FOR U.S. These are the cold facts facing U. S. space scientists today as they seek to pinpoint the reason for the failure Sunday of their latest moon rocket.

The giant Atlas-Able, most powerful space vehicle ever assembled by this nation, flamed in a effort to hurt the first satellite into orbit about the moon.

The failure dealt a damaging blow to U. S. space prestige at a time when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is saying that the Soviet Union is ready to launch a man into space.

"It is difficult to say just when the Soviets will launch the first space man, but we are prepared," Khrushchev reported Sunday. He said a rocket and space ship were ready but it is up to Soviet scientists to decide the launching date.

Nikita Wooing Neutrals; Vows to Hear Out Fidel

NEW YORK (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev maneuvered today for the favor of neutrals in the swelling struggle over international leadership and the future of the United Nations.

The Soviet premier promised to hear out Cuba's Fidel Castro even if Castro's speech to the U.N. General Assembly ran six hours instead of the predicted four.

He arranged an early evening date with Jawaharlal Nehru, Indian prime minister who had an appointment with President Eisenhower earlier in the day.

Khrushchev also planned to attend a luncheon given by Cleveland industrialist Cyrus Eaton, who said the purpose is "to consider means of increasing trade between the Soviet Union and North America." U.S. and Canadian industrialists were invited.

Khrushchev was off to a running start for his second week here as the result of a supposed rest week end at the Glen Cove, Long Island, estate of the Soviet delegation to the U. N.

From the time of Khrushchev's Saturday noon arrival at the luxurious mansion, under heavy security guard, to his departure Sunday night, the 27-acre estate was the scene of diplomatic activity interspersed with Khrushchev's news conferences.

The Kremlin has met with newsmen with mounting casualness, once last Saturday and twice Sunday for question-and-answer periods lasting as long as 1 1/2 hours.

Boosts Nixon-Lodge Ticket

Rocky Cites 'Courage'

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

The Nixon-Lodge ticket has the "courage, vision, understanding and experience to meet the dangerous decades ahead," Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller stressed in his swing through Oakland County Saturday.

As recently as the ballot session of Congress, the opposition ticket of Kennedy and Johnson had been in the Democratic stronghold of Oak Park.

From the moment that the governor's yellow, blue and white ticket of Kennedy and Johnson engine taxied up before

Sen. John F. Kennedy boosters didn't seem to pay much attention until the motorcade was just about to enter Birmingham. The Kennedy supporters were still nearby and apparently stealing some of Rocky's thunder.

He ordered his driver to pull up alongside the Kennedy car. "Let's have a little sportsmanship," Rockefeller said standing up in the back seat of his convertible. "Now you pull off the road." The joke did.

With his hair mussed by the convertible ride at the head of the "Rocky Rolls Republican" motorcade, Rockefeller saved the big punch for the last of his unpaired talks in Pontiac, Berkeley and Oak Park.

Nixon and Lodge were mentioned but three times, each at the tail end of the talks. Rockefeller warned first of the "basic conflict" that exists today between those forces who believe in freedom as more than a symbol, and those who believe "in the individual as just a cog in a machine."

County Republican leaders said they were pleased with the turnout in the three cities. Rockefeller said an unplanned throng of about 200 in Birmingham was the "friendliest welcome I've seen."

There Mrs. Florence H. Wittelt, the city's first lady and mayor, had to push her way through unrestrained greeters, most of them teenagers, to shake hands with the man who once had visited (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Cold War Opens New Era in Worldwide Police Work

EDITOR'S NOTE: This installment begins a 10-part series of international crime stories continued from "Journey Into Crime," a new book by Don Whitehead, two-time Pulitzer Prize winner.

By DON WHITEHEAD

The late afternoon sun threw long August shadows across the streets of West Berlin. The workday was ending for most Berliners. People streamed from office buildings heading for home or perhaps for a stroll along Kurfurstendamm, the glittering show window of the West which contrasts so oddly with the drabness of the central streets in Communist East Berlin. The streets mirrored the economic and spiritual resurgence of West Germany since the war. The display of prosperity was an open taunt to the lords of communism. East Berliners slipped across the dividing line to feast their eyes, and then they smuggled small purchases past the East German guards.

To these people, the line dividing the city was a hateful barrier. But the criminals and Communist agents who operated out of East Berlin often found the border a shield.

On this August day, a battered black Mercedes-Benz sedan cruised slowly through West Berlin. Police Detective Hans Wardetaki sat behind the driver scanning each face. For months the police had been seeking an elusive Communist courier, who had been slipping in and out of West Berlin.

Not long ago, a West Berlin policeman entered the subway bound for home. Tired, he dozed a few minutes, then awoke with the chilling realization that the train had crossed the border and was pulling into an East Berlin station. Even though he was not in uniform, the East German police spotted him.

They searched their prisoner and found his identification card and badge. The chief jovially ordered beer. He talked of everything but politics and police work. At last he told an aide to return the prisoner's personal effects.

"You may go now," he said. "You see, it hasn't been unpleasant. We aren't as bad as our enemies claim."

As the relieved policeman started toward the door, the police chief said, "This has been so pleasant, I would like you to pay us another visit... say Friday of next week."

Thanks. I'll be glad to.

Public Hearing Tonight on E. Maple Widening

BIRMINGHAM — A public hearing on widening East Maple Road between Adams and Coolidge roads will be held at tonight's City Commission meeting.

Plans call for the installation of integral curbs and the widening of the road to a width of 45 feet with cement concrete pavement.

The road is now 34 and 40 feet wide in most spots.

The project, which would be financed through individual assessments, was suggested following a traffic count conducted on East Maple during the past two weeks.

The traffic study showed that enough vehicles use the road to warrant widening it to four lanes with a maximum width of 11 feet per lane.

In a report by City Planning Director Herbert Herzberg and City Assessor Clark H. Hagstrom it was stated that property values should not depreciate because of the widening.

"The proposed widening 'provides a measure of continuity existing and future traffic congestion,' their report stated, 'thereby reducing the possibility of there being greater depreciation on Maple and its surrounding neighborhoods if the widening did not take place.'"

Any objections to the project will be considered at tonight's meeting.

William R. Lehr

Service for William R. Lehr, 45, of 3801 Gilbert Lake Road, will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery, Detroit.

A salesman for the Palmer-Bee Co. for 18 years, Mr. Lehr died Saturday at William Hamlet Bell Chapel.

Rec Director Dies

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — George Taintor, director of the recreation department at Kalamazoo State Hospital for 15 years until his recent retirement, died Friday at Borgess Hospital here. Taintor, 72, a long-time actor, retired from the stage about 20 years ago.

Neutrals Out to Heal U.N. Wounds

Castro Expected to Rant, Rave

K's Reported Advice: Stop Clowning or Be Ridiculed in Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro shakes his maiden speech to the U.N. General Assembly today with some advice he is not expected to take-keep it short.

The bearded Cuban leader was the first scheduled speaker in this afternoon's Assembly session. He was considered certain to adhere closely to the Kremlin line.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — This is the week the world's neutralist leaders will try — and most certainly fail — to bridge the gap between Russia and the West.

Everyone wishes them well but nobody gives them any chance of success.

The Big Four of the uncommitted world are all either on stage or in the wings. Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser arrived over the weekend. Yugoslav President Tito has been here a week. Indonesia's President Sukarno is due Wednesday.

Each has his own idea of how to be helpful in the current U.N. crisis.

Nehru believes strongly in trying to bring to bear moral persuasion and reason. His Hindu heritage gives him a faith in the soft approach which he not only espouses but also practices with his colleagues.

Tito, the tough realist, believes the neutrals can really influence the course of history only if they lead a solid bloc of votes which can be used to force the East-West power groups into line on key issues.

Nasser inclines to follow Tito but wavers at times toward the Patrons Indian.

Sukarno is regarded by the other three as something of a lightweight in international affairs. But they welcome his help as leader of a strategic country with 85 million inhabitants.

The neutralists would like to interest cut-across the regional groupings.

The present bitter stalemate between the United States and Russia, in which agreement could be achieved only by unconditional surrender of issues by one or the other, renders largely futile any efforts at moderation.

As Rockefeller mounted the platform at the courthouse his eyes fell upon an attractive young lady sporting a "I F I Were 1st I'd Vote for Kennedy" button. Rockefeller smiled cordially, patted Sally O'Brien, of 2605 Otsego St., Waterford Township, on the shoulder and moved on to speak.

The "given Kennedy Girl" Rockefeller came across later lugged the front of the platform at the governor's feet. As he moved to leave one of them attempted to hand him a Kennedy pin.

After criticizing the Democratic ticket for its failure to carry out its platform promises during the 1960 election, Rockefeller handed the pin back to the young lady in front of him.

"Put it back in your memory book," he said. "That's where it is going to end up."

HARASSING ON SWING

Throughout Rockefeller's whirlwind swing through the county, the New York chief executive encountered some harassment from Kennedy backers. There were hand-painted signs for Jack and shouted support for him as the motorcade made its way from Pontiac Municipal Airport to Oak Park.

Castro regularly got advice from Nikita Khrushchev Sunday to quit acting like a clown as people would not take him seriously.

Castro also has received hints that U.N. delegates would appreciate his not putting on the kind of marathon speech he has made in the Soviet Hemisphere.

He was expected to extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China and North Korea.

The move was announced shortly after Castro had been the guest of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at Havana's U.N. delegation headquarters on Park Avenue.

Castro has met with only one non-Communist government head since arriving in New York Sept. 18. He conferred with United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser for an hour and 40 minutes Sunday at the Hotel Theresa.

Western sector shaking with relief. He knew his job was in jeopardy if his superiors learned he had been in East Berlin fraternizing with the Communist police.

He decided to keep the incident to himself and began to feel easier when no one at headquarters asked questions. When Friday came, he said to himself, "To hell with them. I'm not going back."

Two days later a messenger left a note at his home: "Dear Comrade: I waited all day Friday for you to visit us as you promised. I assume you were ill, so I shall expect you next Friday." The note was signed by the East Berlin police chief.

force is working hard to achieve that end. The same situation exists also in Austria, Italy and Japan.

In violent contrast is the chilling police system behind the Iron Curtain. After the death of Stalin, the political power of the Red-controlled police was reduced but their activities, and their methods remain the same.

No one hears of ordinary crimes behind the Iron Curtain because virtually all such stories are suppressed. The only crimes publicized are the "political crimes." One would get the impression that the countries are marvelously free of ordinary crimes of violence.

But this, of course, is not true. It is simply that the Reds do not publicize them so they may boast about the superior morality in Communist countries.

The police in almost every country were cooperative. Also sometimes they were embarrassingly emotional about their work.

I remember one evening in an exotic Asian city when a young police officer suddenly burst into tears because he wanted to be proud of his profession — and could not. This is his story.

"I was chosen to study your western police methods and my government sent me to Scotland Yard and the FBI Academy. It was a wonderful experience."

"Most important, I learned that there were honest men with an honorable code. I was determined to bring their practices back to my country."

"But I found we do not have the modern equipment and no one cares about the fine techniques I learned. Worst of all, who are the biggest criminals? The politicians. They are robbing the people of millions—much of it my money given to us in the aid program—and I am helpless."

The greatest personal difficulty in assembling these stories was not in traveling some 30,000 miles by plane, train, and automobile. It wasn't the food poisoning in Turkey, the hotels that stuffed their pillows with concrete, or the stifling heat of Saigon and Bangkok. It was the barrier of language.

Fortunately, this toughest of all barriers was overcome with the help of American legal attaches, embassy security officers, and newspaper friends.

In this gallery of crime, I believe my "favorite criminal is little Karl Peglow, artist, counterfeiter, and lover extraordinary. The most gruesome was the Englishman who dumped his victims into vats of acid."

And perhaps the wildest scheme was Hitler's effort to wreck the British economy with a flood of counterfeit bank notes. There is no doubt that the most vicious police system in the world belongs to the Communists.

of bypassing Vice President Nixon from the ticket.

Rockefeller's aim was to win over the independent and liberal voters during his two-hour stop-over here and in Ingham and Detroit later.

He also urged voters to get registered and vote.

Under sunny skies and 83-degree temperatures — which caused the governor to shed the coat to his grey chalk-strip suit in Berkeley — Rockefeller appeared to be leaving an image of a man looking to the future, although he personally denied this.

A note enclosed with the photographs said: "Dear Comrade: You have failed to keep two appointments. You will appear at our headquarters next Friday evening or else these photographs will be sent to your superior officers."

This was the crudest kind of blackmail. The policeman knew if he returned to East Berlin, he would be forced to spy on his own government. To his everlasting credit, he took his story to his superiors. He was suspended and for years will suffer for this one moment of carelessness. But he saved his own honor and denied the Communists a valuable agent.

GLOBAL CRIME BUSTING

Such revealing incidents as these were gathered on an eight-month trip around the world, during which I visited more than 20 countries to collect unusual crime stories. The journey began at the headquarters of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington.

It led me to Scotland Yard in London, to the Surete in Paris, to Belgium, Germany, Liechtenstein, Austria, Italy, Spain and Greece. The journey continued through Turkey, Thailand, Indonesia, Singapore, Hong Kong, Saigon, Manila and Japan.

Perhaps the most significant thing I found was the tremendous influence which the FBI and Scotland Yard are having on the police of other countries. They are regarded around the world as the two outstanding police agencies.

One of the most interesting developments in the European police systems has been the effort of such countries as West Germany to overcome the memory of the Gestapo.

Their greatest help, German police officials admit privately, is to merit public confidence. And the West German police

Chou Says OK to Burma

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Red China's Premier Chou En-lai has accepted an invitation of Prime Minister U Nu to attend Burma's

15th anniversary celebration of independence Jan. 4. Panama's railroad, built in 1855, was the first transcontinental railroad in the Western Hemisphere.

Nixon Clears Deck for Debate

Gets Final Briefing and Sets Respite in Chicago—Pat Will Stay Home

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon went through final briefings today for his television campaign debate to night with his Democratic rival for the presidency.

He had a speaking engagement before the United Brotherhood of Carpenters but kept his schedule otherwise free for concentration on his nationwide joint appearance with Sen. John F. Kennedy.

The Republican nominee left his wife, Pat, in Washington where he flew here Sunday night to start the third week of intensified campaigning.

Nixon told crowds at the Midway Airport and at three South Side receptions en route to the Pick-Congress Hotel where he spent the night, that Mrs. Nixon decided to remain at home and view the debate over television with their two daughters.

CROWD ENTHUSIASTIC
A crowd at the airport, estimated by police at close to 5,000 almost swept the vice president off his feet when some of them surged through police lines and he had difficulty getting to an airplane ramp from which he spoke. He said he never made the foot- to Memphis, Tenn., for speeches there and at West Memphis, Ark.

Net Farm Income Near Level of 1959

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An Agriculture Department report released today indicates that net farm income this year apparently is running very close to last year's level.

Early forecasts by government economists had predicted a drop of about 7½ per cent in net farm income this year. But figures for the first eight months of 1960 show that farm business has been better than the experts had expected.

When it is 12 noon in New York City, it is 7 p. m. in Moscow.

Dallas Baptists Adopt Budget of $1,195,000

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—What is believed to be the largest annual local church budget "in the history of Christendom" was approved Sunday by the 12,000-member First Baptist Church.

The $1,195,000 budget was adopted by members at the morning worship service.

Pastor W. A. Criswell said "this is probably the most stupendous financial program ever undertaken by any church in the history of Christendom."

More than half of the 1961 general budget will go for missionary causes outside the local church program. The church supports five missions in the Dallas area and regularly tops all of the 32,000 Southern Baptist Convention churches in total gifts to world missions.

Oiler-Oakland Game Picketed by Negroes

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Negroes picketed Jeppesen Stadium Sunday as a crowd of 15,421 arrived for the Oakland-Houston American Football League game.

The Negroes were protesting segregation policies under which the Houston Oilers handle ticket sales at the public schools stadium.

Signs carried by the pickets read: "Don't pay to see the Oilers play segregated games."

Negro players were competing with both teams. Two were in blocking back.

Jensen's Visit to Boston Stirs 'Return' Rumors

BOSTON (AP)—Jackie Jensen, retired Boston Red Sox outfielder, showed up at Fenway Park Sunday and displayed the same artful footwork he asked if he planned to return to baseball.

The former RBI king whose right-handed slugging has been sorely missed this season watched the Red Sox-Yankee game from the press box. He announced his retirement after last season.

Will he change his mind and return?

"See you Wednesday," Jensen said with a smile. He did not elaborate.

WILL HE BE FORCED? — With Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the podium addressing the U.N. General Assembly Friday, a member of the Soviet delegation reads on Mr. K's chair. Left is Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. The big question: What is the Soviet's penalty for sleeping on the job?

Castro Trying Patience of Negroes in Harlem

NEW YORK (UPI) — Harlem's Negroes are getting fed up with Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, Democrat, Harlem's acknowledged Negro leader, charged last night that Castro's swift move from the upper class Hotel Shelburne to the Hotel Theresa in the Negro section was "sheer hypocrisy."

"The last time he was in New York, as the guest of the United States government, he never even bothered to answer invitations by officials, including myself, to visit Harlem," Powell said.

Another Harlemite more to the point: "I'd like to cut off his (Castro's) beard and hang it to that flagpole. And maybe him with it," the man said. "Why don't he go home."

There were indications that many of the Negroes in Harlem were angry at the bearded Cuban's pro-Communist leanings and the trouble stirred up between pro-Castro and anti-Castro groups on Harlem's streets.

"I'm ashamed to be here for the first time in my life," said a newspaper vendor whose regular post is at the corner of the hotel. "They've just come here to make trouble and they're making it. I'm sick to be here and see this."

By far the vast majority of pro- and anti-Castro demonstrators are of Latin American descent — Cubans, Puerto Ricans and Central Americans.

At first when Castro moved up to Harlem in a caravan of publicity last Monday, most of Harlem's Negroes interviewed said they thought it was fine that he had come.

But Saturday night the tide started to turn. Negroes watched while the Latin demonstrators and shook their heads.

"If they like him so much, why don't they go to Cuba—and take him with them," said one young Negro woman who was with her three children.

Giant Crowds Thrill Kennedy

Reception in Cleveland Biggest of Campaign — Chicago Roars, Too

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy, happy over two tumultuous receptions—one the biggest of his campaign—turns out tonight to television-radio debate No. 1 with his Republican rival for the presidency.

Kennedy, the Democratic candidate for the White House, arranged to spend most of the day in seclusion preparing for his unprecedented due to be watched coast-to-coast on the four major networks. The hour-long program originating here will start at 8:30 p.m. EST.

Aside from the debate—the first of four scheduled with Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican nominee—Kennedy's only announced campaign activity today is an afternoon address at the annual convention of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

Kennedy devoted a good part of the weekend to toiling up for the debate. He arrived in Chicago early Saturday at the end of his week of intensive campaigning.

The senator took time out for a quick visit to Cleveland Sunday where he got the most tremendous welcome since his nomination in July. On his return to Chicago he received another thunderous reception at a party rally on the Lake Michigan shore.

In Cleveland, Police Traffic Commissioner James B. Halloran estimated 118,000 persons were in the wildly enthusiastic crowd which Kennedy addressed at Euclid Beach Park. Police calculate that perhaps up to an additional 100,000 turned out to greet Kennedy along a 12-mile route to the park.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Halloran of the Kennedy crowds in Ohio's largest city. Veteran Cleveland newsmen termed it the city's biggest turnout since a visit by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1937.

Carnegie Hall, Saved by Friends, Reopens Tuesday

NEW YORK (UPI) — Carnegie Hall begins its second lease on life today as a city-owned cultural center run by a non profit corporation designed to preserve it intact for future generations of music lovers.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner will preside at rededication ceremonies this afternoon outside the fortress-like structure whose buff brick facade gleams like new as the result of recent steam cleaning.

The acoustically perfect main concert hall, refurbished in shimmering white and gold at a cost of more than $100,000, will be reopened Tuesday night by the New York Philharmonic. The president of the New Carnegie Hall Corp., violinist Isaac Stern, will be the soloist.

Stern headed one of several groups of musicians and music lovers who fought a determined campaign last winter to save the hall that Andrew Carnegie built 70 years ago.

The hall and its 200 antiquated studios and four auditoriums was no longer profitable to the owners and it was slated for demolition this summer to make way for a skyscraper.

U. of M. Expands Science Institute

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A new director and an expanded program for the institute of science and technology have been announced by the University of Michigan Board of Regents.

The university's Willow Run Laboratories, since their inception in 1958 a separate research facility, will be made a part of the institute.

Dr. Joseph A. Boyd, director of Willow Run Laboratories, will become director of the institute, replacing Dr. Robert R. White, who resigned last month to take a job in industry.

Both the institute and the Willow Run Laboratories have broad programs in various phases of scientific and engineering research.

Either, the first of the modern anesthetics, was discovered in the laboratory in 1858.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months! In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as: "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in supporting of ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

NO ONE INJURED — The pilot of this light plane and three passengers in the small car escaped injury when the plane attempted an emergency landing on a country road near Buford, Ga.

The pilot said the plane's motor conked out and when he tried to land, the plane was caught by a gust of wind.

Record for Vehicle Registration Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A record 73.9 million motor vehicles will be registered in the United States by the end of the year, the Bureau of Public Roads estimates.

It said this would be a gain of 3.3 per cent, or about 2.4 million vehicles from the number registered in 1959. The bureau's figures were based on registrations reported by the states for the early months of 1960.

Included in the estimated 1960 total were 61.6 million passenger cars and 12.3 million trucks and buses. The overall increase of 3.3 per cent compared with gains ranging from 1.7 per cent in 1958 to 7.5 per cent in 1955. The 1959 increase was 4.3 per cent.

California, second in population, continued first among the 50 states with 7.8 million motor vehicles. New York, the most populous state, was second with 5.1 million vehicles.

Arizona was first in proportional increase over 1959. Its registrations are up an estimated 7.4 per cent this year.

More New Students Register at Hillsdale

HILLSDALE (UPI) — Hillsdale College registrar Florence Kreiter said Saturday that 260 new and transfer students have registered at the school this fall.

Miss Kreiter said Hillsdale had 230 new and transfer students a year ago. Enrollment of the college will be slightly more than 700.

Tell Her You Need the Lines

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: When my next door neighbors moved into their house last winter, they did not have a clothes line. At the time I suggested to the wife that she use ours until they could put one in the ground. As a result she has been using it ever since. I work and can wash only on my days off, which vary.

Many times I have had to put off my own washing because my line was filled with her clothes. It is becoming quite an annoying situation. We are quite good friends and I don't want to cause strained feelings. Will you please tell me how I can tactfully handle this situation?

Answer: There should certainly be no strained feelings if you tell your neighbor that while you are delighted to have her use your clothes line, you have to have it for yourself on your days off, because those are the only days on which you can do your washing.

Dear Mrs. Post: When a waiter brings a dish to the table for the host's inspection and approval before serving it to the guests, what is the appropriate remark to make to the waiter?

Answer: The host may simply nod that it is all right to serve, perhaps adding, "It looks very good," or if the dish is not what was ordered or unsatisfactory, he tells the waiter what is wrong in a low voice, so as not to attract any unnecessary attention.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is proper for a woman in her forties, who has never been married before, to dress as a bride, complete with veil? I think not, but have been told that a woman who is marrying for the first time, no matter what her age, may wear bridal clothes if she wishes to do so. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: She may properly wear a bridal dress and veil if she wishes to. It would be wise, however, to choose a becoming off-white rather than unrelieved white for both her dress and veil.

Dear Abby Says: Start Dating

Frank Talk Overdue, Boy

By AMIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: The girl I go with has been putting the pressure on me to marry her. I can't even think of marriage until I finish college and get a job, but she keeps talking about "our home" and "our children." I like her more than any other girl I've ever gone with, but I haven't gone with many. When she tells me how much she loves me, I feel like a heel. Is her home life isn't very happy and she can't wait to get away from her parents. She loves my parents and they like her, but they don't want to see her married yet. How can I tell her without hurting her? She's a tall tale!

DEAR PRESSURED: A frank talk is long overdue. Tell

LYDIA MARY ROTHMAN

The bride-elect is a graduate of Emma Willard School, Troy, N. Y., and Barnard College, Columbia University, New York City. Her fiancé received his A.B., M.A., and L.L.B. from the University of Michigan and his M.A. and Ph.D. from Princeton University, where he was a fellow of the Council of Humanities. He also attended Oxford University in England. Mr. Brashear is a member

He is a member of the state bar of Michigan, Detroit Bar Association, Livonia Bar Association and the Modern Language Association.

A January wedding is planned.

'Dig' This Bathtub

Recent excavations at Knossos in the island of Crete have uncovered a circular tomb built about 1300 B.C. One of the treasures it contained was a "bathtub coffin." In those ancient days, apparently a man's bathtub served him equally well in death as in life.

torney or lawyer about the proper legal procedure.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, own my own home and live in a friendly neighborhood. At present a neighbor is alone, as his wife is out of town. He invited me to his house for morning coffee.

I refused, as he was alone and I felt it wouldn't look right. Then he asked if I could come to my place. I said no. Was I wrong in acting like this, knowing he was lonesome?

LONESOME BUT CAREFUL. DEAR LONESOME: Since you had doubts about "how it would look," you used good judgment. His loneliness is acute — yours is chronic. The combination could be unhealthy.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SUSPICIOUS HUSBAND: Your wife could certainly be telling you the truth. Some women DO set their hair with BEER!

Life Long — or Short

Suit Fabric to Use

EAST LANSING — As soon as you buy a new dress or a curtain, it begins its journey to the rag-bag.

The journey may be long or short, depending on the fabric and the use it gets.

Barbara Spiker Stowe, textile researcher at Michigan State University, says you may wear the dress a great deal and give it much mechanical stress as you sit, twist and bend your elbows.

Yarns and fibers are repeatedly bent and stretched, and their ability to take this treatment directly affects the life of the garment.

The dress or curtain also is subject to deterioration from chemical substances. It may be perspiration or fruit juice or some other liquid accidentally spilled.

COULD BE IN AIR

In industrial areas, air-borne oxides may work on the fabric. These particles may be in minute amounts, but the effect builds up over a period of time.

The chemicals can attack the fiber or dye or the finish.

Weathering, too, takes its toll as sunlight and wind and soil micro-organisms go to work on the fibers.

If you never wear a dress and it hangs in the closet, it may work its way to the rag-bag right on the hanger.

And certain types of dyes will react to atmospheric fumes and begin to change color.

Fabrics are designed with built-in strengths to withstand certain deteriorating influences. Fibers with elastic properties are best able to take repeated stress of bending and stretching.

GLASS FIBER POOR In this area, nylon and polyester fibers are superior, while glass fiber is poor.

Initial strength of the fiber may not be so important as its elastic properties. Wool, for instance, is a relatively weak fiber, but it is so elastic it can absorb strain.

Glass is high in strength, but it is not elastic.

Glass fiber on the other hand, is resistant to chemical substances, as are several synthetics. This is due in part to the low moisture absorbency of the fibers.

This same water-resistant property, while making fabrics resistant to water-borne stains, may make you feel uncomfortable on a hot, humid day.

Some resin finishes help make fabrics more resistant to soil, but in turn, may weaken them so that the fabrics cannot take repeated stress.

Mrs. Stowe notes that seldom does any fabric have all the advantages. The consumer must decide which properties are most important, then choose the fabric to match the service she desires.

Shinnicks Tell Engagement of Their Barbara

Both the bride-elect and her fiancé were graduated in June from the University of Michigan. She was a member of Collegiate Sorority and her fiancé's fraternity was Chi Phi.

St. James Episcopal Church, Birmingham, has been reserved for the Nov. 19 wedding.

MRS. J. A. AFTOWSKI

Mrs. Thomas E. Guinn, her sister's honor matron and Mrs. James Souden, bridesmaid, wore princess-line mint green tulle, with veiled green velvet headpieces. They held crescent-shaped bouquets of miniature yellow roses and ivy.

Edward Parlo of Battle Creek attended the bridegroom as best man. Walter, Ind., ushered for his brother, assisted by Ronald Jancowicz and Thomas Cool of South Bend, and Robert Trechalla of Grand Rapids.

Before leaving for the Upper Peninsula, the new Mrs. Aftowski donned a beige Italian wool knit dress, with accessories of black and rose. She is a graduate of the school of medical technology, Kalamazoo College, where her husband received his business administration degree. They will live in Battle Creek.

For the reception in Bethany Baptist Church parlors, Mrs. Sheehan chose toast silk organza over tulle with French side pool. She wore miniature pink roses at her shoulder. The mother of the bridegroom, in a two-piece dress of bone brocade, wore green cymidium orchids.

Pencils Galore

(UPI) — Pencils have come into their own as a smart decoration piece in any household. Arranged and displayed like flower arrangements they bring color accents to desk tops, bedside tables and telephone stands. Place multi-colored pencils in a milk glass goblet or candy dish; put lacquered white pencils in a conventional holder made of a tuft of brush on a block of walnut; or arrange a cluster of pencils in a silver mug, a transparent jar of Mexican glass or a cut flower holder on a hand-made pottery plate for startling designs.

If you notice unattractive blotches and blemishes, step up your face washing program. Massage warm soapsuds into your skin several times a day.

New Rake Can Go From Lawn to Rug

MT. CLEMENS (UPI) — Hiram F. Stroup proved that he believes duty comes before any opportunity to make more money.

Stroup turned down a $6,500-a-year job as Harrison Township clerk in order to keep his $300-a-year post as president of the L'Anse Creuse Board of Education.

"I feel I owe paramount duty to the school district and to the electors who showed their confidence in me at the school election in June," Stroup said, when informed he could not hold both jobs.

Will Seek Dismissal
Of School Ban on Boy

BAY CITY (UPI) — Attorneys for a 15-year-old boy who has been barred from extracurricular activities by the Bay City Board of Education because he is married have indicated they will file a suit with the board in a week seeking dismissal of the ban.

Sherwin Schnell, 15, is married to the former Kathryn Jouskiewicz, 14, and the couple has an eight-month-old son.

Schnell, an outstanding freshman athlete at Central High School, said he planned a coaching career. His parents are supporting his case, charging that the ban is "discriminatory."

In a recent State Supreme Court test of a similar ruling in Mexico, the court upheld the school board's action but said each case may take into consideration local facts.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Light-hearted Billy Casper Jr., of Apple Valley, Calif., who plays the Portland Golf Club course as if it were his own, won the $27,000 Portland Open again Sunday.

It was the second straight Portland triumph for the fun-loving Casper, who clipped 19 strokes off par in winning in 180 and 22 strokes off par this time.

He had consecutive rounds in which he lowered his score each day—68-67-66-66 on the 6,586-yard course where par is 337—22.

Amidst general pre-busting by the touring professionals, it was not easy for Casper, but he turned the trick with a burst of five consecutive birdies on the final nine holes.

This was Casper's first victory since last November and it brought his earnings for the year to $30,463. His win here was worth $2,800.

The club generally had been predestined for a first-division finish.

Asked if he meant there'll be changes this winter, DeWitt replied:

"You might call it that."

DeWitt this year traded 1959 American League batting champion Harvey Kuenn to Cleveland home run king Rocky Colavito to make a controversial swap of managers with the same club.

The managerial trade sent Jim Dwyer to the Indians and brought Joe Gordon to the Tigers their eighth manager in nine years.

Sox owner Tom Yawkey made Williams' retirement official Sunday.

Yawkey said the aging 42-year-old Williams will serve as a batting instructor at the pre-season camp at Scottsdale, Ariz., next spring. Williams then would resume his main in the organization and "assume duties in keeping with his

The statement killed speculation that Williams might change his mind about ending his playing days. No. 9 has said he was ending his stormy, off-interrupted career before and come back.

When he hit his 500th homer at Cleveland in June Williams said it was his last year. He has repeated the decision frequently since then but it took Williams, his star, to seal the verdict.

team remained unbeaten in the Catholic League's First Division Sunday night with a 13-0 victory over Redford St. Mary before 5,000 fans at Berkley High School Field.

The Knights scored two quick touchdowns to notch their 2nd victory of the infant season.

Jerry McCullough quarterback—sneaked and broke through for a 41-yard touchdown run to open the scoring and John Seymour posted the 2nd TD for Shrine with a 45-yard dash.

"drapits," threatened to score repeatedly but never made connections when pay dirt called.

The Rams made most of their threatening gestures in the 1st half. They reached the St. Ben 8-yard line twice before being thrown back by penalties and were on the Raven 3, their deepest penetration, when time ran out to end the 1st half.

Coach Tom Kennedy's forces could move no deeper than the enemy 20 in the 2nd half, but five different "sure" touchdown passes were dropped by St. Fred receivers in the open field.

St. Fred gained 143 yards through the air as quarterback Jim (Jumbo) Kennedy completed nine of 15 attempts. Only one Kennedy aerial was intercepted.

End Bill Atkins and halfbacks Noris Hoffman and John Bierline were Kennedy's favorite targets. The Rams gained only 43 yards on the ground—and were further hampered by 110 yards in penalties compared to only 40 against St. Ben.

St. Ben struck suddenly in the 2nd quarter on a 65-yard broken field run for its 1st TD. The Ravens were handed a gift TD in the 3rd period when they recovered a St. Fred fumble on the Ram 12 from where they scored in five plays.
