UAW Will Try to Avoid Strike, Says Reuther

WHERE NEXT, MR. HART? — Before he spoke to the Pontiac Rotary Club yesterday noon, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart (right) pointed out on a map to Edward L. Williams, club president, his past and next stops during his campaign tour as Democratic nominee for United States Senator.

Rotary Club Hears Senate Candidate

Hart Alarmed by Soviet Salesmanship

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

The Soviet Union is being more successful in selling communism to independent nations than the United States is in selling its freedom product, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart warned yesterday.

Hart, speaking before the Pontiac Rotary Club, said the American people have nobody to blame but themselves for letting the spread of freedom slip from their grip.

He was introduced by Harold A. Fitzgerald, publisher of The Pontiac Press.

"Freedom isn't an end in itself," Rotarians were told. "Once you have won it, it's the use we put it to that really counts."

The Democratic candidate for Sen. Charles E. Potter's seat in Congress illustrated how independent nations—"who were used to going to bed at night a hungry nation"—were being swallowed up by the "Soviet economic penetration year after year."

NOT SELLING WELL

Hart said this country's freedom product was not selling as well on the international market because the current administration has failed to "head off the recession."

Hart urged the administration to announce a decisive policy on the current Formosa crisis.

The former Birmingham resident said: "If the administration is committed to shooting in defense of Quemoy, this should be made unequivocally clear so that Red China and people at home will know exactly where we stand."

An essential to maintaining freedom at home and stopping the flow of communism, Hart declared, is to keep the free world informed, "chapter and verse, where we stand with our competition."

"This Dulles brand of spur-of-the-moment diplomacy is unduly risky and reflects the administration's lack of any long-range policies to counter sporadic Communist flare-ups, any one of which might explode into the world struggle we all dread."

Lack of a firm policy on the Quemony situation has placed "us again on the brink of war," he said.

HELPS BROADEN ECONOMY

Communist China, Hart stated, is an example of Russia's endless attempts to give such an impoverished nation "a place in the sun" by helping broaden its industrial and economic base.

"The race isn't going to be won by the fellow that is first to the moon," Hart said. "Arms are great, but ideas of freedom are more powerful."

It's a question of what this country chooses between — butter or guns, Hart told the noonday gathering at the Waldron Hotel.

He said he believed the country could trim its 40 billion dollar defense budget without seriously jeopardizing national defense. He urged a sincere effort in showing the rest of the world we "are serious" about wanting peace and world disarmament.

Towards this goal, Hart cited a poll which showed natives of India believing Russians more serious than Americans.

One prerequisite toward peace in the world is for Americans to solve their racial problems in Little Rock and other places at home, Hart insisted.

Peace Treaty Sought by East Germany

BERLIN (UPI)—The East German foreign office announced today it has proposed to the Big Four and West Germany a conference to discuss a peace treaty for Germany.

A foreign office press announcement said East Germany in notes to the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union and West Germany said negotiations should be opened on the "preparation" of a peace treaty.

East Germany proposed that an East-West German commission be set up to discuss the problems to be solved in drawing up a peace treaty.

The Western allies and the West German government in the past have rejected all proposals for East-West German talks.

3 Wee Tales About Formosa and Moscow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department announced it has suspended travel of military men's families to Formosa because of the present crisis there.

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Communist organ Pravda accused the United States today of planning aggression against the Chinese mainland and said Russia "cannot remain inactive."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. officials said today the United States is trying to build world pressure on Red China to stop using force in the Formosa Straits and start acting like a peaceful world citizen.

Chrysler '59 Lines Stress Safety, Passenger Comfort

By ROBERT B. TARR
Managing Editor, Pontiac Press

MIAMI BEACH — Chrysler Corp. enters the 1959 automotive market early next month with its five lines of cars extensively restyled, and carrying engineering developments designed for greater safety, better performance and increased passenger comfort.

Chrysler President L. L. Colbert presented the '59 cars to newsmen here yesterday afternoon. DeSoto Division will show its cars to the public Sept. 23; Imperials, Plymouths, Dodges and Chryslers will be shown, in that order, from Oct. 6 through 10th.

In continuing the dart-line styling which has characterized Chrysler cars in recent years, the cars appear with new front fenders and hoods, new rear fin and fender panels, new roof and floor panels, new front and rear bumpers and grilles. More head and leg room and additional seating comfort is claimed by the designers.

An innovation sure to get plenty of attention is swivel front seats which turn at the release of a button to permit easy entrance or exit. The swivel seats are standard on about half the corporation models; available on all. Between the two swivel seats is a smaller third seat which turns down as an arm rest when desired.

Other Chrysler features for '59 include: V-8 engines of increased displacement for all lines, with two new 383 and 413 cubic-inch engines; a new rear axle with a 2.95 ratio (the same as overdrive) with which a 10 per cent fuel economy is claimed; torsion-aire suspension standard on all cars with new automatic rear air units available for cars carrying extra heavy loads.

An electronic rear view mirror (optional) which automatically dims reflection from following cars, a new headlight dimmer, and push-button controls for heating and air conditioning systems are other innovations.

Red China, U.S. Slugging It Out in Tough Talk

Many Ifs in President's Warning; Reaction Is Favorable at Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Red China was faced today with the prospect of having its mainland bases blasted by U.S. bombers if it starts a war in the Formosa Strait.

If things came to that pass, what Red China might start as a limited brush-fire could ignite a raging combat threatening to engulf the whole world—conceivably even a universally dreaded all-out atomic conflict.

This tough new U.S. attitude toward Red China's militarism was officially disclosed at Newport, R. I., yesterday by a top U.S. authority.

This official briefed some 70 newsmen at the summer White House after Secretary of State Dulles flew there for a lengthy conference with President Eisenhower on the China crisis.

The briefing expanded on a strongly worded U.S. policy statement authorized by Eisenhower and read to reporters by Dulles. The combination provided the strongest U.S. warning yet to Red China not to carry out its threat of attack against Nationalist-held islands in the Formosa Strait.

The statement said:

1. Eisenhower would order "timely and effective" action if he decided any Red Chinese attack on the offshore islands threatened Formosa, the Nationalist headquarters which the United States is pledged by treaty to defend.

2. Eisenhower has reached no such decision yet, but would not hesitate to make it if circumstances warranted.

3. Any Red Chinese extension of its territory by force endangers the whole free world, and "acquiescence therein would threaten peace everywhere."

4. Despite Red China's threats and military buildup, it is not yet certain the Communists will attack, nor is it apparent that the Nationalists would need U. S. military help to throw back any Communist attackers.

★ ★ ★

The statement called on Red China once more to renounce the use of force except in self-defense.

"The United States intends to follow that course, so far as it is concerned," the statement said,

'KEEP OUT' AREA — The broken line indicates where Red China Thursday announced extension of its territorial waters to 12 miles beyond the offshore islands along the mainland. The no trespassing edict includes the islands of Matsu and Quemoy, as well as Formosa and the Pescadores.

Begin Union Racketeering Probe

Hoffa Delays Decision on Calling Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters chief James R. Hoffa has postponed a decision on whether to call a union convention which could free his union from a court-appointed monitoring board.

Objections to the plan by the monitors themselves led Hoffa yesterday to announce a Sept. 16 meeting of the union's International Executive Board and the monitors to discuss the proposed convention.

Under terms of the court order by U.S. Dist. Judge F. Dickenson Letts, which set up the monitoring board, the union can get the monitorship dissolved by holding a convention any time after next January and electing officers again. The election would be supervised by the monitors.

Letts set up the monitor arrangement as part of a compromise settlement of a lawsuit challenging Hoffa's right to become Teamsters president last year.

Martin F. O'Donoghue, chairman of the monitor board, earlier had protested Hoffa's announced plan to outline his convention plans to the union's Executive Board yesterday. O'Donoghue said the monitors should be consulted first.

VICTORY NOT DOUBTED

No observer doubted that Hoffa could win re-election at a special convention. Reportedly, his plan is to call a convention in February, get himself re-elected, and then ask the court to end the job of the monitors.

O'Donoghue consulted with Judge Letts on monitor powers and complaints that Hoffa is not following through on monitor cleanup recommendations.

After the two-hour session, also attended by Hoffa's attorneys, O'Donoghue told newsmen, "We are much satisfied."

O'Donoghue said Judge Letts had not given a formal opinion on the status of a rival cleanup group appointed by Hoffa himself and headed by former Republican Sen. George Bender of Ohio.

O'Donoghue indicated he would take any conflict with Bender's group into open court and seek a ruling from the judge.

Hits Racket Committee

State Bar President Will Defend Hartrick

Sharp criticism has been aimed at the Senate Rackets Committee for its handling of testimony involving an alleged deal between the late Oakland County Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick and the late Kim Sigler, then state special prosecutor.

State Bar President James E. Haggerty told the third annual state judicial conference in Detroit yesterday, "No one in this state has yet come to the aid of Judge Hartrick. The state Bar and I personally will see to it that it is done."

Last Aug. 13, Robert P. Scott, former Local 614 officer and secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Federation of Labor, testified before the Senate Committee that he refused a request by James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union President, to intercede with Judge Hartrick in an attempt to win a new trial for Harry Fleisher, a member of the old Purple Gang.

Fleisher had received a 25-50 year term for armed robbery.

Scott said today he intended nothing derogatory about Judge Hartrick in his testimony, and that he was testifying only to what Sigler had related to him sometime in 1950 about the alleged Sigler-Hartrick agreement.

Scott said that Fleisher and several other defendants before Hartrick were to be given stiff sentences in return for which Sigler had promised to give Hartrick a seat on the State Supreme Court if he were elected governor.

"This was a vile defamation through the instrumentality of hearsay testimony," Haggerty said. "I am going to procure the testimony which I personally will deliver to the committee to correct the record and to exonerate the highly ethical and distinguished jurist."

Judge Hartrick died in San Francisco the same day Scott testified before the committee.

Union Leader Sits in Parley at GM Today

Both Sides Maintain They're Flexible, Hope for Other to Give In DETROIT (AP)—Walter P. Reuther personally joined contract talks at General Motors today, declaring his United Auto Workers union would do everything possible to avoid a strike.

His move came as new wildcat walkouts idled some 2,000 workers at Big Three auto plants.

Before entering the bargaining room, the UAW president amiably shook hands with GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton.

Seaton, GM's chief negotiator, also told newsmen the company would do everything it could to head off a strike.

"I came here first because I thought this would be a good place to start," Reuther smiled. He said he would join Ford and Chrysler talks next week before the union executive board meets to set a strike target and deadline.

"We are not rigid," Reuther said. But he added the union would not compromise its demands for increased layoff pay benefits, pension improvements, special benefits for displaced workers and a wage increase based on productivity.

Seaton also termed the company's position as flexible and said "When we make an offer and what it would be depends on developments at the bargaining table. We have no proposal on the table at the moment. We are sure if the union will tell us what demands they are serious about, we can work out a settlement equitable and sound to the employes, stockholders and the public."

Seaton, however, said the UAW had not scaled down demands which the company estimates would increase labor costs 48 cents an hour per worker.

HOPE IN REUTHER

"We are very hopeful Mr. Reuther's reappearance will unlock the frozen position the union has taken since May 29," said Seaton. That was the date the old GM contract expired. UAW members have been working since June 1 without one at GM, Ford or Chrysler.

Reuther insisted, "We are as flexible and as open as we can be. We are not asking for the moon. If a strike takes place it will be very clear the responsibility rests on the corporation."

Reuther declined to put a price tag on union demands because he

Lawyer Wants to Explain Loan

Teamster Fitzgerald Is Angry He Has to Wait Until Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters lawyer George S. Fitzgerald said today he can explain fully his role in a million-dollar union welfare fund loan under fire in the Senate rackets hearings.

He expressed resentment that the hearings were adjourned until next Tuesday before he had a chance to reply as a witness to testimony involving him.

The special investigating committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) heard testimony yesterday about a 1955-56 loan to a Detroit real estate promotion firm which allegedly has repaid none of the debt and not all of the interest due.

The loan was made from the Michigan Conference of Teamsters welfare fund.

A staff accountant testified that the Winchester Village Land Development Co. paid Fitzgerald and others a $35,000 fee for telling the firm where it could get the loan.

Fitzgerald, a former Democratic national committeeman from Michigan, told newsmen the payment was made for legal services and not as a loan-finding fee.

The accountant, Walter H. Henson, testified that money from the loan was used improperly for various purposes. He esti-

U.S. Economy Promise Cited

GM Vice Pres. Kyes Sees 10-Year Progress of $200 Billion

DAYTON, Ohio — American economic progress in the next ten years "may well increase our production of goods and services by as much as 200 billion dollars," Roger M. Kyes, vice president of General Motors, said last night.

"The growing potential of the United States economy is almost beyond comprehension," Mr. Kyes told 700 civic and business leaders at a "Salute to GM" dinner sponsored by the Dayton Area Chamber of Commerce in honor of General Motors' 50th anniversary this year.

Kyes, who is GM group executive in charge of the Dayton, Household Appliance and GMC Truck Group, responded to remarks saluting General Motors by S. C. Allyn, chairman of the board of The National Cash Register Co.

Warning that "economic development is not automatic," Mr. Kyes said Americans must do four things to "insure the forward march of our dynamic enterprise system." They are:

"Develop and expand our economy to meet the demands of our people as consumers in the market place.

"Intensify our efforts in the field of fundamental knowledge, thus breaking through the barriers of ignorance that impede us.

"Devote our utmost energy to our tasks.

"And, finally, cling with the zeal of crusaders to the religious and economic principles that have given us so much for so many years."

Kyes foresaw these developments — of keen significance to Dayton and its industries as well as to the entire nation — during the next 10 years:

1. An increase of almost two-thirds in the number of households with incomes of more than $7,500.

2. "New concepts in refrigeration and appliances for food preparation, as well as automatic equipment for food handling, storage and replenishment. Developments in the field of electronics will revolutionize the function and control of all labor saving appliances."

3. "Truly dramatic strides . . . in the field of air conditioning and dehumidification."

4. An "ever expanding need for more intricate and diversified types of electrical equipment."

5. Improvements in the automobile "to insure greater utility, satisfaction and convenience."

6. Many innovations in the rocket and space travel fields.

American capitalism has confounded the predictions of Karl Marx, Mr. Kyes said, because "we have been creative and cooperative" in building a system under which the average man is "the king of the market place."

This constructive "give and take" spirit flourishes better under capitalism than under other economic systems because "the capitalistic system more nearly complies with religious principles than any other system does," the GM executive said.

mated the union fund will wind up losing nearly $650,000 of the million-dollar loan. It has received only $104,000 of $279,000 due in interest, he said.

Fitzgerald contended, however, that the company has other assets and said the money will be recovered in full. The firm was organized by Abe Green and Jack I. Winshall of Detroit to develop property near Flint, Mich.

But Henson testified that $20,935.75 of the money went for purchase of 19 cows and a bull.

He related also that the firm used a phony billing system to sell a piece of the mortgaged property for $10,000 and buy it back a few months later for $50,000.

Henson said the million dollars had been deposited in escrow with the Abstract and Title Guarantee Co. of Detroit under seemingly iron-clad safeguards for its proper use.

He said one of these required the borrowers to submit to the abstract company bills for work performed in developing their real estate project. The abstract company then had to pay the billers directly.

Henson testified that officials at Winchester borrowed stationery from the Aero Realty Co. of Detroit and sent themselves phony bills on these letterheads to provide a basis for drawing money against the loan.

Henson said welfare fund records show Teamsters President James R. Hoffa figured in approving the loan to Winchester.

School Boards All Confused

Racial Rulings in South Cause Effigy and Cross Burnings Last Night

By United Press International

The nation's school integration controversy raged in Virginia and Arkansas today. Manifestations of the racial troubles included the burning of a Negro in effigy in Arkansas and a fiery cross in North Carolina.

Virginia's integration spotlight was on Charlottesville where the city school board met to weigh the advice of Gov. J. Lindsay Almond to make no assignments, white or Negro, to any school in the face of a federal court integration order.

Also in Virginia, federal Judge Albert V. Bryan ordered Arlington County schools, near the nation's capital, to open Monday on a segregated basis pending the U.S. Supreme Court's decision on the Little Rock crisis. He ordered the Arlington schools to hold up admittance of 30 Negro children to seven white schools and took under the study the petition of the applicants.

Almond informed all Virginia school boards yesterday that they had been "totally divested" of any authority in pupil assignment by the state's pupil placement law, part of the state's "massive resistance" plan.

Almond's message magnified the dilemma of the boards which are named as defendants in desegregation suits against Arlington and Prince Edward counties and Norfolk, the state's sensitive integration spots.

In effect the boards are under federal court order to assign Negro students to white schools and under state law are forbidden to make any assignments.

Elsewhere in the South there was a faltering start toward school integration and some violence.

Fire Kills Four Children While Parents Are Away

NYACK, N. Y. (UPI) — Four children died in a fire last night while their parents were away.

The youngsters were Maker Harris Jr., 4; Betty Lou, 2; Darcia, 1; and Robin, 2 months. The fire swept their apartment in a four-family frame house.

Mrs. Harris was visiting a neighbor when the blaze broke out. Her husband had left the apartment earlier.

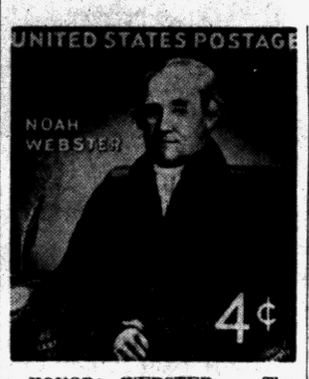

August Sales Jump

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Reserve System reports a sharp increase in nationwide department store sales last month over July. The Federal Reserve index for July was 148 per cent of the 1947-49 average, a record level. The previous high was 144 in August, 1957, the month regarded by many economists as the start of the recession.

Red China and U.S. Slug It Out in Talk

"unless and until the Chinese Communists, by their acts, leave us no choice but to react in defense of the principles to which all peace-loving governments are dedicated."

The limited available congressional reaction to the statement mostly was favorable.

"I am in full accord with the position taken by the President," said Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY). "Sooner or later we are going to have to face the Communist menace head on — probably the sooner the better."

A similar comment came from Rep. Carl Albert (D-Okla), majority whip in the House.

"My theory is you might as well meet them whenever they step across the line, else there's no end to it," Albert said.

The official U.S. statement made no specific mention of possible bombing of the China mainland. But when asked whether this might be done in defense of Formosa, the official who helped draft the statement said solemnly: "It might become so, if Formosa was attacked or imminently threatened from mainland airfields."

Other officials conjectured that, if the Communists launch an invasion, the first step would be a Nationalist defense backed up by U.S. logistical support but no U.S. warships, aircraft or troops. If the Nationalists succeeded in throwing back the attack, that would be that.

But the officials said Nationalist aircraft probably would be permitted to bomb airfields on the China mainland if the Red-Chinese sent aircraft into the battle.

If Eisenhower decided the Nationalists needed U.S. help and if the Red Chinese continued to launch air attacks, the officials added, U.S. bombers would probably then be ordered to wreck the Communist airfields on the China mainland.

The big question then would be whether the Soviet Union would honor its mutual security pact with Red China. Moscow propagandists already have proclaimed Soviet readiness to give "moral and material support" to the Peiping regime if it becomes embroiled in war.

Nationalist China today rejected Peiping's unilateral extension of its territorial waters, asserting Chiang Kai-shek's regime is the only government that lawfully can speak for China.

Communist shelling of the Nationalist offshore islands, meanwhile, dwindled to nearly nothing.

Free Press Dispute Idles News, Times

Detroit in Its Second Day Without Any Newspapers

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit faced its second day without newspapers today because of a dispute in which pressmen walked off their jobs at the Detroit Free Press.

Publication of the two afternoon newspapers, the Detroit News and the Detroit Times, was suspended after the morning Free Press failed to roll off the presses.

The dispute was touched off by the firing of a union chapel chairman at the Free Press.

Robert C. Butz, executive secretary of the Detroit Newpaper Publishers Assn., said the News and Times were not published because the pressmen's work stoppage was a "violation of the joint contract with the three newspapers."

The striking pressmen were ordered to return to work by officers of the local and international unions but the union members voted to stay off the job. Another meeting of the pressmen was scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday.

★ ★ ★

Butz said the publishers were contacted 26 hours after the start of the walkout by A. J. DeanDrade, vice president of the International Printing Pressmen's Union.

The publishers told DeanDrade, Butz said, that they would schedule a meeting "as soon as possible" Friday seeking to end the work stoppage.

★ ★ ★

Butz said the Free Press chapel chairman who was fired had countermanded a foreman's order despite an earlier warning against such a move.

The union declined to comment on Butz' claim that the members should have taken grievance action in the dispute.

Detroit's three dailies were shut down for 46 days in late 1955 and early 1956 when stereotypers walked out when their contract expired. Other unions took similar action.

In 1957, all three newspapers were closed for a week in a mailers strike against the News. At that time, the publishers association said a strike against one was a strike against all.

DETROIT—This the the background of the labor dispute that has resulted in shutting down all three of Detroit's daily newspapers, the News, Times and Free Press:

★ ★ ★

Early Wednesday morning, at the end of its press run, the chairman of the Free Press Chapel of Detroit Newspaper Printing Pressmen's Union No. 13 countermanded an order given by a Free Press foreman.

The union had been warned repeatedly by newspaper managements in the past few months and had agreed that such countermanding of orders would not be tolerated.

The chapel chairman was discharged.

At 6 p.m. Wednesday the pressmen reported to the press room. There they were reportedly advised to work by their own executive board. But at a subsequent chapel meeting, the members decided not to work.

Efforts were made at the Free Press until 11:15 p.m. to get the men to work and submit discharge to grievance procedure as is provided in the contract between the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Assn., representing the Free Press, the Times and the News, and the and the pressmen's union.

At that time management decided it was too late to get out the regular Thursday editions of the Free Press, and publication was suspended.

The News and the Times, under the provisions of the joint contract, delayed printing Thursday editions.

An international representative of the pressmen arrived in Detroit Thursday morning and the pressmen met with him to consider what action to take.

The position of the publishers is that the strike at the Free Press is a work stoppage in violation of the joint contract with the three newspapers.

Reuther had no comment on current wildcat strikes but Seaton referred to them as hit-run guerrilla warfare which he said was inspired from union headquarters.

15,000 MORE IDLE

New walkouts today idled close to 15,000 workers at three GM Chevrolet plants in Flint and a Fisher Body plant in Euclid, Ohio. Some 7,000 were still off the job in continuing disputes at Ford, Chrysler and other GM plants.

★ ★ ★

Reuther is expected to familiarize himself personally with the contract situation which approached the showdown stage with 1959 models getting into production.

Selection of a strike date and a strike target has been scheduled for Wednesday when the union's 23-man international executive board meets for that purpose.

The UAW said in a statement that it "recognizes that a strike is a serious matter and should be authorized only as a last resort when all methods of reaching an honorable agreement without a strike have been exhausted."

Reuther said the union hoped the corporations will "modify their attitudes so as to make strike action unnecessary."

★ ★ ★

The UAW leader plans to report the union's side to the public Tuesday. Public officials and civic leaders from Michigan and Ohio have been invited to hear the union position before the UAW decides on the strike issue.

Meanwhile, Chrysler Corp. recalled 4,500 workers at its Detroit forge plant after a week-long strike and 250 who walked out yesterday at the Amplex plant in Detroit returned. Some 1,450 Dodge Truck and 700 Imperial workers are still idle in other Chrysler walkouts.

13 Killed as Typhoon Hits North Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Police said today Typhoon Grace killed 13 persons, injured at least 17, and left 8 missing in northern Formosa.

★ ★ ★

The 115-mile-an-hour winds and torrential rains of the year's worst Pacific storm made 2,500 persons homeless, knocked out communications and electrical power, and caused damage to crops estimated at several million dollars.

★ ★ ★

Grace moved up the East China Sea yesterday in the direction of Shanghai.

Robbers Take $4,000

DETROIT (AP)—Bandits robbed a northwest side S. S. Kresge Co. store of $3,000 and an east side supermarket of $1,000 Thursday. Police said a lone gunman staged the Kresge Co. robbery and two gunmen held up the supermarket.

THERE'S ELLA,— Tropical storm Ella is idling across the Gulf of Mexico about 450 miles south of Biloxi, Miss. Small craft warnings are up from Brownsville, Tex., to Pensacola, Fla. Ella is moving in a west-northwesterly course.

Brewing Off Coast

Texas in Hurricane Path

By Associated Press

Tropical storm Ella increased in size during the night and, very likely in intensity, the Weather Bureau said today.

This probably would make Ella, a lumbering mass for the past few days, a hurricane.

A morning bulletin from the Weather Bureau in New Orleans said gale warnings and a hurricane watch are in effect from south of Corpus Christi to Galveston, Tex.

An earlier advisory said the storm was headed toward the central Texas coast and warned of rising tides.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the Weather Bureau said coastal roads between Galveston and Port Arthur and in Louisiana's Cameron Parish already were closed by water. The Weather Bureau said winds and tides will increase today and tonight.

Brief but violent thunderstorms hit the Detroit area yesterday afternoon.

The Weather Bureau at Detroit said there were two storms, one early in the afternoon, another an hour later. Tree limbs and wires were felled in some out-county districts.

Earlier yesterday, the Thumb area of the state was hit by an electrical storm that knocked out power and caused property damage over a wide section.

A narrow belt of showers and thunderstorms extended from Kansas and Nebraska eastward across southern Iowa, northern Missouri and central part of Illinois into the lower Great Lakes region and Pennsylvania.

About 2 inches of rain fell in Pittsburgh during the night while fairly heavy amounts were reported in parts of Kansas, Illinois, Ohio and Nebraska.

Biggest rainfall in the last 24 hours was in the Central Plains, with more than 5 inches reported in parts of Kansas. Heavy rain also drenched sections of Oklahoma.

City Receives Proposals for Boosting Traffic Safety

BIRMINGHAM — Recommendations for the improvement of Birmingham's traffic safety program were made yesterday afternoon by State Police Sgt. Michael Sibal as he reviewed a National Safety Council analysis of the city's 1957 traffic record.

Municipal Court handling of traffic cases was greatly improved, according to the study, Sibal told city officials.

A set of rules to guide the court and persons handling violations has been suggested to make disposition of the cases more uniform, he told city officials.

The importance of more convictions with penalty on specific driver intoxication charges was urged in the report. It also was suggested that chemical tests be used every time police have reason to believe a driver is intoxicated.

ACCIDENTS INCREASE

An upswing in traffic accidents was noted in that the Municipal Court handled 1,708 cases last year, compared to 777 in 1956, according to the report. The Violations Bureau had 15,815 cases last year, of which 4,284 were for moving violations. The balance were for overtime or improper parking.

To further the excellent safety program in the schools, it has been suggested traffic safety films be shown in local theaters.

Greater enforcement of pedestrian laws should be made, Sibal said, and consideration given to increasing the strength of the Police Department.

Better lighting in areas of frequent night mishaps also was suggested in the report.

At the conclusion of his report, given at the Municipal Building, Sibal presented the city with the National Safety Council's Certificate of Achievement plaque. A few weeks ago a similar award from the International Assn. of Chiefs of Police was received here.

Birmingham Police are investigating the robbery last night of a safe at the Quarton Market, 1744 W. Maple Ave.

Ed Coleman of Detroit, owner of the market, had not yet determined this morning how much money was missing.

The store was broken into through a hole drilled in the roof, just large enough to enable a person to slip through, police said.

The entire back of the double-door safe had been pried off, and records kept in it were found scattered about the floor of the store's office.

In preparation for its Oct. 5 reception of new members, the Congregational Church of Birmingham has scheduled three Tuesday instruction meetings.

The first will be held Sept. 16 at 8 p.m. in the church.

The church also has announced establishment of a Robert Bensinger Memorial Fund for the church school. A teacher in the junior department of the school, Mr. Bensinger died Aug. 16 following a heart attack.

Barbara McMullen

Service for Barbara Lynn McMullen, 15, of 3988 Lakewood Lane, Bloomfield Township, was held at 2 p.m. today at the William Vasu Funeral Home, Royal Oak. Burial was in Acacia Park Cemetery.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barclay McMullen, she died Wednesday at her home. Barbara was a 10th grade pupil at Bloomfield Hills High School.

Surviving beside her parents are a sister, Sharon; a brother, John, both at home; and her grandmothers, Mrs. E. T. Marion and Mrs. P. V. McMullen, both of Detroit.

Soviet Salesmanship Alarming to Hart

that they should align themselves with the free world, is handicapped because "our nation is colossally ignorant about other people, their culture, their ways of life."

Hart illustrated this point by referring to his eight children who, he said, could relate much about kings and queens of Great Britain, but knew little about Asian nations, their history and their people.

He touched on the creation of Michigan State University Oakland as an institution to educate girls and boys to become future leaders of the free world.

★ ★ ★

Hart, 45, was not a newcomer before Pontiac Rotarians. He appeared in 1954 when he was campaigning for lieutenant governor.

His self-selling job yesterday centered almost entirely on what he called "today's generation of international crisis."

★ ★ ★

State politics emerged only when he refuted claims of Michigan Republicans that state Democrats are "the tools of labor."

NO WAIT FOR UAW

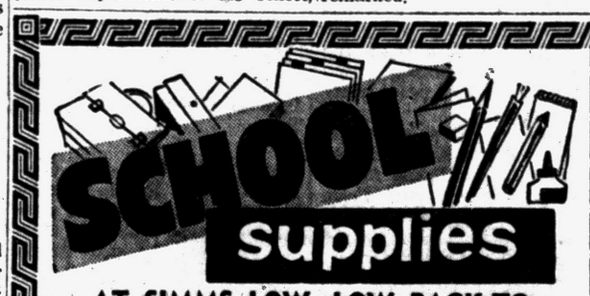

"I've never waited for Solidarity House (Detroit headquarters of the UAW) to tell me what suit to wear," he said. "Besides, I was a Democrat a long time before I heard these (labor) fellows."

Returning to the subject of international peace, Hart warned what he said was the "basic, hard truth all Americans must know." That is: "We will know no peace," he said.

★ ★ ★

This is the result, Hart added, of the eternal struggle now going on between the free and Communistic worlds for the smaller nations looking toward one of the two to help narrow the gap between their 17th century living and the present.

"The Soviets are pressing our system with a large measure of success in this direction," Hart remarked.

Gives Her Life Savings of $10,000 to NAACP

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A retired Oakland domestic servant has given most of her life savings —$10,000—to the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mrs. Mattie Dickson, 83, who had invested earnings made in 26 years as a servant, said she turned the money over to NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins to help fight the "disgraceful abuses in American democracy."

His Noggin Broke Pistol, So Victim Must Pay

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Howard R. Bunting has been ordered to pay for the damages caused to a policeman's revolver that broke on his head.

Bunting, his head swathed in bandages, pleaded guilty to drunk and resisting arrest charges yesterday. He was fined $125. The court said he'd have to pay for the broken ejector on officer J.S. Folk's pistol because it was Bunting's fault Folk had to hit him.

Most of the gasoline sold to American drivers is conveyed between 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. on weekdays or before the noon hour on Sundays.

Thieves Rob Church of Crucifix, Cash

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Thieves broke into a church here yesterday and stole a silver crucifix from an unlocked safe.

The Rev. James Aloupis, pastor of the St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox church, set the value of the crucifix at about $130. He said the burglars also took $208 in cash from his office desk.

In addition, they made off with $160 taken from poor boxes at the church.

Hal Boyle Reports:

Rock 'n' Roll Not Even Good 'Savagery'!

NEW YORK (AP)—The fine-featured, elderly man drew back as if he had received a blow in the face.

"What do I think of rock 'n' roll?" he said. "Why, it's nothing but pure savagery—but the savages did it better. They used it to work themselves up to enjoy orgies or commit murders.

★ ★ ★

"Beethoven used themes as simple as rock 'n' roll themes, but he developed them. They grew. Rock 'n' roll has practically no melodic value. It is simply a monotonous, savage beat, repeated over and over."

And Dr. Sigmund Spaeth leaned back, slightly upset. He has been a top cheerleader for all kinds of music for 50 years. His 30 books range from "Great Symphonies" to "How to Play the Harmonica." But he draws the line at rock 'n' roll.

"There are limits to human tolerance," he observed.

★ ★ ★

At 73, Dr. Spaeth, who can play 10 instruments himself, is still one of America's most active drum-beaters for the appreciation of music. The noted "tune detective" delivers 50 lectures a year, travels 50,000 miles, edits "Music Journal," writes a weekly syndicatd music column, serves as panelist on a radio show.

He believes the nation is in the midst of a spreading musical boom period.

"There are more people playing some kind of musical instrument now than at any other time in our history," he said.

"We've got over the silly idea that if you want to play at all you have to play well. The old-fashioned teachers used to ruin music for many of their pupils by making it a form of drudgery. They treated every student as a potential concert performer.

★ ★ ★

"That was nonsense. We need dub musicians as well as pros. Only a few have the talent to become pros."

Throughout his long career Dr. Spath, who began playing the piano at 5, has preached the theory that music is fun.

★ ★ ★

"If it isn't fun," he demanded, "what else can it be? People should make music for their own satisfaction, and listen to it for their own satisfaction—not merely because someone informs them it is cultural.

"Parents often ask me when they should start their children listening to good music. I tell them, 'The day a child is born. You can't start much sooner.'"

U.S. Secret: Hard Work

WASHINGTON—Seiichiro Watanabe, assistant head of a Japanese steel company, who has just finished a study of American steel mills, says he used to think abundant resources and monopolies were the secret of America's strength, but his observations have convinced him that the real secret is ethics and a hard-working people.

Lightning-Caused Fire Levels Frankfort Church

FRANKFORT (AP) — Lightning-caused fire Wednesday night leveled the Frankfort Methodist Church with losses estimated at about $80,000.

The one-story frame building had been a Frankfort landmark mor than 50 years. Fire Chief Raymond Jaeger said the lightning bolt reportedly sizzled from the church chimney to the basement, leaving a trail of fire. No one was injured.

Cloverleaf Complex!

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)— A patient in a room high up in the Medical College of Virginia Hospital told attendants he was developing nervous prostrations trying to figure out the cloverleafs on the new express way through the city. John Pershing, general manager of the turnpike, sent him a complete set of plans.

Fourteen of the states have an annual steel production capacity in excess of 1.5 million tons.

Mao Sets High Goal in Steel

Calls for a Fantastic 100 Per Cent Rise in Red China Production

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

Mao Tze-tung is going to try to drive Communist China this year into a fantastic increase of 100 per cent in steel output over 1957.

This project was advanced and approved a few days ago at the session of the broadened Politburo of the Chinese Communist party. How it is proposed to attain this vast increase in steel output has not yet been disclosed by the Communist Chinese press and radio.

Here is the way this amazing project developed. In 1957 Red China produced, according to official figures from Peiping, 5,350,000 metric tons of steel. (A metric ton is about a tenth larger than the English short ton of 2,000 pounds.) In February the economic plan for 1958 adopted by the Peiping government provided for an increase in steel production of 850,000 tons over 1957.

At the end of May, the Politburo met and ordered the goal increased to 8 to 8½ million tons. This involved a boost of 50 per cent in one year, unheard of even in the Soviet Union or the United States.

But even this apparently was not enough. The new target of 10,700,000 tons is exactly twice the production claimed in 1957.

It seems amazing that such a high goal has been set, particularly since in the first half of 1958 steel production was only 26 per cent above the same period of 1957. This is a big rise, but it is far from the 100 per cent now proclaimed as a state plan.

There is an obvious conclusion: the rulers of Red China may be making a propaganda bluff or they may have some special gimmick.

★ ★ ★

There are two possible gimmicks of this sort. One of them is very speedy and big Soviet help. The other is the new method advocated in Communist China of developing small steel and iron smelters on a handicraft scale throughout the nation. But it seems difficult to suppose that either could begin to account for a doubling of output.

★ ★ ★

Nevertheless, steel output in China is rising fast with Soviet assistance, and within a few years it is likely Communist China will be running a race with France for the rank of fifth in steel production.

Too Hot for the Trout!

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The beavers are making things hot for the trout, and the Wisconsin Conservation Department is trying to determine what can be done about it. There are complaints that the dams built by the beavers slow up the rapid flow of the streams. As a result, the sun heats the standing water, making things too warm for trout life.

Canada's Doukhobors to Go Back to Russia

The Doukhobors of Western Canada are on the move again. About one-quarter of them, known as the Sons of Freedom, are disenchanted with Canada and want to return to their ancestral home in Russia despite having fled that country because of bitter persecution.

This religious sect was founded in 1740 at Kharkov, Russia. Its members are pacifists and vegetarians and against secular education. In 1898 they settled in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia. A few of them later went to Mexico and South America.

★ ★ ★

As far back as 1910 this offshoot of the Doukhobor cult was causing trouble and embarrassment in Yorkton, Sask., where they staged nude parades, sometimes in 20 degrees below weather, and burned buildings because "a voice told them to do so" as a protest against certain laws. The RCMP barracks always had a supply of blankets to cover the demonstartors as they took them off to jail—and then released them in the morning.

★ ★ ★

The Yorkton Sons of Freedom later moved to the fertile valleys of British Columbia. Because Canadian law requires them to send their children to school, they again have been bombing railroad trains, burning public buildings and homes and parading without clothes. In desperation, and perhaps with an eye to getting rid of these troublemakers, the British Columbia government took some of the children forcibly and put them in boarding schools where the parents had visiting privileges only. The Doukhobors wouldn't permit teachers to open schools in their settlements.

The chances are that if the Sons of Freedom had learned to read, there would be no outcry now to return to Russia nor would they have fallen for Soviet propaganda.

As a whole Doukhobors are quiet citizens and good farmers. They prospered in Canada and most of them have adjusted themselves more or less to Canadian laws and customs, much as the Amish have done in this country.

The Sons of Freedom, however, want the province or Dominion governments to pay the cost of their repatriation. The governments have no such obligation but probably will defray the expense in order to be rid of the unsolvable problem.

De Gaulle Asks Vote for New Constitution

Gen. CHARLES DE GAULLE, Premier of France, is on a 15,000 mile tour of French possessions in Africa to explain and gain support for his new French Constitution.

DE GAULLE is offering the colonies a choice of complete integration as a part of metropolitan France, limited autonomy or secession and independence. Complete autonomy, of course, would mean an end to French subsidies and many other economic benefits. The offer would not apply to Algeria at the present time.

As a matter of fact Algerian terrorists have been losing ground both militarily and politically. Gen. DE GAULLE has promised Algerians equality and equal suffrage with a view to eventual independence. The Nationalists want their countrymen to abstain from voting on the referendum or to vote negatively.

The new constitution, which is to be voted on Sept. 28, would give the President and his Cabinet some real power and France a more stable government in contrast to the chronic chaos of the past. Since he became premier on June 1, the General has been working toward that goal and a more elastic foreign policy.

★ ★ ★

If the referendum fails to approve the new constitution, Gen. DE GAULLE says he will retire. This could lead to military dictatorship or civil war and a breakup of the French empire. It is to be hoped that the constitution is approved and that France gets yet another reprieve to set its house in order.

David Lawrence Says:

School Issue Poses Major Crisis

WASHINGTON — A constitutional crisis of major proportions is shaping up for America. It involves far more that the issue of attendance in mixed schools.

LAWRENCE

It involves the broader question of whether the Supreme Court of the United States may suddenly declare that "equal protection of the laws" under the Fourteenth Amendment requires uniformity throughout the nation on all laws affecting citizens generally.

This could mean that the divorce laws of all the states must be the same, income-tax laws must be the same, laws regulating labor unions and corporations, respectively, must be the same, and laws must be uniform throughout the country with regard to all kinds of licenses and privileges which citizens of different states may desire to obtain or enjoy.

Few people realize the potential scope of the Fourteenth Amendment and its far-reaching impact if the present Supreme Court continues its current program of knocking down state laws that it considers socially or psychologically harmful or as involving discrimination between citizens in any field of endeavor.

Many millions of Americans undoubtedly feel that they are being discriminated against because they pay higher taxes to their own state than do citizens elsewhere.

Many citizens object to the fact that, although they do business across state lines, they must pay local taxes in varying amounts to different states and cities where they sell their wares.

If the Fourteenth Amendment means that no state shall deny "equal protection of the laws" to any citizen, the principle could apply as between citizens who live in different states instead of merely as between citizens of a single state.

The theory could be carried to the point where economic inequality can be condemned by the Supreme Court as readily as racial or social inequalities, under the doctrine that it is an obligation of government to guarantee equality as between citizens.

There would be a condition of near chaos in America if the Supreme Court invalidated, for instance, state laws on divorce. Husbands could stop paying alimony. Persons who had remarried in one state believing that they were legally divorced in another state could be made subject to various kinds of legal suits.

Yet, while such action may not be imminent, the stark fact is that the Supreme Court has set itself up as having the right to disregard at any moment all legal precedents of the past and to rule on what it believes is socially or psychologically desirable.

The latest challenge to the idea that the school desegregation decisions are the "law of the land" in the sense that they actually can compel integration in every state has come from Gov. Almond of Virginia.

Himself a former state attorney-general and an able lawyer, Almond made a sensational statement Thursday when he said:

★ ★ ★

This is really the key to the program through which the Southern states feel confident they can legally avoid forcible integration in the public schools.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Alcoholism Ranks Fourth in U.S. Health Problems

You can't tell an alcoholic anything about the effects of drinking in the early months or years of his addiction. At this stage he takes childish pride in his familiarity with various concoctions, how to order his drink and his ability to take it without, as he likes to think, showing the effects.

DR BRADY

One becomes an alcoholic, says WHO (World Health Organization), when he begins to be concerned about how activities might interfere with his drinking instead of how drinking might interfere with his activities.

A traveling salesman who has strayed beyond the boundaries of common sense and good judgment sends this SOS:

"I am in a position which requires traveling and calling on business firms which purchase from my company. It is almost an absolute necessity that I drink with my customers. I have tried to avoid it, but had a good deal of difficulty. I drink both beer and whisky. I am 45 years old, and whenever I do much drinking I feel all tired out the next day and it takes about two days to feel right.

"I have heard there is some new drug that may be taken before drinking so the drink will not have an effect, and there are no after-effects either. I hope you can tell me what this drug is, so I will not have to resign my position. (Signed) . . . . ."

If this man's employer demands he drink with the customers, the practice is a sad commentary on American business.

As a rabid teetotaler I am well aware of the pressure brought to bear on the non-drinker in business, professional and social life. I have no solution of this problem for others. For myself I just grit my teeth (they're my own and I have a right to grit 'em) and decline the invitation — but, you see, I'm a lonesome character, or, if you will pardon my conceit, a rugged individualist.

From the salesman's letter, I infer that he is fond of his job because it doesn't interfere with his drinking. The miracle drug that enables a drinker to drink without manifesting or feeling ill effects or after-effects has not been discovered.

Like most addicts in the first years of alcoholism, this one will probably reject the idea of attending an AA (Alcoholics Anonymous) meeting. Narcotic addicts (alcohol is a narcotic) nearly always insist they "can take it or let it alone" and they need no one's help. Day by day, year after year, they prove they can take it, but we have only their word that they can let it alone.

The drinker who uses judgment allows his body to utilize the drink he has consumed before he takes another, says Dr. Marvin A. Black, chairman of the AMA Committee on Alcoholism. But the alcoholic continues to drink, unable to control his compulsion. Many an alcoholic would literally drink himself to death if nature did not intervene by causing unconsciousness.

Alcoholism stands fourth among health problems in the United States — outranked by (1) mental illness, (2) heart and artery disease, and (3) cancer. Remember, alcohol in any dose and under any circumstance is a narcotic.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'Our Liberties Depend on the Men We Put in Office'

Our coming fall election is a very important one. Besides our county officers, we will vote both state and national. Our nation is in a critical condition from any standpoint. You might say we are in the same position as was ancient Rome. Then the government slipped out of the hands of the people before the people realized what was taking place.

★ ★ ★

As a nation we have stressed the point that we are a nation of law and not of men, but the reverse is taking place. We must elect men who will stand for principle though the heavens fall, men whose convictions are in accord with both our Federal and State constitutions and who have the courage of their convictions.

★ ★ ★

Civil and religious liberty are the two fundamental principles on which our Federal Constitution is built and if we are to preserve our liberties, we must place men in office who will fight to preserve them.

'Dems Will Sweep Most of the Offices'

After driving around the state, I believe the Democrats will sweep all state offices, elect a majority in the House and they stand a real good chance of controlling the Senate also.

Here it is a great chance for us to take over Michigan and handle it as it should be handled. A century of Republican rule didn't accomplish much. If we handle everything for the next century, you will see industry wanting to come back and there will be no more moving to Ohio and the South.

'Why Do Dems Let Thugs In?'

I was very much interested in the VOP letter from New Jersey. I have a good friend and neighbor who is a Democrat. How can anyone vote with the party that has all the thugs, burglars, hoodlums, crooks, grafters and the scum of the earth?

★ ★ ★

How can good people stand beside the racketeers, the bomb throwers, and the murderers? If the trash wants a party of their own, why that's O.K., but why should the Democrats allow them to take over an old party and then work along with them?

★ ★ ★

I wish the Democrat would explain so I could respect the Democrats as much as I did 15 and 20 years ago.

Wondering

Phooey!

Any day now I expect the nation's news (?) magazines to start advocating:

1. Junk your "oil or gas guzzling" heating system and install an old pot-bellied stove in the living room.

2. Give your neighbor that electric stove which is "dripping with chrome" and start cooking over an open fire.

3. Waste no more time disposing of your "monstrous" electric vacuum sweeper and substitute in its stead one of those nice little compact hand sweepers.

4. Don't be a sucker for the electric company—rip out that wiring and start using candles.

5. Save money by cutting your lawn with a scythe instead of a power mower. Your grandfather didn't need such new-fangled gadgets.

Ridiculous?

No more so than the present, unexplainable crusade being conducted by some of the nation's news mags to turn the clock back in the auto industry.

They appear to want the manufacturers to stop producing modern cars and revert to styles which were popular 15 years ago—no chrome, less power, shorter, narrower and squattier and minus such "gadgets" as power steering, power brakes, etc.

Smiles

When the only sympathy you have is for yourself it doesn't amount to much.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Childhood Fears Caused by Adults

Mothers, please ponder Jerry's case. His parents failed to vaccinate him psychologically, and that is just as vital as to vaccinate him medically against polio, smallpox and diphtheria! In fact, this daily column is simply vaccine against divorce, delinquency, fears and other common dilemmas of American homes.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

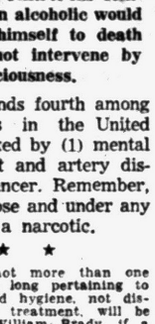

Case Z-311: Jerry R., aged 5, is to enter kindergarten soon.

"But, Dr. Crane," his mother exclaimed, "he cries and doesn't want to leave me.

"He grows actually terrified at the thought of school. What do you think is wrong?"

BENT TWIGS

"As the twig is bent," runs an old saying, which shows that the "twig" of Jerry's personality has been bent wrongly.

DR. CRANE

Children do not have an inborn fear of school. No, that terror must be acquired. So how did Jerry become so fearful?

Well, a lot of thoughtless adults still tease children by saying:

★ ★ ★

"You're going to have to go to school soon! You better play and enjoy your freedom while you can."

This is the same bad idea that has too long prevailed regarding dentists.

"You don't know what pain really is till you sit in a dental chair," these old fogeys will proclaim as they try to terrorize children.

How stupid can you get? These same nitwits know that a dentist is one of a child's best friends and often able to add years to his lifespan.

★ ★ ★

So why make a child afraid of the very people in his environment who are his protectors?

Yet thousands of parents also try to browbeat a child into walking a chalk line by saying:

"If you don't do as mother says, a big old policeman will come and get you and lock you up in jail, etc., etc."

Yet the child is then supposed to react happily to the genial traffic policeman who saves his life at the busy street corner!

GOOD "BRAIN WASHING"

"Brain Washing" has developed a bad meaning because of the Russians.

★ ★ ★

But good parents simply "brain wash" their children toward desirable things in life by proper early teaching.

Many mothers, however, despite being sticklers for junior's having a clean neck and ears and for attiring him in neat clothes, will fail to clean their mental outlook regarding school.

If you want a child to like kindergarten, then do these basic things:

★ ★ ★

Accustom him to playing with other kids. Give him a couple of brothers or sisters as pals before he ever enters kindergarten.

★ ★ ★

If that is impossible, at least get him into Sunday School every week so he can learn to cooperate and harmonize with other youngsters of about his own age.

Meanwhile, teach him to be happy when you are not present, as by educating him to stay at home with a familiar baby sitter at least once per week when you go on a date with your husband.

And encourage him to spend an afternoon (later, an entire night) at the home of his grandparents or cousins.

Get him acquainted with other kids in your block and concoct excuses to have an occasional party at your home, to which he can invite other youngsters.

★ ★ ★

And always portray school as something wonderful to which he will someday be entitled to go when he gets big enough.

In short, place a premium on school attendance by making it a sign of being a big boy or big girl.

Many modern teachers urge mothers to bring their children to school for a party the end of the preceding term so the new youngsters will get a good taste re kindergarten.

Bob Considine Says:

Reds' New York Neighbors Need Flags

NEW YORK — It must be exciting living in the neighborhood of the Soviet Union's Park avenue town house. For protection, several neighbors display the American Flag in their windows.

They need a sign of identity. Neighbor Thomas E. Murray, former AEC commissioner, once bought an American Flag and pole large enough to block the view of the Hammer and Sickle (from the north, at least) when the Reds hung out their colors.

The handsome residence of Russia's top U.N. people and visiting brass is under 24-hour guard by the New York Police. Unquestionably, the FBI and Russian Secret Police are also detailed there, acting, of course, under separate orders.

When Andrei Gromyko was in residence recently the rooftops of nearby homes and apartment houses also were manned by police spotters. Ground floor lights at the residence burned brightly through the night.

Double-parked Russian limousines, aloof to police ticket because of the diplomatic license plates, occasionally block the properly parked vehicles of other tenants of the block.

★ ★ ★

Getting somebody to move the offending car becomes a diplomatic feat. First there is the problem of gaining entrance to the mansion, to make the request.

Then the problem of getting to speak to someone who admits being able to speak English.

The showing of the flag in windows and from the fronts of other homes on the block became imperative after the Hungarian revolt. Hungarian refugees, and other slave state exiles, began their sometimes vehement picketing two years ago.

★ ★ ★

Their lines were sometimes so long that they overlapped the pavements in front of other homes along the block.

Members of the deeply religious and anti-Communist Murray family were heckled as they left or entered their home, the picketers believing that the whole block was infested with Russians.

The Soviet citadel itself is all but impregnable. But it was notably breached one morning by three curious emissaries from another world entirely.

★ ★ ★

Three Catholic nuns, invited to attend 9 o'clock mass in the chapel of the Murray home, arrived 15 minutes early and — to kill time — decided to pay a visit to the nearby atheists.

A startled door-keeper admitted them. They looked around the downstairs foyer for a bit, thanked the bewildered man, and left for their Mass.

Neighbors who knew the big house before the Reds came there 10 years ago are certain they would not recognize its interior now. For a long time after the Russians took possession the sound of air-hammers from inside the building rattled nearby windows.

One thing the neighbors are sure the Russians weren't building were more bedrooms.

Each morning, during busier times, attaches emerge from the swank residence carrying the mattresses on which they must have slept.

They put them in the trunks of their waiting cars and go to work, presumably clearing the floors for whatever receptions or meetings that are to follow.

J. Edgar Hoover's breath-taking warning: "In the postwar years, crime has grown from 1,685,000 major offenses in 1946 to an all-time record of nearly 2,800,000 in 1957.

"Each year, our nation pays a shocking ransom to the underworld. The estimated annual cost of crime now totals a staggering 22 billions of dollars, or $128 for every man, woman and child in the U.S.

"Even though there have been vast increases in our expenditures for education to meet our growing needs, the amounts we spent are more than matched by the cost of crime.

"Crime costs $1.11 each year for every $1 spent on education. For every dollar we contribute to churches, crime costs us $12."

Kills Ex-Girl Friend, Dies 8 Hours Later

NEW YORK (AP)—George Allen, 50-year-old housepainter who shot and killed a young immigrant girl on upper Broadway yesterday, died eight hours later after putting a bullet in his own head.

Allen, who corresponded with dozens of women through lonely hearts clubs, fired three bullets into Veronika Greubel, 23, who came here from West Germany early last year. Allen then turned the gun on himself. He died at Knickerbocker Hospital.

Michael Mullen, 39, a friend of Allen, said Allen and the girl became engaged last year but broke up over, among other things, Allen's drinking.

Allen had left a note in his room reading "Everything I own belongs to Mike Mullen."

Mullen wryly told police: "He didn't own anything. He owed me $40 or $50."

Ike Squeezing Plenty of Golf Into Vacation

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower, ending his first week of vacation, plans another round of golf today.

Eisenhower arranged to play the Newport Country Club course for the sixth time since he arrived in the New England resort area for a stay of indefinite duration.

★ ★ ★

He came to the U.S. naval base here a week ago today and has golfed every day but one—Wednesday, when he went deep sea fishing.

Yesterday he played 18 holes in the afternoon after discussing the China crisis with Secretary of State Dulles.

★ ★ ★

He golfed with two newcomers to his vacation retreats — John Hay (Jock) Whitney, U.S. ambassador to Britain, and old friend William E. Robinson of New York, president of the Coca-Cola Co.

The other member of the foursome was another old friend, George E. Allen, Washington businessman and Gettysburg, Pa., neighbor.

Boy Scouts to Distribute Civil Defense Pamphlets

Pontiac district Boy Scouts and other members of the Clinton Valley Council will help civil defense Oct. 11, when they join scouts across the nation in door-to-door distribution of a preparedness pamphlet.

★ ★ ★

Van Braidwood, Pontiac district scout executive, said the pamphlet was prepared by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization in Washington and is being distributed by scouts at the request of President Eisenhower.

Those Urgent Police Calls Often Hide Humor, Pathos

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Police calls are often filled with humor, tragedy, happiness and pathos, as well as trouble.

This fact is becoming increasingly apparent to Mrs. Ruth Hargreaves, new Waterford Township police radio operator, recording daily police activities.

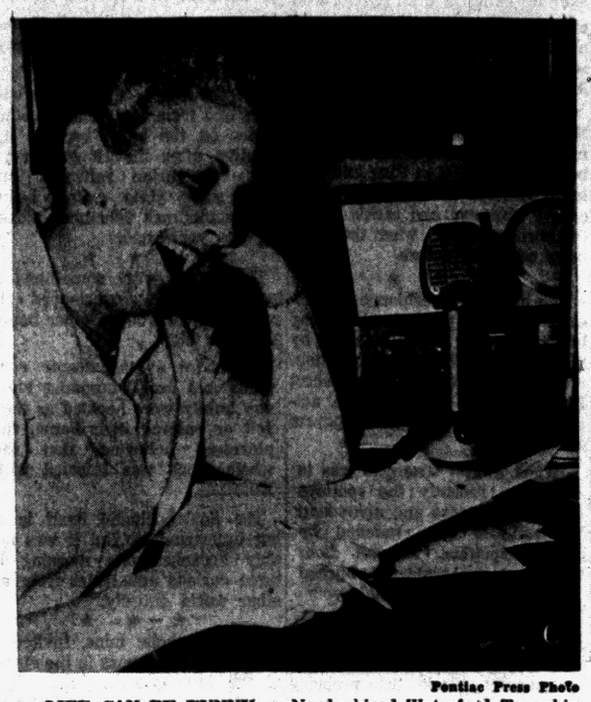

Early in the morning recently, a woman called the police saying that she had been awakened by a loud voice shouting.

When officers arrived, the complainant insisted that the two men listen. They did, and found that the shouting was a big rooster crowing his good morning to the world.

In another report, an abandoned car was found in the middle of a vacant field, stuck in the mud. Wheel marks indicated that the driver had driven all over the area, trying to find the road again; finally walked home. The report stated, "Checked license—found owner. All clear."

★ ★ ★

A woman called recently to say that there was a "wild animal sitting on top of my breadbox—glaring at me." When the police arrived, she had the wildlife shut in the kitchen and it turned out to be a huge rat.

LIFE CAN BE FUNNY — Newly hired Waterford Township police radio operator Mrs. Ruth Hargreaves gets a big kick out of reading some of te police reports that are too inconsequential for newsprint, but are still humorous to an average citizen.

LAWYER CALLS FOR HELP

Some time ago, a lawyer called the police for help in evacuating a monstrous crow which had flown down the fireplace chimney right into their front room.

The interior of the home was in shambles before the officers could finally subdue the terrified intruder.

While on routine duty one night, patrolmen observed an old car completely wreathed in flames. They called the fire department, and found that the owner was merely getting rid of his old junker. He received a ticket for burning rubbish without a permit.

One man registered at a motel one night, and had forgotten where he had parked his car. Police located it through his license number, several miles away near a tavern, and returned it to the owner.

A "hard-of-hearing" act put on by two women, cost one resident his wallet and $75.

★ ★ ★

Two women stopped the man and asked directions to a nearby church. When he answered, one of the women said he would have to come closer, as she couldn't hear him.

The obliging gent complied with her request, then the woman asked him to "come real close so she could bless him before he left."

In her motions of blessing the man, tapping different parts of his suit, she picked his wallet out of his hip pocket and substituted another empty one. Then they drove off. It wasn't until sometime later that the victim discovered the hoax.

★ ★ ★

The report that Mrs. Hargreaves got the biggest kick out of was about a complainant's son had started the family car, and could hear a violent thumping, so he shut off the motor and called the police.

Investigation proved that a stray cat had become caught in the fan of the automobile. The report read: "Cat was released all in one piece minus considerable fur."

U.S. Sitting on Fence Over Chiang's Islands

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It is still deliberately unclear — after statements by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles — what this country will do if the Red Chinese attack the Nationalist-held islands near the China mainland.

They're still doing what they've been doing: keeping the Chinese Communists guessing. What they've said could be construed as ominous. Actually, neither man has said anything committing this country to a course of action.

★ ★ ★

Both men will have to consider carefully — before throwing the United States into war with Red China for the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu and the nearby islets—what support they'd get at home and from American allies abroad.

Dulles, after talking with Eisenhower at Newport, R. I., issued yesterday a 900-word statement about this country's reaction to any Red attack on the islands held by Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists.

★ ★ ★

But examination of this statement shows Dulles stopped a long way short of any flat expression of American intentions. He said in part, and this is the most pertinent part: ". . . The President has not yet made any finding . . . that the employment of the armed forces of the United States is required or appropriate in insuring the defense of Formosa. . . ."

That can be accurately translated into meaning Eisenhower as of now doesn't think Formosa, Chiang's stronghold 100 miles off the China coast, is in any danger of Red attack.

Under this country's Senate-approved treaty with Chiang, the United States has to defend Formosa if it is attacked. Nowhere, in the treaty or anywhere else, is this country pledged to defend Chiang's islands near the China coast.

A resolution approved by both houses of Congress in 1955 says Eisenhower can use his own judgment about fighting for such outside-Formosa areas as the offshore islands. But it said explicitly he could use force to defend Formosa.

★ ★ ★

There was no clear indication in Dulles' statement of what Eisenhower will do if the Reds attack the islands. On that subject Dulles said: "The President would not, however, hesitate to make such a finding (use of Amrican armed forces) if he judged that the circumstances made this necessary to accomplish the purpose of the joint resolution (passed by both houses of Congress).

That language commits the United States to nothing. It leaves the door wide open — with the phrase "if he judged that the circumstances made this necessary" — for Eisenhower to decide the offshore islands aren't important enough to risk war for.

But, as if to give the Reds a nudge that this country thinks those offshore islands have become more important to Formosa's defense than ever before, Dulles went on: "We have recognized that the securing and protecting of Quemoy and Matsu have increasingly become related to the defense of Formosa. (Note: This doesn't say they're essential to the defense of Formosa.)

"This is indeed also recognized by the Chinese Communists. Military dispositions have been made by the United States so that a presidential determination, if made, would be followed by action both timely and effective."

★ ★ ★

This phrase — "presidential determination, if made"—means that so far as it wants the world to know the administration hasn't yet made up its mind.

But Dulles' statement on the increasing importance of Quemoy and Matsu is not new. It's simply a repetition of what Eisenhower told a news conference last week. The President said:

Those islands are interlocked with Formosa as never before, with one third of Chiang's forces on them.

★ ★ ★

This itself doesn't necessarily mean the islands themselves are increasingly important to Formosa's defense. It could mean they're increasingly important only because Chiang has so many of his troops there that, if they were lost, his ability to defend Formosa later would be greatly weakened.

By putting so many men on the islands, deliberately or not, Chiang therefore has put increased pressure on the United States to defend them.

Fur Seals in Pacific Migrate 5,000 Miles

WASHINGTON — Fur seals of the Pacific range over a wide area. Since time unknown they have rendezvoused on the tiny Pribilof Islands in the Bering Sea each sprig to raise families and breed again.

When winter gales strike, the cows and the young cruise southward as far as 5,000 miles. The tough old males winter in Alaskan waters, but form a welcoming delegation on the Pribilofs come spring.

★ ★ ★

Whales are stout-hearted migrants, too. California gray whales summer in the Arctic Ocean and Bering Sea where cold waters offer rich pastures of plankton. They swim 5,000 to 6,000 miles each winter to breed in the sheltered lagoons and bays of Baja California.

New Words Sneak Way Into English

CHICAGO (UPI) — The 1958 Encyclopedia Britannica Book of the Year came up with a list of words and phrases that crept into the English language last year, possibly while you weren't looking.

A sampling: "Calypsomaniac" — a lover of calypso music; "artsaker"—one who believes strongly in art for the sale of art; "televenglish"—a TV performer's own brand of speech; "cinnebabe"—a shapely movie starlet; "meter maid"— a policewoman who writes up parking tickets.

There's also "moonwatcher" — someone who spends his time looking for earth satellites; and "moon lighter" — someone who holds two jobs at the same time.

And don't forget "egyptianize" —to expropriate foreign holdings, as a wife going through her husband's pockets.

DR. RICHARD PORTER: The new attitude is wonderful.

'Eggheads' Live in Social Boom

Sputniks Help Change Status of Scientists in U.S. Today

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When more than two scientists get together these days they call it a seminar and newsreel men rush in to cover the event.

Russia's Sputniks helped create this and other phenomena which are changing the way of life for U.S. scholars and scientists.

★ ★ ★

"Egghead" has become a term of flattery instead of a snide jibe at a thinker type. Identifying yourself as a "professor" gets you a hotel reservation as fast as claiming you're a corporation vice president. A "doctor" in front of your name is the social equivalent of a foreign title.

And the recent consumption of green peas and chicken by scientists, professors and engineers on the lecture circuit before Rotary, Kiwanis and women's clubs has become astounding.

★ ★ ★

A survey among the scores of scientists and experts who have been meeting here for International Geophysical Year events and scientific-military sessions reveals this new, exalted position they enjoy on the U.S. scene.

Generally, the science clan is delighted by these developments. But as trained researchers they hesitate to make too broad generalizations from limited findings.

"Oh, this whole new attitude toward the scientist and engineer is wonderful, all right," says Dr. Richard Porter, the silver-haired, distinguished scholar who is chairman of the IGY satellite committee and associated with the National Academy of Sciences.

"Public acclaim is flattering. But the true scientist doesn't need acclaim as much as he needs fundamental understanding of how he thinks and works. The real, broad need fo the public is to have a higher regard for the intellectual individual generally."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Porter agrees that the Sputniks were important in creating this new order. "But I think it was the development of radar which first convinced the public just what scientists could do in the field of weapons and national security. This is when the tide turned in our favor," he says.

Portugal Seeking Monte Carlo's Gambling Title

LISBON (UPI)—Lisbon, one of the few continental capitals with its own ocean playground, is gearing for an all-out assault on Monte Carlo's supremacy in the European gambling world.

City fathers have laid plans for the building of Europe's swankiest casino on the seafront at Estoril, only 16 miles from the center of Lisbon.

★ ★ ★

Teodoro dos Santos, who was given the gambling concession in the Estoril area, said the new casino "will be the most modern and luxurious in Europe."

The old casino was frequently criticized as a gloomy institution which failed to attract people with money.

The new building will have a cinema and a theater, three dance floors — one for private parties, one for the sedate and a third for the jivers—and various reception rooms as well as the gambling salon.

Gambling regulations will restrict tables largely to foreigners. Virtually any foreign visitor over 21, who is not drunk, can have a fling.

★ ★ ★

Conditions for the Portuguese are much tougher. Native gamblers must be over 25 and prove that they are not in government employ or holders of a job in a private firm where they have any responsibility for cash.

Business Is Humming; Customers Get Stung

WESTMORLAND, Calif. (AP)—Customers of Delvin Ashurst get no assurance from him that they won't be stung. He rents bees.

The customers are growers of such crops as avocados, squash, cantaloupes, onions, alfalfa and clover.

"They have found," said Ashurst, "that yields can be double and even triple because of the thorough pollination caused by the bees."

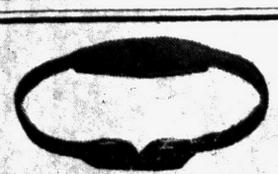

Traffic Safety Lesson Given Mother and Tot

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A little girl darted between parked cars on a downtown street. Her mother grabbed her, slapped her wrist and warned her about crossing the street.

Then Patrolman Boye Clark walked up and cited the mother for jaywalking. He said she crossed the street with her daughter in the middle of the block.

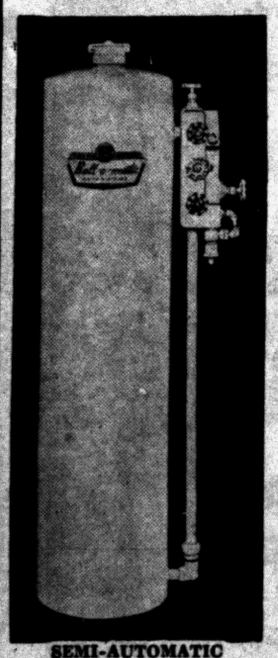

Using Acrobatic Bullet?

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Neatest threat of the week: A food store robber jabbed a revolver into the stomach of proprietor Edward Blackard and said: "Don't move or I'll blow your head off."

Eilat Is Israel's Port of Hope

At Head of Aqaba Gulf, It Lends All-Important Access to World Trade

WASHINGTON—At the tip of the Negev Desert in the heart of the Moslem East, booming Eilat is called Israel's Port of Hope.

Its location at the head of the narrow Gulf of Aqaba gives the nation a priceless southern outlet to the Red Sea in addition to Mediterranean ports. Israel thus is far more favored than its all-but-landlocked neighbor, Jordan, whose only gateway is at Aqaba, a few miles east of Eilat.

Within its short lifetime, Eilat has become a focal point in the conflicts that have rocked the Near East.

It is hemmed in by Arab states. South of Jordan, Saudi Arabia stretches 100 miles along the Gulf's desolate east coast. On the opposite side, Egypt's Sinai Peninsula unrolls a lonely 110-mile coast.

Israel was starting to develop communications and port facilities at Eilat in 1950 when Egypt blockaded shipping at the mouth of the gulf. For years thereafter the port drowsed. It burst into action again after Israel's 1956 Sinai campaign broke the blockade and opened the way for a rush of life-giving trade.

Israel has now launched a long-term program to make sun-baked, sand-scraped Eilat a major port for Far East and African trade. It is a natural gateway to receive supplies for Negev Desert pioneers, and to ship out potash and phosphates from the Dead Sea area, and copper and manganese mined in hills where Solomon's slaves once toiled.

Eilat also is expected to serve as a trans-shipment point on an overland route to the Mediterranean. A railway link with the present terminus, Beersheba, is projected. Oil already is flowing through a recently completed pipeline that stretches from the far-south port to Haifa.

Eventually, planners predict, the overland route will be a rival for the Suez Canal and handle cargo should the canal be blocked.

FIRST OF FUTURE FLEET — First of the DC-8 jets which United Airlines will introduce into scheduled domestic service next summer leaves the production line at the Long Beach, Calif., factory of Douglas Aircraft. The 575-600 m.p.h. jetliner must undergo months of ground and flight testing. The great craft is 150 feet long, with a wingspan of 139 feet. United has ordered 40 DC-8s at an average cost of five million dollars each.

Water Pump Closes School

Waterford Pupils Enjoy Extended Vacation, but It Proves Short-Lived

More than 1,600 Waterford Township High School pupils had an extra day of vacation yesterday because a water pump in the school's utility room refused to work.

Regular classes were scheduled to begin at 7:40 a.m. yesterday, but when there was no water available, bus drivers who usually pick up high school pupils, acted as messengers and relayed the news to the teenagers.

Today, the pump is in perfect working condition. Buses were on schedule, and classes in both the Isaac Crary Junior high and the high school, were in full swing as pupils settled down for another school year of activity.

There is an increase of more than 600 children in the Waterford Township school system this year, bringing the total to more than 11,000 pupils, according to superintendent William Shunck.

There are approximately 400 teachers in the school system, and many new ideas in educational advancement are being introduced by the staff along with regular routine study.

★ ★ ★

One of the twenty schools in the district, the new John Pierce Junior High School on Hatchery Rd., is scheduled to open to approximately 1,500 pupils, September 16. This will help alleviate the jam-packed Crary Junior High, Shunck said.

Another new 12-room elementary school — the Thomas M. Cooley — located on a 10-acre site on Firest St., south of Cass-Elizabeth Lake Rd., is now under construction and should be ready for operation by next semester, Shunck concluded.

There Go Typewriters From Ike's Press Room

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Depending on City Manager Irving H. Beck's luck on the phone, things could become a little confused in the press room of the summer White House next week.

It seems that with the reopening of classes, the Newport School Department wants its busy typewriters back.

Beck began making long-distance telephone calls trying to find someone who could loan the city 20 machines.

Award 2 State Troopers Top Honors, 1 in Death

EAST LANSING (AP) — One wife smiled with pride as her husband received the medal of valor, highest honor that can be awarded by State Police.

The other wife, now a widow, choked back tears as she accepted the posthumous award for her husband.

Joseph A. Childs, State Police commissioner, presented the awards in a brief ceremony here yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The widow, pretty and blonde Mrs. Dugald Pellot, accepted the gold cross for her husband, shot down by a berserk gunman near Clinton last Sept. 30.

The 21-year old widow managed to hold back her tears. But Pellot's mother, Mrs. W. H. Cohoon, wept quietly through the ceremony.

Childs declared Pellot "exemplifies the finest tradition of Michigan State Police and his name will be inscribed forever on the honor role of its most illustrious officers."

The award is the State Police equivalent of the Congressional Medal of Honor. Mrs. Pellot now rates a salute from every member of the State Police force.

Mrs. Pellot lives in Lansing with her parents. She has a son, Gregory, soon to be two years old.

"My husband's dearest wish was that his son become a state trooper," the widow said softly after the ceremony. "He's too young to understand now, but I'll tell him later how his father died. I'll let him make up his own mind."

Also receiving the valor award was trooper Douglas Vogel of the Clinton post.

Vogel was shot twice in the same gun battle, one bullet passing through his stomach and out his back and the other entering above his heart.

2 Amateur Fliers Plan 8,000-Mile Trip Around U.S.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Two amateurs with 85 combined hours of flying time plan an 8,000-mile plane trip around the borders of the United States—without parachutes.

George Dumbaugh, 27, an electrical engineer, has 60 hours and just got his private pilot's license. His partner in the jaunt, Al Isert, 28, has flown 20 hours. He just soloed last week.

★ ★ ★

The two bachelors say they're planning to prove even amateurs can fly over the Rocky Mountains, Death Valley and similar rough spots.

Dumbaugh figures it will take two weeks—their vacation time.

They plan to leave Sept. 12 in a single-engine four-passenger plane they've borrowed from a local dealer.

"I've always wanted to do something original ... Life gets pretty dull sometimes," Dumbaugh said.

Atomic Reactors Hold Key

Fresh Water From Sea Nearly a World Reality

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

GENEVA (AP) — Atomic reactors are advancing the thirsty world nearer the goal of drawing fresh water from the sea, a prominent American scientist told the atoms-for-peace conference Thursday.

One new development cuts electrical costs of processing salt water by two thirds, said Dr. Willard F. Libby of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Many areas of the world, including the Middle East and the American West, face serious water shortages now or in the near future. This has stimulated intensive research to achieve economical methods of desalting tremendous amounts of sea or brackish waters.

One method of getting rid of the salt uses special plastic membranes and electric current.

A far superior membrane has been produced by exposure of plastic film to X-ray radiation produced by atoms splitting in atomic reactors, Libby reported.

★ ★ ★

"Use of these new membranes to desalt sea water requires only one third the electric power of currently available membranes," he said.

Electric power costs are one big item in the desalting process. Thus, this is one step toward reducing costs to the point where thirsty areas can afford to buy water for industrial, agricultural and human use.

Here is how the desalting process works:

Salt in solution breaks up into electrically charged atoms or ions. Some are positively charged, others negatively when an electric current is passed through water, positive ions move in one direction, negative in the other.

★ ★ ★

Negatively charged membranes allow only negative ions to pass through to one side. Positive membranes let positive ions go to the other side of the vessel. The water in between two-membrane cells loses some of its salt. Repeating the process produced salt-free water.

Atomic reactors are also one bet to supply electricity for heating and evaporation of salt-free water. Reports on this use of reactors is expected later in the conference.

Nuclear Power to Spurt by 1960

Five U.S. Plants Will Move About 700,000 Kilowatts for Industry

GENEVA (AP) — The United States will have five nuclear plants producing about 700,000 kilowatts of electric power for industry within two years, the atoms-for-peace congress was told.

American experts said one plant already is in operation and the four others, built by private enterprise, will be feeding electricity into commercial networks by 1960.

★ ★ ★

They made clear the electric power produced will not be seriously competitive with electricity generated by conventional stations.

The nuclear plants are in New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Illinois.

The Shippingport plant in Pennsylvania; now producing 68,000 kilowatts, cost about 121 million dollars and was chiefly financed by the Atomic Energy Commission.

One of the four privately built plants is the largest nuclear power station yet scheduled in the United States. It is the 180,000-kilowatt plant being built by the General Electric Co., 50 miles southwest of Chicago.

Dr. Norman Hilberry, director of the Argonne National Laboratory at Lemont, Ill., told the conference the United States does not need electrical energy from nuclear fuels in the immediate future in order to continue its present rate of economic growth.

10 Cent Air Letter Sale Opens in Week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced today that a new 10-cent air letter sheet would go on sale in St. Louis Sept. 12.

Summerfield said collectors wanting first-day covers could order reasonable numbers from the postmaster in St. Louis.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Harry (Tim) Moore, 70-year-old Kingfish of the Amos and Andy TV show, has been ordered into a hospital for a series of tests and a checkup. His doctor says he's exhausted.

Negro Minister King Goes to Court Today

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)— The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., a Negro integration leader, faces a hearing in City Court today on a charge of loitering.

King was arrested Wednesday outside the street door to the City Hall courtroom. He and about 50 other Negroes were seeking admittance to a hearing which involved the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, another Negro integration leader.

★ ★ ★

City policemen O. M. Strickland and J. V. Johnson, who arrested King, said they told the crowd outside the courtroom to clear the sidewalk and the Negro Baptist minister twice refused to obey the order.

He was taken to a cell at police headquarters for 15 minutes and was released on $100 bond. The city code provides a maximum of $100 fine and six months in jail for loitering.

King said the officers "tried to break my arm, they grabbed my collar and tried to choke me, and when they got me to the cell, they kicked me in."

Kibitzers Get Chance to Make Suggestions

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—Kibitzers have been given their chance.

A sign on a partially demolished Cheyenne church said:

Korea Blocks Inflation

SEOUL — Korea's wholesale-price index decreased by 2.7 per cent in 1957, the first decline since World War II. Credit for halting inflation is given to the program of the International Co-operation Administration, which helped raise farm production in 1957 by 10 per cent and industrial production by 30 per cent.

They'll Gobble Up Fine Music if It's Served With Imagination

Parents to Blame if Kids Go for Rock 'n' Roll

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — If at an early and sensitive age a child takes an interest in rock 'n' roll and other grotesque offenses against music, it is purely a sign that either:

(1) The child is keeping the wrong company, or

(2) His parents are devoid of imagination and taste.

This is the opinion of a father of a 4-year-old and a 6-year-old who dote on Beethoven and adore Stravinsky. They get a trifle fiddly through some passages of Bach, but doesn't everybody?

"There is no excuse for small children going around the house humming fragments of television commercials," said Julian Olevsky, the expert.

"Children are open-minded and open-hearted. They can understand and appreciate modern music that is so new in sound that grownups hold their ears when they hear it. They have no previous impressions as to what is good and what is discordant.

NOTHING TOO HARD

"From an adult's point of view some fine music is difficult to understand. Well, nothing is too difficult for a child."

Olevsky is a successful concert violinist. He was taught, early in life, to listen to good music, his parents using what he calls the "imagery system." From the time his first child, a daughter, was able to understand the spoken word, he practiced the same technique.

"I began, of course, by playing on the hi-fi set a recording of 'Peter and the Wolf.' This is perhaps the greatest experience a child can have as a prelude to appreciating music. It explains the instruments in a symphony orchestra while telling a delightful story.

"Then I progressed to other music, where there was no explanation written into the recording itself. Now I had to use MY imagination to lure my child's interest."

Olevsky chose Beethoven's Symphony No. 6, the "Pastoral."

"This was easy. I told a story about the cows in the meadow. When the music got stormy, I made up a storm that sent the cows cowering for the trees. The children, both of them, were fascinated. I still use parts of the 'pastoral' for lullaby music at night—they sleep better, imagining themselves in the country."

THEY LEARNED FAST

By the time his daughter was five and his son three, they knew a dozen symphonies—and each of them summoned up visions of animals, people, wonders of the world that their father had created for them.

"Now they wanted sterner stuff. So one day I said, 'How would you like to hear some dinosaur music?' They were thrilled, of course — and that's how they were introduced to Stravinsky's 'Rite of Spring,' which many adults still don't appreciate."

He taught them to love Dvorak's "New World Symphony" by telling them cowboy stories that fit the music. For good space-travel fiction, Olevsky style, there is no better accompaniment than "The Planets."

When no original story comes readily to mind, in listening to a piece of good music, Olevsky occasionally dubs in a familiar fairy tale. "But you have to be careful with that. Fairy tales are often so cruel—they must be changed to fit the tenderness of glorious music."

★ ★ ★

The Olevsky children once heard a snatch of rock 'n' roll. They asked daddy what was the story. He shuddered. They gathered it was music for spooks. Which shows how smart kiddies can be.

Archaeologists Dive for Ruins Off Italy

ALBENGA, Italy (UPI) — If you're intrigued by the ruins of ancient Rome, perhaps you'll consider investing in aqualungs and swim fins.

There are plenty of ruins underwater along Italy's coasts and archaeologists have found that skin-diving is a good way to explore them.

Many underwater field trips were described at the recent Second Congress of Underwater Archaeology here, attended by more than 100 professional and amateur skin-diving archaeologists.

Some told of finding lost Roman villas, temples and magnificent palaces. Others dealt with Roman and Greek (possibly Etruscan or Carthaginian) ships, Roman or Etruscan cities swathed in seaweed, traces of city streets and roads of the time of Caesar, sunken Roman baths and vaults.

Psychologists Study Teenage Driving Habits

DENVER (UPI) — Driving records of 7,000 Denver teenagers will be used to test results of a psychological study of bad traffic habits. The aim: to see if habitual violators can be pre-determined.

Dr. Robert V. Rainey of the Colorado University Medical Center found repeating violators among military servicemen showed a pattern of emotional hotheadedness.

He wants to check these results in a four-year study of teenagers, starting when they're 15 years of age and continuing through their early motoring careers.

Rainey told a recent safety conference the habitual violators who had a high accident rate as a rule felt they were better drivers than persons with more normal records.

He said the servicemen, ranging in age from 18 to 40, appeared to be more interested in their own satisfactions.

He added:

"They were less conventional than the other (non-violator) group. And they responded to traffic situations on a highly emotional level."

Rainey concluded:

"They were men who couldn't stop to count to 10."

Psychologist Rainey warned that the results with the teenagers may be different, as might be similar studies conducted with other age groups and occupations.

New Drop Earrings Glamorous for All

Relaxed facial contours and prominent jawlines have made many women forego the glamour of drop earrings, but the newest, long, slim beauties remedy these facial problems.

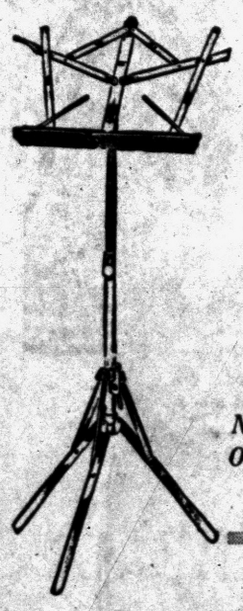

★ ★ ★

Because the new earrings drop well below the jawline itself, they not only minimize contour irregularities but glamorize the neckline, making it appear slimmer and more graceful.

Bad Table Manners Can Prove a Block

Bad eating habits can be one of the worst roadblocks to the teenager who is about to step into the adult world. Too often, offensive table manners are a carry-over from younger days when stuffing the mouth, eating noisily were common practices.

★ ★ ★

Proper eating habits are not just a matter of rules and regulations. They are based on general consideration for others. Poor table manners tag you as rude and selfish. They can send your popularity plummeting. No one likes a "table terror" except perhaps another one!

Husband Wins by a Nose—Abby

Marital Peace - at a Price

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Regarding the woman whose college grad husband was an infrequent bather: I was always a believer in the daily bath. After marriage I found out that my husband (also a college grad) hated to take a shower or bath. This was rather hard on me as he drove an oil truck all day.

ABBY

"After many fights over this, I decided marriage was a give-and-take proposition and this was one of the "takes" I had to put up with. We've been happily married for six years and the peace is worth the price.

GIVE-AND-TAKE

DEAR GIVE: If you allow your husband to lead you around by the nose on this very important issue, I suggest that you ask him to take a good firm grip. It will be easier to take that way.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I married a woman with a 12-year-old kid. This kid must be batty. He's been living on peanut butter sandwiches and chocolate bars for two months. She says to leave him alone. He once lived on jelly sandwiches, and ginger ale, for three months and it didn't hurt him. I really think this kid ought to see a nut doctor. Or do other people have kids like this?"

LIKE TO KNOW

DEAR LIKE: Occasionally children get some pretty peculiar notions about what they will and and won't eat, but a mother shouldn't tolerate extremes. An ill-balanced diet of this kind could do serious damage to the boy's health. If his mother permits him this dangerous whim you should make TWO appointments with the psychiatrist. One for her and one for the boy.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I have been going with Nick for over four years now and he has all the bad habits you can mention, but if he'd ask me to marry him I would say yes. I keep hoping that if we get married I will change him. I think he would give up drinking, smoking and gambling and even running around with other girls, but my mother says you can't change the spots on a leopard. Is that right?" RITA

DEAR RITA: That's right—but you can change "leopards."

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: After twelve years of marriage I started having trouble with a certain woman who was making improper advances toward my husband. He got real excited about her because she had red hair and a good shape. I wanted to give her a taste of her own medicine so I went after her husband and I know he loves me. Should we confess our love and let them have each other?" ALL MIXED UP

DEAR ALL: Do they want each other? You've turned what was probably just the sparks from an innocent flirtation into a five-alarm fire. Don't call out the heavy equipment until you four have talked it over carefully. Your first choice is usually your best.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am an elderly lady in an OLD FOLKS HOME. There is a gentleman here whom I love very much. But he can't hear so I can't tell him I love him. And he can't read so I can't write him. Please help me."

MRS. W. G.

DEAR MRS. W. G.: He can see! Show him!

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MOM TO ALL:" There is too much roaming in your rooming house. Get wise.

Prepare to Combat Detroit's Polio Rise

ANN ARBOR (AP)—University of Michigan medical center officials have announced standby plans to meet any major infantile paralysis outbreak in the Detroit area, where the number of cases has increased over last year.

While announcing their precautionary plans, authorities emphasized at the same time that the number of polio cases is not expected to increase to serious proportions.

Eight polio deaths have been reported this year in the Detroit area, compared with two last year. Total cases have increased about 50 per cent over the same period a year ago.

Dr. David G. Dickinson, head of the University hospital polio respirator center, said yesterday he had made arrangements to accept overflow respirator cases in the university center if the need arises.

Dr. Paul T. Salchow, director of Herman Kiefer Hospital reported that the polio situation "seems to be well under control at present." He added:

"Even though polio is a highly unpredictable disease, it looks like the peak is over."

State Season May Top Last Year's

Tourist Business Booms

(This is the second in a series of replies of key state officials to a question asked by United Press International — How's business? The series is intended to give an indication of how Michigan's economy is recovering from the recession)

By ROBERT J. FURLONG
Secretary, Michigan Tourist Council

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's 1958 summer travel season has been a good one and may well show an increase over last year's 600-million-dollar season.

The number of tourists in Michigan is on the rise—but per capita spending appears to be down slightly.

The concensus of resort people I talked to on a fact-finding tour recently is that their summer season has been successful.

Business was up in many places, notably the Straits area and the Upper Peninsula generally. Increases even ran as high as 30 per cent over last year at Sault Ste. Marie.

For the whole, Michigan's tourist industry has held up well in spite of adverse weather early in the season and a generally recessed economy.

In fact, the recession has turned to our advantage in that many Michigan residents as well as visitors from nearby states vacationed close to home this year as an economy measure. Also, some wage earners on a shortened work week have taken it as an opportunity to travel.

There are some rough spots in the travel picture. Scattered reports of a temporary drop in tourist patronage of some localities and American-plan resorts formed the other side of the recession coin.

These are the factors: I would list as contributing to the season's success:

—The almost magnetic attraction of the Mackinac Bridge.

—Good vacation weather during July and August.

—A steady increase in vacation travel throughout the nation.

—The combined effect of Michigan's continued local, regional and state promotion of our vacation attractions.

Fire Chief Concerned About Unearthly Blazes

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) —Lexington Fire Chief Earl McDaniel is thinking about unearthly blazes.

He told the State Firemen's Assn. annual convention yesterday fire fighters may have to develop a fire department suitable for conditions on the moon within as little as five years.

"Today's fire fighters," he said, "must soon have extinguisher devices designed to fight fires in outer space."

John L. Sullivan was heavyweight boxing champion from 1882 until 1892.

Service Station Makes Surprising Gas Sale

SOMERSET, Ky. (AP)—Sfc. Orville Phillipi wheeled his vehicle into a service station here, and said: "Give me 100 gallons."

Phillipi was driving an M-47 Army tank. The tank holds 233 gallons.

Ex-Minnesota Flower Not Found in State

ST. PAUL—Minnesota's legislature in 1893 selected the wild lady-slipper or moccasin flower as the state flower. Some years later it was discovered that this type of flower does not grow in Minnesota. So in 1902 the state flower was changed to the pink-and-white lady-slipper.

Typographical Error Affects Amendment

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Secretary of State Natalie Buck has a problem.

The last Legislature passed a resolution calling for an election Nov. 4 on an absentee voting proposal. It would change Section 1 of Article VII of the state constitution.

★ ★ ★

But, through a typographical error, the enrolled and engrossed copy that is to go to the voters changes it to Section 2, which would put the wrong section before the people for voting.

Mrs. Buck appealed to the State Supreme Court. It would have nothing to do with it. Not enough time before election, the court said.

Now Mrs. Buck has appealed to the attorney general. She wants to know just what to do about the mixup. There's no answer yet.

Catskill 'Country' Is Now Displaced City

By EARL WILSON

"THE MOUNTAINS," N.Y.—I brought the Mother-in-Law and Slugger up here to the Catskills to enjoy "the country." The country!

WILSON

Here where Rip Van Winkle slept for 20 years, it's hard for a columnist to sleep for 20 minutes.

I had to zip by car from the $8,000,000, 1,000-acre Hotel Concord where Red Buttons, Dagmar, Elaine Stewart and other celebrities were helping TV star Buddy Hackett celebrate his 34th birthday with a 9-foot cake, over to Grossinger's where Eddie Fisher, Elizabeth Taylor and about 1400 others went from a champagne party to a new $1,500,000 indoor swimming pool in which the first splashee was Florence Chadwick.

I was comin' round the mountains at a goodly gait to get from there to Kutsher's, The Waldemere and other luxurious resorts where slenderizing salons, cha-cha-cha parlors and jewelry counters now grace the slopes on which cattle once grazed.

★ ★ ★

On one of those hillsides, Jimmy Demaret, the chivalrous Texan, and golf pro at the Concord, bowed low when presented to Elaine Stewart, the Hollywood and Montclair, N.J., glamour girl, and said he'd be glad to teach her golf.

ELAINE

"I don't know how to hold a club," she dimpled.

"First," he said, "I'll have to teach you how to hold the pro."

Buddy Hackett — who'll be on Jackie Gleason's new TV show—took off from here for the Duke University country to embark upon the famous rice diet hoping to lose 21 pounds in 21 days.

Alan King, Alan Gale, Pat Suzuki and The Goofers were also big hits in "the mountains" — but the biggest hit by far was beautiful Liz Taylor who was merely a spectator. She came up with Eddie Fisher, close friend of Mike Todd, as guest of Mrs. Jennie Grossinger.

★ ★ ★

She caused a panic in the dining room.

"We've had the greatest personalities in the world here," Paul Grossinger said, "from politics, sports and show business. Nobody ever caused the excitement caused by this girl."

Announcer Don Wilson arrives this week to start rehearsals for the B'way stage play, "How to Make a Million"—his first time away from Jack Benny in 24 years. (He has Jack's good wishes and it's a leave of absence.)

Singer Jimmy Rodgers, who just bought a $40,000 home, said: "I spent so many years living in cheap hotels that every time I go home to this beautiful place I get the feeling I'm visiting somebody else." That's earl, brother.

Hand Flashes to Holster, Ranger Shoots Himself

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Texas Ranger Buddy Hendricks went to a party for law enforcement officers and borrowed a pistol to do a little target shooting.

His hand flashed to the holster in the best tradition. Then, bang, Hendricks shot himself in the right calf.

"This'll teach me to use someone else's gun," the red-faced Ranger said, explaining the sight hung in the holster.

Will They Eat Rabbits?

STORRS, Conn. (UPI)—The University of Connecticut reports receiving an urgent request for rabbits from a farmer in Honduras who raised 1,000 heads of lettuce with the aid of a U.S. agricultural agent. The farmer needs the rabbits because none of his neighbors will eat the lettuce.

First inauguration ceremony to be broadcast was that of Calvin Coolidge in 1924 over a network consisting of just 24 stations.

Marine Life Thrives in Cold Arctic Water

WASHINGTON — Arctic waters, though icy, may support several tropical waters, because cold waters are a better solvent for life-giving oxygen than warm waters near the Equator. Species are fewer, but the sea teems with plankton, a prime food of whales and other sea life.

Northwest Alaska boasts king crabs with leg spans of seven feet. A king crab may weigh up to 22 pounds, of which 25 to 30 per cent is pure meat. Shrimp, clams, cod, herring, halibut, salmon and other seafood are also found in the area.

Skipper of Big Tanker Takes 96 Per Cent Cut

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—After 40 years at sea, Capt. Bernard Roberts, 55, Daytona Beach, Fla., is taking a voluntary 96 per cent cut. Not in salary. Ship size.

Roberts normally commands the 528-foot tanker Esso Scranton. He planned to embark today in his newly purchased yacht, Scylax—a 20-foot inboard job.

The skipper and his daughter, Lillian, 18, figure the trip home, via the inland route, will take nearly three weeks.

14 Ranking Airmen Arrested in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Fourteen high-ranking officers of the Argentine air force have been arrested as a result of the latest outbreak of military opposition to appointments of Peronists to key jobs. President Arturo Frondizi's government claimed the brief mutiny was over.

The air secretary, Commodore Roberto Huerta, announced the arrests last night after refusing to withdraw appointments of three Peronists to commands formerly held by opponents of the exiled dictator Juan Peron.

Among those in custody was Brig. Miguel Oragues, former air force commander and its senior ranking officer. Sixteen commodores reportedly asked for retirement.

Hollywood Headlines

Hawaii Expects Status as State by June 1959

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — Hello again! Here I am back after a delightful trip to Hawaii during which I picked up news and views I want to share with you.

★ ★ ★

Hawaii confidently expects to be our 50th state by June 1959. Eighty-three-year-old Raymond Coll, who is still active managing editor of the Honolulu Advertiser, told me there is little doubt of statehood for the tropical island.

His emphatic statement was verified by the very attractive Lauren Thurston, publisher of the paper. I met Mrs. Jim Farrington (widow of the owner of the Honolulu Star Bulletin) and she agreed with the two other newspaper authorities.

One thing sure, if Hawaii achieves statehood, the most formidable choice for the first senator will be the present Gov. William Quinn.

★ ★ ★

The handsome governor is the most popular man on the island, with the Americans, the Hawaiians, the Chinese and the Japanese.

He was appointed to his present political post by President Eisenhower. His wife, Nancy, is also a great favorite and their six children are Honolulu's pride and joy.

It was at a dinner given for me by Gov. and Mrs. Quinn that I met Gen. White, commanding officer of the Pacific Army base. Only a few days ago he returned from a secret mission to the Far East.

★ ★ ★

The general (who plays a fine ukulele!) told me that our Johnny Grant had done an outstanding job entertaining at the Army posts.

I also met Father John McDonald at the Quinns. He comes from Kealio Kanai and he has trained 32 Hawaiian, Japanese and Chinese children to sing. His choir is a great commercial success.

Much of the movie "South Pacific" was filmed around the area where Father McDonald has built churches. He told me the conduct of the motion picture people was exemplary while they were on the island.

The islands are very movie minded and television has not yet become important entertainment. Movies and radio are the reigning mediums. I gave several interviews via radio (even thought I'd said "I'd had it!")—also to the daily newspapers.

When I went to Hawaii, my friends said, "You'll be bored to death traveling by ship. You can fly there in a matter of a few hours.

This is to tell them they are 100 per cent wrong.

I sat next to Commodore Gillespie both coming and going on the Lurline and never have I had a more entertaining dinner companion. He is head of all the Matson sailing vessels and has had many fascinating experiences.

His one aim in life is to make his passengers happy and believe me he succeeds. He has the able assistance of Chief Purser Higgins.

I don't believe any of us Californians visiting Honolulu will forget singer Charles Davis' final night at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel. He won the audition held by the Metropolitan Opera Co. and he'll be heard at the Met next year.

My old friend Winona Love made a solo appearance and her magical hands and body dancing the hula were truly something to remember.

Kansas Creek Spills, 1,100 Residents Flee

CLYDE, Kan. (AP) — The 1,100 residents of Clyde fled their homes today as Little Elk Creek overflowed.

Water two and three feet deep spread throughout the town, washing away a number of small buildings. Clyde is about 25 miles south of the Nebraska border.

★ ★ ★

Severe thunderstorms last night and early today dumped from 7 to 10 inches of rain over north central Kansas. Flooding also was reported at Green and Concordia.

He's All Set to Retire

HIYRUM, Utah (AP)—City Marshal Elmer A. Lauritzen, 71, is ready for retirement. He has designed a collapsible rocking chair. Lauritzen also has applied for a patent and hopes to sell a few of the chairs on the side.

Southfield Councilman Cleared by Investigation

SOUTHFIELD — No grounds for criminal action have been found against a Southfield councilman who admitted receiving $3,400 in connection with two land transactions when he was a township official, according to LeRoy W. McEntee, assistant Oakland County prosecutor.

Robert F. Wuerfel, former chairman of the old township Zoning Board of Appeals, had admitted accepting $1,200 for one deal and $2,200 for another.

"I have found no evidence of criminal wrongdoing on Wuerfel's part," said McEntee. "My investigation was looking in this direction, and I was not judging him on his ethics in accepting the money."

Wuerfel's action was brought to light last April when a candidate for mayor of Southfield, Philip A. Maloney, of 23551 Noel St., disclosed Wuerfel's part in the transactions.

Wuerfel, of 25120 Circle Dr., immediately charged Maloney with spreading political propaganda aimed at defeating Southfield Township's attempts to incorporate as a city.

One transaction involved the rezoning of property on 12-Mile road so a professional men's club could construct a new clubhouse.

"I looked here for any signs that Wuerfel had accepted the money as a bribe for getting the said, "I found none."

"All I could find was that Wuerfel was paid the $1,200 because he aided the owners of the club with securing the property and finding municipal services after other realtors had failed," McEntee said.

★ ★ ★

The second instance centered around a $2,200 broker's commission Wuerfel received for suggesting Burroughs, Inc., buy land on Northwestern Highway.

McEntee said he found Wuerfel had helped in this deal iwth the betterment of Southfield in mind.

Ruled Out by Brandon Voters

5-Mill Tax Hike Rejected

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — Voters in the Brandon Township School District yesterday rejected for the second time this summer a five-mill tax increase proposal. The margin was 297 no to 218 yes.

The proposed three-year tax hike would have raised at least $33,000 for operating expenses, according to Superintendent of Schools E. J. Hungerford.

He said approval also would have made the district eligible for about $19,000 in distressed aid, made available by the state to districts operating on a tax basis of 20 mills or more.

Another proposal on the ballot, that to authorize the school board to sell three parcels of school property, was approved.

One of them, a four-acre site, is expected to be used for a trailer factory.

'AND THREE MORE MAKES TEN' — Off to school this morning for the first time are (from left) Grace, Giles and Gail Garwood, 5-year-old triplets of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley B. Garwood, 3805 Green Lake Rd., West Bloomfield Township. Kindergarten pupils at Scotch School, they've upped to 10 the number of children the Garwoods have attending four schools in West Bloomfield.

Credit Holly Youth Group for Lack of Delinquency

HOLLY — Much of the credit for keeping Holly free from juvenile delinquency is due to the program of Holly Youth Activities, Inc. Its membership has passed the 1,000 mark.

Dances are held at the multi-purpose room of the Holly Area High School on Wednesday and Saturday evenings of each week. Parents and members of local Junior Chamber of Commerce act as chaperones.

★ ★ ★

How in its third year, the program is sponsored by the Holly Police Department, under the supervision of Chief James Parker. A police officer is present at all times to handle any outside interference that might occur, according to Sharon Lynch, club president.

SHARON LYNCH

Attendance runs from 300 to 500 at each dance. Ed Berryman, Flint disc jockey, is featured on Saturday nights, she said.

Membership cards are issued, and teenagers come from a great number of towns outside Holly, including Fenton, Pontiac, Flint, Detroit, Lansing, Clarkston, Davisburg, Royal Oak, Birmingham, Ortonville, Waterford, Milford, Linden and many others.

★ ★ ★

The project is more than self-supporting, Sharon says. Through the sale of refreshments, and other fees, the organization is accumulating funds for construction of a building of its own.

Other officers of the group are Ted Wagoner, vice president; Janice Hitchcock, secretary-treasurer, and Karl Swartz, publicity chairman.

The group has been so successful, Sharon says, that other communities send delegations to Holly to study its operations.

Blaze in Basement Burns Romeo Mother

ROMEO — A Romeo mother suffered severe burns on her legs yesterday afternoon in a flash fire in the basement of her home at 236 Croswell St.

Mrs. Robert J. Ramsey was filling a power mower with gasoline when it overflowed spilling onto the floor. As she was mopping it up, it suddenly came in contact with the pilot light on the water heater and exploded.

Mrs. Ramsey's son Gary, 2, who was nearby, escaped injury. Damage to the house was slight, Romeo firemen said.

Mrs. Ramsey was treated by a local physician.

2-Headed Holstein Calf Dies at Birth in State

LUDINGTON (UPI) — A two-headed calf born to a Holstein heifer on the Vance Peterson farm died at birth, Peterson said yesterday.

Peterson said the calf had two perfectly-formed heads, two necks, four front feet, two back feet, two tails and one stomach. He said it was the first calf the Holstein had bred by artificial insemination.

Loses Arm in Baler

MELBA, Idaho (AP) — Farmer George Harris got his right arm entangled in a burning hay baler yesterday, but jerked himself loose, leaving part of the arm in the machine. Neighbors put out the fire and took Harris to a hospital where he was reported in fair condition. The arm was amputated above the elbow.

Ten of Area Family's Dozen Troop Off to School Today

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Stanley B. Garwood home in West Bloomfield Township was uncommonly quiet this morning.

Ten of the family's 12 children had trooped off to school. Remaining were Garwood's wife, Bernice, and Christine, 2½ and Peter, 16 months.

Latest to go off to school were Grace, Giles and Gail, the couple's 5-year-old triplets. They're attending the morning kindergarten session at Scotch School.

★ ★ ★

In all, the family is represented at four different schools in the township.

Dennis, the oldest, is an 11th grade student at West Bloomfield Township High School, where his brother, Kenneth, is in the 10th grade.

★ ★ ★

Stanley Jr. this week entered the 9th grade at St. Mary High School at Orchard Lake, and four sisters are enrolled at Our Lady of Refuge School. They are Arlene, 7th grade; Kathleen, 6th; Julie, 2nd, and Mary in the first.

★ ★ ★

"Some people might think it's a big job getting 10 children off to school in the morning," Mrs. Garwood said, "but it isn't."

★ ★ ★

The big jump from seven to 10 went off smoothly, she said. The older ones, especially the girls, all pitched in to help get the younger children ready.

And the teachers are spared the possibility of mixups, too, by not having them all at one school.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Garwood and her husband, a heating contractor, admit a little difficulty themselves in telling Grace and Gail apart. "Sometimes it takes a close look," Mrs. Garwood said.

The couple, both 42, will have a lot of stories to listen to when the children return this evening.

Rochester Board Approves Loan

School Group Borrows $400,000 to Meet Operating Expenses

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Board of Education has accepted a bid from the National Bank of Detroit for a $400,000 loan at an interest rate of 1.65 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Borrowed against late state aid payments, the money will be used for operating expenses, the Board said.

Also approved at its Wednesday night meeting was the hiring of 25 new teachers for the 1958-59 school year, bringing the number on the faculty to 165.

A letter from William C. Chapman, offering to sell a five-acre piece of property between First and Second streets for use as a possible grade school site was considered by the Board. Action was tabled for further study.

★ ★ ★

A special meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Monday at the North Hill Elementary School to discuss erection of a fence on the school's property. Board members Lewis B. Arscott, Wallace Hodges and Mrs. Mary Ann Beatty were appointed to represent the Board and answer any questions residents of the area may have concerning the fence.

Oak Park Vote to Decide Bond

Public Safety Director Cites Need of Facilities for Growing Services

OAK PARK — For the second time, residents of Oak Park will be asked Nov. 4 to approve a $306,000 bond issue for funds to enlarge the city's Department of Public Safety.

In the general primary election Aug. 5 voters rejected the same proposal by a margin of 1,646 to 938.

Public Safety Director Glenford S. Leonard said additional space is needed to care of the 62 personnel, 57 of whom are combination police and firemen. Present facilites built in 1952 were designed to accommodate 17, Leonard said.

If the bond issue is approved, the money will be used to expand jail facilities, garage space for fire and police equipment, provide additional office space and a shower room, the director said.

The measure is opposed by Oak Park's Industrial Tax Study Group, which claims the city's taxes already are too high.

Bank Head Ballard Dies at North Branch

NORTH BRANCH—Frederick C. Ballard, 83-year-old president of the North Branch Pioneer Bank, was fatally injured yesterday when he fell from a ladder while cleaning the eavestrough at his home, 6824 Jefferson Rd., North Branch.

Death was due to a broken neck, Lapeer County Coroner Dr. Lyle Riddell ruled yesterday afternoon.

A neighbor, Mrs. Roy Torr, witnessed the accident and ran to Ballard's aid, but he was dead when she got to him, she said.

An attorney, and still quite active for his age, Ballard lived alone at the house. He has one son, Charles, who is associated with the Citizens Bank in Flint.

The low bid for 1.2 miles of resurfacing on M58 from James K boulevard, north in Pontiac and Slyvan Lake, was $101,883 by the A. A. Asphalt Paving Co., Birmingham.

Disc Data and Chatter

Music in the Round

by Dick Saunders

For the fun-loving record fan who usually ends up hearing more things he flips over at parties rather than on radio, two current LP's are guaranteed to fill the bill.

"Flames, Flappers and Flasks" (Epic LN-3493) by Joe Glover and his Collegians is a musical treat of sorts. It will take you back to the nostalgic era of marathon dances, flagpole perchers, ticker-tape parades, bobbed hair, and the Charleston.

A half musical, half dialog LP that's also great for late afternoon socials is "The Best of the Stan Freeburg Shows" (Capitol WBO-1035).

This LP is just what its title says. It's a set of two 12-inch discs consisting of pure nonsense. We guarantee it will delight any fan and is a must for Freeburg lovers.

★ ★ ★

THE JAZZ NEST: One of the neatest big band packages of late August was Capitol's "The New James" (T-1037) by the Harry James Band. It's a collection of real good stuff for those who like the sound of the late '30's dressed up in present day arrangements.

"Jumpin' With Jonah" (Capitol T-1039) is Jonah Jones' latest, and contains some pretty good stuff (although the Jones arrangements are getting a little stale).

A brand new disc "Earl 'Fatha' Hines" (Epic LN-3501) by Hines and his trio is worth close inspection. Hines hasn't lost any of his stinging brilliance and rhythmic ingenuity.

FIVE ACES: There's no doubt about this week's leader. After coming on strong, falling back one week, and then surging again last week "Nel Blu Di Pinto Di Blu" by Domenico Modugno is tops on the best selling list in Pontiac.

Second is "Rockin' Robin" by Bobby Day, a disc which has grown steadily hotter since its first appearance about three weeks ago. In third spot we find "Devoted To You" by The Everly Brothers.

Fourth spot goes to The Imperials with their disc of "Tears On My Pillow." Making a fast exodus from the top five is "Little Star" by The Elegants, tied for fifth place with "It's All In The Game" by Tommy Edwards.

Croswell Mother of Four Mrs. Michigan State Fair

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Beatrice Clark, a 33-year-old mother of four and wife of a Croswell farmer, today was crowned "Mrs. Michigan State Fair of 1958."

Mrs. Clark, the wife of Jarold Clark, was nominated for the title by her 12-year-old daughter Angela. The attractive brunette was cited for her accomplishments in civic and farm activities. There were 12 finalists for the title.

Old Timers Day award winners yesterday included William Morneau, 75, Detroit, baldest man; Mrs. Victoria Boyda, 63, Dearborn, nimble sixties crocheting contest; and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schultz, Detroit, couple married the longest (61 years).

Livestock award winners included:

OUTWARD TO THE STARS

(17)—Building the Space Station

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

(1) Enormous difficulties must be overcome before the building of a permanent manned space station is feasible. But its construction will be easy in one respect, if only in one: The absence of gravity (actually, Earth's gravity canceled by centrifugal force in orbit) will enable men to maneuver huge girders and plates about like feathers.

On the other hand, the human problem alone will be tremendous. Each worker's spacesuit must be a self-contained "world." The need for eating and sleeping quarters will limit the number of men able to work at one time. Sudden movements from shadow into unfiltered sunlight will be a real danger to a worker's eyes. Spacesuit failure will mean death. Other factors, some as yet unknown, may cut actual working time to a few hours.

(2) A strange-looking craft is this cargo ferry or space taxi. Platforms like this will scurry about in orbit, gathering materials and supplies from cargo rockets.

(3) Recent discovery, by means of the tiny Vanguard I satellite, of a band of hitherto unsuspected intense radiation some 600 miles above the Earth may seriously hinder man's dream of space travel. Some sort of protective "suit" such as this may be required for any prolonged stay in space. A thick, lead-lined cylinder, it is a tiny spaceship in its own right. Explorer IV now in orbit is probing the nature and extent of this strange band of radiation.

(4) Months will be required to construct the shell of the space station. Then more months to finish the interior, install instruments and equipment. Here, the completed station is ready to be provisioned. Zero gravity condition at the hub facilitates the loading of supplies. In the central ball, spacesuits can be removed. Tubes lead to the main sections of the station in the rim.

Next: Inside the Station, the Moon Rocket.

School Adding Another Grade

Our Lady of the Lakes Will Now Serve Fifth Through Ninth Terms

When school opens at 8:30 a.m. Monday, at Our Lady of the Lakes parochial school in Waterford Township, another grade will be in session, continuing a plan of accommodating older pupils in the area first.

Rather than opening a school with beginners, Father Frederick Delaney has put into effect his dream of educating children in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades first.

As the children advance, grades will be added until there will be a full running high school, complete with gymnasium and auditorium. The ninth grade was added this year.

Our Lady of the Lakes is the only known parochial school in Michigan using such a system and Father Delaney said, "The plan has proven a tremendous success since the opening of the school last year. Eventually we hope to have a complete school right from the kindergarten on up."

Four nuns, under the direction of Sister Anthony, teach some 200 pupils enrolled, which is an increase of more than 50 over last year's attendance.

Parents of the parish have set up a car pool to transport the children. However, this is still one of the biggest problems facing administrators.

They are now trying to work out a transportation agreement with the Board of Education, similar to the one in operation in Lapeer, whereby the Waterford Township school system would provide parochial children with bus service.

Sues Hospital for Operating in Wrong Place

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Miss Jimmie C. Parker a Largo schoolteacher, filed a $35,000 damage suit in Circuit Court against Morton Plant Hospital and Dr. John D. Hagood.

The suit said Miss Parker entered the hospital for removal of an ingrown toenail, that through negligence and carelessness she was placed in an operating room as Hagood entered to perform surgery in another case, and that the physician thereupon operated on Miss Parker's right breast.

Hagood and hospital authorities declined comment.

Story-Telling Thieves Snatch Cooler, Lumber

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — After Jesse Ivy purchased a cafe here, four men drove up in a truck.

Several days later Ivy heard some disconcerting news. The men weren't working for Martin, they were stealing the stuff.

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do ... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Study Influence on Earth

IGY Scientists Peek Into Sun's Mysteries

(This is the last in a series written for The Associated Press by prominent U. S. scientists who attended the International Geophysical Year meetings in Moscow last month. In it Dr. Scott E. Forbush discusses IGY programs in the specialized fields of geophysical and solar research. He is with the Department of Terrestrial Magnetism at the Carnegie Institution of Washington.)

By Dr. SCOTT E. FORBUSH

The International Geophysical Year is concentrating the greatest effort that ever has been made in the study of the earth and how it is influenced by the sun.

★ ★ ★

Around the world scientists are making observations and taking notes on the many different phenomena connected with solar activity: weather; aurora and airflow; ionospherics which make radio transmission possible; most variations in the earth's magnetic field; all the known time-variations in the intensity of cosmic radiation.

★ ★ ★

In this simultaneous observation lies one of the great advantages of the IGY.

Concentrated activity in one field of geophysics during the IGY has already led to unexpected results of great value in understanding phenomena in another branch.

One example of this was the discovery of X rays during auroral displays. IGY cosmic ray investigators at the universities of Iowa and Minnesota made the discovery while they were recording cosmic ray intensity at high altitudes with balloons.

These X rays result from electrons trapped in the "frozen in" magnetic field in plasma clouds, ejected from the sun.

The electrons in these same plasma clouds are responsible for the extraordinarily high counting rates registered at great altitudes by Geiger counters sent up in the U. S. satellite Explorer by the cosmic ray group at the University of Iowa.

Soviet cosmic ray investigators using detectors on the latest Sputnik observed similar, but smaller, increases in counting rates at lower altitudes.

★ ★ ★

These electron-containing plasma clouds probably produce auroral and magnetic storms—if the clouds are large enough and if the magnetic field frozen in them when they leave the sun is great enough. Through scattering effects, these clouds probably cause the decreases in cosmic ray intensity which are observed during some magnetic storms.

★ ★ ★

Cosmic rays were discovered by Victor Hess in 1914. But it wasn't until about 1932 that experiments showed the primary cosmic rays, which impinge on the earth's outer atmosphere, consisted of charged particles of very high energy coming from all directions in space.

This experiment, in which the earth's permanent magnetic field played an important role, consisted of a worldwide survey of cosmic ray intensity using standardized instruments.

Research has shown that more cosmic rays fall at the poles than at the Magnetic Equator, where the earth's magnetic field deflects the weaker rays. And they are found at varrying per cent in intensity from sunspot minimum in 1954 to sunspot maximum in 1957.

This writer, at the Carnegie Institution of Washington, established the variation in cosmic ray intensity with sunspot cycle from continuous observations with ionization chambers over two decades. These results show that even the cosmic ray particles with energies high enough to reach the Magnetic Equator are subject to a solar cycle variation.

Superimposed on the solar cycle variation of cosmic ray intensity are large variations which occur in some, but not all, magnetic storms. Such efforts were especially numerous in 1957. They diminish toward sunspot minimum.

Thus, pre-investigation of time variations of cosmic ray intensity, especially in connection with results from other IGY projects, will undoubtedly provide valuable results for better understanding electromagnetic phenomena in the solar system.

40th Annual Convention Ends at Chicago With Usual Red Denunciation

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Legion ended its 40th annual convention yesterday, electing Preston Moore of Stillwater, Okla., its new national commander and affirming its traditional condemnation of communism.

★ ★ ★

The exodus of thousands of Legionnaires left Chicago's Loop with the comparative quiet of everyday business. Hours-long parades, antics of delegates and whoops, sirens and bells had lent a carnival atmosphere to the city the last 10 days.

Moore, 38, a lawyer and World War II Army Air Force veteran, was elected by a margin of nearly 5-1 to head the Legion, which now claims 2,700,000 members.

★ ★ ★

In his acceptance speech, Moore said the United States must take the offensive in the struggle between the free world and communism.

"We must rid America of the defeatist, destructive philosophy that we can only defend against communism," he said. ". . . Clearly, we must seize the initiative if the cause of freedom is not to be lost ultimately and completely."

★ ★ ★

Before the election, the delegates whipped through a host of resolutions. Among them, the Legion called for U.S. military strength second to none; condemned Communist activities in the Middle East, the Formosa Strait, Indonesia and Latin America; criticized U.S. leadership as aiding international communism in the Middle East by "lack of a firm foreign policy"; implied failure of U.S. policy-makers to come to grips with Latin-American problems; and rejected an assertion by Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy that America still leads the world in military strength.

The Legionnaires also demanded a halt to any cutbacks in the defense program and asked that Congress "use every available means to finance the strongest defense and military preparedness program possible."

★ ★ ★

In other resolutions, the Legion backed the U.S. policy of aiding Formosa against aggression of Red China and renewed its sweeping opposition to any recognition of Red China in trade, diplomatic relations, or as a candidate for membership in the United Nations; opposed federal funds for public schools as a possible step toward thought control of the nation's children; and criticized the U.S. Supreme Court for having "adopted the role of legislative policy maker" in recent decisions, including a ruling that the FBI must make available its pertinent secret files to persons brought to trial on subversion charges.

Stickup Artists Draw Laughter, Nothing Else

NEW YOR K(AP) — Anything that's funny rates a belly laugh in Brooklyn—even if it's funny-looking stickup men.

So Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin and neighbor John Maresta put down their coffee cups and burst into laughter when three would-be robbers wearing Halloween masks barged into the Martin kitchen last night.

★ ★ ★

The intruders—one brandishing a gun—didn't take kindly to the laughter. They made threats.

Mrs. Martin, after her good laugh, didn't take kindly to the masked trio.

"Get out of here now, or I'll call the cops," she snapped.

Her ultimatum flustered the intruders. They got.

Resting on the table near Mrs. Martin was her purse containing about $100.

How to Disagree With Your Boss and Pull It Off

WASHINGTON (UPI)—"Doesn't your boss like 'yes men?' Then learn to disagree with him wisely."

So advises the Bureau of Business Practice, which says timing is the important element in the technique of disagreeing.

Its advice is: don't disagree with the boss when he is feeling depressed, irascible or ill, and find your chance when the two of you are alone.

Observe good manners in expressing your reaction to his ideas, and avoid such words as "idiotic," "ridiculous," or "nonsense." Under such a direct attack, a person withdraws from free communication.

Instead, use such neutral phrases as "It might be worth considering . . ." "Perhaps you haven't thought of . . ." etc.

★ ★ ★

When you do make the boss change his mind, don't belittle him by asking him for a statement that he has reversed himself

Discuss first what points you do agree on, so he might feel more comfortable about capitulating.

And most important of all — don't disagree with the boss at all if the difference of opinion is of little importance.

Thieves Mugging Thief; All Nabbed in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Two strong-arm robbers beating up James Hill, 22, on a Detroit street were captured in the act. They were booked on a charge of robbery not armed.

Detectives who questioned Hill about what he was doing on the street at 2:30 a.m. said he admitted having just burglarized an apartment. He was booked on a charge of breaking and entering.

Tax Shows Drop in Liquor Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conviviality appears to have been among the victims of the business recession.

The Treasury reported today that alcohol tax collections in the year ended June 30 dropped $26,734,000 below those of the previous year, reflecting smaller liquor sales.

★ ★ ★

Most of the decline to a total of $2,946,461,000 was the result of diminished demand for whisky, gin and other distilled spirits. Beer and wine sales were off only fractionally.

But spirits revived with last spring's economic upturn. In the April-May-June quarter alcohol tax collectings totaled $749,410,000, well ahead of collections in the same quarter last year.

A black widow spider's venom is about 15 times more poisonous than a rattlesnake. The black widow spider's scientific name is Latrodectus mactans, which, translated, means "murderous biting robber."

215 Guests Flee as Fire Destroys Bermuda Hotel

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—A fire that burned downward from the roof left one of Bermuda's newest and largest hotels, the Bermudiana, a total loss today.

Several firemen were overcome by smoke but no injuries were reported. The hotel manager said all 215 guests plus regular residents and staff members were moved safely to other hotels.

Cause of the fire was not immediately known.

U. of M. Freshmen to Pay Same Costs

ANN ARBOR (AP) — It won't cost any more to send a freshman to the University of Michigan this year than it did a year ago.

The university says basic costs will remain the same — $1,134 for the freshman year. These include fees of $250 for Michigan residents and $600 for out-of-state, $24 laboratory fees, $60 for books and $800 for room and board.

★ ★ ★

A study of budgets of 200 freshmen showed in-state men actually spend an average of $1,560 and in-state women $1,660. Out-of-state men average $1,920 and out of-state women $2,810.

★ ★ ★

These budgets include clothing, travel, recreation, and incidentals.

The university figures that freshmen able to commute to classes daily would have basic costs of $634 for the year, including transportation and lunches.

Wall Street Puzzled as Buying Public Shuns Bonds and Goes Big for Stocks

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—What makes today's investor tick has a lot of Wall Streeters puzzled.

Stock prices are so high in relation to dividends that the yields of many stocks are below the returns on some top-rated bonds.

Still the public goes on buying stocks and ignoring or selling bonds. New money pours into the market despite the astonishingly high ratio of prices to earnings.

★ ★ ★

This year has seen a marked rise in the birth rate of mutual funds. The new ones have sold millions of shares for millions of dollars. Wall Street asks: Is a period of high stock prices the time to launch a mutual fund: The launchers answer yes. Obviously their new shareholders believe them. The argument is that stock prices at near record highs put a premium on expert portfolio management and selectivity.

The Street has had two favorite explanations for the gyrations in stocks and bonds.

First, there has been such a buildup in idle funds — such as the ever growing pension funds and the insurance company reserves — that the money has to go to work somewhere.

Second, the public is sold on coming inflation — the belief that everything is going to go up in price, including stocks, and that a fixed income investment will provide steadily declining purchasing power.

Those who invest in mutual funds seem to be bearing out his view, many in that field point out.

About 80 per cent of investments in mutual funds have been in those stressing common stocks. The balanced funds — those that offset the more flightly common stocks with sizable holdings of the more steady-going bonds and preferred stocks — have 20 per cent of the market.

Mutual salesmen say this proves the public's mood today is to hold common stocks it thinks will grow in value even if income yields are skimpy rather than to buy an investment that offers an assured income.

★ ★ ★

Success of the new funds this year has been spectacular. Lehman Bros. One William Street Fund grew almost overnight from 3 million shares to 16 million. The Lazard Fund jumped from 2½ million shares to 6 million.

The Wellington Fund, devoted for years to a balanced fund only, is now launching a common stock fund, frankly saying it's following the public's mood to protect itself from inflation.

Other funds started this year include: Chase Fund at one million shares; Missiles, Jets & Automation Fund, half a million shares; Worth Fund, 400,000 shares; Stein, Roe & Farnham Stock Fund, half a million shares.

Older funds have been humming right along despite the drop in corporate income totals and the slicing of many dividend rates.

★ ★ ★

The National Assn. of Investment Companies reports that net assets of its 146 mutual members is at a record high in excess of 11 billion dollars, up 1¾ billion in a year, and a rise of about 10 billion since 1946.

Wins Talent Match

Beauty Dances Nearer to Miss America Title

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Twelve years of ballet lessons paid off last night for a Connecticut girl entered in the 1958 Miss America Pageant.

Billie Jean Turner, 20, of New Canaan danced her way to victory in the second preliminary talent competition with her interpretation of Chopin's "Less Sylphides."

★ ★ ★

In the second night of swim suit competition, meanwhile, Miss Indiana, whose favorite sport is swimming, showed her winning form and got the judges' nod.

While Billie Jean performed before a panel of 11 judges and a convention hall crowd of 7,700 persons, Anita Marie Hursh of Goshen, Ind., waltzed off with her own prize.

Anita Marie, a 19-year-old brunette sophomore at De Pauw University in Greencastle, Ind., stands 5-6½ inches tall, weighs 120 pounds and measures 34½-24-35.

Billie Jean, who automatically receives a $1,000 scholarship for winning the talent competition, said she will use it to continue her dancing studies.

For her dance against 17 other talent competitors, Miss Connecticut wore a traditional white ballet costume with satin bodice and white net ballerina-length skirt. A wreath of flowers encircled her head.

★ ★ ★

The preliminary competition, which ends tonight, gives each of the 52 girls in the contest a chance to take part in each of three categories: talent, swim suit and evening gown.

In addition, each of the girls is judged on personality in breakfast interviews with judges.

The successor to Marilyn Van Derbur of Denver, Colo., will be selected tomorrow night.

Buzzard Downs Plane

SAGINAW (AP)—A private plane carrying James J. Gerity Jr., broadcasting executive, and a crew of two, collided with a 20-pound turkey buzzard Thursday on a trip from Adrian. The plane landed safely with only minor injuries to one of the occupants. Treated for nose injuries and minor lacerations of the face was Al Wolfe, co-pilot and chief accountant for Gerity Broadcasting Co.

Glenn Miller Orchestra Missing Its Sheet Music

NEW YORK (AP)—With $1,500 worth of sheet music missing, the Glenn Miller orchestra at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel has to play some favorite tunes from memory.

★ ★ ★

The theft of the music was discovered when the 17-member band assembled to play last night at the hotel's Starlight Roof. The orchestra is led by Ray McKinley.

Lenny Hambro, manager of the band, estimated it would take about a week to recopy the missing scores from the band's full arrangements.

TAKES A TIP — Canadian middleweight champion Wilf Greaves takes a tip from an old but great champ Jack Dempsey, who was once the American heavyweight champion. Greaves will make an appearance in Pontiac Monday night at Wisner Stadium when he faces Mike O'Hara, rising young newcomer from Milwaukee in one of three 8-round features on the six-bout program.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Nothing kills a young fighter's confidence more than being thrown to the Wolves faster than his boxing experience warrants.

This was the case of young heavyweight named Joe Modzele who was matched by the late Jake Mintz in 1949 to fight the more experinced Bob Baker.

Baker beat Modzele to a pulp and kayoed him in the 4th round. This was the end of Modzele's fight career.

Such antics were typical of Mintz especially where the dollar was concerned.

★ ★ ★

When Mintz died his widow took over as manager of the fighters he had under contract.

One of these fighters was a Canadian by the name of Wilf Greaves.

Greaves had a few short-round pro matches under his belt, but then was made easy prey for the big boys of the middleweight division in typical Mintz fashion.

★ ★ ★

Here was a 20 year old kid showing enough guts but not enough experience in losing decisions to Tiger Jones, Gene Fullmer, Joey Giardello and Spider Webb.

The Smith enterprises of Detroit saw a kid with courage and great potential if trained and brought up in the ranks properly, so they bought his contract.

Tony Ross is now his manager, and since whipping Duke Harris in Detroit a year ago, Greaves has won seven straight fights.

★ ★ ★

He is now the Canadian middleweight champion, hailing from Edmonton, Alberta, and he will defend his Canadian title, October 3rd against that country's top challenger, Yvonne Turrene.

Before that fight, however, he has two engagements, one here in Pontiac Monday night at Wisner stadium when he goes against light heavyweight Mike O'Hara of Milwaukee.

He also has a television date scheduled for September 29th against Paddy Young from New York's St. Nick arena.

★ ★ ★

Detroit promoter Julius Piazza says, "Greaves is ready now to start moving up. The experience against the big dogs even though he got beat, will help him."

Of course Piazza would like to see Greaves win Monday night and then successfully defend his Canadian title next month. "This would give us a topnotch card for a Chuck Spieser bout in Detroit," Piazza added.

★ ★ ★

If all this should come to pass, the handsome Greaves could overcome that Mintz era of his life and make his climb up the ladder with confidence.

Another Schmidt?

Rookie Wayne Walker Is Held High by Lions

DALLAS, Texas — Rookie center and line backer Wayne Walker says he has a lot to learn before he can bolster the title chances of the defending NFL champion Detroit Lions.

★ ★ ★

But the Lion coaching staff says the rangy 215-pound former Idaho University player has the makings of another Joe Schmidt, top Detroit defensive star.

Walker, who averaged more than 50 minutes per game for three seasons in college, frankly admits he "doesn't know much about football," at least pro football.

"I thought I knew my way around pretty well, after having so much playing time during three seasons at Idaho," Walker says, "but the first couple of days in camp Buster Ramsey, defensive coach, threw things at me that I had never heard of."

★ ★ ★

Walker will team with Schmidt as Detroit plays an exhibition game with the Chicago Bears tonight in the Cotton Bowl here.

★ ★ ★

Ramsey describes the youngster as "one of the top prospects in camp. He really loves to hit when he's backing up the line and has plenty of speed to work into our pass defense alignment."

Walker may parallel Schmidt's career. Schmidt, the Lions' seventh draft choice in 1953, impressed Ramsey so much that a veteran was traded away to make room for the rookie.

Since then, Schmidt has been team captain three times and rated the top linebacker in NFL play. He has made almost every honor accorded linemen and has been a virtually unanimous choice for the all-pro game four straight seasons.

LIONS NOTES:—

Line backer Joe Schmidt says his darkest hour in football came as a sophomore fullback at Pittsburgh in a game with Michigan State. The all-pro defensive star says he was held to a minus 30 yards in nine times by the Spartans.

Basilio Fights Aragon Tonight in Los Angeles

TV Winner Is Offered Chicago Title Bout With Akins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Battle-tested Carmen Basilio of New York and California's unpredictable Art (Golden Boy) Aragon fight for 12 rounds or less tonight, with the winner hoping to get a title shot at middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson.

Weighing-in ceremonies were set for 10 a.m., PDT, at the Olympic Auditorium, with the battlers expected to scale 152 pounds or so.

★ ★ ★

Tonight at 7 o'clock, PDT, they climb into the ring at Wrigley Field before an expected turnout of 20,000 or more, plus thousands more across the nation who can watch the fight on (NBC) television.

Basilio, a rugged little gent from Chittenango in upper New York State, will be at least a 3-1 favorite.

Promoter Cal Eaton and matchmaker George Parnassus look for a gate in excess of $200,000.

★ ★ ★

Chicago promoter Jack Begun said Thursday night he would offer Virgil Akins and Basilio a quarter of a million dollars for a welterweight title fight in Chicago.

If Art Aragon beats Basilio in Los Angeles Friday night, he will be included in the offer made to Akins, Begun said.

Pontiac Golfers Eye State Title

Pontiac's five-man golf team will try to regain the Michigan Recreation Association championship Saturday in an 18-hole tournament at Midland's Currie Municipal course.

City Medal Play champion Butler Cooper, 1957 city champ Paul Bada, Glen Vallance, Charlie Barker and Ron Rothbarth will be the standard-bearers for Pontiac against five-man teams from nine other cities.

Pontiac won the state MRA title two years ago at Grosbeck in Lansing, but did not send a team last year. Lansing won the 1957 crown, also on the Grosbeck course.

★ ★ ★

Other cities represented tomorrow are Ypsilanti, Livonina, Dearborn, Plymouth, Lansing, Riverview, Grand Rapids, Saginaw and host Midland.

Chicago Pros Have 3-0 Mark in Exhibitions

'Pupil' George Wilson Faces 'Teacher' Halas for First Time

DALLAS, Texas — Tonight will mark another chapter in the "teacher versus pupil" story when the Detroit Lions meet the Chicago Bears in the Cotton Bowl at 8:00 p.m.

Lions' coach George Wilson was one of George Halas' prize pupils in the late thirties and early forties, during the time the Chicago Bears became known as the "Monsters of the Midway."

This will be the first meeting between the two since Wilson took over as head coach of the Lions in 1957. The past two seasons, Halas has turned the reigns of office over to Paddy Driscoll while he confined his activities to the "front office." In 1958, it's a different story, as "Pappa Bear" has again moved into the head coaching spot and is in full command again.

At the moment, the Bears are the only unbeaten team in the pre-season campaign in the National Football League. Chicago has scored victories over the Chicago Cardinals, 24-7, the Philadelphia Eagles, 3-0 and the Pittsburgh Steelers, 17-10.

Detroit, meanwhile, has a two game streak going after dropping a 35-19 decision to the College All-Star squad. The Lions downed Cleveland, 17-7, and the New York Giants, 26-7 in their most recent outings.

The intra-conference battle between the Lions and Bears marks the first time in many years that Detroit has met a team from its own conference in pre-season play.

In regular season play, since 1934, the Bears hold a 30-16 edge in the series with two ties. Detroit lost a 27-7 decision to the Bears in midseason in '57 but came back to take a 21-13 victory in the regular season finale to clinch a share of the lead in the Western Division race.

Five members of the Lions will be playing "in their own back yards" in the Cotton Bowl. Quarterbacks Bobby Layne of Texas and Tobin Rote of Rice, guard Harley Sewell of Texas, defensive halfback Yale Lary of Texas A & M and Bill Glass of Baylor are all former Southwest Conference stars.

The game will be broadcast on radio.

Bunning Still Unable to Go Full Distance

Fails to Go 9 Innings 9th Straight Time but Is Winner

DETROIT (UPI) — Jim Bunning still hasn't pitched a complete, nine-inning game since his no-hitter early two months ago. He has failed to go the route 9 straight times.

★ ★ ★

But the slim Tiger right hander is making progress. He finally won his second game since the masterpiece yesterday, an 11-4 decision over the Chicago White Sox to set his record at 10-10 far short of his 20 victories last season.

Bunning had a string of big leads immediately after the no-hitter but couldn't hold them. Then he ran into a streak of good pitching and no hitting support to add fuel to the argument that a no-hitter is a jinx.

He finally got the pitching and hitting together as the Bengals pounded six Sox hurlers for 16 safeties but he was lifted for a punch hitter in the seventh and Hank Aguirre finished up, allowing the final Chicago run in the ninth.

Bunning started out like Herb Moford and Frank Lary in the previous two games. Moford set down 16 in a row at Kansas City Tuesday before the A's got their first hit and Larry didn't give up a hit until one man was out in the seventh Wednesday.

Sherm Lollar, leading off the the fifth, was the first man to reach base against Bunning. Lollar singled to center and by the time the inning was over, the Sox cut Detroit's lead to 5-2.

Chicago got two more hits in the sixth but a doubleplay ended the threat and with one run in and two men on base via walks in the seventh, Harvey Kuenn saved Bunning with a leaping, crossbody, one-handed grab of Jim Landis' liner in deep left center next to the fence for the final out.

Phillies' Farrell Takes His Lumps From Braves

NL All-Star Hero Hit Hard

By The Associated Press

When the last out was made in the All-Star Game, the National League had only one hero in defeat, Philadelphia's relief ace, Dick Farrell. He had shut out the American League without a hit, striking out Jensen, Skowron, Malzone and Ted Williams in a near-perfect two innings that came too late.

Farrell was tops, spinning along with a 1.17 earned run average and allowing but one earned run in an eight-game string of 15 2-3 innings going into the All-Star break.

★ ★ ★

He's been yesterday's hero since.

Farrell has won only once in seven decisions and has managed just four saves in 22 appearances over the last two months. And he's been battered for 25 earned runs in 29 innings over that span.

The kid right-hander took his lumps again last night, getting tagged for four runs on four hits as Milwaukee beat the Phils 9-5 in 10 innings.

That kept the Braves' lead at nine games over San Francisco as the Giants broke a tie for second with rain-idled Pittsburgh by walloping Los Angeles 13-3. St. Louis defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-2 with Sam Jones becoming the third NL pitcher in 30 years to strike out 200 in one season.

The Braves built a 5-1 lead on Wes Covington's 24th home run, a two-out shot in the fifth, then nailed their eighth straight over the Phils in the 10th on singles by Casey Wise and Hank Aaron, a walk, Frank Torre's tie-breaking, two-run single, and Billy Bruton's two-run triple, handing Farrell a 7-8 record.

The last place Phils, 20½ games behind in a plunge that has paralled Farrell's, had swung for 12 hits off Lew Burdette, chasing the big right-hander with four runs in the fifth for a 5-all tie. But they managed just one hit the rest of the way off southpaw Juan Pizarro (5-2), who walked two, struck out six in 5 2-3 innings of shutout relief.

Richie Ashburn was 3-for-4 for the Phils, regaining the NL batting lead with .342. Stan Musial of St. Louis, out with a leg injury, slipped to second with his .340.

Willie Mays, fourth with .335 behind Aaron's .336, had three hits, one his 28th home run, for the Giants, who scored eight runs in the first inning. The Giants rapped a 16-6 edge over Los Angeles for the season—their best against the Dodgers since 1937, when they had the same record.

Stu Miller (5-7), the little junk man, went all the way, giving up five hits. Carl Furillo drove in all the Dodger runs, with a sacrifice fly and two-run single. Johnny Podres (12-12) lost it as the Giants collected 17 hits, with Orlando Cepeda also hitting a home run, his 25th.

A pair of unearned runs in the fifth inning did the job for the Cards against loser Dave Hillman (4-7) as they tied Cincinnati for fourth. Jones (12-11) gave up five hits, with one Cub run unearned, and struck out eight for a total of 201. The old Cardinal high was 199, set by Dizzy Dean in 1933. No one had fanned 200 in the NL since Johnny Vander Meer whiffed 202 with the Reds in 1941.

Few Changes Made to Date in Pro Hockey League

NHL Teams Shy of Big Trades

TORONTO (AP) — You won't necessarily need a program to identify the players when the National Hockey League starts its schedule next month. At least that is the impression gleaned during the off-season.

Few trades were completed among the six clubs during the summer as most teams appeared willing to go with the talent in their farm systems, either by choice or necessity.

One of the reasons for the quiet summer was a lack of news from the Detroit Red Wings, who usually announce wholesale trades in between seasons. This year, however, they did not make a major deal with another NHL club.

There will be a few changes in the Wings' line-up, but the new players will be from the minor leagues. In other years as many as eight of the previous season's regulars were dealt off.

The New York Rangers lost five of last season's players in the league draft but they are counting on young men from their farm system to fill the gaps.

The Toronto Maple Leafs still hope to grab at least one good defenseman before the season opens Oct. 8.

Stafford Smythe, who heads a seven-man committee that runs the Leafs, said a few days ago the team had the worst defense in the league last season.

★ ★ ★

He is hoping the returning players will show improvement and that defenseman Steve Kraftchek and goaltender Johnny Bower, both obtained from the Cleveland Barons of the American League in the draft, also will help.

The Leafs also bought Montreal left winger Bert Olmstead, hoping the veteran would help steady the youngsters and add strength to the forward lines.

However, Olmstead was sentenced to six months in a Vancouver jail on a charge of assault. The conviction is to be appealed early this month. Meanwhile, Olmstead is free on $1,000 bail.

Montreal, Stanley Cup winner for the last three seasons, needed little strengthening but nevertheless picked up Danny Lewicki and Dave Creighton from the Rangers in the draft. They also sold defenseman Dollard St. Laurent to Chicago.

Boston and Chicago will reply mostly on last year's team plus some promising players from their farm systems. Both clubs tried unsuccessfully to negotiate trades. They did get some players from the minor-league drafts.

So the strong clubs in the 1958-59 season will probably be those with the strongest farm systems. That is not including the Canadiens, of course, who are favored to run away with the league championship and Stanley Cup again.

Chiefs Face Rebuilding Job for Harrier Squad

With only three lettermen as a nucleus, Pontiac Central High's cross-country team this year faces a big job of rebuilding, if it hopes to enjoy a winning season.

Coach Dean Wilson (whose 1958 track team won a 4th straight Michigan schoolboy title), has only John Jefferson, senior miler, and Ken Smith (junior) from the 1957 team, for his leading runners. Rufus Anderson, who won a letter in 1956-57, but was ineligible last fall, will give needed help. Jefferson is the top man, having shown marked improvement in spring track work.

Wilson issued uniforms and equipment yesterday and today. First hill-and-dale drills begin Monday, over the Beaudette Park course.

★ ★ ★

Wilson called attention to plans for issuing uniforms for Northern High harriers. The boys from the new high school may get their equipment by calling at Pontiac Central athletic office any time after school, today.

Bob Richards (senior, track letterman) and Columbus White (senior, track letterman) rate high among non-letter winners on the returning list. A promising sophomore crop may produce some additional strength.

Hold First Horse Sale

CHICAGO (AP)—Illinois thoroughbred breeders held their first annual sale last night in Arlington Park. Sixty four horses were sold, grossing $103,500 for an average of $1,617 per animal.

Nats Have Tigers' Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators may find unexpected support if they seek American League approval of a move to Minneapolis. They also face opposition if the question comes up at a league meeting next Monday.

Two club owners, Harvey R. Hansen of Detroit and Dan Topping of New York, refused to commit themselves. But Hansen indicated he would not interfere if Senators' president Calvin Griffith pleads a convincing case for transferring the team. Topping hinted he would object.

Detroit had been one of the clubs reported against moving the Senators.

Griffith, meanwhile, took steps to keep himself free of legal chains at the Monday meeting in Chicago. His attorney prepared to oppose a stockholder's request for a court order temporarily restraining Griffith from discussing a franchise shift.

★ ★ ★

The order was sought by Robert R. Rodenberg, ex-owner of the Baltimore Colts football team, who holds 75 shares of Senators' stock. H. Gabriel Murphy, who commands more than 40 per cent of the shares, also has thrown a federal court suit against any plans Griffith may have for banking promised revenue in Minneapolis.

Neither case will be settled immediately, but each has clouded the picture for Griffith and other league officials.

Hansen said by telephone from Detroit that he could make no positive statement because "we have nothing specific on which to base an opinion." Then he added:

★ ★ ★

"As a general policy, I don't feel that any Major League club should stand in the way of another in moving when it demonstrates the economic necessity for doing so."

In National Tennis Play

May Have All-Aussie Final

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Ashley Cooper, the tall, handsome Australian, admitted today there was just one obstacle that might keep him from winning the National Tennis championship.

"I've got to improve on my service," he said, "Otherwise I'm playing well enough to win this tournament.

★ ★ ★

"Anyhow, I'm not seeded No. 1 this year and that takes some of the pressure off. If you're No. 1 and you win, you're just doing what's expected of you."

Cooper, who moved into the semifinals with a 9-7, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2 victory over Vic Seixas yesterday, figures he will meet his Davis Cup teammate, Mal Anderson, in the final, in a replay of last year's championship.

★ ★ ★

First, of course, he must get past Neale Fraser, the left-handed Aussie who turned back Alex Olmedo of Peru, 3-6, 6-1, 8-6, 3-6, 6-3.

In today's quarter-finals, Anderson went up against Dick Savitt and Herbie Flam met Ulf Schmdt.

★ ★ ★

Two women's quarter-finals also were on the program. Top-seeded Althea Gibson tangled with Britain's Christine Truman, and Mrs. Beverly Fleitz took on Brazil's Maria Esther Bueno. Two quarter-final matches were settled yesterday when Darlene Hard ousted Sally Moore, 6-4, 6-3, and Jeanne Arth upset Mrs. Dorothy Knode, seeded second behind Miss Gibson, 6-3, 6-2.

Michigan Derby Runs Saturday

With the arrival of three newcomers within the last twenty-four hours, the field for the Michigan Derby to be run at Hazel Park Saturday, today appeared to have at least a dozen certain starters. The Derby is for $20,000 added, for three-year-olds at a mile and one-sixteenth.

C. W. Smith's Hillsdale and Circle K. Farm's Sea Hymn were flown in from the East early yesterday and Joseph Gaveguano's Firesickle arrived at Hazel Park by van from Chicago last night.

Racing Secretary Robert P. McAuliffe announced the following probable Derby lineup of horses on the grounds:

T. D. Buhl's Counter Spy; Cecil B. Fischbach's Four Cycle; T.A. Grissom's Litte Reaper; Robert Hedrick's Dixie Hill; Harry Hough's Bay Boy; Mrs. Katherine Price's Refugee; Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Talent Show; Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Salman's Nunya; the Paul F. Ternes' entry of Skeno and Flirtation Walk, Hillsdale, Sea Hymn and Firesickle.

Callison and four of the recalled players will report to the Sox later this month.

Others who will report this month are catcher John Romano, pitcher Don Rudolph, both at Indianapolis and two players from Davenport, catcher Chuck Lindstrom and pitcher Stover McIlwain.

Scrimmages for 'M', MSU Saturday

Spartans' Top Teams to Bump Heads 1st Time

Duffy Daugherty Calls for 'Live' Grid Sessions Tomorrow

EAST LANSING (AP) — The first scrimmage session of the season was on tap at the Michigan State football camp but the two top teams, however, will be withheld from contact work until Saturday.

Coach Duffy Daugherty planned to scrimmage his third, fourth, fifth and sixth teams during the morning session while the players are still fresh.

The starting eleven and the alternating second outfit will get their first taste of live football Saturday.

★ ★ ★

"We're a little late in starting to scrimmage this year, but we have a few more days this season to prepare for the opening game," explained coach Duffy Daugherty.

"For one thing, the squad is almost half sophomores. We wanted them to get their basic assignments down before we start on scrimmage."

The squad broke into the rough stuff gradually yesterday with some contact during a punt defense drill. Coverage on punts also was stressed with Dean Look, Lansing halfback, doing most of the kicking.

Look, who will start at left half, already has been tabbed as the Spartan punter this fall.

The squad sweated gallons during the 79 degree heat agravated by extreme mugginess. Most players lost four to six pounds and Allen Hill, 229 pound sophomore center from Holland, dropped eight pounds during the morning session alone.

Only a few minor injuries have shown up so far this season.

Keeping a sharp eye on the sophomores, coaches have been particularly impressed by the work of Ike Grimsley, 180 pound import from Canton, Ohio. Grimsley, a left handed passer, has been shifted from quarterback to fullback.

"We found him to be a good runner, commented Daugherty. "Also, we like his work on defense."

Indianwood Matches Begin

Bill Waite, an Indianwood Country Club member, has singlehandedly put his team into the championship flight of the 2nd annual Indianwood Invitational Best-Ball golf tournament.

It was almost dark Thursday night when Waite, playing alone against the team of Irv Richards and Bob Hite in a sudden-death playoff, sank a 40-foot putt for a birdie three on the 2nd hole to gain the 16th and last position.

Waite and his playing partner, Bob Reynolds of Washtenaw, had carded a qualifying score of 34-38—72 early this week. Richards, also of Indianwood, and Hite from Atlas Valley shot the same qualifying score yesterday.

When yesterday's qualifiers ended, there were 15 teams with championship flight berths secured, A playoff was necessary to decide the final spot.

Unfortunately for Waite, Reynolds was absent so he had to stand off Hite and Richards by himself. He answered the challenge with his long putt to drop Richards and Hite into the 1st flight.

Match play started today and if Thursday's qualifiers are a reliable indicator of things to come, Bud Stevens of Western Golf Club and Plum Hollow's Don Mead will be a couple of rough customers.

Stevens, the long-hitting Detroit District champion, and Mead took medal honors with a score card of 31-35—66 against par 35-37—72. Stevens and Mead combined for seven birdies, three of them in succession.

★ ★ ★

Two teams were close behind with five-under-par 67s: Bill Pettibone of Red Run and Pete Schubeck of Rochester had a score of 32-35 and Indianwood's Sam Kocsis and Fred Wilt of Gowanie followed with an identical card.

Schubeck and Pettibone collected six birdies while Kocsis and Wilt, the runnerup to Stevens this year in the DDGA tourney, bagged four "birds" and an eagle.

Three teams were bracketed at 69 and seven tandems tied with 70s, including Pontiac entries Dick Robertson-Dick DeWitt and Wally Smith-Ken Place.

Today's first round pairings in the championship flight, with qualifying scores in parentheses, are as follows:

Don Mead, Plum Hollow and Bud Stevens, Western (31-35—66) vs. Perry Byard, Red Run and Ron Stelter, Saginaw (34-36—70).

Jim Schmalzriedt Jr., Indianwood and Carl Ruebelman Jr., Indianwood (33-36—69) vs. Don Patrick, Red Run and Bob Erdelon, Indianwood (34-36—70).

Sam Kocsis, Indianwood and Fred Wilt, Gowanie (32-35—67) vs. Leo Daigle, Indianwood and Andy Purdo, Indianwood (36-34—70).

Fred Henkel, Indianwood and George Wilson, Red Run (34-36—70) vs. Gib Mason, Indianwood and George Lakitosh, Meadowbrook (34-37—71).

Pete Schubeck, Rochester and Bill Pettibone, Red Run (32-35—67) vs. Dick Robertson, Pontiac and Dick DeWitt, Pontiac (34-36—70).

Jack Zinn, Red Run and Paul Anderson, Red Run (34-35—69) vs. Frank Pinkham, Indianwood and Earl Burt, Washtenaw (36-35—71).

Owen Davis, Indianwood and Chet Bower, Indianwood (34-35—69) vs. Lou Wendrow, Lansing and Ralph Ellstrom, Dearborn (34-36—70).

Wally Smith, Pontiac and Ken Place, Red Run (35-35—70) vs. Bill Waite, Indianwood and Bob Reynolds, Washtenaw (34-38—72).

Dixie Riders Hold 10th Annual Show

One of the fall's colorful western and English saddle horse shows takes place Sunday at the Glenn Ellis Farm, near Clarkston. This will be the 10th annual exhibition by the Dixie Saddle club, and a full day's program has been arranged, beginning at 9 a.m. In case of bad weather, the show will be held Sept. 14.

All the usual features will be offered, including musical stalls, flag and bending races, for youngsters and adults. Public is invited to witness the action. The Ellis farm is at 9331 Dixie Highway.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

John Barnum, the long-hitting professional from Grand Rapids, will be everybody's target this Sunday when the annual Michigan PGA golf tournament takes place at Midland Country Club.

Whether or not the state's best pros can gun him down with a sub-par barrage remains to be seen. But they certainly won't have any trouble finding him. The big fellow is not easy to miss.

Barnum, defending State PGA champion, towers 6-foot-4 and scales 240 pounds. When it comes to whaling the ball off the tee, John can hold his own with most of them in the business.

He is currently the hottest golfer in state circles in the wake of his 2nd Michigan Open championship nearly two weeks ago at Atlas Valley Country Club, where he shot a 16-under-par 272 for 72 holes to top Chick Harbert by seven strokes.

John has long since proved, however, that he has the short game and putter to go with his power. His short irons and putter were deadly during his march to the Michigan Open title.

He won last year's State PGA crown at Birmingham CC by defeating host pro Ray Maguire in a sudden-death playoff. For 36 holes of medal play this Sunday at Midland, Barnum will be a marked man.

But he won't be ducking the concentrated fire of his rival pros. He's too big to get out of the way.

SHORT PUTTS

Low gross honors in Pine Lake Country Club's mixed doubles event on Labor Day were shared by the teams of Mrs. Lee-Mr. McDuffie and Mrs. Blaisdell-Mr. Bull. Each team carded 84. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Spencer had low net of 64.

Defending champion Tony Skover won the club championship at Meadowbrook for the 4th time by defeating Bill Jordan, 1 up, on the 37th hole. Skover won the 35th and 36th holes to even the match, then birdied the 37th for victory. It was the 4th trip to the finals without success for Jordan.

Dr. Robert Schwarz took club laurels at Lakelands CC with a 7-6 triumph over Charles Bell. Mrs. John Shutts won the women's title at Lakelands for the 7th time with a 3-2 conquest of Mrs. Vincent Vis. The club crown at Grosse Ile went to Dr. Phil Cornell who beat Roy Burgin, 3-2.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's 2nd annual Janczarek Memorial Best-Ball golf tourney is scheduled Saturday, Sept. 20. The Pro-Member outing at Tam O'Shanter will be held next Monday.

★ ★ ★

The new head professional at Big Rapids Country Club is Tom Ice of Niles, former assistant pro at Kalamazoo CC.

Jewelers Win Benefit Game

Carl Shell's Waterford League All-Stars played Shaw's Jewelers last night at Drayton Plains in an exhibition softball game for the benefit of injured Don Seeterlin and everything was a success except the final score as far as Waterford fans were concerned.

Shaw's, city Class AA champion, defeated the All-Stars, 1-0, on Edgar Mullins' run-producing single in the 6th inning, the only hit made by the winners. The All-Stars also got just one safety, a single by pitcher Doug Hall.

Jake Mazur and Perc McConner hurled for the Jewelers with McConner the winner in relief. Harlan (Fat)Keigh, Hall, Glenn (Wimpy) Johnson and Arlo Flesher twirled for the All-Stars in that order with Johnson taking the loss.

Approximately $80 will go to Seeterlin as a result of the benefit game and additional contributions can be made at Carl Shell & Sons, 4994 Dixie Highway, Drayton Plains. Seeterlin broke his ankle in post-season tournament play.

Contact Session for Wolverines Set in Stadium

Two Oakland County Boys, Walker-Harper See Action

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Coach Bennie Oosterbaan had at least one less worry on his mind today. A twisted knee suffered by veteran end Gary Prahst during scrimmage yesterday is expected to be healed by Monday.

Prahst was plagued by injuries last season and his efficiency curtailed.

Pass offense took up much of yesterday's practice session, but Oosterbaan also sent his squad through a long scrimmage.

Fullbacks John Herrnstein and John Walker of Walled Lake were impressive in the workouts as was left halfback Harry Newman Jr.

★ ★ ★

Left halfback Darrel Harper of Royal Oak, slated to replace Jim Pace, was in uniform. But he was withheld from the contact work by a twisted ankle yesterday.

Harper is expected to scrimmage Saturday when Oosterbaan takes the Wolverines behind the locked doors of Michigan Stadium for the first time.

Oosterbaan was pleased by the early progress of his first team. It has shown a definite ability to hang onto the ball. Fumbles hurt the Wolverines in several games last season.

Doug Dodson won Chicago's Hyde Park Stakes three times — High Shine in 1945, Bewitch in 1947 and Princess Lygia in 1951.

Scoring Stars Signed by Champion Hawks

ST. LOUIS (AP)— Bob Pettitt and Cliff Hagan, the top two scorers of the National Basketball Assn. champion St. Louis Hawks, signed their contracts Thursday, each for a raise in salary.

Pettit reportedly received a $4,000 hike to about $24,000 a year, making him one of the NBA's highest - salaried players. Hagan was hiked about $3,000 to about $12,000. It will be Pettit's fifth NBA season and Hagan's third.

Hawk owner Ben Kerner, still celebrating his first title, commented that the combined salary of his two aces is about equal to the entire payroll of a squad he had at Milwaukee seven years ago.

Idle Yanks Move Closer to Title

By The Associated Press

The Yankees increased their lead and reduced the magic number of wins needed to clinch another pennant to nine yesterday without even throwing a ball.

Detroit made it possible by drubbing the White Sox while the New Yorkers were not scheduled. Boston defeated Baltimore 5-2 and Kansas City clipped Cleveland in the other American League contests.

Boston batting ace Pete Runnels drove in the two key runs as the Red Sox dropped Baltimore into a tie with the Tigers for 4th. A three-run seventh handed Detroiter Milt Pappas his 8th setback against nine triumphs. Rookie Bill Monbouquette won with relief help from Murray Wall. Both Bird runs were unearned as the losers led until the 5th.

Pontiac's Chuck Oertel grounded as a pinch - hitter against Wall in the 7th.

Roger Maris broke up a shutout duel with his 24th home run, a two-run belt in the sixth, as the A's ended Cal McLish's winning streak at six. McLish, now 14-7, allowed only four hits in seven frames.

Winner Ralph Terry gave up nine safeties but had a shutout going until Vic Power tripled and scored on an infield single by Minnie Minoso. Terry is now 9-11.

Ailing Cleveland southpaw star Herb Score got into action again. He worked the last two innings pitching shutout ball but Maris' blast following a single by Bill Tuttle had done the damage.

Boston's victory gave the Red Sox a 10-9 edge over Baltimore in their tight season series with three games to play. Kansas City clinched at least a split with Cleveland for the season. The A's hold an 11-9 edge with two to play.

Heavy Rains May Delay Utah Open

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The $15,000 Utah Open golf tournament so far has brought two things here, the best roster of pros in more than a decade and the biggest rainfall in months.

Winds and nearly an inch of

rain spattered the Salt Lake Country Club course yesterday and drove practicing golfers to cover.

The sponsoring Utah Golf Assn. crossed its fingers and the weatherman predicted more of the same for today's opening of the four-day, 72-hole affair.

America's Cup Rivalry Begins

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—U. S. amateur golfers open defense of the American Cup today with a powerful team of Hillman Robbins and Harvie Ward leading off the international competition.

Robbins, defending U. S. champion from Memphis, and San Franciscan Ward, who won the crown in 1955 and 1956, play against the Canadian twosome of Bruce Castator, champion in his country, and Eric Hanson from Toronto, and Mexico's Enrique Farias Jr. and Ignacio Lopez.

In the team matches, each twosome plays one ball, shooting alternate strokes. Actually there are three competitions in each of the three sixsomes—U. S. vs. Mexico, U. S. vs. Canada and Canada vs. Mexico.

In the afternoon, the players meet in singles competition, both today and Saturday. Each squad numbers seven top golfers, but only six play at one time.

Firing practice rounds Thursday over the Olympic Country Club Lake Course, scene of both the Americas Cup play and the U. S. Amateur Championships which begin on Monday, Ward shot a two-under-par 68 for the second straight day. Robbins had 70 after being two under for 15 holes.

American Sets Jap High Jump Record

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — John Thomas of Cambridge, Mass., Thursday leaped to a Japanese high jump record of 2.09 meters (6 ft. 10⅝ inches) as he surpassed two previous performances he set in Japanese-American good will track and field meets within two weeks.

Thomas and his U.S. teammates grabbed 13 first places while the Japanese All-Stars took six in the meet at the Yokohama Municipal Stadium before 30,000 spectators.

It was the third in a series of seven meets participated in by an eight-man U.S. Amateur Athletic Union track team reinforced by athletes from the U.S. armed forces Far East.

Gain Softball Finals

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP) — Stratford advanced to the finals of the Women's World Softball Tournament Thursday night with a thrilling 2-1 win over the defending champions, Fresno, Calif.

Stratford pitcher Bertha Ragan won her own ball game with a two-out triple in the 10th inning. An estimated 13,000 fans then watched her score on a passed ball.

Need Solid Foundation to Construct Dog Pound

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—City Councilman Phil J. Bagley Jr., looked at the excavation for a new dog pound, already 12 feet deep.

"How come?" he asked. Told that it was the site of an old dump which made it necessary to dig deep to get a solid foundation, Bagley said it might be cheaper to find another location.

"At the rate they are going," he said, "they will have more money under the ground than above."

Rules of the Road Set by Farmers, Hard on Autoists

DENVER (UPI) — "The speed on country roads will be a secret, and the penalty for every mile in excess will be $10."

This was one of the "Rules of the Road" which governed traffic in Colorado nearly a half-century ago, largely due to the activities of the Farmers' Anti-Automobile League.

Other rules in 1912 included:

"Autos running on country roads at night must send up a skyrocket every 150 yards, wait eight minutes for the road ahead to clear, and then proceed with caution, blowing the horn, (or ringing a bell) and shooting roman candles.

★ ★ ★

"In event the road is being used by a horse and said horse refuses to pass said horseless carriage, the driver of the auto will dismantle it as quickly as possible and hide it from view in foliage along the road."

Country Store Owner Looks on Bright Side

ROCKVILLE, Va. (AP)—John Julian Snead says there isn't any recession in the country store business—it is just still bad. There is a bright side though—an opportunity to kid salesmen and to get news from them.

"Trouble is if a fellow has two dollars he spends one on gas and drives to Richmond with the other," said Snead, who is 75. "I try not to let anything bother me, as long as the conversation is good."

Agent Gives Tips on Good Garden Fertility

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
County Horticultural Agent

Covering up the garden with a lot of green grass often seems to be just "asking for work" when spring arrives. But once you have tried it, you'll discover it not only improves fertility but kills lots of weeds, too.

Sowing three pounds of rye grass seed per 1,000 square feet around this week seems to have several advantages. It provides a nice green cover which hides most dead and frozen vines during the fall and spring. It picks up all the left over fertilizer and keeps it in the plant instead of letting the fertilizer be washed away.

It also prevents any muddy places where children can spoil their shoes and it does not harm the quality of any of the vegetables, such as carrots, beets, potatoes or cabbage, because the grass plants are still too small.

During the spring it is wise to top dress this rye grass with 10 pounds of 12-12-12 per 1,000 square feet. If this is a couple of weeks in advance of spading or plowing, it causes a nice green growth of the rye, creating an ideal organic manure. In addition to the fertility aspect, it aids in maintaining a loose soil and holding moisture.

FALL TRANSPLANTING

There is no doubt that fall transplanted plants often survive and become successfully established. In a great many cases, spring transplanting has proven at least as successful and sometimes seems to do better.

One of the best arguments for fall transplanting is the known fact much root growth occurs during cool weather. Fall transplanting permits root establishment during fall and early spring before leaf growth appears. Convenience favors fall transplanting when the soil is firm and well packed.

Opposing these advantages is the ever present possibility of winter injury due to wind and warm sunshine. These two factors tend to dry out the leaves (if evergreen) and branches when the restricted root system is trapped in frozen soil.

Natural plants usually have one or more days roots below the frost line which keep the leaves and branches supplied with water during these warm windy winter or early spring days.

Early spring planting omits the hazards of winter injury and can still cash in on early spring root growth. But late spring transplanting is always a poor third choice. We miss the advantage of root growth before top growth and usually have shoots present which rob the roots of necessary food.

Protect Your Hand When Working in Fall Gardens

With the flowering season over, the housewife looks to gardening-time again for her last fling with nature before she takes to hibernation from the wintry elements.

Working in the crisp air does wonders for a lady's complexion, and the late fall gardening chores afford her the exercise needed to keep her trim.

Preparing the garden for winter, however, is no easy task. There are many hazards lying in wait for soft, attractive feminine hands.

Raking leaves and cutting branches can blister and roughen sensitive hands; stubborn thorns and brambles cut into delicate skin, and the frosty, hard soil ruins manicured fingernails.

LOTION NOT ENOUGH

Normal lotion-care of the hands is not enough to keep them lovely, soft and chap-free throughout the late gardening season. The smart gal follows the old adage that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" and protects her hands before they're hurt by investing in a good pair of gardening gloves.

★ ★ ★

The gloves to select have an absorbent knit-cotton lining and a tough neoprene outer shell that repels water and withstands tears or punctures from the roughest treatment.

In addition, these gloves are so flexible, they allow complete hand freedom even for the most delicate garden tasks. Their tapered fit and lightness eliminate the clumsy feel which so many women object to. They can be worn in comfort all day.

★ ★ ★

It's generally a good idea to get out of doors as much as possible. Fresh air and sunlight impart a natural beauty which is unattainable with even the best of cosmetics. Gardening is great outdoor fun.

Like any other hobby, though, one should be well-equipped to do the proper job. Be sure to take your gardening gloves along and wear them.

IVY GERANIUM—Mrs. Frank L. Shaw of 81 W. New York St., proudly holds one of the numerous bright pink flowers which are on her ivy geranium located along the northeast side of the garage. Last year the new plant was six inches, Today it stands seven feet.

At an average rate of 30 miles per hour, it would take an automobile more than 11 years to travel over the 3,012,520 miles of rural highways maintained in the United States today.

After butterfat or cream is removed from whole milk, the skim milk constitutes more than half the weight of the whole milk.

Icy Wilderness Comes to Life

DEW Line Opens Up Vast Arctic With Its Virginal Resources

WASHINGTON — The Arctic will never be the same again. Icy wilderness once untouched by even an Eskimo mukluk now pulses with the electronic tools of modern defense — and the promise of mineral wealth.

It is now possible to fly across the very top of the North American continent without ever losing sight of the lights of human habitation and seldom being more than 25 miles from an airstrip, Howard La Fay of the National Geographic Society reports.

The revolution in the desolate world of rock and snow has been brought about by the Distant Early Warning (DEW) Line — a 3,000-mile necklace of radar stations reaching from Alaska's Point Barrow on the west to Baffin Island on the east.

In the event of an air attack on Canada or the United States over the North Pole, the line would flash instant warning to the joint Canadian-United States combat operations center at Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Enemy jet bombers traveling at the speed of sound would require more than an hour to fly between the DEW Line and the closest of their probable targets — giving a margin of time for defensive measures and retaliatory bombing.

What these changes can mean to the future of the northland — and the rest of the world — is described by Mr. La Fay:

"By proving that it is possible for man and his most complex machines to live and work in the Far North, the DEW Line has opened the door to exploitation of the region's incalculable subterranean wealth. Locked in by the permafrost is a treasure trove — coal, oil, copper, uranium, immense hoards of rare metals — that will one day flood the world.

★ ★ ★

"Geologists have barely scratched the surface. But already Point Barrow's petroleum and natural gas resurces are known. Norman Wells, in northern Canada, refines oil produced on the spot, and even supplies diesel fuel to DEW Line siter. From Port Radium, on Great Bear Lake, came uranium used in the first A-bomb. The Smoking Mountains in Franklin Bay — actually a smoldering mass of sulphur and coal — have been burning, according to Eskimo tradition, forever."

Persons in Maturity Get Sunburn Easier

NEW YORK (UPI)—Persons between the ages of 21 to 50 and pregnant women up to their seventh month have been found to be particularly susceptible to sunburn.

Researchers for Johnson & Johnson also found that high humidity, light clouds and lack of a wind are the ripest conditions for a bad case of sunburn—or, to be technical, "erythema solare."

★ ★ ★

Humidity causes perspiration to remain on the body, making the skin particularly sensitive to ultraviolet rays. Conversely, a wind will dry the skin. As for light clouds, they serve as reflectors for sunshine.

Baltimore Tosses Out 116 Tons of Old Papers

BALTIMORE (AP)—The city government has thrown away nearly two miles of outdated records in the past two years.

That's how high the records would reach if piled one on another, says the Record Management Office, which has disposed of 116 tons of official papers since 1955.

Boston Museum Will Bring Swiss to Make Maps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seems that the Swiss are as good at drawing maps as they are at making watches.

According to the U.S. Department of Commerce, Switzerland is "the best mapped country in the world."

For four and a half centuries, Swiss cartographers have been tramping the 15,940 square miles that make up their mountainous country, mapping and refining mapping techniques.

"As a result of Swiss experience in mapping mountainous areas," a Commerce Department source said, the Boston science museum has employed the topographic division of the Swiss Federal Military Department to map Mt. McKinley—North America's highest peak—"using their own creative techniques."

Students Burn Negro in Effigy

Boycott High School in Arkansas Protesting Integration

VAN BUREN, Ark. (AP)—Scorning a guard's threat to shoot them, rebellious white youths burned a Negro in effigy on the campus of integrated Van Buren High School last night.

They planned to stay out of classes today and forcibly prevent any Negro pupil from entering the building.

★ ★ ★

Several of the 50 boys who staged a boycott of the school yesterday boasted that their parents were behind the group and had given them permission to strike.

Parents of most of the youths held a meeting last night. The mothers and fathers appointed a committee to look into what they termed their "legal rights."

The tenor of the meeting was sympathy for the white boys.

A newsman heard one mother say: "The kids took the first step (the boycott) today; now it is up to us."

★ ★ ★

Van Buren, a west Arkansas city of 6,000, integrated its high school under a federal court order in September 1957. Thirteen Negroes are enrolled.

There were no reports of violence last year but resistance to integration exploded when the 1958-59 fall term started Tuesday.

Chrysler Corp. Buys Up More Stock in Simca

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Chrysler Corp. has increased its interest in Simca, a French auto company, from 15 to 25 per cent.

L. L. Colbert, Chrysler president, told newsmen yesterday the investment was made largely with a view to strenghtening Chrysler's position in the world auto market. He said Fiat owns 30 per cent of the French company.

One 35,000 ton battleship required, 150,000 pounds of rubber, enough to equip 2,000 passenger automobiles complete with spare tire.

Bales of 8210 Commerce Rd., Walled Lake, was renamed the region's representative on the UF's Board of the Directors, and Harold O. Hansen, Huron Valley School District superintendent, was elected to the committee.

In Lake Michigan Off Sheboygan

Discover Remains of Ship Believed Sunk in 1847

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (UPI)—Two Army specialists have discovered at the bottom of Lake Michigan the remains of a ship believed to be a four-master that sank 111 years ago with a loss of about 250 lives.

The men are SP/4 Richard Blackman of Los Angeles, and SP/4 Harry Laviguer of Auburn, Wash. They are with an antiaircraft artillery unit at Camp Haven near here.

★ ★ ★

The ship—about 1,000 feet off Sheboygan's shore—is believed to be the Phoenix, which met a flaming death during the winter of 1847.

There are no accurate figures telling how many were lost in the catastrophe, but it is estimated about 250 persons were killed. Only 46 were saved.

Nearly all of the 300 passengers were Dutch immigrants who were headed for Sheboygan. They had boarded the ship at Buffalo, N. Y.

★ ★ ★

Bad weather forced the ship to pull into Manitowoc, Wis., where it took on fuel. When the high winds subsided, the Phoenix started out, in the dead of night, for Sheboygan.

About an hour out of port, the fire bell clanged. The boiler room was a mass of flames, and the passengers became panic-stricken. There were only two small lifeboats. Most of the passengers leaped over the side to an icy death.

Blackman and Laiguer discovered the sunken ship one day while returning to the base after collecting targets from a firing range on Lake Michigan.

They said they could see the outline of the ship beneath the water.

The soldiers, both amateur skin divers, decided to have a look at the remains. According to their reports, the wreckage appears to be a four-masted ship about 180 feet long and down about 20 feet.

They said there was no doubt that the ship burned before sinking, but they had no positive evidence that it was the Phoenix.

The men hope they can retrieve some of the ship's navigational equipment in order to identify it definitely.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Tree Expert Offers Reminder for Safety

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — Planters are reminded to attach pieces of cloth to the wires they use for bracing their young trees this fall.

The reminder comes from tree expert Martin L. Davey Jr., who suggests as an alternative enclosing the wires in pieces of old hose.

The bracers, which consist of wires running from tree trunks to ground stakes, help keep th trees rect until they have developed root networks to anchor them into place.

But Davey warned that the wires could easily trip an unwary passerby unless they're made clearly visible.

Grains Steady, Dealing Slow

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market was steady to firm today in rather slow early dealings on the Board of Trade.

★ ★ ★

Dealers said the trade appeared to be restricted on one side by prospects for large yields of the major crops and reports of mounting tension in the Chinese Communist-Nationalist situation.

Most price changes were limited to minor fractions.

Prices had weakened somewhat near the end of the first hour, with most contracts on the losing side. Wheat was ⅛ cent a bushel lower to ¼ higher, September $1.86⅜; corn ¼ to ⅞ lower, September $1.26; oats unchanged to ⅜ lower, September 61⅛; rye unchanged to ¼ higher, September $1.26¼; soybeans unchanged to ⅞ lower, September $2.23⅛; lard unchanged to 3 cents a hundred pounds higher, September $12.62.

Export business through the government subsidy program broadened slightly overnight.

The Department of Agriculture said it included 900,000 bushels of corn, mostly for September and October shipment, 771,000 bushels of barley, 140,000 bushels of oats, and 36,000 bushels of rye.

Truman Staff Goes on Federal Payroll

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman's clerical staff of three is going on the federal payroll.

Thomas G. Jay, regional commissioner of the General Services Administration, said that agreement was reached yesterday.

The GSA will administer the pension bill passed by Congress Aug. 28. It provides $50,000 to former presidents for clerical help and a $25,000 annual pension.

In the past ex-presidents received no pension and paid for clerical help out of their own pockets.

Truman will keep a personal secretary, an administrative assistant and a stenographer.

Hurry-Up Eaters Find It Harder to Lose Weight

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Fast eaters have a harder time reducing than other people, according to the Los Angeles County Health Department.

The explanation is that persons who don't take time to chew their food thoroughly generally overeat because the brain is slow in registering that the stomach is full.

★ ★ ★

A Health Department article said dieters can lose weight with less discomfort by:

—Getting up from the table feeling slightly hungry. (The hunger feeling will disappear in about half an hour, the article said, and as the body grows used to the lower food intake, the after-meal hunger feelings disappear).

—Diets containing high protein and skim milk are more satisfying than other diets.

—Bulky salads also are hepful in decreasing hunger because they take a long time to chew.

—Fruits and vegetables of low calory content are good as "space fillers" and also provide many necessary food elements.

Interlake Iron Slips

Judge Doesn't Dig 'Burns

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Judge Willis Ritter doesn't dig these Elvis Presley sideburns. When a 17-year-old juvenile appeared before him for sentencing on a misdemeanor charge, Judge Ritter ordered him taken to the Salt Lake County Jail for a hair cut and shave, explaining that he wouldn't pass sentence until the youth appeared with a presentable haircut.

Few Progress in Today's Mart

NEW YORK (AP)—A few issues made progress in an irregular stock market early today. Trading was fairly active.

Most key stock showed fractional gains or losses.

The market was mixed in an active opening. Prices continued uneven as trading slackened somewhat.

American Telephone, selling ex-dividend, was up a point at the opening, but virtually erased this gain later.

Kroger, still affected by rumors of a stock split and a higher dividend, resumed its advance, gaining well over a point. Artloom, which tripped more than 2 points yesterday, recouped about half that loss.

U.S. Tobacco was more than a point to the good Steels, motors, aircrafts, electronics and utilities were narrowly irregular. Oils were about unchanged and chemicals displayed a slightly lower trend.

Western Union rose fractionally in a spurt of heavy trading.

A bit on the minus side were Jones & Laughlin, Goodyear, Woolworth, United Aircraft, Southern Railway and American Cyanamid.

Projection of One Person Into 2 Bodies Is Strangest of Medical Phenomena

CHICAGO—When Mrs. A. returned home in late afternoon from her husband's funeral, she saw a strange woman in front of her.

As she turned on the light, she noticed that the woman wore a replica of her own coat, hat and veil. Without bothering about the intruder, Mrs. A. began to undress. The other woman did the same.

Only then, looking into the stranger's face, did Mrs. A. realize that she was staring at herself, as if in a mirror.

Mrs. A. was experiencing an unusual, yet long known, medical phenomenon—an autoscopic hallucination, in which one's own body image is projected into visual space.

The first report of autoscopy (about a man who could not go for a walk without seeing his double coming toward him) is attributed to Aristotle. Although the romantic theme of the double appears in many 18th and 19th century literary works, it was introduced into medical literature only toward the end of the last century.

Even yet, little has been written in English about the phenomenon, according to Dr. N. Lukianowicz, Barrow Hospital, Bristol, England. He reported seven cases of autoscopy in a copy of Archives of Neurology and Psychiatry, published by the American Medical Association.

As Mrs. A. looked at her "double" she felt that it was more alive and warm than she was, Dr. Lukianowicz said. Feeling extremely tired, she lay down. As soon as she closed her eyes, she lost sight of her apparition. Almost at once she felt stronger, as if the "life of this astral body" was coming back into her body.

She continued to be visited by her double daily, usually at dusk, when she was alone. She would see it only when she looked straight ahead.

★ ★ ★

Whenever it happened, Mrs. A. "felt mildly amazed and bewildered" and had "a perplexing feeling of unreality." She explained, "In a detached intellectual way I am fully aware that my 'double' is only an hallucination. Yet I see it; I hear it; I feel it with all my senses. Emotionally I feel it as a living, integral part of myself, as a materialized form of my own 'astral body.' It is me, split and divided."

The cause of Mrs. A.'s difficulty is not known. It seems to be somewhat related to other hallucinatory occurrences, including the imaginary playmate of childhood, phantom limbs, and clairvoyance, Dr. Lukianowicz said.

There are two main theories about the cause: The organic, which regards autoscopy as the result of some irritating process in the brain, and the psychologic, which sees in autoscopy the projection of "memory pictures," he said. In addition, he suggests that the hallucinations may represent a compensatory or wish-fulfilling mechanism, illustrated by one patient who saw himself conducting an orchestra.

Sex, intelligence, education, age, and heredity appear to play no role in autoscopy. Neither does there seem to be a particular type of personality necessary for the experience. Among Dr. Lukianowicz' patients, two, including Mrs. A., showed some obsessional perfectionist traits; one had some narcissistic trends; one was a typical extrovert, and three were schizophrenic.

There seems to be no significant correlation between various psychiatric disorders and autoscopy, he said. However, there does seem to be "more than mere chance affinity" between autoscopy and epilepsy (two of his patients were epileptics) and migraine, although its character is not known. In epileptic and migrainous patients, an autoscopic experience may occur before, instead of, or after an attack.

Some authors believe that "normal" persons may have autoscopic experiences, especially in moments of stress, he said. One author believes them to be of no psychotic significance since hallucinations "are merely activity" in the brain's area of recall.

When autoscopy occurs, the "double" usually appears suddenly and without warning. Most frequently the patient "sees" only the face, or the face and bust; less frequently he sees the whole figure. The specter is seen clearly and with details. It generally has no color and is frequently transparent. It usually imitates all movements, particularly the facial expression, of its "original."

The most frequent emotional reaction to seeing one's double is sadness, often amazement or bewilderment, and sometimes satisfaction, the author said. The subjective sensory feeling of coldness and weariness is frequent.

The phantom usually appears in the visual space in front of the patient. The whole experience lasts usually only a few seconds and may occur from once in a lifetime to a continuous presence of the double.

★ ★ ★

No treatment for autoscopy is known, the author said, although treatment of some co-existing disorder, such as depression or a brain lesion, might prove helpful.

Federal Men Bag 18 Duck Shooters at Harsen's Island

DETROIT (UPI) — Federal agents and Michigan Conservation Department agents swooped down on Harsen's Island in a dawn raid this morning and arrested 18 persons for shooting and selling wild ducks.

The 18 were scheduled to be arraigned before Federal Judge Ralph M. Freeman (at 11 a.m.).

The federal agents, two deputy U.S. marshals and conservation agents met at 6 a.m. at the Harsen's Island ferry before going over to the island in Lake St. Clair off Algonac. The marshals had their van and hustled the 18 back to Detroit after getting many of them out of bed.

State Police, who didn't have a part in the raid, said the federal agents still are looking for three persons.

Shooting and selling of the ducks is a federal violation.

'More Creative Urge,' Says Chef

'Any Man Can Outcook Wife'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Any man who takes over in the kitchen can out-cook his wife."

So says Eugene Ertle, a chef, a widower and a student of the soulful side of cooking.

★ ★ ★

"It's an urge from the heart," said Ertle, president of the American Culinary Federation, as the group opened its convention Wednesday with 150 top U.S. chefs in attendance.

"Men have more of the creative urge," he said. "They have a great natural talent, and they take the creative arts into cooking."

What's more, they've been at it longer.

CAVEMAN THE CHEF

"When the caveman hunted and made his kill, he cooked it over an open fire and brought it home to his woman that way," Ertle said.

"Then it was discovered food could be made by grinding meal. That was a tedious job, so the man turned it over to his woman.

★ ★ ★

"Gradually she took over the whole job of food preparation."

And, said Ertle sadly, too many women still regard cooking as just another piece of household drudgery.

"The average American family is better nourished than those in Europe," said Ertle, who is from Alsace-Lorraine, the French-German borderland. "But sometimes American women are a little careless in the preparation of the food."

Ertle is chief of the United Air Lines flight kitchen in Chicago.

Britain Supports U.S. on Formosa

Refuses to Recognize Red China Proclamation of 12-Mile Sea Limits

LONDON (AP) — Britain today announced she fully shares America's concern at any attempt to impose territorial changes by use of force in the Far East.

The Foreign Office made Britain's position clear in a statement on the warning issued to Red China yesterday by Secretary of State Dulles.

★ ★ ★

Dulles emphasized that President Eisenhower would not hesitate to commit American armed forces to the defense of Quemoy and Matsu Islands if it became evident that Communist attacks on them constituted a threat to Formosa.

There is little doubt however, that Britain would be unhappy if American military power was thrown in to defend the islands.

★ ★ ★

A Foreign Office spokesman was asked for Britain's reaction to China's proclamation of a new 12-mile sea limit around its coast.

He said the British government does not recognize territorial waters of more than three miles in extent.

The extension of Chinese territorial waters complicates British and international shipping traffic to and from the British colony of Hong Kong.

To Traverse Sliding 'Military Hills'

Take On Fabulous Road Job in UP

ROCKLAND (AP) — Michigan road builders are undertaking one of their more fabulous jobs in the fabled "Military Hills" where whole forested areas slowly slide downhill.

The $2,700,000 project generally follows the course of the military road authorized by President Lincoln in 1863 to insure access to Northern Michigan copper deposits and Fort Wilkins at the tip of the Keweenaw Peninsula.

The stretch of U. S. 45 under construction winds through hilly country laced with small creeks for miles, making the average cost about $350,000 a mile and putting it in a class with some four lane expressways.

Plans call for a two lane, 24-foot roadway with one bridge, over the Ontonagon River, costing about $375,000.

★ ★ ★

The route has a light traffic count — only about 400 cars a day — but strategic importance, especially for vacationing motorists northbound for the Porcupine Mountains and the Keweenaw Peninsula.

The Military Hills are two big lumps of clay separated by a wide virtually unbridgeable notch cut by the Ontonagon River.

The characteristics of the clay pose one of the main problems. Reddish, it has the consistency when wet of tooth paste and tremendous water retention capacity.

Fissures break the ground at 30 to 40 foot intervals as the surface stretches in creeping downhill.

Always near saturation, the clay can absorb little rainfall, making for a difficult runoff and drainage problem, and arguing for a high other targets — except in practice. bridge floor to protect against flooding.

To solve the problem of sliding clay, more than one million cubic yards of waste rock from copper mines will be dumped into a wide trench in the center of the right of way being excavated to depths of 30 feet in places to provide a road foundation.

Designers hope it will prove heavy and solid enough to resist the sliding action of the surrounding clay. The roadway will run on top of the rock fill.

As a hedge against unforeseen difficulties the finish surfacing will be done in two separate operations spaced a year or two apart so that any needed corrections can be made before the final surface course is applied.

To help overcome water and drainage problems, 2,000 feet of the bank of Sandstone Creek — an Ontonagon River tributary — will be riprapped, culverts will be constructed up to lengths of 500 feet and the new 350-foot bridge will be set in at an angle.

There is an ironic historical footnote to the tough highway job.

Its ancestor, the Military Road authorized by Lincoln 95 years ago, wasn't finished until the Civil War was nearly over. Little, if any, copper for military purposes ever moved on it.

And only a few years later, Fort Wilkins, the other justification cited for its construction, was abandoned permanently without ever a shot being fired at Indians or any

Duke Is Bored After Losing $100 to 12th Burglar

LONDON (AP)—An enterprising burglar locked the enterprising Duke of Bedford in his bedroom early today.

★ ★ ★

The Duke, Barnum of British blueblоods, heard the key turn and scrambled for the phone. The burglar, having pocketed a $100 watch, heard the phone and scrambled for freedom.

"It's becoming a bore," said the duke, who was lately host to a nudist convention in his efforts to make his stately country home earn its keep.

★ ★ ★

"This is the twelfth time we've been burgled — and always we have the same mess of broken glass to clear up," he explained.

The burglary was at the duke's London apartment. Thieves have always stayed clear of his huge country home at Woburn, which he charges people half a crown—75 cents—to look over.

House Bombed in London Riot

Two Policemen Trying to Put Out Ensuing Fire Besieged by Mob

LONDON (AP) — Race rioters hurled gasoline bombs into a Negro's house last night, then besieged two policemen who dashed in to put out the blaze.

★ ★ ★

The house in Paddington, an area adjoining London's racial storm center of Notting Hill, had been bombarded with milk bottles and garbage earlier in the day.

★ ★ ★

The mob gathered quietly shortly before midnight. The occupants, a 27-year-old Jamaican and his wife, were not at home. Neighbors on either side were quietly told to move out.

The door of the target house was broken down and bombs were hurled into the hallway. Two policemen dashed in and threw one bomb back into the street. It burnd two girls in the crowd.

★ ★ ★

Then the mob — mostly teenagers—turned on the police. They dashed back into the house and barricaded themselves against a barrage of stones and bottles.

Fire engines and police reinforcements turned up to rescue them.

★ ★ ★

In Notting Hill, firemen put out a blaze in a basement occupied by a colored family. A gasoline bomb had been thrown through the window.

Color violence spread last night to suburban Southall. Police cars raced to the district to break up gangs chanting "Lynch the niggers." Three men were arrested.

NOTICE OF SALE
CLARKSTON COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT, OAKLAND COUNTY, MICHIGAN
BUILDING AND SITE BONDS, SERIES 4

Sealed bids for the purchase of Building and Site Bonds, Series 4, to be issued by the Clarkston Community School District, Oakland County, Michigan, of the par value of $175,000, will be received by the undersigned, at the Clarkstn Elementary School building, in the Village of Clarkston, Michigan, until 8:00 o'clock p.m., Eastern Standard Time, on Tuesday, the 16th day of September, 1958, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read.

Said bonds will be dated September 1, 1958, will be coupon bonds in the denomination of $1,000 each, will be numbered consecutively in the direct order of their maturities from 1 to 175, both inclusive, and will bear interest from their date at a rate or rates not exceeding 4½% per annum, payable on June 1, 1959 and thereafter semi-annually on December 1 and June 1. Each bid shall state the annual interest rate or rates upon which it is submitted, expressed in multiples of ⅛ of 1%. The interest rate for each coupon period on any one bond shall be at one rate only. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

Said bonds will mature serially on the 1st day of June in each year as follows: $5,000 in each year from 1959 to 1975, and $10,000 in each year from 1976 to 1984, all years inclusive. Bonds maturing in the years 1969 to 1984, both inclusive, are subject to redemption by the school district prior to maturity, in inverse numerical order, on any one or more interest payment dates on and after June 1, 1968, at par and accrued interest plus a premium on each bond in accordance with the following schedule:

$25 if called to be redeemed on or after June 1, 1968 but prior to June 1, 1971.

$20 if called to be redeemed on or after June 1, 1971 but prior to June 1, 1974.

$15 if called to be redeemed on or after June 1, 1974 but prior to June 1, 1977.

$10 if called to be redeemed on or after June 1, 1977 but prior to June 1, 1980.

$5 if called to be redeemed on or after June 1, 1980.

Notice of redemption shall be published not less than 30 days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the City of Detroit, Michigan, which carries as a part of its regular service, notices of the sale of municipal bonds. The remaining bonds will not be subject to redemption prior to maturity. Both principal and interest will be payable at such bank or trust company as shall be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds.

The bonds are to be the final part of a total issue of $1,200,000 voted for the purpose of erecting and furnishing a new elementary school building, additions to the high school building and to the Clarkston Elementary School building, and additional school facilities either as new buildings or additions to existing buildings, and acquiring additional school sites, and will be the general obligations of the school district which is authorized and required by law to levy upon all the taxable property therein such ad valorem taxes as may be necessary to pay said bonds and the interest thereon, without limitation as to rate or amount.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds, the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from October 1, 1958 to their respective maturities and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the school district. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds or at a price less than their par value, will be considered.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $3,500 drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the school district must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Dickinson, Wright, Davis, McKean and Cudlip (Claude H. Stevens, of Counsel), attorneys, Detroit, Michigan, approving the legality of the bonds. The cost of said legal opinion and of the printing of the bonds will be paid by the school district. Bonds will be delivered at Detroit, Michigan.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Dated September 3, 1958.

Secretary of the Board of Education

Notice is further given that the abovementioned issue of bonds has been qualified to the extent of 100% by the Michigan Superintendent of Public Instruction pursuant to Act No. 151 of the Public Acts of 1955, as amended.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF KENneth Johnson, who passed away Sept. 5, 1950.
Somewhere back of the sunset,
Where loveliness never dies;
He lives in the land of glory
Mid the blue and the gold of the sky.
Sadly missed by Mother and Father, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Johnson

IN LOVING MEMORY OF KENneth Johnson, who passed away Sept. 5, 1950.
He is waiting by the river,
Just across the silent stream;
Where sweet flowers are ever blooming,
And the banks are ever green.
Sadly missed by Aunt, Mrs. Avis Green.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MORris Pringle, who passed away Sept. 5, 1954.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sadly missed by Dad and Sisters.

Urge Nuclear Plants Be Put Underground

GENEVA (AP) — Atom scientists were urged today to consider building nuclear power plants in underground caverns to protect the public from radiation loosed in a possible accident.

Two Swiss experts told the atoms-for-peace conference that subterranean installations would be no more expensive.

★ ★ ★

Drs. P. de Haller and A. F. Fritzsche said that despite armor, or containment vessel, people living near a nuclear plant risk exposure to radiation in any emergency.

★ ★ ★

Two American giologists told the conference that radiation can shorten life, and in this respect resembles a speed-up in natural aging.

★ ★ ★

"Radiation seems to be unique as a stress, insofar as complete recovery is never possible from a large dose," said Drs. H. J. Curtis and K. L. Gebhard of Brookhaven National Laboratory, at Upton, N.Y.

Animals getting large doses of certain poisons were compared with those getting large doses of radiation.

SURPRISE! — Bill Leyden is host of the audience participation show, "It Could Be You." He makes surprise introductions of audience members and celebrities, returns lost articles and supervises reunions of long-lost relatives and friends.

Emcee Judges People Quickly

'It Could Be You' Staff Works to Steer Clear of Maudlin Tone

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—One of the tougher problems connected with jerking tears on TV is learning to control the flow, and how and when to turn off the eye faucets.

It is, according to expert Bill Leyden, a highly inexact science predicated largely upon the emcee's ability to size up people and predict their reactions to emotional stimuli.

★ ★ ★

Properly speaking, Leyden's audience participation show, "It Could Be You," isn't a tear-jerker of the order of, say, "This Is Your Life," or "Strike It Rich."

But one of its key features is the family or old pal reunion, of which the wavy-haired Leyden has presided over some 500, and these usually summon deep emotions up from the souls of the reunited.

The question, Leyden says, is how to anticipate these emotional sprees and keep them under as much control as possible.

"All entertainment," he says thoughtfully, "is emotional. Art is really only an expression of the emotions of a people.

"Probably 99 per cent of the things of that nature that we present on the show have been experienced by those watching, if they're old enough to have had many experiences. We're not presenting anything bizarre. We're trying to present a kaleidoscopic view of life.

"The secret is in not going over backward. That's been the big fear of everyone connected with the show from the start. But our physical setup prevents the show from becoming maudlin. We hit and run, like a PT boat. We try to get these things done as quickly and cleanly as possible.

★ ★ ★

"We don't lie down in emotion and wallow in it. We play it down—get the camera away from it. That's one thing we all agreed on from the start. We never have and never will show a wheelchair or crutch or any symbol of malformation, for instance.

"It isn't that it's dangerous. It's a matter of taste. There is some linen that just shouldn't be washed in public."

What makes this very tricky is that Leyden has no contact with his amateur co-performers until they come walking nervously toward him before the cameras.

All he has are what information the show's investigators can dredge up on the contestants and his own background as a "man-in-the-street" interviewer and disk jockey to enable him to evaluate people quickly.

Strikers' Wives Ready to Picket Union Halls

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Wives of workingmen in this southeast Texas area threatened today to set up pickets in front of Carpenters Union halls in an effort to halt a strike which has idled their husbands.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. J. A. McCorskey of nearby Nederland said her group of pipefitters' wives has been joined by wives of electricians, operating engineers, laborers and welders.

"Husbands of these women have been idld since July 14 by the carpenters' picket lines on all area projects," she said last night. "We will start our own picket lines Monday morning."

She said the women would picket carpenters' halls in Orange, Port Arthur and Beaumont and would picket the carpenters' pickets at some of the projects.

The Sabine Area Construction Committee, a contractor's association, offered the carpenters a 27½ cents an hour raise and the union asks 32½. Carpenters now get $2.97½ an hour.

County Deeds Office Notes Business Rise

A total of 13,611 papers were handled by the Oakland County Register of Deeds Office last month, a monthly report from that office shows.

Transaction of business during August resulted in $19,282.55 being received by the office. This figure compare to the 13,296 papers ($19,865.05) handled in August of last year.

There were seven new land plats recorded last month, said Daniel T. Murphy Jr., register.

Last month's business included recording 3,202 deeds ($5,075.75) 1,528 building mortgages ($5,174.75), 4,617 chattel (movable property) mortgages ($4,617) 2,110 photos ($1.083.30), 2,145 miscellaneous transactions ($3,227.25), and nine bills of sale ($4.50).

There are about 35,000 bees in an average hive.

Bombers Used to Fight Fires

83,391 Wooded Acres Charred During 1958, Making a Light Year

WASHINGTON — Foresters are using everything from bombing planes to television in an up-to-date campaign against man's ancient enemy — the forest fire.

Some 500 blazes flare up in American woodlands each day. But comparatively few get very far, thanks to new techniques and equipment, the eternal vigilance of the fire fighters, and increasing cooperation from the public, the National Geographic Society reports.

In 1957 the United States had 83,391 forest fires. It was a light year. The annual average for the decade ended in 1950 was 182,000 fires and the burning of some 21,622,000 acres — an area larger than the State of Maine.

Blazes caused $392 million worth of direct damage to timber and property each year during the decade, and they took scores of human lives.

★ ★ ★

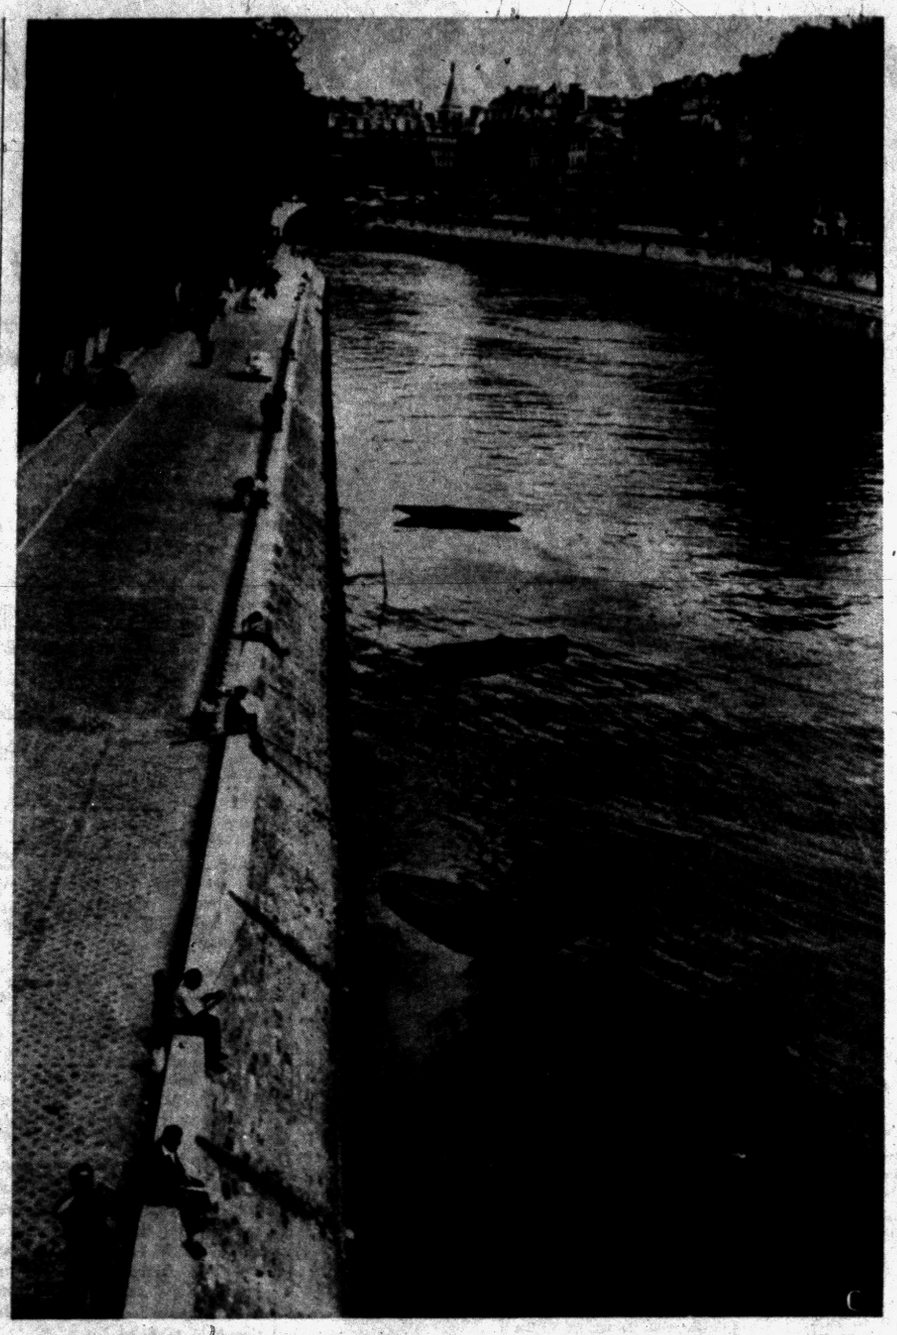

To reduce the fire toll, the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture has used many new devices. Surplus World War II bombers have been converted into water bombers. They can drop about 600 gallons of water on critical points during a fire.

Television cameras enable a single ranger to watch vast stretches of woodland at once. Sighting a fire from two TV cameras helps to pinpoint a blaze so that crews can reach it quickly.

The Forest Service is experimenting with infrared radiation detectors that can "see" through an overcast. In theory, such detectors, scattered through a forest, could provide instant warning of any blaze. Unfortunately, the detectors are liable to give false alarms, touched off by such innocent things as sun-heated rocks.

Parachuting fire fighters to the scene of a fire has become standard operating procedure in some forests. The "smokejumpers" can reach a fire quickly and put it out before it has a chance to spread.

Reds Heckle De Gaulle in Constitution Speech

PARIS (AP)—Premier de Gaulle appealed to the French people last night to adopt his proposed constitution and restore France to her place in the sun.

While Communist hecklers booed and tried to smash through protecting police lines in the historic Place de la Republique, the Premier outlined his basic law for the projected Fifth French Republic to an estimated 100,000 persons.

Most of those nearest the rostrum, where De Gaulle stood surrounded by his ministers, were admitted to the square by invitation only in a move to keep the Reds and other known De Gaulle foes in the background.

Helmeted police and youths with Gaullist arm bands stood guard as the Premier made his plea. A milling mob of 1,000 or so, led by veteran Reds, tore up paving blocks and hurled them at the guards in an effort to get near the speaker's stand. The police charged, clubs swinging, and dispersed the mob.

★ ★ ★

Authorities said 34 persons, 24 of them policemen, were injured. Eleven were hospitalized.

Elsewhere demonstrators picketed streets leading to the square. Many held aloft yellow signs with the word "Non" in opposition to the constitution.

The World War II hero called on the French to vote yes in the Sept. 28 referendum in France and the overseas territories which will accept or reject the constitution. He warned that if the vote was no, France would become "out of date and disdained."

★ ★ ★

The Premier contended France vitally needs a constitution providing a much stronger executive branch, new parliamentary standards, a supreme court and a new confederation relationship with the overseas territories.

The key man would be the president, elected for seven years by a large electoral college of legislators and local representatives. His powers, now chiefly ceremonial, would be vastly increased.

De Gaulle said one of France's prime duties was to re-establish peace in Algeria and work out that territory's future status.

The proposed constitution calls for a "community" of autonomous states linked federally with France to replace the present centrally controlled French Union. It would let the territories decide whether to enter the French community or secede. It would also give France the right to cut her links with any territory.

British Tiring of Roman Roads, Will Build Own

LONDON (AP) — The British, never known as a people in a hurry, have started their first major innovation in road building since the Romans gave them a highway system almost 2,000 years ago.

They're now building their first major multilane superhighway—a 71-mile, almost dead straight ribbon of road linking London with the industrial Midlands.

It will also be the first really big all-British road, because many of the highways crisscrossing England are built on the foundations of roads the Roman conquerers made.

$25,000 Blaze Sweeps Store Next to Fire Hall

PORT HURON (AP) — A stubborn fire today swept the interior of a three-story downtown building housing a Salvation Army retail store.

Early estimates set the loss at $25,000. No one was injured.

Firemen said the blaze may have started by spontaneous combustion of old clothing. The store, which sells used furniture and clothes, occupied the first floor. The upper two floors were vacant.

The 50-year-old structure is next to a fire house.

Flying Whale Lands in Pool of Trouble

NEW YORK (AP)—Bertha the whale did fine in flight, but now she's having pool-mate trouble.

Bertha II, a year-old Alaskan Beluga whale, arrived by cargo airliner yesterday from Los Angeles and was hauled to the New York Aquarium at Coney Island.

Reclining on a rubber foam mat and wrapped in muslin, Bertha stood the air trip very well—unlike Bertha I, which died in flight en route here recently. Dr. Carleton Ray, assistant to the aquarium director, sat by Bertha II, sprinkling her at frequent intervals with some Pacific Ocean water brought aboard.

★ ★ ★

Everything was just dandy until Bertha, 6 feet 7 inches and weighing 400 pounds, dunked herself in the 40-by-60-foot aquarium pool.

Bertha was confronted by Olaf the walrus, a foot longer and weighing in at 1,200 pounds.

At full growth a Beluga whale —which becomes white at maturity—may reach 18 feet in length and weigh 2,500 pounds. But right now Bertha is outgunned and outweighed.

Olaf took a gander at Bertha and poked his small tusks into her side. Bertha submerged under a large raft.

Olaf's belligerent greeting caused aquarium officials to give Bertha a 24-hour guard. Bertha and Olaf were put together because of lack of a second large pool. Meanwhile, the aquarium folks are hoping Olaf will learn to tolerate Bertha, the first live whale exhibited here since 1897.

Anniversary Balloons Bring Grocer Trouble

SEARCY, Ark. (AP)—Jack Roberson was baffled when the first person came into his grocery store and said, "Here's your balloon, where's my hundred dollars?"

And he was more confused when others followed, including a man who had driven 16 miles from neighboring Beebe and a woman who phoned from Concord, 30 miles away.

Finally, he figured it out. He had given gas-filled balloons to scores of youngsters as part of an anniversary celebration for his store. Apparently some of the youngsters had thought up the trick of tying notes to the balloons, promising the $100 payments, and then releasing them.

1 Hot Biscuit Enough

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—One hot biscuit caused a mess of trouble at the Don Durant residence. Durant and his wife smelled smoke, but try as they might, they couldn't locate a fire. Local firemen, however, located one charred biscuit in the kitchen oven, which had been left on by mistake.

LINK-UP — A tunnel linking Spain and Africa, 1,400 feet under the Strait of Gibraltar is the project of Pennsylvania-born L. J. F. Macode, managing director of the Covade Company of Madrid. It is part of a larger project involving the transformation of 18 miles of Mediterranean seacoast into a great tourist area. Through it would run a toll road (black line) from Valencia to Algeciras, thence through the tunnel to Africa.

Poor Political Tactics

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A student at Arkansas Tech College modestly voted for his opponent in a race for president of the student council. The opponent won, 216-215.

Fraternity Petitions for Reinstatement

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass. (AP) — The national convention of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity is expected to act today on the petition of the Amherst College chapter for restoration of its right to initiate, which was suspended last year.

The suspension action came shortly after the Amherst chapter had pledged a Negro.

The suspension notice said it was in effect "pending further action by the national convention of the fraternity."

All official legislation is enacted by delegates to Phi Gamma Delta's biennial convention and in the interim seven elected officers, known as archons, conduct the fraternity's affairs, with national headquarters in Washington, D.C.

In 1946 Amherst College trustees voted that each fraternity at the college must be free to select its members without limitations based on race, color or creeds.

Car Serves 30 Years, Even Aids Late Models

OMAHA (AP)—The shiny green-and-black car W. C. Wakefield, 74, drives every day is a mere 30 years old.

Five generations of the Wakefield family have used it. One Wakefield spent part of a honeymoon in it. Three young Wakefields came home from the maternity ward in it.

★ ★ ★

On cold winter mornings Wakefield says his 1928 model sometimes is the only car that will start. He pushes the late models.

Tiny-Car Imports Double

NEW YORK—More than 200,000 small cars were imported by the United States during 1957, or twice as many as in 1956 and 10 times more than in 1950. Sales of the small cars amounted to about 5 per cent of all automobiles sold in the United States during the year.

Crude oil is a base for about 1,200 products including medicines, dyes, paints, alcohol, rayon, cosmetics solvents plastics, nylon, preservatives and most insecticides.
