City Bus Lines to Cut Service

Decrease in Patronage Blamed for Reduction Starting Sunday

Pontiac City Lines today announced a reduction of bus service during non-rush periods due to decreased patronage.

The new schedule starts Sunday. It will affect bus service on the company's five routes after 7 p.m. instead of every 20 minutes between 7 and 9 p.m. on weekends.

E. W. Dreescher, transportation superintendent, said the new schedule will bring the following changes.

Buses on Huron-Sanford Route 1 and Baldwin-Franklin-St. Joseph Hospital Route 3 will run every 20 minutes after 7 p.m. instead of every 20 minutes between 7 and 9 p.m.

Service on Joslyn-South Blvd. Route 2, Oakland-James K. Route 4, and Perry Park-Bagley Route 6 will be provided every hour after 7 rather than every 30 minutes. Buses that run every 15 minutes previously now will run every 20 minutes on Saturdays. On Sundays, buses on routes 4 and 6 will run every hour instead of every 30 minutes.

"A decrease in patronage has forced us to reduce unwarranted service during the non-rush periods," Dreescher said. "A thorough study of a recent survey of riding habits reflected a need for minor alterations and adjustments in our existing schedules during the off-peak periods."

He said that newly printed schedules are available on all buses.

Pvt. Schine Shows Up at McCarthy Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pvt. G. David Schine showed up this morning at the McCarthy-Army hearings.

He chatted briefly with special counsel Ray Jenkins. Jenkins said he did not expect Schine would be in the witness chair today.

Adams Denies Stevens Tried to Stifle Fort Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army Counselor John G. Adams denied today that Secretary of the Army Stevens ever instructed him to try to halt the McCarthy subcommittee's investigation of alleged security risks at Ft. Monmouth, N.J.

And he never made an attempt to halt it, Adams declared.

Testifying for his second day at Senate hearings on the row between Sen. McCarthy and Pentagon officials, Adams also said he and Stevens never had any discussion of the secretary's difficulties with McCarthy prior to Adams' becoming Army counselor last Oct. 1.

This testimony bore on two principal charges from Sen. McCarthy and his aides.

The McCarthy camp contends that the present roaring controversy stemmed from attempts by Stevens to shut off the subcommittee's inquiry into Communists in the Army, and that Adams was employed "for the principal purpose of handling the committee and persuading it to cease its investigation."

Adams, under stern cross-examination by Special Counsel Ray H. Jenkins in the 16th day of the hearings, testified that Stevens, in hiring him, didn't even indicate the Army had a problem with the McCarthy subcommittee.

Jenkins wanted to know if Stevens hadn't told Adams the McCarthy inquiry into Communists in the Army, and that Adams was employed "for the principal purpose of handling the committee

Engineer Mum at Red Hearings

FBI Agent Says Party Sent College Graduate to Production Line

FLINT (UP)—Witnesses billed in advance as "uncooperative" were to appear today before a House un-American activities subcommittee investigating the Communist Party's designs on the auto industry.

The committee sparred with a taciturn witness Wednesday when it questioned Howard Ira Falk, an electrical engineer employed on the Buick production line here.

Earlier, Mrs. Beatrice Church, an undercover agent for the FBI, told the committee that Falk was one of 13 Red "colonists" sent to Flint.

Falk said he received an engineering degree from the City College of New York in September, 1949. He said he then came to Flint without a promise of a job.

Asked if he was a Communist "brain" imported from New York, Falk invoked four Constitutional Amendments and refused to give an answer. From then on, the committee did most of the talking.

Rep. Harold Velde (R-Ill.), chairman of the full House un-American Activities Committee, asked the ex-New Yorker point-blank if he had been sent here by the Communist Party.

In response, Falk invoked the Fifth Amendment. At other points, he dodged behind the First, Fourth and Tenth Amendments. He conferred frequently with his attorney.

A committee member asked him why he, a graduate engineer, was willing to work on a production line for five years without seeking a promotion. There was no reply.

Michigan Guests Watch During Nine-Pen Rite

Ferguson and Dondero Present at Ceremony Important to Midwest

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower signed the St. Lawrence seaway bill today in a White House ceremony.

"Now work can begin on the great project," the President declared as he put his signature to the measure which sets in motion a plan to bring ocean trade into the heart of the American continent.

With more than a score of Congress members and Canadian Ambassador A. D. P. Henney, looking on, Eisenhower used nine pens to sign the bill.

Three of them were made from wood recovered from old Fort Detroit in Michigan, which was the last of the British forts in this country.

Seated at Eisenhower's right as he signed were Sens. Ferguson (R-Mich.) and Wiley (R-Wis.). On his left was Rep. Dondero (R-Mich.). All three of the Congressmen played key roles in enactment of the bill.

Eisenhower said he was very happy to sign it and that he was particularly glad the Canadian ambassador was present.

The President himself announced plans for the ceremony at his news conference yesterday. Altogether 43 members of Congress were invited.

The President said the signing culminated 30 years of effort to put the bill through Congress, "and now work can begin on the great project."

He expressed hope that the work will progress rapidly "so benefits can come to our people on both sides of the river."

Couple Awaiting News of Daughter

GRIEVING PARENTS—Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Timte, of Farmington Township, were near tears in their home this morning while they awaited news of their missing 2-year-old daughter, Carol Sue. The child was found later in the morning suffocated in an accordion case in their living room.

Her body was found in an accordion case this morning after an all-night search started when her parents reported her missing at their Farmington Township home early Tuesday evening.

Sen. Clyde Hoey Succumbs at 76

North Carolina Senator Known as 'Old School' Southern Gentleman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Clyde R. Hoey of North Carolina, an "old school" Southern gentleman who spent a lifetime in newspapering, law and politics, died yesterday. He was 76.

Distinguished by a courtly manner, flowing white hair and frock coat, he had served in the Senate since 1945 after a term as governor of his state. He was probably best known for his chairmanship of the subcommittee which investigated the 5 percenters scandals in the Truman administration.

Hoey was the fifth senator to die in this Congress. One of the five, Sen. Willis Smith, was also a North Carolina Democrat.

The Senate lineup now stands at 47 Democrats, 47 Republicans and 1 Independent. A Democrat will doubtless be named to fill Hoey's place.

Dr. George W. Calver, physician to Congress, said Hoey apparently suffered a stroke and died in his sleep about yesterday afternoon. "He went the way he wished," said an aide, who recalled the senator saying that when he died he hoped it would come suddenly and while he was active.

William B. Umstead, North Carolina's Democratic governor, will name Hoey's successor. Unofficial speculation centered on Gregg Cherry of Gastonia, a former governor, and Carlisle Higgins of Winston-Salem, a Democratic national committeeman. Umstead himself had no comment.

Tall, slightly stoop-shouldered and sharp-featured, Hoey was a picture on Capitol Hill of the legislator of bygone years. He had glowing white hair and a courtly manner. He wore a frock coat, high-topped shoes, a high collar and old-fashioned ties. He sported a fresh carnation in his lapel every day.

Army Guarding Czech Who Fled in Underwear

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP)—U. S. Army authorities kept a guard of secrecy today around a young Czech who fled to freedom in his underwear and asked asylum.

The youth, 23, fled his Communist-ruled homeland in a two-engine civilian plane and crash-landed yesterday at nearby Grafenwoehr.

Housewife Gets Bird

LONDON (AP)—Mrs. L. B. Sandall went out to her garden at Bourne, Lincolnshire, last night to cut a cauliflower for dinner. She was driven off by an irate lark who had a nest and four eggs inside the vegetable.

Child Trapped in Case in Farmington Home

Death Believed Accidental; All-Night Search Conducted by Officers, Neighbors

Two-year-old Carol Sue Timte was found dead today inside an accordion case lying in the living room of her Farmington Township home.

State Police of the Redford Post said the infant apparently suffocated after she crawled into the case and its lid snapped shut.

Carol has been the object of a vast search in the northeastern part of the township since her parents reported her missing about 6 p.m. yesterday.

Fearing the girl had drowned, officers were pumping out the water of a pond behind the ranch-type home when Mrs. Timte found her daughter's body.

State troopers said Mrs. Timte saw the box-like case lying in an unaccustomed spot and started to move it back to a corner of the living room. The accordion was a few feet away.

They said Mrs. Timte became suspicious, opened the case and found Carol's body curled up inside it.

The case reportedly has a snap lock that automatically springs shut when the lid is closed.

It was an imitation leather container, about 8x15x19 inches.

Sgt. Ormal O'Farrell of the Redford Post said he and the child's father, Frank, were in the kitchen when Mrs. Timte started screaming.

"We rushed out of the house thinking someone had found the body," said O'Farrell. "When we went back inside, Mrs. Timte stood pointing at the case. She was still screaming."

He said Mrs. Timte opened the case to put away the accordion, looked inside and saw her daughter's body. She slammed the lid shut and became hysterical.

Scoutmaster Robert Williams of Farmington Troop 45, summoned by the screams, rushed over to the case. He reopened it and saw the little body.

"It apparently was an accident," said O'Farrell. "The mother went to put the accordion away and found the child."

Carol's body was taken to Pontiac General Hospital about an hour after discovery upon orders of Dr. Theodore Ling of Farmington.

Serving as a coroner, Dr. Ling made no immediate ruling on the death. A further examination is expected at Pontiac General.

State troopers said the accordion was left out of the case last night by Carol's 10-year-old brother, Frank.

Frank reportedly took the instrument out of the case for a practicing session, but laid it down to watch television.

O'Farrell said as many as 100 persons probably handled or sat on the case last night. In fact, a few strands of blonde hair had been sticking out of it, a later check showed.

Police tested the case to see if it would lock automatically. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Local Guard Units to Give Battle Show on Saturday

"Fix bayonets—take the high ground."

At this command, about 100 National Guardsmen from two local units, will launch an attack Saturday to drive out an imaginary enemy entrenched on high ground on the 4-H Fairgrounds at Perry Street and Pontiac Road.

The sham battle will be staged by Company M, 125th Infantry Regiment, and supported by 107th Ordnance Co., both of Pontiac. It will begin at 1:30 p.m. when Platoon Sgt. Dolphus Fleming gives the order to 81mm mortar crews to commence firing to soften up the enemy.

M.Sgt. Peter Meagher will open two sections of machineguns over the enemy three minutes later.

This will be a signal for riflemen under M.Sgt. Everett Austin to begin their fire and maneuver, in an effort to take and hold an area of swamp and nearby high ground.

Lt. Robert Carland of Company "M" will explain to spectators what is happening at various points during the demonstration, and visitors will hear battle orders coming over a public address system.

All firing will be done with blank ammunition. Other weapons used will be the individual rifle and hand guns of the infantry, grenades and flare guns.

After the sham battle is over, weapons used by the infantrymen will be on public display.

The demonstration is in connection with a nationwide observance Saturday of Armed Forces Day.

Company M, commanded by Capt. A. J. Largent, and the 107th Ordnance Co., under command of Capt. Carl G. Yarling, will be taken to the problem area near the Pontiac Armory, 37 Water St., at 12:30 by motor convoy.

Candlelit Blonde Sets Fashion All Her Own

At this very moment, the candlelit blonde is setting a fashion in the world. She accentuates the classic fact that the blonde is the most desirable and mysterious of all women.

Her hair is pale, luminous, as uniform in color as a piece of silk cloth — and as dramatic a contrast to the color of skin and eyes as the even blackness of a Chinese woman's hair against her ivory skin.

Each of the clear, pale blondes — and they are of all ages — seems to move in an atmosphere of her own making. The effect, and the allure, of her coloring is undeniable.

There are other variations of this pale coloring, delightful ones, and possibly less demanding. Pale blonde streaks in darker hair, for instance — and this need not be done chemically. You can buy a strand of pale blonde hair to wear as your own, when the spirit moves you.

Or you can have your hair flashed with blonde, about the face or at the ends, giving a wonderful sunny, uneven ash-blond and silver coloring about the face is unbelievably becoming to many women with silver-gray hair.

Pink and gray are the colors for the blonde. Organza, fur, silk, and cotton are the media.

Try Perfume on Your Skin for Final Test

When buying perfume, your selection should be highly personal and depend on your own pleasure. Don't buy only on hearsay. What's right for someone else may not be right for you.

Make sure you are choosy when perfume-shopping. Perhaps you feel you should ask intelligent questions about basic ingredients—but forget them.

The composition of a perfume is an almost mystically complex affair; you'd have to be a scientist to understand what you were asking. Put your trust in the name of a good maker, a bottle with an unbroken seal, and a reputable shop.

When in doubt, buy a small amount of a new scent and "try it on" before investing in a big bottle. If a perfume gives you pleasure, it will probably give pleasure to your most critical audience as well.

Most men, by the way, have excellent "noses" for perfume. They possess an instinctive and sophisticated taste in the matter even they don't give themselves credit for.

Perfume should be sampled on the skin instead of in a bottle because the final test of its fragrance is its meeting, warming to, and blending with your skin.

Lastingness is not the sign of a good perfume. Most perfumes don't live longer than four hours on the skin. If the perfume you love is delicate, it's worth your while to refresh it often than you would a more clinging scent that doesn't conjure up the same magic for you.

Remember the perfume that gives you pleasure should be your main consideration when buying perfume.

Match Scents With Jewelry

One of the most charming ideas to come forth in a long time is a natural for teenagers. It's match your fragrance with your jewelry. The idea lends itself well to the currently popular floral earrings. These conversation pieces consist of tiny flowers that cascade in shower bouquets or swing out in blossom hoops. They are especially lovely on young girls.

It probably would be best to select the floral fragrance that most appeals to you and then buy earrings made of these flowers. If your allowance permits, buy dusting powder and other bath preparations in the scent, too. Then you can literally bathe in your flower.

You can carry out the idea with other jewelry, too. Pearls, for example, are classic, always correct. When wearing them, wear your favorite fragrance, the one you feel instinctively is right for any occasion.

For dress-up occasions, when you wear rhinestones or other sparkling jewelry, choose a fragrance that you'd term intriguing, one that makes you stop and think about it, one that sparkles as a jewel.

Neckline Important

It's important to consider the shape of your face when buying a dress. Select a dress the neckline of which will be flattering. For example, a V-shape is good for the round and square-faced girls. The high, round neckline is good for the girl whose face is long.

Moisture Will Crack Sidewalks

By HUBBARD COBB

People have learned to trip over almost anything from their own feet to a parked truck. A lot of people trip over sidewalks and this is especially true if a section of the sidewalk has cracked and heaved up above the rest of the walk.

If it's of any interest, the main reason for this headache is moisture getting in under the concrete and then turning to frost.

When it turns to frost the moisture expands and when it thaws something has to go. Usually it's the concrete.

The first step is to remove all the old damaged concrete. This can be done with a cold chisel and a hammer. If a large portion of one section has been damaged, you might as well replace the entire section.

Once you have the old concrete out of the way, examine the bed on which the concrete was poured. If there were no cinders or gravel under the walk or only an inch or two, make an excavation and put in 6 or 8 inches to insure for good drainage.

The concrete for the walk should be about 4 inches thick and you will need forms at the sides. Use 2x4 lumber for the forms and be sure that they are well supported.

Take a strip of building paper and place it along the edges of the concrete adjoining the new section to be poured. This will act as an expansion joint and prevent further cracking.

A good concrete mix for the walk is one part cement, two parts sand and three parts gravel. Spade this into the opening so that it is well compacted and then use a wood float to work the concrete into a smooth but somewhat gritty non-slip surface.

Garden Hobby Pays for Vacations

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"After my husband retired," a woman writes me, "we had to pare our budget a good deal."

"We own our own home in a suburban community and we intended to stay here, since all our friends are here. But we knew we would have to give up some of our luxuries, and vacation trips were one of them."

"We were mad about that—yet, oddly enough, that decision was the beginning of something very nice."

She went on to say that gardening had always been her hobby, and she managed to get her husband interested in it.

"Time hung heavy on his hands," she went on, "so I got him interested in taking care of our many house plants. He began working with them, and tried a lot of new things with good success."

"He changed the soil and tried some of the chemicals, and the plants began to thrive. He got books out of the library and really went to work on house plants, while I did the outside work."

"Pretty soon our friends began asking his advice, and it tickled him."

"By the time July came," she continued, "our friends and neighbors all began getting ready for their vacations, and I must admit we felt left out of things."

"Then our next door neighbor asked if I would take care of the garden while they were away, and if my husband would take care of the plants."

"Of course we did, and when they got back they insisted on paying us, not much, but a few dollars."

"That was only the beginning. All our friends and neighbors made similar arrangements with us, not for extensive gardening, but just to keep an eye on things while they were away."

"And I must say, we did a good job—I on the garden and Robert on the house plants."

"By the end of the summer we had made a tidy sum, so we decided to use it for a winter vacation for ourselves."

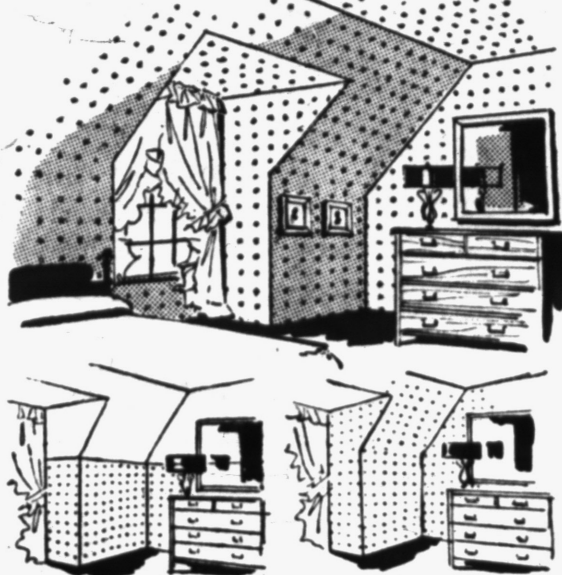

The money they make from their gardening and house plant hobby all summer has made this possible.

"Not only that," she says, "but we have a very absorbing life, because we are always learning something new in our field. It just goes to show that retirement doesn't have to be an end to life, but that it can start a whole new life!"

To Minimize Slanted Lines

Paper Both Walls, Ceiling

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

A cheerful small pattern on both the walls and ceiling does wonders for the room with slanting walls.

A room of this kind sometimes brings up problems, as it does to Mrs. K. H. who asks, "What kind of paper should I use on slanting walls and where should it go? Should the paper end where the wall begins to slant, or where the ceiling begins?"

We've sketched the same walls all three ways, to show the effect of each plan. The all-over use of the pattern minimizes the slant of the walls, while the partial use of it emphasizes irregular outlines.

To hang the paper only on the vertical wall areas may be particularly disturbing if the angle of one wall begins higher or lower than on the opposite wall, which it often does. To stop the paper at the ceiling is a better plan.

Choose the paper for both walls and ceiling in a simple pattern that looks the same upside down and sideways as it does right side up.

Mrs. R. F. "We have matching bedspreads on our beds in the room my daughter and I now share. She is soon to have a room of her own, and I am wondering if I should buy her a new spread. Or can I use identical spreads in the two rooms?"

An attractive bedspread needn't be wasted just because it happens to match one in another bedroom. Different color schemes in the two rooms can provide variety. However, if the new bedroom would be improved by a spread in a different style or color, the duplicate of the one used in the present bedroom can be used to advantage.

Alternating the two means no time out for washing or cleaning and eventually full wear will be had from both.

Mrs. J. Z. "My newly remodeled kitchen has a light green ceramic tile ceiling and yellow ceramic tile walls. Windows and doors are trimmed with the green tile and cabinets are white."

"The dark green marbled linoleum has a white inlaid stripe. What color should the kitchen table and chairs and the curtains be?"

White, natural wood, black wrought iron or chrome would look well for the furniture frames, with light or medium green upholstery covers.

Curtains might be white with two shades of green or yellow. A bit of coral color might be introduced in the curtains and a few accessories.

Stepfather Is Adopting 7-Year-Old

How Does Family Announce Change of Name, Status?

By EMILY POST

A reader explains: "I have a 7-year-old daughter from a former marriage whom my present husband is adopting and to whom he is giving his name."

"Would you kindly advise me of the correct wording of an announcement to send to friends notifying them of this? Would it be proper to send an announcement to my late husband's family?"

Answer: The wording for this announcement would be:

Mr. John Smith is happy to announce his adoption of Mrs. Smith's daughter Mary Green who will henceforth be known as Mary Smith

It would be better to write to your ex-mother-in-law and say that "because of the confusion caused by Mary's having a different name from the rest of the family, John is giving her his name. We hope this will not cause you too great distress, and it does not mean that she is going to forget her own father's family."

Dear Mrs. Post: Our senior prom will take place the end of this month at one of the big hotels. The girls would like to wear evening dresses to this dance but the boys have voted against wearing tuxedos.

Now our question is, would it be proper for us to wear ballroom-wear dark blue suits? We are length evening dresses if the boys are anxiously waiting to hear from you.

Answer: It would be entirely proper for the girls to wear simple evening dresses not too low at the neck.

Dear Mrs. Post: For my birthday I received eight beautiful white plates, dinner-sized. Each has a different painting on it—either of a church or a famous building in the city of Rome. I would like to know how and when these plates may be properly used.

Answer: You very properly may use them as place plates, setting the table with them, and as no food is ever put on these place plates, the beauty of their pictures will not be marred.

Spring Jewels Vary

In precious jewelry collections there are long, flexible columns of cultured pearls, graceful karat-gold tassels and large suspended squares or discs of bright blue-green opal mosaic. In costume jewelry, chalk-white or pastel porcelain imitates shining grape clusters. Lightweight filigreed flowers are spring news, too, and the garden grows with blossoms of all sizes, some in pale, faceted stones with bright rhinestone centers.

Blue Jeans Go in Hiding This Spring

New High Fashion for Girls Has Ideas Right From Paris

For more years than we can count, people have been trying to pry teenagers away from their blue jeans. Trouble was that no one offered them anything better to wear other than the time-worn baggy skirt and sweater, with a ton of junk jewelry tossed in for good measure.

Now, however, there is a move afoot in junior fashions to combine the latest silhouettes and sophisticated design ideas straight from Paris, with the style whims and fads that appeal to this late teen-into-early twenties age group.

One junior dress firm that is making a specialty—and crusade—of this sort of high fashion plus youth appeal, describes its latest collection of clothes for spring as a "new philosophy of dress for the girl with the blue jean figure."

All the latest fashion trends are interpolated into this collection, with a design touch that's as fresh as outdoors. Dresses, for instance, are as narrow as an arrow or as full as a dome depending on the fabric and fashion interpretation. Gay little jackets cut to just below the bosom lend a chic Empire effect to costumes.

Necklines, whether they are deep-cut in scoop and portrait shapes, or throat-hugging, achieve a grace of line that is flattering to all junior figure types from the sleek and svelt to the round and roly-poly. The princess line, sometimes combined with the Empire, is shown with both slim and full skirts.

The key to this "philosophy of dress," however, lies in the individual treatment of details. Twinkling rhinestones no bigger than a squirrel's eye are used to rim a neckline.

A bright colored sash in a contrasting fabric points up a tiny waist. Cap sleeves sometimes end in small bows. A fringed stole turns a sundress into a theater costume. An inverted accordion pleat gives a redingote air to a full skirt.

A floral sprig embroidery decorates a simple sheath dress. These are just a few of the details that designers weave into the new junior collection.

Fabric, too, plays an important role in fashions for juniors this season. Since the basic silhouettes are simple, fabrics must have elegance as well as surface interest.

Textured linens, which have enough "body" to be draped and molded easily without fear of wrinkles, are used in slim-line dresses.

Some of these linens are flow-woven, with beige or white backgrounds to serve as perfect setting for printed florals in spicy colors; others are rough-textured, knobby, and shot with bits of bright thread for a tweedy effect.

For the fuller silhouette, there are crisp taffeta prints in spring flower shapes treated much as brush strokes are in an abstract painting.

Manners

MAKE FRIENDS

When a woman who is supposed to be a good friend of another woman makes a cattly remark about her behind her back, the one who makes the slightest remark gets a mark-down in everybody's book.

That's because she is not only displaying her claws—but her disloyalty is showing, too.

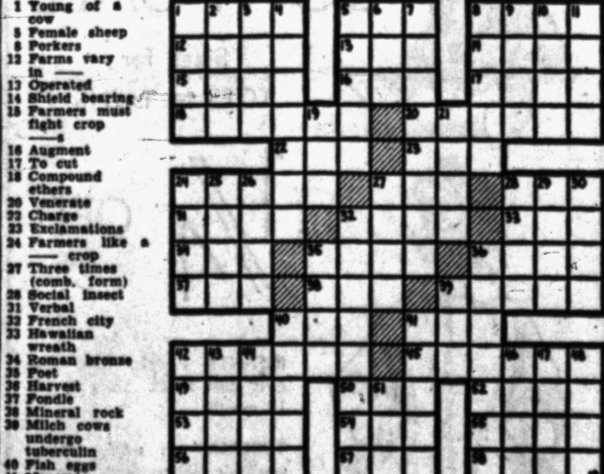

Babies on Bottle Use Cup Later

If baby has been bottle-fed, remember that he's not likely to change to a cup as early as a breast-fed baby.

The bottle has become a cherished possession he will not want to relinquish. If you want him by easy stages, he's not so likely to feel he's being deprived of an important source of pleasure.

Sparkling Drink Starts Day Right

News for sleepy heads! Frozen fruit juices take on new breakfast appeal when they're extended with a sparkling soft drink in place of water.

The addition of carbonated beverage makes them a lively eye-opener, helps to wake the digestive juices and lets you start the day feeling really refreshed.

Have the bottled soft drinks chilled and the frozen concentrate partially thawed. Put two to four tablespoons of the juice in a glass (depending on its size), stir in just a little soda first, to blend, then fill up the glass — effervescent and delightful is the result!

You'll want to work out your own flavor combinations, but for a starter, try these, they're sure to please everybody: cola with lemonade concentrate or with pineapple, lemon-lime beverage with orange juice, orange soda with grapefruit juice, ginger ale with grape or orange juice.

If you're calorie-conscious, just tuck an egg under your belt along with your fizzy fruit juice. Then, you're off to your day's work feeling fed and full of pep without any starch or fats in your first meal.

Aloha Cola

1 egg
2-3 tablespoons concentrate pineapple juice
Cola, chilled bottle
Break egg into tall glass; beat with fork until frothy. Beat in pineapple juice and just a little cola to blend. Then fill up glass with cola. Serves 1.

Butter Cake Finished When Slightly Shrunken

Here's how to know when a butter cake is done. It will be slightly shrunken from the sides of the pan, fully risen, and evenly browned.

The top should spring back when touched lightly with the tip of a finger, and a cake tester inserted in the center should come out without any particles sticking to it.

Use distilled or rain water in your steam iron to prevent rust or lime crust from forming in the water receptacle.

BREAKFAST REFRESHER—Bring tang to the morning fruit juice by adding bottled soft drink to frozen concentrate. Let each member of the family choose his favorite flavor. There are endless combinations you can make by varying the frozen concentrate and the soft drink.

Don't Overcook Rhubarb

In preparing rhubarb sauce, remember that the fruit should be cooked as short a time as possible to retain the most of the fresh fruit flavor—the more aroma in the air the less flavorful the sauce.

MIAMI — Kiwanis International closed its 39th annual convention today and delegates agreed it was one of the most harmonious on record.

Cleveland is expected to get the 1955 convention.

Second Brando — Jocelyn — Bids for Film Fame

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — At least one Brando is working in Hollywood these days. It's Jocelyn, pretty sister of muscular Marlon.

Jocelyn is playing opposite Randolph Scott, called "Old Reliable" because of his box-office potential, in a Western named "Violent Men." It's her third picture.

"I've just about run the cycle," she observed between scenes. "My first picture, 'The Big Heat,' was a crime picture. The second, 'China Venture,' was an adventure film. Now I'm doing a Western. All that is left is parlor, bedroom and bath."

"I like doing pictures. If Columbia picks up my option, we may move out here to live. My husband is a writer, so he can work almost any place. Right now he is in the throes of having his first novel published."

Until now, she has lived in New York with her husband, Eliot Asinof, and their two children. She is under contract to Columbia and so far her option has been picked up. Another option period is approaching. That will tell the story.

Jocelyn is an attractive, strong-featured blonde with a firm will, a family trait, no doubt. I began asking her questions about Marlon. She replied with the natural concern of one who has sometimes been in the shadow of her more famous brother: "Is this going to be an interview about Marlon?"

"Partially," I answered. She acquiesced. I asked her if she thought her brother was temperamental.

"Not at all," she replied in strong defense. "He isn't the least bit temperamental. He's an honest boy who tries to be strictly honest with everyone he deals with. The trouble is that people are not always honest with him."

"He has great talent and integrity as an actor. This business about his being a character has been created about him. About the difficulty with Fox, that was unfortunate. But apparently it has all been resolved and the studio is happy now."

"He's a fine boy. I admire him a great deal."

She referred to his beef with 20th Century-Fox, which complained because he failed to report for "The Egyptian." In fact, the studio complained to the tune

Injured GIs to Double in Atom Warfare

PARIS (U)—The American chairman of a NATO medical conference says the United States expects atomic weapons to double the number of her military men injured in case of war.

Brig. Gen. William J. Kennard, U. S. Air Force, said yesterday: "Instead of thinking in terms of 6 to 8 per cent of our forces as casualties, we are counting on having 12 to 16 per cent of our men injured."

"Some services will suffer even greater casualties," he added. Kennard talked with newsmen after the final session of a three-day conference of top military and civilian medical experts from 13 of the NATO allies.

Grosse Ile Cleric Is New Bishop

Episcopalians Name Rev. Archie Crowley to Michigan Post

DETROIT (U)—Shattering more than a century of tradition, the Rev. Archie H. Crowley, rector of St. James Episcopal Church of suburban Grosse Ile, was elected yesterday suffragan bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan.

Rev. Crowley, 47, rector of the Grosse Ile church since 1949, is the first minister from the diocese in 121 years ever elected to serve Michigan Episcopalians. It has been traditional for ministers outside the state to be elected to diocesan posts.

He succeeds the Rt. Rev. Russell S. Hubbard as assistant to the Rt. Rev. Richard Emrich, Episcopal bishop of Michigan.

Leading from the first ballot,

Rev. Crowley was elected on the fourth. Clergy and lay delegates throughout Michigan participated in the election at St. John's Church in Detroit. A move to make the election unanimous was approved enthusiastically.

Mr. Crowley said following his election: "I am humbly grateful for the honor bestowed upon me. It goes without saying that I will do my best in aiding and supporting Bishop Emrich."

Date for his consecration has not been announced.

Mr. Crowley is a 1929 Dartmouth College graduate. He is also a 1935 graduate from the Episcopal Theological Seminary.

He has served as curate at St. Paul's Cathedral in Boston; curate of Grace Church in Lawrence, Mass., and rector of that church for 11 years prior to becoming rector at St. James.

He is married and has two sons.

Holdup Suspects Returned to Jail

3 Will Be Arraigned in Circuit Court Monday for April 20 Stickup

Three of five men accused of the April 20 holdup of the Walton Dairy Bar were bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court Wednesday after appearing before Pontiac Judge Cecil McCallum.

Ordeal field in Oakland County Jail after failing to post bonds of $2,000 each are Richard Parks, 17, of 22 McNeil St.; Arthur C. Hewitt Jr., 19, of 1854 Giddings Rd., and Robert K. Smith, 19, of 1024 Hospital Rd. They face arraignment Monday at 9:30 a. m.

Two others, Lee D. Bates, 20, of 80 Omar St., and Francisco M. Mendez, 26, of 61 Pine St., also charged in the $75 robbery, were arraigned in Circuit Court

May 3 after waiving examination. Bates, who furnished a $5,000 bond, stood mute and Mendez, unable to post $5,000, pleaded innocent. Trial date has not been set.

Arrest of the five men followed a tip to Pontiac Police by a witness who obtained a description of the holdup auto.

Thieves Steal Singer's Medals From Automobile

CHICAGO (U)—Two dozen foreign decorations awarded to opera singer Lauritz Melchior were stolen, along with jewelry, from an auto yesterday.

Police estimated the loss at $4,000. But the thieves who broke into the car and stole the leather case containing the medals and jewelry did not disturb cases containing jewelry and clothing valued at $25,000, which were locked in the car's trunk.

Melchior and his wife, Maria, were lunching with friends and the auto containing their luggage had been loaded for a trip to Midway Airport.

Rochester Council Approves '54-55 Budget

$19,234 Hike Provided For

Increases Are Shown in General Fund, Water, Sewer Appropriations

ROCHESTER—Village councilmen here this week gave their final approval to a budget for the year 1954-55 calling for an overall increase of $19,234.
 The new budget showed increases in the general fund and the water and sewer fund. The general fund was set at $135,726 compared to $112,050 for the past year. Designated for the water and sewer fund was $47,050 compared to $46,892 for 1953-54.

The highway fund showed a decrease of $6,400—from $60,800 for the past year to $54,400 for the coming year.
 Recommendations of Village Manager Robert Stone for the new year included one that steps should be taken by the highway department to put a prime and double-seal coat on the village parking lot at East Fifth and East Sts. He also recommended that money be set aside as a partial payment on an additional parking lot in the downtown section which he said should be purchased this year.

There were no major changes in appropriations for the fire department. Councilmen, however, believed that the cost of outside fire protection for Avon Township should be lower the coming year because of the installation of fire equipment to serve the southwest portion of the township.

The Council anticipated an increase in revenue from parking meters next year. New meters are to be installed off Main street.

In the public works department, money for new equipment includes one half the cost of a bulldozer for the village dump, needed for work already contracted.

Under parks and recreation, $600 was earmarked for the Avon Youth Recreation Assn. and $1,000 for the purchase of new lighting fixtures for Halbach Field this summer.

In the highway department, $30,000 was recommended for the resurfacing of Ludlow avenue and some widening of Walnut boulevard. Also earmarked was $4,000 for the maintenance of sidewalks and streets and $2,000 for seal-coating a number of streets on the west side of the village.

An increase in receipts next year is expected because of the recent rise in water rates. Anticipated expenditures included the replacement of small mains on the east side of the village.

Manager Stone also recommended that money be set aside in the near future for a new water reservoir, and the Council consider the installation of a flasher light at the New York Central Railroad tracks at Woodward street.

- In other business, this week the Council:
1. Accepted the 1954 tax roll and kept the village tax rate at 17 mills, the same as last year, four mills for the highway fund and 13 mills for the general fund. Assessed valuation is $5,665,300.
 2. Held the first reading of a proposed ordinance setting up an electrical licensing fee schedule.
 3. Authorized Stone to ask for bids on a new police car before the next Council meeting.

 The new stations are in addition to the main issuing point at the sheriff's office in Pontiac.
 "Persons living anywhere in the County outside of cities and villages may apply at these stations rather than going in to Pontiac," Hubbell said.
 The schedule is as follows:

Monday, 2 to 8 p.m.—Farmington Township Fire Station
 Tuesday, 2 to 8 p.m.—Troy Township Hall

 Also announced was a switch in road test hours at the sheriff's office.

Record star Garry Wells will also be a guest performer at the show, which will close with Mrs. William Duckwitz of Walled Lake High School reading Hippocratic Oath. Grand finale will be the singing of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" by the entire cast.

Many other students will join parents and teachers in backstage and preparatory work, as well as actually performing in the show.

Board Debates Zoning Study

White Lake Civic Assn. to Compare Programs From Other Areas

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—Discussion of a proposal to set up a planning group to study zoning the township highlighted a meeting of the White Lake Township Civic Assn. board of directors Monday night.

"It is for the best interest of the entire township that zoning be considered as soon as possible," Everett Gillow, president, told the directors.

"So many other communities and townships have effected proper planning that we would be amiss if the association did not encourage similar procedure," he declared.

Orville B. Thompson and James A. Buck offered to draft a plan program, and Gillow and William J. Beste said they would gather copies of planning programs from other areas. They will submit the programs at the next meeting, June 7.

In other business, Mrs. Lucille Greene was named chairman of publicity.

County Democrats to Back Hart's Bid

Oakland County Democratic township and city chairmen and precinct delegates Wednesday night endorsed Philip Hart's candidacy for lieutenant governor.

Some 260 attended the meeting at the Roosevelt Hotel, called in preparation for the coming primary election campaign. The endorsement of Hart, a Birmingham resident, was unanimous, according to Willis M. Brewer, county chairman.

"The county Democratic organization keeps out of primary campaigns, so far as backing individual candidates is concerned," Brewer said, "but we felt it proper in this case since Hart is an Oakland County resident."

Brewer also announced that he would retire as county chairman after this year's campaign.
