CAMBODIAN FOLLOWS THANT IN UN

By Daniel Polsby
Observer Staff Writer

Failure to re-elect Burma's U Thant as Secretary-General of the United Nations precipitated another United States defeat in UN Security Council proceedings last week.

Thant, championed for re-election by the Western Bloc, was defeated by a compromise Cambodian candidate proposed by Communist China's chief delegate Chan Gillespie in Saturday's Gold Room session. In the same meeting Russia again proposed its Troika plan which was defeated as usual.

The US blockade of Cuba was resolved when the United States granted economic aid to Cuba in return for the removal of offensive missile forces from the island with provisions for on-site inspections.

Resolution of these issues was all part of the game in Dr. Sheldon Appleton's World Politics course, which deals with the machinations of international relations, especially in the UN. The mock Security Council session, a class exercise which counts as a final examination, is the high point of the course.

Each student is assigned to one of the 11 delegations which comprise the Council, and each delegation is obstringed to espouse the ostensible best interests of the country it represents. Appleton, assistant professor of political science, grades the students on the verisimilitude of their arguments and their apparent preparation.

Composition of the Council for class purposes included the People's Republic of China, the USSR, the United Kingdom, the United States, France, the United Arab Republic, the Federal Republic of Germany, India, Japan, Mexico, and Cuba. In the actual Council, the Federal Republic of Germany is not represented (nor is it a member of the UN) and the Chinese seat is held by the Republic of China, Taiwan branch.

Appleton explained that liberties were taken with the actual composition of the Council because it seemed more productive to have students learn about the policies of Red China and West Germany than less vital or strategic countries.

THEATRE GUILD TO ORGANIZE STUDENT ARTS FESTIVAL SOON

By Wolf Metzger
Observer Staff Writer

Plans for a student Fine Arts Festival on campus began to take shape last week when approval came from the Dean of Students Office and a date was set for the five-day event.

Sponsored by the Meadow Brook Theatre Guild, the festival will include student music, art, dancing, acting, and readings. The Dramatic Arts Film Society will present a motion picture.

Events are scheduled for the Oakland Center Gold Room between Feb. 27 and March 3.

The theatre guild will perform two contemporary dramas and a comedy. A student jazz group, the university choir, and the student-faculty orchestra will also be asked to appear. The Oakland Center will house an exhibition of painting and sculpture by MSUO students.

Plans for the festival originated four weeks ago when a group of students decided to offer an opportunity for MSUO students to display creative as well as intellectual abilities.

In an interview this week, a group spokesman John Gillespie invited all students to participate and said he also seeks faculty cooperation. The festival will be a success, he said, if it receives proper student support.

An exact schedule of events is now being completed and must be approved by Assistant Dean of Students Robert Holmes.

Admission fees are likely to be charged, a group official said this week. However, Holmes indicated that the dean of students' office might finance part of the venture.

TANNENBAUM CHRISTMAS DANCE PLANNED BY SAC FOR DEC. 21

Guests invited to attend the function include Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, Miss Sarah Van Hoosen Jones, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Varner, Mr. and Mrs. C. Allen Harlan, Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Anibal, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Pryale.

EDITORIAL

WE WOULD LIKE TO ...

We would like to believe that any number of editorials could keep Dr. Samuel Shapiro at MSUO.

We would like to believe that the Shapiro sympathizers picketing our campus will accomplish something. If we thought a placard would do any good, we would make every effort to provide every student with one.

We would like to believe that Dr. Shapiro's leaving is strictly a professional matter, that personalities and external financial pressures were not exerted.

We would like to believe that the administrators responsible for Dr. Shapiro's leaving are unbiased and knowledgeable people.

We would like to believe some of the statements we have read in the papers attributed to MSUO administrators were lies.

We would like to believe that other faculty members publishing in the "wrong" place will be granted tenure.

We would like to believe that one doesn't always have to be right to be a professor at MSUO.

We would like to believe.

SCHWARTZ SOLOS-----This evening's Gold Room performance by Pianist Joseph Schwartz will feature compositions by Bach, Beethoven, Brahms, Copland and Chopin.

The concert, second at MSUO for the young Oberlin pianist, begins at 8:15. Schwartz is a graduate of the Julliard School of Music.

Assignment: find new ways to reduce vehicle weight

Action: Now under Army test, a Ford-designed glass filament torsion bar that's lighter, stronger, more flexible than steel

"Looks like you've got something there," the Army Tank Command said in effect to Ford Motor Company engineers. "Let's do a feasibility study on tracklaying military vehicles."
 The story begins in 1957 when Ford engineers conceived the idea of a plastic-bonded glass filament torsion bar for vehicle suspension systems. It was a revolutionary departure from the use of solid steel. It promised dramatic weight savings in battle tanks, in personnel carriers and other military vehicles. For example, as much as 1,000 pounds in medium tanks.
 Compared to steel, the tubular-shaped glass filament composition has greater energy storage potential—is stronger and more flexible under heavy load. It may well prove to be the automobile suspension material of tomorrow . . . cars suspended on glass!
 Another example of engineering leadership at Ford and new ideas for the American Road.
