EXPANSION OF OAKLAND CENTER APPROACHES FINAL STAGES

Much of the new expansion area of the Oakland Center will be ready for the start of the winter term, according to Red Kremer (physical plant) and Alan Scott (Oakland Center). "Present plans call for the entire lower level to be open to the public (but not necessarily in full operation) by the week of registration," Kremer and Scott reported in a limited-circulation memo last week. Student Activities Center will move into its new quarters at the south end of the building, the Pickwick Room will be reopened with pool tables and other facilities, and the rest of the lower level will receive the last of its furnishings and decorations.

"Unlike the lower level, which we expect to be open in time for the return of students in January," Kremer and Scott reported, "the opening of the upper level of the new addition will likely be postponed for approximately two weeks." Work to be done in this part of the building includes the installation of sheet vinyl on the cafeteria floor, hanging of draperies, and laying of carpeting in portions of the addition as well as in the existing student lounge. The Meadow Brook Room, which has been re-decorated to coincide with the expansion, is expected to be ready for use by the start of the new term.

RESEARCH FUNDED

The Petroleum Research Fund of the American Chemical Society has granted $10,000 to Robert L. Stern (chemistry) to support his research on thermal reactions of enazines and dienazines.
