

Sunday, Dec 11, 2016

Snow Emergency information: Sunday, December 11

Oakland University students, faculty and staff are reminded that a Snow Emergency has been declared and all vehicles must be moved out of designated snow emergency lots. Vehicles left in snow emergency lots after 10 p.m. will be impounded at owners' expense.

Designated snow emergency lots include all Main Campus parking lots except the Ann V. Nicholson and Matthews Court student apartment parking lots and the covered levels of the P-29 and P-32 parking structures. The open levels of the parking structures must be cleared of vehicles.

Although a snow emergency has been declared, the University has not made a decision to cancel classes or close the campus on Monday, December 12. Preparations will be made throughout the night and early morning hours to ensure that Monday final exams will take place as scheduled.

Members of the campus community should check oakland.edu or consult other school closing information sources to learn of any change in plans.

For more information on snow emergencies, visit the Oakland University Police Department website.