

Tuesday, July 27, 2004

OU engineering faculty awarded grants

Rochester, Michigan, July 27, 2004 — The following researchers at Oakland University's School of Engineering and Computer Science (SECS) have won grants to continue their research.

Professor Michael P. Polis received an award for his project titled, "Economic Development Job Training – Denso International America" from the Michigan Economic Development Corporation and Denso International America for $6,585.

Professor Qian Zou received an award from the Robert Bosch Corporation for her project titled, "Non-Destructive Test Device to Determine the Coefficient of Static Friction." This award is for $7,700.

SUMMARY

The following researchers at Oakland University's School of Engineering and Computer Science (SECS) have won grants to continue their research.

Created by CareTech Administrator (webservices@caretechsolutions.com) on Tuesday, July 27, 2004

Modified by CareTech Administrator (webservices@caretechsolutions.com) on Tuesday, July 27, 2004

Article Start Date: Tuesday, July 27, 2004