- This Side of Doctoring: Reflections from Women in Medicine by Eliza Lo Chin (2003). Available on 3rd Floor of Kresge: R692 .T45 2003

If you have any suggestions for additional titles in this area, please send your recommendation(s) to medref@oakland.edu

Student Corner

Medical Library Student InfoBites For the third year, the Medical Library is hosting a series of extracurricular lunch seminars that complement information mastery topics taught in the curriculum. Starting in September, the series will be offered monthly from 11:30 - 12:30pm in O'Dowd Hall and includes lunch! Join us for our first one:

September: Winter is Coming: Survival Tips from the Medical Library

- When: Wednesday, September 3 from 11:30 - 12:30pm
- Where: 110A O'Dowd Hall
- Description: We aren't in Westeros, but you may find that certain things are looming (new courses, study habits, Step 1, what textbooks should I buy?) and you need to be prepared! Hear survival tips and tricks from your upperclassmen as well as from the Medical Library in an informal roundtable discussion!

If you plan to attend, RSVP via our online registration form

Study Space Update Just a quick update for you on the ongoing changes in the Medical Library study spaces!

- Lights have been installed in each study carrel in the Quiet Study Room
- We've requested the print station be moved to the Collaborative Study Room to reduce the amount of noise and traffic in the Quiet Study
- We've purchased a Keurig coffee machine for your use in the breakout room with the sink in the Collaborative Study Room. The first set of K-cups are on us, but bring your favorite for the future!

*Coming Soon! Also look for these upcoming changes: additional signage will be posted in the Quiet Study Room indicating the room is quiet study only; rails will be installed to display medical student scholarly posters in the Collaborative Study Room; and white boards will be installed on the walls in the two breakout rooms!

2014 Excellence in Case Report Writing Award The American Medical Student Research Journal is currently seeking submissions of case reports for the 2014 Excellence Award, which includes a $1,000 reward for the best case report. All submissions will be considered for the upcoming issue and the deadline to submit is September 30, 2014. For case report guidelines and to submit, visit their website at amsrj.org.

The AMSRJ is an independent, open-access, online publication for students, by students, which features case reports, original research, review articles, meta-analyses, personal experience essays, policy position articles, and original artwork.

Faculty Corner

Faculty Brown Bag Series The Medical Library will be hosting its second faculty brown bag series on Oakland's campus beginning in September! Each session topic was selected based on your feedback and will be held in 478 O'Dowd Hall from 12:00 - 1:00pm. Anyone interested in the topics is welcome to attend. Please feel free to bring your lunch!

September: Strategies for Tracking your Scholarly Impact on the Field for Promotion & Tenure

- When: Wednesday, September 17 from 12:00 - 1:00pm
- Where: 478 O'Dowd
- Description: Wondering how exactly your work is being used and impacting the greater field? This session will help you identify and utilize the best resources to track your own work and for promotion and tenure purposes.

If you have any questions about the series, please contact Misa Mi at mi@oakland.edu
