

CONTRIBUTORS

Peter Bertocci is Professor of Anthropology. His major fields include political economy, religion and cultural change, with a special focus on Islamic societies. This Fall semester he is teaching an introduction to the Mideast.

Dolores Burdick is Professor Emerita of the French Department. She also taught cinema and developed an early OU version of a public art film theater on campus.

Bill Byrne is adjunct lecturer in the Rhetoric and Communications Department.

Brian Connery is Professor of English and has published work on Jonathan Swift, satire, and university fiction.

Sherman Folland is Professor of Economics. He publishes numerous articles focusing on health economics. With two colleagues, he is also author of the leading textbook in that field, The Economics of Health and Health Care

David Garfinkle is Professor of Physics at Oakland University, where he at one time has served as Chair. David's doctorate is from the University of Chicago. He has published numerous papers on gravity and cosmology.

Ravi Khattree is Professor of Applied Statistics at OU. He attained his PhD from the University of Pittsburgh. He was the PhD student of the renowned Professor C. R. Rao. Prof. Khattree is a fellow of the American Statistical Association, an elected member of International Statistical Institute and the winner of Young Statistician Award (2002) from International Indian Statistical Association.

Cathy McQueen is special lecturer in the Rhetoric Department.

Brian Murphy is Emeritus Professor of English at Oakland University and continues to be a member of the editorial staff of The Oakland Journal. Brian directed the Honors College from 1985 to 2002.

James Ozinga is a retired professor of Political Science at Oakland University, where he published numerous books on communism, the Soviet Union, but also on theoretical topics such as altruism.

Gerald Rice is a senior at Oakland University.

Susan Wood is Professor of Art History and chaired that department 2002–2006. Her work features the art of ancient Greece and Rome. She attained her doctorate from Columbia University. Her book, Imperial Women: A Study in Public Images, 40 Bc-Ad 68 was published by Brill Academic Publishers.