Take Back the Night set for April 11

The Take Back the Night rally, march and speakout, which is a nationally recognized event that provides a supportive environment for survivors of sexual assault while increasing public awareness, takes place at Oakland University Thursday, April 11, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Participants will meet at 6:30 p.m. at a tent by O'Dowd Hall and walk around campus voicing words of compassion and concern. At 7 p.m., they will walk to the Pioneer Room in the Recreation Center, where there will be a series of speakers talking about sexual harassment issues. Survivors of sexual harassment also will be encouraged to share their emotions and experiences through an open microphone.

Take Back the Night was started after a female student was sexually abused on a university campus. Since then, numerous universities and organizations have been raising sexual harassment awareness.

The event is sponsored by the Oakland University Police Department, Center for Student Activities, Women's Survival Center, HAVEN, Jimmy Whiteside, Care House and Easter Seal.
