OU to host Kendall Wise

Oakland University will host Kensall Wise of the University of Michigan in a lecture, "Wireless Integrated MicroSystems (WIMS): Coming Revolution in the Gathering of Information," scheduled for Monday, April 5, at 4 p.m. in Banquet Room A of the Oakland Center on the university's campus.

This Oakland University event is sponsored by Sigma Xi, a national scientific research society, and co-sponsored by the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE) CHAPTER-1 on Circuits and Systems of the South East Michigan Section.

Wise received his Ph.D. in electrical engineering from Stanford University in 1969. He currently is a professor of electrical engineering and computer science at the University of Michigan, and is a J. Reid and Polly Anderson Professor of Manufacturing Technology. He also serves as the director for the Center for Wireless Integrated MicroSystems, an NSF engineering research center.
