Grizz Facts: A look at student discussions involving diverse views

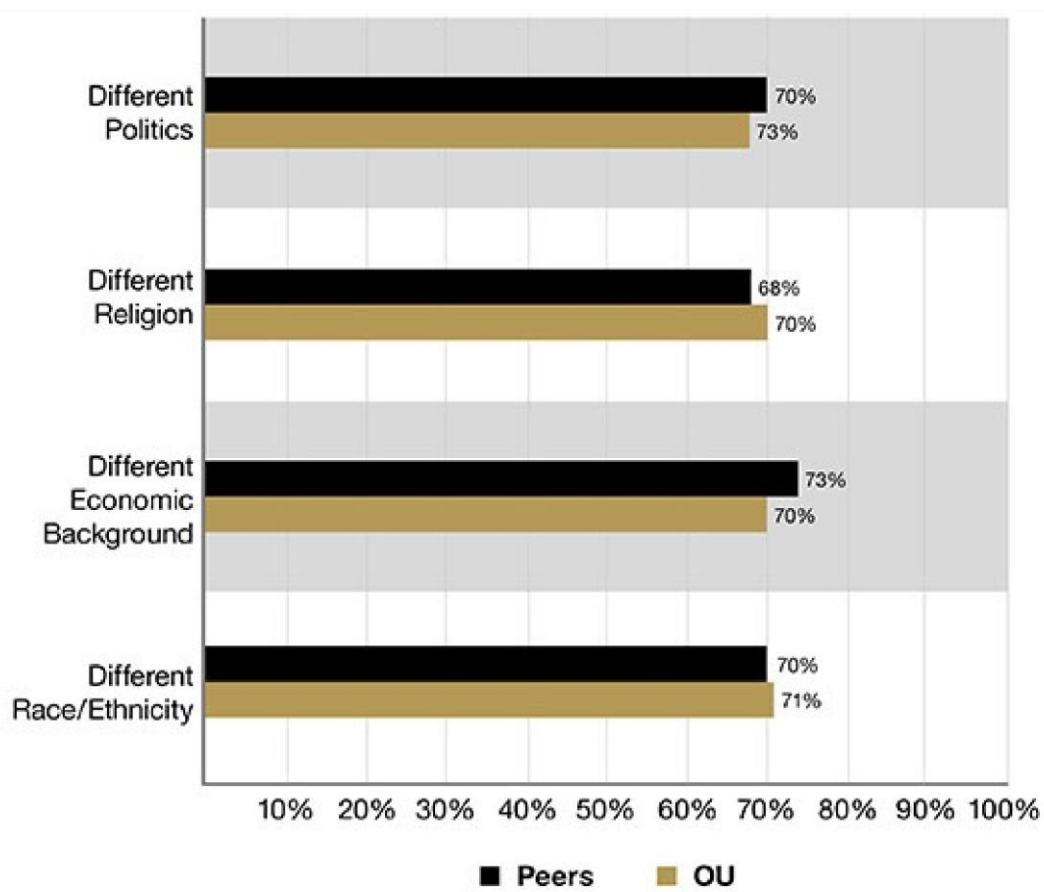

Oakland University has a commitment to fostering diverse perspectives among its students. Relating to the success of efforts to fulfill this commitment, OU student responses to a recent NSSE survey indicate how often they have discussions with people different from themselves in a variety of ways.

The data reflected in the chart below shows the nature of responses from seniors. As the chart indicates, they responded very similarly to the way their peers from other institutions responded.

Complete data for this and other NSSE survey questions can be found on the OIRA web section.
