

CALL FOR PAPERS

The Oakland Journal invites notes, comments and articles on a proposed topic for the Fall 2005 issue.

Proposed topic: What is the best size for the Oakland University student body population, and how speedily ought we to move to that size?

Interested OU persons can submit articles by June 1, 2005. We prefer manuscripts less than or equal to 15 double-spaced pages in length, comments that are much shorter are also welcome. Whenever it is convenient, please send the items by email to folland@oakland.edu.

Purpose: A call for papers is a new idea to the Journal. We hope to occasionally publish clusters of papers on topics that Oakland people are talking about and that have many facets to consider. We will gather commentary from throughout the campus, aiming at a more fully informed discussion in the process.
