

Tuesday, November 7, 2000

OU director to speak at Affirmative Action conference

Oakland University's Director of Diversity and Compliance, Sharon Abraham, will speak at the Southeastern Michigan Industry Liaison Group (SMILG) annual conference on November 9. The conference, titled Changing Gears: A New Focus on Affirmative Action, will be held at the DaimlerChrysler Corp. Headquarters in Auburn Hills.

"The conference is a great opportunity for organizations to ensure their understanding of proposed changes to affirmative action regulations," Abraham says.

The conference will address affirmative action issues from both the government and corporate perspectives. For more information on the SMILG, visit their website at www.smilg.org.

Oakland University is a comprehensive state-supported institution of higher education located in Oakland County, Michigan. The university has 109 bachelor's degree programs and 63 graduate degree and certificate programs. Dedicated to preparing learners for the 21st-century workplace and society, Oakland University is organized into the College of Arts and Sciences and the Schools of Business Administration, Education and Human Services, Engineering and Computer Science, Health Sciences, Nursing; and the Honors College.

SUMMARY

Oakland University's Director of Diversity and Compliance, Sharon Abraham, will speak at the Southeastern Michigan Industry Liaison Group annual conference on November 9.

Created by CareTech Administrator (webservices@caretechsolutions.com) on Tuesday, November 7, 2000

Modified by CareTech Administrator (webservices@caretechsolutions.com) on Tuesday, November 7, 2000

Article Start Date: Tuesday, November 25, 2003