Grizz Facts: A look at retention rates

The first-year retention rate for 2018 incoming freshmen students is 76 percent, which is relatively even with rates seen over the past five years. A subgroup of these students – those who earned 28 or more credits during their first year of OU – is considered to be ‘on-track’ to graduate. On-track students retained after 2018 reached the highest rate on record at 69 percent.
