

Wednesday, September 29, 2004

Event to raise money for new educational tool

Oakland University's School of Nursing is hosting a dinner and fashion show on Wednesday, Oct. 6, from 6 to 9 p.m. at Andiamo's restaurant in Warren to raise funds to help with the cost of a Universal Patient Simulator, known as the Laerdal SimMan, which is a new teaching tool that allows students the realistic practice of scenario-based training.

"This new educational tool is extremely important for our students to gain hands-on experience in nursing before entering the workplace," said Linda Thompson, dean of the School of Nursing. "The Laerdal SimMan is an exceptional program that provides simulation education during realistic client-care scenarios."

Skills such as chest tube monitoring, injections and wound care management can be taught and tested with the SimMan. Demonstrations will be held throughout the evening. Students, faculty and staff also will be modeling fall fashions from The Somerset Collection.

Tickets are $50 per person and are available by calling the School of Nursing at (248) 370-4065.

SUMMARY

Oakland University's School of Nursing is hosting a dinner and fashion show on Wednesday, Oct. 6, from 6 to 9 p.m. at Andiamo's restaurant in Warren to raise funds to help with the cost of a Universal Patient Simulator, known as the Laerdal SimMan, which is a new teaching tool that allows students the realistic practice of scenario-based training.

Created by CareTech Administrator (webservices@caretechsolutions.com) on Wednesday, September 29, 2004
Modified by CareTech Administrator (webservices@caretechsolutions.com) on Wednesday, September 29, 2004
Article Start Date: Thursday, September 30, 2004