Lupus in our Community

by Nancy Bulgarelli, Medical Library Director

At the January 29th presentation, "The Butterfly Effect: Lupus in our Community," we'll learn about systemic lupus erythematosus (SLE), a serious autoimmune disorder that affects a significant number in our community. If you'd like to learn more, here is a selected list of recommended resources from the Medical Library.

eBooks

Lahita RG et al (eds). Systemic Lupus Erythmatosus. 5th ed. Academic Press, 2011

Considered a key textbook in the field, this is a comprehensive treatment of the topic covering scientific research, clinical findings, organ system involvement and treatment. This most recent edition includes an expanded basic sciences section, focusing on new techniques in molecular medicine.

Hughes GRV et al. Clinician's Manual on Lupus. Springer, 2012.

A recent text, written at the primary care level and serving as an educational reference for medical students.

Schur PH et al. (eds). Lupus Erythematosus: Clinical Evaluation and Treatment. Springer Healthcare, 2012.

As indicated by the title, this recent, concise text focuses on the clinical and treatment aspects of SLE.

Professional Associations and Organizations

- Lupus Foundation of America – National association providing information and support to both health care providers and patients, including research, education and support, advocacy and a national network of community chapters and support groups.
- National Institute of Musculoskeletal and Skin Diseases (NIAMS) – NIH agency focusing on lupus research and education, providing information written at both the patient and professional levels.
- Center for Disease Control. Systemic Lupus Erythematosus (SLE or Lupus) – If you are looking for statistical information, this is an excellent source of information on the incidence, prevalence, mortality and economic impact of SLE.

Consumer/Patient Information

MedlinePlus – Lupus Topic Guide - A joint project of the National Library of Medicine and the National Institutes of Health, MedlinePlus is the premier online resource for current, authoritative, free health information. The Lupus topic guide provides access to basic information, clinical trials, and information on current research.

Additional resources can also be found through the Medical Library's Musculoskeletal, Connective Tissue, and Skin Course Page.

Faculty Development Opportunities

Information Mastery Program with CME Credit continues in February!

February's session will be offered at Beaumont Hospital Royal Oak and Beaumont Hospital Troy. William Beaumont Hospital designates this training activity for AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)[™].

- February: EBM Resources This session builds on the content provided in January's Introduction to Evidence-based Medicine. There are different ways of incorporating evidence into clinical practice: doing, using, replicating. For busy clinicians, you may want to adopt the more feasible mode "using" in practicing EBM. When a clinical question arises, you restrict your search to evidence resources that have already undergone rigorous critical appraisal. These pre-appraised resources are available in different packages and exist in various formats. This session is designed for busy clinicians who would like to learn how to access and use a variety of pre-appraised EBM resources in practicing EBM in clinical settings.

- Royal Oak: Thursday, February 7, 2013, 4:00-5:00pm; South Tower 3rd Floor Surgical Learning Center, Classrooms 1 & 2
- Troy: Thursday, February 21, 2013, 4:00-5:00pm; Hospital Ground Floor, Classrooms 1 & 2

To register for this course, please visit the Beaumont CME Office's calendar at <http://cmetracker.net/BEAUMONT/> Please contact Dr. Misa Mi at mi@oakland.edu with any questions or comments.
