

Monday, November 11, 2002

Michigan Network Awarded Grant

The network connecting the eight writing projects in Michigan has been included in a grant from the National Writing Project intended to help state networks function cooperatively in advancing writing project goals. Michigan is one of only five states included in this first round of grants. Ron will travel to Tucson in late February for the inaugural meeting of sites that are part of SNAP, as the funded state networks are called.

SUMMARY

The network connecting the eight writing projects in Michigan has been included in a grant from the National Writing Project intended to help state networks function cooperatively in advancing writing project goals.

Created by CareTech Administrator (webservices@caretechsolutions.com) on Monday, November 11, 2002

Modified by CareTech Administrator (webservices@caretechsolutions.com) on Monday, November 11, 2002

Article Start Date: Monday, July 9, 2007