OU dean's list now available online

By Jeff Samoray, OU Web Writer

Oakland University students, their relatives and friends now can access OU's dean's list for the preceding academic year from the Oakland University Web site. Students who are named to the dean's list will continue to have their names submitted to their local newspapers, while the current list always will be accessible online.

"Oakland University not only seeks quality in the incoming students joining our academic programs but also recognizes excellence in their performance," said Virinder Moudgil, interim vice president for Academic Affairs and provost. "We are very proud of the achievements of our students on the dean's list; the honor represents the very core values we espouse at this institution."

Students who are named to the list are those who distinguish themselves academically by attaining a grade point average of 3.60 or higher for 12 numerically graded credits in each of the consecutive fall/winter semesters. The list is published once a year following the winter semester for the previous academic year.

Visit the Dean's List Web site to search the 2001-2002 list by last name, first name, city, major or class. Visitors also may view the entire list alphabetically by last name. Please note that what appears is not a complete list because some students who qualified for the dean's list have requested their names not be published for privacy reasons.
