37 TO TEACH IN INITIAL SUMMER SCHOOL SESSION

Forty-one courses and 37 faculty members are lined up for the pioneer session of the University's new Summer School, running this year June 23-August 15. Dean Lewis N. Pino reports that a full schedule of courses and a bulletin-catalog will be available before the end of March.

Robert Donald, who came to OU two years ago as a Mott Fellow in English and remained to accept an appointment as lecturer in English, will be assistant dean of the Summer School. Faculty members this year, by department or course offering, will include: anthropology--Audrey Smedley; chemistry--Robert L. Stern, Paul Tombouljian; Chinese--Amit Tagore; classics--Howard W. Clarke; economics--John Hurd II, Sid Mittra, John E. Tower; education--George E. Coon, Ronald L. Cramer, Harry T. Hahn, Patrick Johnson; English--Joseph W. DeMent, Peter G. Evarts, Michael J. Heffernan, David W. Mascitelli, William Schwab; history--Melvin Chernow, DeWitt S. Dykes, Jr., Harold Gorvine, Roy A. Kotynek, W. Patrick Strauss; linguistics--Carlo Coppola; mathematics--Jon Froemke, G. Philip Johnson, James H. McKay; philosophy--Richard W. Brooks, Alfred Lessing; political science--James R. Ozinga, Carl R. Vann; psychology--David G. Lowy, L. Crocker Peoples, David W. Shantz, Irving Torgoff; sociology--Carol Andreas, George Rawick, Carleton W. Smith.

Pino said several courses dealing with Black history and sociology will be offered. Twenty-seven courses will be for undergraduate credit and 14 for graduate credit.

KINSEY ADVISES NIH

Everett Kinsey, director of the Institute of Biological Sciences, has been appointed a member of the Eye Council of the National Institutes of Health by the director, Dr. Robert O. Marston. The National Eye Institute, which was recently signed into law by former President Johnson following its unanimous passage by both houses of Congress, will assume the responsibility for the conduct and support of research and training relating to blinding eye diseases and visual disorders, which until now has been the responsibility of the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness.

CHOIR GOES ON TOUR

The Oakland Singers will present a free public concert in Dodge Hall auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Saturday to wind up their first out-of-state tour. The select mixed concert choir of 32 voices, directed by John Dovaras, present works emphasizing chamber choral literature from various periods of composition. In their first tour beyond state lines, the Singers are giving 12 concerts in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and southern Michigan. The major work on the program is Leonard Bernstein's "Chichester Psalms."

'U' SENATE TO FACE VARIED AGENDA ON THURSDAY

The University Senate will meet at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in 128-30 Oakland Center to consider recommendations affecting sabbaticals, TIAA-CREF pension plans, establishment of a Graduate Council, activation of the School of Economics and Management, and the authorization of advanced degrees in four areas. Copies of the agenda have been sent to all members of the Senate, deans, heads of academic and administrative departments, and the Commission on Student Life.

A resolution on sabbaticals will be brought up for second reading, previously delayed pending a referendum conducted by the faculty affairs committee. The resolution would permit certain faculty members to take one-semester research sabbaticals after three years. The resolution also calls for changes in the TIAA-CREF pension plan, including the eventual assumption by the University of the share now paid by faculty and staff members, which amounts to 5 percent of the annual salary.

Also coming up for second reading are an amendment to the Constitution establishing the Graduate Council and defining its responsibilities, and a recommendation from the Academic Policy Committee that the School of Economics and Management be activated on July 1. Four motions by the same committee, calling for the establishment of five new advanced degrees, will be presented for their first reading. The degrees would be the Ph.D. in systems engineering, Ph.D. in science under the College of Arts and Science, M.A. and M.A.T. in history, and M.A.T., Special Education, with a concentration in emotionally disturbed children.
