OU ENROLLMENT INCREASE TOPS FOR STATE SCHOOLS

Oakland University's 1,431 student increase between fall of 1972 and fall of 1973 leads all state four-year colleges and universities for that period.

The headcount enrollment figures are included in statistics filed by the institutions with the State Bureau of Budget.

Trailing OU in the size of their increases were University of Michigan, Dearborn with 960 more students and Wayne State University with a 919 student increase.

Others showing gains were University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, 671; Grand Valley State College, 552; Northern Michigan University, 494; University of Michigan, Flint, 350; and Lake Superior State College, 10.

Institutions showing declines include Eastern Michigan University, 742; Western Michigan University, 351; Michigan State University, 297; Ferris State College, 280; Central Michigan University, 59; Saginaw Valley College, 45; and Michigan Technological University, 43.

LANGUAGE SCHOLAR VISITS OAKLAND

Oakland and Yale Universities were the only two institutions in the United States to receive guest lectures from world famous language scholar George Y. Shevelov in 1973, the Department of Modern Languages has announced.

Shevelov, of Columbia University, delivered a talk at OU recently on "The Slavic Literary Languages: Regularities and Paradoxes." Guest faculty from Wayne State University and the University of Michigan attended in addition to OU faculty from modern languages, linguistics and area studies.

JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUE MEETS NOV. 10 AT OU

The Department of Classics is host Nov. 10 to the Fifth Annual President's Assembly of the Michigan Junior Classical League. More than 300 to 400 students and teachers from throughout the state will participate.

The day-long program includes a plenary assembly, colloquia, and an afternoon presentation of Euripides' tragedy, "The Trojan Women," performed by a student acting company, the Detroit Craftsmen of Dionysos. This free performance will be at 2:30 p.m. in the Gold Room of the Oakland Center. Information on the Nov. 10 meeting can be obtained by calling 377-2179.

DEADLINES ANNOUNCED FOR RESEARCH PROPOSALS

The University Research Committee is now accepting applications for support. Proposals for Research Grants should be submitted before 5:00 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 20, in Room 288, Hannah Hall of Science. The Research Fellowship applications will be accepted until 5:00 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 27, at the same location.

The University Research Committee is considering the ground rules for a research leave competition. An announcement, including date for receipt of proposals, will be made shortly.

Questions regarding the Research Grant or Research Fellowship programs should be directed to L. N. Pino, director of research and instructional services, telephone 377-3222, or to Michael Riley, Institute of Biological Sciences, telephone 377-2394.

MEADOW BROOK PRESENTS "STREETCAR" STARTING NOV. 8

Tennessee Williams' Pulitzer Prize-winning play, "A Streetcar Named Desire," will open at Meadow Brook Theatre on Thursday, Nov. 8 and run through Sunday, Dec. 2, as the theatre celebrates the 25th anniversary of this American masterpiece.

The production will be directed by Dr. Charles Nolte, whose earlier stagings of "Inherit the Wind" and "The Andersonville Trial" at Meadow Brook broke box-office records.

The role of Blanche DuBois will be played by Debra Mooney, who has created the role in productions at the Manitoba Theatre Center in Winnipeg, Ontario, and the University of Minneapolis.

Blanche's antagonist, Stanley Kowalski, will be portrayed by Martin Kove. Mr. Kove's film credits include featured roles in Alan Arkin's "Little Murders," "Savages," directed by James Ivory, and "Cops and Robbers." He recently co-starred with TV's "Gilligan," Bob Denver, in "The Paisley Convertible," and has played off-Broadway with the Cafe LaMama Theatre Troupe as well as with the Classic Stage Company Repertory and the Lincoln Center Repertory Co.

Other featured roles are those of Stella Kowalski, played by Lee Bryant, and Mitch, enacted by John Hallow.

Performances for opening week are Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at 8:30 p.m.; matinee on Saturday at 2 p.m.; and Sunday evening at 6:30 p.m.
