Grizz Facts: A look at how students spend their time

According to the 2018 National Survey of Student Engagement (NSSE), first-year students at OU spend most of their time in a typical week preparing for classes, while seniors spend the most hours working for pay. Relaxing and socializing score the second highest number of hours for both first-year and senior students. While lower in terms of hours, co-curricular activities and community service are part of the typical week for many students.
