Reading List for Women in Medicine Month!

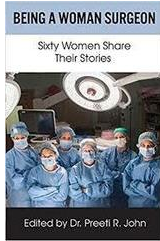

September is Women in Medicine Month! To celebrate, the Medical Library is highlighting our ever-expanding Women in Medicine Collection featuring books, eBooks, and other resources related to strategies for success, work-life balance, personal stories, history of medicine, and more!

Check out our Women in Medicine Collection online guide and stop by the Collaborative Study Room during the month of September to browse selected print titles from this collection on our book cube!

Against All Odds: Celebrating Black Women in Medicine by Crystal L. Emery (2015). As the companion book to the documentary, Black Women in Medicine, this "book features portraits and biographical accounts from over 100 of the most prominent historical and contemporary Black women doctors working in the United States."

Available for checkout from Kresge Library 3rd Floor: R 154 .E44 2015

Being a Woman Surgeon: Sixty Women Share their Stories edited by Preeti R. John (2015). "The stories are by turns funny, heartbreaking, flabbergasting, infuriating, inspiring-and at times all of these at once. Each voice here is singular and fascinating. But the collective effect is overwhelmingly moving. You want to hear more." - Atul Gawande, MD

Available for checkout from Kresge Library 3rd Floor: RD 31.5 .B45 2015

Mothers in Medicine: Career, Practice, and Life Lessons Learned [eBook] edited by Katherine Chretien (2018). Based on the wisdom shared on the Mothers in Medicine blog, this book features stories and advice from mothers at all stages from medical students to practicing physicians.

What Works for Women at Work: Four Patterns Working Women Need to Know by Joan C. Williams and Rachel Dempsey (2014).

Service of the Month: Personal Librarian Program

by Nancy Bulgarelli, Medical Library Director

By now all M1, M2, and M3 students should have received their first emails of the semester from their “personal librarians.”

The Medical Library established the Personal Librarian program back in 2017 with the Class of 2021. The program pairs each M1 medical student with a library faculty member – their “personal librarian” – who will remain their primary library contact throughout their medical school career. Goals of the program include fostering a strong student/library faculty member connection, supporting student research and self-directed learning, promoting library resources and services, and, ultimately, contributing to student success.

Librarians will reach out to “their” students periodically with information about services and resources. They are also available for research consultations and assistance with Capstone projects and other assignments. If you’d like to schedule an appointment for a research consultation, you can contact your personal librarian directly (Staff Directory) or schedule an appointment using our Library Consultation Calendar.

Can't remember who your personal librarian is?

Visit the Personal Librarian Program webpage to use our handy look-up tool.

Of course, if your personal librarian is not available at a time convenient for you, or, if you'd rather work with different librarian, any of the OUWB librarians would be happy to assist you. Simply call, email, or stop by the Medical Library Office, and we will be happy to help!
