

Thursday, April 15, 2004

John Klemanski

Professor of Political Science

A dedicated member of the Political Science Department, John Klemanski first began teaching at Oakland as a visiting assistant professor in the mid 1980s. As the longest serving member of the master of public administration (MPA) faculty group, he has served in many roles in the department including acting chair, director of the MPA program and member of an ad hoc committee on student scholarships. Klemanski also played an important role in developing the assessment plans for the department independently and as a member of the Curriculum and Assessment Committee.

Perhaps his most important role, Klemanski eagerly mentors junior faculty by providing insight into the profession, helping prioritize tasks and guiding faculty in the tenure process. As chair of the University Assessment Committee, Klemanski assists departments in improving assessment plans and understanding the assessment process.

In addition to his university commitments, he serves as a member of the Rochester Hills Building Authority and the Rochester Hills Local Development Finance Authority.

SUMMARY

A dedicated member of the Political Science Department, John Klemanski first began teaching at Oakland as a visiting assistant professor in the mid 1980s. As the longest serving member of the master of public administration (MPA) faculty group, he has served in many roles in the department including acting chair, director of the MPA program and member of an ad hoc committee on student scholarships. Klemanski also played an important role in developing the assessment plans for the department independently and as a member of the Curriculum and Assessment Committee.

Created by CareTech Administrator (webservices@caretechsolutions.com) on Thursday, April 15, 2004

Modified by CareTech Administrator (webservices@caretechsolutions.com) on Thursday, April 15, 2004

Article Start Date: Friday, April 9, 2004